Worst One-Day Toll

6 Planes, 11 Fliers Lost Over Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — Six U.S. supersonic jet bombers went down over North Viet Nam Friday and U.S. headquarters said all 11 fliers aboard them were lost—the highest single-day toll of airmen in the war.

Some of the American planes crashed with Communist MIGs, but none were hit by the enemy fighters, headquarters said.

It listed all the 11 American fliers as missing—presumed dead or captured. The loss of planes was the second heaviest of the war for one day.

During the raids, a flight of four F-106 Thunderbolts encountered two of the late-model MIGs and in a brief dogfight, the Communist jets fired heat-seeking air-to-air missiles. But a U. S. spokesman said the encounter broke off without damage to either side.

The report of the U. S. air losses followed word from the Vietnamese government that U. S. troops would move into the vital Mekong Delta where the Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been deadlocked for months.

Prime Minister Nguyen Cao Ky told newsmen the American forces will begin moving into the delta within three or four weeks. U. S. military officials declined to comment.

Ky said there would be a "progressive buildup" of U. S. troops in the delta where 7 million of south Viet Nam's 15 million people are. Much of the rice-rich area is under Viet Cong domination. Some U. S. military strategists have long

U of C Woe Linked To 'Underground'

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Berkeley's nonstudents live in a world of shabby apartments, crowded coffee houses, beards and intellectual ferment—conditions they have as much right to as any registered student.

Savio was one of those arrested at the Navy table. However, those active in the student city's "underground," blocks of old homes, shops and bookstores. Like students, they saunter up to the big university campus, and sometimes engage in protests that are limited by the administration to those enrolled.

Their attire is casual—jeans, sweaters, and sandals. None of them carry the registration card the university issues to its 27,000 young men and women enrolled at Berkeley.

To Chancellor Roger Revelle and Gov.-elect Ronald Reagan, they are outsiders who provoked a classroom strike by deliberately breaking a campus rule against nonstudents creating disturbances. Six of them were arrested Wednesday in a protest against Navy recruiters setting up a table on campus.

"I'm more a part of the community than the chancellor is," said Mario Savio, 23, one of those arrested.

This long-haired, thin, intense former New Yorker is the best known of the hundreds of young men and women who live around the university but don't attend it.

Good Move

EAGLE NEST, N.M. (AP) — A ski instructors clinic which was to begin today has been postponed for one week, the Angel Fire Ski Basin Ski School announced.

The reason? No snow.

New Flood Threat Eases In Florence

ROME (AP) — The threat of widespread new floods eased in Florence and Venice today as rivers and streams stopped rising by dawn and winds weakened. Harried officials maintained evacuation alerts and mobilized crews to repair dikes.

The rivers and streams spilled over their banks Nov. 4 in Italy's worst flood disaster, causing inestimable damage and 112 deaths.

Although rain fell through the night at Florence, the Arno River went down 18 inches upstream from the city and weary river-watchers went to bed.

Whipped by southerly winds, the Adriatic poured a foot of water over St. Mark's Square in Venice Friday and had been expected to rise sharply today. The winds diminished, sparing the city. The sun shone in Venice.

Landslides were feared in Belluno Province. Stormy seas lashed the Italian Riviera.

Wind, snow and rain afflicted the Alto Adige. Streams overflowed near Trento. A flood alert went through the Valais, a Swiss valley.

Rain and wind reached down the Appennine Mountain chain into southern Italy. Driving rain and hail struck Rome today. Storms rumbled across the countryside around Naples.

In the Po River delta, the towns of Casaccia, Goro and Santa Giulia were evacuated as a protective dike came under enormous pressures from the Adriatic Sea.

Elsewhere in Europe, the gales and severe rainstorms of the past two days subsided after battering shipping and causing at least four deaths in Britain.

The Greek freighter Metaponto was being towed toward Liverpool with the captain and three crewmen still aboard. They had twice refused to leave the ship as it drifted toward rocks in 36-mile an hour winds. Fifteen of the crew were taken off by a Metopos.

Nuclear Explosion Tests Detection

One of several Mississippi families in the Baxterville area leaves its home at the request of the Atomic Energy Commission. The evacuations were requested prior to this morning's underground nuclear explosion. From left are Mike Bilbo, 9; his grandmother Mrs. J. L. Saul, Miss Ola Saul and O. H. Saul.

May Speed Ratification Of Test Ban

HATTIESBURG, Miss. (AP) — The United States set off a small nuclear bomb deep inside a Mississippi salt dome today to find out if such underground blasts could go undetected.

The experiment could speed ratification of an underground test ban should it convince the world's nuclear powers that subsurface atomic testing could not be concealed.

"Everything looks good," Atomic Energy Commission officials reported shortly after the detonation. However, they said it would take six to 12 hours to determine if the explosion generated sufficient earth shock waves to disturb sensitive seismographs spaced as much as 1,500 miles away.

The blast, which cost $5 million to prepare and shoot, was touched off at 7:15 a.m. in a huge cavity 2,700 hundred feet beneath the surface of the gigantic Tatum salt dome, 23 miles southwest of Hattiesburg in south Mississippi.

Newsmen and other observers watching from an observation point 1.5 miles from the detonation point heard no sound from the blast, which packed the explosive wallop of 300 tons of TNT.

But the needle of a seismograph at the observation point moved sharply several times at the instant of the detonation. Newsmen also saw a fan-shaped glow resembling a neon light above the distant point.

But project officials said the main reason for the detonation was not from an instrument at the site which was supposed to flash a light when the explosion occurred far beneath the surface.

Although the seismograph moved sharply, no shaking of the earth was felt by observers. Fifteen minutes after the blast, an Atomic Energy Commission official announced that there was no indication of any release of radioactivity above the surface of the earth from the deep-seated test.

Stiff Opposition Expected To Mutual Fund Reforms

WASHINGTON (AP) — Key parts of a government plan to reform mutual fund operations including an outright ban on one type investment—face stiff opposition from the $77 billion industry.

In a 346-page report Friday, the Securities and Exchange Commission recommended a 5 per cent ceiling on sales charges by mutual funds, reduced advisory fees and a ban on contract plans which cut a commission off to half the first-year investment in commissions and fees.

If adopted by Congress, the recommendations could save investors millions of dollars yearly, commission sources said.

More than 2.5 million Americans own shares in the 87 mutual funds which were registered by the commission as of last June 30.

They paid an estimated $130 million last year in advisory fees, $290 million in sales charges—a typical sales charge is 8.3 per cent of the amount invested—and $10 million in brokerage commissions on the purchase and sale of securities by mutual funds, the SEC said.

Mutual funds sell shares representing an investment in the securities they hold, thus permitting a customer to spec-

February Date Now Seen for Apollo 1 Launch

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — America's three Apollo 1 astronauts looked toward a February launch date today as technicians struggled to repair a leak which forced a two-week delay in an important spacecraft test.

The National Aeronautics and Space Administration Friday postponed tests on the moonship in a vacuum chamber here when a leak was discovered in Apollo 1's environmental control unit used to cool spacecraft equipment.

Officials decided the unit had to be removed and a spokesman said it would take at least two weeks to repair and re-install the hardware. The vacuum chamber tests to simulate spacecraft systems operations at high altitudes cannot be conducted without the unit.

After the simulated altitude runs are completed, the three-man Apollo 1 is to go to the launch pad, where a checkout period of at least 40 days will begin.

The two-week delay in the altitude chamber test is almost

Wintry Weather Covers Country

CHICAGO (AP) — Wintry weather spread over much of the nation today.

Sub-zero cold gripped northern border states and freezing temperatures extended southward into Texas.

In the East, storms off Lake Erie and Lake Ontario abated after dumping huge amounts of snow on two widely separated sections of western New York.

Goody amounts of snow covered sections of western Maryland and northeastern Ohio.

Johnson to Inspect Dam, Visit Mexico

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson's 24-hour visit, Mrs. Johnson is accompanying the President on today's inspection trip, too.

Johnson is in the official party include Secretary of State Dean Rusk; Sen. Linwood, new U. S. Ambassador to Mexico; the American side and the Organization of American States; Secretary of the Interior Stewart L. Udall; Lincoln Gordon, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs; and Fulton Freeman, U. S. ambassador to Mexico.

Amistad, located 12 miles upstream from Del Rio and Ciudad Acuna, is the second major dam for international storage dam to be built by the two governments for the Rio Grande.

The dam, now about 67 per cent complete, is designed to prevent the floods originating in the Devils and Pecos rivers on the American side and the Conchos on the Mexican side.

The dam will be about 6 1/2 miles long and rise 254 feet above the river bed. Its reservoir will hold more than 5.6 billion acre-feet of water, 94.2 per cent of which is being allocated to the United States and 48.7 per cent to Mexico. The cost will be $1.2 billion.

The dam is being built by the two governments in the same partnership.

Cold Pickets Back Hot Issue

Striking teachers from Chicago's junior colleges took to the picket lines yesterday despite near zero temperatures. They struck Wednesday over what they called unwillingness of the college board to participate in "good faith negotiations." Friday's Fish Sales Normal; Beefs Few

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite some beefs by seafood sellers among the nation, the first Friday after the Roman Catholics in America had the Church's blessing to begin eating meat regularly proved pretty much to be a business as usual.

Mrs. Francis Quinn, a 64-year-old San Francisco archdiocesan official, said she had no beefs.

Eugene Rolari, manager of one of the state's largest wholesale fish businesses, in Bridgeport, said business was off about 15 or 20 per cent. But, he added, "I think it's going to be as good as it's been right along."

The manager of a Bridgeport fish and chips place said, "We can definitely notice the difference," but the manager of another seafood restaurant there said, "Bigger than usual, a little better than usual. I don't think you change habits right away."

In the Miami, Fla., area, business continued to boom fish-wise, with one restaurant saying, "Bigger than ever. Maybe when you take the heat off a thing, people do it willingly."

A Miami fish dealer said, "I can tell you we're selling more fish today than any time."

At Roman Catholic schools, the grand annual Miami, Fla., fish festival was served on Friday for the first time. "But a lot of students are eating fish, a lot of them," said a kitchen supervisor at one of the schools.

A spot check of Buffalo, N.Y., restaurants found fish orders down 10 to 40 per cent. However, the headwaiter of one downtown restaurant said, "Older people are still eating fish and sticking to their old habits."

Newspaper Reports Embassy Wiretap

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times today quoted unidentified official sources in Washington as saying that the FBI has been eavesdropping on the Dominican Republic's Embassy in Washington with electronic devices since the 1950s.

Earlier, before the Times story had appeared, the State Department declined Friday to comment on the substance of a nationally syndicated newspaper column which said substantially the same thing as the Times' dispatch from Washington.

State Department press officer Robert J. McCloskey denied, however, that secretary of State Dean Rusk had intervened in an attempt to prevent the alleged wiretapping from being disclosed.

"It is not true that the secretary or anyone else in the department made an intervention in this case as alleged in this column," McCloskey told a news conference.

The Times story said: "The eavesdropping has been an off-and-on affair and was always undertaken in connection with a specific event that was deemed to involve the national security of the United States," these sources said.

"This information confirmed what was independently learned as a result of the six days of pretrial hearings last month in the case of Robert G. Baker, former secretary to the Senate Democratic majority.

"Mr. Baker has been charged in a nine-count federal indictment on the ground that he conspired to defraud the government by concealing sources of income."

Mr. Baker's attorney has asked federal District Judge Oliver Garth to dismiss the indictment on the ground that evidence submitted to the grand jury was allegedly obtained by electronic eavesdropping.

"To counteract the argument," the Justice Department made available to the court and school made a 22 recorded conversations in which Mr. Baker took part.

Department attorney, said in an ing spot said, "Older people are still eating fish and sticking to their old habits."

He said that "all our radar monitoring equipment is now being tested on the ground and in aircraft above the detection site, are reading only (normal) background radiation."

Postal Savings Obsolete, But 33 Accounts Unclaimed

Thirty-three local depositors are now losing interest on $24,156 which is on deposit at the Manchester Post Office, according to Postmaster Alden Bailey.

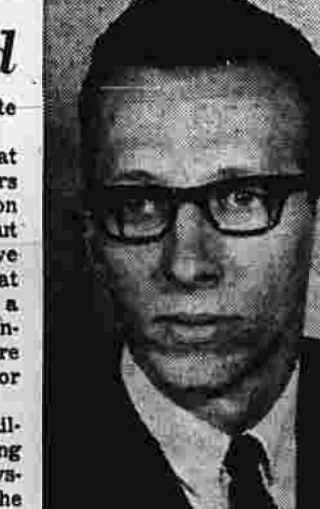

The money is on deposit in U. S. Postal Savings Certificates at the Post Office, and this system of savings was discontinued as of April 27, 1966. Nationwide, the Post Office Department is holding more than $147 million in the obsolete program, Bailey said.

The postmaster suggests that all postal savings depositors close out their accounts as soon as convenient so they can put their funds to more productive uses. He also reminded that U. S. Savings Bonds, paying a current rate of 4.15 per cent interest if held to maturity, are an excellent investment both for safety and income.

On July 1 of next year, Bailey said, funds still remaining in the discontinued savings system will be turned over to the Treasury Department. They will then be deposited in a trust fund where they will remain available for payment without time limitation whenever proper claims are received.

LIASON Thomas Matrik of Hebron has been named to serve as liaison between the Savings Bank of Manchester and the Burroughs On-Line Electronic Computer System which the

A factor in the downward trend may be caused by tax-selling, Starkel said, as investors sell to establish losses before the end of the tax year.

Great amount of activity was experienced at the Main St. office this week on insurance stocks. Starkel said the activity may have been spurred on by an article in "Barron's" which indicated an investigation of certain insurance companies.

MANUFACTURING UP Manufacturing in Manchester has increased nearly 100 per cent in the last 10 years, according to a survey done by the Market Research department of the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co.

In 1955, a total of 49 manufacturing firms had payrolls of slightly over $12 million. By 1965 this number had increased to 72, with total payrolls of $18 million a year.

According to the latest figures, there are now 74 manufacturing firms in Manchester, and though the increase in the actual number of firms has been small, the payroll in 1965 rose by $4 million from 1963, and was registered at $22.3 million for 1965.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—It was observed a few weeks ago that "Peyton Place" stars like Dorothy Malone, Ed Nelson and Mia Farrow seem to get involved in real-life dramas more exciting than those in the nighttime soap opera.

New we have Christopher Connelly involved in the juvenile riots on the Sunset Strip. Mind you, Chris was not a participant; he has neither the hair nor the inclination to join the shaggy protesters. But the Kansas-born actor is a keen observer of the youthful scene, figuring it helps his role as 18-year-old Norman Harrington.

"I try to study the jargon of the kids and their way of thinking," reasons Chris, who is 25. "If I use slang that is out of style, I can look pretty damn square to the young audience."

Connelly, who lives a few blocks from the Sunset Strip, was returning home from dropping off his date one Saturday evening when he saw the mob scene around Pandora's Box. That's the teen-age hangout at the eastern boundary of the strip and the hotbed of protests against "police brutality." Police and sheriff's deputies claim they are only trying to enforce the 10 p.m. curfew for those under 18, thus avoiding the roistering that jams the strip each weekend.

"When I came on the scene that night," said Connelly, "there were several hundred kids milling around. Some of them had stopped a bus and were rocking it and breaking out windows. Then they stopped another bus, and a few of them opened up the back and began tearing out the motor."

"Actually, there were only about 20 boys involved in the rioting. The rest stood on the curb and shouted encouragement; they seemed unwilling to join in. It was the kind of situation when people watch a would-be suicide on a ledge and they yell 'Jump!' The girls were yelling the loudest."

The rest continued with the tearing down of neon "Don't Walk" signs and throwing bottles after the police arrived, Connelly said. He saw no fights, but some of the bystanders told him that Marines had provoked some battles by "making fun of us"—that is, taunting the males in long hair, beards and bizarre costumes.

The crowd sullenly submitted to police orders to clear the area, and the demonstration ended for that night. But they have continued each weekend, requiring heavy assignments of policemen.

"I think the best way to handle the situation is to make the parents come and claim the kids when they get in trouble," observed Connelly. "That's what the police have been doing, and it may help in getting the parents to pay more attention to their children. I believe the lack of attention is the source of all the trouble."

BORDERLINE SERIES

Reality and fantasy will be fused on "The Further Adventures of Huck Finn," a weekly series NBC has planned for next season. The network said five characters will be combined with cartoon characters.

Gleason and Carney, the Singers

NEW YORK (AP) — Television's biggest success story this season is "The Jackie Gleason Show," achieving new heights by the expedient of returning to a musical comedy format that delighted the home audience eight years ago. Lyn Duddy, with his partner Jerry Bresler, is again turning out the music and lyrics for the "Honeymooners," expanded from 10 to more than 20 shows after the Nielsen ratings indicated audience approval of the reunion of Gleason and his long-time partner, Art Carney. Duddy, in New York briefly, said the big production staff is working "nine days a week" on the shows taped in Miami. "People love to see Jackie performing — more than playing host," he theorized. "And he's working harder than I've ever seen him work and apparently thrives on it. He's cheerful, enthusiastic — and available." Gleason and Carney are not exactly professional singers, he admitted, although "Jackie has a tremendous ear for music" and Carney is a better-than-average bathroom tenor. "But when you write music for them, you tailor-make it for their ranges," Duddy said. "That automatically knocks out certain things — we wouldn't do a song like 'Tenderly' for either of them because it involves too much range." As Duddy and Bresler finish their songs, they put them on tapes — "You should hear Bree-

ler do Sheila MacRae's numbers" — and turn them over to the performers. "I've seen Gleason learn a song from two playings," Duddy said. "Both he and Carney like to learn their songs by playing them over and over when they are around the house." Mid-season cancellations of television series mounted to an unlucky 13 over the weekend when CBS decided to dispatch its Thursday night "Jericho" in mid-January. The Secret Agent series, produced by MGM, was in 80th place in a list of 104 shows in the last Nielsen rating. It will be replaced by "Cotteseum," featuring rodeos, circuses and an ice show, all produced by Joa Cates
