"The city pays us $20 a day per patient but it takes them from three to six months before they pay us because of the red tape," said Matthews. "The city wants us to carry them for three to six months. We can't do it."

Deputy Mayor Timothy Costello said the city would pay for the patients it had entrusted to the hospital.

"Everything is now up to the bank," said Costello. He said it would be illegal for the city to guarantee the hospital's rent

Vernon $8,000 Renovation Planned For Talcottville Bridge

Two reports have been received from the state highway department concerning renovation of the old Talcottville bridge. Mayor Thomas McCusker said yesterday.

One of the reports, which includes widening of the bridge, gave an estimated cost of $15,000 to $40,000. This is the plan of the town to go over the bridge, which is in poor condition at a cost of some $8,000. This will be paid through state aid, and state materials are being used.

The bridge, which has been a landmark in Talcottville for many years, was built several weeks ago by Andrew Scario, director of public works, at that time the town was ordered closed to traffic.

The walkway, however, has been open and is used by the town. The load limit on the bridge will probably be limited to six tons. In the past it has been used for heavier loads.

There is still a section of track east of the roadway of the bridge and at one time it had to go over the bridge, through the town of Talcottville, to get to the city of Rockville.

Mayor McCusker also said the town is planning to fill in the swampy area in the Overbrook Heights section to eliminate the unpleasant odor and the serious mosquito problem that exists in the warm months.

A local concern which is planning expansion has offered the fill for the area so the only expense to the town will be paying for the driver to haul the fill.

Paint and Pigeons

Another project to be started by the town this week is the painting of the administration building and the civil defense building. Mayor McCusker said he contacted high commissioner Paul B. Sweeney and he will furnish men from the Tolland State Jail to do the painting. How long there will be a saving to the town as Mayor McCusker said the only cost will be for the paint.

Also started this week was a pigeon control program. An amount of $2,000 was budgeted for this purpose and the town has called in professionals to do the job.

The project was put out to bid and awarded to a Rhode Island firm. A sealer is put on the stonework of the old buildings where the pigeons have been roosting. This material makes it uncomfortable for the pigeons.

The job has been just completed on the Henry building at the corner of Park Street and

Sen. Murphy in Line For GOP Fund Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — California Sen. George Murphy appears headed for the GOP job that helped make Barry Goldwater famous — hunting votes and money for Republican Senate campaigns.

Goldwater, who served four years as chairman of the Senate Republican Campaign Committee, said he thinks Murphy, 64, should get the post.

Sen. Thurston B. Morton of Kentucky, who holds it now, said the California apparently has the votes to take over when GOP senators fill the position in January.

Morton is leaving the post to prepare his own re-election campaign. Goldwater plans a Senate race for the Arizona seat now held by Sen. Carl Hayden, Democrat.

Murphy leans toward conservatism; Sen. Hugh Scott of Pennsylvania, who also wants the job, is among the Senate's more liberal Republicans.

But Goldwater said in an interview that ideology has nothing to do with his view. "I think somebody like Murphy will be more universally accepted, particularly in the West," he said.

Kiesinger Courts DeGaulle In 1st Major Policy Speech

BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger today based his new West German government firmly on the proposition that its relations with President Charles de Gaulle and France will determine the future of Europe.

"The facts of European geography," Kiesinger said in his first major policy statement, "and the balance of history show that under present conditions there is a high measure of agreement in the interests of two peoples and countries."

He added that "together with France, the oldest ally of America, we consider indispensable a solid alliance between the free European nations in the process of unification and the United States of America, in whatever form the structure of this alliance will take in view of a changed world."

"We refuse to let ourselves be faced with a false and dangerous choice," Kiesinger declared. "We are not frivolous trouble-makers," he assured the Bundestag.

But he did not say what he would do about American and British demands that West Germany buy more of their goods

Coventry Carolers Welcome in Season

By HOLLY GANTNER

The warm spell broke just in time for Coventry's official welcome to the Christmas season last night.

Almost 200 snugly-dressed carolers gathered at the town hall for the lighting of the outdoor Christmas tree and a spirited round of carol singing.

There were also several selections played by the Brass Choir from Coventry High School under the direction of Carl Salina.

Emphasis was on the traditional songs of Christmas, but at one point the brass choir burst into "Spanish Flea" which gave some of the colored-carolers a chance to tap their feet in earnest.

School-age carolers were particularly enthusiastic during the re-ensuing "Let It Snow," which was sung as of Jan. 1.

Richard Nicolas, who will replace David, was introduced, and Gailnat reminded everyone of the importance of the office and "ask for Richard you were."

After the music, all the carolers were invited in to the board room of the town hall for coffee or cocoa and doughnuts. Gailnat thanked the office staff, who decorated the board room and served the refreshments, Mrs. Christina Woods, Mrs. Pauline Little, Mrs. Grace Jacobson and Mrs. Audrey Bray.

This was the second annual Carol Sing, and if last year's enthusiastic response is any indication, it won't be the last.

Too Late For Connecticut

The essential thing that happened in the Supreme Court decision in the Georgia case yesterday is that the Court which authorized this one man vote...

In Connecticut, for instance, the Supreme Court and the Federal District Court even held that if the people of this sovereign state should go to the polls and express themselves unanimously in favor of a certain kind of constitution...

This is, of course, something of a retreat by the Court from its previous doctrine, and reporters of the scene noted that Justice Hugo Black, speaking for the majority, seemed to relay very much his opportunity to say that this constitution had, created by the federal Congress, a "dual form of government, in which the Federal Government has certain powers—but does not have them all."

Yesterday, the Court majority was holding that the law is the law, even though it is almost certain to result in the election as governor of Georgia of a man who did not lead the popular vote, even though it is going to result in the seating as governor of Georgia of a man who shows every sign of being anxious to turn back the clock and perhaps bring disgrace to his state and sharp trouble to the whole nation.

The idea that the law can be valid even if it stands in the way of social progress, even if it operates on occasion to produce an injustice—this is almost a novelty coming from the Court.

To applaud the redevelopment of such conservative legal principles on the Court is not to applaud the existence of bad law. It is to applaud a reconstitution of the way in which bad laws ought to be dealt with, which is primarily by vote or amendment of the people rather than by judicial decisions which take over the most elemental functions of the electorate itself and the legislative branch in our political life.

The kind of judicial threat under which the once sovereign state of Connecticut recently performed its own adoption of a new Constitution—that the Courts themselves would run the state if they didn't like what the people wrote—has been at least partially lifted in the case of Georgia. It retains some degree of freedom to write, maintain, and live by a constitution of its own. The irony is that this degree of freedom and self-respect arrives in time to serve the wrong kind of cause in Georgia, but too late to spare, in Connecticut, any vestige of the same political system which made possible the founding of the United States, and which, in the method for the election of the House and Senate in Congress, still survives on the federal level.

Narrow Escape: One can assume that both President Johnson and W. Averell Harriman, his special ambassador of large, would like peace in Vietnam, if it could be tailored to what they consider certain necessary specifications. One also assumes that the kind of peace he plays with the prospect of peace is based on their hard-headed assumption that there is no such prospect which is real. Such assumptions would make Mr. Harriman's continued journeying primarily a business of trying to win points for us, in the minds of our friends, in the minds of neutrals, by making us seem open-minded about peace, even though, all the time, our specifications are pretty tight and closed.

It can be guessed, then, that Mr. Harriman was very glad, the other day, to get out of Algeria as quickly as he could and reach the relatively safe atmosphere of Madrid, where the particular Johnson-Harriman type of peace crusading will run no risk of being understood.

What happened in Algeria was enough to upset any experienced diplomat. Ambassador Harriman spent two days in Algeria, convincing himself that he was the Algerian president how much President Johnson wants peace, and imploring them to help President Johnson get it. But instead of merely expressing their pleasure over President Johnson's overpowering desire for peace, the two Algerian statesmen did an unheard-of thing. They announced publicly that they had been asked to help bring peace and that, accordingly, they were immediately calling into consultation with themselves both the Chinese Communist and the North Vietnamese ambassadors to Algeria.

If Ambassador Harriman hadn't been able to catch a very early train, he might even have found himself talking to the very people with whom we would have to make peace. That would have accelerated his personal peace of mind a little too much. The kind of peace offensive he and his boss at Washington favor is one that can be paced to last as long as the fighting does.

Yum, Yum, BFF?

It ought to taste pretty good—Blended Food Formula No. 2—about the city after Christmas. Only a sense of duty—or perhaps curiosity—could lead us to it before then, however.

What is Blended Food Formula No. 2? It is the Great Society's latest formula for feeding the world, efficiently and cheaply. It comes as a powder. Add a little water, and it becomes porridge. A few drops more, and it is gruel. More liquid, and it makes a fine soup. Diluted still more, it is a nourishing hot drink.

It costs nine and a half cents a pound to manufacture. It contains 20 per cent protein. The formula calls for 68 per cent gelatinized, precooked corn meal, 25 per cent soy flour, 5 per cent milk, and 2 per cent iodized salts, minerals and vitamins.

It sounds as if it ought to have a fine taste—or at least a basis for a fine taste any good cook might manage to impart to it by the addition of a touch of onion or spice.

We can't wait to get some and then, some time after Christmas, try some. Genuine success may not, however, be too easy a task.

This seems to be one more instance in which the progress of the Great Society at home seems to be yielding priority to needs abroad. So far, there have been 58,000,000 pounds of Blended Food Formula No. 2 shipped abroad, and not even a stray ounce around anywhere for just plain, ordinary Americans to sample. We will, we suppose, have to wait our turn. We won't really be wanting any until after Christmas anyway.

Christmas Commerce

With the advent of Advent there comes the annual attack on the commercial spirit that rises in the stores at this time of year. . . . The complaint seems to be that the merchants are interested in merchandising and their customers are interested in buying gifts. Try as we will, we find it hard to share the alarm over thousands of people swarming through the shopping area to pick out gifts for their families and friends. Panic refuses to rise at the thought of storekeepers doling their places up and piping in bells and carols. The whole thing is just too enjoyable.

At other times, except for the really dedicated matron, shopping is something of a drag. Certain things have to be had and the shopper dutifully goes forth and gets them. How different at Christmas. Little shops become jewel boxes of charm and surprise. The big stores become palaces of dazle and delight. It's a pleasure just to walk past the windows. And inside it seems that the corners of the world have been ransacked of their treasures for your enrichment.

The mind may dimly know that behind all the sparkle is a grim bookkeeper at a stand-up desk. But the heart is sure that the store manager is Victor Herbert. As for his customers, is the sometimes fevered concern with finding just the right gift for the right person really so foreign to the spirit of Christmas? If throughout the year we pay too little attention to other people's happiness, isn't it good for us, during this one month of glitter, to think of it? It may be naive, but surely it isn't reprehensible, to try, once a year, to buy joy in a parcel for those we love.—WASHINGTON STAR

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

It is worth noting that the Connecticut reapportionment team of John M. Bailey and Searle Pinney, two statisticians and computers, achieved a much greater one-man vote success in the matter of Congressional districts than it did in either the new state Senate or House. In the state Senate, there are 20 districts which give residents of some districts almost a two to one voting power in relation to the residents of other districts, and in the new state House of Representatives, there are several districts where residents have more than other districts, voting power of other districts.

Such inequalities were encountered and finally left in the reapportionment scheme, because Bailey and Pinney and their reapportionment crews were really heading toward what they felt would be a fair point of redistributing rather than a mere numerical one. They calculated how many districts would be likely to go Democratic and how many Republican, before they began the actual redistributing. And when, at the end of all their bargaining, they found some numerical problems they couldn't solve, they closed their eyes and trusted the federal judges to close their eyes too, which the federal judges did.

Politically, we should say, the legislative reapportionment came out not too far from what Bailey and Pinney had expected. If the Republicans had won either branch of the new legislature, one big explanation is that they didn't begin to come close enough to winning for governor.

When it came to their work with the new congressional districts on the other hand, the Bailey-Pinney political planning and their numerical work harmonized rather beautifully. In the political results, even in spite of a Democratic sweep of the state, the Republicans got one of the congressional districts supposed to be within their reach in any normal state election.

And as for the voting size of the six new districts, that came out remarkably well. The main reason for this, we suppose, might be that it is easier to divide the state six times than it is 36 times or 177 times.

In any case, there isn't anything like any two to one discrepancy among the new congressional districts. The largest in voting strength on Nov. 8, District 4, cast a total vote that day of 176,151, only 15,331 more than the total vote of 160,820 cast in the smallest, District 2.

The total vote cast in the First District was 173,223, that in the Third District 161,976, that in the Fifth District 163,919 and that in the Sixth District 167,509.

We see, in such figures, no case for idealistic concern on the part of either the League of Women Voters or the federal bench, and if there were gerrymandering involved, as everyone fondly supposes, it must be conceded that when gerrymandering happens to do its mandering so efficiently it not only gains its political objectives, but at least stays close to its numerical standards, it is almost statemanship.

Hoffa Takes Court Reversal In Stride; to Continue Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — James R. Hoffa is in the toughest spot of his troubled nine-year reign over the giant Teamsters Union after the Supreme Court rejected appeal of his jury-tampering conviction.

But "he took it philosophical" and immediately started laying plans to continue his battle to stay out of prison, a close associate said. Hoffa's reaction to Monday's court decision. The Teamsters president was sentenced to eight years after a change after Hoffa's predecessor, Dave Beck, was convicted of income tax evasion.

Many union leaders would like to invite the Teamsters back into the AFL-CIO to gain the added strength of the world's biggest union. One source said Hoffa would use every legal means to delay going to jail.

Hoffa's lawyers could stave off execution of the sentence for months, these sources said. "He has three shots at it," Hoffa's lawyer said. Hoffa's attorneys hope to come up with new evidence that could upset the conviction, bringing his ouster on any charges brought prior to the July conviction, and authorized payment of all past and future legal fees out of the Teamsters treasury for Hoffa and other union officers.

Hoffa's legal fees have been estimated at $1 million or more. Two weeks ago, the U.S. Circuit Court in Chicago denied a rehearing of Hoffa's appeal on his conviction of defrauding the Teamsters' pension fund. He has 15 more days in which to appeal that ruling to the Supreme Court.

Hoffa also has six more days in which to pay a $24,871 income tax settlement to the government, which he does not pay, he may face government liens on his personal property.

At the Teamsters July convention, Hoffa and his allies wrote the union's constitution to give Hoffa numerous avenues to try to keep his grip on the Teamsters.

Iraqi Oil Takeover Posed Unless Royalties Increased

DAMASCUS, Syria (AP) — The broadcast added, however, the IPC's "rash attitude toward Syria would only lead to such consequences" and indicated that the threat would be lifted if the company paid up.

The broadcast also said that the Iraqis, "after 40 years of experience, have become able to exploit their oil by themselves and run company installations, too."

The spokesman added: "Let the company know that the people of the two countries, as well as all Arabs, will carry on the battle until the company submits to our rights or meet its obligations and becomes only a minority in a black page of the Iraqis in the course of their liberation from imperialism."

Syria is demanding an increase in royalties on the Iraqi oil that crosses Syria by pipeline which Syria sources say will raise the annual bill from $28 million to $42 million. Last week the Syrian government impounded IPC assets in the country until the company pays $1 million additional royalties claimed for the first nine months of 1966.

The spokesman shut off the pipeline to the Syrian port of Banias Monday, saying its tanks there were full and the government would not allow it to load tankers. The pipeline to IPC's other Mediterranean terminal at Tripoli, Lebanon, also crosses Syria but was not affected.

The Iraqi government has supported Syria's demands for increased royalties and has said it reserves the right to collect production royalties even if the oil flow is cut.

The major owners of IPC are British Petroleum Co., Shell, the French Petroleum Co., Standard Oil of New Jersey, Mobil, and Participations and Explorations Corp.

Second Siamese Twin Dies After Separation

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The second Siamese twin, 21-day-old and Mrs. James Cantrell, died at dawn today. Her sister, Susan, succumbed Monday shortly after a seven-hour operation that had separated them.

A spokesman at St. Christopher's Hospital said the infant of a 34-man medical team at St. Christopher's Hospital for Children that performed the separation, said Monday night he was pleased by the condition of the surviving twin.

Dr. Julio Davila said Susan died because she had a constricted main artery and a malformed heart which caused blood to bypass the lungs. Karen also suffered from what Dr. Davila called a major congenital heart defect. He said that "these things sometimes heal themselves" or can be corrected by surgery.

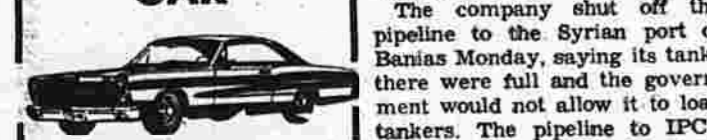

Once the abdominal wall has grown in, "there is no reason why Karen cannot grow up to lead a normal life," Dr. Cresson said.

The parents have three other children, two boys and a girl. Dr. Cantrell is a mathematician on leave from the University of Georgia for a year's study at the Institute for Advanced Study at Princeton.

Fronczak's Get Okay to Adopt 'Own' Youngster

CHICAGO (AP) — It's final: Chester and Dora Fronczak can adopt the baby boy they think is their own.

A final adoption decree signed Monday in Circuit Court made the couple, whose infant son, Paul Joseph, was kidnapped in April 1964, the legal parents of a foundling from New Jersey whom the parents think is their kidnapped child.

The Fronczaks were not the couple's infant son, when they got him from a Newark, N.J., agency. The agency had increased royalties and has said it reserves the right to collect production royalties even if the oil flow is cut.

The major owners of IPC are British Petroleum Co., Shell, the French Petroleum Co., Standard Oil of New Jersey, Mobil, and Participations and Explorations Corp.

The couple has been caring for the 2½-year-old child named Paul Joseph since June, when they got him from a Newark, N.J., agency. The agency had increased royalties and has said it reserves the right to collect production royalties even if the oil flow is cut.

He was the only one of more than 10,000 orphans to pass all tests designed to find Paul Joseph.

The Fronczaks say they are sure the baby is their. Officials say this will never be certain unless the kidnaper is apprehended.

A woman dressed as a nurse took the infant from Dora Fronczak's arms in Michel Reese Hospital shortly after he was born. A nationwide search failed to turn up any trace of the woman.

A million-dollar suit the Fronczaks filed against the hospital is pending.

This Crew Is Just for the Ceremony

Bankers are generally more at home pushing pencils, and that's probably why Clifton M. Griswold is getting this reaction from those watching him push levers on the backhoe. The occasion was the groundbreaking yesterday for the new branch of the Hartford National Bank next to Mott's. Griswold is a vice president of the bank and manager of its Manchester Main St. office. Directing the operation, in front, is Town Manager Robert Weiss. In the rear are Atty. George C. Lesner and Atty. John S. G. Rotzner, both advisory bank board members, and Stanley Banking, vice president of Mott's. When these fellows were through with the traditional ceremony, the more experienced laborers went to work on the job they expect to complete by spring. (Herald photo by Pinto.)

Board to Name Charter Unit, Plan Robertson Park Pool

The Board of Directors last night voted to establish a nine-member Charter Revision Commission, to be appointed on Jan. 3; and authorized the general manager to draw plans and specifications for a Robertson Park Swimming Pool, to be constructed in time for next summer's opening.

Republican David Odegar, in moving for the creation of the Charter Revision Commission, said that it will be charged with two specific considerations:

- The broadening of the referendum powers of the voters, to satisfy a GOP platform pledge.
- A Manchester residency requirement for department heads. The town charter does not contain that role. It only requires the general manager to be a resident, during his tenure.

In authorizing plans and specifications for a Robertson Park Swimming Pool, the board instructed the manager to utilize no funds now available and that the pool be constructed in the Highland Park area needed swimming pools also. She urged post-nomment until funds are available.

The board tabled action on a proposed three-year lease to Alford Canning Co. for two town-owned parcels, pending review of the proposal by the Town Planning Commission.

Public 'Talk' Rules Amended by Board

On a split 4-3 vote, the Board of Education decided last night to amend its policy on providing for public participation at its meetings. It agreed to establish quarterly special meetings to allow public discussion of any item coming under the board's jurisdiction.

At the same time, it clarified its present policy by voting affirmatively that "the policy of the board shall be that the public shall have the right to speak at any meeting or any agenda item at a time designated by the chairman."

The split vote came after the two-pronged motion was made by Atty. Herbert Phelon, a new Republican board member who took office last month. Phelon's motion was seconded by Mrs. Anita Murphy, a Republican.

Phelon made a revision of policy part of his campaign platform. He had earlier criticized the board for not allowing expressions of opinion by the public when it first considered the Hartford program last spring.

Many of the 200 persons attending the meeting expressed their support for the revision of the policy. The program will offer descriptions of current Broadway plays including "Cactus Flower," "The Apple Tree," "Man of La Mancha" and "The Killing of Sister George."

The speaker was active in the dramatic book reviewing field in Chicago, Ill., and Cincinnati, Ohio, before coming to West Hartford.

There will be a question and answer period after the program.

Mrs. Bruce Stauffer, a club member, will speak on "The Folklore and Religious Significance of Evergreens."

Members are reminded to bring wrapped and labeled articles for patients at Norwich Hospital. Story books for children, new or used, will be collected for the board's reading room.

Mrs. William Kelly is chairman of a hostess committee. The program will be assisted by Wayne Bolduc, Mrs. F. James Elder, Mrs. Robert Erickson, Mrs. Norman Gerhardt, Mrs. Frank Hurley, Mrs. Robert Locke, Mrs. Thomas McKenna, Mrs. Charles McKenna, Mrs. Donald Simpson, Mrs. Bruce Smith and Mrs. Robert Stavinitsky.

Board Agrees to Sell 75 Acres, Lowe Insists Space Too Small

The Manchester Board of Directors last night voted to sell 75 acres of the Globe Hollow tract to the state for Manchester Community College. The vote was 8 to 1, with Republican Director Harold A. Turkington dissenting.

The sale was made conditional to six terms: (1) that a price of $3,800 per acre be set; (2) that the land be sold to the town if it is not used for college expansion within a reasonable period of time; (3) that the state pay all utility costs; (4) that the state provide a second access road, this one from Keeney St.; (5) that the remainder of the Globe Hollow tract be dedicated to park and recreation use; and (6) that the intent to sell the 75 acres closes the door to any additional sale in the future.

College president Frederick Lowe, who had been pressing for approval for at least 100 acres, said after the vote that the 75-acre offer is not sufficient for college expansion plans.

He said that, in his opinion, the offer will not be accepted by the State Board of Regional Colleges and that the local college board will now have to submit three alternate sites, as it had been requested to do originally.

Lowe said, also, that the $3,800 per acre price set for the parcel is too high. The cost for 75 acres would be $285,000.

He did not reveal what price would be satisfactory, however, stating that possible alternate sites.

The directors, in voting their intent to sell the land, did so in the form of a resolution, of which a motion by William Schaller and seconded by John Garandeau, both are Republicans.

Proceeding the 8 to 1 vote on the resolution, the Republicans beat back an amendment, offered by Democrat William Fitzgerald, to raise the offered site to 100 acres. The vote was 6 to 3 along party lines.

The resolution reads: "Be it resolved, that it is the intent of the Board of Directors, subject to the provisions of the Charter and Special Acts of the Town of Manchester, to sell to the State of Connecticut, for use as the site of a Regional Community College, no more than 75 acres of the so-called Globe Hollow land, contiguous to the former Nike Site presently owned by the state, under the following terms and conditions:

"1. This land is to be used only for the purpose of building the Capitol-East Regional College, and it shall be so stated in the deed that the land reverts to the town of Manchester, for the original purchase price, should this state not be realized and accomplished within a reasonable period of time.

"2. The price of said land is to be computed at the rate of $3,800 per acre.

"3. The full cost of providing water and sewer facilities to said site is to be borne by the state.

"4. In addition to the proposed access road from S. Main St., the state is to construct, at its own expense, an additional access road westerly from said site to Keeney St., as suggested by Mr. Frank's (Town Plan) Joseph (Tisbury) report of Nov. 29, 1966.

"5. This does not imply any intention of the board to sell more land to the college in the future.

"6. Since open space and recreation land is getting more scarce, it is our intention to dedicate a portion of the remainder of the land in the Globe Hollow tract to park and recreational use, and to implement this by granting a portion of the money received from the sale to create a park within this area.

"7. Turkington, who only last month had indicated that he would approve the sale, said last night that the board's vote "is a distinct mistake."

He charged that the proposed

Aircraft 'Giants' Consider Merger

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Douglas Aircraft Co. has announced it is considering a merger, and three other giants said they have been contacted by the aerospace firm.

McDonnell Aircraft Corp., St. Louis, said Monday it was one of several firms that received invitations Dec. 9 to discuss merger possibilities. No dates have been set for talks though, a spokesman said.

North American Aviation, Ed Segundo, Calif., said it was "engaging in exploratory discussion with Douglas to consider whether a merger might exist."

The third firm, General Dynamics Corp. of New York, has conducted "exploratory talks of a general nature," a spokesman said.

Lockheed Aircraft Corp. of Burbank, Calif., said it was not interested in merger with Douglas. A spokesman for Boeing Co. in Seattle, Wash., said his firm has no comment. Boeing is the main competitor to Douglas in commercial jet aircraft.

Last Wednesday Douglas revealed it had appealed to the government for a $75 million loan to build a new jetliner.

Court Wary in Sanctioning Tipsters, Undercover Men

WASHINGTON (AP) — In an innumerable but careful language the Supreme Court has sanctioned limited government use of informers and undercover agents to combat crime.

That, in sum, is the essence of the court's action Monday in upholding the convictions of Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa, former union lawyer Z.T. Osborn Jr. and a law-time narcotics peddler.

But the justices moved cautiously as they endorsed, in special circumstances, government gambits that some of them found displeasing.

Hoffa, Osborn and Duke Lee Lewis of Boston all claimed they had been tricked by the government; Hoffa by a paid Justice Department informer recruited from union ranks, Osborn through a tape recorder strapped to the back of a man he thought was working for him, and Lewis by a federal agent posing as a marijuana customer.

But their claims did not cause the court to reverse their convictions. Hoffa's eight-year prison term was reduced to five years and affirmed 6 to 1. Osborn's conviction was upheld 5 to 4, and in the third decision, Justice Potter Stewart, in the controlling opinion in the Hoffa case, took pains to point out that the government's use of informers before it sufficient reason to tip the scales in favor of the government. Chief Justice Earl Warren called official deception in order to gather evidence for criminal prosecutions.

ROON TAX EFFECTIVE
BOSTON (AP)—State tax officials have disclosed that a room occupancy excise tax started last April has brought in much more revenue than expected.

Tax Commissioner Guy J. Rizzuto said the tax was expected to raise about $3 million yearly and has already produced $2.8 million with five months to go.

The tax, a five per cent levy on all hotel, motel and lodging house room rentals which cost $2 or more per day or $14 weekly.

Rizzuto said the emergence of some parts of Massachusetts as winter resort areas will help swell the total revenue.

The Herald Angle New York's Pro Football Teams To Have Say in Deciding Races

Color Calls Have Meaning

Fans attending Philadelphia 76er games in the NBA get a kick out of the "color" ratings of Coach Alex Hannum. For years now, Hannum has been shouting "white," "yellow," or "green" to his players. These designations merely mean—white, use a tight man to man press—yellow, a loose guarding defense without making fouls taking the green—yellow is the call for close guarding and attempting to steal the ball.

One-Liner

In addition to playing at an amazing pace on the court, Oscar Robertson of the Cincinnati Royals is acknowledged to be quite a wit off the court and is famous for his out-of-line line.

For a while weather conditions appeared to make commercial travel uncertain so that the Cincinnati group got to their destination on time a twin engine plane was hired for the trip. Oscar was not keen about traveling in the lighter plane. Oscar looked at Jerry and quipped: "If those planes are so great, how come so many of them are parked out there on the ramp."

"Tribute To A Lady" To the Editor,

I would like to pay tribute to a lady whose rare qualities endeared her to all who were fortunate enough to know Betty Minney. She exuded warmth and compassion, and was truly the epitome of the Golden Rule. Betty had the unique ability of bolstering your morale through her cheerful voice and manner. Hanoi Accuses U.S. Of Second Jet Raid

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — The Communists reported that U.S. jets raided Hanoi and its suburbs today for the second day in a row. Radio Hanoi declared eight American aircraft, including a pilotless reconnaissance plane, were shot down. There was no immediate comment from the U.S. Command, which earlier said it could not confirm or deny the Communist claim that American bombs fell inside the North Vietnamese capital Tuesday and that women and children were killed. A U.S. spokesman said pilot reports of raids against North Vietnam today had not been received at Saigon headquarters. The Soviet news agency Tass said in a Hanoi dispatch that American planes raided the city for about an hour and a half Tuesday and that women and children were killed. "As yesterday," the Tass correspondent said, "they bombed the right and left banks of the Red River, the embankment and the area of the bridge linking Hanoi with its suburb Zhykhan. The air pirates met with dense antiaircraft fire. Numerous bursts clouded the clear sky. A rocket scored on leaving a white trail behind. I saw a U.S. plane catch fire and a parachute descent in the air. In a series of comments on Vietnam strategy Tuesday, the score was close to even: two dove-like proposals, three hawkish suggestions and two endorsements of present administration policy. The newly elected senator said, "The war could stretch on and on unless we escalate. We're piddling in the north and in the south." (See Page Twenty-Five)

Spain Votes; Victory Seen For Reformers

MADRID, Spain (AP) — A stepped-up military effort, said the United States should offer a cease-fire and stand-fast from Christmas through mid-February in hopes of getting changes proposed by Generalissimo Francisco Franco. It was only the second national vote in the 27 years of his dictatorship. With half of the 19,320,877 registered voters balloting within four hours before the polls opened jubilant officials said the heavy vote indicated support for Franco's amended constitution. Some said these will open the door to a future democratic monarchy. The officials based their optimism on the fact that the body organized opposition had urged voters to boycott the election. Franco appeared in good humor as he cast his ballot. When photographers asked him to repeat the act so they could get more pictures, he smiled and said: "What you want me to vote more than once?" Many persons lined up in some sections of Madrid as early as two hours before the polls opened. Many of the early voters were women. Good weather over most of the country favored a heavy vote. With formal opposition muted, government officials predicted 80 per cent of the vote would favor the changes, the first major sign of relaxation of control by the 76-year-old dictator. WASHINGTON (AP) — Bill D. Moyers said today he is resigning as President Johnson's press secretary to become publisher and chief operating officer of the Long Island, N.Y., newspaper Newsday. Moyers also announced the impending resignation of a second, 32,000-a-year Johnson aide — Jake Jacobson who has been serving as the President's legislative counsel. Jacobson will return to private law practice in Austin, Tex. Moyers said he will be succeeded as press secretary by George Christian, 39, who joined the White House staff last May after being press secretary to Democratic Gov. John B. Connally of Texas. Moyers will take over his duties. Moyers, the most prominent member of the White House inner circle since the resignation earlier this year of Jack Welch, said his resignation was prompted by "reasons of personal family obligations."

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — The 27-year-old boss of the Zimmerman Excavating Co. may be Ohio's prettiest contractor. Pamela Timmins, a former student at fashionable Bryn Mawr College, heads a contracting company in Mansfield inherited from her father, the late Joseph J. Zimmerman. Her mother is the firm's vice president. Her decision to take over the company was made suddenly last February when her father died. But it was not surprising. "I had wanted to go into the business when I was in school," she said, "but dad didn't feel it was the sort of thing a girl should do."

First 'Honest' Snow Storm Blankets Area

Winter's first honest blanket of snow came late this year, and the snow was a bit heavy and wet for real fillings, but where it fell on the fence at the East Cemetery, it left a robust sculpture. (Herald photo by Saterinis)

Astrobugs Test Travel in Space

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Packed inside a beehive-shaped capsule, thousands of seeds, frog eggs and 1,000 amoebae "astrobugs" aim spaceward today to orbit earth 74 hours so scientists can learn if it is safe for humans to take distant trips to planets. Perched on the tip of a shot, Delta rocket, the wasps, fruit flies, beetles and other living specimens blast off between 2:20 p.m. and 3:20 p.m. EST as the opening shot in America's $100-million "bring-em-back-alive" bioscience program. Goal of the program is to test how radiation and weightlessness in space affects the growth of plants and animals, structure of body-cells and basic biochemistry.
