Severe Past Critic of ICC New Chairman of Agency

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Kennedy, the term expires Dec. 31, 1967.

He is known for his outspoken views today elected one of its severest past critics as its chairman for next year: William past taken too narrow a view in Humphrey Tucker.

Tucker's election was a foregone conclusion. He was vice chairman this year and trail-blazer of the Chesapeake & Ohio merger the following years ago ran 38 pages — four pages longer than the commission's decision.

In it, he rapped the ICC for being "content to find consistency with the public interest" in the ICC.

Tucker, 43, native of Boston, solely within the confines of the World War II paratrooper, honor graduate of Boston University's Law School, was appointed place before it.

He said that in a narrow and literal sense, the transaction was simply control of B&O by C&O. But Tucker found the issue considerably larger: "What kind of railroad system should the present generation leave to the generations that follow?"

In two years, Tucker's views haven't changed. In an interview to coincide with his election, Tucker said: "A large merger case warrants a great deal of policy perspective on the part of the commission and that must be related to the public interest — overall, rather than confined to a strictly railroad community interest."

Tucker tempers his criticism with a good deal of praise for the ICC. He pointed out that its budget has increased only slightly — and that was due to automatic salary increases for its 2,400 employees. The budget this fiscal year is about $77.3 million.

Because he is chairman for only one year, Tucker can institute few changes. "There are no Utopian schemes or passions here that will guarantee instant success for a new chairman," he said. Nor can any chairman in his brief tenure, radically depart from the basic posture of the commission.

But he promises at least some changes, mainly to continue speeding up handling of cases before the ICC.

"The emphasis will be on putting more burden on the parties in the case to alleviate delays," he said.

Tucker also predicted early decisions in some of the major cases pending before the ICC — but he didn't name them.

Major cases include:

Kennedy Memo Outlawed Some Probe Methods

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Justice Department says Robert F. Kennedy, white attorney general in 1962, issued a private directive to FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover and other department officials that certain investigative means were not to be used.

A department spokesman, responding to inquiries, said Wednesday night the directive was written in very broad terms. He declined to discuss its specific contents.

Hoover contended in a letter dated Oct. 1965 that the 682 billion piece, up 4.2 percent last weekend that as attorney general Kennedy authorized.

Code to Reform Probate System Being Drafted

CHICAGO — Hope for a meaningful reform of the probate system lies in a proposed code being drawn up by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and the probate section of the American Bar Association.

It would simplify the probate process by cutting down the waiting time for creditors to come forward, by giving the estate administrator greater freedom in disposing of property, and by letting the estate's distribution be handled informally so the probate judge doesn't have to oversee every step.

Moyers' Action Triggers Change New Status Ranking at White House

WASHINGTON (AP) — The resignation of Bill D. Moyers as White House press secretary ranked as the "big three" of the day in the White House staff. They are W. Mark the end of a gradual 100 per cent turnover in top White House staff jobs.

Moyers, leaving Feb. 1 to become publisher of the Long Island newspaper Newsday, was regarded at one time as the most powerful and influential of White House staff jobs.

With his departure, three other special assistants — all getting salaries of $20,000 a year — too narrow a base on which to build a position of pre-eminence.

Watson is physically close to the President. Occupying an adjoining office, he is appointed special secretary and resident assistant, and the most recent addition to that elite roster, is Robert E. Kinner, former secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, often plays the same role for Johnson. He also has been a major hand in shaping new legislative proposals.

None of the four most prominent special assistants ever served on Johnson's official

TOKYO — Japan recently completed its shift to the metric system, but there has been some grumbling about giving up the old ways of measuring, such as the tatami and taubo.

For many, many years the unit of measurement for Japanese rooms has been the tatami mat; rooms have been three, 4 1/2, six or eight mats. The tatami generally is 9 by 1.8 meters, but varies somewhat from place to place.

And the Vietcong motive for assassinating a good man, an enemy of Premier Ky, would have been logical. The assassination could have sold itself to the Vietcong as a means of maintaining weakness and confusion in anti-Communist ranks and of liquidating a man who was an outstanding possibility to lead South Vietnam toward the kind of representative government which would, in the end, be a much more effective alternative to Communism than anything the Ky dictatorship could offer.

Unfortunately for its continued acceptance, the government's motive for the assassination was almost too swift and perfect.

The result is that suspicion in Saigon has reverted back to the original first guess which must have occurred to almost everybody — that Premier Ky and his generals were liquidating their foremost democratic challenger.

Who can rule on this? Nobody, that we know. The situation is that, with this assassination, as perhaps with all assassinations, the fact that the man never been enough to count with everybody. People will still believe what they have an instinct to believe. Which is truth and which is fiction, does not really seem to matter.

Except, of course, to the Saigon government itself. It has ordered two of the city's newspapers, which have dared express doubts about the official story of the assassination, to suspend publication.

Running well in the Nov. 8 election, comparatively speaking, that it was not always any key to actual success.

The best uniform performer on the Republican state ticket was, for instance, James Tyler Patterson, but all his fine performances got him was the consolation of having lost by only 100,000 votes, while his candidate for governor was losing by 115,000 and the lowest member of the state ticket was losing by 148,848.

Two Republican candidates for Congress ran ahead of their candidate for governor. But for one of these, Abner Sibal in the Fourth District, this could not provide very much ball to the bitterness of his loss.

For the other, Messkill, however, the Republican candidate in the Sixth District, his individual performance in the Congressional Campaign was accompanied by the kind of reward that makes votes seem worth counting.

Messkill was elected, and he was elected in a manner which, upon analysis, does not leave very much room for the theory that he owed his victory entirely to the presence of a third party candidate who was taking votes away from Congressman, Bernard Grabowski, the Democratic incumbent.

Messkill, as one of only two Republican congressional candidates, showed it up ahead of Clayton Genras, did so by 6,388 votes, which happened to be more than the 6,731 votes taken out of the race by the third party candidate.

Grabowski, one of four Democratic candidates for Congress ran behind Governor Dempsey, did so by the great margin of 11,842 votes.

The combination of statistics would seem to point to Messkill, but the number of votes of the Congressional race in Connecticut on Nov. 8.

And some of us have said, “But I don’t want to go through the pain and trouble of developing a foundation for my trust in God. I don’t have time to study or think. That’s why I go to church. Toward A Non-America
 After they either regret or applaud the possibility that Senator Robert Kennedy and FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover may soon determine in full public view which one is telling something less than the whole truth and nothing but the truth, the nation’s editorialists and commentators make a strenuous effort to shift into a logical discussion of the pros and cons of vetting.

They try to discuss which kind of vetting ought to be considered necessary and legitimate, and which kind ought still to be beyond the legal pale. And they discuss the question of how to protect the nation’s security and how to frustrate criminals without tearing up traditional rights of privacy for innocent individuals.

A great deal of opinion—too much opinion in our opinion—winds up with the conclusion that if innocent people are really innocent, they do not run very much risk of having any electronic eavesdropping done on their private lives. Besides, the final inference of the consensus seems to be that if they are innocent, then they have no real reason to mind having their phones tapped and they have no sharp reason to be afraid of having their conversations, or conversations to them, recorded.

All this rationalization which tries to deal with the problem of justifying, legalizing, and controlling some degree of vetting is like a debate over what kind of bonnet and what length of leash one shall slip over the neck of a rattlesnake before inviting it into one’s tent.

The one most valid kind of speculation about what kind of vetting and how much vetting should be permitted now, but speculation about the ultimate amount of vetting that will be done if some vetting is permitted now, is a tremendous asset to Manchester.

For the Board of Directors of Manchester even to be flirting with the possibility of refusing a normal kind of welcome to this institution, or to run any risk of getting the name of the ultimate location of the College elsewhere, when it has already been established here, would be a strange employment of public power and responsibility.

Let’s keep the Manchester Community College out of politics, and let’s keep it in Manchester.

The Directors And The College
 The declaration of intent adopted by the Board of Directors Tuesday night should properly be regarded, it seems to us, as a bargaining treaty between the Manchester Community College’s search for a permanent site in Manchester.

As the sponsor of the declaration himself admitted, it set nothing final and perpetually binding, and could, therefore, be subject to future discussion and negotiation.

It would be childish and short-sighted policy to refuse to entertain such discussion and negotiation on the two key factors in the proposal—the number of acres really required for the Manchester Community College — and the price per acre.

The total of 75 acres specified by the Board of Directors may be too little; the price of $3,800 per acre ought to be submitted to a panel of appraisers.

Above all, the Board of Directors should not give the impression that, rather than welcoming the Community College to a fair bargaining process, it has somehow been tempted into a strategy designed to make things difficult for the Community College that will be forced to give up on the site it, and the site which seems natural for it, and go elsewhere, perhaps even out of town.

The Manchester Community College was originally conceived and launched as a bi-partisan proposition. It already stands as a developing part of the state program for what will eventually be universal two year college education for everybody. Thousands of Manchester high school graduates will be attending it, over the future years. For all of these, it will be a convenience to have the college located in Manchester. The College, with its various facilities and activities, will be a tremendous asset to Manchester.

For the Board of Directors of Manchester even to be flirting with the possibility of refusing a normal kind of welcome to this institution, or to run any risk of getting the name of the ultimate location of the College elsewhere, when it has already been established here, would be a strange employment of public power and responsibility.

Let’s keep the Manchester Community College out of politics, and let’s keep it in Manchester.

Faith for God
 We have learned to think that there are things that we are not supposed to think about. We are to accept some things on faith and not question them. . . we have been told. We get the message that God is great enough to withstand the “dreadful power” of our doubts. We even hear the whisper that we should begin to live by faith until each of us have had the courage to doubt deeply. For almost two months, Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops known to operate in the five northernmost provinces of South Vietnam have avoided large-scale clashes with Allied troops.

Instead, the Communists have resorted to guerrilla hit-and-run attacks, mostly at night. Reports of the raiders get away with only light casualties, and they continue making their reforms and tightening their grip under a benign military dictatorship. Military rule is the trend in South Asia—South Korea, South Vietnam, Burma and Thailand all are run by military governments.

South Vietnam, Burma and Thailand all are run by military governments. Indonesia is heading down the same road today.

Members of Troop 8085, under the leadership of Mrs. Joseph Armistead and Mrs. John Sullivan, attended.

The troop, under the direction of Mrs. Lawrence Brown and Mrs. Roger Ward, welcomed Denise Steiner, Debbie Beaulieu, La Donna Brooks, Kathy Lambert, Margie Remson, Lillian Williams, Jane Lindley, Donna Chiles, Donna Davis, Linda Korba, Melinda Lemnitz, Sally Robinson, Laurie Kruschmidt and Donna Ingle.

Classes for new altar boys were conducted Dec. 12 and 24, according to the Rev. Hugh Murphy.

The Congregational Church has scheduled a senior choir rehearsal Thursday at 8 p.m.

SNOOZE ALMOST FATAL
 PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — John Edwards fell asleep in a large trash bin and came within minutes of being buried alive by a bulldozer.

The bin, containing trash, boxes, garbage and the gray metal transient was dumped into a large truck. The contents were compressed under 40,000 pounds of pressure.

Four hours later, the truck dumped its load at the city dump. Workers heard groans and spotted Edwards’ head protruding from the back of the truck. Edwards said, “I guess I did not represent.”

Who Killed Tran?
 In the weird world of Saigon, what people have an instinct to believe outweighs all circumstantial facts for distinction between truth and fiction. It is no surprise, therefore, that the Saigon government’s original story of the assassination of Tran Van Van, the anti-Communist and also anti-Ky politician, should have maintained its popular acceptance only for a few days.

When the liberal, democratic politician was assassinated, the government within minutes arrested, interrogated and reportedly confessed that he had been acting on orders from the Vietcong. That seemed to make a clear case, for a day or two.

Psychiatrist Says Vennard Not Responsible in Assault

A Hartford psychiatrist testified today that Dennis Vennard of Manchester was not "responsible" for his actions during a "homicidal assault" on his mother, Mrs. Vennard, in 1964.

Dr. Doherty testified that Vennard had schizophrenia, a type of psychosis characterized by a loss of contact with reality. Under cross-examination by the prosecution, he said a person's actions can be distorted by the disease.

By DOMAS BELLING
Make-ahead recipes are always welcome to have on tap for entertaining during the busy holiday season. Mrs. William Hoch of Olton Dr., Rockville, has two favorite chicken breasts in wine sauce and spinach casserole.

Chicken Breasts in Wine Sauce
1/2 cup flour
dash of pepper
1 1/2 teaspoons salt
1/2 cup butter
1/4 cup finely chopped onion
1 cup medium dry white wine
1 cup light cream
1 cup milk
4 whole chicken breasts, split
1 slice boneless ham 3-inch thick

Mix one-fourth cup flour, one-half teaspoon salt and dash of pepper. Remove skin from chicken and lightly coat with flour mixture.

Melt half of the butter, add chicken and brown lightly on both sides. Sprinkle sparsely with salt and pepper. Add wine and cook over low heat 20 minutes, turning occasionally.

While chicken is cooking melt remaining butter in saucepan, add chopped onion and cook until onion is tender. Blend in with one-fourth cup of flour, one teaspoon salt and gradually add milk and cream. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, until thickened.

Cut ham slices in half and arrange on bottom of shallow baking dish. Place chicken breasts over ham.

Gradually stir wine mixture into cream sauce and heat until blended. Pour over meat. Dish may then be refrigerated until ready to bake. When ready to bake, place in 325-degree oven for 45 minutes. Remove from oven and arrange avocado slices over chicken. Return to oven for five minutes until avocado is heated.

This recipe may be made in advance and frozen. Breasts should be browned, cooled and frozen, and sauce should be frozen separately.

Spinach Casserole
1/2 pound bacon
2-10 ounce packages frozen chopped spinach
2 eggs, lightly beaten
2 cups milk
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup provolone cheese, shredded
paprika

Cook bacon and fry or pan broil until crisp. Cook spinach according to directions on package and drain thoroughly. Blend milk and salt into the eggs. Stir in spinach, bacon, bread crumbs and cheese. Pour mixture in 1 1/2 quart baking dish. Sprinkle remaining cheese around edge of casserole to form a two-inch border. Sprinkle with paprika and bake in 375-degree oven for 30 minutes or until heated thoroughly.

New Haven Pact Assures Nutmeg Commuter Runs

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Maintenance of essential passenger services between New Haven, Conn., and New York has been assured until June 30, 1967.

The Tri-State Transportation Commission announced Wednesday an agreement with New Haven Railroad trustees that will extend passenger service on the West End line for six months, starting Jan. 1.

The extension would give the Metropolitan Commuter Transportation Authority and the Connecticut Transportation Authority time to negotiate for long-term continuation and modernization of service, it was announced.

The two agencies are planning an $80 million program of modernization and improvements.

The Tri-State Commission, representing New York, Connecticut and New Jersey, said six more months were needed because the Pennsylvania-New York Central Railroads merger has been delayed by court rulings. The merged line is to take over the New Haven.

The federal government has been paying two-thirds of the cost of running West End Service the past 18 months and the states a third.

Payments of $200,000 a month to the New Haven the next six months would be split by New York and Connecticut.

Researcher Says Chinese Not Serious As Military Threat

HARTFORD (AP) — Despite United States and the Soviet Union's pronouncements, and her huge army, she is not a serious military threat, a Harvard Institute researcher said Wednesday.

Prof. Frank Armbruster pointed out that China is unable to control either the air or the sea. China is unlikely to enter the Vietnam conflict unless it looks like North Vietnam is about to be conquered, he said.

"If we invaded North Vietnam," Armbruster said, because China could come in," he said. "China's nuclear capabilities are, at the moment, more a political than a military asset."

Lindsay was assigned recently to paint "no parking" on the wall of a tunnel through which vehicles are supposed to pass, but he found the task a little in terms of military capability difficult.

He had to squeeze between a wall and a parked car.

China's army of 23 million would be more effective as a defensive force than an offensive one, said Armbruster, because China does not have the mechanized equipment to move its forces quickly.

Armbruster spoke at the Kellie Convocation on China at the University of Hartford.

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) — Verna Lindsay, a painter at the Utah State Capitol, now can see why he was given his latest assignment.

Lindsay was assigned recently to paint "no parking" on the wall of a tunnel through which vehicles are supposed to pass, but he found the task a little in terms of military capability difficult.

He had to squeeze between a wall and a parked car.

Smokes Tax Asked

HARTFORD (AP) — Cigarette-smoking Rep. Victor Tudan has filed a bill calling for a penny-a-pack increase in the state cigarette tax.

The revenue, which the Windsor Democrat estimated at $4 million a year, would be used to lift the financial burden from families with mentally retarded children in state institutions.

"Mental retardation takes a tremendous toll in hardship and heartache," Tudan said. "Why should the families of the mentally retarded be burdened further — financially?"

The state cigarette tax is now eight cents a pack.

$78 Million Derived from Bay State Tax

BOSTON (AP)—State Tax Officials have disclosed that the new three per cent sales tax, in effect since April, produced about $78 million through November.

That was short of the $104 million predicted by Gov. John A. Volpe for the eight-month period.

State Tax Commissioner Guy J. Rizzuto reported that in the month of November, total revenue to the state was $65,865,871, including $12.2 million in withheld income tax and $11.1 million in sales tax revenue.

In a similar period last year, total revenue was $41,187,844, including tax withheld of $14.1 million.

Rizzuto said that he believed the certifications of money cities and towns can't be based on the so-called "cherry sheet" estimates will be met.

He said that at instance of the governor, he instructed his collection force to be ready to work overtime and weekends to be sure that all collections due for the current calendar year will be properly processed.

He noted that under law the state tax commission has until midnight Jan. 3 to make the checks available to cities and towns.

The sales tax for which Volpe battled for 14 months before winning approval was expected to produce about $100 million yearly.

Jackie Will Endure Trial To Bar Book Publication

Row has done its utmost to comply with the wishes of the Kennedy family and deeply regrets their present attitude.

A source close to Mrs. Kennedy, who called the dispute "this sad story," gave this version of the events that led up to it:

"Early in 1964 it became apparent to Mrs. Kennedy and other members of the family there would be sensational versions of the assassination. They were getting many queries.

"Mrs. Kennedy felt an obligation to speak to history. So, for the double reason of taste and history, it was determined to serve the national interest in a more accurate account of the events that led up to it.

"The source said a memorandum of understanding spelled out the terms under which Mrs. Kennedy would write the book. It was signed by Mrs. Robert F. Kennedy and William Manchester.

"It is dated March 28, 1964, and reads: 'The Kennedy family and the author agree to cooperate in the writing of a book about the assassination of President John F. Kennedy and the events that led up to it. The book shall be reviewed by the Kennedy family and the author before publication. The book shall be published in the United States and other countries. The book shall be published in the United States and other countries. The book shall be published in the United States and other countries.'

"The source said Mrs. Kennedy's request for an injunction to halt publication of the book was denied based on two contentions:

1. That Mrs. Kennedy and Sen. Kennedy had not given their approval.

2. "It is invasion of privacy, the breach of a solemn agreement, that things about her would not be published without her approval."

"He also states in part: 'I could not dilute my questions and still be faithful to my task, and over half the subjects experienced moments of emotional difficulty. Often, I found that a principal figure had thrust his memories into a remote corner of my mind. Bringing them out was agonizing, almost unendurable.'

"President Johnson is an example. Twice, in May 1964 and April 1965, the President agreed to receive me and go through questions and do it. We ultimately solved the dilemma by written questions and written answers."

When Manchester's manuscript was finished, the source said, it was read by four persons, Richard Goodwin, special assistant to President Kennedy; Pamela Timmons, Mrs. Kennedy's secretary; John Siegenthal, editor of The Nashville Tennessean; and Edwin G. Guthrie, man of the Los Angeles Times who had been press secretary to Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Mrs. Kennedy and Sen. Kennedy have not read the book.

State Cancer Deaths Show Slight Decline

HARTFORD (AP) — State Health Commissioner Franklin M. Poole attributes a decline in cancer deaths in Connecticut to greater public awareness of cancer's warning signals.

Poole said Wednesday night that the Connecticut chapter of the American Cancer Society claims the state's share of requested increases in the health department's $70,760,803 budget.

The overall decline in cancer deaths was slight, but nonetheless encouraging, he said. The biggest decrease was noted in deaths due to cancer of the breast and uterus.

Bert W. Schmitt, chief of the division, said the request includes a $12,000 increase for the "Big Three" killers to show a decrease last year.

The other two heart disease and stroke, continued to increase. Cancer claimed 4,719 lives in 1965.

Draft Defended

WASHINGTON (AP)—The head of the nation's Selective Service System has challenged the volunteer army concept advanced by some as an alternative to the military draft.

"This volunteer business is overrated," Lt. Gen. Lewis Hershey told a National Press Club luncheon Wednesday. "I don't want a mercenary army."

In defending the present draft system, Hershey said, "We've got to make up our minds whether we are to defend this country or not."

There should be no alternative—particularly a time of war when everyone owes a debt to his country.

"If the country ever gets to the point where the average person doesn't believe in defending his country," he added, "we're done. We've had it."

Draft calls were boosted as the tempo of the Vietnam war increased, Hershey said. "We've furnished all they have asked for and they've been equal to but with numbers," he said.

Industrial Slowdown

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government reports the output of the nation's mines, mills and factories declined during November for the second time in the last three months.

The Federal Reserve Board's newest index of industrial production confirmed again the slowdown in the economy. The index dropped to 108.3 per cent of the 1957-59 average last month, three-tenths of a point lower than October.

The drop in industrial production, coupled with a slowdown in the growth of personal income and declines in retail sales and wholesale prices, would appear to lessen the possibility of a tax increase next year to help fight inflation.

The decision, however, is up to President Johnson. And the President has indicated he will wait until January before reaching a decision.

Legislator Accused

WASHINGTON (AP)—An NAACP official has accused a South Carolina congressman of deliberately using the word "nigger" at a Congressional hearing Wednesday to provoke ill will and discord.

But Rep. Robert T. Ashmore, a Democrat, denied the charges of Clarence Mitchell, Washington director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People.

"If I did use it, it was inadvertent," Ashmore told a news chad R. New Haven, where man. "I went out of my way to the incident occurred in 1963.

Italian News Strike

ROME (AP)—Most Italians were left without newspapers today by the second 24-hour strike by journalists in Rome. The Italian news agency Ansa also was closed.

The journalists are demanding more pay and a shorter work week.

Rome's two large morning papers, Il Tempo and Il Messaggero, continued to publish. They said they had met the shortened work week requirement.

CRAL's President Paul A. Rust said Wednesday that purchases of the New Britain operation would not affect CRAL's other bus divisions. The Waterbury, Bridgeport and Norwalk areas.

Inventory Tax Hit

HARTFORD (AP)—Spokesmen for retail and wholesale stores made it clear Wednesday that they, too, want local inventory taxes eliminated.

They asked at a hearing before the Connecticut Tax Study Commission for legislation that would gradually do away with taxes on manufacturers' inventories.

At one point in the hearing, John F. Tarrant of the State Tax Department said taxes on retail inventories produce about $11.5 million a year.

The 1965 General Assembly enacted legislation that would gradually cut manufacturers' inventory taxes down to nothing over a 10-year period, with the state reimbursing local government for their lost tax income.

Starr Once Grateful Just to Be Drafted in NFL

PALO ALTO, Calif. (AP)—Bart Starr remembers 1956 as the year he was overwhelmed with the opportunity to be able to make a professional football team.

Ten years later, the Green Bay Packers quarterback has been voted the Most Valuable Player in the National Football League by The Associated Press.

"It was grateful just to be drafted the year I started," Starr admitted. "I had been hurt my last two seasons in college and was a little dejected."

From Alabama, Starr was the Packers' 17th draft choice but in five years had won the starting quarterback job.

Starr was obviously pleased with the honor but looks forward to the NFL championship game and hopes his club will be facing the American Football League title winner in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles.

"I'd like to have that problem," he says referring to defeating the AFL.

Recovering from rib injuries suffered in the first half last Saturday at Baltimore, Starr doesn't know if he'll play Sunday in the regular season finale against the Rams at Los Angeles.

Starr was obviously pleased with the honor but looks forward to the NFL championship game and hopes his club will be facing the American Football League title winner in the Super Bowl at Los Angeles.

Starr will be on Jan. 9 and has enjoyed his best season of his NFL career with Green Bay. He's completed 62.2 per cent of his throws with a fantasy record of only three interceptions in 261 attempts.

10th Bowl Show For Mississippi

HOUSTON (AP)—The University of Mississippi football team arrives today to keep a date with Texas in the eighth Big South Bowl Saturday.

The Rebels, making their 10th straight bowl appearance, get a one-day jump in Houston works on the Texas Longhorns, who won't put in appearance until Friday.

Rice University Stadium, site of the game, is expected to be filled at its 70,000 capacity Saturday and the weatherman predicts no rain and temperatures in the middle 60's.

The game will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 1:15 p.m. CST, with the Houston area blacked out.

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Patriots have the most porous pass defense in the American Football League, but they hope to see plenty of aerials in Saturday's showdown with the Jets at New York.

"The more the ball is in the air, the more chance we have to cover by mistake," said Coach Mike Holovac.

Holovac admitted that the Patriots' weak pass defense is pointed up "right there in the statistics" and there is no hiding the fact that Joe Namath is extremely dangerous.

DETROIT (AP)—William Clay Ford, owner of the Detroit Lions, said Wednesday night the team will be looking for offensive linemen in the draft.

Wrestling Campaign Opens Saturday

Among the world's oldest sports, wrestling makes its season debut in our area Saturday when Manchester High and East Catholic join Hartford Public, Glastonbury High, East Hartford High, Oak Hill School, Wetherbury High and Penney High in the first annual Penney High Invitational Wrestling Tournament in East Hartford.

Quartfinals begin at 1 o'clock with the semifinals at 8:30. East opens Dec. 17 with a 7:30 and the finals at 8:30.

Few sports, save soccer, have increased in popularity over the past decade as collegiate wrestling has proved a profitable and exciting sport.

New Orleans Site In Line for NFL

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—There were unconfirmed reports that Pete Rozelle, the NFL commissioner, would announce today that Houston millionaire John W. McCombs Jr. had been awarded the New Orleans franchise in the National Football League.

In New York, the NFL office would only say the "decision will be announced as soon as it is reached."

High School Makes Plans For Work-Study Program

A pilot program of state-supervised apprenticeship training in machine trades is planned to begin at Manchester High School next semester.

The announcement that a number of students will be made to their schoolwork was made by Sidney Cohen, occupational coordinator for the school system.

Cohen said he is currently holding talks with several prospective employers, who he said have been "very receptive" to the proposal.

He said seven of 12 juniors and seniors enrolled in a new vocational machine course will participate in the apprenticeship program.

All seven are currently holding part-time jobs after school, but those are unrelated to their training, Cohen said.

The apprenticeship program should not only provide benefits to the students, but it is also designed to help meet the needs of industry for trained workers.

In the high school's machine course, taught by Joseph Maszarski, 22 of Rockville Rd., the juniors and seniors learn how to operate mill machines and turret lathes.

It is one of several new courses which are being offered at the school, Cohen said.

The machine course apprenticeship, Cohen said, will carry out objectives for a cooperative work-study program to make the students immediately employable upon graduation.

They will attend classes at the high school mornings and evenings, and will be strictly supervised by the Connecticut State Apprenticeship Council.

Employers will be required to enter into formal contract agreements with the students, who will continue their apprenticeships after graduation and will not become journeyman machinists until they have completed three years of training.

In this pilot program proving successful, Cohen says, others may be worked out for the other vocational courses now operating or contemplated at the high school.

Under the vocational grant, beefed-up business and new food services (short order cooking) courses are now being offered.

In January, the industrial arts department will begin offering courses to train machine shop inspectors and electronics assemblers.

Machine trades employers in Manchester who are interested in the prospects of the apprenticeship program are urged to contact Cohen at Manchester High School.

His office, located in Room A20 in the music wing, is also open to the public.

Illinois Site Chosen For Atom Smasher

WASHINGTON (AP)—Weston, Ill., was picked today as the site for a $375-million atom smasher.

Closing out a competition that had involved dozens of communities across the nation, the Atomic Energy Commission announced the choice last March.

The 200-billion electron volt proton accelerator is projected as the world's most powerful, designed to unravel many of the near Sacramento, Calif., and mysteries of the structure of matter.

Six sites to which the National Academy of Sciences had narrowed the choice have been under study by the commission since last March.

The six were: Ann Arbor, Mich.; Brookhaven National Laboratory at Upton, Long Island, N.Y.; Denver, Colo.; Manhattan, N.Y.; and Los Alamos, N.M.

"All six sites would have been suitable locations for this project," AEC chairman Glenn T. Seaborg said.

"Each proposal had many strong points, making the selection of one site an extremely difficult task. However, after weighing all factors, the commission unanimously decided that the Weston site, which is near Chicago and also near the Argonne National Laboratory, is the most suitable location for this large project."

Although Congress has authorized and appropriated money for scientific studies of the project, the 200-billion electron volt particle accelerator, construction has not yet been started.

The facility would employ about 2,000, and would have an annual operating budget of about $60 million.

It would take six to eight years to build after construction funds are appropriated.

The AEC has been searching for a site for the nuclear plant for nearly two years.

The atom smasher, designed to explore fundamental aspects of matter for peaceful purposes, would be shaped like a race track nearly a mile in diameter.

What's Ahead? Santa's Banished By Stores, Towns

NEW YORK (AP)—Is Santa Claus headed for hard times? Santa parachuted into a Buffalo, N.Y., shopping center after Thanksgiving and was arrested for illegal parachute jumping.

When he wanted to fly to Clinton, N.J., he was arrested instead of a sleigh, the city fathers said. He couldn't, only flight powers and public opinion are not permitted to land at Clinton, which has no airport.

And now Santa has been banished from some stores. "We dropped Santa Claus because we needed the space and most of the shopping centers where we have our stores provide a Santa serving the whole store," said a suburban Denver department store president.

Ardan, a discount store in suburban Des Moines, Iowa, had a Santa Claus last year but dropped him this year. The store says it took too long to take the children's pictures with Santa.

Honest Error

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (AP)—Miss Kathleen Theres said her kindergarten class at Washington Elementary School was singing "Tannenbaum O Tannenbaum" Thursday while rehearsing for a Christmas play.

"Tannenbaum" is a German version which he delivered lustily: "Aloic Bomb, O Aloic Bomb."

"And he really thought he was right," Miss Theres said.

Publisher's Home Target Of Arsonist

WEST HARTFORD (AP)—An apparent attempt to start a fire at the home of the publisher of the Hartford Times was under investigation today by police.

It was the ninth such incident reported since October. The others involved the tossing of rock-weights, burning newspapers through windows in Hartford. None caused serious damage.

The publisher, Kenneth K. Burke, and his wife, heard a noise about 9 p.m. Thursday. Mrs. Burke said today that no bombs fell within the city as shown on a 1965 National Vietnam map.

A U. S. Military Command review of pilots' reports on the strikes showed that American warplanes struck only the scheduled target areas. "I didn't see a single bomb off target," Lt. (jg.) John Barrow, 25, of Philadelphia, one of the pilots who raided the truck park.

Reports from foreigners living in Hanoi indicated there almost certainly were no deliberate attacks inside the city by American planes, although some homes were badly damaged. The report made available by U.S. officials here, also showed that the foreigners believed the damage was caused by North Vietnamese anti-air.

Secret Book Conference May Have Triggered Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—A highly placed official in President John F. Kennedy's administration described today a secret conference to certain passages in the manuscript describing her emotions and actions in the aftermath of the treaty in Dallas.

The former official gave this version of the conference: "It was held last October in Manhattan, N.Y. Mrs. Kennedy's New York City apartment. I had five hours. Mrs. Kennedy did not attend. Mrs. Kennedy was present only when she was asked to sign the book."

The meeting was called "because things had reached a difficult state with respect to certain parts of the book. The purpose was to work out compromise on them."

The group included Richard Goodwin, Theodore Sorensen, Pierre Salinger, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Burke Marshall, James Greenfield, John Douglas and John Sweeney, editor of the Nashville Tennessean.

Except for Schlesinger, all those present had held important positions in Kennedy's administration. Salinger, former press secretary, and Greenfield, former assistant secretary of state, considered the meeting of such importance that they flew to New York from California to attend.

A few of those at the conference had read the whole book. Others had read the parts of it which had come into dispute. "Some of it was read in the meeting."

The ex-official described the book as "a collection of memories of the White House." He said that the book was written by a woman who had worked for more than 45 years in the White House.

After the arguments, and the state's rebuttal are completed, Superior Court Judge, Arthur H. Healey will instruct the 12-member jury as to the law and the possible verdict.

Hanoi Bombing Charge Flatly Denied by U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States offered the world a flat denial today of North Vietnamese charges that American warplanes bombed inside the city limits of Hanoi Tuesday and Wednesday.

Statements from Saigon and Washington, designed to refute widely spread Communist reports that the United States has begun a new escalation of the Vietnam war, claimed that: "A review of reconnaissance photos showed that all bombs fell on designated targets outside the city limits and a railroad yards five miles northeast of the city. The photos showed, the U.S. Military Command in Saigon said today, that no bombs fell within the city as shown on a 1965 National Vietnam map."

President Serious At Tree Lighting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The scope was hopeful and cheerful as a choir singing the lights on at the home of the President in Arlington National Cemetery.

Writing by the light of a shadow of old-fashioned lantern on a hilltop as he awaited a moment of silence for the late President.

The months ahead will be busy ones in Vietnam, although, he said, aggression "has been limited" and "peace with honor will surely follow."

A group of youths chanted "stop bombing Hanoi" as the President arrived for the ceremony and his second talk of the day on war and peace.

There was no interruption of his speech to the 8,000 persons at the park-like area, south of the White House, however, as he said.

"The months ahead... will require great sacrifice and patience and understanding and tolerance from each of us."

Earlier, to 125 veterans wounded in Vietnam who had come from nearby hospitals as guests of Mr. Johnson for a White House tour, the President said:

"I wish I could tell you that what you fought for, peace in the world, is just around the corner, but there will be some long and difficult days ahead, days that will require patience, judgment and understanding."

Army Lt. John F. Cochran to his wife Elaine and other folks at Highland, Calif. He died in action and was buried Nov. 15 in Arlington National Cemetery.

Writing by the light of a shadow of old-fashioned lantern on a hilltop as he awaited a moment of silence for the late President.

The months ahead will be busy ones in Vietnam, although, he said, aggression "has been limited" and "peace with honor will surely follow."

PHOTOS SHOW NO ATTACKS WITHIN CITY

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States offered the world a flat denial today of North Vietnamese charges that American warplanes bombed inside the city limits of Hanoi Tuesday and Wednesday.

Statements from Saigon and Washington, designed to refute widely spread Communist reports that the United States has begun a new escalation of the Vietnam war, claimed that: "A review of reconnaissance photos showed that all bombs fell on designated targets outside the city limits and a railroad yards five miles northeast of the city. The photos showed, the U.S. Military Command in Saigon said today, that no bombs fell within the city as shown on a 1965 National Vietnam map."

A U. S. Military Command review of pilots' reports on the strikes showed that American warplanes struck only the scheduled target areas. "I didn't see a single bomb off target," Lt. (jg.) John Barrow, 25, of Philadelphia, one of the pilots who raided the truck park.

Reports from foreigners living in Hanoi indicated there almost certainly were no deliberate attacks inside the city by American planes, although some homes were badly damaged. The report made available by U.S. officials here, also showed that the foreigners believed the damage was caused by North Vietnamese anti-air.

Secret Book Conference May Have Triggered Suit

NEW YORK (AP)—A highly placed official in President John F. Kennedy's administration described today a secret conference to certain passages in the manuscript describing her emotions and actions in the aftermath of the treaty in Dallas.

The former official gave this version of the conference: "It was held last October in Manhattan, N.Y. Mrs. Kennedy's New York City apartment. I had five hours. Mrs. Kennedy did not attend. Mrs. Kennedy was present only when she was asked to sign the book."

The meeting was called "because things had reached a difficult state with respect to certain parts of the book. The purpose was to work out compromise on them."

The group included Richard Goodwin, Theodore Sorensen, Pierre Salinger, Arthur M. Schlesinger Jr., Burke Marshall, James Greenfield, John Douglas and John Sweeney, editor of the Nashville Tennessean.

Except for Schlesinger, all those present had held important positions in Kennedy's administration. Salinger, former press secretary, and Greenfield, former assistant secretary of state, considered the meeting of such importance that they flew to New York from California to attend.

A few of those at the conference had read the whole book. Others had read the parts of it which had come into dispute. "Some of it was read in the meeting."

The ex-official described the book as "a collection of memories of the White House." He said that the book was written by a woman who had worked for more than 45 years in the White House.

After the arguments, and the state's rebuttal are completed, Superior Court Judge, Arthur H. Healey will instruct the 12-member jury as to the law and the possible verdict.

Auto Insurance Increase Barred

HARTFORD (AP)—State Insurance Commissioner William R. O'Neil rejected today requests by insurance companies for rate increases on automobile policies which he said could cost Connecticut drivers $10 million a year.

O'Neil turned down the petitions filed Nov. 18 by the National Bureau of Casualty Writers and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

The former represents 95 companies writing 49 per cent of the auto liability insurance in the state. The latter covers 202 companies sharing 72 per cent of the physical damage (collision) insurance in Connecticut.

The rate increases, if O'Neil had agreed with the bureau would be 18.2 per cent more in 1967, would have been 24.4 per cent in 1968 and 34.4 per cent in 1969, O'Neil said.

The statewide average increase would have been 10.8 per cent in liability coverage and 8.4 per cent in collision rates. O'Neil said the immediate effect of his rejection would save insured operators $5 million in the state.

Two Drivers Die In Rt. 2 Crash

EAST HARTFORD (AP)—Both drivers were killed early today in a two-car collision on Route 2, a divided highway.

Killed were Mark D. Fivime, 28, of 138 Crescent Drive, East Hartford, and John Setberger, 29, of 14 Sinclair St., Windsor. The pickup station wagon was headed southbound when it struck Setberger's vehicle, state police said. Both drivers were alone when the accident occurred about 2:30 a.m.

An investigation was underway in an attempt to determine how the woman's vehicle entered the highway headed in the wrong direction, state police said.

BUILDING REBOUNDS WASHINGTON (AP)—Home building rebounded during November from a low level since World War II, the Commerce Department reported today, but still remains well below what the industry considered normal. The department said new privately owned housing starts jumped 13.9 per cent during November, over the previous month, to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of one million units. This compared with the revised October rate of 811,000 units, the lowest since World War II.
