TEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULA-

We Don't Even Believe Ourselves

The tragedy of the conflict between urgings for expansion of holiday truce and the sharper blows of United States bombers at Hanoi is that it is not a case of a wicked, peace-hating President doing his tricky best to fight off the disstrous, if well-intentioned, foolishness of such world characters as Pope Paul, Secretary General Thant, the National Council of Churches, and Senate Majority Leader Mansfield. The tragedy is that, although this may be the way it seems to the believers in some sincere effort for peace through de-escalation and negotiation, t doesn't have to be the way the President himself, and those key advisers who agree with him, see it as they authorize the step-up in the use of bombs. It is not fear of peace which leads he President to counter and poison every peace offensive, from whatever source, by some new demonstration of the United States capacity for new es-The President, we believe, himself beleves that the true way to peace is to accompany any whisper about peace with the loud explosion of bombs ever closer to the central target.

It is difficult, at Christmas season, with world church leaders imploring him to ease up on the war, with new boldness returning to domestic politicians who oppose his conduct of the war, for the President to snuff out all talk of peace. He has to ride with the sentiment of the season. Whatever he may think of the real wisdom of it, he has to pretend that he even welcomes

But there is always one thing he can doesn't misunderstand. He can see to it that, whatever we have to say because of the religious holidays, our bombs speak the language of realism in Viet-

The calculation of the President that the way to get a peace in Vietnam is to bomb the enemy into acceptance of it on our terms is a natural calculation. It is the way other wars have been won, on the field at least, even if they have afterwards been lost in the sense that they merely prepared the way for new conflict. If it does not seem to be working out that way immediately in Vietnam, that would be, if we may presume to enter the President's thinking, because this is a special kind of operation, in which we are willing to take more time to beat the enemy into submission because we hesitate to strike him with that fullest force which might, in turn, force. his allies to come openly into the bat-

There is-this is the possibility that really compounds the tragedy in Vietnam-a chance that the war in Vietnam is a special kind of war, to which the President's normal expectations somehow do not apply and may never

This may be, quite like the war 500,-000 crack French troops tried to wage against an invisible enemy in Algeria, a war that cannot be won by the crude application of force of arms against the will of a people. This may be, not another war, as it seems to the President, but an insanity, which, as it goes along, exhibits more and more of the attributes of a blind, tortured madness from which there is no escape, and in which the involvement grows ever deeper and more tangled. Many of us do not know which it is, another war or the worst insanity in American history. All we know is that, at Christmas time, 1966, our country, for reasons good or bad, for strategies logical or hopeless, perhaps, to be fair about it. merely from sincerely different ideas of how peace could be obtained, speaks and acts with words and deeds which clash with one another, so that we do not, any longer, even believe ourselves. Democrats in most instances.

More Fee Than Free? Not to claim wisdom, but merely to demonstrate that any editorialist who takes a given line will sooner or later find facts coming his way, we note that this page, many years ago, began expressing a recurrent vision in which Soviet Russia was becoming more capimade a strong comeback.

telistic than the United States. The latest news from Russia concerns proposition made by two prominent tussian doctors, for the establishment long with the Russian system of free of a nature which could use medical care and hospital facilities, but which might not be serious enough to qualify for use of space in the regular free hos-

There is already some precedent for such a proposal. The Russian medical system already includes a member of out-patient clinics, where Russians can go, and, by paying a fee, consult a specialist doctor of their own choosing. These clinics are already so crowded that, in many of them, patients often have to wait a full week before they can have an appointment with the doc-Patients at one clinic in Moscow, asked why they preferred to pay a fee rather than go to a free clinic, said that paying a fee meant getting a little extra attention from a doctor in whom

So there it is, Russia heading, ever so gently and partially, it is true, back toward some degree of private medicine at the time the United States has just made its first strong, conclusive step into the realm of public medicine.

Perhaps the two systems will stabilize not too far from one another. Or perhaps their paths will cross, and Russia, not we, will wind up more fee than free.

The Making Of A Publisher We are frequently besieged by prospective young members of our profession who would like to have defined for them just what it takes to rise to the top in the newspaper business. And, although it is part of our professional competence to be able to try to formulate some kind of comprehensive and instructive answer to almost any question, we have never felt very sure of our counsel until there was made available, the other day, the case of Billy Don Moyers, who is, at the age of 32, becoming publisher of Newsday, a flourishing newspaper with a circulation of 415,000 and 1,300 employes.

There are perhaps some elements in the career of Billy Don-his personality, his intellect, his good judgment-which play a more important role in his going way to the top of the newspaper field at the age of 32 than some of the more easily stated surface facts. Before he went to college to become a minister, Billy Don was a schoolboy reporter on two Texas newspapers, So he had a background in the profession. How he happened to be selected to be a publisher, after having been out of the profession ever since school days, has been rather neatly summarized by the gentleman who hired him to be a publisher, Mr. Harry F. Guggenheim, present publisher of Newsday. "Mr. Moyers," Mr. Guggenheim explained, "had been my contact with the President of the United States." work on a newspaper some time during your school years, and, afterwards, head for the White House and make yourself right hand man to the President, where you can be sure that any and all aging publishers get through to Billy Don, we are sure, will demonstrate talents in his new post which totally justify his selection for it. But that's one way it's done, becoming one of the nation's big newspaper publishers at the age of 32.

Good Results From Redistricting The many interesting and significant implications of last month's midyear, American elections are still being weighed. And one of the results which is most encouraging is that earlier fears over the Supreme Court's 1964 decision on behalf of one-man, one-vote were not

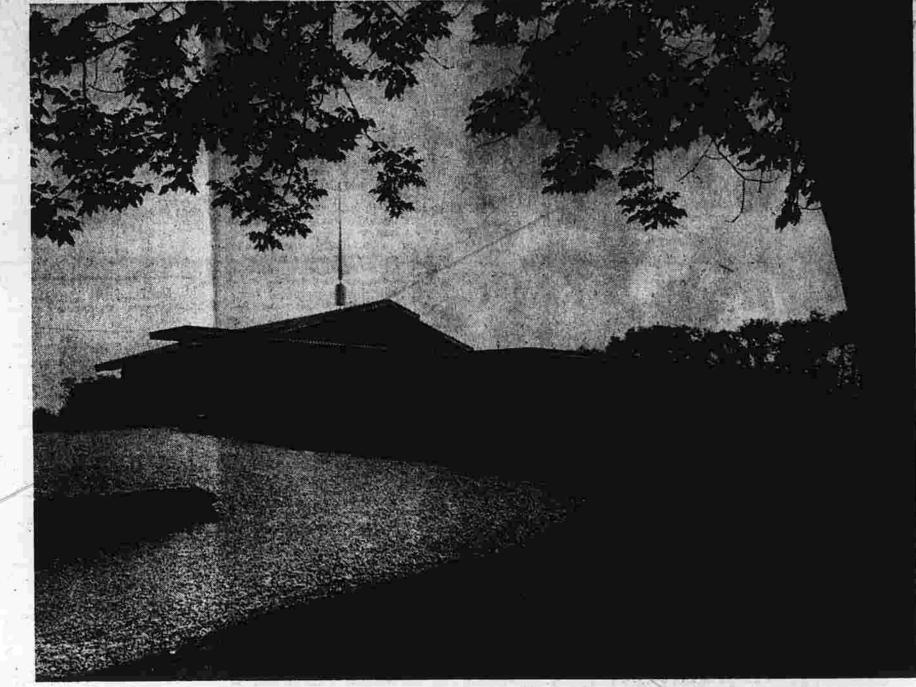

It will be recalled that many grim forecasts (as far as the Republicans were concerned) were made when the high court ordered that federal and state electoral districts be reapportioned wherever population inequalities existed. It was said that the increase in the proportion of those elected officials who came from urban and suburban areas would swell the ranks of Democratic officeholders. There were even those who said that, no matter how able the candidates the Republicans might bring forward, the scales would be weighted irretrievably in the Democrats' favor. It was felt by many that the two-party system, as well as the legitimate conservative viewpoint, would inevitably The results of last month's election should have dispelled any such fears. Although 71 of the 89 state legislative chambers for which elections were being held had been reapportioned. Republican seats increased from 33 per cent to 41 per cent. Whereas before the election the GOP controlled both Houses of but five state legislatures, after it they were to control 15. Nor is it forgotten that they won back 47 seats in the national House of Representatives, many of which had been redistricted. Furthermore, there can be no doubt but that the GOP would have captured far more state seats-and perhaps control of more legislatures as well-had redistricting not been done by

It is an encouraging fact that a Supreme Court decision designed to strengthen the democratic processes did not result in a further unbalancing of political power in the United States. It s true that under the old districts the GOP might conceivably have done even better. But the important thing for the two-party system is that, notwithstanding the reduced weight of the traditionally Republican rural vote, that party We believe that it would be hard to find better proof than this of the basic 10 Years Ago health of the American political system of the increasing sophistication of the American voter, wherever he lives.

The story really goes back to the spring of 1963 when some of Romney's closest political advisers tried to convince him that ringt-wing Republican strategists planned to run Goldwater for President on the white backlash. Business Mirror New Caution Among Many Auto Makers

By JOHN CUNNIFF NEW YORK (AP) - The automotive industry is perhaps the most powerful industry in the world, but recent statements by its leaders - to say nothing of production cutbacks - reveal a growing caution beneath an overlay of optimism. This caution reveals a respect for ambiguous economic sigof which is the uncertain mind of the consumer. Big as it is, the automotive industry knows it is not total master of its market. Being so powerful a force in the economy of nations, the industry must assume a responsi-bility to look on the hopeful show of optimism. But this is getting harder to do.

A recent statement by General Motors, for example, told of great hopes and expectations for the coming year. Beneath this veneer, however, was uncertainty and an actual forecast of lower sales for the second But how far should the industry go in courting the public? In Germany, the Volkswagen people told their shareholders earlier this month that things were looking well. A little more than a week later it announced from Wolfsburg that all plants would close for 17 days. Pressed for an explanation company officials admitted they didn't wish to add to the already prevalent economic pessimism in West Germany.

Detroit's chief occupation is an extraordinary example of an industry that has not only met a need, but created a tremendous demand through quality products, salesmanship and This has brought to General Motors, for example, a gross

Post Office Is Fighting Parking Tag

NEW YORK (AP) - "Neither now nor rain nor heat nor gloom of night stays these couriers from the swift completion of their appointed rounds." So goes the motto of the Post Office Department, and Asst. U.S. Atty. Howard L. Stevens added a new note to it when he went to court Wednesday on ceived a $2 parking ticket from ens said, "have a direct and affirmative duty to deliver the mail, and any city regulation which unreasonably interferes ance of this duty is unconstitutional." Stevens filed a notice of appeal on behalf of Russell B. Rucci, a special delivery mes senger. Rucci double-parked outside the office of the Internal Revenue Service last July 6. When he came out after completing his mission, he found his car had been tagged.

Rucci appeared last Nov. 10 in court and explained that he had been on official business. The court, however, ordered him to pay a $2 fine, and Rucci objected that he had no autho ity to pay fines. "You have a choice," Judge Pauline J. Malter told him.

Pay the fine or spend one day Rucci was denied permissio to phone his office, so he paid studying state jails has recommended closing the Tolland and Brooklyn State Jails because of their antiquated condition.

The committee, of which King is a member, felt the cost of modernizing the existing facilities would be prohibitive.

The committee did not recommend the building of a central jail for the state, It did recommend, however, that a new jail be built between the Brooklyn and Tolland jails.

WE NEVER FORGET! OUR AUTOMATIC FUEL OIL DELIVERY IS CERTAIN

We record the average temperature for each day; compute the number of degrees the average is below 65. Then we combine this temperature data with your known rate of fuel use to determine exactly now much fuel your burner uses each day to keep you as warm as you want to be. No matter what the weather, all you have to do is lean back and relax. You'll never have to rely on your memory or your tank gauge (which may be inaccurate) to tell you when it's time to fill the tank. We know when it starts getting low and we refill it without any bother to you. And we refill it with Mobilheat fuel oil, quality checked 21 times between the refinery and your furnace. Remember, there's a big difference in distributors. We'd like to show you just how big that difference can be.

You don't have to be an aeriallet to appreciate Bulova performance. You, too, will "flip" when our Watch Experts tell you a few facts about Bulova excellence. For example, did you know it takes nine months and more than 3500 separate operations and inspections to make a Bulova? Or that 30 different teams of experts work on every watch? Or that more than 1500 craftsmen spend a total of five full working days just checking it? Each tiny part (and there are more than 100 in every watch) is inspected, checked and re-checked more than 800 times. This isn't the cheepest way to make a watch-but it's the best. Aerialists value precision. You will, too, when you select a Bulova from our Bulova Collection of line watches. Come in today.
