Term, Fine Sought In Red Ruble Caper

LENNINGRAD, U.S.S.R. (AP) — A Soviet prosecutor asked today for a five-year sentence in a labor camp for Buel Ray Wortham Jr. who pleaded guilty to theft and currency violations, and asked that Craddock M. Gilmour Jr. of Salt Lake City, Utah, be fined $11,111 for a currency violation and set free. But the defense lawyer asked for a prison term of only three months for Wortham and North Little Rock, Ark. The lawyer asked the court to take into consideration the in-

Jury Deliberating In Vennard Case

A jury of 10 men and two women was deliberating in the first degree murder trial of Dennis Bryan Vennard this afternoon, after hearing an hour and fifty-five minutes of instruction on the law and possible verdicts in the case by Superior Court Judge Arthur H. Healey. The jury deliberated from 12:35 to 1 p.m., when they were escorted by a policeman and sheriff to a local restaurant where they ate lunch. They returned to the deliberating room at 2 p.m. In the room with them were many state's and defense exhibits. In the judge's charge, or instruction to the jury, Judge Healey outlined the five possible verdicts and delineated the legal implication of each. The verdicts and sentences of each are: First degree murder, punishable by either death or life imprisonment without possibility of parole; second degree, punishable by life imprisonment; manslaughter, maximum imprisonment 15 years;

State Bar Proposes Major Drug Reform

HARTFORD (AP)—Drug addiction would be treated as a disease rather than a crime under reforms being proposed by the Connecticut Bar Association. Bar President Richard H. Bowerman of New Haven said Monday that the program is to be recommended to the General Assembly which would cost about $10 million for the next two fiscal years. "Although medical authorities are the first to admit that they don't yet have the answer to drug dependence," said Bowerman, "we are proposing to turn these people over to the medical profession for treatment rather than to the jails." Bowerman emphasized he was talking about addicts, not dope peddlers. The bar's recommendations were disclosed after a meeting of its executive committee Monday. "Tighter controls over the sale and traffic of barbiturates 'pep pills,' the hallucinogenics such as LSD and marijuana. Establishment of community treatment programs. The opportunity for the courts to release an offender for treatment under the jurisdiction of the State Adult Probation Division.

Town Opens Heart, Pursue to Corpse

MARIENVILLE, Pa. (AP)—"Mother will sure be surprised," said James Coleman, 18, of Berlin, N.J. "Somebody of guys couldn't go home, I'll be the most wonderful Christmas night when told that man." That was Coleman's reaction to the most wonderful Christmas night when told that man. Monday night when told that man. Several days ago, the boys' chances of being home for the Christmas were bleak. They hadn't been at the camp for six months or more and therefore were ineligible for government travel money. They earned $2.50 a week which doesn't leave much to buy a round-trip ticket to places as far away as Maine, Massachusetts, North Carolina, Tennessee and Montana. Was Yombe of nearby Warren heard of their plight and led a campaign to buy bus tickets for the boys. When James Burkett, camp counselor, told the corpemen the do, and thank these people for good news he was greeted with applause, cheers and whistles. "I tell you I didn't think we

Santa's Out

ASBURY PARK, N.J. (AP) — Santa Claus no longer interviews youngsters at Levin's department store. He was arrested for shoplifting. William J. Nicholson, who was under the whiskers and Santa Claus suit, was charged with stealing a $150 bottle of men's cologne and a 27-cent bottle of corn and calous remover. He was being held on $500 bail. The store will remain without a Santa Claus for the rest of the season, according to Stanley Levin, president.

CAB Links Air Collision To 'Illusion'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board blamed today an optical illusion for the two-mile-high collision last December of two airliners with 112 persons aboard about 80 miles north of New York City. Four persons died in the accident. One plane — a four-engine jet from San Francisco — landed at John F. Kennedy International Airport in New York City with 25 feet of its left wing missing. The other — a four-engine propeller craft on the Boston-Newark, N.J., shuttle — crashed into a rural hillside near the New York-Connecticut border. (See Page Twenty-Seven)

Trials of Baker Begin Jan. 9, Judge Decrees

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal judge says Bobby Baker must stand trial Jan. 9 on charge of tax evasion, theft and conspiracy. That U. S. Dist. Judge Oliver P. Gassch ruled Monday that some Baker conversations which were monitored by the FBI cannot be introduced in evidence. Baker, former secretary to Sen. Democratic, claimed the grand jury which indicted him was biased by extensive publicity and that his constitutional rights were violated by the FBI's electronic eavesdropping. He also asked for separate trials on the three categories of charges. Gassch refused to dismiss the indictment, ruled against separate trials and said any recorded conversation Baker had with persons who cannot be identified will not be introduced. The eavesdropping events were a focal point of last month's pretrial hearing on the Baker case. Government agents said Baker conversations were picked up incidentally to an investigation of organized crime. (See Page Six)

Powerful Atomic Blast Has but Gentle Shock

Photographers from Nevada newspapers focus on a pendulum suspended from the Sky Room of Las Vegas' Mint Hotel to measure tremor caused by huge underground atomic explosion. The top of the 36-story building wavered 36 inches, an engineer said, but the pendulum moved only about one and one-half inches. (AP Photos)

B52s Hit North Buildup In Demilitarized Zone

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers today carried on the U.S. campaign to smash a North Vietnamese buildup in the demilitarized zone, raining explosives on infiltrating troops in their sixth raid in three days. U.S. headquarters said the Stratofort hit troop concentrations in the southern half of the buffer zone a few miles north of the area where five B52 raids struck in the previous two days. Over North Vietnam, other planes started at 7 a.m. Saigon time Saturday. The MIG base has never been attacked by U.S. bombers, but the nearby oil dump was raddled twice before this month. U.S. planes also struck Monday at a storage area 24 miles east-southeast of the major port of Haiphong. (See Page Twenty-Seven)

'Thin' Nike System Seen Answer to Reds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Indications mount that the United States will answer Soviet deployment of an antiballistic missile system by erecting a "thin" Nike X defense against an over-all price tag of $2 billion to $3 billion. At first such an antimissile setup would consist of a dozen Nike Zeus interceptor batteries perhaps spaced along the nation's northern border. This light, or area, defense might involve a first-year installment of several hundred million dollars. The decision on whether to move ahead in this new phase of strategic weaponry is being hammered out in budget discussions now under way in the Defense Department. High-ranking officials in other areas reported that the decision will come in January or February — and may hinge on whether the United States can persuade the Soviet Union to slow down the extension of the arms race into the antiballistic missile field. Antimissiles, these officials said, will not alter the present balance of power but will put extraordinary financial burdens on both the United States and the Soviet Union. They added that the United States will make a major effort to make this point clear to the Soviets. This can be done quietly through diplomatic channels but also will be made public when the IP-Nation disarmament conference reconvenes in Geneva Feb. 21. In addition to the possible deployment of such missiles in the United States, the administration also is studying the feasibility of having a similar defense system for Western Europe. This issue, it is understood, will be on the agenda of the conference. (See Page Ten)

Water Pollution Control Set on Five-Year Plan

HARTFORD (AP) — A $186 million program to improve water pollution control in 94 Connecticut municipalities has been placed on a five-year timetable by the State Water Resources Commission. The commission announcement said that some of the communities must complete construction of facilities by early 1969, while other communities will have until late 1972. In each case the communities must provide facilities for secondary treatment of wastes — which removes from 80 to 85 percent of the solids. Commission director William Wise said Monday that the program will dovetail with pollution control efforts of industry and private sources, so that all three programs will be completed by 1974. Wise also announced the schedule for construction of facilities. (See Page Six)

If 63-year-old Mrs. Susan Chinnis ever had a grandma image, she has wiped it out with her motorcycle. "When you get older, you need something to make you move," she says. She admits to falling off and to bruised shins but has now mastered the cycle as a means of cheap transportation for herself and "Ebony," her dog. (AP Photofax)

Area Braced For Strong Aftermath

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — An atomic device was fired beneath a desert mesa today and the Atomic Energy Commission said the blast could be the biggest ever in the United States. Nevadans for miles around were braced for a powerful shock, but they were disappointed. From the plain expanse of this gambling resort to the streets of the tiny mining town of Beatty, the shock wave was felt only as a weak rocking motion. Atop the 24-story Mint Hotel in Las Vegas, Nevada's highest building, seismometers detected only a gentle motion that lasted for about a minute and swayed the chandeliers. Atop the six-story Riverside Hotel in Reno an engineer reported "if there was anything, it was very slight. I could feel movement in the building, maybe two pulses. But a truck going by outside might have done the same thing." The most intense interest was in the high desert hamlet of Beatty, just 30 miles from the chamber 4,000 feet under Jahute Mesa, where the device was touched off at 7:30 a.m. About 75 citizens gathered on the main street of Beatty—population about 700—and solemnly regarded the only visible manifestation of the big bang: A slight swaying in the red blinker light stretched across the main intersection. There had been considerable speculation that the shock might be too much for the venerable Exchange Club Building, a two-story structure of unreinforced masonry brick built in 1908. Townsfolk even went so far as to install gauges to measure expansion in its cracks and evacuated the building and roped off the area around it. "Postblast inspection showed no change in crack width," U.S. Beatty bartenders took bottles off shelves. Homeholders removed pictures from walls. The town sidewalks and fire engine were warmed up, just in case. The Atomic Energy Commission billed the blast as having energy equivalent to between 200,000 and 1 million tons of TNT. It actually yielded maximum energy, spokesman said, it would be the largest blast in the United States. The blast had leveled Hiroshima was equivalent to 20,000 tons of TNT. Other blasts in past weeks also have rocked Las Vegas, 105

Bulletin

HEROES IN BRIDGEPORT (AP) — A Bridgeport policeman and two employees of a utility company were credited with saving the lives of six children and several adults today when fire swept through an east-side tenement building. Patrolman Sgt. A. J. Palmer noticed smoke and flames pouring from a 2 1/2 story wood-frame building reported the fire and then ran back to the burning building. He was joined by Edward F. Tickey of West Haven and Albert Diaz of Bridgeport, who were driving. The three men ran into the house and carried the six children to the street. They also led several adult residents to safety, witnesses reported.

Woman Nudist Wins Appeal Of Conviction

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi Supreme Court has tossed out the conviction of a woman who practiced nudism in the seclusion of her woodland home.

Without ruling on the merits of amending the high court said Monday that Mrs. Roy C. Fendergrass had tried to hide herself from an indictment by her retreat.

She had been convicted of indecent public exposure in George County, fined $60 and given a 30-day suspended sentence.

The charges stemmed from the visit by the Rev. Dennis McDonald, a shipfitter who had been an ordained minister about one year. He served the Salem Missionary Baptist church near the Fendergrass property.

The evidence showed that McDonald had to pass "No Trespassing" signs, another reading "Blow Your Horn to Enter" and raise the latch on a gate barrier.

The court noted that when McDonald sounded his horn there was no response. So he had one of his two small boys open the gate so he could drive up.

He testified that upon his arrival, Mrs. Fendergrass was in the altogether. The woman said she was clothed from the waist down, wore a bra and was treated behind a truck and dressed fully before talking with him.

The minister stayed nearly 45 minutes trying to persuade the family to join his church.

Justice Tom Brady, in the court's decision, said the minister was shocked but regained his composure and "went with the party of mind and left with the party of mind."

Justice Brady also noted that "the record fails to disclose why the Rev. Mr. McDonald did not immediately turn around and leave."

Maine Will Seek $25,000 for Area Tourist Ad Plan

AUGUSTA, Maine (AP) — The Maine director of travel promotion says the state legislature will be asked to appropriate $25,000 for the project.

Historically and culturally, he said, and will continue to attract advertising, "we can hit the highlights in each."

As a test, the states ran both regional and state ads in a national travel magazine and attached coupons for inquiries by readers. He said response was much greater to the regional proposed that registered voters of travel promotion for the other.

Elliot said the proposed New England campaign is "in addition to and not a substitute for any state program."

Maine, for example, gets most of its tourists from southern New England, "with 500 miles our prime target," he said, and will continue to compete with its neighbors in this area.

Elliot said the New England campaign, however, is geared toward attracting "additional people and there is no reason why we can't get them."

Further Delay May Peril NYC-Pennsy Rail Merger

BY JOHN CUNIFF
 NEW YORK (AP) — There is a growing possibility that the planned merger of the Pennsylvania and New York Central railroads might collapse if further long postponements develop.

The odds still are greatly in favor of the consolidation, which has the approval of the Interstate Commerce Commission, but the effective date has been delayed by court cases.

Since early 1962, the plan has been managed to stay on the tracks despite more than 140 days of hearings, challenges by other railroads and opposition from the Justice Department.

Now, the chairman of the Pennsylvania and the chairman of the ICC foresee a collapse if delays continue indefinitely. Privately, some railroad people are even more pessimistic.

In ICC hearings, Chairman Stuart Saunders of the Pennsy conceded that merger planning has been postponed, others have been kept in month-to-month suspension, and capital spending plans have been confined between the realities of the present and the uncertain hopes of tomorrow.

"It is simply impossible to operate these properties in suspense this way," Saunders said.

John W. Bush, ICC chairman, said a further indefinite postponement might even destroy the merger plan.

Among the problems of further delays are these:

- Plans to construct terminals between the two lines was "decelerating" because of the delays.
- The 19,356-mile Pennsylvania New York Central Transportation Co. was to have been a reality on Oct. 1, 1966, which itself represented a delay from a June 1 deadline. The ICC gave its approval last April 27.
- On Sept. 21 a three-judge federal court delayed the plan to consider an appeal for additional hearings by several other rail lines. In the next month the same court rejected this appeal by a 2-to-1 vote.
- The Supreme Court then stepped in to review the lower court ruling. A one-day hearing now is set for Jan. 9 in Washington, making a final decision unlikely until late February or early spring.
- The court question now concerns a challenge by several lines, including the Norfolk & Western. The Pennsy and Central say the N&W is obstructing its delaying the Pennsy-Central merger. Saunders has even suggested that the N&W's motive is to delay additional competition from the merged line.
- Basic to this fight is the fact that the N&W, itself, has an ap-situation of country are changing.

At the time plans were conceived, both are now money-heavy. Both are now money-makers. But, the rate of earnings improvement has been different for the two lines.

The merger plans were made on the basis of 1.3 shares in the new company for each Central share. The Pennsy ratio would simply be one for one. These were considered the fairest ratios by three outside consultants.

The Central now says that its profit improvement is at the highest rate of any railroad in America, including of course, the Pennsy. The Pennsy has grown dramatically, too, but at a slower rate.

Should this continue, there might be additional pressure within the Central for a reconsideration of terms. The longer the delay, it seems, the more important this factor could become.

Anti-American Feeling Increasing in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil — When asked level but holds out hope for the future, says he believes Costa Rica will lose. Castello Arduo da Costa e Silva, due to Brazil's economic recession, says anti-American feeling is increasing in Brazil and may be against the retired army marshal.

"In September or October of next year, if Costa e Silva keeps to the same line, he will be in bad trouble," Castello asserts.

Lacerda is credited with a major part in the overthrow of three Brazilian presidents — Getulio Vargas, Janio Quadros and Joao Goulart — and harbors presidential ambitions of his own. Recently he buried his own. He claims a need for a new party uniting followers of the black and white.

Yanks Gird For Ascent In Antarctic

CHERRYBROOK, New Zealand (AP)—An American climbing team is poised for the first ascent of the highest mountain in the antarctic, the 18,000-foot Vinson Massif in the Sentinel Range.

News of the assault on the peak could come any day.

The leader of the 11-man team, Nicholas Clinch, said when passing through Christchurch earlier this month that he expected to reach the summit before Christmas.

Headquarters here of Operation Deep Freeze does not expect any announcements from the expedition until the ascent has been attempted.

Clinch, who has led several expeditions in the Himalayas, is leading a team sponsored by the National Geographic Society and the American Alpine Club.

The party planned to fly in a ski-equipped Hercules to within striking distance of the mountain which is about 1,300 miles west of the U.S. base at McMurdo Sound. A base station was to be established about 20 miles from the Sentinel Range.

In preparation for the climb, the team members studied aerial photographs of the mountain and the general area. Clinch said the ascent would be made from the western side.

"How fast we go will depend on how we feel, how difficult the mountain turns out to be, and, most important, what the weather is like," he said.

Before leaving New Zealand Clinch said that without the support of the U.S. Navy the project would be virtually impossible.

Another group's plan to scale Vinson Massif from the other side after traveling south from Argentina collapsed Sunday when Woodrow Wilson Sayre announced he was abandoning the attempt because of too many delays.

Wilson, grandson of President Woodrow Wilson and chairman of the Philosophy Department at Springfield (Mass.) College, told newsmen in Buenos Aires: "We ran out of time and money."

Sayre and four others had planned to go to a base camp in Antarctica in a plane piloted by Max Conrad, the flying grandfathers, but Conrad arrived last month late. That, said Sayre, in fitting the plane with skis and in getting clearance from the Argentine government, were too much, Sayre said.

Speck Trial Site Shifts To Peoria

CHICAGO (AP)—The site of the trial of Richard F. Speck on charges of murdering eight students in Chicago July 14 has been shifted to Peoria, Ill.

Judge Herbert C. Paschen of the Circuit Court announced the transfer at a hearing Monday.

The change had been requested by a defense attorney who contended statements by officials in Chicago made a fair trial in Cook County impossible.

Judge J. E. Richards, chief judge of the 10th Judicial Circuit which is centered in Peoria, will decide the date of the trial. The question of who will preside was not answered immediately.

Speck, 25, sat quietly in the courtroom when Judge Paschen announced his decision.

Gerald Getty, public defender who represents Speck, said he will send a lawyer and an investigator to check the files of Peoria newspapers published between July 14 and Aug. 1.

"If they printed the same things as Chicago newspapers, I'd have to present the same motions for change of venue," he said.

The trial will be held in Peoria's new courthouse in the downtown section which was dedicated last year by Mrs. Lyndon B. Johnson, wife of the President. It is across Hamilton Boulevard from county jail.

There are no passageways between the buildings.

The eight student nurses were slain, one by one, in their quarters in a townhouse on Chicago's South Side. They were slashed and strangled early on the morning of July 14.

O. W. Wilson, Chicago police superintendent, said a new conference on July 14 that Speck's fingerprints had been found in the nurses' townhouse.

Newspaper stories reported the teacher was listed in fair condition. Burris was treated for burns.

Weapon Sought in Slayings Of 2 Girls Playing at Dump

SHELBYVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—Police searched today for the weapon apparently used to bludgeon two young girls to death as they looked for castaway dolls in a city dump.

The mud-soaked bodies of Deborah Lynn Ray, 8, and her cousin, Phyllis Louise Sebers, 8, were found Monday — 18 hours after William Farrar Jr., 8, saw them playing at the refuse heap.

"Phyllis had fallen down and hurt her leg," the boy said. "I helped her up and told her she ought to go home."

An autopsy was ordered to determine if the girls, who apparently died of skull fractures, had been sexually molested.

W.R. (Bud) Hopson, director of the Tennessee Bureau of Criminal Identification, said the girls apparently were beaten with a blunt instrument, but he reported a decrease of tuberculosis by 1.9 per cent.

Cancer Increases

PRAGUE (AP)—Cancer increased in Czechoslovakia during the first half of 1966 by 2.1 per cent compared with the previous time last year, the news agency C.T.K. reported.

C.T.K. said several diseases also increased during that time, but reported a decrease of tuberculosis by 1.9 per cent.

Fire Claims Four

LOMPOC, Calif. (AP)—Four girls burped to death Monday night in a mobile home. Raging flames dethroned their mother's frantic rescue attempts, firemen said.

Mrs. Clinton Moon, 21, told police she had stepped out of the mobile home to visit a neighbor when flames erupted. Flames and smoke prevented the mother and neighbors from entering.

The bodies of Debra Lynn, 5; Dannelle Kay, 3; La Donna Jean, 2; and La Vonita Irene, 4 months, were found huddled together near a charred Christmas tree and burned gifts.

The father was working. Cause of the fire was undetermined, firemen said.

states, and it will again, apparently, win adoption, and become a declared part of the principle and would-be law of the United Nations for the world.
 If the resolution, after amendment, receives a heavy vote of approval, it will obviously be a vote which includes a lot of hypocrisy from both sides of the world, each side willing to lecture and preach morality to the other, neither side ever willing to admit that it itself might need any sermonizing.
 Nevertheless it is good to have the principle stated and resolved and made part of the public record. We say that not merely because we happen to feel that the United States itself should think, more seriously and conscientiously, before it leaps into its interventions, but because we regard it as a good thing for Russia to keep putting itself on the record as being in favor of respect for small sovereignties. There often comes a day when nations which have preached one way long enough hesitate just a little bit before they begin, again, acting the opposite.

The Framework Of The War

Common sense on Vietnam being a relatively new subject in some of the more vocal academic quarters, the occasional dispassionate assessment is especially welcome. One such comes, interestingly enough, from a political scientist at the University of California at Berkeley.
 Professor Robert A. Scalapino, writing in the New York Times Magazine, deals cogently with a number of popular criticisms. That Vietnam is a civil war in which the U.S. has no business meddling; that for this and other reasons the American involvement is immoral; that despite a professed willingness to negotiate, the U.S. is in fact demanding unconditional surrender. Beyond all that, he puts the entire region in perspective, and in a positive framework.
 Agree with him or not—and we have certain reservations—his comments take on added stature in that he is no happier than anyone else about this war. He minimizes neither costs nor its problems. He is, however, thoroughly weary of "emotional outbursts that grossly distort the facts of the entire region, and hence to world peace."
 Hardly any leader in Southeast Asia is a civil war in a sense, but to leave it at that is naive. Vietnam is "only" a civil war, and hardly any would like to see the U.S. pull up and leave. Even the anti-American chief of state of Cambodia has no illusions about what would happen in that event.
 So it is hardly "immoral" for the U.S. to be trying to protect South Vietnam and indirectly the whole region. True, the immorality charge stems also from the heavy bombardment of a small nation, both North and South. With regard to the war in the South, Mr. Scalapino notes that never before has there been so much sensitivity to a civilian population engulfed in war, despite the inevitable accidents.
 As for bombing in the North, the author considers it a military necessity which has hurt Hanoi's war effort even though it has not stopped the infiltration to the South. Still, he doesn't favor a massive, indiscriminate buildup of the attacks. Vietnam is, above all, "a test of the American capacity to respond in measured terms to a threat that is important, but not terminal."
 In any event, talk of immorality in international relations, let alone war, is always a tricky exercise. But we think Professor Scalapino is right to ask who is immoral, the U.S. trying to save a nation or the Communists trying to enslave it. Who categorizes all those opposing communism as "enemies of the people—legitimate targets for liquidation? And what would happen to those 'enemies' if, the Communists were to win in Vietnam?"
 Finally, the charge that the U.S. is insisting on unconditional surrender. The reality is that this is the Communist position so far; Washington would settle for a divided Vietnam in the manner of Korea, if only the Communists would leave the South alone. What is not prepared to accept is a Communist seizure of power.
 With all of this we are inclined to go along. The unanswered question, "That could one get his foot inside the door, he would find practically all mankind eager to buy."

Russia's Resolution

Last year, in the United Nations General Assembly, Russia sponsored, and finally got adopted, a pious resolution deploring and condemning intervention in the domestic affairs of states.
 Russia's sly propaganda purpose in sponsoring such a resolution was to put a spotlight on the nefarious deeds of the United States, interfering with the domestic affairs of Vietnam, the Dominican Republic, and Cuba.
 Before the resolution was adopted last year, certain friends of the United States in the world organization saw to it that it was amended, so that it not only reproached United States deeds in Vietnam, Dominican Republic, and Cuba, but also more indirect kinds of infiltration and intervention such as Communists of various casts, Russian and Chinese both, have been known to practice some countries, in some instances, indeed, thus motivating the more open intervention of the United States.
 This year a similar Russian resolution is its way through the General Assembly legislative machinery, and it is again being improved by amendments which make sure it doesn't condemn just the most open kind of intervention with the domestic affairs of

Inside Report

GUATEMALA CITY — The fact that Guatemala's sloughish army finally has stirred itself into the field against the Communist guerrillas has more political than military significance in this hottest Latin American trouble spot.
 From a strictly military standpoint, there is no victory or even containment in sight against the guerrillas' main force. But the eight-week-old crackdown down against the guerrillas has lessened the danger from the right against the ably democratic left regime of President Julio Cesar Mendez Montenegro, elected last May. That is, the threat of a right-wing army coup on grounds that Mendez is too soft on communism has faded for the moment.
 An army coup, in fact, always has been the secret goal not only of Guatemala's rightist group (such as the baroque titled "White Hand") but of the Communists themselves. Obviously unable to seize power without the aid of a rightist group in the field, they have aimed at providing the army's political column with a pretext for overthrowing Mendez.
 If that happened, civil war would be a distinct possibility. Civil war or not, democratic left followers of the Mendez government unite with the Communists against the rightist, precisely fitting Communist grand strategy.
 This disastrous chain of events has been averted for now primarily because Mendez, after naive and fruitless offers of amnesty to the guerrillas, finally ordered the army onto the offensive in October. Thus, were ended six years of army lateness in responding to the guerrillas.
 Although the number is a military secret, about 70 per cent of the 10,000-man army now is on anti-guerrilla duty — much of it in company-sized units. Accompanying some units have been Venezuelan officers well-seasoned in fighting guerrillas (but no American Gen Berle).
 The result has been the killing of about 40 guerrillas during the crackdown — all well-publicized. For instance, last Thursday (Dec. 15) Guatemala City newspapers contained front-page accounts of a pitched battle 50 miles south of base between army forces and a guerrilla band in which two guerrillas were killed.

Governor John Dempsey grew so unkind, toward the end of his campaign for reelection, as to suggest that much of the impressive substance of his opponent's series of "position papers" was impressive mainly because it had been "filmed" from previous studies of the same problems.
 We were not inside the brainstorming process by which the campaign of Clayton Geogras produced its famous series of "position papers." All we know is that, when the Geogras campaign finally resumed its activity after disappearing for the month of September, the appearance of the position papers seemed to strike a positive note which was somewhat overdue. As they appeared, one by one, we delved into them, with gentle respect and interest, and without checking back to any possible antecedents, considerable admiration for the way in which they had been managed to circle themselves about great and complicated issues without seeming either irresponsible or ridiculous.
 They were, in fact, such good position papers that we lost interest in them only because the Republican campaign itself seemed to fade away from such positive concerns, and spend its closing weeks almost exclusively in embroilment on hatched man issues. The last of the position papers was one television moment in which the candidate chumped a stack of papers and said they were all there, the position papers which showed how the great problems of the day would be met and resolved, the whole eight of them—or was the final number 10?
 We think it was at such a moment, when Candidate Geogras seemed to be suggesting that Candidate Dempsey take a look at these documents, and be awed by them, that Candidate Dempsey indulged in a remark which sounded something like an accusation of political plagiarism.
 What becomes of all these fine, glowing solutions proposed now, now that the candidate for whom they were prepared is not going to sit in the Governor's chair and put their forward-looking wisdom into effect?
 What does become of all the position papers of yesterday? It has been our observation that the position papers of defeated candidates are always superior, in quality and intelligence and consistency, to anything that ever comes out in the actual performance of the winning candidate in office. Perhaps the position papers of the losers should be considered a mandate for the winners. Otherwise, what can one imagine for them except a four year lay-away in the files of the successful party, a process which would run the risk that a whole new set of brain-trusters would have to update them before they could be used again?
 Such research! Such genius! Such clear insight! Such heroic style! Such, as a total loss!

Higher Soviet Arms Budget Dismays Average Russian

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
 Ivan Ivanovich has had a bit of bad news. He has just learned that the Russian man in the street suspects he must put aside some of his dreams.
 He will be given to understand "the U.S. imperialists" in Vietnam are mostly to blame. He also will get the idea that Red China is partly to blame, too, and he will resent that even more.
 Those who know Russians well say that when the Soviet regime announces an increase in the military budget, it can only feel a pang of dismay. This reaction is instinctive. Higher up the social and economic ladder there is more sophisticated knowledge of what goes on. This generation is a class between intellectual elements and the conservative faction of the Communist bureaucracy, and it appears to extend all the way up to the summit of the leadership.
 The Soviet budget announced last week can cause new strains.
 The budget includes the biggest increase in defense spending in four years and the highest military spending rate in more than a decade.
 The government concedes there will be shortages in some raw materials, which probably are heard of military industry will get a bigger share.
 There may be fewer television sets, radios, refrigerators and the other things Ivan was buying or planning to buy.
 The party and government leadership has been trying to try to show them that what- ever is being done is to their keep the bid on retail prices. It benefits decreed now that industry

Will the Real Owner Stand Up? Costly Repair Bill For Rome Churches

ROME (AP) — Now that there's going to be a costly repair bill to pay, it seems that nobody actually owns two of Rome's most picturesque churches.
 The controversy swirls around the famed twin churches of Santa Maria of the Miracles and Santa Maria in Montesanto. They are almost identical domed churches which Bernini completed in the 17th century on opposite sides of the Corso facade. Modern construction in the area diverted an underground waterway which wore away at their foundations and threatened the picturesque churches with ruin.
 The problem of who will pay the bill has experts thumbing through the archives, but so far no one has been able to pin down exactly who owns the churches.
 The Roman Catholic Vicariate of Rome has informed government attorneys that it holds the

Vernon $2.1 Million Project On Sewers Approved

The board of representatives today night approved a revised figure of $2.1 million for three phases of a proposed sewer project for the town.

Originally the estimate was for $2 million, and the additional $100,000 in the cost of the total project is due to a modification of the design to incorporate some of the thinking of the board as expressed at the last meeting.

This would extend the trunk line further in stage two and stage four, than was originally contemplated when original presentation was made. If the project, as it is now outlined, is accepted larger areas would be able to take advantage of the sewer system than originally contemplated.

An ordinance now has to be drawn up by bond counsel and adopted by the board and then brought to a referendum for approval of the taxpayers. With the final figure presented by the engineering firm of Anderson-Nichols it will now be possible for the town officials, the mayor, director of administration and town counsel to work with the bond counsel in preparation of the necessary legal documents which will be involved in the financing of the project.

This will be the first major assignment of Atty. Thomas Dooley whose appointment as town counsel was ratified Monday night after the resignation of Atty. Robert Baum.

The estimated cost of the project is all inclusive to the extent that financial provisions are made for engineering services and legal costs. The engineers estimate their services to cost some $157,500.

Town Expects Funds

The town expects to receive financial assistance with the project from both the federal and state governments. A. Richard Lombardi representing the engineering firm, indicated that if all of the aid possibilities materialize in favor of the town it is possible that the town could receive as much as $1 million toward the cost. If this aid did develop then the net cost to the town would be approximately $1 million.

Regardless of the grant-in-aid possibility the fiscal authorities here that will have to be approved by the townspeople, ultimately, will have to be for the full amount. Hopefully, the assistance will materialize well in advance of the time when it becomes legally necessary to sell the bonds for the project.

The three proposed phases include a trunk line along the railroad property and along Rt. 30, and from Rt. 30 to serve the Box Mountain area. The third phase would include a pumping station, force main and trunk and collector sewers to serve the "Talesterville" Vernon Brook and Overbrook Heights area.

Lombardi told the board members how important the grant-in-aid element is since it will take about eight months to do just Bendolowicz, Union St. to the detailed engineering work Uda Allegra, Crystal Lake, Ellington; Edward Oroska, Regan

'Kids Have Answers, Prof' Santa Claus Meaning, Role Puzzle Curious Sociologist

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — "Santa Claus is an American figure" and the nature of the jolly old gentleman's role as the bearer of Christmas gifts could stand more research, a university sociologist said today.

Santa Claus is "not closely related to the old Dutch St. Nicholas," and is somewhat unique, said Warren G. Hagstrom, associate professor of sociology at the University of Wisconsin.

"He and the Three Wise Men are in competition," Hagstrom added. "It's worth looking into — the role of Santa Claus in gift-giving."

"Why should parents give presents to their kids in the name of Santa Claus? Gift giving doesn't seem to have much of a role anymore. It did in ancient families. Now there is a subtle reciprocity expected."

A gift becomes not subtle at all, but a bribe. The thing with Santa Claus is that a parent's gift is a bribe, but a gift to Santa is morally uncontaminated."

Hagstrom discussed Santa in an interview about his article, entitled "What is the Meaning of Santa Claus?" — in the latest issue of the American Sociological Association.

He said his assessment of Santa Claus started in a letter circulated among friends last Christmas. "It was a satire then," he said.

He said he and several friends discussed the issue, and they offered "constructive criticisms."

"Now I'm a little more serious," he said. The article in the quarterly is a revision of last Monday's letter.

"I took a number of things from the psychology of religious giving and matched them to Santa Claus," Hagstrom explained. "There are many Santa's such as the Marxist, an operator of the people, now."

The article says that "additional work of a theoretical nature" is needed on what Santa Claus really means.

Psychanalytically, Hagstrom

GUN DEALER SENTENCED
HARTFORD (AP) — Josiah Goldberg, a Windham gun dealer convicted of possessing an unregistered automatic weapon has been fined $500.

Federal agents found an M-16 military rifle in Goldberg's store last summer. The rifle has not been released by the state's attorney, David A. Golas said. It is believed the M-16 that has been turning up here and there were stolen from an armory or a factory.

U.S. District Judge T. Emmet Clark, who sentenced Goldberg Monday, also imposed a six-month jail sentence, but suspended it and placed the gun dealer on probation for one year.

Current Holiday Season Seen Depressing to Many

NEW YORK (AP)—The holiday season is to be a depressing one for many people, according to a survey by Dr. Harold Greenwald, a psychologist.

Dr. Greenwald says that the holiday season is a time when people are more depressed than at any other time of the year.

He explains the psychological impact of Christmas in this way: "Christmas heightens all feelings—plus or minus. Like alcohol, their general anxiety increases for the holiday, the divorced, the people who can't be with someone they're interested in."

It is particularly depressing for those who don't have anyone to spend the holidays with. "It is a time when people are more depressed about the war and the economy. Many families are widely separated."

There is increased emphasis on things, Greenwald says. "The Christmas advertising up to seven inches forecast for over, parts of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri, and by contrast most of the rest of the country enjoyed established a new high for December normal temperatures 18 there.

Readings early today ranged from 2 below at Limestone, N. H., to 63 at Key West, Fla. An exception was the far west, where temperatures were in the 40's.

Heavy snow warnings were issued for western New York and western Pennsylvania, with day climbed to record levels for over portions of Kansas, Nebraska, Iowa and Missouri, and by contrast most of the rest of the country enjoyed established a new high for December normal temperatures 18 there.

The Real Disney Source of Talent Puzzling

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The advertising agency drawing cartoons for Walt Disney's unique talent puzzled both admirers and critics.

Certainly nothing in his family background provided any hint of future greatness as creator of a new art form, the animated film, as well as superlative cartoonist in a variety of other media.

His father was of Irish stock, born in Canada and raised in a big family on a Kansas farm. Elias Disney dabbled in a variety of enterprises, usually with scant success.

Walt Disney's mother came from simple German stock; she was a patient, understanding woman who tolerated her husband's harshness toward their four sons. They also had a daughter.

Neither parent was artistic in nature, and Elias Disney displayed impatience with Walter's ambitions to study art.

"I wanted to draw," he told me a few months ago as he reminisced about his youth. "The thing I wanted most was to be a political cartoonist. My father fancied himself as kind of a Socialist, and he subscribed to socialist newspapers of the time. I studied their cartoons and tried to copy the style."

"After I got back from the war (in 1919), I tried to get a cartooning job for the Kansas City Star. The editor liked my samples, but the paper already had a political cartoonist."

Historians may ruminate on what might have happened if Disney had won employment as a political cartoonist. But he didn't. He found a job with an advertising agency, drawing cartoons for Walt Disney's unique talent puzzled both admirers and critics.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Gail Irene Graff and Charles Francis Tyszkiewicz, both of Limestone, Conn., has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Graff of 240 Hollister St., West.

Miss Graff is a graduate of Manchester High School and attended Luzzell Junior College, Auburn, Mass. She is a stewardess for United Airlines.

Mr. Tyszkiewicz, a native of Warsaw, Poland, graduated in 1959 from St. Edward's University, Austin, Tex., and attends Los Angeles (Calif.) State University. He is a sociology teacher at St. Bernard's High School, Playa del Rey, Calif.

Nice Concert By Students

It was a very nice program last evening at Bailey Auditorium as the 14th students present their annual Christmas concert under the direction of Robert Vatter and James Natoli.

In fact, I thought things went the best they had in several years. There were the customary "Winter Wonderland," "Silent Night," "Let It Snow," and so on.

There were a novelty group comprised of Richard Pezz, Kenneth Hicks and David Chase. There were The Bandoliers, the Round Table Singers and the Sophomore, Junior and Senior Chorus.

There were also a string quartet, not to mention Phyllis Molava as piano soloist. Moreover, there was some fine music by Beethoven, Victoria, Pergolesi, Bach and Handel.

And I was interested to note that, for the first time, as I recall it, the program book notice that this is a festival season for the people as well, by including a Hanukkah Song by Chajkes.

Morrison was re-elected scribe, a post he has held many years. Merritt announced some of his plans for the year that will include a Spring Ceremonial and Parade in Manchester, another concert by the Coast Guard Band, the Supreme Forest Convention in Atlantic City in his spring and the Loyalty Day Parade in Norwich.

Santas Are Visiting Convalescent Homes

Young or old, Santa remembers them. This is a joyous Santa, making the rounds at The Meadows convalescent home last night, one of several stops the Santas will make evenings this week at area convalescent homes.

For the older folks, he brought them something for their sweet tooth, hard candy. Here he gives a box to Mrs. Filomena Gioielli. Mrs. Margaret Fitzpatrick already has hers.

Things had quieted down by the time Phyllis Molava came out to offer Chopin 15th Street from Opus 10, commoner called the "Revolutionary Etude," as well as the Prelude in C-sharp major from the first book of Bach's Well-Tempered Clavier.

Both numbers were somewhat beyond her capabilities and she got in actual trouble in the F minor section of the Chopin Etude, but I was impressed with the fact that she didn't collapse entirely at this point, but returned to do very well.

Bedroom Attack Verdict Upheld By High Court

HARTFORD (AP)—A decision announced today by the Connecticut Supreme Court found no error in the conviction of Raymond E. Hoyson, who the court said was out to "get" a girl but stabbed the wrong person in a darkened bedroom.

Hoyson, the court said, broke into a house in Bridgeport in October 1964 and entered a bedroom he thought was occupied by a girl he knew. The girl, identified in the opinion only by her first name, had told Hoyson's mother that he had raped her, the court said.

The girl had moved to another bedroom and her room was occupied by Norman Moskowitz, a student at the University of Bridgeport, who was severely wounded by the assault.

Hoyson was convicted of burglary with personal violence and aggravated assault by a Superior Court jury.

His appeal contended the trial judge erred in denying his motion to set aside the verdict as unsupported by evidence, and that the judge was wrong in four rulings on evidence.

"There was adequate evidence," the court ruled "of the breaking and entering, and the vicious slaying and maiming constituted ample evidence of the requisite felonious intent."

The court also upheld the trial judge's decision to hear testimony from four witnesses over defense objections.

One witness was the girl, who testified Hoyson had raped her Dec. 6, 1964. Another witness was a friend of Hoyson's who said Hoyson was going to "get" Lucy for talking Hoyson's mother over the telephone.

The court said that although it is not essential for the state to prove a motive for the crime, "it strengthens its case when an adequate motive can be shown. That is especially so in a case such as this, where the state claimed a vicious assault on Moskowitz, who, as far as appears, was a total stranger to the defendant."

Body of Nutmeg Scout Found In Car at Joplin

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP)—The body of a Connecticut man was found today on the front seat of his car parked just outside the city limits of Joplin.

Sheriff's officers said he was Eugene M. Longobardi of East Haven, Conn. They said one end of a tube was connected to the car's exhaust pipe and the other pushed through a window.

Tolland Recreation Body Searches For Skating Rink Location

Location of an artificial ice skating rink and providing water and hot instruction were discussed at a recent meeting of the board of recreation.

The board is searching for a suitable area in which to establish an artificial rink. The Cran-dall property has been eliminated because the terrain and soil composition do not lend themselves to flooding.

Efforts to provide an artificial rink on the property of the Community House, across from Crandall's, failed last year. Previous locations have included what is now the parking lot of St. Matthew's Church.

The board usually prepares the area to be flooded, including the grading, and the rink is done in two stages by the fire department. The first flooding is allowed to freeze before a second layer is added.

The board has arranged for Tolland to be a skating rink in the town of Bolton, Mass., and also for judo instruction.

These classes are being delayed until suitable facilities are available. The gym at the new high school has not been accepted by the building committee because of some needed improvements which must be used until it is accepted.

The only other suitable facility, Hick Memorial gymnasium, is used every evening by various recreational groups.

Baton instruction will be offered school children on a basis similar to classes held last summer by Mrs. Farina.

The judo classes, which will be provided for both men and women if sufficient interest is shown.

The board agreed to discontinue its sponsorship of a Christmas dance for teenagers.

It was felt that the attendance at the last two dances was due to dances at the various high schools. Also, the Junior High students at Tolland High School now are holding their own student council-sponsored dances.

The board is considering several long-range plans for development of the Crandall property and "tossed around a half-dozen ideas at the meeting," according to William Holy, chairman. Included in the plans is a provision for additional baseball fields.

The board soon will begin work on filing for final approval of state and federal open space funds to help finance the Crandall purchase.

A town meeting last week authorized selection of a recreation board to apply for the funds. Preliminary approval of the application already has been granted by state and federal agencies involved.

Town Taxes Due

The second installment of local property taxes is due Jan. 1. Tax collector Elaine Bugbee reminds residents:

Taxes are payable without interest through January. Residents wishing to deduct tax payments on their 1966 federal income tax returns must pay current taxes before Jan. 1. If the payments are made by mail, they must be postmarked no later than Dec. 31.

Tolland residents have had the option of paying their taxes in two installments this year for the first time as a result of the changeover to the uniform fiscal year method of accounting.

Only 56 Pints Collected Bloodmobile Visit Victim of Holiday

Manchester's Red Cross blood program apparently became a victim of the pre-Christmas rush yesterday. The Bloodmobile's visit to Verplanck School netted only 56 pints—the scantiest collection in many months and about one-third of Manchester's 150-pint quota.

Although 70 persons made appointments, 34 failed to show up and 7 persons were deferred for minor physical ailments. There were 27 walk-in donors.

The Bloodmobile's next visit has been scheduled for Jan. 13 at the Salvation Army Citadel from 1:45 to 8:30 p.m.

James S. LaSalle topped yesterday's donors, becoming a six-gallon donor. Kenneth Skinner reached the four-gallon mark, and Allan Cone completed one gallon. Those who kept appointments included:

The Rev. Richard Dupe, Mrs. Jeanne Tilcomb, William Haber, Mrs. Claire Johnson, Mrs. Helen Bojarski, Mrs. Marva West, Gerald C. Mayo, Mrs. Anna A. Geheas, Ronald Scott, Mrs. Betty Baranowski, George Converse, Mrs. Shirley Converse.

Also, Mark Kristoff, Edgar Clark, Steve Casolino, Leo F. Diann, Ferner Nylm, Mrs. Vivian Ware, Ernest J. Scott, Rev. George Norstrand, Albert W. Hemingway, Burton Albee.

Also, Harold O. Melendy, Douglas Porter, Dean Trieman, Sylvester Barnes, Miss Margaret E. Fish, Willard C. Allen, Robert D. Shanley, Mrs. Marion Crossen, Dustin Wood, Fenn Dufour and Edward H. Ralph.

Walk-in donors: Andrew Sebastian, Mrs. Anne Riales, W. J. McDermott, Orrin West, Mrs. Etile S. Swanson, Mrs. Mary C. Harrison, Ronald P. Robinson, Robert J. Others elected at the meeting were Mrs. Maybelle Dowd, vice grand; Mrs. Beverly Jenkins, recording secretary; Mrs. Henry Starkweather, financial secretary; and Mrs. Clinton Keeney, treasurer.

Three Escapes Caught in Town

Three juvenile escapes from the State School for Boys in Meriden were apprehended by Manchester police yesterday.

The youths were taken to Meriden, police say.

All three boys were 18 years old and remain unidentified because of their age.

Police say two of the boys were found sleeping in a car on Drescher Rd. early yesterday morning. They were taken to Meriden and returned to Manchester. The car, which had been stolen in Wallingford, was found on Maple St. and returned to its owner.

One of the boys was taken in custody at a friend's home in Meriden last night. The other two were located later.

Police say all three were apprehended without incident.

Mrs. Judith Ramadell, wife of Gary Ramadell of Crestwood Rd., is among 6,000 women chosen to be included in the annual biographical compilation, "Outstanding Young Women of America."

The mother of two girls, Mrs. Ramadell for two years was president of the Rockville General Hospital Auxiliary and now serves the group as gift shop chairman. She also has served as vice-president of the auxiliary and as its director of volunteers.

Vandals Damage Illing School

Vandals broke into Illing Junior High School over the weekend and did extensive damage.

Police say entry was made by breaking an office window after those involved climbed to the roof of the building.

After gaining entry they broke into several offices by smashing glass on the locked doors. Entered in this manner were the nurse's room, a guidance room, the library and the library office. About $15 in money was taken from the library.

In all, the vandals left signs of having entered 14 separate sections of the school, including offices, classrooms and the gym. In the girls' and boys' gyms, the vandals took time to toss basketballs around.

As the vandals went through the various areas, they smashed desks and took change from them, also doing damage to science equipment, smashing a Kennedy-Roosevelt recording in the library and throwing fruit cake around one of the rooms.

Bolton Nursing Plan, Field Trips Backed by School Board

The board of education at its meeting last night voted to support in principle the plans for a multi-town public health nursing association. It also voted to sanction overnight field trips, reserving the right to review each proposed trip after written consent of two-thirds of the parents of students involved has been obtained.

Wesley Robbins, chairman of Bolton's Public Health Service Committee, and a nurse from the State Department of Health appeared before the board to explain the new plan, expected to come up for a town vote in the spring, would do the school.

Three towns are currently contemplating banding together to form a public health service corporation, which would be tax-supported and viewed by the board of education for ultimate approval if two-thirds of the board voted support the trip and give their written permission.

In other business, the board named Robert Treat and Roger Graham to a joint budget preparation committee, as requested by METRO, if the budget warrants it, and to study the question of band uniforms at budget review time.

The superintendent announced that the largest school in the district would be held on the campus of the school.

Could Do Other Work

The state nurse said that a trained health aid could take over some of the school nurse's non-nursing duties, such as clerical work and could weigh and measure students and do initial vision and hearing tests. The nurse directed the public health nurse.

Both she and Superintendent Philip Liguori pointed out the advantages of having a nurse acquainted with the home situation live in the school. Now has no authority to go into a student's home in the line of public health.

The board voted unanimously to "support in principle the plan for the development of a public health nursing service on a multi-town basis" but reserved the "right to re-evaluate after a period of a year in terms of program."

Field Trip Question

The motion to allow overnight field trips passed with one dissenting vote, that of Mrs. Warren. The question was carried over from last month's meeting and was precipitated by a request of the French Club to attend Expo '67 in Montreal during spring vacation.

School board chairman opened the discussion by suggesting the adoption of a policy change drawn up by the superintendent authorizing overnight trips after review by the board.

Harold Forcherson suggested that the board did not need to review each trip, that review and approval of the principal and superintendent would be sufficient. He spoke of the educational value of trips, and his confidence in the good behavior of high school young people.

Waddell said that "parents have a very large role to play." Therefore, unless two-thirds of the parents support an overnight trip, he said, the trip should not be considered.

Responsibility Too Great

Mrs. Warren stated her opposition to the whole thing. "It's all right to say you love your children and trust them," she said, "but you don't give them loaded guns to play with."

She noted that students might meet situations on a trip completely unknown to them. She commended teachers on their willingness to conduct trips, but said it was "far too great a responsibility" to place on them.

Foundation Aid To Hike Income Of Professors

The foundation announced Monday it would give $2.4 million to 10 eastern colleges and universities to boost the salaries of four professors at each school — if the colleges can match the gift.

Each of the schools is to receive $200,000.

The recipients of the grants are the University of Bridgeport, Berry College in Georgia, Bates and Colby Colleges in Maine, Colgate University and Hamilton College in New York, Davidson, Guilford and Queens Colleges in North Carolina, and Middlebury College in Vermont.

With the exception of the University of Bridgeport, which has an enrollment of about 7,000, all the colleges have less than 2,000 students.

According to the foundation's proposal, the four Dana Professorships at each college would receive about $5,000 a year over and above their regular salaries.

State Residents Second in Area In Tax Payment

BOSTON (AP)—Federal taxes paid by New England residents totaled almost $7.4 billion in the fiscal year ended June 30, the Internal Revenue Service said Monday in its annual report.

IRS figures showed Massachusetts pacing its five New England sisters with a total federal tax bill of $3,886,407,000. Connecticut followed with $2,485,252,000. Rhode Island was next with $677,227,000 followed by Maine, $319,112,000; New Hampshire, $261,375,000, and Vermont, $188,533,000.

Nationally the total was $128.4 billion, up $14.4 billion from fiscal 1965. Available 1966-67 figures were not available by region and state.

The IRS breakdown on Connecticut's federal taxes: Connecticut Corporation $483,540,000; individual income and employment, $1,899,470,000; estate $104,000,000; gift $12,291,000; alcohol $88,810,000; tobacco $215,000; other $101,897,000.

Zoners Fast In Granting Four Permits

The Manchester Zoning Board of Appeals set some kind of a modern day record last night for meetings of town agencies.

It needed only 18 minutes to hold four public hearings, to go into executive session, and to discuss and approve unanimously all of the four requests on its agenda.

The Howard Johnson Restaurant on Tolland Tpke. was granted a two-year extension of permission to maintain a free-standing, lighted ground sign on Buckland St. at the intersection of the Wilbur Cross Highway. Permission has been granted at two-year intervals since Jan. 24, 1955.

The Town of Manchester was granted a two-year extension of permission to utilize a portion of the Charter Oak Field for the storage of 50 new and used cars. Permission has been granted in two-year intervals since 1956. The parcel is leased to Carter Chevrolet, which is now preparing other facilities for storage use when Charter Oak Field is lost to the relocated Rt. 6.

Leslie Knox was granted a three-year extension of permission to store about 20 boats in four buildings at 149 Woodside St. Permission was granted for one year in December 1963 and for two years in December 1964. The boats are stored from the end of October to Memorial Day.

And, Dr. Harvey Pastel was granted a variance to erect a combination garage and barn at the site of his home at 646 Forticus St., to a height of 20 feet. Regulations call for the construction to the rear of the dwelling and limit the height to 18 feet.

The dwelling was moved recently from Spring St. Town Planner Joseph Tam-sky, in commenting last night on the variance request, said, "Anyone who wants to build a real barn with real hay these days, deserves permission."
