900 Negroes Terrorizing San Quentin

SAN QUENTIN, CALIF. (AP) — San Quentin Prison officials today tried to break what they called a hardened convict group's grip of terror over 900 Negroes who refuse to report to their prison jobs.

Interviewers tried to uncover the leaders of the strike and those responsible for earlier clashes in which one white prisoner was killed and another injured.

The strikers late Tuesday heard an appeal from the warden over the prison radio system. No demands by striking convicts have been made public.

In a press release, Associate Warden James Park blamed "a combination of Black Muslims and a hoodlum element for the trouble."

Park said, "We feel by and large that the inmates of these men have been intimidated by threats and coercion by some 100 to 150 hard core prisoners."

No incidents of violence were reported, but the inmates stayed in their cells and did not report to work.

The strike involves three-quarters of the prison's 1,200 Negro inmates. The state prison had 4,000 convicts.

These Negroes who did not go to work. (See Page Twenty)

Practical Joke

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — A newly married couple was stopped by a highway patrolman Tuesday and the nervous driver ordered out with his car's gas tank reading: "I am being held hostage and forced to pose as a wife. Please call police."

Spring Fashion Preview

Fabrics by Cheney Debut in New York

By RHEA STEWART Special Herald Writer

NEW YORK — A model in a wedding gown of white velvet made in Manchester guided along the runway two little girls in flower-girl frocks of red velvet, also made in Manchester.

The Geril Company's fashion show, one of the most interesting features of the week of spring fashions in the American Designer Series.

The velvet wedding gown with its short bell sleeves and high Empire waistline was designed by Marion Myles of Jenness from the product of Cheney Fabrics which, along with Cheney Textiles and Chardon Marche, is part of the complex known as the Geril Company.

Just as the Cheney family used to raise its own silkworms in Japan and eventually raised mulberry trees in Manchester, other family fashions by cultivating the silkworm in Lombardy, Italy, and elsewhere.

Cold Wave Grips Nation From Rockies to Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — Arctic air put a hammerlock on the Twin Cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul. In Chicago, some 3,800 families were without electricity early this morning when a power line snapped on the Northwest side. The accident was blamed on the cold weather by the Commonwealth Edison Co.

Temperatures of 20 below and lower were common throughout the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin.

Department stores in Milwaukee, Wis., reported a run on gloves and scarves Tuesday. A 20-mile wind, coupled with zero temperatures "just blew the heat right out of the buildings" according to a spokesman for the Wisconsin Gas Co.

Sudden snow squalls lashed at the southeastern tip of Lakes Erie and Ontario causing locally hazardous driving conditions.

Residents of 1,000 homes in the Chicago suburbs of Oakbrook, Villa Park and Elmhurst also were without power Tuesday night.

All of Michigan's main roads were open, although blowing snow caused slippery spots and confined traffic to one-lane in places.

The air was bitter in northern New England and upstate New York Tuesday.

Temperatures dropped to 9 below at Massena, N.Y., in the St. Lawrence Valley.

Snow squalls, moving with icy northeast winds, peppered the Great Lakes region.

Two inches of new snow were recorded at Marquette and Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan.

The snow spread east ahead of the cold wave from Arkansas into Tennessee and neighboring states.

Light rain fell ahead of the snow in a line from Louisiana into Alabama.

Skies were mostly clear over the Southwest, through the south Atlantic states and over the frigid Midwest.

Temperatures were expected to fall to the coldest readings of the season tonight, including below zero in portions of the Northeast and Northwestern Connecticut. Temperatures will remain in the 20s this afternoon and then fall off rapidly.

Lowest overnight readings in this area were expected to be zero to 10 above.

Evelyn Thaw Dead; Girl in Velvet Swing

BANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Evelyn Nesbit Thaw, the beautiful Broadway show girl in the sensational 1906 Harry K. Thaw-Standard White murder case, died Tuesday.

The 52-year-old neotome "Girl on the Red Velvet Swing" succumbed in a convalescent home where she had been a patient, gradually growing weaker, for more than a year.

Mrs. Thaw was the key figure in the trial of her millionaire husband for murder of her former lover, handsome society architect White.

Lurleen Outlines 'Her' Proposals For Legislature

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — On her first full day in office you would have thought Lurleen Wallace really was the governor.

She was, yes, and is, and will be for four years. But the people of Alabama elected her with a whim, and one campaign pitch was "Vote for Lurleen and let George do it."

Tuesday Lurleen did it, and did it convincingly. When she spoke to the legislature her voice was firm, her hand steady. She referred to "my office" and "my cabinet."

After determining the man was telling the truth, Trooper Jerry Matheson explained that a station attendant had found a note on their car's gasoline tank reading: "I am being held hostage and forced to pose as a wife. Please call police."

The bride looked at the note and said it was the work of a prankster. (See Page Thirty-Nine)

Proposed Bill to Change Campaign Finance Reports

HARTFORD (AP) — Candidates campaigning for political office would have to alter their reporting of campaign finances under a bill filed at the state Capitol Tuesday.

The bill, sponsored by Secretary of State Ellis T. Grady, was introduced by State Sen. Edward Caldwell, D-Bridgeport, chairman of the legislature's elections committee.

The two parties disagreed during the last gubernatorial election race about what reporting might be required, but both parties agreed new laws were needed.

The bill included provisions which would require: — All contributions to be deposited in an identified bank depository.

The campaign treasurer to file with the secretary of state every 30 days duplicate deposit slips.

Campaign contributions to be covered at all times by the act, not just during the six months before the election.

Receiving and spending money be limited to the treasurer.

Limits on the money a candidate could spend on his own campaign would be eliminated.

A single report form, in lieu of the present system of multiple report forms. The one form would list names and addresses of contributors, and each contributor would have to file a separate report.

Each expenditure to be backed by a check drawn at the treasurer's direction.

Local officials would have to comply with reporting provisions, list full names and addresses of contributors, could spend as much as they want on their own elections, and could use a single reporting form.

Other bills filed Tuesday included a bill which would amend the State Building Program Commission's recommendations for new capital projects.

The bill calls for bond issues of $14,746,000 for acquiring land and undertaking construction projects at the state's airports, its humane, educational and correctional institutions and other facilities.

B52s Burn Base Camps In Jungles

SAIGON, South Vietnam (AP) — High-flying B52 bombers rained tons of fire bombs on Communist War Zone D today in an attempt to burn Viet Cong hideouts in triple canopy jungles 32 miles northwest of Saigon.

A U.S. military spokesman who observed the unusual incendiary bomb raid from a helicopter said it looked like the Fourth of July.

He said the huge eight-engine Stratofortress, flying out of eight at 30,000 feet, made 10 passes over a 40-square-mile area of the D Zone which the Viet Cong reportedly used for base camps and infiltration routes.

A few miles to the west of the zone, U.S. forces reported killing 20 more Viet Cong in Operation Cedar Falls in the "Iron Triangle" 20 to 30 miles north of Saigon.

U.S. troops also uncovered a grave with 18 enemy bodies, and a spokesman placed the Communist death toll at 446 since the operation began Jan. 8.

Only small, scattered ground fighting was reported elsewhere, but U.S. headquarters announced successfully results from Operation Cedar Falls.

The headquarters said the Viet Cong had moved out of the jungle trail in the Iron Triangle, north of Saigon.

Thunderbolt bombers which pumped the sprawling yard for eight hours.

Five captured Viet Cong prisoners said they left the area covered by smoke. They said they also destroyed some aircraft gun positions around the yard.

U.S. pilots flew 108 bombing missions over North Vietnam Tuesday, the first time after weeks of bad weather they exceeded 100.

One plane was lost, U.S. headquarters said. An Air Force photo reconnaissance Phantom jet failed to return. It was the sign multiplied that the Viet Cong counter attack by Mao's opponent.

Chicago Banker Bids to Rescue New Haven Road

NEW YORK (AP) — Wallace D. Johnson, a Chicago investment banker, says the group of investors that saved the Chicago & North Western Railway from the brink of bankruptcy is prepared to perform a similar rescue of the New Haven Railroad.

Johnson made the statement in Chicago Tuesday night after the second day of a new round of Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) hearings here on the future of the New Haven.

Johnson and R. Marshall Barnes, partners in Johnson, Barnes & Co., a Chicago brokerage firm, head the group of investors which saved the Chicago & North Western in 1955.

GOOD RESULTS ARE NOT ENOUGH

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It isn't enough to make good resolutions near the beginning of a year; you must also improve your luck. Otherwise you might run into the kind of misfortune that dogged South in the hand shown today.

Opening lead—two of hearts. East took the king of hearts and shifted to the queen of diamonds. This was very unlucky for South. If East had led any other suit South would have made his contract without the slightest trouble.

South won with the king of diamonds and led a trump to force out the ace. The bad luck continued, for East returned the jack of diamonds.

Declarer won in dummy with the ace of diamonds, drew another round of trumps and then started the clubs. West took the ace of clubs and produced a diamond. The defenders thus took a trick in each suit, defeating the contract.

It was unlucky for South, but even unluckier to North. It is very unlucky to have a partner who throws away an unbeatable contract.

See Danger

South should see the danger when East shifts to diamonds at the second trick. Declarer must lead clubs at once instead of wasting time with a round of trumps.

West takes the ace of clubs and leads a diamond to dummy's ace. Now declarer tries to run the clubs to get rid of his losing diamond. East ruffs the third club with his low trump, and South over-rufts.

South gets dummy by ruffing a heart and leads another club. This time East cannot prevent the discard. East ruffs with the ace of trumps, and South gets rid of the losing diamond. The defenders can then count their hand luck. It is a plain about their hand luck. It is a plain about their hand luck.

Daily Question

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player doubles. You hold: Spades, 5-2; Hearts, 2-8-2; Diamonds, 4-4-1; Clubs, 4-4-1-2.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid two hearts. Whether the opponent doubles or overcalls, this is your only cheap chance to show the heart support and limited strength. If you keep silent now, you may never have another chance to speak up.

Downtown-Parkade Survey Compiles Shoppers' Views

What are the advantages and disadvantages of shopping in downtown Manchester and at the Parkade?

A survey recently released by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce indicates that parking is the main hindrance to shopping downtown, compared to the Parkade, but that downtown offers a larger selection of goods than the Parkade.

The survey was prepared by the retail division of the chamber in conjunction with a market research class of the University of Connecticut.

Preferences of shoppers were determined by asking them questions on Main St. and at the Parkade. A total of 549 persons were questioned, 323 downtown and 226 at the Parkade.

The survey disclosed that most shoppers felt it was a good idea to remove parking meters from downtown streets, but showed also that the removal did not cause them to shop more frequently downtown.

According to the survey, the study indicates that the consumer is attracted to shopping in the Parkade because the parking is easier and hours are convenient. They feel that the disadvantages of the Parkade are poor public transportation, lack of large selection of goods and not all kinds of businesses are represented.

"Downtown shoppers felt," according to the survey, "that the advantages of the downtown area were larger selections of goods and they could do several errands at one time."

Downtown disadvantages were difficult parking and congested traffic conditions.

Both downtown and Parkade shoppers questioned indicated they had a preference for their respective areas because "it is close to home."

"Comparing these advantages and disadvantages for both shopping areas," the survey states, "it would seem that the advantages of the Parkade are the disadvantages for downtown, and advantages of downtown are the disadvantages of the Parkade."

As for parking meters, the survey states: "Shoppers who claimed that they now shop more often in downtown Manchester since the removal of the parking meters are the ones who also claimed less difficulty with parking and traffic conditions."

"Likewise, those who shop

No 'Real Hot' Suspect Percy Slayer Eludes International Dragnet

KENILWORTH, Ill. (AP) — questioned extensively by Daley and a list of their friends was compiled. The chief of police, a courteous, soft-spoken man, fingered his bow tie and considered the question, "Who don't," he said, "have what we could call a real hot suspect?"

"That is the status of the search for the murderer of 21-year-old Valerie Percy, five months after the fact. "There are more than 1,000 items of physical evidence in this case," said Police Chief Robert Daley in an interview. "There are some items we regard as clues. But there is nothing we think of as a real good lead."

"Snow spotches the two acres of lawn around the 200,000 mansion where a killer bludgeoned and led to death Valerie Percy last Sept. 26. There are no other surface changes at the home of Valerie's father, millionaire Charles H. Percy, now a U.S. senator, or in Kenilworth, a Chicago enclave for the very rich on the shore of Lake Michigan. Occasionally, Chief Daley, commencing 85 miles each morning to his job, drives past the room limestone mansion, set off from the main road by its private driveway, and he notes a form a covering maze for the house, named Windward."

For Daley and for his 14-man force there is another kind of maze involving Windward — one formed by the massive file of information on the unsolved slaying of Valerie Percy. On Sept. 27, Daley, a 34-year veteran of the force, seven years its chief, was planning retirement, approved by the Village Board on Nov. 1. But in the murky dawn of the following Sunday morning, an intruder cut his way through a patio door of Windward, crept upstairs and killed the blue-eyed, 4-foot-6 Valerie, whose father then was the Republican candidate for the Senate.

Daley went ahead and bought a retirement home in Racine, Wis., his wife's hometown. But he promised the village he would continue to lead the murder investigation that encompasses a file of more than 1,000 leads. "We have questioned more than 2,000 persons," Daley said. "We have chased down leads in more than 25 states and several foreign countries. The FBI contacted people in Canada, Puerto Rico, France and England. We are checking them all. And another thing, one lead always leads to another. "Our people — 34 men, plus myself — work regular hours. But if a lead turns up, we work on it past midnight."

Daley, 68, speaks softly, prefacing such statements with "et." He has a batch of curly pepper-gray hair and favors sporty ties and tweed sports coats. Fourteen persons have been given lie-detector tests; each has been absolved. There are 1,000 leads in the file labeled "Percy investigation." Some 300 of them have been separated into an inactive file. The names of about 300 persons are kept in the active file of suspects. The more than 1,000 items of physical evidence include the slain girl's blood-stained nightgown, a man's glove found in a shallow ravine near the mansion, a keyring salvaged from Lake Michigan by scuba divers and two well-defined palm prints from the circular stairway the killer climbed en route to his victim. The palm prints are of use only in checking against those of a suspect. No connection has been disclosed between the boy and the murder weapon. Chemical tests failed to establish whether wooden fibers found on the victim's bed matched those of the glove. More than 500 fingerprints taken from friends of the Percy family have been checked out by the FBI. At the time of the slaying, Daley said it appeared the killer was familiar with the Percy mansion. The family was

Vernon Plan Commission Opposes Zone Change at Talcottville

The planning commission has the commission could not legally place restrictions on the request made by Franklin and zone changes. A decision of the Welles' proposal was tabled until a meeting of the commission tomorrow night, when a decision is expected to be announced. Houley added that if the zoning commission is denied the request to apply to the zoning board of appeals for a variance. The zoning board could legally place restrictions on its approval, he said.

buying the 129-year-old Cheney Brothers. Fabrics from Cheney in the fashion show varied widely. What looked like fur coats by Dan Milstein were really fabrics woven in Manchester, Conn. "Don't call them fake furs," warned John R. Robinson of Manchester, Cheney president, who attended the showing with Mrs. Robinson.

"I'm the Ivy League type dresser. I like university life. I'm not interested in the fashion show," he said. "I'm not interested in the fashion show," he said. "I'm not interested in the fashion show," he said.

Fertilizer Output Up

MADRID — A few years ago Spain did not produce one-tenth the amount of nitrogenous fertilizers it consumes. Now Spain is producing enough of them to meet its own needs and to export the surplus.

British Tax Higher

LONDON — Britain's tax structure has been blamed for a less aggressive management in the United States. The British manager whose salary increases from 10 to 15 per cent a year gains only an average of 5 per cent a year.

Dr. William Bryan Jr. He Appraises Personalities By the Duds Persons Don

NEW YORK (AP) — A man who wants to be boss at home should choose a wife who wears hats. He should beware of those who wear independent dresses, many-faceted man used his hypnotic skills in a theatrical act. In summer 1947 he was a musician in Tommy Dorsey's band. His degrees, he says, came from Duke, Illinois and USC. He also found time to get a pilot's license.

This talent has been of particular value to Lee Bailey, the famous defense lawyer who has never lost a case. Although Bailey does not need any help in choosing a wife — he has a love, by one who wears hats — he has called upon Dr. Bryan on several occasions to help him select prospective jurors.

Dr. Bryan was with Bailey in Cleveland, Ohio, for the Dr. Samuel H. Sherris, who was murdered in Freehold, N.J., recently to assist in picking the jury which eventually acquitted Dr. Carl Coppolino of charges of having murdered a neighbor.

The portly 40-year-old doctor, who directs the American Institute of Hypnotism in Los Angeles, says that, if Bailey asks, he will also go to Silver Springs, Fla., for his next case in February. Dr. Coppolino is charged there with murdering his first wife.

As for his jury appraisal system, Dr. Bryan believes that although clothes do not make the man, they reveal almost unfailingly what the man is like. "Suspect a person of having very little self-confidence if his dress is not characteristic of his profession," says the doctor. "If a man is a banker and doesn't dress like the average one — expensive and conservative — then I conclude he doesn't really think of himself as a banker, or at least not a good one. He probably secretly believes he ought to be something else. He has problems."

"There is, for example, all the difference in the world in the apparel of a criminal lawyer and a bank teller. A teller conforms. A defense lawyer expresses his aggressiveness by falling to conform. Look at Clarence Darrow and his loud shirts and suspenders."

The psychology of dress philosophy used in the comedy routine of Bob Newhart is also adhered to by Dr. Bryan. A buttoned-down collar indicates a buttoned-down "mind," a wide open collar suggests a wide open mind.

Vernon John Grant Is Nominated By GOP to Run for Mayor

John E. Grant was unanimously selected last night as the Republican candidate for mayor in the April municipal elections. He will face the Democratic candidate, Peter Murphy, selected last week.

Grant, who lives on Pleasant View Dr., headed a unanimously endorsed slate presented by John Dalgic, nominating committee chairman, at a meeting of the Republican town committee.

Successful candidates for the board of representatives, District 1, are John L. Dalgic, a former selectman; Peter J. Durbin, a present selectman; Stuart W. Wolf, an incumbent member and George Sumner.

Candidates to represent District 2 are incumbents, Thomas Carruthers, Frank McCoy, and George Hsieh. Chester Rau was nominated to replace the position of his father-in-law, incumbent Franklin Welles, who decided not to run again.

Board of education candidates are incumbent Arthur C. Callahan and Charles O'Flinn, a former member of the board.

Selectmen candidates are Stanley Smyrski, a member of the Vermont YGOP, and Percy A. Spicer, a commissioner of the former fire district.

Grant, who lost a close race to State Rep. Gerald Allen last fall, pledged to "wage just as hard a campaign as last time."

He promised residents of the town would receive more for their present tax dollars if he was elected.

Apparently referring to his opponent, the business partner of the present Mayor, Thomas McCusker, Grant said, "I have no coat tails to ride on" and predicted full victory for the Republican party.

The town committee was authorized to fill any vacancies which might arise before the election by the approximately 60 Republicans attending the caucus.

Appeals Hearing
The zoning board of appeals is expected to render a decision on four requests for appeals in about three days.

The request for a special exception to permit the location of a cocktail lounge in a new building to be located at the intersection of Rt. 83 and Kelly Rd. met with no opposition from residents attending the meeting.

The cocktail lounge would be a portion of a restaurant to be constructed next to the Good-year store and the Interstate Motel now under construction.

The lounge would be about 6,000 square feet, and "is not to be considered a neighborhood bar" according to a spokesman for the request. He described the facilities as being similar to Coney's in Manchester or Carville's in Wilton.

A full restaurant license has been applied for by the owner, who explained that if the food line was dropped the liquor license would be invalid.

Masonic Meeting
The Royal Arch Degree will be exempted at Thursday's meeting of the Adoniram Chapter 730 in the Masonic Temple.

Derailment Halts NHRR

STONINGTON (AP)—Eleven cars of an Eastbound New Haven Railroad freight train derailed late Tuesday night, blocking main line tracks in both directions.

Stonington police said no injuries were reported in the derailment, which occurred about 11 p.m. A westbound New Haven passenger train that was headed toward the site of the derailment was halted after police notified authorities in nearby Westbury, R.I.

A New Haven railroad spokesman said trains bound for New York were rerouted through Providence, R.I. to Plainfield by the British, is too small for Malawi's needs and cannot grow because of mountainous terrain near it. A South African company, IMEX, Ltd., Johannesburg, will design the new city.

Hunter-Winning Lengthy Fight With Tetanus

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—After a month of fighting tetanus as well as a South American Indian poison, doctors cautiously predict Jerry Robert Cook has won his battle with death.

Cook regained consciousness Thursday and was able to recognize his wife, doctors and attending nurses.

"He is still on the critical list, but we are encouraged," a hospital spokesman said. "He is a long, long way from being well."

Jerry, 23, a sawmill operator from Brydson, Tenn., cut his hand Dec. 18 while on a hunting trip. After tetanus developed he was brought to St. Mary's Hospital.

Jerry was put into a coma Dec. 22 by curare, a poison used by South American Indians. He was fed intravenously, and his breathing controlled by a machine.

Physicians explained that it is conclusions that usually kill tetanus victims, and that curare administered every 30 minutes around the clock by a team of six anesthesiologists—has kept Jerry paralyzed.

Physicians said that while unconscious, Jerry has been given antibiotics treatment, writing a constitution for South Vietnam. He said the trip would probably be at the end of this year.

Said he has no objection to the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front participating in negotiations to end the Vietnamese war "so long as they are part of the Hanoi delegation."

Some 700 trade unionists and students turned out to protest Australia's capital today and named him as a Fascist, a killer and "baby burner."

"Waterline workers say keep the Viet Cong out," read a typical placard waved by the demonstrators.

Accompanied by his beautiful wife, Tuiet Mai, the premier tried to bolster his regime but was whisked about the city at the time of the demonstration.

Denied that Adolf Hitler was his hero, that he had ever fought for the Vichy regime but that he thinks the people of Australia for cognizant of any public opinion.

Ky Charms Aussies, Calms 'Tough' Press

CANBERRA, Australia (AP)—With ministerial demonstrators chanting "one-two-three, go home, Ky," South Vietnam's premier charmed his way into Australia's capital today and pacified a news conference of naming him as a Fascist, a killer and "baby burner."

Memories of Hebron The First Physician

By SUSAN FENDELTON
Lives of the Hebron clergy of house on the Andover road, gathered what he could as to how patients were treated, and given advice in bedside homes, and when enough of this "education" had been acquired, such a "rider" became a doctor, and could hang out his shingle.

No License Needed
Licenses were not then required by law for medical practice, but Dr. Gervason Buley and Dr. Samuel Mather of nearby towns, testified that Hebron was pretty good at it, and recommended that he be given the title of physician and surgeon. That way of riding and gathering a doctor's education has been in vogue up to comparatively recent years but certainly would not be countenanced in the present century.

Hebron did have its first physician, Dr. Obediah Horford, who came here from Windsor and set up his practice. Records tend to settle that question, but in the old days the answer would probably have been "why, the minister, of course."

Horford's death and when it gave up, as time went on it became something of a problem, stragglers often making a resort there, and the possibility of its becoming a fire menace feared. With all this in mind the owners had the building torn down many years ago.

This was unfortunate, for with a little care and foresight and at slight expense it might have been preserved as an angle of the town's very early colonial houses, probably around 1718. A watercolor painting by Miss Carolea Pen-ton's outstanding problem, the Andover road beyond the cemetery, his house was ever taken, standing and occupied within the memory of a few of our old-timers. It was a picture-story-and-a-half structure, shingled on the outside, gray likely by "riding" with some of this medical acquaintance.

Police Warning Averts Disaster In NY Gas Blast

NEW YORK—Get the hell out, get the hell out, the police screamed and the neighbors, sleep-dead, befuddled and terror-stricken, followed from the dark little houses into the darkness and stench.

Outside, the air was permeated with gas and sound: a hum rising from the ground that grew into a rumbling and then a deafening boom.

Suddenly, it was all over. The flames were all gone. The smoke was all gone. The gas was all gone.

In other action, the board approved a resolution creating a citizens study group on sex education.

The principal duty of the chairman will be to preside over meetings and to call meetings as well as any other duties prescribed by the committee.

The group will be discharged by a vote of the board of education when, in the opinion of the board, it has completed the project assigned to it.

The first meeting of the committee is set for Feb. 6. School Building Reports
Robert Eversole, chairman of the board, noted that he had received a letter from the public building commission stating that beginning this month the PBC will submit a report on school building projects under construction to the board on a monthly basis.

The letter also noted that the grading and seeding of the grounds adjacent to the Hill Terry School would be started in the spring and that the building was otherwise complete.

The high school addition is also completed, subject to a punch list, the letter noted. Board member James Arnold requested that a proposal for closing hours of town schools be included on the next agenda.

A special meeting of the memorial committee (ad hoc) established by the board in honor of the late Mrs. Paul Hill will be held Jan. 28. Supl. Warner noted that an Advisory Committee Meeting on "Project Concern" had been held Jan. 3 and that Marvin Eisenberg, principal of the Hill Terry School, attended as a representative of the town.

Reports will be heard from Mrs. Oscar Anderson, executive chairman; Mrs. F. U. Conrad, Jr., recording secretary; Mrs. Arnold Waterman, treasurer; and Thorne Perry, Tolland Camp Development Chairman. George Shelton will present the state of officers of election.

A presentation of "Thanks Badges" will be made as the highlight of the meeting. The annual Girl Scout cookie sale for 1967 will begin tomorrow at 4 p.m. The general chairman is Mrs. Edward Kuehn, 1020 Ellington Rd.

A portion of the profit derived from the cookie sale goes directly to the individual troops. The Manchester Evening Herald correspondent, Mrs. Anne E. Lyons, tel. 644-4587.

Under the charge to the committee, all members will have equal rights and powers and all matters to be decided by the group will be decided by a majority vote.

The objectives of the study group will be to determine the advisability of including a sex education program in the school system and if so, to recommend guidelines for starting programs in sex education.

Consideration is also to be given to the elementary, secondary and adult level of education. The guidelines include provision for periodic and overall review of any program in sex education which is carried on.

One of the two board members on the committee will act as temporary chairman and in the first meeting a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary will be elected from the membership of the committee.

The group will not incur any expense or legal obligation in behalf of the town without prior specific approval of the board. However, the committee is expected to request the board for whatever funds are necessary to carry out the functions of the group.

The principal duty of the chairman will be to preside over meetings and to call meetings as well as any other duties prescribed by the committee.

The group will be discharged by a vote of the board of education when, in the opinion of the board, it has completed the project assigned to it.

Are you willing to go as low as $1715.00* for a new VW?

We don't sell status. Just a car. One that gets about 29 mpg, averages 40,000 miles on a set of tires, and hardly uses oil between changes.

Of course, the fact that it's practical is no secret. And everybody is going to know that you're saving money. But that's the price you pay for Volkswagen.

Hospital Accident Form Fails All but the Hardy

By GORDON BEARD
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — I'm not eligible for Medicare yet, and it's just as well. I can't even understand the simple form to be filled out for a routine accident case.

This is not a complaint about hospitals or their employees. After all, a gash on my little finger, left hand, — my hand, — with a knife while looking for a midnight snack — was sewn up quickly and without fuss. I can't say they really have specialists in this hospital.

"What time did it happen?" "Twelve twenty-seven and one-half." "Who brought you here?" "Now they think I'm a member of a gang."

"What's your last name?" "Beard." "E-e-e-t?" "Yes," I answered, squeezing my finger a bit tighter. "First name?" "Gordon."

"Middle initial?" "Well, actually, my middle name is Gordon. Now, she didn't know what to do with the 'r,'" my first initial.

"What's your mailing address?" "Presumably, in case I keep bleeding and they need help in finishing the form."

"201 1st Street, Greenwood Acres."

"What was your birth date?" "Harry up, I may not have an other one."

"Are you married?" "They quarrel around here."

"How did you cut the finger?" "Boy, they really have specialists in this hospital."

"What time did it happen?" "Twelve twenty-seven and one-half."

Wednesday, January 18

After it occurs, however, it may have effects not limited to or even closely related to, such reasons.

President Johnson, in his State of the Union Message, read the following announcement of something of a change in American outlook and policy:

"Our relations with the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe are also in transition. We have avoided both the cold and the hot wars of the past. When we have tried to differ quietly and with courtesy, and without venom.

"Our objective is not to continue the cold war, but to end it."

The President had three reasons for making such a pronouncement on the cold war.

First, the power politics play of the moment, with the United States operating razor-close to the danger of hot war with Communist China, would be Russia, which currently feels it necessary to keep its own strong, wary arm raised along its borders with China."

Second, the American President who has made himself commander-in-chief of the greatest and most costly undeclared war in history is under some compulsion to prove that he is really a reasonable, peace-loving character, who does not believe in fighting everybody who happens to be a Communist.

Third, as he himself subsequently revealed when he went on to discuss the fact that Russia has now begun setting up an antimissile defense system, the United States from the expense and labor of countering it.

These three objectives are all prominent in the Presidential move of the moment. They explain it, and they obtain for it a kind of political immunity it might not otherwise enjoy. They are important enough reasons, compelling enough reasons, practical enough reasons, to force at least a temporary silence on people who might normally shriek to the high hills in their horror over any idea of calling off the cold war with Russia.

As it was, the President was able to say "our objective is not to continue the cold war, but to end it."

And he was able to use a sentence like that without being sure that he included in it something not about continuing or ending the cold war, but "winning" it.

So, for such reasons, and under the cover and protection of such reasons, the verbal deed has been done.

On Jan. 10, 1967, President Lyndon Johnson asked for and declared his sympathy with an end to the 20 year cold war between Russia and the United States.

The results and effects? Perhaps, indeed, a new era between Russia and the United States, including a calling off of the potential new competition on anti-missile installations. Perhaps, as well, a freer hand both at home and abroad for the President's hot war policy in Southeast Asia.

But such results, or such portions of them as ever arrive, may be only the beginning. The President's words may have come at a moment when much of the rest of the world was even more weary of the cold war than its two direct participants; they may, in the minds and instincts and policies of others, unleash more initiatives and changes than the President himself will ever have intended. Perhaps, with a taste of the blessings of peace could be like mankind may reach for even more of it. Perhaps, true to his own past habit, man will take the lessening of one tension as the opportunity to go out and accumulate himself some compensating tension elsewhere.

What Makes a Man In Any Age

The age of man has been moved back another 750,000 years to a new point in antiquity at least 2,500,000 years ago. This feat with man in time has been accomplished by the finding of a new old bone—a piece of flint bone, in Kenya, Africa. It was found on a "hot afternoon in August of 1965" by Prof. Bryan Patterson of Harvard's Museum of Comparative Zoology.

The time lapse since that date has been spent in all the scientific scholarship proper for a relic so venerable. Aside from the luck of such a find, and the skill required to recognize it as something that should be picked up and studied, it is the modern science of determining the age of objects through measuring their radioactivity which has made possible such a pronouncement taking the history of man back another 750,000 years.

The determination of the age of a bone is not, however, the whole story. That does nothing to identify the bone as one which belonged to man, rather than to an ape. This is the big question to be answered.

And no matter how far back we go, or how small the fragment, the key determination remains the same. The scientists have to decide whether this was a thing that walked erect, instead of on fours.

It walked erect, it stands by a thing or an animal, and it becomes a man.

Why The Massacre Goes On

Last week Massachusetts buried her 500th victim of drunken driving this year. The next two weeks will record another two dozen or more driving deaths on the roads of the Bay State.

This year, the drunken driving toll increases by about 10 per cent. Each year the public shock and indignation flares anew. And, each year, precious little is done about this perhaps greatest public shame of our state and our country.

This question has engaged the study and the thought of some of our most profound scholars. It is just a few months ago that Arthur D. Little published his landmark survey of traffic safety and, concerning drunken driving, said, "The extent to which the public is unaware of this problem is startling—and the same can apparently be said of many legislators, administrators in business and government—and even of professionals in fields of research that are closely related."

The fact is that driving after drinking has become an accepted part of our social customs—and it is only a pale and wavery line which distinguishes driving after drinking from drunken driving.

The state, itself, implicitly condones this by permitting drinking establishments to be located along highways where there is no public transportation. No one really knows how prevalent drunken driving is. I have a speculation that on any night of the year at least one car in 100 is being driven by a driver who has had too much to drink. This means about 20,000 cases every day or well over 7 million drunken drivers each year.

Our State Police Pathology Laboratory blood tests of killed drivers indicates, over the past four years, that something approaching two-thirds were intoxicated but these tests covered only about one accident in eight.

It appears reasonable to assume that, in the rush to operating rooms and morgues, an even larger number of drinking fatalities escaped being recorded as such.

What can we do about it? There is much that we can do. But, in my opinion, very little will be done until the public changes its attitude about drunken driving—until we recognize it as the vicious, criminal thing that it is.

Too many of us think of tipsy driving as an amusing social misadventure—something that we, ourselves, might do or have done. This is the well-recognized "there but for the grace of God go I" syndrome. It is a syndrome which affects courts, witnesses, juries and even some of the police.

But if the public attitude changed, everything else would change with it. We would have tougher laws on drunken driving, including the implied Consent Law for breath-testing of arrested drunken drivers. We would have severe mandatory punishments for even first offenders—perhaps even mandatory jail sentences such as have proved so effective in the Scandinavian countries.

We would have adequate police to patrol our streets and highways instead of the present police ratio which is approximately 10 to 15 per cent less than we had 10 years ago with one million more cars and one million more drivers.

We might even station police in the parking areas of drinking places to check on departing customers. We might impound the cars of convicted drunken drivers to insure against scoff-law driving. Yes, there is much, indeed, that we could do.

But it never will be done so long as drunken driving is socially acceptable. In Scandinavia, drunken driving is socially unacceptable. It is a crime, and it is treated as such. Drunken driving carries such a stigma as to involve social and even economic obloquy—including loss of employment. Families feel disgraced by such men. Last year, will testify again by an informal meeting of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

Be yourself — How many times has this gem of advice been taken as a license to give in to whatever selfish impulse one happens to have at the moment? How many people have been so concerned with being themselves and taking care of themselves that they end with no close enough to make the phrase mean anything? The "self" any human can be with the aid of discipline and love is a world away from the "self" he would be without those. Be yourself — advice like this when given to someone who has a low opinion of himself, who does not begin to know himself, who does not love, can water a seed that grows a tragedy.

Tom Tiede in Vietnam Good Will Gesture Or Wasted Gifts?

PHUONG THIAN, Vietnam—town dozens of village youths greeted. PHUONG THIAN, Vietnam (NBA)—It all began innocently enough. Pfc. Paul Leaird wanted to do something nice. For some of the helpless Vietnamese, he put it. So he wrote home: "Please send toys and clothing." And home wrote back: "Son, they're on their way." After a bit, five boxes arrived at the base camp of the First Air Cavalry Division near here. Leaird's parents had enlisted the aid of the Colgate, Old American Legion. Hundreds of items were collected, and all of them packaged for the villages of Phung Thuan.

They were shirts, socks, old trousers, stuffed animals, wind-up toys, plastic sundries—perhaps $100 worth of merchandise. Leaird was elated. And so were his superiors. Every little bit helps and the whole theory of this war is to win the friendship of the helpless millions in the boon-lands.

Thus, 19-year-old Paul Leaird received permission to distribute his gifts. He got a truck, a driver and a bodyguard. And off they went.

The road to Phung Thuan was wet and mud oozed three and four inches thick in places. But as the truck slipped its way into town, dozens of village youths greeted. PHUONG THIAN, Vietnam (NBA)—It all began innocently enough. Pfc. Paul Leaird wanted to do something nice. For some of the helpless Vietnamese, he put it. So he wrote home: "Please send toys and clothing." And home wrote back: "Son, they're on their way." After a bit, five boxes arrived at the base camp of the First Air Cavalry Division near here. Leaird's parents had enlisted the aid of the Colgate, Old American Legion. Hundreds of items were collected, and all of them packaged for the villages of Phung Thuan.

Some of the over-anxious climbed into the truck!

retrieved them from an old girl who instantly waded back into the mees for something else. Finally, even the village chief gave up. But not before first grabbing a toy for himself. It was a beetle family — daddy, mommy, and two young bugs.

Two old men in their late 70s engaged in a frantic feud over possession of a stuffed rabbit. The other. There was screaming and weeping and the tearing of fabric.

A lady awaited a neighbor to get first crack at a check. Leaird, meanwhile, had grown frantic. "Hey, hey, hold it!" But it was no use. At length the young soldier stopped yelling. His eyes grew wide. He reached firmly out for the remains of the gift, picked them all up and threw them as high as he could. "Let's get out of here." On the road, the driver licked his wounds. The bodyguard made a personal inventory. They were red-faced and flustered.

And let's? He sat perfectly still. From time to time he shook his head solemnly and mumbled: "It's the damndest thing I ever saw."

Portrait Goes Visiting

BOSTON (AP)—Rembrandt's "Portrait of an Old Man" was used at more than 150,000 points recently made its first trip in 64 years outside the Boston Museum of Fine Arts.

The painting, believed to be a portrait of Rembrandt's father, was put on display at an American company gallery as part of a campaign to raise $1.4 million for expansion of the museum.

North Antiaircraft Guns Spread Thin by U.S. Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The almost-daily U.S. bombing of North Vietnam apparently is forcing the enemy to disperse more of its antiaircraft batteries and key supply depots among heavily populated areas, reports Gen. Earle G. Wheeler.

"This is a rough game," the chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff said Tuesday night. "particularly if the targets happen to be antiaircraft batteries. If it's only a few barrels of oil, it doesn't make much difference."

Wheeler, who returned Friday from a week-long inspection trip to Vietnam, said "there seems to be a growing trend in this direction" and added that the North Vietnamese know "our policy is not to attack populated areas per se."

The net result, he suggested, is that "in certain instances this makes installations immune to attack."

On the other hand, Wheeler said the growing trend in this direction is a "strategic and tactical" move by the North Vietnamese to make their air campaign more effective.

Wheeler's remarks apparently were aimed at the controversy that flared over U.S. bombing attacks on the Hanoi area last Dec. 13 and 14. Communist news agencies charged that more than 100 civilians were killed or injured in the raids and U.S. officials later placed two key targets off-limits.

In other related developments, President Johnson announced he will ask Congress for a $73 billion defense budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, about $5 billion over the current level. Current spending will be increased by $4.4 billion under a supplemental appropriations request soon going to Capitol Hill, Johnson said.

Congressional Republicans indicate they will oppose any administration attempt to widen trade with the Soviet Union or other Iron Curtain countries that now are aiding North Vietnam.

The State Department announced it has revoked the passports of three of four women who visited North Vietnam without the department's approval. One of the women, Patricia Griffith of Ithaca, N.Y., said she would fight the order.

Idle Payments Drop for Year

Unemployed Manchester workers were paid $200,000 last year, a drop of approximately 40 per cent from the $320,000 paid out locally during the previous year.

The figures were announced today by Edmund Loisel, manager of the local office of the State Unemployment Compensation Department.

Loisel reported also that $52,486 was paid out in benefits locally last month, compared to $56,170 paid out during December of 1965.

Last month's figure was for a combined total of 1,246 weeks, or an average of $42.12 per week.

On a statewide basis the sum of $1,839,590 was paid in benefits last month, for an average weekly check of $42.33.

At another point, Wheeler said that the U.S. involvement in Vietnam it will be recorded in the Vietnamese New Year. "One can hardly find a cogent military reason for the cease-fire," the general said. "On the other hand, there are certain political reasons."

One of these, he added, is the fact that the Vietnamese "are a great family people and this is the time for them to get together."

The Hanoi government is seeking a week-long truce today, with not much in the way of temperature rise expected through Thursday.

A sprawling high pressure system is expected to move through Thursday.

tem faded with sub-zero readings below zero are expected to average below normal with daytime temperatures in the 20s and nighttime readings in the teens. Generally moving eastward at a fast pace flow of colder air will make it difficult for many areas to rise with some moderation toward the end of the period.

Clear skies and near calm winds will set the stage for a drastic drop in temperatures to the next few days.

Precipitation may total more than 1/2 inch melted water equivalent occurring as snow Friday or Saturday.

Events In Capital

Dolly Meets Lyndon
WASHINGTON (AP) — Carol Channing got a kiss from President Johnson, her show "Hello Dolly" got a birthday cake and the White House social season got off to a rollicking start Tuesday night.

There were cheers and hurrahs from the audience for a 30-minute performance of excerpts from the hit musical which provided Johnson with his 1966 campaign song, "Hello Dolly."

The show provided the after dinner entertainment at a black tie dinner the Johnsons gave in honor of Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Chief Justice Earl Warren and House Speaker John W. McCormack.

Warren called the evening "great fun." Humphrey termed it "The best ever."

$3.2 Billion Cost

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Social Security Administration says a 20 per cent average increase in Social Security benefits as proposed by President Johnson would cost $3.2 billion the first year.

It said that lifting the minimum monthly payment from $44 to $70 as Johnson suggested would cost about $700 million.

Other items in the President's proposed $4.1 billion Social Security increase package would be relatively inexpensive, officials said in answer to questions from Sen. John J. Williams, R-Del.

The agency did not say how it is proposed to finance the increases.

But experts at the Capitol who work on such legislation say they understand more money would be raised through a combination of increases in the rate of the payroll tax and the wage base on which the tax is paid.

Employers and employees each now pay 4 1/2 per cent on the first $4,800 in the employee's wages each year.

Production Levels

WASHINGTON (AP) — Industrial production continued to level off in December, says the Federal Reserve Board.

Figures released Tuesday showed that the output of the nation's mines, mills and factories rose one-tenth of 1 per cent during December to 156.7 per cent of the 1957-59 base period. The December output was 6.5 per cent above December 1965.

The level was just short of October's record of 158.8. The index reflected the general economic slowdown experienced late last year.

The board said auto assemblies during December changed little from November's rate but that schedules for January indicate a 9 per cent decline.

Production of color television sets advanced but other household goods dropped.

Output of industrial and commercial equipment maintained a record pace, but iron and steel production and output of construction materials declined.

Bridwell in Line

WASHINGTON (AP) — Lowell K. Bridwell will be nominated as federal highway administrator, top roadbuilding job in the new Department of Transportation, says the White House.

Bridwell is now deputy undersecretary of commerce for transportation.

The No. 2 job in the Bureau of Public Roads, director, will go to Francis C. Turner, President Johnson said. The position Turner will fill was called federal highway administrator under the old organization.

Retired from Dec. 30, Bridwell, 42, is an Otisland and former newspaper reporter.

Turner, 66, has been in the Bureau of Public Roads for 27 years, currently as its chief engineer.

CAPITAL FOOTNOTES

Lynda Johnson, the President's older daughter, is on an undisclosed out of town assignment for McCall's magazine, her part-time employer.

President Johnson has left up to Mrs. John J. Kennedy the decision whether to permit publication of letters he wrote her and her children after the assassination of her husband.

Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., has introduced a bill giving the Department of Transportation funds to design, build and test electric vehicles.

Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., has made two proposals for direct election of presidents.

The Job Corps says an increasing percentage of its enrollees are completing their training before leaving.

STURBRIDGE WAS BUREAU

STURBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — More than half a million persons visited Old Sturbridge Village, a recreated 18th-century community, during 1966.

A spokesman said the 648,028 persons who visited the village was 20 per cent more than the previous year.

Vernon Fund Shift, Fire Promotion Trigger Board Controversy

Several seemingly routine matters have sparked unexpected controversy among members of the Board of Representatives.

One such item was a request at a meeting of the Board Monday to transfer $277 within the recreation budget from one account to another. This prompted board member Richard McCusker to criticize recommendations made in the auditor's report recently prepared by Lutz and Keller.

McCusker said, "By approving this transfer within a department budget at a meeting of the Board of Representatives we're falling into the trap the auditors set for us."

Several members of the board feared they were setting a precedent which could become a time-consuming practice of approving all line item transfers within a department budget, as recommended in the auditor's report.

Princess Anne Royalty's First 'Miniskirt'

LONDON (AP) — A member of Britain's royal family has finally appeared in public in a miniskirt. Well, almost a miniskirt.

Princess Anne is the main blazer.

Returning to Bendon School Tuesday, the queen's 16-year-old daughter wore a skirt at least two inches above her knees — some said it was as high as four — white net stockings, a military type jacket and boots.

"At least, a real royal fashion swinger," said the Daily Mirror. "Swinging princess in the rocker look," exclaimed the Daily Mail.

"Her swinging highness goes back to school," said the Sun. "The up to the minute princess," headlined the Sketch.

Back at school today, Anne was wearing the Bendon uniform — straw hat, skirt below the knees and low-heeled shoes.

Stainless Steel Gains

Proposed Bill to Change Campaign Finance Reports

The House Finance Committee on Tuesday filed a bill that would change the bond authorization for construction of housing for the elderly from $14 million to $36 million.

A bill that would appropriate $3 million for state scholarships in the next two years was filed by Sen. James E. Tansley, D-Waterbury. Tansley said the purpose of the measure was to provide scholarships averaging $300 to at least 5 per cent of the students graduating from high schools in Connecticut each year.

Sen. Joseph B. Buckley, D-Ansonia, filed bills that would have the state pay half the cost of local housing code enforcement programs, half the cost of industrial and commercial redevelopment projects not eligible for federal aid, half the cost of local demolition of unsafe structures, and up to the entire cost of rehabilitating and modernizing state-aided low and moderate income housing.

Another measure submitted by Buckley would reimburse towns for tax abatements granted to low and moderate income housing projects. It would be financed by a $3 million bond issue.

A bill that would grant legal immunity to registered nurses, teachers, principals and social workers who reported suspected cases of child abuse was filed by Sen. Jay W. Jackson, D-West Hartford.

At present, only physicians are protected from lawsuits if they report instances in which they suspect children have been injured by their parents.

Sen. Frank A. Piccolo, D-New Haven, filed a bill that would prevent business firms from firing or refusing to hire persons who refused to submit to fingerprinting or polygraph (lie detector) tests.

A measure that would forbid the employment of professional strikebreakers was filed by Rep. Henry T. Becker, D-Manchester. Barial expense payments under Workmen's Compensation would be raised from $200 to $3,000 under a bill filed by Rep. James P. McLaughlin, D-Bridgeport.

Property owners could not be sued by trespassers who are injured on their property if "no trespassing" signs had been posted, under a bill filed by Rep. Elsie B. Green, R-Southington.

Persons on jury duty would be granted immunity from paying tickets under a bill filed by Rep. Mary Hill, D-New London.

Rep. John F. Papademas, D-Meriden, filed a bill that would allow state employees to retire on pension after 25 years of service, regardless of their age. Current law requires that male employees be at least 55 years old and female employees 50 years old before they can be paid a pension.

All public secondary schools would have to provide driver training courses and all students would have to pass the state contribution to driver education courses from $20 to $50 per pupil per year. Bills to implement recommendations of the Judicial Council were filed by Rep. James J. Kennedy, D-Hartford.

The council last week issued a report in which it made several suggestions to improve state court administration, especially dealing with ways of clearing crowded dockets.

Kennedy's bills would:

- Allow Superior Court judges to appoint assistant state attorneys when the case load requires.
- Give state referees (retired judges) limited judicial powers in accordance with a new constitutional provision.
- Authorize Superior Court judges to appoint, on their own initiative, referees or committees to hear and report on complicated civil cases.
- Make jury terms six weeks in all state courts.
- Authorize police departments to arrest on "speedy information" and without warrants persons suspected of committing crimes elsewhere in the state.
- Make it a criminal offense for a person released without

Three Quints Die, Others Chances Slim

DUESSELDORF, Germany (AP) — Three of the quintuplets born Tuesday to a German woman who had been given fertility injections died during the night, a spokesman for the Duesseldorf University Clinic reported today.

Prof. Gustav Adolf von Harnack, head of the children's clinic, said the survival chances of the other two infants were "extremely minimal."

They were being given artificial respiration, he said.

The four boys and a girl were born Tuesday to Rosemarie Jauschek, 29, wife of an engineer, after a seven-month pregnancy. Her husband, Wolfgang, 32, told a newspaper she had received hormone fertility injections, a treatment which is considered to multiply births.

The mother was reported in good condition.

It was the first birth for Mrs. Jauschek. The children were all born within the space of nine minutes and their weights ranged around two pounds each.

Two mothers in Sweden and New Zealand gave birth to quintuplets in July 1966 after hormone injections to make them fertile. Only one of the quintuplets born to Karin Ohlsson in Sweden survived. All five of the babies born to Shirley Ann Lawson of New Zealand are living.

Gets Air Medal

Army Spec. 4 James M. Hutchinson, son of former Town Director John J. Hutchinson of 14 Lavon Rd., and Mrs. Alice Hutchinson, clerk of the Circuit Court, has been awarded the Air Medal in Vietnam.

Following a rule adopted recently in federal courts, Neddit's bill defines a legally insane person as one who "lacks substantial capacity either to appreciate the wrongfulness of his conduct or to conform his conduct to the requirements of law."

'Wired' Man Safely Defused

LONG BEACH, Calif. (AP) — Police said they didn't believe it when the young man yelled: "I'm wired. I'll blow up the building!"

Wired he was, to three dynamite caps concealed in his clothing, officers said. He was identified as Michael Williams, 24.

Police found two flashlight batteries in a pocket and a length of primer cord around his waist Tuesday. If he had touched the wires to the batteries, officers said, the blast could have cut him in half.

Officers took no chances. They led Williams to a tunnel beneath the building and summoned an explosive expert.

Police said Williams threatened to blow himself up, saying, "I'm tired of being a junkie."

He was booked on suspicion of illegally using explosives and for possession of narcotics.

Rham District Recording Made Of Band Concert

The Rham High School Music Department has announced that a record of the Christmas concert will be made in February. The concert was held in December.

Band members are presently engaged in preparations for their annual exchange concert in April. This year the Rham musicians will conduct the concert with the bandmen at Plymouth-Carver Regional High School in Plymouth, Mass.

The concert will be conducted on an overnight basis as they were last year. Participants will have an opportunity to visit and spend some time in Plymouth.

The students from Plymouth will visit Rham for a concert a week earlier and stay overnight at guests of the Rham members. By the time these concerts take place, the band members will have the new blazers which have been ordered.

Vernon VIP May Select Full Slate For Town Election Contests

The Vernon Independent Party, expressing its opposition to candidates of the two major parties, may file a full slate of candidates for the April town elections.

In a statement issued by Loren Vico, chairman of the independent party, it will conduct an "all truth campaign" to inform all voters just what they can expect if this consolidated government that is so mis-managed that in a few short years Vernon will be the highest tax town in the country.

"The party, which has been in existence about 12 years, has basically opposed to the consolidated government and waged a campaign against it several years ago."

It would eliminate the post of director of administration and would like to return to the town meeting form of government. Vico said last night that the government of the town "is getting out of hand."

Vico explained the party favors retaining the annual budget meeting and expressed criticism of the town charter and its proposed "fifty changes" to the town charter.

He accused both political parties of being poorly run. "The weak Republicans have not come up with a candidate for mayor that can come up to the standards of this important office," Vico said in his statement.

"The Independent Party is proud it can start a campaign not owing any back debts for the last six or seven years," he said at the meeting.

Applications Urged
Growers are being urged to file their applications for 1967 marketing year payments under the National Wool Act by the end of the month.

Applications covering marketing of wool and lambs during the year ending Dec. 31, including all sales details.

Joseph P. Szegda, chairman of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, explained that the payments on wool during 1966 represent the amounts necessary for bringing the national average price received by growers to the level previously announced in the centive levels for the 1966 calendar year.

The incentive level for last year was 66 cents a pound for shorn wool. The payment for pulled wool will be at a level comparable to that for shorn wool.

Since payments under the program are based on the national average price, it is important that sales reports be as complete as possible before the average price determination is made.

Auxiliary Workshop

Columbia Jean Natch Will Head Cookie Sale

Miss Jean Natch, long active in local and county Girl Scout activities, has been appointed service unit cookie chairman for Northeast District II, Connecticut Trails Council of Girl Scouts Inc., for this year's cookie sale.

Her jurisdiction includes Andover, Hebron, Lebanon and Hartborough as well as Columbia.

Miss Natch said, "Through the sales of cookies each girl earns money for her own troop for such things as program supplies and equipment, activities and service projects."

She added that federated funds are requested to make up the difference between an agency's sources of income and its expenses.

The scouts sell cookies in lieu of charging fees for service, as many agencies do, and also make it possible to keep camper fees as low as possible.

No March of Dimes
The local March of Dimes has come to a dead stop here according to Robert Doherty, chairman of the Tolland County Chapter of the National Foundation.

The program here was very active under the direction of Postmaster Ruth Soracchi for a number of years. Mrs. Soracchi resigned two years ago and last year there was no campaign here, also because of lack of volunteer workers.

Doherty said he will consult with a new state coordinator shortly and hopes to get a campaign underway before the end of the month.

Doherty added that he and Mrs. Florence Loren of Rockville, have been organizing the responsibilities of post-polio mass loads with funds left in the county treasury. He said the "cock of workers" is apparent throughout the county.

Doherty said he hopes those willing to start a campaign will call him at the Tolland County Chapter.

Card Party Canceled
The women's auxiliary of the Fire Department has canceled its card party scheduled for Saturday night at the firehouse because of the presentation of the "International Cavalcade of Stars" sponsored by the firemen.

There is a heavy advance sale of tickets and firemen say the show may be presented several times.

2 Made Voters

performances. In later years, she lived quietly in Los Angeles, victim of several strokes and the infirmities of old age.

Returning to talk of the case, she declared:

"I'm sick and tired of it all of all those rehashings."

White was sitting alone the final night, watching a performance of the comedy, "Marmelle Champagne." Thaw and his wife, former Broadway showgirl and artist's model, were sitting with two friends.

Before the performance ended, Thaw and his companions started to leave. Suddenly Thaw stopped at White's table, drew a pistol and fired three shots into his head. White died instantly.

Thaw gave an incoherent explanation that he killed White because Mrs. Thaw had made a confession of relations with White prior to their marriage.

"Thaw said 20 years later, 'Under the circumstances, I'd kill him tomorrow.'"

In two trials that resulted, Thaw invoked the "unwritten law." His wife testified in his behalf.

A defense attorney later remarked: "Without Evelyn Thaw as the witness she was, all the millions Thaw's money had couldn't have saved him from electrocution."

The first trial ended in a hung jury. Thaw was acquitted on grounds of insanity at the second trial in 1968.

A lengthy legal battle followed to keep Thaw from commitment to a mental institution, but it failed. He was committed to the Mattawan State Hospital for the criminal insane. In 1950, Thaw was legally sane, but was recommended to a private institution for seven years after he was accused of horsewhipping a high school boy.

It was there White spotted her and fell in love with her. Thaw, too, fell in love with her. She married Thaw in a secret ceremony in a Pittsburgh minister's home in April 1955.

When she was 70, Mrs. Thaw rode past the old lunatic ward with a reporter, including the location of White's studio where she sometimes sang on a red velvet stage.

In 1955, 20th Century-Fox made a film, "The Girl in the Red Velvet Swing," starring Joan Collins.

Said Mrs. Thaw: "I don't forget I was only 15, and I loved my swinging."

She said White was "the only man she ever loved — the most wonderful man I ever knew."

Of Thaw, heir to a $40-million fortune, she said: "He was a mighty peculiar person, and he deteriorated. It would have been better if he had never been born. Too much money spoiled him young."

Thaw divorced his wife in 1948. When he died in 1947 in Miami, Fla., at the age of 76, he bequeathed $10,000 to her.

After Thaw's death, Mrs. Thaw entered into a career as a cabaret and vaudeville dancer and singer. In 1952, a newspaper reported she had given birth to a baby boy in Hamburg, Germany, in 1950.

She said his name was Russell Thaw and that Harry K. Thaw was the father. He denied fathering the child, but contributed to its support.

The year of her divorce, she married her dancing partner, Virgil Montani, known professionally as Jack Clifford. She won a divorce from him in 1953 claiming he deserted her in 1948.

In the years that followed, she twice attempted suicide by poisoning — in 1951 when a New York tea room venture failed, and in 1956 in Chicago after a New Year's Eve celebration.

Mrs. Thaw is survived by her son, Russell, who was given the affectionate nickname "Pom" by his mother when he was a child.

Reginum Mass will be said Thursday at 9 a.m. at St. Martin of Tours Catholic church in nearby Brentwood.

Battle Is Lost, Old Met Going

long been rated one of the world's most acoustically perfect music halls and argued the city could not afford to lose a performing arts facility.

Estimates of the cost of refurbishing the old Met ranged from $4 million to $25 million and the necessary funds never materialized.

Opposition to saving the house was led by officials of the Metropolitan Opera Association. They contended they needed the income from the lease to help offset their deficit at Lincoln Center.

Andover Refuse Area Converted

Work is now being done at the Andover Disposal Area in preparation for complete conversion to the new waste handling method.

A road is being built on the eastern side of the area leading to the north where the land drops sharply. Trees are being planted and the slope will be graded so that heavy impacting and covering equipment can operate efficiently. The new equipment authorized by the state in October will probably be delivered within the next ten days.

Voter Session Set
The January meeting of the board of administration for election will be held next Monday evening from 6 to 8 p.m. in the town office building. Citizens who are made voters at this session will have their names placed on the new census list which will come up for revision and printing within the next month. The new voters will be able to participate in the caucus for the next two months to select candidates for the biennial town election in May.

Nature Notes
The number of boys and girls in the fourth, fifth, and sixth grade age group who wanted to join the new 4-H Nature Explorer Club prompted the members at a meeting on Monday at the Elementary School to expand their membership maximum from 16 to 20.

Joining the club on Monday were Laura Gove, Walter Hamerstrom, and Laurel Ann Palmer. The large membership made it advisable to make a drastic cut in the weekly dues from ten cents a week to five cents.

One-half of the members went on Monday to the home of Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bowden on Bantock Rd. to see the extensive collection of rocks and minerals of Mrs. Bowden. The other half stayed at the school and discussed their plans.

The president, Karen Person, appointed Susan Wright to head a committee to plan a St. Valentine's Day party for the group on Feb. 13.

Manchester Evening Herald Andover correspondent, John Lawrence Moore, tel. 742-6796.

Miss Jean Natch, long active in local and county Girl Scout activities, has been appointed service unit cookie chairman for Northeast District II, Connecticut Trails Council of Girl Scouts Inc., for this year's cookie sale.

Her jurisdiction includes Andover, Hebron, Lebanon and Hartborough as well as Columbia.

Miss Natch said, "Through the sales of cookies each girl earns money for her own troop for such things as program supplies and equipment, activities and service projects."

She added that federated funds are requested to make up the difference between an agency's sources of income and its expenses.

The scouts sell cookies in lieu of charging fees for service, as many agencies do, and also make it possible to keep camper fees as low as possible.

No March of Dimes
The local March of Dimes has come to a dead stop here according to Robert Doherty, chairman of the Tolland County Chapter of the National Foundation.

The program here was very active under the direction of Postmaster Ruth Soracchi for a number of years. Mrs. Soracchi resigned two years ago and last year there was no campaign here, also because of lack of volunteer workers.

Doherty said he will consult with a new state coordinator shortly and hopes to get a campaign underway before the end of the month.

Doherty added that he and Mrs. Florence Loren of Rockville, have been organizing the responsibilities of post-polio mass loads with funds left in the county treasury. He said the "cock of workers" is apparent throughout the county.

Doherty said he hopes those willing to start a campaign will call him at the Tolland County Chapter.

Card Party Canceled
The women's auxiliary of the Fire Department has canceled its card party scheduled for Saturday night at the firehouse because of the presentation of the "International Cavalcade of Stars" sponsored by the firemen.

There is a heavy advance sale of tickets and firemen say the show may be presented several times.

2 Made Voters
Two voters, both registering Democratic, were made at the Yeomans Hall Saturday morning.

Manchester Evening Herald Andover correspondent, John Lawrence Moore, tel. 742-6796.

Stamps In the News

AP Newsfeature By SYD KRONISH

A country within a country—recently declared independent and admitted to the United Nations—has just issued its first postage stamps.

Lesotho (formerly Basutoland), a mountainous country about the size of Belgium, is an enclave entirely within the Republic of South Africa. The four new stamps of identical design honor the 20th anniversary of UNESCO, the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization.

The 2 1/2-cent green, 6-cent yellow, 12 1/2-cent blue and 25-cent orange-red depict an allegorical design denoting the various aspects of UNESCO.

Israel pays tribute to its 1966 Stamp Day by issuing four new stamps, reports the Israel Philatelic Agency in America. Each of the four stamps pictures a postman from a different period in Israel's history.

Bolivia has issued eight new stamps to commemorate the centenary of the death of Marshal Andres Santa Cruz, President of Bolivia from 1829 to 1839.

Venezuela has issued six new stamps paying tribute to the 2nd Conference of Ministers of Labor. The lowest values have the same design showing a construction worker.

do pennies make a difference in your food bill?

You bet they do. And we should know. We built our business by saving pennies for generations of folks like you. For instance, take our policy on multiple-priced items. If an item is priced 3 for 25¢, the price for one is obviously 9¢. But what happens if you want two? Do you pay 2 times 9¢ or 18¢? Not at A&P. We sell it at 2 for 17¢. That's the fair way—the A&P way. Yes, in the food business... in food budgeting, pennies make a difference. We watch them for you and for us. Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

Lucius Amerson

TUSKEGEE, Ala. (AP) — Sheriff Lucius D. Amerson, making history quietly, breezed through his first day on the job with the routine broken only by one shooting — and the victim was a farmer's cow.

The fact that Amerson was the first Negro sheriff in Alabama since Reconstruction caused not the slightest noticeable reaction in this unincorporated rural town 40 miles east of Montgomery.

Every one has been cooperative," said Amerson, 35, an ex-paratrooper and former postal worker who defeated two white candidates last year to win the top law enforcement office in Mason County, population about 27,000 and 82 1/2 per cent Negro.

Six elective offices in the city and county are held by Negroes. Amerson, who was sworn Monday, officially began his duties Tuesday. At 9 a.m. he was in state court for the hearing of civil cases, including a divorce dispute.

During a hall before court began, white-haired Judge L. J. Tyler walked over and shook hands with Amerson and his chief deputy, who is white. The judge leaned against the table and chatted, offering help and advice.

"I hope you are going to get along all right," the judge said.

Lionel Hampton TOKYO (AP)—Lionel Hampton says he will make a record this summer with the jazz-loving King of Thailand.

Theodore Sorenson NEW YORK (AP)—The affair Tuesday was the annual Distinguished Service Award luncheon of the New York Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Howard H. Callaway VALLEY Forge, Pa. (AP)—"I humbly accept this task," said Howard H. Callaway, unsuccessful Republican candidate for governor of Georgia.

U Thant UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—U.N. Secretary-General U Thant will visit India, Pakistan, Burma and possibly Afghanistan and Nepal next April, according to authoritative sources.

Robert Weiss, town manager, will be guest speaker at a regular meeting of the Manchester PTA Council tomorrow at 8 p.m. at Green School. Coffee will be served at 7:30.

Chicago—Railroads now are making croissants of prestressed concrete. The idea, which was tested here at the Association of American Railroads research center.
