2 Planes Down In Ohio Collision

URBANA, Ohio (AP)—A DC9 jetliner and a second airplane crashed today 50 miles from the scene of another airliner crash Sunday, the Ohio Highway Patrol said.

The patrol post at nearby Piqua said it was not learned whether the planes might have collided but that two definitely were down. One plane was identified as a Trans World Airlines DC9 with 25 passengers aboard. No survivors were reported.

The second plane was identified as a light private plane which crashed two miles from the DC9.

There was no word on the fate of the occupants of the private plane.

The sheriff's office said bodies were scattered amid the debris of the plane which fell near the resort community of Meadow Lake about five miles northwest of this central Ohio city.

R.D. King, news editor of the Urbana Citizen, reported he found no survivors among the 21 passengers and four crew members.

A woman who lives nearby, Mrs. Wayne Rinehart, said she heard "what sounded like an explosion." She said the plane landed about half a mile from her house in a rural area.

Bodies and debris were reported scattered over a four-mile area. A temporary morgue was set up not far from the crash.

Reports fixed the crash scene near Ohio Routes 25 and 500. TWA in Chicago identified the plane as Flight 883, which goes from New York to Chicago with a stop at Dayton, about 30 miles to the south. TWA said the 70-passenger plane had a short flight.

The crash scene was identified as not far from the Urbana area.

Streamlining Seen Key to Postal Hikes

WASHINGTON (AP)—Postmaster General Lawrence F. O'Brien predicted today that use of the Post Office Department modernizes its facilities there will be more postal rate increases.

O'Brien said in a speech prepared for the fourth annual meeting of the Direct Mail Advertising Association that the $700-million postal increase being sought from Congress next year will help pay for research to modernize postal handling methods.

"And, we have no doubt that unless we modernize, rates will continue to rise," he said.

O'Brien noted that direct mail advertising — which criticizes call.

Car Makers Report: 670,000 New Units Potentially Faulty

WASHINGTON (AP)—Potential defects in more than 670,000 cars, trucks and buses — most of them 1967 models — have been reported to the government by domestic and foreign manufacturers since Jan. 1.

Commerce Department records showed today that most of the recalls were by the domestic big three — General Motors, Ford and Chrysler — for a variety of possible defects involving brake parts, steering shafts in more than 200,000 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Buicks.

Ford recalled 17,000 Ford and Mercury in February for a possibly defective power brake booster assembly which may malfunction in cold weather, the department files showed.

Another Ford recall involved 300 Thunderbirds for possible defective steering wheel spoke welds.

Chrysler recalled 122,215 Plymouths for a possible defect in the windshield wiper switch at low temperatures, 10,748 Plymouths, Chryslers, Dodges, and Dodge Darts for a possibly defective brake master cylinder push rod bolt and 6,988 Chrysler and Imperials for a possible chafing between the instrument panel wiring and brake release switch. All were reported to the government the same day.

Other U.S. firms which filed reports on possible defects since Jan. 1 were Kaiser Jeep, International Harvester, American Motors and Clark Equipment Co., a manufacturer of trailers.

Foreign companies filing reports included Rolls Royce, Jaguar, Porsche, BMW of West Germany, Datsun, Volkswagen and Renault.

One of the largest recalls came in January when General Motors reported possible misaligned steering shafts in more than 200,000 Chevrolets, Pontiacs, Oldsmobiles and Buicks.

It's Kite-Flying Time in Old Miami

The snow may be deep in New England and the most favorite toys may be sleds and skis but in Miami it's kite-flying time for the kite-flying and this youngster wasted no time in getting his favorite kite airborne.

Richard E. Turcotte Jr. took the stand in his own defense this morning and told a full-packed courtroom of his early years of marriage and how he learned later of his wife's infidelity. He also testified that he asked his wife for a divorce.

Turcotte, charged with murdering his wife, Marie, with a shotgun Sept. 22, appeared calm as he recalled in a firm voice how his marital relations reached a turning point. The 28-year-old defendant, who told a jury of seven women and five men his marriage years were happy, testified that his wife's attitude toward him changed in August 1964.

Turcotte's testimony was heard by two psychiatrists who are expected to testify as state witnesses in the state's rebuttal. "My wife seemed to change," Turcotte recalled. "She was very affectionate and she didn't want to talk as much as she used to."

Glancing occasionally at the jury box, Turcotte testified that he lost interest in her and 20 pounds during August.

"How did she act toward you?" Atty. Piepler asked.

"Some days she was real close, other days she was real far away. She did more yelling than normal and seemed irritated," Turcotte said.

"Did you find any physical evidence as to what was wrong — any evidence in the house?" asked Atty. Piepler.

Turcotte replied that he discovered some pills in the house.

Judge Assigned In Powell Case

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. District Court Judge George Hart was assigned today to handle a preliminary hearing in the case of Clayton Powell's legal bid to regain his seat in Congress.

The suit charged the House acted to violate Powell's and his constituents' constitutional rights and racially discriminated against him.

The court petition was signed by Powell and 13 other whites, including civil rights leader A. Philip Randolph, Manhattan Borough President Percy E. Sutton and former borough President Hulan Jack.

Powell began his own campaign to get back his seat in a special election.

Senses Mounting Public Suspicion Congress on Brink of Morality Code

WASHINGTON (AP)—The about growing public suspicion of the moral climate in Congress is going steadily down, down, down.

"It's clean house," said a congressman.

"Our lines are on the line," said another.

"A cloud of moral suspicion is hanging over the entire Congress," said a third.

In recent years, Congress has been severely in its surveillance of the executive and judicial branches. But the public approval of the Congress has fallen to a low level.

A recent Gallup Poll asked whether the Congress was doing a good job or a bad job. The poll showed that 57 percent of the respondents thought the Congress was doing a bad job.

U.S. Viet Losses Show Steady Rise

Air Medic Top Honor

WASHINGTON (AP)—An Airborne medic receives the Medal of Honor from President Johnson today. He ignored two wounds and a steady hail of Viet Cong fire to give life-saving aid to his buddies.

The nation's highest award for heroism, the 12th to be presented in the Vietnam war, goes to Army Spc 4 Lawrence J. B. He is the first medic to be honored for gallantry in Vietnam.

Joel, married and the father of two children, distinguished himself on an undisclosed battlefield Nov. 8, 1965, while preceding from man to man the 177th Airborne Brigade.

A numerically larger and well-equipped Viet Cong unit opened fire on his outfit, killing or wounding nearly every man in the unit.

Joel moved forward under fire to assist them and, while proceeding from man to man, he was struck in the right leg by machine-gun fire. He bandaged his own wound and administered morphine to himself, then went about his work.

The citation said: "Completely ignoring the warnings of others and his own pain, he continued his search for wounded exposing himself to hostile fire, and as bullets dug up the dirt around him, he held plasma bottles high while kneeling completely engrossed in his life-saving mission."

Joel was then wounded a second time. The bullet lodged in his thigh.

"He dragged himself over the battlefield," said the citation, "and succeeded in treating 13 more men before his medical supplies ran out."

Joel was credited with saving a large number of lives through conspicuous gallantry above and beyond the call of duty.

The medic is now stationed with the 2nd Airborne Division at Ft. Bragg, N.C. He joined the Army in March, 1964, returned to civilian life three years later and rejoined the Army in 1963.

Week's Total Highest Yet; 232 Killed

SAIGON (AP)—The highest American losses of the Vietnam war were announced today, reflecting the steady rising U.S. military effort and Communist retaliation with heavy mortar attacks, mines, booby traps and hit and run assaults.

The total casualties last week were 1,617 killed, wounded and missing. It included 232 dead, 1,381 wounded and four missing. Most were in the small strikes and fleeing Red jabs that have characterized the recent fighting.

While the overall total was the highest of the war, the total of 232 killed was exceeded by one week in November, 1965, when 260 Americans died. But most of that death toll came in the fierce Ia Drang Valley battle, not in engagements scattered the length of South Vietnam.

The U. S. command reported 1,738 Communists were killed last week, well above average but not a record. However, South Vietnam's "open areas" program to attract defectors dealt the Reds a hard blow. A record weekly total of 1,188 Communist soldiers and political workers came into allied lines waving the slips of paper granting them amnesty for all past offenses.

Analysts say the open areas program is attracting defectors at a rate of 100 a week.

Another sign of the stepped-up war was the lifting of security wraps on the first major offensive operation in the Mekong Delta by troops of the U. S. 8th Infantry Division, the first big U. S. ground unit to be permanently assigned to that vital area which contains about one third of South Vietnam's 15 million people and grows 80 per cent of its rice.

The U.S. command also announced that American military forces in Vietnam now total 417,400 — an increase of 2,400 last week.

Pair Resting After Ordeal On Mountain

TALKEETNA, Alaska (AP)—The first men to scale Mt. McKinley in the fierce subarctic winter were resting from their ordeal today while a search continued for two companions who have been unaccounted for since Sunday.

An Army helicopter plucked three Anchorage climbers from the 14,000-foot top of the 20,320 foot mountain late Wednesday. Earlier the men, using a radio dropped from an Air Force plane, sent word that they were resting on the summit at 7 p.m. March 1.

The injured were taken to Roosevelt Hospital. Police (See Page Twenty-Seven)

Strike Not Over GM Plant's Work Force Near Normal

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)—A General Motors plant struck Wednesday night by rebellious workers in the plant's new plant near Mansfield, Ohio, reported 75 per cent of its normal work force of 1,300 on duty today.

Wednesday night only about 75 of the 300 men scheduled to work reported to the plant.

Twelve union members, including the leader of the rebel faction, were cited for contempt of court for violating a court order against picketing, issued during the last month which led to layoffs of nearly 200 workers at 85 GM plants around the country. This plant makes body parts for 80 per cent of GM cars.

Frank Pett, Jr., chairman of the union's shop committee during the earlier walkout and who appeared to be leading the current revolt against the national union, was on route to Detroit with about 20 local supporters.

A man who answered the telephone at the union headquarters said the walkout was not ended. He said "information" was being passed to the number of workers who showed up. No pickets were on duty.

A Feb. 21 court order banned all picketing at the plant pending a final decision on a "no-strike" contract. Picketing ended at the plant Wednesday virtually halting production for one shift.

Sheriff's deputies removed the picketers from the plant. (See Page Ten)

South Windsor Town Zoning Board Grants Two Requests, Denies One

The zoning board of appeals has granted two requests and denied one. One was withdrawn at a recent meeting. Granted was the request of the Knights of Columbus, Council 5578, c/o Atty. John M. Casey, 1784 Ellington Rd., for a temporary and conditional permit for two years to allow the use of the premises at 447 Sullivan Ave. as a club. This is within the purview of section 13-a of the zoning laws. The basement of the property is to be used for a meeting place. Also granted was the request of Joseph A. Krawski Jr., c/o Edwin A. Kuehn, Esq., 968 Farmington Ave., West Hartford, for a variance to allow construction of a dwelling on a lot having less than the required frontage on premises on Main St.

The property is bounded by Joseph A. Krawski Jr., c/o Edwin A. Kuehn, Esq., 968 Farmington Ave., West Hartford, to the north; Samuel Sloughter Estate, Main St. and Daniel F. Driscoll, an A-40 zone, to the east. The request was granted on the grounds of unusual difficulty because of the configuration of the parcel and land, subject to the approval of the town planning and zoning commission for a subdivision. It is proposed to divide the land into four lots.

Decided by the board was the request of Albert B. Myer, c/o Edwin A. Lassman, Esq., 37 Lewis St., Hartford, for a variance to allow a coin operated auto wash at 200 Burnham St., in an A-40 zone. The request was denied on the grounds that the request is a non-permitted use in any zoning and insufficient hardship was shown.

The request of Norman C. Keene, 12 Elda Court, East Hartford, was withdrawn for a temporary and conditional permit to allow the construction and operation of a miniature golf course at 457 John Fitch Blvd. in an I zone.

Pamphlet on Police
A pamphlet entitled "Guardians of Four Property and Welfare" has been distributed to town residents by members of Boy Scout Troop 61, 383, 390, 228 and 186.

The purpose of the booklet is to foster a better understanding of the work of the town police force and ways that citizens can help the police protect residents. The booklet also tries to promote goodwill and cooperation between residents and the police.

Town Manager Terry V. Spenkel, who also serves as police chief, said, "Much can be done in law enforcement and crime prevention through good cooperation between the citizens and the police department. The first step is a complete understanding of the police department duties and the services it is prepared to give."

Spenkel commented that it is desirable that every resident of the community know what he can do to help the police and himself in the event of an emergency or in a general program of crime prevention.

The booklet contains information on precautionary measures to be taken by citizens when leaving their homes for the evening or for an extended period and information on warning children against sex offenders and measures that can be employed to protect children from traffic dangers.

Other topics covered include the citizen's part in crime prevention, solicitors and peddlers, questionable charitable organizations, the citizen's duty in the prosecution of offenders and door locks and window fastenings.

GOP Sets Dinner
The South Windsor Republican town committee will sponsor a dinner dance "Swing Into Spring" on April 7 at the "Church Corners Inn, East Hartford. A social hour will be held from 7 to 8 p.m. with a buffet dinner served at 8.

The event will feature an "original crazy hat contest" and prizes will be awarded to the man and the woman with the craziest hat.

ORT Day Planned
The Tobacco Valley Chapter of Women's American ORT will observe ORT Day March 15 at the home of Mrs. Philip Dasher, 114 Woodland Dr., Wapping, at 8:15 p.m.

Abraham Aveson, a former student at an ORT school in Tel Aviv, Israel and Rabbi Leonard Helman, rabbi of Temple Beth Hillel, will be the principal speakers.

Eastern Star Officers
Mrs. Laura Collins has been elected Worthy Matron of Evergreen Wood Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Other newly elected officers include Francis Andrews, worthy patron; Ruth Graham, association matron; William Prais, associate patron; Elsie Barran, secretary; Ella Burnham, treasurer; Mary Kittell, conductress and Helen Newberry, associate conductress.

Installation ceremonies will be held March 15 at 8:00 p.m. at the Masonic Hall and are open to the public.

Joint Mission Set
"Breaking Barriers," a preaching mission to be held

Soloist Hit In Concerto

By JOHN GRUBER
Donald Turini, young, Canadian pianist made his Hartford debut last evening with the Hartford Symphony Orchestra, substituting for Philip Rotondo, who broke his wrist in an accident on Monday. The program remained unaltered and Mr. Turini was heard as pianist of the Tchaikovsky Piano Concerto No. 1.

It is a foregone conclusion that any pianist heard in this work must meet with enthusiastic response from the audience, since this is possibly the most popular concerto of all time, and if the performer has reasonable technique and the rather large hands demanded by the work, it is almost impossible to fail in performance.

There are spots, however, where the soloist can show true artistry rather than mere virtuosity and last night Turini showed that he has true artistic sensitivity and artistry. His playing was superb and his hand is not calculated to display these qualities to the detriment of the music.

The rather extended cadenza near the close of the first movement was a real test. It is frequently played in a perfunctory manner, but Mr. Turini showed excellent attention to detail, fine phrasing, and a lyrical approach to the section which set his performance apart from the interpretations commonly heard.

Two shows in the slow movement where many a performer bogs down artistically. Mr. Turini played a sensitive, cantabile style that would have been even more effective had the tempo been a shade slower. A nominal admission fee will be charged and candy will be available for sale.

Pleasant Valley Club
The Pleasant Valley Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Henry Johnson, 10 Long Hill Rd. tonight at 7:45. Mrs. Johnson will show her button collection, hooked rugs and needlepoint.

Holy Communion Classes
St. Margaret Mary's Parish has announced plans for this year's students who will receive Holy Communion for the first time.

The Rev. Joseph Schick, director of the CCD unit, said that special classes will be held on March 15 and 28 from 5 to 5:30 p.m. in the church hall. In the first year the children in the first Communion class will make their first confession three weeks before they receive Holy Communion.

Confessions will be heard from 3 to 4 p.m. on March 31 for students attending the second session of instruction classes.

Father Schick emphasized the importance of the extra classes scheduled for this group and requested parents to cooperate as much as possible in having the children attend the special sessions. Mrs. Leo Lariviere, Highland Dr., Wapping, may be called for further information.

The school of religious instruction will be closed Saturday during both class sessions in order that teachers and staff may attend the Archdiocesan Confraternity of Christian Doctrine Congress being held at South Catholic High School in Hartford.

When your partner has made the opening lead, you know just what cards to lead when returning his suit. Apply this knowledge when you are the declarer. Opening lead—jack of clubs. West led the jack of clubs, and dummy's queen lost to the ace. East returned the eight of clubs, driving out the king. Dealer cashed the ace of diamonds, drew two rounds of trumps, and discarded dummy's low clubs on high diamonds. So far, so good.

South had ruff a club and a diamond in dummy but went wrong by ruffing the club first. He cashed dummy's top hearts, and got back by ruffing a heart—but West discarded a diamond on this trick. When South next led a diamond, West ruffed with the nine of spades to defeat the contract.

Early Club
The club to the right played in the first two tricks. East returned the eight of clubs, showing that he held the heart. West's opening lead of the jack of clubs showed the ten. These points accounted for all of the clubs.

South knew that West had started with four clubs and three trumps. The hand could be made only if West also held two hearts and four diamonds. Even with the ideal distribution, South could make his slam only by ruffing the hearts in dummy.

West would ruff out on the fourth round of diamonds, and dummy would ruff. When declarer then cashed the top hearts and four diamonds, West could discard a club—but this would not do harm since West had two clubs. South would ruff his last club safely and take the last trick with his high trump.

Savio Appeal Turned Down
SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The State Supreme Court Wednesday turned down an appeal from Mario Savio and 871 others convicted in the 1964 Berkeley campus sit-in at the University of California.

Their lawyer, Malcolm Burnham, said he would take the case to the U.S. Supreme Court, to contend that the defendants' arrest was unconstitutional. He said the defendants' arrest was not justified because they were protesting peacefully and were not violent.

Savio and the others were charged with misdemeanor charges of obstructing traffic. The sentences ranged from four months in jail to fines of up to $500 for their followers.

The state's high court voted 4-3 to deny the appeal. A new hearing to the defendants, Justice Raymond B. Peters dissented, voting for a rehearing.

More than 700 students and nonstudents were originally arrested in the Spring 1964 Berkeley sit-in. It was a far from definitive performance. The romantic composers are definitely not of his high. Mr. Weinograd is one of the most difficult of the romanticists.

He wrote mostly for the piano, and his symphonies show the orchestration of his piano

Laser Beam Radiates Red Danger Signals

WASHINGTON (AP)—Some danger signals are flashing in the pathway of the laser, perhaps the most powerful form of light in the universe.

The laser, developed only a few years ago, is already finding hundreds of uses in industry, medicine, military operations and space flight.

Some of the problem areas:

- One scientist said treating cancer with lasers might cause the cancer to spread. Another scientist said he had treated 100 cancer cases and never seen such effects.
- Warnings of "instant blindness" from looking directly at laser beams. This might apply to high school students using make-it-yourself laser kits, or to soldiers exposed to laser beams from artillery range-finders.
- Some of the uses, present or under study, range from tracking satellites to helping lay sewer pipes, from removing wart-like lesions on the face to detecting air frauds to furthering the study of the human eye.
- New ideas for potential uses include: Detecting poison gas, illuminating targets on a battlefield at night, tracking enemy missiles, helping tunnels.
- Helping make new chemical products from coal, slicing chromosomes within living cells, much like a meat slicer.
- Research and development in the use of telephone conversations literally on the wings of "light," carrying messages to great distances.
- The word laser—pronounced "lay-zer"—is an acronym coming from the first letters of the words: Light Amplification by Stimulated Emission of Radiation.
- In brief, a laser is a device for generating an intense, nondiverging beam of visible or invisible light.
- Laser beams contrast sharply with waves of ordinary light, or with radio waves, which spread out in all directions. Laser beams are made up essentially of only one wavelength, and all the waves are in phase, moving in step and in one direction—like soldiers in a marching column.
- The word laser has the same enormous power.
- Outside a laboratory in Maryland, a few nights each month, scientists of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration are carrying on pioneering experiments aimed at developing a deep space communications system employing lasers.
- They are using laser beams to track several of the Explorer satellites—at ranges up to nearly 1,000 miles. And they say the probing laser beams—made to echo off the satellites—can pinpoint the position of a given spacecraft to within three feet.
- That's 10 times the accuracy achievable with either radar or radio.
- The researchers say an accurate tracking system—employing lasers—is a necessary prelude to any use of such beams for deep space communications, such as from the neighborhood of the planet Mars.
- As regards military use of lasers as a sort of ray gun, Brig. Gen. James A. Finson, commander of the Air Force's office of Aerospace Research and Development, said: "We're looking into it, but at the present time I do not see how we would use the laser as a weapon because of the laser's weapons applications of the laser. That isn't to say there isn't a target for the laser."
- And an Army researcher told a reporter: "With the types of lasers we have today, the only conceivable use as a weapon would be against the eye, and that's not a very desirable target for looking directly at the beam, or very nearly so."
- "However, we are working on more powerful lasers which may have potential as weapons because of their ability to affect other areas of the human body."
- Scientists say the eye is the organ most vulnerable to damage from laser light. This is because the eye—equipped with a lens—can further focus the powerful beam.
- Dr. William T. Ham Jr., of the Medical College of Virginia told newsmen that laser beams, for example, could virtually show a man's eye out at 50 yards if the man looked head on into the beam. Appreciable eye damage could be caused even at more than a mile's range from such a laser light source, he said.
- Scientists of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology are trying to define safe limits of laser radiation exposure for various parts of the body. Some of their findings are dramatic.
- They have found, for example, that laser beams of comparatively low energies, if directed at close range through the exposed scalp of a guinea pig, can actually cause the guinea pig's brain to explode. This results from water in the brain tissue being converted to high pressure steam by the heat from the laser radiation.

Engagement
The engagement of Miss Wendy Susan Leonard of Manchester to Ronald James Cardalio of West Hartford has been announced by her parents, Lt. Col. (Ret.) and Mrs. Fred F. Leonard of 73 Mount Pleasant Rd.

Her fiancé is the son of Mrs. Helen E. Cardalio of West Hartford and Paul R. Cardalio of Newton.

Miss Leonard is a 1964 graduate of Lompe (Calif.) Senior High School. She was a debutant of the 1964 season and was presented at the annual Debutant Ball at the Yantlingery AFB, Calif., Officer's Club. She is employed at Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., Hartford.

Mr. Cardalio is a 1961 graduate of Cornell High School, West Hartford, and a 1963 graduate of University of Hartford. He is employed at Hartford Ward School of Electronics. He is an electronic technician at Paul's Radio and Television, Hartford.

The wedding is planned for June 10.

Birthday Party For Mrs. Nelson
Mrs. Theodore Nelson Sr. of 87D Bissett Field, was feted Sunday at an 80th birthday surprise party. The event was given by her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Nelson Jr. and Miss Lynn Marie Nelson. About 15 relatives and friends attended.

Mrs. Nelson has lived in Manchester more than 50 years. She is a 50-year member of Central Congregational Church. She also has three other grandchildren: Theodore Nelson III of North Aurora, Ill.; Barry W. Nelson at Officer's Candidate School, Ft. Benning, Ga.; and Diane M. Nelson, a college student in Massachusetts.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By DOBIE BELDING

Banana Ripple Cake is a very special dessert for very special occasions. Mrs. James Bjorkland of 8 Hemlock Dr., Vernon, plans to serve it Easter Sunday.

Banana Ripple Cake

- 1 cup chocolate bits
- 1 cup water
- 1 teaspoon baking soda
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 cup butter or margarine
- 1/2 cups sugar
- 2 eggs, separated
- 1 cup mashed bananas
- 1 cup sour cream
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 1/2 cup walnuts, chopped

Melt chocolate bits in water until smooth; set aside to cool.

Beat egg whites in separate bowl until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually add one-half cup sugar to egg whites, and beat until smooth.

Combine bananas, vanilla and sour cream; add to creamed mixture, alternately with dry ingredients. Stir in nuts.

Beat egg whites in separate bowl until they stand in soft peaks. Gradually add one-half cup sugar to egg whites, and beat until stiff and fold into batter.

Grease tube cake pan. Place one-half of batter in pan and drizzle melted chocolate around the top of the batter. Add remaining batter by dropping on top, and just covering, chocolate.

Place in 350-degree oven for 45 minutes. When baked remove from oven, cool and cover with Butter Glaze.

Butter Glaze

Brown two tablespoons butter in a saucepan. Blend in one-cup sifted confectionery sugar, one-half teaspoon vanilla and two to three tablespoons milk. Mix and pour over cooled cake.

A relative of Hartford, Mrs. Bjorkland attended Hartford schools. She has lived in Vernon two years. Her husband, a printer, is production director at Service Press, Inc., Hartford. The couple has two children, 7 and 4, and Jimmy, 3.

Mrs. Bjorkland is a member of Sacred Heart Church, Vernon, and a member of its Lady's Guild. She is also a member of the Junior Century Club of Manchester, and Our Lady of Good Council Mothers Circle of Vernon, plus belonging to a bowling league.

Her hobbies are sewing, reading and bowling.

Board Approves Public School Sex Education

HARTFORD (AP) — Public schools should give teenagers more information about sex and marriage, the State Commission on Youth Services said Wednesday.

Family life education and marriage preparation information should be included in health education, the commission said in a report to Gov. John Dempsey.

Increased teenage pregnancies, marriages and cases of venereal disease were cited in the report.

The commission said sex education is included as part of the curriculum in Hartford's school classes at Clay Hill for pregnant high school girls.

"It should be no surprise," the commission said, "that teachers consider this a little late."

The report stressed the need for adequate training of teachers who teach courses in sex and marriage.

The finest materials and texts available may be rendered worthless when distorted by insensitive or misinformed adults," the report said.

No school education about drugs and liquor is neglected, the commission said, and greater efforts should be made to identify and help emotionally disturbed youth.

Emhart Workers Strike Begins

NEW BRITAIN (AP)—Union workers went on strike today against the Emhart Corp. in a dispute over a new contract.

The union spokesman said picket lines were set up at the plant. The strike started at about midnight as mediators continued a lengthy session at the State Labor Department in Waterbury in an effort to reach an agreement.

The workers are members of the International Association of Machinists — Lodge 1137 which represents some 90 skilled workers.

The old contract expired Feb. 3, and employees had remained on their job on a day-to-day basis since then.

Among the issues were wages and fringe benefits. Current wage scales were not available. At the State Labor Department, mediators will work in session at 7:30 a.m. They started their meeting at 10 a.m. Wednesday.

It was the second major strike in New Britain in a little more than three weeks. Some 4,000 workers at the Fair Bearing Co. have been on strike since Feb. 15 against four Fairbrants in New Britain and one in nearby Newington, also in a contract dispute.

Spring Green Pops Up in Odd Places

NEW YORK (AP) — Spring's green is spreading northward now, and workers weary of winter gas idly from office, lab and factory windows, hatching plans for vacation laws.

The spring frostline — the average date of the last killing frost — is now somewhere along a line from South Carolina to New Mexico, but farther west it passed a month ago from South California.

It is still two weeks to spring by the calendar, but not for dreaming and not for business. The business of spring seems to be the robin north by a wider margin each year as power mower companies, seedmen, fertilizer salesmen and nurserymen compete for a market that now must total $3 billion.

The estimate is a difficult one to arrive at, for the lawn and garden business is one of vague boundaries, and its size depends on whether you include items such as swimming pools and power tools. The $3 billion estimate does not.

The business is still relatively young, made up of a few large seedmen and equipment manufacturers, but interspersed with many thousands of small and sometimes seasonal businesses. It is, however, becoming more sophisticated.

For years it was aimed at helping people with the boring chore of keeping the grass cut. A study at Michigan State University indicates that in a recent year more than 60,000 men mowed their lawns.

Man's desire for perfection is now also a selling tool for the gardening industry. One manufacturer, for instance, reports that its equipment will "Mow it, catch it, aerate it, vacuum it, sweep it and groom it. We also plow, cultivate, spray, tow, throw snow and do 40-odd jobs about the lawn and garden."

This company estimates that 2.75 million Americans will ride power mowers this year, and that the business will continue to grow because:

The minimum lot size justifying purchase of a "ride" has been reduced from an acre to a quarter acre of land, with some retailers insisting that if you lawn require more than an hour of walking behind your mower — you should be riding.

This industrialization of the lawn has, however, threatened to make the yard as hazardous as the kitchen or the bathroom. Soon the number of power mowers in use will reach 18 million. Injuries are rising.

A Senate subcommittee claims that although 60,000 people are badly burned from the minimum lot size justifying purchase of a "ride" has been reduced from an acre to a quarter acre of land, with some retailers insisting that if you lawn require more than an hour of walking behind your mower — you should be riding.

It is ironic that this seems to be the fate of a business that after all, may have its roots somewhere in man's desire for stress, comfort, style, image, competition. Let your neighbor see you astride a four-blade rotary mower putting in 4,000 revolutions a minute.

Dancer in Temple Art Series

Felix Fitch, dancer, choreographer, lecturer and authority on Jewish dance, will appear Sunday at 8:15 p.m. at Temple Beth Shalom. His performance will be the first in a series of three in an "Entertaining Arts Series" sponsored by the adult education committee of the temple. Tickets for the three programs, which will be held on Sunday evenings, are available at the temple or from members of the sponsoring committee.

Future programs in the series will be presented April 9 when Pincus Bernicker of Hartford, stress, comfort, style, image, competition. Let your neighbor see you astride a four-blade rotary mower putting in 4,000 revolutions a minute.

Viet Allies Say, "Me, Too"

SEoul, South Korea (AP) — America's South Korean allies are saying "me, too" in a big way after learning that the United States is selling modern automatic rifles to its troops along the frontier with North Korea.

The Koreans want up-to-date guns for their troops along the frontier with North Korea, as well as those in Vietnam who are still armed with World War II model weapons.

Defense Minister Kim Sung-tod told a news conference he will ask U.S. officials to issue modern automatic weapons to the 40,000 Koreans in Vietnam.

Kim refused to comment on the Singapore weapons deal, but he said it was urgent that the 40,000 Koreans in Vietnam be equipped with modern automatic weapons.

The Singapore weapons deal, which will be held on Sunday evenings, are available at the temple or from members of the sponsoring committee.

Future programs in the series will be presented April 9 when Pincus Bernicker of Hartford, stress, comfort, style, image, competition. Let your neighbor see you astride a four-blade rotary mower putting in 4,000 revolutions a minute.

The minimum lot size justifying purchase of a "ride" has been reduced from an acre to a quarter acre of land, with some retailers insisting that if you lawn require more than an hour of walking behind your mower — you should be riding.

This industrialization of the lawn has, however, threatened to make the yard as hazardous as the kitchen or the bathroom. Soon the number of power mowers in use will reach 18 million. Injuries are rising.

A Senate subcommittee claims that although 60,000 people are badly burned from the minimum lot size justifying purchase of a "ride" has been reduced from an acre to a quarter acre of land, with some retailers insisting that if you lawn require more than an hour of walking behind your mower — you should be riding.

It is ironic that this seems to be the fate of a business that after all, may have its roots somewhere in man's desire for stress, comfort, style, image, competition. Let your neighbor see you astride a four-blade rotary mower putting in 4,000 revolutions a minute.

Man's desire for perfection is now also a selling tool for the gardening industry. One manufacturer, for instance, reports that its equipment will "Mow it, catch it, aerate it, vacuum it, sweep it and groom it. We also plow, cultivate, spray, tow, throw snow and do 40-odd jobs about the lawn and garden."

This company estimates that 2.75 million Americans will ride power mowers this year, and that the business will continue to grow because:

In Murphy Country

For countless readers of the Hartford Courant, Thomas E. Murphy provided some of the best moments of their lives.

No one ever had, for himself, a vacation quite as good as that annual pilgrimage to the shore made by the Courant editorial writer and columnist.

Just as there was no vacation quite like the one spent in the integration with Murphy, so there was no gardening quite as satisfactory as that his readers could share with him, either on his Clatsopbury lot or on his windowledge at the Courant.

There were no feasts anywhere to compare with the culinary delights Murphy served up to his readers from one of his own memories.

There was no limit to the things he expressed for others. Who did not share his finely-honed, beautifully controlled indignation over the cheapness and vulgarities of his time?

Who did not find it a privilege to be with Murphy discovering, as early as he could, that Martin Luther King was the greatest and truest hope for America's future living with itself?

There was fun and frolic for all whenever he superintended his way through the latest moronic Madison Ave. contributions to the hygienic harsh self-analysis of television.

But if Murphy wrote so well "Of Many Things" in the thoughts and feelings of everyone else, it was, of course, because he had an extraordinary genius for processing his own feelings and perceptions into the kind of language which illuminated their kinship with the whole human community.

We don't suppose that of the thousands and thousands of readers who enjoyed being guests in Murphy country, more than a very few ever found energy and means for telling him so. Those who didn't missed one of the greatest of that state's nearest United States Senators. He likewise seems new to the political arena itself.

All these reservations having been stated, we welcome the candidacy. It is valuable because it offers the voters of Harlem something that should be minimal for them — the actual right to a choice if the special election for Powell's seat is held.

What they do with such an opportunity, how they respond to it, is up to the voters of Harlem themselves. But, if they should see it and understand it and decide to use it, the opportunity open to them could become very exciting. It is an opportunity to show that the Harlem electorate is not hopelessly mesmerized by the flamboyance of Powell and that, instead of classifying him as a glory to his constituency, it classifies him as a shame to it.

The chances are that Congressman Powell may, as everyone assumes, prove himself completely invulnerable in Harlem. But often such fanciful invulnerability is in the classification of the emperor's clothes, and depends for life on the guarantee that nobody is ever going to challenge it. It will be worth while Meredith's effort, we think, to try to give the voters of Harlem a chance at a choice.

China Almost Tests A Theory

Since last June, the children of Communist China have been excused from school and set loose to roaming their nation in the capacity of "Red Guards."

Now the schools of Communist China are being reopened, and the millions of young Chinese are being instructed to return and register for the resumption of their scholastic careers.

No nation has ever experienced anything like this nine-month holiday from school as an institution and as a way of life. It is obviously one of the strangest and most fascinating events of our time. And it is going to be particularly interesting to see how it ends—what happens now that the long irresponsible, carefree, wanderlust holiday is over.

We have always had a theory that if the compulsion were removed from education, almost as many people would seek it as are now compelled into it, but that the spirit in which they approached it, being voluntary, would be immeasurably better, which would, in turn, make the whole experience vastly more productive.

There is no true test of such a theory coming up in China, because the children were ordered out of school, and now they will be ordered back into school.

But if one could talk to a few million of them, one might gather some impression of whether they missed school when they were ordered out of it. Whether, during their period of supposed freedom, they had any longings to be back in school, and whether, if they themselves had a completely free and voluntary choice, they would go after an education for themselves, or scorn the opportunity furnished to them.

A true and proper experiment for China to conduct, while it is indulging in such complete manipulation of the lives of its citizens, would have been for it to announce that the schools would now be reopening, for those who wished to attend them. The resulting statistics would have been a valid test of the soundness of our theory that all education ought to be voluntary.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

The hearing the Constitutional Amendments Committee conducted the other day on the proposal for annual sessions of the Connecticut Legislature would not have managed, in less than 20 minutes if it had not been for the fact that the members of the committee had not read the proposal.

There were 13 members of the Committee on one side of the hearing microphone, and 13 people, 11 of them legislators and two of them representatives of the League of Women Voters, on the other side of the microphone. The public side of the hearing was held off to one side of the hearing room, and the hearing would have been over as the end of the hearing had not Senator John Mather Lupton transferred himself from the committee to the public side, and become an appearer before his own committee.

What he had to suggest, if he had not been for the fact that he had not read the proposal, would have been to amend the proposal to require that the Legislature meet more often, consider going to the system he reported as being in operation in the state of Connecticut, and to have the Legislature meet more often, consider going to the system he reported as being in operation in the state of Connecticut, and to have the Legislature meet more often, consider going to the system he reported as being in operation in the state of Connecticut.

Senator Lupton suggested that Connecticut, when it does vote to have its Legislature meet more often, consider going to the system he reported as being in operation in the state of Connecticut, and to have the Legislature meet more often, consider going to the system he reported as being in operation in the state of Connecticut.

A Chance At A Choice

The business of heading James H. Meredith, who has great heading standing in the civil rights struggle of our time, become the republican candidate against Adam Clayton Powell in Harlem is, of course, contrived and artificial.

Meredith is a Negro, but he is also a Democrat. He is a hero to the civil rights movement for his personal heroism in breaking the color barrier at the University of Mississippi in 1962, for the civil rights march he was leading last summer when he was shot, but he seems almost as new to New York as that state's nearest United States Senator. He likewise seems new to the political arena itself.

All these reservations having been stated, we welcome the candidacy. It is valuable because it offers the voters of Harlem something that should be minimal for them — the actual right to a choice if the special election for Powell's seat is held.

What they do with such an opportunity, how they respond to it, is up to the voters of Harlem themselves. The chances are that Congressman Powell may, as everyone assumes, prove himself completely invulnerable in Harlem. But often such fanciful invulnerability is in the classification of the emperor's clothes, and depends for life on the guarantee that nobody is ever going to challenge it. It will be worth while Meredith's effort, we think, to try to give the voters of Harlem a chance at a choice.

Inside Report

CHICAGO—As Illinois Democratic ticket of Adlai Stevenson III for Senate and Sargent Shriver for governor has suddenly become a serious possibility for 1968.

Mayor Richard Daley, the last of the old bosses, says nothing publicly, but to close aides he has speculated on the possibility of this combination of famous names.

What is bringing night-mares to Daley by the prospect, however remote, that Sen. Charles Percy of Illinois might become the Republican presidential nominee next year. With Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, the last of the old bosses, says nothing publicly, but to close aides he has speculated on the possibility of this combination of famous names.

Snowy Roads Tamsky Says School Board, Bring Many TPC Must Work Together Car Crashes

"I'm neither for you nor against you, but I am for a solution to the problems surrounding Lincoln School," Town Planner Joseph Tamsky told 50 parents at a meeting held last night. He would approve the site if there were no other alternative, he said, "but I don't think their vote indicated they would like to see the school board and the TPC work together to reach a solution."

The board's response to the resolution was to reaffirm its position. It rejected the idea of a long-range study on the grounds— "We can't do that until we have a more definite idea of what we want to do," the board said. Tamsky said that the Lincoln District will remain in the audience charged Tamsky and the commission to study the school's expansion and to plan for a multi-level study.

Bolton Variance Request Receives Planners' Tentative Okay

The planning commission last night gave a "tentative preliminary approval" to a variance technically be a subdivision. Hopper said he thought planning would be more properly in the hands of the planning commission, rather than left up to the PBC.

The land is along Bolton Center Rd. above the new Mobil station. The remainder of the land, running along Rt. 6 to the center of the town, is still owned by Green Manor.

The planning commission has no jurisdiction over anything other than subdivision regulations. In this case, Atty. Kelly said he was merely getting the feeling of the commission. If the variance is granted, a subdivision map will be necessary.

The Hemlock St. land was so found to be quite rough, roughly located, and very close to the center of the town. It was considered by him to be even less desirable than Center Springs Park.

Other than the disadvantage of taking park land, a school site would be a "quite severe," he said, probably because of the topography in the area. The school site would be a "quite severe," he said, probably because of the topography in the area.

Suspect Held Without Bond In 'Execution'

ROCKFORD, Ill. (AP) — John W. Williams, Jr., 37, was held without bond in connection with the execution-style slaying of two 14-year-old boys.

Williams, son of a former deputy sheriff, was ordered held by Circuit Court Judge John Ghent, who ruled Wednesday after hearing testimony that the youth located his father had bought him a new gun.

The bodies of Ronald Johnson and his first cousin, Wayne Mullens, both of Rockford, were found a week ago in a park pavilion. They each were shot in the back of the head and the abdomen.

During the preliminary hearing for Williams, state's attorney William R. Nash of Winnebago County indicated that more than one person may be involved in the slaying.

"We can speculate that there were other persons involved, and they may not have realized that the incident would go as far as it did," Nash told Judge Ghent. "Perhaps these people were seated in a car and heard shots."

Williams, who is being held for $25,000, is being held for $25,000. Williams, who is being held for $25,000, is being held for $25,000.

Meredith Gets Little Support

NEW YORK (AP) — It was committee that chose Meredith said privately he was not enthusiastic about the candidate's chances.

Questions also were raised about whether Meredith has enough political sophistication to challenge Powell, who racks up pluralities of 60 to 80 per cent without even campaigning.

Mary Harlem residents have complained they don't understand Meredith, who has described himself as a man with a diverse responsibility.

Certainly the two candidates have opposing personalities. While Powell has fitted about the company of pretty young women, Meredith has urged Negro men to "shape up" as the Republican candidate.

Turcotte Testifies Wife Asked Divorce

which he hadn't seen for four or five years.

"Did you associate those pills with anything?" his counsel questioned.

"The last time she took them was when she was pregnant," Turcotte said.

"Did you think anything about it?" asked Atty. Plepler.

Turcotte replied, "I thought she might be pregnant, but that's all."

He added that he did not ask her about them.

Turcotte testified that after he returned from his vacation about Sept. 7, his wife "broke down and asked for a divorce."

Asked by Atty. Plepler what was his reaction, Turcotte said, "I couldn't believe the words came out of my wife's mouth. It was hard to believe."

Turcotte testified that when he asked his wife why she wanted a divorce, she said she wanted a divorce "and that was it."

The defendant said he talked to her again later about the divorce and his wife told him she didn't love him anymore and that she had fallen in love with Wilfred Chambers.

Asked how he felt about what his wife had told him, Turcotte said softly, "I felt broken-hearted."

Turcotte said he told his wife that he had purchased the house and "see what kind of a person he was."

Mrs. Turcotte brought Chambers to her Coventry home where her husband confronted him, Turcotte said.

He recalled, "I asked him why he was interfering with my marriage and trying to break up my house."

Turcotte told the court that Chambers said: "I want to marry your wife and nobody is going to stop me."

After hearing Chambers' remarks, Turcotte said he told him to "get out of my house and stay away from my wife."

After the talk, Mrs. Turcotte drove Chambers to his Manchester apartment and then returned to Coventry where she and her husband spoke of the incident, Turcotte testified.

"She said, 'I think I'm in love with him, and I told her it couldn't be true and to stay away from him,'" Turcotte said.

He testified that few days later he found wallet-sized pictures of Chambers in his house and was "very disturbed" about them.

The photographs were entered as defense exhibits by Atty. Plepler.

Earlier in his testimony, Turcotte told the court that he joined the Manchester Highway Department in 1955 and a year later became an auxiliary policeman in Manchester.

Turcotte, who testified he married his wife May 18, 1967 after knowing her for about five years, said they were happy then.

The Turcottes had four children.

He testified that he got another job at Sears in Manchester as a mechanic in the automotive section.

Turcotte said that in 1960, his marriage was "going along very well." In 1965, he bought a five-room ranch home in Coventry, he testified.

"How did you feel at that time?" he asked.

"I was very happy," he said.

"We were both very happy and I was accomplishing the dream of getting a house and we both wanted it for our children and me," he said.

Turcotte said that his wife started bowling on Friday nights and eventually went out two or three nights a week.

He testified that at several times he returned home to find the children alone and his wife not at home. She told him that she was visiting friends, he testified.

Turcotte's testimony was interrupted several times by Atty. Plepler.

"A wreck," replied Mrs. Obrenski.

Similar testimony was given by Turcotte's uncle, Paul Turcotte of 24 Goshen Dr., who testified he saw his nephew Sept. 19, 21, and the day of the shooting.

The uncle told the court that each time he saw Turcotte he was upset and nervous and talked about his wife and children.

"At the Manchester police station after the shooting, he appeared 'very sad about all that had taken place' and he rubbed his eyes with his hands," the uncle said.

In reply to a question by Atty. Daly, he replied that he had never known his nephew to have suffered from a mental disease.

David Shagnot of Meriden who worked for the Town Highway Department with Turcotte said he was "happy-go-lucky" until a week before the shooting.

"Something was bothering him. He wasn't himself," Shagnot told the jury of seven women and two men testified.

Shagnot, who testified he bowled with Turcotte on Tuesday nights, said that on the night of Sept. 20 Turcotte left the bowling alley early, saying he didn't feel well and wanted to go home and sleep.

The highway worker said

State's Atty. Edward J. Daly Jr. who contended repeatedly that Turcotte was quoting a third party and therefore violating the hearsay evidence rule.

Atty. Plepler explained to Judge Michael Radin however, that he was asking the testimony not necessarily for its truth but because of the bearing it had on the client's mental condition.

During a 10-minute argument on one of the objections Atty. Plepler exclaimed, "If I can't get in (to evidence) the state of mind we might as well pack up our bags and plead guilty to first degree murder."

The jury was out in the courtroom during the argument.

Several of six defense witnesses who testified yesterday described Turcotte as "upset, very nervous, very tired, drawn out" a week before the slaying.

The answers were prompted by questions from Turcotte's counsel who continued constructing the framework of Turcotte's mental condition in an attempt to show his client was temporarily insane at the time of the alleged murder.

Taking the stand were two witnesses, Turcotte's sister, his uncle, and three acquaintances.

Turcotte's sister, Mrs. Carol Obrenski of 24 Garden Dr., testified that Turcotte lived at her house for three days before the shooting and each time she saw him he appeared very upset and tired.

"Everytime he mentioned something about her (his wife) he cried," she told the court.

Asked by Atty. Plepler if she had ever seen her brother like that before, she replied, "No."

Mrs. Obrenski testified that Turcotte told her he was worried about his children and he told her how much he loved his wife.

A day before the shooting, Turcotte told her he was returning to work for the Town Highway Department. He had been out away for several days earlier testimony revealed.

She testified the next time she saw her brother was at the Manchester Police station after the alleged murder.

"What was his condition then?" asked Atty. Plepler.

"A wreck," replied Mrs. Obrenski.

When he got there, however, Turcotte told him he couldn't go, Howley testified.

Howley explained that Turcotte's wife had decided she wanted to go out so Turcotte said he would have to stay home.

Mrs. Obrenski testified earlier in the three-week old trial that Turcotte went fishing several times in 1966.

Howley told the court he saw Turcotte on the day of the shooting and that he appeared "very nervous and very upset."

The doctor said Turcotte appeared very nervous and he offered him a tranquilizer.

Turcotte refused to take one, however, Dr. Marzialis testified.

The next time the doctor saw Turcotte was at the Manchester Police Station. He testified that Turcotte told him he didn't know the shooter was loaded.

The other physician who testified, Dr. Robert Bowen of High St., Coventry, told the court he treated Turcotte for a back sprain May 10, 1965, and for a respiratory infection Nov. 17, 1965.

Dr. Bowen was not cross-examined by Atty. Daly.

Green Firehouse Now Over Half Complete

The town's new Manchester Green Firehouse is approximately 60 per cent complete and should be ready for occupancy some time in the spring. Standing at Lawton and Spruce Sts., it is being constructed under a $183,781 contract by the H. C. Tourtellotte Co. of Manchester. The facility faces Weaver Rd. and sits on a two-lot parcel of about 75 by 144 feet. The two-story building, attractively constructed of off-white brick, has an area of approximately 10,300 square feet. It has two floors on the left and a full basement. The entire area will be landscaped and walks and curbs will be installed. The new firehouse will replace the Spruce St. Co. 3 firehouse, which will be retained for storage and maintenance purposes. The Manchester Green Firehouse is similar to the McKee St. Firehouse. Plans for both were drawn by local architect Arnold Lawrence. (Herald photo by Pinta).

12th Circuit Court Cases

MANCHESTER SESSION:

Dennis Martin, 37, of 84 Broad St. was given four months on a previously imposed six-month sentence. He had served 60 days of the sentence and the remaining four months was put into effect.

Martin was arrested on Jan. 31 and charged with breaking and entering in the 10th Circuit Court in New London. Martin was given the original sentence of six months, to be suspended after 60 days. Barowski said Martin had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering with criminal intent.

He recommended that the remainder of the sentence be had been drinking at the time of the offense, and didn't know what he was doing. He said the youth turned himself in to the station and John Martin's appearance today resulted from a break at a store in which several Crosmen guns were taken, while awaiting his court appearance. Martin had left home with a saw and returned to the store in the possession of the same. The break from Chicago only yesterday to appear today.

As a result of this break, he said the fact of his surrender and return should be considered in his favor and asked for leniency.

Betty Lou Corsosimo of West Willington was found guilty of speeding, after a court trial, and was fined $50. She had been arrested on Jan. 18 after police said she was clocked driving at 60 miles an hour on S. Main St.

Coach Hugo Castello's NYU fencing teams have won eight Eastern championships and five national titles in the last 20 years.

Thoms Quits Hospital Job

Edward J. Thoms, administrator at Manchester Memorial Hospital, has advised the hospital's board of trustees that due to a long-felt desire to become a consultant on hospital management, he will be unable to continue in his present position after March 9.

Expressing "the regrets of the trustees," Jacob F. Miller, president, recalled the number of improvements which have been taken place at Manchester Memorial Hospital under Thoms' administration since 1956, and the national recognition in health and hospital circles which has resulted from the hospital's pioneering in Progressive Patient Care.

Miller also announced that Edward M. Kenney, for the past two years administrative assistant to Thoms, will become acting administrator effective immediately.

Club Will View Slides of Birds

Percy Fellows of Wetherfield will show slides of birds and speak Monday at 8 p.m. at a meeting of the Manchester Garden Club at Center Congregational Church. His topic is "Nature's Scrapbook."

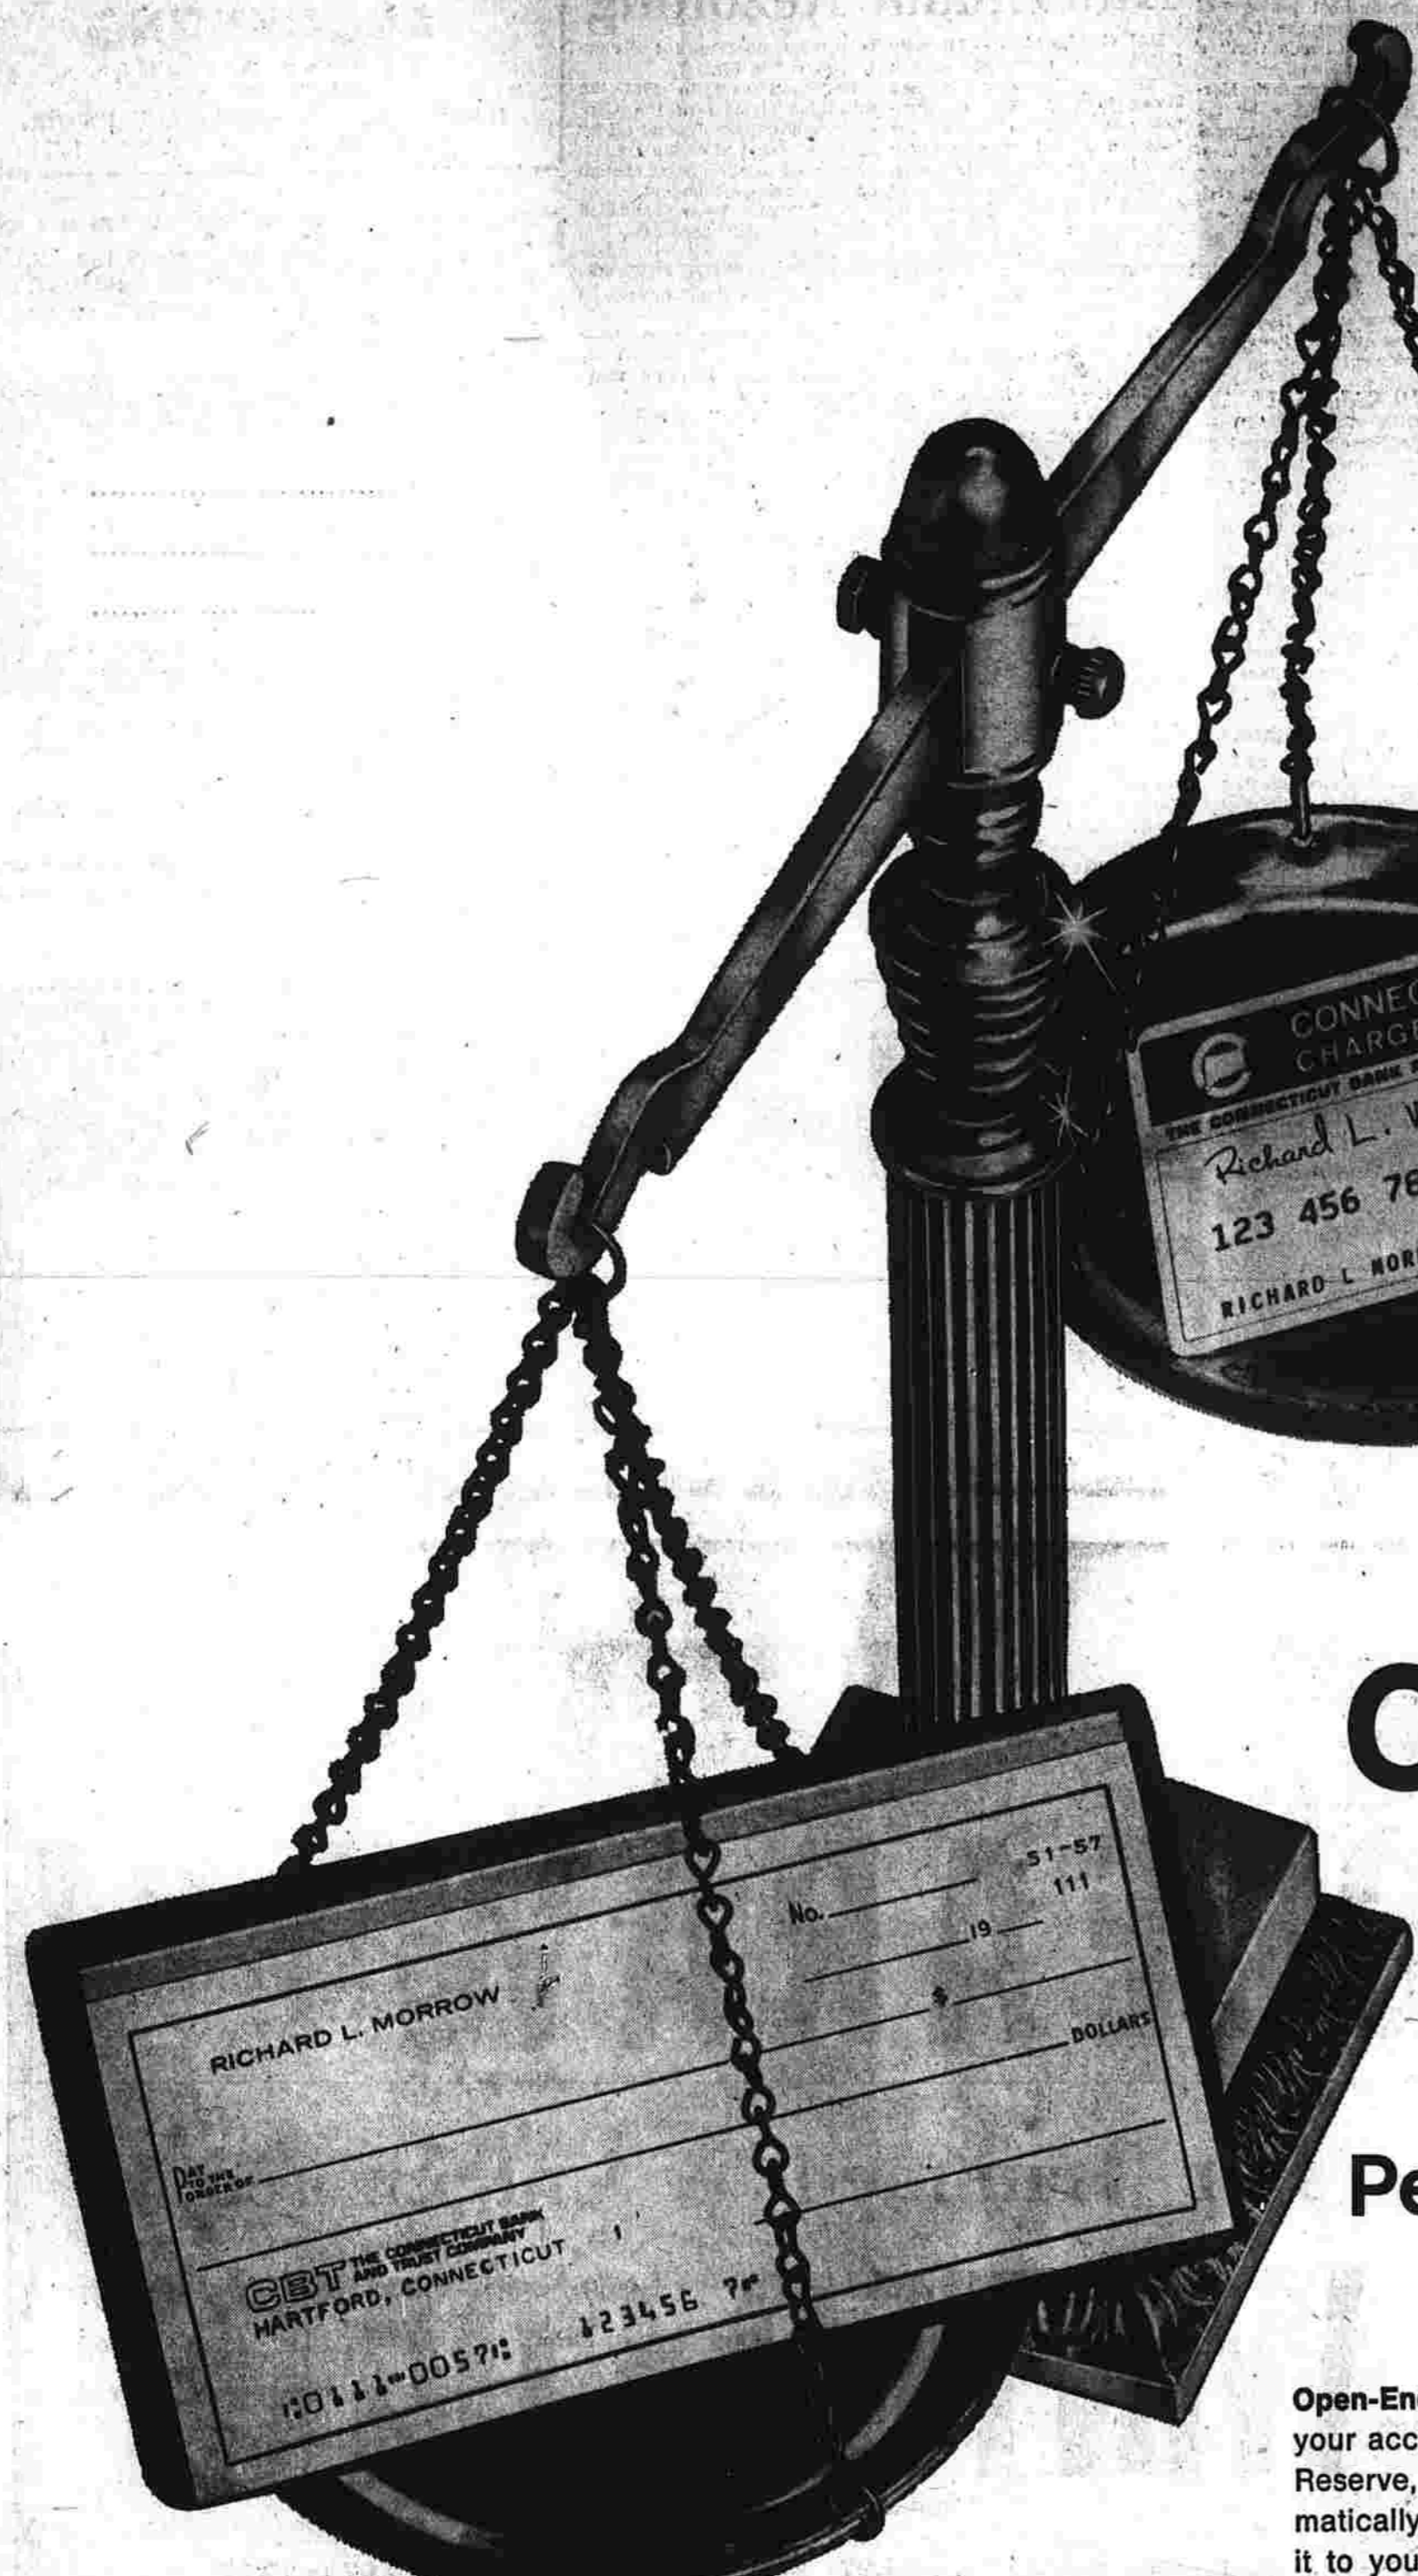

The speaker is a bird lover and naturalist, and a former biology teacher. He is a graduate of Middlebury (Vt.) College, and did graduate work at Cornell, Harvard and the University of Connecticut. His work in photographing birds has taken him throughout the United States and Canada.

Mrs. Frank A. Bickmore is chairman of the meeting. Mrs. William W. Bells and Mrs. Roger J. Brown are hostesses.

Four Gunmen Get $100,000 In Montreal

employers and collected the payroll. No one was injured. Some witnesses said a black car sped into a road leading to a bridge linking Montreal and the island site of the Montreal world's fair.

Police set up roadblocks on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River, which are joined by the Champlain Bridge.

The robbers were believed by police to have either switched cars and remained in Montreal or escaped to the south shore before the roadblocks were set.

The holdup was the third in two weeks in which the Brink's Express Co. was involved.

Three hooded bandits took a $121,000 payroll from the Smith Transport Co. offices in suburban Dorval after disarming two Brink's employees Feb. 23. Two days later, three armed men escaped with $250,000 after hijacking a Brink's truck.

Powell Case May Produce Congressional Moral Code

tional problems, maybe continued with personal pleasure. Why doesn't Congress set up a strict ethical standard? The reasons, minor and major, are manifold. But a key on the island site of the Montreal world's fair.

Some members, reportedly including House Democratic leaders, favor assigning the task to the watchdog panel set up by the administration committee. Others advocate establishing a separate, select committee on standards and conduct.

And Wednesday, Rep. Richard and Bolling of Missouri, a rules committee member and part of the Democratic leadership, came up with a proposed compromise that would have substantial backing.

Bolling would give the administration committee a new name—Committee on Professional Standards and House Administration—to broaden its jurisdiction and give it 90 days to come up with a proposed set of rules on behavior and recommendations for enforcement.

Sitting Limited

Sorry, mothers, but the Junior Country Club will not be able to babysit your infants during next week's pre-school vision screening program after all.

Due to a misunderstanding, The Herald stated in an article about the program yesterday that club members would provide sitters for the public.

The service can be provided only for children of volunteers working at the various testing centers. More than 70 Junior Country members and volunteer registered nurses have agreed to staff the program.

Workers' youngsters may be left at Emanuel Lutheran Church (children may bring snacks) daily, Monday through Friday, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

There will be facilities set up at the testing centers for infants while pre-schoolers are being tested.

Vernon Town's Grand List Marks Steady Rise in Dwellings

Private homes and the children in them continue to dominate the town's Grand List. The rate of growth has been about 6.75 per cent in 1962, 8 per cent in 1963, 8.5 per cent in 1964, 8.5 per cent in 1965, 8 per cent in 1966 and now 7.6 per cent to the present Grand List.

The total growth since 1961 has been roughly 45 per cent with a net increase in the grand list of $24,536,560.

But the value of businesses and industry in Vernon was set at only $14,170,080 or about 15 per cent of the total.

The most significant figures in this year's Grand List, according to several business leaders in Vernon, is the value of house and building lots set at $11,303,490. The potential value to the town of the business and industry that could settle on that land has interested Vernon planners greatly.

The growth of Vernon's school system has equalled the rise in value of dwellings. Each year about 500 more children are in Vernon's classrooms than the year before, according to Dr. Raymond E. Ramsdell, superintendent of schools.

The rate of rise in value of the Grand List has been about 7.2 per cent each year since 1961 and most of the increase has been in homes and apartments.

This rise has been gaining momentum in recent years according to figures from Bernard A. Joy, town tax assessor. Starting in 1961 with a Grand List for all three gov-

Is Wilson Losing Grip? Political Minds Wonder

LONDON (AP)—Is Prime Minister Harold Wilson, the Times later commented, "master politician" losing his grip? Or has he made a calculated move to force the Labor party's rebellious left wing into the limbo?

Political quarters are asking these questions in advance of the crucial testing of the Labor government's popularity in special elections Thursday in three widely separated districts.

The polling in Glasgow, South Wales and the industrial English Midlands will all partly determine the fate of the government's growing sensitivity to the party's right wing and center. The others were left-wingers. Some wondered if they have nowhere to go if excluded by the Laborites and that of Wilson's party in Parliament he can get along very well with following the apparent unprejudiced tongue-lashing the prime minister gave his followers last Thursday.

This came after 88 Laborite regulations, by obtaining the support of the British defense policy in a critical vote Tuesday night. The government's theoretical major-ity of 85 votes in the House of Commons fell to 39 amid jargon last about of "resign, resign" from opposition Conservatives and Liberals.

What stung most in Wilson's Urals Thursday to a party caucus was his likening the abolition of the atomic bomb to "dog metaphors are usually a

Coventry Charter Work Continues, Vote Expected in October

The work of the new charter commission is now well under way, and the townpeople should be able to vote on their election at the regular town meeting in October. The commission hopes to submit the charter to the board of selectmen by June 15.

The commission is meeting every Wednesday night and is currently having a speaker come in each week to speak on town government in general and problems specific to Coventry.

Chairman Harold Crane has also requested representatives from all boards and organizations in town to form an advisory committee. The committee will meet jointly with the commission and separately as well.

The advisory committee will study an area of government. They will then report back to the commission with their recommendations. In this way a large group of people can be actively involved in the drawing up of a town charter, which is the first step toward home rule in the town.

First Charter Used
The commission is using the first charter, drafted in referendum two years ago, as a model. The charter was retained the selectmen form of government in the town, but

Diplomacy Grows

WASHINGTON—In 1924 the State Department employed 633 professional diplomats in the Foreign Service. Now there are 8,500 assisted by 28,000 other employees.

Allen said that the town meeting, which is an integral part of the current government, is unnecessary except to pass on the annual budget. It was pointed out that a well-attended town meeting has barely 10 per cent of the registered voters in attendance.

All charter commission meetings are open to the public and citizens are urged to attend and contribute suggestions. The meetings are held every Wednesday night from 7:30 to 9:30 in the board room of the town hall.
