Visiting Thai Official Says His Nation Hates Reds

"The people of Thailand hate communists and are cooperating fully to destroy worldwide communism, and not merely the threat at its borders," says Thai official Virathum Palavassadi Chodok.

Virathum Palavassadi Chodok

Chodok, chief of the Division of Inspection and Reports in the Ministry of the Interior in Thailand, arrived in Manchester from Storms Monday to spend the next four weeks as an intern, learning basic governmental functions.

He has already spent five months in various parts of the country under various sponsorships. In Connecticut, he is being sponsored by the University of Connecticut Institute of Public Service. While in Manchester, he will receive on-the-job training with various departments.

Chodok, in discussing the threat of world-wide communism, said that his country recognized the possibility of the threat crossing the border from Laos. The danger has lessened, he said, but the threat may arise at some future date.

Washington Sends Second Protest Note

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Soviet warship ran into the U.S. Navy destroyer Walker Thursday in the second confrontation in two days of American and Soviet ships on the high seas, the Pentagon reported.

The incident occurred at 1:33 a.m., EDT, in the Sea of Japan when an unidentified Soviet destroyer "turned into and toward" the Walker despite its second confrontation in two days of American and Soviet ships on the high seas, the Pentagon reported.

The Walker was scraped by another Soviet destroyer Wednesday in an incident that drew an official U.S. protest to Moscow, officials in Washington. A second protest was made after today's incident.

The collision Wednesday occurred as the Soviet destroyer Besednyy tried to overtake and pass the USS Walker. Under international rules of the road one vessel approaching another from the rear is responsible for avoiding a collision.

The Walker, along with two other destroyers and the aircraft carrier Hornet, have been undergoing anti-submarine warfare training maneuvers in the Sea of Japan.

There had been some speculation the Soviet ships were harassing the American task group for being too near Russia's maritime base at Vladivostok, but Pentagon information tends to refute this.

The incident Wednesday occurred about 275 miles due east of Vladivostok. Today's encounter occurred 210 miles southeast of Vladivostok.

At first the Soviet destroyer described today's incident as a "brushing together" of the two ships, but later amended its statement to say flatly that the Walker and the Soviet destroyer collided.

The Pentagon said no Americans were hurt but did not include the possibility that Soviet crewmen may have been injured. A spokesman said merely that there was no knowledge of any Russian casualties.

Damage to the ships was described as light.

Rocks, Boutles Turn Back Police

Strolling Negro students seized control of the Jackson State College campus area today, driving police back with a barrage of rocks and bottles before burning barricades and looting at least one store.

An estimated 1,500 students swarmed through the business area surrounding the state's largest Negro college, throwing up a barrage along Lynch Street, a main business artery cutting through the campus.

Police sealed off a 15-20-block area during the all-night melee and rioters retaliated by burning the barricades and firing shots into the air.

One unidentified student was reported injured, hit on the head by a bottle thrown from a dormitory window.

Vietnam Casualties Sharply Increased

SALGON (AP)—U.S. military reported wounded last week and 15 were missing or captured, the U.S. Command enemy dead last week.

The rise in casualties resulted from heavy battles in the north-central provinces, where U.S. Marines have been fighting off repeated Communist attacks launched and supplied from nearby bases in the jungle and in North Vietnam.

While B-52 bombers continued to pound enemy bases in the northwest corner of South Vietnam, the Marine battalions shifted 100 miles southwest Wednesday. In an eight-hour battle 25 miles southwest of the big U.S. base at Da Nang, the Marines reported killing 147 North Vietnamese regulars.

Marine casualties were 10 dead and 72 wounded.

A total of 1,748 Americans

The U.S. Command said about 376 men of the 3rd Marine Regiment.

Kidnaped Girl Recovered by Toronto Police

TORONTO (AP)—One of the most intensive kidnap hunts in Toronto history ended dramatically in front of the Hospital for Sick Children today when police recovered 6-year-old Mary Farncomb and arrested a man.

Mary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald C. Farncomb, disappeared with a man who led her along Duplex Avenue early today.

The parents received a call from $10,000 ransom shortly after the disappearance touched off frenzied police activity.

Chief James Mackey left a small band of the Police Commission meeting to take personal charge of the search.

Bulletin

ARMED GUNNER FOUND WARWICK, R.I. (AP)—Police in Warwick have uncovered what they believe to be a small hoard of the Minuteman Society, a militant anti-Communist organization. A small arsenal of weapons, including a semi-automatic rifle, has been seized by police during the past two days at and near the home of Howard J. McNeil, 28, of the town of Warwick. Minuteman members and portions of the uniform were found in the McNeil home. A construction worker helped police capture the man.

Piecemeal Airfield Bombing Worries U.S. Strategists

MANCHESTER (AP) — The piecemeal bombing of airfields in North Vietnam is causing a good bit of anguish among U.S. Air Force strategists in Vietnam.

The stated purpose of the raids is to destroy the Red jets on the ground.

But critics of the piecemeal approach, which is being used by the North Vietnamese, say it gives the North Vietnamese air force the opportunity to escape to other airfields or to Red China.

They had evidently been prepared for such raids for some time. However, there are reports that they have started to take sanctuary at bases in Red China.

In subsequent raids on the Ho Chi Minh air bases the U.S. forces have enough planes in Vietnam to hit the MIGs with one killing blow, probably be even harder to find.

Most people would agree in the future.

Just bombing the fields does not put the North Vietnamese air force out of action. The North Vietnamese use precisely a military situation.

"It's not exactly the way I would run an air force," he said.

Divinity School Faculty Rejects Draft Privileges

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Ministerial students should be subject to the draft and "face the same moral choice of participation or non-participation that all other men in their age groups face," the faculty of the Yale Divinity School has urged.

The dean of the divinity school, the Rev. Robert C. Johnson, said Wednesday that the school's entire faculty of 47 had voted for the resolution.

"Ministerial students who conscientiously object to war have the legal alternative to register as conscientious objectors," the resolution said.

According to the Rev. Johnson, the school is the first theological school in the country to publicly issue such a statement.

The school has 313 students.

Accidental Shooting — Two U.S. soldiers shot and killed a South Korean member of their patrol along the demilitarized zone Wednesday, military officials said.

A U.S. spokesman said the South Korean, Pfc. Chung Ik-soon, was assigned to the U.S. 2nd Infantry Division guarding the western sector of the zone north of Seoul.

Chung apparently got out of position and moved ahead of the patrol, the spokesman said.

Movement Subdued — SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP)—President Joaquin Balaguer says a subversive movement outside Santo Domingo has been crushed and the police have halted hundreds of motorists for questioning in efforts to halt nightly terrorist bombings in the capital.

Balaguer told a news conference Wednesday one person was killed and two arrested when government forces crushed a subversive movement in Nagua, about 60 miles north of Santo Domingo. He did not identify the group.

Bombs have been exploding in Santo Domingo since last Thursday, and police expressed belief they were thrown by persons in day and thousands of persons were leaving the state.

The state government added

10,400 square miles to its designating defensive measures." Balaguer said.

His measures state's 52.6 million people. The famine areas cover 28,800 square miles.

The government says agricultural yields in these areas have dropped 25 per cent in the last two years. Thousands of persons have been living up daily out-of-door relief agencies.

Starvation Deaths — CALCUTTA, India (AP)—More starvation deaths were reported in the drought-stricken Bihar State of eastern India today, police expressed belief they were thrown by persons in day and thousands of persons were leaving the state.

The state government added

took over Premier Ngi Tshen's post Wednesday and named a 24-man Cabinet including three members of the once rebellious Kurdish tribe, Baghrad Radio announced.

Arif pledged to speed reconstruction of northern Iraq where the Kurds, rebelling for self-rule, fought the Iraqi army for five years until a truce last summer.

One of four vice premiers named to the Cabinet was Foad Arif, a Kurdish retired major general who is not related to the president.

Boy, 6 Weeks, Survives Major Heart Operations

NEW YORK (AP)—Erik Agostini is only six weeks old but he already has undergone two major operations in which parts of his heart were rearranged to correct congenital defects. Today he is well enough to go home.

"We thought the worst," said Benjamin Agostini, the boy's father, "recalling the time when doctors informed him and his wife that the boy required surgery."

Erik had seemed normal when he was born March 31 but after a few days his breathing became labored, his skin turned blue, and his heart was pumping too rapidly.

"At first they thought it was a little heart murmur," said Agostini, "then it seemed to be pneumonia."

After a week the physicians began to suspect a congenital heart condition and Dr. Joshua Lynfield, a specialist in cardiology and pediatrics was called in.

"The baby was in heart failure when I first saw him," said Lynfield, assistant clinical professor of pediatrics at the New York University Medical Center.

On first examination it realized that the most probable cause was a transposition of the great vessels leading from the heart and that the baby would probably die unless surgery was performed soon.

The next day the baby was transferred from Beth Israel hospital where he was born to a special intensive care unit at University Hospital.

Exhaustive tests there showed that the pulmonary artery and the aorta—the great vessels—were transposed and that a prenatal connection between them had failed to close. The aorta also was partially obstructed.

As a result more than five times as much blood was being pumped into the lungs as there should have been.

Erik was two weeks old when a team of physicians, nurses and technicians led by Dr. Frank Cole Spencer, professor and chairman of the department of surgery at the center, operated to reduce the flow of blood to the lungs.

Three days later they opened the right side of the baby's chest for a second operation. It full money back. No questions compensated for the transportation of the aorta and pulmonary artery.

Columbia Home Occupation Rulings Changed by Zoning Panel

The zoning and planning commission Tuesday night amended regulations to allow home occupations and self-employment in town regulations.

The decision was not unanimous, the lone dissenter being secretary, Edward Carlson.

Robert Laramy and Ted Jackowski will obtain further information for the board concerning a road in the area of plain against a neighbor.

It means there is no truly residential area, should a householder wish to move into it.

An reported earlier, the difficulty in policing these home occupations so that everyone involved is satisfied.

Although the vote was four to one, some members of the board were somewhat dubious of the year Tuesday night.

Other officers are Charles Bailey, vice president; Walter S. Chodoff, treasurer; and the lone female, Mrs. Russell Jastiga, in secretary.

Mrs. Emil Matek, long-time membership chairman, was presented with a pin for 12 years of service. There are more than 300 members in this year's PTA.

Mrs. Bloty's room was the attendance:

The commission may grant a special permit upon application for the temporary use of the premises in a residential area by a self-employed person, subject to the following conditions and restrictions:

(1) The person self-employed shall be residing on the premises; (2) the use is clearly secondary to the use of the dwelling for dwelling purposes; (3) the use does not create any objectionable noise, odor, vibrations or unsightly conditions noticeable to the premises; (4) the use does not create a health or safety hazard; (5) the use is carried on entirely within the building; (6) the use does not change the residential character of the dwelling in any visible manner; (7) there is no display or advertising except for a nameplate of not more than two feet square; (8) adequate street parking is provided, which is screened.

"Any special permit granted by the commission under the provisions of this section shall not be construed as permitting by right the conduct or establishment of a permanent residential use of the subject premises."

Junkyard Violations

The board also heard Prescott Hodges, agent for the zoning commission, report on violations in town regarding junkyards.

Hodges said he has issued notices to those involved and has had only a few comply.

The board voted that those in violation would be given 60 days to clean up these areas and after that time would be prosecuted by law.

The state motor vehicle law says a junkyard is any place where two or more unregistered vehicles are stored without certificate of approval.

According to town regulations, it is also a place where waste or discarded materials are kept for any length of time.

The board tabled the application from Clarence Jeffries to establish a new entry road on the north side of Old Villamont Rd. until Jeffries submits a map of surveyed area.

U.S. Charges Harassment After New Sea Incident

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States has charged harassment by a Soviet ship which collided with an American destroyer—latest in a series of U.S.-Soviet sea incidents including one unexplained until after Wednesday's collision.

U. S. officials said they would await details before trying to assess the significance of the Wednesday collision in the Sea of Japan. A Pentagon spokesman labeled it an accident, but the State Department said the Soviets were repeatedly warned about coming too close to a group of American ships.

The Pentagon said the Soviet destroyer harassed U. S. Navy ships in the area for 90 minutes before the collision.

The Walker and two other destroyers, the Davidson and the Taylor, along with the carrier USS Enterprise, were in training maneuvers as an anti-submarine task group in international waters off the northern tip of the Japanese island of Hokkaido, the Pentagon said.

The Soviet ship ignored several warnings against coming too close to the American ships, the Defense Department said.

It added that the Beselendy, a 620-foot destroyer, apparently wanted to observe the training. The Defense Department said the Soviets made several close approaches, including two within 50 feet.

John M. Luddy, assistant secretary of state for European affairs, called in the ranking Soviet diplomat in Washington, Yuri N. Tichonovskoy, to deliver the U. S. protest. A written protest may be submitted later, officials said.

The USS Banner, a small, unarmed vessel engaged in technical research, and the Soviet vessel Anemometer, "dated nearly a year ago, also in the

Hoffa Jailed, Retrial Denied

LEWISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Teamsters Union President James R. Hoffa was back in Lewisburg Federal Penitentiary today after a judge denied his fourth appeal for a new trial on a jury tampering charge.

U.S. District Judge Frank W. Wilson denied in Chattanooga, Tenn., Wednesday the appeal which had been based on an allegation by Hoffa and three co-defendants that the federal government used electronic eavesdropping and wiretapping during his trials at Chattanooga in 1964.

Hoffa, who had been taken to Chattanooga for the hearing was already on his way back to Lewisburg when Wilson issued the denial on the grounds that Hoffa's attorneys had failed to present any evidence at the trial.

Hoffa began serving days to clean up these areas and after that time would be prosecuted by law.

The state motor vehicle law says a junkyard is any place where two or more unregistered vehicles are stored without certificate of approval.

might be making themselves into. When they let themselves take the turn toward violence, they were not resting former Governor Wallace, but yielding to him.

Perhaps the most fundamental thing to be recognized about any of the preachers of hate of our time is that the hatred they can succeed in inspiring for themselves is not much less valuable for their own long-term purposes, than hatred they can stir against the enemies and targets they themselves recommend. If they can increase the total amount of hatred and prejudice in the world, no matter which way it happens to be aimed, they are succeeding in bringing about the condition of human affairs which is their own general objective. If they can raise the hate level generally, they may be winning, even when they seem to be losing.

When such a character as former Governor Wallace goes up to Dartmouth, he goes, routinely, to address and comfort such neophyte soul mates as he may have in the younger generation. His dream of a special success for such a journey would be to have his carred for television if possible.

Bad News For Olympians
 Along with its refreshing ideas about politics—it may be better to have all Greece function as one town meeting rather than try to have it elect itself a Parliament—it is going to be more efficient in the coming government.

This present application, being made by a Labor government, and being backed by both parties, contrasts with that made in 1961 by a Conservative government, over the opposition of the Labor party.

Now, as in 1961, the European six, France, West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, may not agree to let Britain come in. But chances are better, because Britain itself is now more united on the issue, and is not insisting on special conditions.

The proposed stands, then, as one of the many bitter-sweet, progressive yet retrogressive, visionary but still obtained, attempts of people and nations in this striking world to organize themselves sensibly.

This project is in the field of economic organization. And the existence of the Common Market among these six nations of the European mainland, and the new almost united willingness of Britain to enter that arrangement as an equal with nations Britain once used to consider rivals or try to manipulate, one supposes, as something of a new high in progress toward international cooperation.

But then one notices how far it falls short of the international cooperation and how rigid the new walls erected around this new area of cooperation are likely to become, and one wonders whether such a proposed advance is not as much of a freeze against progress as a step in the direction of progress.

The European Common Market will, with Britain to complete a grand total of seven of the nations of Europe. What of the rest? The same Britain which is now fairly united about going into this Common Market, is probably equally horrified at the possibility that the Common Market should be broadened into an Atlantic community arrangement, the United States would be too much the first and greatest and richest among the "equals."

The city, is that, in the economic fields as is also true in the fields of law and politics and peace and food and health, the poor need to be helped and itself ways of functioning as one world, and doesn't have time to try to limit regional experiments in unity which are themselves primarily self organized for the continuation of special sanctuary for themselves and advantaged competition with others.

When each new unity also constitutes itself another new division, the ultimate hope is, we suppose, that eventually the number of competitive regional entities will keep dwindling down until we are, in the end, left with the supposedly desirable objective—in this instance one big free trade world. But the hope is hard to maintain, in face of so much evidence that the size of the world is shrinking and its needs are mounting at paces far more swift than the creep from a six nation Common Market to one which may some day include a seventh.

He Likes To Be Rocked
 We don't imagine anyone on the American scene today is more anxiously engaged in spreading un-American poison than former Governor George Wallace of Alabama. And we can understand the frustration which may come over some of our young intellectuals as they come up against the unpleasant fact that the Wallace technique is bland and smooth and very highly skilled in the fine art of meaningful doubletalk, so that it is easier to hate him than it is to answer him in words and logic.

But when such young intellectuals, in their frustration, engage to vent their anger on the person of the individual who threatens to outwit them on the platform, they run the risk of handing him triumph and distinction greater than any he can win for himself with his suave platform doubletalk. The students who rocked Wallace's car for ten minutes up at Dartmouth, the other night were building him up, not tearing him down. And they were in danger, of course, of making him, in spite of all he is, some kind of hero.

But the greatest danger those young students ran was that, of what they

BONN—Conceived last November out of desperation and amid general skepticism, the "Grand Coalition" government is proving an inspired political contrivance peculiarly suitable to the needs of Germany.

A coalition composed of the two major parties, the Christian Democrats and the Social Democrats, may not be parliamentary democracy in Anglo-Saxon terms. But it has been superb medicine in settling the shaky nerves of a country undergoing its first post-war recession and encountering a new political phase in Europe.

Thus, there is no longer any concern that the Grand Coalition might not survive until the federal elections in the fall of 1969. Rather, some members of both parties admit they would not be too unhappy if neither party gets an absolute majority in the Bundestag (federal parliament) in 1969 and the Grand Coalition continues.

That certainly is the view of the consensus-loving German people, who had been delighted by unalloyed party warfare in Bonn and now are delighted with harmony along the Rhine.

"Even in politics," a Christian Democratic Bundestag member observed to us somewhat acidly, "we Germans love order above all."

But catering to Germanic psychological yearnings for consensus is the least accomplishment by the black-and-red coalition with the Social Democrats as their partners and the opposition limited to the splinter Free Democratic Party, the Christian Democrats are able to do things they never dared before.

For instance, plans have been announced to crack down on agricultural subsidies and flagrant overproduction of coal, moving against two pressure groups coiled during two decades of Christian Democratic rule.

Similarly, Kurt Schiller, the Social Democratic Minister of Economics and a professional Keynesian economist, has dumped the old Christian Democratic reliance on laissez-faire capitalism that would have been sure to deepen the recession. A projected federal budget deficit of 8 billion marks ($2 billion) is not very daring considering current economic conditions here, but it's more than the Christian Democrats alone would have dared.

The greatest impact of the Social Democrats in the government has been in foreign policy, where the Christian Democrats have been emancipated from the cast-iron jacket built during Konrad Adenauer's 18 years as Chancellor. There remain, to be sure, vestiges of Adenauerism: Opposition to any U.S. troop reduction in Europe and attacks on the nuclear non-proliferation treaty. But what has changed is more dramatic than what remains.

Social Democratic leader Willy Brandt, Foreign Minister and Vice Chancellor, has tossed out the old doctrine that East-West detente can result only from German reunification. Rather, the coalition government sees unification as possible only after detente, which tentatively postpones unification into the dim future.

That means Bonn actively courts not only Eastern European states but also seeks contacts, so far rebuffed, with Communist East Germany. The remarkable feat of the coalition is that over the right wing of the Christian Democratic Party acquiesces in these policy shifts.

Ironically, even though the Social Democrats have lent most of the creativity to the new

By A.H.O.
 On the Legislative Day of Tuesday, May 2, in the House of Representatives, there occurred an unheralded and unexpected incident, indeed, by those legislators and observers who happened to be at through the particular incident, what might be termed an historic double.

Perhaps it was only a passing incident, a temporary fancy, perhaps, indeed, something of a good natured accident. Perhaps it will never happen again. But, for that brief, fleeting moment, two phases of the past were treated as if they had all the majesty and privilege and power of ancient times.

One part of what happened was that, for the first time in amendment to a Republican bill by the House.

Up to that moment, the Democratic side of the 1967 House had made a habit and a pattern of sitting like the grumpy steamer it is, ready to fatten out on oblivion any upstart Republican move regarding the control of the purse.

Now, suddenly, after House Bill 2370 had been given its routine report by the Democratic side of the committee, a Republican legislator offered an amendment, and behold, the full House adopted the amendment by a non-controversial vote of 103-90.

This was a new high point of recognition for the 60 valiant and emboldened Republicans who comprise the hopeless minority of the 1967 House.

The unprecedented point number one about the vote on the amendment to House Bill 2370 was that this was a vote which extended recognition, courtesy and respect to a minority more conspicuously a minority than the Republicans.

This was a measure which concerned farmers. It was, in fact, titled "An Act Concerning the Testing of Bovine Animals."

There are even fewer farmers, and fewer legislators, than Republicans. In fact, the official registry shows only four and a half farmers in the whole state of 213 combined membership of House and Senate. We got the list by counting Rep. Ben Barringer of New Milford who lists himself as lawyer and farmer. Perhaps we should advance the count to five by adding in that of Rep. John Rand of Salisbury, even though he lists himself as a lawyer only. It was Rand, in any case, who presented the "Bovine Testing" amendment to H.B. 2370, and thus stood in the very thick of the historic moment.

It was followed by a completely arranged beforehand, in a process in which the representatives of the state department were not consulted. The Rev. James A. Birdall, vicar of the church, will speak "MEXI: Mutual Responsibility and Inter-Dependence in the Body of Christ."

"Blessed Yod taught: Let the possessions of your fellowman be as dear to you as your own." (Mishnah, Ethics of the Fathers, 2:17).

This is an extension of the golden rule of Leviticus: "Love your neighbor as thyself," which applies to our neighbor's person. The above rabbinic dictum applies to his property which we must treat with the same respect and consideration that we treat ours.

Tart-Watching Too Tiresome, Strike Begins

SMETHWICK, England (AP) — Supplies of pies in shops throughout the English Midlands were threatened today because Susan Phillips is tired of watching the tart go by.

More than 700 workers went on strike in sympathy with Susan and stopped production at one of Britain's biggest bakeries.

For three years Mrs. Phillips has kept an eye on 90,000 jars that start an hour moving along a conveyor belt. Her job was to spot sub-standard tarts before they reached the ovens.

After three years of constant tart-watching, Mrs. Phillips complained of headaches and asked for a transfer to another department. The management refused. Thus the strike.

"These tarts come at me on 120 trays a minute," said Mrs. Phillips, 46. "The strain on my eyes is terrible."

The manager of Scarborough Kemp Bakery, which turns out 1.5 million cakes, tarts and confectionery a day, refused to negotiate until the strikers return to work.

O'Connor Heads Speakers' Club

Michael O'Connor of 47 Silverwood Dr. was elected president Monday night at a meeting of the Manchester Toastmasters at Miller's Restaurant.

Other officers elected are Michael Clementino and Eugene Monney, vice president; Carl Roebuck, secretary; Leon Bloom, treasurer; Robert Boyd, sergeant-at-arms.

Raymond McConnell of 371 E. Oak St. was judged the best speaker at the evening. His topic was "Discipline."

Michael O'Connor was the best evaluator. Anthony J. DiPietro and McConnell tied for the table topics award.

Officers will be installed at the next meeting of the Toastmasters, Monday, May 22, at Miller's Restaurant. The event is open to the public.

Legislative Roundup

Pay Raise Proposal Is OK'd Then KO'd

HARTFORD (AP)—In a quick turnabout reportedly directed by legislative leaders, the House Rules Committee decided late Wednesday to kill a legislative pay raise bill that had approved earlier in the day.

The proposal, which would raise salaries from the present $3,200 to $7,000 a year, had apparently caught legislative leaders in both parties by complete surprise.

The bill would increase legislators' expenses from the present $700 to $1,500.

The full Rules Committee, including House and Senate members, was hastily called into executive session just before noon.

Reports from the closed-door meeting indicated that the joint committee had approved the bill.

Apparently at the urging of the leaders the committee met once again in executive session at 4:20 p.m. and officially killed the measure.

Clean Air Force

HARTFORD (AP)—The legislature's Public Health Committee has acted favorably on a bill that would establish a 60-member Clean Air Task Force to develop proposals to combat air pollution.

The bill that was approved Wednesday also sets up an interim seven-member committee to serve for two years. It would work with the state health commissioner on the problem.

By setting up the commission, the state becomes eligible for $100,000 in federal funds for preliminary studies on air pollution. The task force would report to the 1969 session of the legislature.

College Board Hit

HARTFORD (AP)—A group of faculty members from Central Connecticut State College

LOTTERY BILL ACTION

HARTFORD (AP)—A bill calling for a referendum on whether Connecticut should have a state lottery has been postponed out of the General Law Committee and will soon be voted on in the House.

The position was signed by State Rep. John A. Mitchell, D-Torington, postponed his bill out of the committee Wednesday. It would put the issue before the voters in the November 1968 general election.

In the last session, a similar measure was postponed out of committee, passed by the House by one vote, amended, then defeated by one vote.

The position was signed by 9 members of the House, well over the majority.

Area Weather

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau says that skies will be sunny early this morning but cloudiness will move in this afternoon. Temperatures will remain cool with highest readings in the upper 20's.

A low pressure system is moving through the southern New England this evening and continues most of the night. A few thunderstorms will cause the rain to become heavier at times. Temperatures throughout the night will remain in the 40's.

The rain will end early Friday morning, but skies will continue to be cloudy throughout the day. A few showers may linger during the daytime but the main part of the rain will be over.

An area of high pressure is following the storm so that skies will be clearing late Friday afternoon.

TRUTH BILL APPROVED

HARTFORD (AP)—The truth in lending bill has been given a favorable nod by the legislature's Judiciary Committee.

The bill, as approved Wednesday, would force full disclosure of finance charges made in connection with installment purchasing and other types of borrowing.

MORE BOARD COVERAGE

HARTFORD (AP)—Radio and television coverage of public meetings of state and local government agencies would be granted under a bill the Judiciary Committee reported favorably.

Tickets may be obtained from any Lion member and are $1 for adults and 50 cents for children 12 or under.

Historical Society

Miss Edith Haver, president of the Columbia Historical Society, will attend the spring meeting of the Connecticut League of Historical Societies at the Mansfield Center Congregational Church Saturday.

The meeting begins at 10 a.m. and a schedule is planned for morning and afternoon.

Miss Haver, the local society's delegate to the league, urges that members try to attend this meeting, the first since the local group was accepted into the league.

Those planning to attend should take a box lunch. Dessert and coffee will be served.

Homer Babidge Jr., president of the University of Connecticut, will speak on Noth Webster.

124 Nursing Visits

Mrs. Shirley Fox, public health nurse, reports a total of 124 visits for the month of April, including 22 new cases and five new families.

Mrs. Fox attended the Institute for Social Workers and Agency Representatives regarding health problems and their relationship to social problems.

The discussions included problems with children, the aged and the mentally ill.

The school health theme last month centered on "Fun and Physical Fitness." Mrs. Fox said a film entitled "Improving Your Posture" was shown during gym classes to grades 6, 7 and 8.

The nurse visited a Grade 4 class during their study of the human body and answered questions.

Students viewed an assembly program on child molestation presented by State Police-woman Helen Jenkins. The students were divided into two groups, with kindergarten through Grade 4 at the first showing and Grades 5 through 8 at the second.

One film, "Dangerous Strangers" was seen by both groups and a second film, "Name Unknown," was viewed only by older students.

Mrs. Fox reports excellent classroom discussions took place after the programs.

South Capitalizes On Errors to Win

Peaky errors put the monkey-wrench to East Catholic High's previously undefeated baseball team yesterday afternoon, opening the door to a 4-2 defeat...

Talented Bob Horvath pitched the first five frames for South, scattering three hits and three runs...

East just failed in a last ditch drive to knot the count, seventh, getting runners to second and third...

Tom Farrow suffered the loss in three decisions. The lefty worked a creditable five innings, holding South to three hits while fanning five...

Tomorrow afternoon, the Sox will take the field at 7:30 p.m. at the home of the Yankees...

10 Runs Not Enough for Manchester Wethersfield Wins

Usually when a team scores 10 runs it winds up a winner, as Manchester High did in an earlier start. But it was a horse of a different color yesterday afternoon in Wethersfield...

Manchester has now scored 20 runs in its last two starts, but can show only a split. In addition to his two hits, he saw a double, McCarthy drove in three runs...

It was a see-saw battle, Wethersfield led, 2-1, trailed 3-2, regained the lead, 5-3, then fell back to 6-5, moved ahead 7-6, saw Manchester tie the score...

Earlier this spring, Manchester tallied 10 runs in scoring two of its two wins against Hall of West Hartford.

Next start for Manchester will be tomorrow afternoon against Bristol Central in the East Towns.

Olive Drab Not Best Color for Monday But Fits into Green and Gold Just Fine

NEW YORK (AP) — Olive drab isn't Rick Monday's best color but he fits into green and gold just fine, thank you.

Monday is the young outfielder who pocketed $104,000 of Charles Finley's pay money in over Boston.

He belted a homer and drove in three runs for the A's on Wednesday night in a 7-4 victory over Boston.

Torre Hits Torrey With Less Weight

NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Torre, whose home run out once went up with his weight, has found he didn't need the extra pounds for all.

The big Atlanta catcher slumped down after the winter to arrive in Tampa, about 10 pounds below the weight he carried when he rose to National League stardom.

With three homers in the Braves' doubleheader split with the Phillies, Torre showed that the streamlining didn't hurt him a bit.

Torre knocked one over the fence in the first game, which Philadelphia won 4-3. He added two more in the same period and for the same reason.

In 1966, only 11 games were called in the first month—but four of these were in Cincinnati where he had lost their entire opening series.

Terry, Monbouquette, Coleman, Jimenez, Buhl Cut

NEW YORK (AP) — In case you think this spring is a little different, here is some confirmation from the National League.

Among those who have been cut are Terry, Monbouquette, Coleman, Jimenez and Buhl.

Jimenez was unable to beat out on waivers when he returned to the minors.

Jimenez, 23, a first baseman, was optioned to Buffalo after the outfielder and Baltimore.

HUNTING and FISHING

SALT WATER FISHING Good catches of sizable winter flounder are being made along the Connecticut coast.

Striped bass angling is good in the waters of Bridgeport, in Greenwich, the Thames and Nisantic Rivers.

Catches of blackfish remain scattered, but are improving in normally productive spots.

White perch fishing is excellent in the Connecticut and Hammonasset Rivers and fair in Quabbin Cove.

Shad fishing is rapidly improving at the state-controlled Bethel Dam area in Suffield.

SOME of the better waters for trout recently have been: East Twin Lake; Ball Pond (excellent); Canadawood Lake; Squantz Pond; Lake Quassapaug; Saugatuck Reservoir (permits from Bridgeport Hy-Draulic Co. need to fish); West Hill Pond (excellent); A. A. Larter, Braeholm Pond; Beach Pond; the Pomperaug; Saugatuck, Quebec, Shetekuck, Pachaug and Little Rivers; Beaver, Mt. Misery and Myron Kinn Brook.

Wharton Pond, Wallingford, received its first stocking of trout for this season last week.

Fishing for huckees at East Twin Lake is described as "outstanding."

Catches of warmwater species are improving in many ponds, including: Candlewood Lake (bluegill, yellow perch); Lake Coltonaham (yellow perch, white perch, bluegill); Saugatuck Reservoir (largemouth bass, catfish, bluegill, yellow perch, white perch, bluegill); Morey Pond (bluegill).

Ford Hopes First Big Slump Of Golfing Career at End

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — Doug Ford, almost a name from the past in golf although he's won the PGA and Masters, thinks he's just about over the first big slump of his long career on the fairways.

"Usually when you drive bad by you put badly," said Ford. "Of course, you put a lot of pressure on your putter to make the putt. You are usually missing the green when you drive poorly and then you are chipping up and leaving yourself five or six feet and you're putting a long putt. You're putting a long putt."

Ford's first big slump was in 1962 when he missed the PGA and Masters. "I was getting to be work for him. He has other things to do to do and this interview with him." The veteran shot-maker paused momentarily and said, "But you wouldn't think that with an airplane to drive you, Ford, who hasn't traveled since the 1962 Canadian Open, said he's been having the same problem as Nicklaus."

"I drive well, I play well. That's when the two victories that I haven't used in over a year and a half and it felt good. You just never know. You know a little thing like that — a putter can change your outlook and you feel good about scoring."

Despite the defeat, the 31-year-old Puerto Rican-born Ford has been named to the 1967 Open, which will be held in London on July 21, 1967.

"I'll definitely retire if I lose," said Ford. "I don't want to even quit if I win."

Torres Favored In Tuesday Bout NEW YORK (AP) — Jose Torres says he's "psychologically up" for his fight with Dick Tiger and predicts he will knock out the Nigerian "with 10 rounds" next Tuesday night.

Tiger, a 3-1 underdog, lifted the fight from the listless defender on the unanimous decision at the Garden, Dec. 16.

There will be a parade of floats, flowers from Woodland Gardens, games for children, a 60-year-old Duchess, now in New York with the Duke, accepted the invitation to attend the unveiling of a memorial plaque to Windsor's mother, Queen Mary, who died in 1953.

A spokesman for the Windsor in New York said there would be no comment from them until later.

Queen Elizabeth's invitation to the royal family's first official recognition of the American-born Duchess since Edward VIII abdicated in 1936 to marry the two-time divorcee.

The abdication was particularly embarrassing to Queen Elizabeth because she pleaded with her son not to give up the throne for Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Ever since the abdication, the Duchess has been ignored officially by Buckingham Palace. The Duke, now 72, has taken part in a number of state functions and has met with several queens during visits to Britain.

In 1960, Queen Elizabeth met the Duchess for the first time since the abdication. They talked privately together for 25 minutes at a London clinic where the Duke was recovering from eye surgery.

Asked by a reporter whether the invitation indicated a healing of the rift, a royal spokesman replied: "People can read what they like into it."

Asked where the Duchess would stand in the receiving line at the ceremony, an authority official said: "It is highly unlikely that the Duke and the Duchess will be seen together in a public ceremony in London June 7."

A police spokesman said the Duchess would not be seen at the ceremony, now in New York with the Duke, accepted the invitation to attend the unveiling of a memorial plaque to Windsor's mother, Queen Mary, who died in 1953.
