swan last night by Claribel the Clown soon after being installed for a second term as president of the Women's Club of Manchester at a banquet at Willie's Steak House. About 170 attended the event. The clown, a friend of Mrs. Gerard's husband, made a surprise appearance at the event and entertained during dinner. He told of his experiences and mentioned that his makeup was copyrighted, "as are the faces of most famous clowns." He created a variety of whimsical animals from balloons and presented them to dinner guests. When asked if it took a special kind of balloon to use for his animals, he said "No, just those purchased from a good ballon shop." After dinner, the women attended a performance of "Showboat" at the Oval-in-the-Grove, Farmington. (Herald photo by Saternis.)

Stung Humans Win Battle with Bees

Law Is In The Dust The war in the Near East is now, with the capitulation of the Arab states, practically over. That being so, it must be said that there was only one good thing about it that it was short.

It was provoked by a combination of big power intrigue and little power bombast, culminating in the announcement, by the Arab Republic, of a blockade which was generally considered illegal. The first decisive actual blows in the war were delivered, in defiance of both big power and United Nations efforts to mediate peace, by a nation which actually welcomed an excuse and opportunity to strike out for that additional security and respect for itself it had struck for once before in 1956, when the United Nations did succeed in spoiling its victory.

By the swift and terrible efficiency of the military machine and the superb fighting spirit which won the war in a matter of four days, an illusion has been revived which is much too dangerous for this world to live with.

It is the ilusion, irrefutable at the moment in this specific instance, that blitzkrieg works. One can imagine general staffs everywhere, in big and little nations, includ-

the Arab states, toving with this illumion, and dreaming of the day when the blitzkrieg will be theirs. One can hear the hawks of America ealling for this kind of blow in Viet-

This has been a war which has brought the prestige and importance of the United Nations to a new low point. To be fair, it has to be stated that the United Nations would never have been so powerless in this instance if it had not been ignored and bypassed by the United States in its role of self-proclaimed policeman in Vietnam. But the culmination of the two wars, the one long and grinding, the other mercifully short, but both fought in defiance of the very existence of the United Nations, has been to confirm the fact that, from all realistic points of view, this is once more openly and frankly a jungle world, in which each nation makes its own law with its own sword. But there is no future peace or securown what must clearly be done. ity or happiness shead for anybody unless the world pulls itself out of the jungle ethics and codes by which it is now governing its conduct. The only victories which really amount to anything for the future history of the human race are victories for law. And law, at the moment, is in the dust. The Attack Route

It now appears fairly well established - perhaps through reports from American radar observation of the air over the eastern Mediterranean last Monday morning - that the Israeli planes which made the first crucial and fecisive assaults on Egyptian air fields did so not by flying directly over land toward these fields, but by flying out over the Mediterranean and then turning South. This, if so, has a double importance It would easily explain, first, how the assment must also be final. Israeli planes were so fortunate as to eatch the Egyptian jets on the ground and smash them there. For it is believed to have been to the north that there were gaps in the Egyptian defensive radar, which had been detected by Israeli intelligence, and which provided the opening through which the Israel planes could pounce before their presence in the air had been discovered.

> be greater sensitivity to the Arabs' feelings as aggrieved human beings. It is our hope that the Soviet Union, which could find itself in an extraordinarily embarrassing position from having backed a militarily losing side, will be ready to lend its weight to some definitive settlement. For Moscow to continue backing (and whetting) Arab intransigeance may now appear less attractive to the Kremlin. No matter how hard and complex the task of working out a definitive settlement for the Middle East may be, we believe that the world, through the United Nations, should undertake this step. The world cannot permit the pres ent situation to continue.-CHRISTIAN SCIENCE MONITOR had not participated. What interests us primarily is the acknowledgement, by a knowledgeable citizen of our times like Mr. Heckscher, of the apparent inevitability of the triumph of "structure and pavement" as the uniform surfacing this world is to wear in the future.

We can all see government and private enterprise cooperating and racing each other merrily to pave and build the nation solid. Here in our own state the great crusade to pave Connecticut solid leans closer and closer to victory every year. Yet, somehow, we all refuse to believe in the possibility of the obvious. We think the structure and pavement boys will get tired and slack off; we think people will, in the end, back away from one another and refuse to live in

But we have the opinion of an expert that, if the American of tomorrow ever finds his foot on anything soft and green, it will be an "isolated moment under unusual conditions." We had better prepare ourselves to adjust. There is perhaps one consideration which may never have entered the Commissioners' mind. If we ever do reach a and structured solid, where will the trucks run to then?

Imposing A Settlement Whatever the outcome of the immediate fighting between Arabs and Israel, whatever cease-fires or temporary arrangements are drafted in the United Nations, one thing should be clear. This is that the world cannot countenance a return to the former snarling status quo in the Middle East. It is obligatory from every standpoint of good sense, good diplomacy and good international relations that some kind of settlement be -worked out for and, if need be, imposed upon that area. We do not hesitate to use this word impose, because it is now apparent that the world can expect no early mutual ettlement between Arab and Israeli. Hatreds, fears, tensions, rivalries run too deep between the two for anyone to expect that they can or will do on their

The rest of the world has a vital stake in peace in that area. Continued snarling, sniping, raiding, threatening between the two foes is too dangerous to world peace for the latter to permit it to continue. Under such circumstances a mere continuation of a truce or an armistice is not enough. There must be a world-imposed settlment to which both sides will be required to cleave. Nor must the world conscience permit the rival ambitions of the big powers (America, Russia, Britain, China, etc.) sabotage such an imposed

As this is being written, the Arab lands are, for the third time in less than 20 years, being severely beaten by the Israeli armed forces. This indicates how futile is the question of Arab military revenge or military rectification for what the Arabs believe is the injustice done them. The borders of Israel are roughly final, and must remain so.

The Israelis' right to live without har-At the same time, where there is a legitimate legal issue at stake—such as Egypt's control over the Strait of Tiran and the Suez Canal-this should be submitted to the World Court at the earliest possible moment, whether either side likes it or not. Furthermore, there must massive outside help (perhaps the utilization of a portion of Middle Eastern oil profits) to find a new and successful life for the Arab refugees within the Arab world. Jordan cannot continue a hard line against Israel. The survivat of both Hussein and his very nation hangs in the balance. Thus, Jordan, of all the neighboring Arab states, offers Israel the best target for the start of a new political arrangement. Jordan has always wanted a port on the Mediterranean. Highly-placed experts in Washington now believe that in exchange for permanent control of the divided city of Jerusalem, now totally in Israel's possession, Israel might well make a trade of a narrow corridor to the Mediterranean across the Negev desert for Jordan. Since I got my Accutron, I can't stop asking people for the time so I can tell them they're wrong.

This man may sound like a pest. It's hard to blame them. After all, the cutron owner knows the time is not 4:52, but exactly 4:51 and 19 seconds. And he doesn't mind telling anyone. In fact, he enjoys it. This enjoyment comes from a little tuning fork, which Bulova uses in the Accutron movement instead of a balance wheel. It splits every second into 360 parts, and the time you keep is so precise that it's guaranteed in writing. An average of 2 seconds a day. This kind of accuracy could make pest of the best of us. Come in and we'll make an Accutron fan out of you. Accutron by Bulova.

Hollywood Guilds Battle Over Apostrophe's Place

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The the writers' pension-welfare battle of the apostrophe" has plan. He did not rule on the been joined, and it looks as though movie writers and directors will be firing along the lines all summer.

The new contract was signed on the afternoon of the decision. Directors remain militant. directors will be firing along the lines all summer.

Caught in the crossfire is the Motion Picture Association, which represents the major film producers of Hollywood.

Why should the powerful Writers and Directors Guilds suddenly find themselves at guild. suddenly find themselves at guild.

The reason goes deep into the creative psyche, concerning ego and professional pride before this time. We believe this and professional pride. The basic issue concerns a may be a move to create con-longtime practice in movie billing. Almost from the movies' writers. other delicate mechanisms.
They have to be. It's those things that ake a watch run. Be it fast or slow. or maybe not at all. instead.

Accutron has no hairspring. No mainspring. No balance wheel. They've been replaced by a tuning fork. (That's it in the center of our Spaceview model.)

The tuning fork does everything ordinary watchworks are supposed to do. Measure time. Only it does it more accurately. By vibrating 360 times to a second. And sending the hands around the dial so precisely, we can guarantee monthly accuracy to within a minute.*

BELLS HOWELL

High School World Two High School World nembers recently attended the 1th annual Parade of Youth Student Press Conference at the Hartford Courant. Co-editor Sue Goldberg '68 and reporter Robin Neleber, '69 had the rare chance to meet with members of high school publications from all over the State and exchange ideas. Short speeches given by Courant staff members were followed by question and answer sessions which often turned into general discussions among the guests. These speeches concerned the common problems found in the writing and publishing of high school papers. Of special interest to Sue and Robin were the many good points on heading, feature story writing, and scholastic sports reporting. Informative talks on illustration and the actual "make up" of a newspaper were given also. After the lecture series, the students were bused to the Hotel Statler Hilton where the Courant treated them to complete dinner followed by the presentation of awards. Returning to Manchester, the girls felt they had been given when he is nine years away from retiring? I don't have a very high regard for my intelligence. But as director of athletics at the University of Pennsylvania, I couldn't let things happen that were contrary to my beliefs as a teacher and a coach.

That, basically, is why as director two months ago o change the image of Penn athletics. The image was that of a loser. The request came as no surprise to me. When Pennavivania gives its alumni even a little control of athletics, someone has to be made the scapegoat for defeats. The alumni can't take defeat even though they don't play the games. The president and the whole university are unavailable as scapegoats even though they are the ultimate reason for athletic success. So the coach is it, unless he is a sacred cow. RESERVED FOR PICTURE OF HOUSE

Sorry about the picture, but all the photographer cou ee through his view finder were tall rees. No matter what angle he tried there were these beautiful sturdy trees and more trees. "Wonderful shade and atmosphere," said the photographer, "but if you want a picture of this house you'll have to chop them down." Instead of calling on the well-known woodsman, let's try to describe this house with words. The house is a gracious Colonial in an established preferred section of Manchester practically surrounded by schools and a short block and a half to a bus line. The well landscaped lot is approximately 120-125, giving ample room for the kids to play in their

The basement has a completed recreation room including bar and stools, a new oil hot water furnace and a workshop. The first floor features a lovely entrance foyer, a large living room with bay window, a dining room with built-in cupboard and a kitchen planned for cooking. Deep pile carpeting covers all except the kitchen. The garage with patio overhang is close by.

The natural wood open stairway leads to three generous bedrooms, all with ample closet space. Off the hallway there is a handy cedar closet and the far end of the hallway leads to a sun porch for your private sun bath (or
