We made mental note to keep foliage on casual apple trees, and, where no one would be responsible for giving battle, the long dismal lines of dark, defoliated branches which result annually where the tent caterpillars have the full run of some nice wild

And that was the last we thought of it, until, just the other day, we suddenly realized that the tent caterpillars had never arrived, that there had been no single web on any of our apple trees, no defoliation of old fence lines about the countryside, no miserable hegira across lawns, no strange prickly feeling from a few thousand feet crawling across some patch of bare skin. Our layman's diagnosis is that the wet and the cold of the 1967 springthe same circumstances which happened to keep some of our garden seeds from germinating-must somehow have sterilized the egg masses left by the tent caterpillar moths of last summer. And our layman hope leaps forward, trustingly, to 1968. How, if there were no 1967 spring caterpillars to transform themselves into summer moths, can there be summer moths to lay the egg masses which would hatch into new swarms of caterpillars next spring? Even such cheerful, seemingly selfanswering questions must, in our kind of world, be asked cautiously. For if there is one thing we human beings ought to know by now it is that there are eternal laws of compensation. If, for the moment, the caterpillars seem to have folded their tents and stolen ailently away, they, or some substitute pest, will be back sooner or later, and seem more annoying than ever for the interruption. But the interruption, even

The Appellate Division, in a unanimous opinion written by Judge David H. Jacobs, of Meriden, has ruled that uniformed police officers may properly set up a road block to check operators licenses, car registrations, or safety equipment without infringing on the operator's right of privacy or his freedom of movement on the highway. In ruling on the issue, the judges held that to hold an operator's license is a privilege, not a right, and that such privilege may be properly restricted in the interest of public safety or welfare. The distinction seems so basic and the correctness of the court's ruling so obvious-in the context both of law and of common sense — that one wonders why the issue was raised. It is well that has been raised, however, and that such a clearcut ruling has resulted. The opinion written by Judge Jacobs is a ontribution to public safety. — MERI-DEN RECORD

The Manchester Multiple Listing Service is an integral part of the Manches ter Board of Realtors. Just as the stringent and enforceable Realtor Code of Ethics might be referred to as the spiritual soul of the Board, so the Multiple Listing Service may be called the functioning, physical body. The plan is simple. Instead of you, as the seller of property, effecting an exclusive right to sell contract with one Realtor, a uniform Board Listing Contract is used. The Realtor then forwards to the board secretary a typed copy of your listing giving all pertinent data together with a glossy print of a picture of your property these are combined into one sheet for easy reference and within a matter of days your listing is in the hand of OVER 65 REALTORS AND SALES-PEOPLE! It is as simple as that. The exposure is broad and comprehensive, yet all appointments and responsibilities are channeled thru the Realtor of your choice. There is only one commission paid, regardless of which Realtor firm sells the property.

Multiple Listing DOES give you the combined . . . and yet diverse . . . talents of the local and area Realtor firms. Their clientele lists, facilities, employes and other assets are yours at no extra cost.

Multiple Listing DOES NOT assure that a property worth $19,000 will sell for $22,000, for instance. Buyers today shop and compare values in property just as they do in automobiles. Should there be an honest difference of opinion as to the price range that a property will bring on today's market, your Realtor may suggest a bank appraisal thru an independent fee appraiser. Be guided by your Realtor. He has a habit of being right in the final analysis.

Finally — Is Multiple Listing Effective?

Well practically every qualified Realtor in town . . . and an increasing number from adjacent areas . . . have of their own volition joined the Manchester Multiple Listing Service of the local board. The constantly increasing sales volume in the service is impressive indeed, so much so that even brand new homes and commercial and business properties are finding their way into the service. Yes, frankly, it is very effective.
