

Coventry Gorris Purchases Land To Relocate Oil Tanks

Relocation of the Gorris Oil Co. tanks remains a possibility following the disclosure this week at a meeting of the Board of Selectmen that the land on Stonehouse Rd. to be moved to the tanks from the present location on Rt. 21, Coventry Lake.

The state to move the tanks, since the water resources commission considers them a possible source of pollution of the lake. Gorris can also, according to the state requirement, leave the tanks where they are, provided he installs an extensive drainage facility to prevent possible leakage into the lake. Gorris is, however, agreeable to moving the tanks since he says he is aware of the public's concern because of the present conspicuous location.

An earlier attempt by the board of selectmen to sell Gorris a site adjacent to the town dump was, the selectmen said, "stymied" by the planning and zoning commission. The commission wrote the selectmen that it was "amenable" to the relocation of the tanks, but that the zoning commission's decision, which the selectmen felt were "neither feasible nor practical" for the site to be rezoned for commercial use.

Stipulations given by the commission had asked for town meeting approval to sell the proposed site. It also requested that a site plan be supplied to the commission showing compliance to the zoning regulations and outlining boundaries of the proposed area, with town road access and turnarounds, as well as a plan to remain closed to Mr. Gorris' town road.

In addition, the commission asked for approval of the deputy sanitary and health officer to assure that no oil pollution dump site relocation, and there would occur to adjacent marshland, ponds and water courses, and approval that the dump site area was suitable for installation of sanitation and water facilities for a future office building.

The planning and zoning commission also asked for a statement from the conservation department that the proposed relocation was in accordance with its immediate or projected conservation plans for the dump site and adjacent natural wildlife areas.

Quaker Group Asks to Supply North Viet Aids

WASHINGTON (AP) — The State Department is considering a request by a Quaker group for permission to deliver medical supplies and possible hospital volunteers to North Vietnam.

Members of the group, headed by Lawrence Scott, secretary of the Hanoi Project Committee, asked the department Friday to travel to North Vietnam about the youth Phoenix.

Although the Quaker does not represent the Quakers as a whole, Quaker officials here said, they do represent the Quakers' conviction that aid is needed in North Vietnam. The State Department has no objection to the aid, but is seeking passport validation, as well as political assistance.

Others seeking passport validation were George Willoughby and Ross Flanagan. They gave their addresses as 20 S. 12th Street, Philadelphia.

The Phoenix, captained by Dr. Earle Reynolds, an American living in Tokyo, is scheduled to leave Hiroshima, Japan, Aug. 7 for the North Vietnam port of Haiphong.

It would be the Phoenix' second cruise to North Vietnam. The Treasury Department has recommended to the Justice Department the prosecution of members of the Phoenix crew who carried medical supplies to Haiphong earlier this year.

The recommendation was made under the assets control act which prohibits the export of the Phoenix Act, which carries a maximum penalty of 10 years in jail and a $10,000 fine.

Held Over at State Much Heralded Film Which Has Not Yet Been Sold

The much heralded film which has not yet been sold everywhere, "Up the Down Staircase," Academy Award winner Sandy Dennis is starred and it is filmed in technicolor from Ben Kaufman's best seller.

During an operation in the courtyard of the university's College of Veterinary Medicine Friday, doctors reached the snake which was a large potato—but could not dislodge it. They cut into both the neck and stomach areas of the elephant after administering anesthesia.

Disregarding this ominous signal, South won with the queen of hearts and led the nine of spades. West took the ace of spades and led the nine of hearts.

Now South was doomed. He played the ace of hearts from seven of hearts ruffed. Black came the jack of diamonds, and South eventually had to lose a diamond trick in addition to the three tricks already lost.

East had rattled loud and clear by playing the eight of hearts at the first trick and the seven of hearts ruffed. Black would defeat the contract by ruffing the third heart if given that opportunity.

South could take the poison of the second round of trumps. At the second round of hearts, South should run the clubs, discarding his last heart on dummy's jack of clubs. East's hand is not quite worth 14 points because the two unplayed red queens are not worth their full value and because the hand is awkward. You decide to open the bidding largely because you have a strong 5-card major suit.

Stone Lodged In Throat of Zoo Elephant

ST. PAUL, Minn. (AP) — Doctors have cut open Mal Tai's throat but still haven't been able to get the stone out of it. Veterinarians at the University of Minnesota are trying to figure out what to do now to dislodge the stone from the throat of the three-year-old, 800-pound elephant, valued at $4,000.

Mal Tai, the only elephant St. Paul's Como Park Zoo has ever had, apparently swallowed the stone Wednesday. It was discovered by X-rays after she stopped eating.

What do you say?
Answer: Bid one spade. You have 13 points in high cards and 1 point for the doubleton, enough for an opening bid. Actually, this hand is not quite worth 14 points because the two unplayed red queens are not worth their full value and because the hand is awkward. You decide to open the bidding largely because you have a strong 5-card major suit.

Heralding Homes Home With a Recreational View

The gracefully arched fireplace in the living room is large enough to accommodate logs five feet long.

STORY BY DORIS BELDING

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hunter and family of Kenney Dr., Bolton, has an ever-changing view with many moods, all governed by the weather and season, and each one beautiful in its own right, according to Mrs. Hunter.

The Hunters have lived on Bolton Lake for 15 years, 13 of which was spent in their present home. They take full advantage of the recreational facilities at the lake and go boating and swimming in summer, while winter finds them skating and ice boating. Between seasons, "we relax and enjoy the view."

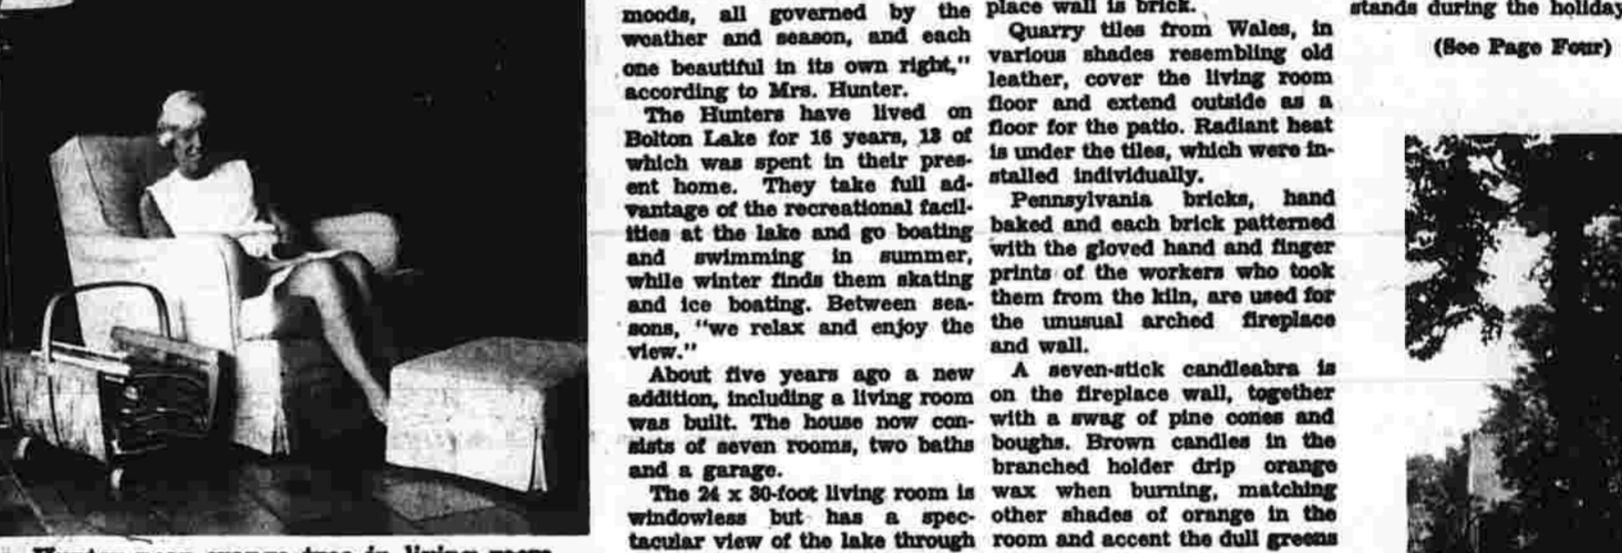

About five years ago a new addition, including a living room was built. The house now consists of seven rooms, two baths and a garage.

The 24 x 30-foot living room is wax when burning, matching windowless but has a spectacular view of the lake through the room and accent the dull greens as described by Mrs. Hunter. Distinct calling lights are in the living room. Some are placed to give dramatic emphasis to the fireplace. Others are directed to the patio and the spot where a large Christmas tree stands during the holidays.

Quarry tiles from Wales, in floor for the patio. Radiant heat is under the tiles, which were installed individually. Pennsylvania bricks, hand baked and each brick patterned with the glove hand and finger prints of the workers who took them from the hills, are used for the unusual arched fireplace and wall.

A seven-foot candleabra on the fireplace wall, together with a swag of pine cones and bougainvillea, are used for the branch holder drip orange and a garland.

UCLA Study Shows Middle-Class Impatience May Fuel Negro Rioting

WASHINGTON (AP) — Whites who expect middle-class Negroes to act as a restraining force on racial tensions probably are misleading themselves, a university study of the 1960 riots in the Watts section of Los Angeles indicates.

The "better element" is often argued, will be responsible and orderly and understand the necessity for a gradual solution of the Negro problem. Furthermore, such sensible and enlightened elements in the community will serve as models for their less fortunate brothers. "We find little room for such an optimistic appraisal."

These findings were reported Friday by the Office of Economic Opportunity, which contracted for the UCLA study. Only the 11-page preliminary section of the 12-part study was made public.

Among the study's conclusions about Watts, scenes of the riot cost $10 million in property damage for the Detroit uprising.

"Those who are better off seem to evidence considerable antipathy sentiment which is significantly related to their participation in the violence. Those less fortunate rebel against discrimination and appear to be motivated mainly by economic discontent."

"Misrepresentation or exploitation by whites (merchants and police) seems to be a source of riot support for all levels of the ghetto."

"We would expect that continued contact with white persons by those Negroes who have made economic gains would serve to increase their impatience and frustration at not being able to enjoy the same freedom of movement and opportunity."

AIR SERVICE DELAYED
BRIDGEPORT (AP) — The inception of Mohawk Airline service to Bridgeport has been postponed from Aug. 1 to Sept. 6, the airline announced Friday evening.

Mohawk's Executive Vice President Russell V. Bepperson said a crash of a jet in June necessitated the assignment of a newly-delivered F4U turboprop to the route served by the lost plane. This transfer limited the number of F4U's available for pilot training and combined with some bad flying weather—helped to postpone the date when Mohawk pilots were ready to start serving Bridgeport.

The new route through Bridgeport, approved by the Civil Aeronautics Board earlier this year, will run from Albany, N.Y. to Islip, Long Island.

Al Hirt Slated In Wallingford

One of the nation's biggest jazzmen, trumpeter Al Hirt brings his musical group to the Wallingford Auditorium in Wallingford tomorrow night at 8:30 for a one night stand.

Well versed in all phases of the music business, Hirt is a sideman with the big bands of the Dorsey's, Ray McKinley and Horace Heidt, a student of serious music at the Conservatory of Cincinnati, a recording artist on the RCA Victor label, and a frequent guest on the radio only in his beloved New Orleans.

Jazz, Dixieland and swing fans will all find something to cheer for with the 300-pound horn man and his group.

Mrs. Vance Helping Out In Detroit Relief Center

DETROIT (AP) — She wanted to help and she didn't want publicity. Her name is Mrs. Cy Vance, and she came to the work in a Salvation Army relief center in Detroit.

Mrs. Vance is the wife of President Johnson's personal emissary in Detroit, through a program called "Widening Horizons."

Friday in Detroit, she guided homeless riot victims through the Salvation Army store and helped parents who had lost everything in fires select enough clothing for themselves and their children.

"It's tragic," she said. "And these people are so brave. They are so calm, almost as if nothing happened."

"I don't know if I could be brave if it were the same thing happened to me."

Board Says Rat Damage May Exceed $1 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee said that help from rising in U.S. cities.

7 Towns on Swanwick
WHITE SPRINGS, Fla.—The Swanwick River, the one Stephen Foster wrote about—its banks, all with populations under 1,000. At the Stephen Foster Memorial Park in White Springs, a cartoon mounted on a 200-foot tower plays Foster's works on the Swanwick's banks and said each rat causes about $10 damage a year.

Dr. Allan W. Donaldson, associate director of the U.S. Bureau of Disease Prevention and Environmental Control, said Friday an equally serious aspect is the psychological impact rats have on slum-dwellers.

"They're pests, they're dirty and they're frightening," Donaldson said.

He noted rats also spread disease through slums—often by biting victims, the majority of them children.

New York City alone reports up to 600 rat bite reports a year, said Donaldson. He estimated the true total nationally probably is far higher than statistics show because, as the House committee noted, "many persons are reluctant to report rat bite incidents" and such reports aren't required throughout the nation.

Donaldson's comments came in the wake of President Johnson's criticism of the House for rejecting last week an administration program aimed at eradicating rats in urban areas.

Johnson referred to the action in his Thursday night speech as an example of congressional

Billion Gallons Yelled

HOUSTON - A large system of fresh water-bearing subsurface rocks underlies an area of about 20,000 square miles of the West Gulf Coastal Plain in Southeastern Texas and Southwestern Louisiana. The average total yield of wells in this area, now about a billion gallons a day, is considered likely to increase significantly in the future.

Boy on Bike Hit by Car

Robert Littlejohn, 7, of 78 Branford St. was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital after he was struck by a car on Lenox St. near Durkin St. as he rode his bicycle yesterday afternoon.

He was X-rayed, treated and released, a hospital official said.

Police say a car driven by Janet J. McKenney of 197 Gardner St. hit the youth as he rode the bike across the street. Police say the driver attempted to stop but could not.

Rita M. St. Germain of 95 Center St. was charged with evading responsibility yesterday at 8 p.m., after the car she was driving hit a car which had been parked by Dorothy W. Hubbard of 41 Summer St. at the Town Hall Parking lot, police say. Mrs. St. Germain told police she did not know she had hit the other car.

She is scheduled to appear in court on Aug. 28.

The drivers of both vehicles were arrested last night after their cars collided on W. Center St., near Cooper St. Charles W. Chambers Jr., 19, of 822 Tolland Tpke., was charged with following too closely, after the car he was driving hit the rear of a car driven by Elliot J. Svelyns, 19, of 325 Tolland Tpke. Svelyns was charged with failure to carry registration.

Both are scheduled to appear in court on Aug. 27.

Yesterday afternoon, a parked car owned by Mercedes Prior of 181 Wadsworth St. was damaged on the right side by a vehicle which left the scene. The Prior car had been parked in a parking stall at a lot off Main St.

In the afternoon yesterday on W. Middle Tpke., near Hilliard St., a car driven by Caroline M. Terlikowski of East Hartford hit the rear of a car driven by Ivery Dyer, 35, of Hartford, police say. The Terlikowski vehicle was towed away.

A car driven by Daniel E. Platz, 17, of 215 Holliston St. hit a utility pole. Platz had visible sign of injury, police say, but was not taken to the hospital. The five teenage passengers in the car were not injured, police indicate, but the car was towed away with left rear damage.

A Town Highway Department truck rolled back and hit a car driven by Larry Light, 34, of Ellington yesterday morning, police say. Minor damage was done in the slight collision at Olcott St. near Spencer St. The truck was driven by Edwin J. Lipp, 56, of 854 Hillstown Rd.

A car driven by Anne D. Schalet of Storrs hit a car driven by Charles E. Neff, 21, of Willimantic at E. Middle Tpke. and Arrott Rd. yesterday afternoon. The Schalet car was towed away with front end damage, and Neff complained of pain but had no visible sign of injury, police say.

Gold Too Cheap?

TORONTO - A Canadian goldmining geologist predicts a steady worldwide decline in gold production, beginning in 1971, unless the present price of $35 an ounce is pegged higher. South African and Canadian sources avoid marginal ores at the present price but could increase the use of these if priced higher.

U.S. LEADS IN RAISINS

LOS ANGELES - World raisin production has been high in the past decade, reaching a record 699,200 tons in 1965 and 639,000 in 1966. The United States is the leading producer, with over 278,000 tons in 1966. Greece was a distant second with 97,000.

Lieutenant Is Acquitted In Vietnam Murder Case

He said he did not see Garcia grab the prisoner.

"As far as I was concerned," Patrick told the court, "this was just another ugly incident in an ugly war."

The prosecutor, Capt. Jim Yelton, of Piney Flats, Tenn., charged that Patrick was guilty of murder because "he was a commander and he had a duty to act" to prevent the shooting.

"Only one witness said Patrick gave any indication he wanted this killing done," countered the defense lawyer, Capt. James Mercurio, of Saint Louis, Mo.

The witness was Griffen and Mercurio claimed the sergeant's testimony was suspect. At his own trial earlier this week Griffen based his defense on his claim that Patrick had ordered him to kill the Vietnamese.

"Lt. Patrick momentarily lost control of his men," argued Mercurio, "and a tragic event occurred."

But he added the lieutenant was not guilty of any crime.

Yelton called the final verdict "damned ridiculous."

"I don't think the court even considered the evidence," he said.

The lieutenant's court-martial climaxed a week of trials here. Ogg, the only other officer tried, was found innocent of murder. He was convicted, however, of an unrelated charge of imposing illegal fines on his men. The captain was reprimanded and ordered to pay a $450 fine.

Wood was found guilty of voluntary manslaughter and sent to prison for one year. Griffen was convicted of unpremeditated murder and ordered to jail for 10 years. Neither man was discharged from the service.

Garcia was tried two weeks ago and found guilty of unpremeditated murder. He was kicked out of the Army with a dishonorable discharge and sentenced to four years in jail.

Horace F. Murphey, second from left, thoroughly enjoyed his gifts and the retirement dinner-dance given in his honor last night at the Manchester Country Club. Heavy Rainfall Blankets Town

A deluge of heavy rain - about a half inch in a half hour - obscured motorists' vision yesterday afternoon but no major highway flooding problems were reported.

The storm, however, contributed to six car accidents on the Wilbur Cross Highway near Vernon Circle. One driver suffered a cut chin and five drivers were arrested as a result of the mishaps. All lived out of the area, state police said.

A spokesman for the Windsor Locks Weather Station said today one-fifth of an inch of rain-fall drizzled on the area between 3:40 and 4:30. But about two-fifths fell in the next half hour. Fifteen mile-an-hour winds were reported in the area. No rash of town car accidents during the storm were reported by local police.

NEW YORK (AP) - For the second time in two weeks the city has gone through a tornado alert.

Weathermen warned yesterday to watch for the funnel-cloud phenomenon that had struck here only twice in the last 100 years.

After a few hours, however, the alert was rescinded, and the city suffered only a common, drenching rain.

Racial Trouble Erupts In Wilmington, Brooklyn

WILMINGTON, Del. (AP) - Mayor John E. Barblar imposed an early morning curfew on Wilmington today and police arrested more than 100 persons after roving gangs of Negro youths broke down windows in one area. Three white men were wounded by gunshots.

Officials said the three were wounded by shots fired into a club by a carload of Negroes not far from a tavern where 25 Negroes broke up furniture Thursday. Hospital authorities said two were hospitalized for pellet wounds. The other was treated and released.

Newsmen at the scene also reported shots fired from another car several blocks away. Police would not confirm this report.

Shortly after the curfew was imposed police Inspector Donald Payne reported the streets were clear in the area of 6th and Madison streets where the gang did most damage.

Late Friday evening groups of 30 to 50 Negroes raced up and down Madison Street in the heart of predominantly Negro West Side, smashing windows and throwing bottles and rocks at passing autos.

Police also reported two vacant buildings set afire in the area and several other minor blazes. A police spokesman said there was some looting, mostly of liquor.

Many Say Farewell To Horace Murphey

"I can't think of any nicer way to spend an evening than we are doing. I feel that it's just you and me and I'm glad that we are here. Thank you very much."

So spoke Horace F. Murphey last night at a dinner-dance in his honor at the Manchester Country Club. Murphey, the dean of town officials, retires today, after 39 years as Manchester's superintendent of parks.

Among the more than 125 associates, relatives and friends attending last night were six of his classmates from the 1928 graduating class at the University of Connecticut, when it was named Connecticut Agriculture College.

Murphey had been president of the senior class and manager of the basketball team. And one of his gifts last night was a regulation size basketball, to remind him of those days.

He also received an engraved gold watch, inscribed with the message, "Thanks H.F.M. for 40 years dedicated service." The watch was presented, on behalf of all, by nurseryman Charles Burr, an oldtime friend. The toastmaster last night was another old friend and also a college classmate, Rhoar M. Flydal, northeast Connecticut district manager of the Southern New England Telephone Co.

The invocation was given by Town Manager Robert Weiss. A toast, for Murphey and his wife Gladys, was offered by William Androlot, assistant park superintendent.

Flydal read several telegrams of congratulations, including one from Mrs. Lyndon B. (Ladybird) Johnson, citing Murphey for his advocacy of open-space and beautification proposals.

Another telegram was from Ben Johnson, director of alumni relations at UConn, on behalf of the University and its Alumni Association.

Former Town Manager Richard Martin set the theme of the evening's short talks by asking Murphey "who will now make those six copies of every directive?"

Mayor Nathan Agostinelli said, "When Horace started in his job in Manchester (1928) I wasn't even born yet. He has done his job more than well and we all thank him for providing us with the many fine facilities we see around us."

Weiss said, "We appreciate the type of image of dedicated public service you are leaving as a heritage for Manchester."

Murphey, except for an interval from 1941 to 1945 when he served in the armed forces, has worked continuously for the town, as superintendent of parks, superintendent of recreation, tree warden and, on occasion, acting town manager.

And now, as Weiss so aptly said last night, "Generally, a retirement party is a bitter-sweet affair, but not in your case, Horace. You are retiring at the height of your life, to enjoy many, many, more years - to do what you want to do."

There were no immediate reports of looting.

As dawn broke, a semblance of calm returned to the area and the crowds were reduced to a few dozen youths debating civil rights.

"They tell us to go home," one Negro told a reporter. "Go home to what? The rats have beat me home. I can stay on the corner and get better enjoyment."

"This is the only way to get the white man to open his eyes," said another young man. "You've begged, demonstrated and marched and the white man still won't listen."

Break Reported At Marine Club

Police last night investigated a break at the Marine Corps Club at 717 Parker St. Some cash and liquor was taken, and the value of the loss is estimated at $43.

Harold Osgood of 29 Cumberland St. reported the break, which took place sometime after midnight Thursday.

Police said entry was made by forcing a temporary door on the northeast corner in the rear of the building where an addition is being built.

Bob Barker: Game Show Pitfalls

Editor's Note—Bob Barker, currently holds some sort of a television record: concurrent host on two daily game shows, "Truth or Consequences," and ABC's new "Family Game." Here he tells of the possible pitfalls of the game show and its audience.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — A few years ago, on a televised game show, I asked the contestants to tell me their favorite jokes. As one man began an apparently innocent story, some sixth sense alerted me to danger. It was as if a red flag had gone up or a bell started clanging.

I stopped the storyteller in mid-sentence. "I wish we had time to hear the rest of your joke," I told him. "But I'll be backstage after the show, and you can finish it then."

My premonition proved correct. The joke, had it gone out over the air, would have slandered a nationality and prompted an avalanche of angry phone calls and letters.

This is the sort of tightrope a television emcee walks every day. On a quiz show, a beauty pageant, or any other informal program, there is no script and little preparation. Most of the contestants are enjoying their first taste of television exposure. Anything can happen.

Recently, for example, I appeared on "Truth or Consequences," holding a lion cub. As I approached the next contestant, a young housewife, a look of terror crossed her face.

"Take him away," she pleaded. "I'll be deathly ill. I'm allergic to cats."

My first thought was, somehow, to focus attention away from the frightened woman and spare her further embarrassment. Turning to a husky young man in the audience, I suggested, "How about taking her place, sir? You don't look as though you're allergic to anything."

The audience laughed and the tension evaporated.

Digging oneself out of a difficult situation isn't always that easy. But the real trick is not getting into deep water in the first place. It helps to keep in mind a few simple rules.

First, pay attention to what the other person is saying. All of us have suffered with the television host who's so busy thinking of his next witty remark that he doesn't listen to his guest.

"What is your favorite sport?" he may ask.

"Swimming," answers the contestant. "In fact, just last week I set a new world's record by swimming the length of the Mississippi."

"That's nice," says the nonchalant emcee. "And do you have any children?"

Another rule is to obey the Boy Scout motto: "Be prepared." In the case of "Truth or Consequences," I select the contestants from the studio audience about 10 minutes before each show. When I spot someone who's too anxious to go on—the sort of fellow who shows up at every party, wearing a tamponade, and tells off-color stories—I pass him by. I know that on the air he'll probably embarrass both of us.

Once, while wandering through the audience, I encountered a young man with a pair of six-guns strapped around his waist.

"Bob, I've come here to investigate this show," he said. "I want to find out if it's rigged."

Obviously, we didn't choose him as a contestant. But he was invited backstage where he could see for himself that the game was spontaneous. Afterward I looked for the young man.

"The police took him away," the producer told me. "He's wanted for murder in Palm Springs. And, incidentally, his guns were loaded."

Patty Duke Growing

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — It has only been a couple of years between The Patty Duke Show and "Valley Of The Dolls," but those years have been big ones for Patty Duke.

She only did one television guest shot in that time. Otherwise nothing.

"It was a difficult time for me," Patty says. "I felt I was fat and ugly and stupid. I wouldn't see anybody in the business."

"Sure, time hung heavy on my hands, but I got myself a hobby—making friends. I never had any friends, not really. Now I have some. We played Monopoly at night."

The months dragged on. And even the thrills of Monopoly began to wear thin. Patty grew restless.

"I learned some things about myself," she says. "I learned that maybe I wasn't the smartest person in the world, but I wasn't the dumbest. Maybe I (See Page Three)

Walter Cronkite At Candlewood

By JOAN CROSBY
CANDLEWOOD LAKE, Conn. —(NEA)—Two valuable pieces of CBS property were about to sink in Connecticut's large and scenic Candlewood Lake—a camera and Walter Cronkite. The more important of the two (and the one able to swim) was worried about the less important. "Get the camera out," Cronkite called. He and a cameraman were in a two-man hydrofoil pleasure craft, a "Water Spyder," filming a segment for the second season of CBS-TV's The 21st Century. Only a couple of hours earlier, Cronkite was given a very short course on how to sail the craft, which rises out of the water on its foils and skims over the surface for a fast and smooth sail. He took the foil out for a long sail, followed by a camera crew on a raft-like float, who filmed his skill with the foil.

Weigh Too Much
Now he and a cameraman and a lot of equipment were in the hydrofoil, getting closeups of Cronkite. And the weight of the equipment was just too much for the small boat. "Hey, fellows, we're shipping water pretty fast," Walter said to the crew on the raft. No one paid any attention. "Hey, fellows, we're sinking. Fellows, fellows I think you'd better get the camera out."

Eventually someone realized that a good segment was about to be ruined, and the camera equipment was unloaded. Walter sailed the craft back to the dock where the water was pumped out, a second cameraman, lighter in weight, jumped in and Walter set sail for a retake.

Later the popular CBS newsman smiled and said, "I couldn't seem to get anyone to care very much that we were sinking, could I?"

During the decade that Cronkite has been on "The 20th Century" and "The 21st Century" He has done everything from live in a city built under the ice being lowered from a helicopter to the deck of a ship. He has never refused to do anything.

Ready for Anything
"I can't imagine anything I'm not foolish enough to do—once," he says. "I make a distinction between the bravery of someone who does something dangerous over and over and that one someone doing something for the first time. The first time you do something you don't know exactly what you will face. When you know, and do it again, then that's bravery."

Only twice Cronkite adds, did he have a claustrophobic
