

12th Circuit Court Cases

EAST HARTFORD SESSION

Orvis E. Holcomb, 28, of Simsbury, was fined $25 for larceny under $15. He was arrested in Manchester Monday after he was caught leaving Poplar Market in a truck with several items in his pants pockets and under his shirt.

After his arrest, Holcomb was presented in East Hartford Tuesday, but the case was continued to yesterday and disposed of.

The cases of two Manchester men were continued to Friday when neither had the money to pay a fine.

Richard Slaga, 28, of 519 Center St. was fined $20 for intoxication. The man was continued to Friday for payment of fine. He was arrested Monday days ago at a laundromat on Center St. where police said he had inhaled several persons.

Edward Gardner, 49, of 40 Doane St. was also fined $20 and his case also was continued to Friday for payment. He was charged with evasion of car fare Tuesday after a taxi driver from Hartford told police he had taken Gardner to Manchester and he did not pay the fare.

Gardner also received a 30-day suspended sentence.

James L. Dietrichsen, 22, of 299 Main St. pleaded guilty to breach of peace and was fined $50. He received a six-month suspended sentence, and condition that his probation is to continue.

Dietrichsen and James L. Urriano, 22, of Wells St. were arrested Tuesday night after police found them both in a telephone booth on Main St. at Hartford. Both were yelling and both wore police caps when police arrived, police said.

Urriano also appeared with being found morning court yesterday.

His case was continued to Aug. 7 in Manchester and he was released without bond.

Harry Lester, 48, of no certain address was fined $10 for intoxication. He was arrested Tuesday night after he was found sleeping on a bench in Center Park near the library.

Governor Names Murphey To Tree Protection Board

Horace F. Murphey, who retired Monday after 39 years as Manchester's superintendent of parks and tree protection, has been appointed by Gov. John Dempsey to the Connecticut Tree Protection Examining Board.

The appointment is for two years, retroactive to July 1. The board members serve without compensation.

The board issues licenses, after examinations, to persons, firms or corporations engaged in improving, protecting or preserving fruit, shade, forest or ornamental trees. It has the power to revoke the licenses or to renew them.

Murphey, when he retired from his town post, left a long history of land and tree conservation. He was, and remains, a strong advocate of the preservation of parks and other open spaces, mainly in their natural stages.

Twice in the past 14 years, serving as a judge and jury at public hearings, Murphey ruled in favor of condemned trees in the city of Hartford. He and James Sheesley, then highway superintendent, worked out a tree still stands and a Myrtle St. tree for removal before it rotted out.

Board Reports No Progress in Railroad Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — No progress is reported in a presidential board's two-week-old efforts to resolve a shopcraft dispute that shut down the nation's railroads last month for two days.

"Not a comma has shifted so far," an informed source said Wednesday of the stances held for months by the railroads and six unions representing 187,000 workers.

Under a law passed by Congress July 17 and the two-day without, the presidential board was given 30 days to bring about a negotiated settlement. If it fails in that period, the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., must hold hearings over another 30-day period. If no agreement is reached during that period—or in the next 30 days—both sides in the dispute must accept the board's recommendations.

More expressed confidence Wednesday a voluntary settlement would be reached.

The unions still are demanding wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 6 per cent next year, plus a 15-cent hourly hike each year for skilled workers. The railroads are sticking to their offer of a 6 per cent over the life of an 18-month contract plus a 5-cent hike for skilled workers.

The unions involved represent machinists, electricians, boiler-makers, sheet metal workers, carmen and firemen and others. The panel's recommendations could be binding until Jan. 1, 1969.

RULES FOR GOOD PLAY SHOULD NOT HIND YOU

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"What should I do when the rules of good play cost me a trick?" asks a reader. "I always play second-hand-low and third-hand-high, but his dealer always produces the best result. Are the books wrong?"

Opening lead — three of spades.

Yes, the books are wrong because no book can cover all possible situations. The "rules" are meant only as general advice. Break the rules whenever it's to your advantage to do so.

Take today's hand as an example of when to break the time-honored rule of "third-hand-high." West leads the three of spades, and declarer plays the queen from dummy.

East must break the rule if he wants to defeat the contract. Suppose East takes the ace of spades and returns a spade to dummy's king. Declarer starts the club, losing to West's queen. West can take his jack of spades and his ace of clubs, but nothing else. South's ten of spades saves the day for him.

Signals he ruled for a 3-2-3-2 East defeats the contract if he breaks the rule at the first trick. He should signal with the nine of spades instead of playing the ace.

Declarer starts the clubs, losing to the queen. West leads another spade, correctly interpreting the nine as an encouraging signal.

Now East can take the ace of spades and can return the deuce of spades through South. West gets both the eight of spades, and the defenders thus defeat the contract with three spades and two clubs.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade. Partner bids two hearts, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades: K-Q; Hearts: Q-J; Diamonds: Q-4; Clubs: 10-8-7-3.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. Your hand should be worth about three or four tricks to your partner, enough to produce a game if partner has a really good hand for his overall. If three hearts goes down, the loss is small since the opponents could probably make a part score if you let them bid comfortably.

Andover Garden Apartment Question Again Before Zoning Board

The planning and zoning commission will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Office Building. One of the items on the agenda will be the question of garden apartments in the west part of town.

Two requests for zone changes were heard July 24. On July 31 the commission announced that both requests had been denied. No reasons were given for denying the petitions, but it is expected that Thursday's hearing will bring forth the reasons.

S. J. Plouffe requested that a 30-acre tract on Rt. 6, between Hickory Dr. and the Sportsman's Club, be changed from light industrial to garden apartment zone. Ralph and Irene Bolles asked that a five-acre tract on Shoddy Hill Rd. be changed from residential 40 to the garden apartment classification.

200 Dogs Licensed

Town Clerk Ruth Munson reports that 200 dog licenses were issued for the year starting July 1. She estimates that between 75 and 100 dogs remain unlicensed. A penalty of $1 will be added to the regular license.

If no agreement is reached during that period—or in the next 30 days—both sides in the dispute must accept the board's recommendations.

More expressed confidence Wednesday a voluntary settlement would be reached.

The unions still are demanding wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 6 per cent next year, plus a 15-cent hourly hike each year for skilled workers. The railroads are sticking to their offer of a 6 per cent over the life of an 18-month contract plus a 5-cent hike for skilled workers.

The unions involved represent machinists, electricians, boiler-makers, sheet metal workers, carmen and firemen and others. The panel's recommendations could be binding until Jan. 1, 1969.

RULES FOR GOOD PLAY SHOULD NOT HIND YOU

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

"What should I do when the rules of good play cost me a trick?" asks a reader. "I always play second-hand-low and third-hand-high, but his dealer always produces the best result. Are the books wrong?"

Opening lead — three of spades.

Yes, the books are wrong because no book can cover all possible situations. The "rules" are meant only as general advice. Break the rules whenever it's to your advantage to do so.

Take today's hand as an example of when to break the time-honored rule of "third-hand-high." West leads the three of spades, and declarer plays the queen from dummy.

East must break the rule if he wants to defeat the contract. Suppose East takes the ace of spades and returns a spade to dummy's king. Declarer starts the club, losing to West's queen. West can take his jack of spades and his ace of clubs, but nothing else. South's ten of spades saves the day for him.

Signals he ruled for a 3-2-3-2 East defeats the contract if he breaks the rule at the first trick. He should signal with the nine of spades instead of playing the ace.

Declarer starts the clubs, losing to the queen. West leads another spade, correctly interpreting the nine as an encouraging signal.

Now East can take the ace of spades and can return the deuce of spades through South. West gets both the eight of spades, and the defenders thus defeat the contract with three spades and two clubs.

Daily Question

Dealer, at your left, bids one spade. Partner bids two hearts, and the next player passes. You hold: Spades: K-Q; Hearts: Q-J; Diamonds: Q-4; Clubs: 10-8-7-3.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid three hearts. Your hand should be worth about three or four tricks to your partner, enough to produce a game if partner has a really good hand for his overall. If three hearts goes down, the loss is small since the opponents could probably make a part score if you let them bid comfortably.

Andover Garden Apartment Question Again Before Zoning Board

The planning and zoning commission will meet Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the Town Office Building. One of the items on the agenda will be the question of garden apartments in the west part of town.

Two requests for zone changes were heard July 24. On July 31 the commission announced that both requests had been denied. No reasons were given for denying the petitions, but it is expected that Thursday's hearing will bring forth the reasons.

S. J. Plouffe requested that a 30-acre tract on Rt. 6, between Hickory Dr. and the Sportsman's Club, be changed from light industrial to garden apartment zone. Ralph and Irene Bolles asked that a five-acre tract on Shoddy Hill Rd. be changed from residential 40 to the garden apartment classification.

200 Dogs Licensed

Town Clerk Ruth Munson reports that 200 dog licenses were issued for the year starting July 1. She estimates that between 75 and 100 dogs remain unlicensed. A penalty of $1 will be added to the regular license.

Board Reports No Progress in Railroad Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — No progress is reported in a presidential board's two-week-old efforts to resolve a shopcraft dispute that shut down the nation's railroads last month for two days.

"Not a comma has shifted so far," an informed source said Wednesday of the stances held for months by the railroads and six unions representing 187,000 workers.

Under a law passed by Congress July 17 and the two-day without, the presidential board was given 30 days to bring about a negotiated settlement. If it fails in that period, the board, headed by Sen. Wayne Morse, D-Ore., must hold hearings over another 30-day period. If no agreement is reached during that period—or in the next 30 days—both sides in the dispute must accept the board's recommendations.

More expressed confidence Wednesday a voluntary settlement would be reached.

The unions still are demanding wage hikes of 6.5 per cent this year and 6 per cent next year, plus a 15-cent hourly hike each year for skilled workers. The railroads are sticking to their offer of a 6 per cent over the life of an 18-month contract plus a 5-cent hike for skilled workers.

of China and once an official observer at U.S. A-bomb tests; Dr. Tsien Hsue-shan, brilliant Chinese physicist considered one of the world's top rocket researchers, who undoubtedly had a key part in carrying China's nuclear warhead to a missile; Dr. Hua Lo-keng, a top U.S. physicist who spent four years at the University of Illinois and is credited by Communists sources with a big role in China's bomb program. There were many others, some of them students and protégés of these men.

One of the most intriguing stories was that of Dr. Tsien. He arrived in America in 1935 to study at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. In 1938 he transferred to Caltech, fascinated by the study of rocket propulsion in the days when it was regarded as science fiction. So brilliant was his performance that during World War I Tsien became head of the rocket section of the U.S. National Defense Scientific Advisory Board under Gen. Henry H. "Hap" Arnold of the Air Corps. With the rank of Air Corps colonel, Tsien went to Germany after the Nazi surrender to probe secrets of Hitler's rocket scientists.

Tsien won high U.S. official commendations. He was credited with contribution to U.S. victory in World War II and with essential contributions to the later rocket and space programs.

Tsien became Goddard professor of jet propulsion at Caltech and head of the Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena. In 1946 he filed notice of intention to become a U.S. citizen, evidently deciding to stay in America where his two children were born.

In the summer of 1950 Tsien's security clearance for sensitive work was lifted. The reason: 12 years before, Tsien's friends had included scientists and others whom the government later would call members of a Communist party unit. A party registration in Tsien's name was found by an undercover agent, but not in Tsien's handwriting and without his signature. He denied having registered. The undercover agent himself testified anyone could register a desirable candidate for membership without the subject's knowledge.

After two weeks behind bars, Tsien was released in bail. Hearings dragged into the spring of 1951. He was declared deportable but he was far too valuable to deport. For five years, forbidden to leave, Tsien continued teaching and turning out brilliant papers, though removed from sensitive work. Colleagues refused to believe he ever was a Communist.

Suddenly in 1950 the government deported Tsien and his family, along with 29 Chinese students mostly in graduate scientific work. As soon as he arrived in Red China, Tsien was put to work on missile research. Dr. Chao Chung-yao, the nuclear physicist, eluded U.S. authorities at about the time of Tsien's arrest. He sailed for Japan. Once in China, Chao announced his intention of working in nuclear research. He became deputy director in the Atomic Research Institute, which he established, and played a major role in the bomb program.

Hua Lo-keng left in 1950. At Hong Kong he denounced the United States as having unfair immigration laws, race prejudice and a climate hostile to Orientals. He urged all Chinese students to return.

Dr. W. Y. Chang, highly respected at Princeton University as a physicist, went back and became associated with the Institute of Atomic Energy.

Dr. Wang Kang-chang, after study at the University of Berlin, spent two years in Berkeley at the University of California. He is now deputy director of China's bomb program.

Those were only a few of the high quality senior scientists who became the hard core of China's effort. Europe helped, too. The man credited with leading China's program, Chien San-chiang, studied in Paris with the celebrated Frederick Joliot-Curie. Dr. Nieh Jung-chen, now an army chief of staff and member of an inner circle of party leaders, studied as a physicist in France, Belgium and Germany. He is in general military-political charge of the bomb program.

Without men from America and Europe, China would have taken much longer to produce bombs and missiles. She had been severely short of senior scientists.

In the World War II period, at one time or another, 10,000 Chinese students had been in the United States, the majority studying modern technologies. Many wanted to stay. Many did.

Peking, under Mao Tse-tung, desperately wanted senior scientists. Letters poured in on the Chinese scientists in America, denouncing U.S. attitudes, promising a new day dawning in China, promising the best of everything to those who would return. The campaign succeeded. By the end of 1952, about 1,000 students left the United States.

to Moscow with a delegation in 1953 to seek such help. Moscow and Peking agreed on joint activity, including a cooperative rare metals corporation in Sinkiang. The Russians installed a plant to process Sinkiang's uranium ore. Russia would operate it. Joint teams would explore for uranium and thorium. In 1953, Moscow under Nikita S. Khrushchev agreed to a program of "scientific-technical cooperation" and "peaceful use of atomic energy." Russian help included a 7,000-kilowatt capacity reactor, a cyclotron and fissionable materials.

Significant Soviet help was added in 1956 with establishment of the Joint Institute for Nuclear Research at Dubna. Large numbers of Chinese, including missionaries Tsien, physicists Chao and Wang and other alumni of U.S. universities, participated there. The Chinese began to move swiftly, and Moscow began to worry. In 1957, Khrushchev had signed an agreement promising China a sample A-bomb and data on how to manufacture it. But Mao frightened Khrushchev.

In a Moscow speech in November that year, Mao said that "if the worst came to the worst, half of mankind should die in nuclear war, while the other half would remain, while imperialism would be razed to the ground, and the whole world would become Socialist."

Khrushchev's repeated references to this remark made clear he had heard it with horror as a demonstration of Chinese recklessness. He kept Peking guessing until June 1959, then tore up the agreement to give China a sample bomb. More than 500 houses have reportedly badly damaged. Several persons have drowned and good shape water-storage-wise, the store's sporting goods section and that with more rain expect-

Burning Bullets Hinder Firemen

GRANDVIEW, Tex. (AP) — Hundreds of exploding bullets in a burning building held firemen at bay in the early stages of a fire that destroyed three business places Wednesday in this village south of Fort Worth.

Fire Chief Glenn Russell said the fire started in a three-story building, the tallest in town. It housed a department store, real estate office, barber shop and a restaurant.

Russell placed the loss at $100,000. The ammunition was in good shape water-storage-wise, the store's sporting goods section and that with more rain expect-

Firemen hose down remains of Calver's garage after the fire which destroyed the three-bay structure yesterday afternoon. The family's 1967 station wagon had been placed in the center stall only 15 minutes before the fire broke out.

Garage, Boat, Car Destroyed in Fire

Fire destroyed a three-stall brick and frame garage and its contents at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Calver, 63 New Bolton Rd., yesterday afternoon. Also ruined in the 4 p.m. blaze which gutted the interior were the family's 1967 Ford station wagon; a recently purchased aluminum boat; a horsepower motor and boat trailer; another 3 h.p. outboard motor; and a considerable quantity of camping equipment.

The flames were so intense in the right-hand stall where the boat rig was stored, only the steel trailer frame was recognizable after the fire. Both the boat and motor had disintegrated into molten metal.

Neither the Calvers nor firemen were able to look out a rear window.

Mrs. Calver said she had driven the station wagon into the center stall only about 15 minutes before the fire broke out. Her son was developing a covered smoke and flames issuing from the garage when she attempted to look out a rear window.

When she attempted to call firemen, she phoned to dead and she sent Andrew across the street to make the call from a neighbor's home, Mrs. Calver said.

However, Asst. Fire Chief Thomas McKinney indicated the call was phoned in by a Lake St. resident who saw smoke and flames shooting from the garage.

Dense black smoke was visible to Manchester Grid at the height of the blaze. Police blocked off the area and rerouted traffic via E. Main St. to Bolton Center Rd., keeping the fire scene relatively free of spectators.

Chief McKinney and 15 men from Cos. 2 and 3 fought the fire with two pumps but by the time they arrived the garage was beyond saving and they concentrated on preventing the flames from spreading to the house about 15 feet away.

The heat broke several windows at the rear of the house and scorched siding.

The location is beyond town fire mains, and firemen had to shuttle trucks to a hydrant at Greenwood Dr. to obtain additional water.

Calver, who arrived home from his foreman's job at Pratt & Whitney during the height of the fire, said he could not remember but he doubted that it would cover the full extent of the loss.

Sagging aluminum drops, charred seats and the steel trailer frame are all that remain of the 14-foot runabout and outboard motor. (Herald photo by Pinto.)

Bolton Dog Mending from Accident Is Waiting to Be Found

Wanted: The owner of a dog. A ginger-brown short-haired German Shepherd type (but smaller) female dog, about a year old, was hit by a car on Rt. 6 near the Andover line about ten days ago.

Dog Warden Frank Paggioli, called by a resident of the area, took the dog to the vet, where it underwent an operation for a fractured hip. Meanwhile, Paggioli advertised in the newspapers, with no response.

The dog is now walking after a successful operation, and, according to the vet's wife, is very good around children. If no owner comes forward—either the former owner or a new one, the dog must go the way of all unclaimed dogs—be "put to sleep."

The dog has white tips on her feet, and some black on

South Windsor Report Cites Classes In Industrial Arts

The South Windsor High School Industrial Arts Department is cited in the evaluation report on the school as being well equipped for activities in drafting, woods, metals and electronics.

Commenting on the "young, energetic and professionally minded staff of industrial arts teachers," the report noted the good student-teacher relationship and the exceptionally fine drafting program.

Recommendations for the program call for administrators and counselors to review and revise the present course selection pamphlet. For students especially interested in industry and technology occupational orientation should be available during Grade 9 and 10, the report said.

Noting the mathematics department has "an excellent organization," the study report said that an effort has been made in meeting the needs of able students through the development of honors groups within the college preparatory sequence.

Recommendations for the math department include that additional curriculum work should be added at both the upper and lower end of the scale. Additional use should be made of audio-visual equipment, and experimentation should be done in the use of programmed material, supplementary materials and independent study.

Noting that plans for adding a vocal music teacher in the high school are "especially commendable," the report termed the music department "excellent in teacher ratio in the school system."

"The department is characterized by a feeling of potential growth," the report said. "Band and chorus enrollments are heavy in freshman and sophomore levels and the report recommended written course descriptions and elements of objectives and standards which are missing for all music courses."

Physical Education Program

In the physical education course for boys, it is noted pupils appear to be enjoying the physical education classes.

The report noted that appropriate uniforms are worn and showers appear to be a satisfactory feature. "The development of a leaders corps to stimulate interest for advanced pupils is also recommended."

The leaders corps could also make possible ability grouping and provide for maximum participation during such activities as gymnastics, track and field and recreational activities, the report said.

The physical education program for girls is commended for the report between students and faculty.

Recommendations for the program include the establishing of a program for students with special needs and the use of ability grouping to insure maximum learning in each level in activities involving a wide range of skill.

Provision should also be made for the highly skilled girl to participate in an extra-curricular program, the report said. The program should be developed as an outgrowth of the intramural program, however, it said.

"The high school program should be coordinated with the middle school program to allow continuous progression of learning with a minimum of overlap," the report stated.

Science Program Cited

The report cited the science program, noting the small number of students per science class. "This situation is desirable provided the instructional procedures used capitalizes on this favorable situation," it said.

Terminating laboratory work for students "an important aspect of instruction" the evaluation report said that further development should be in the direction of more emphasis on the study of real problems in the laboratory rather than carrying out formal exercises.

Commenting that a diversified program tends to give a small staff heavy preparatory loads, the report says this is true at the high school. Several teachers have three preparations which tends to offset the advantages of small classes.

The report recommended that further development of the science curriculum be focused sharply on two problems. The first relates to tailoring courses in the laboratory to meet the needs of students. The second relates to instructional methods which are more than reliance on lecture and on question and answer techniques and technology."

The report said that additional science rooms will be needed

More to Be Selected NASA Reveals Names Of 5 New Astronauts

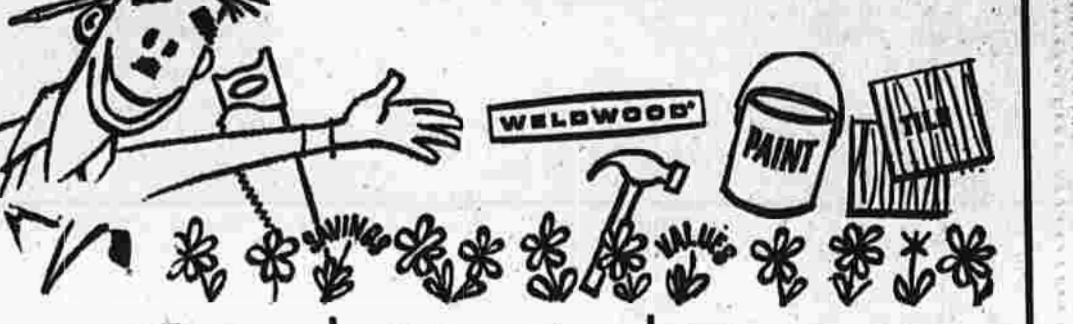

SPACE CENTER, Houston, Tex. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has confirmed the names of five men on a list of 11 selected astronauts that will be announced within the next few days.

The new spacemen include the nation's first foreign-born astronaut, Dr. John A. Leeves, 34, a native of Cardiff, Wales, and a research chemist on the faculty of Florida State University, and Philip K. Chapman, a native of Australia and a scientist at Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

Both Leevellyn, of Tallahassee, Fla., and Chapman, who lives near Boston, are naturalized U.S. citizens. NASA dropped a requirement last year that astronauts be native-born Americans.

The other three who, according to NASA, are "on the list" involved in the final selection process, are Dr. Donald Lee Felt, a physician from state and Canada are united in Houston, Tex.; Dr. Karl G. Hen-

Cushion the blow

Some people can pay cash for college or prep school without even flinching. But for most of us education is a major investment. And paying it off comes pretty hard. The Connecticut Bank and Trust Company has several college loan plans to lighten the burden. We offer Student Loans to students themselves. And we provide a program for parents, the Protected College Expense Plan. This plan is a boon even to families who can afford to pay cash. Because it not only stretches out the payments. But it guarantees the whole 4 years' expenses with life insurance. So relax. You can cushion the blow of college expenses

Pete Rose Switched on Power in Cincinnati 11 Hits by Brock and Flood Turn Off Chicago Electricity

NEW YORK (AP) — Lou Brock and Curt Flood turned off the electricity in Chicago while Pete Rose was switching on the power in Cincinnati.

Brock and Flood collected for 11 hits between them as the St. Louis Cardinals dimmed Chicago's pennant hopes Wednesday with a 4-2, 7-1 doubleheader sweep over the second-place Cubs.

The two victories muscled around the Cards' National League pennant hopes Wednesday as they ran for the lead in the first game of a doubleheader. Brock, who has 14 hits in 28 at bats since coming off the disabled list last Friday, contributed three singles in the opener and two more in the second game, bringing his average to .321.

Right-hander Dick Hughes and southpaw Steve Carlton put together successive complete games for the league leaders, scattering seven hits apiece and brought their season marks to 10-3 and 10-4, respectively.

Brock drove in two runs with a second inning single in the opener, then doubled and scored the deciding run in the sixth.

In the third inning of the nightcap Brock and Flood beat out successive base singles, triggering a four-run burst.

DOWN AND OUT—Tagged out when he attempted to score is Mets' Ed Kranepool. Bowled over but holding the ball is Houston catcher John Bateman.

Drabowsky and Cox In Bullpen Rewards

NEW YORK (AP) — Red Sox pitcher Casey Cox and Moe Drabowsky reaped the rewards of their professional careers for the first time as downers. Fred Gladding, another bullpen specialist, couldn't stand the heat.

Cox pitched the top of the 11th inning against Minnesota Wednesday night and won his fifth game in six decisions when Washington broke a tie for a 5-4 victory in the bottom of the inning.

Drabowsky worked the ninth, with Baltimore trailing the Detroit Tigers 1-0 and notched his seventh victory against one loss when Brooks Robinson homered in the middle half of the inning for a 2-1 triumph and a doubleheader split. Detroit won the opener, 4-2.

Gladding, 34 in relief, made his first start of the season for Detroit in the nightcap and scored on a five-hitter and a 1-0 lead through five innings.

But then he tried in the heat of the game to turn over the pitching chores to Jim Rice. The rookie lead left the job until Robinson's homer made him a loser and relegated Gladding to the bullpen.

At home, in the second, Thanos won wild running helped the Red Sox go in front 4-3 in the third.

Yastrzemski beat out an infield hit and came all the way around on Congioli's single and right fielder Mike Herzberger booted the ball to first base, allowing a run to score.

Chicago Scott singled and took the lead in the seventh.

He had seen the play on the outfield to the catcher, to the second baseman, to the catcher, to the pitcher.

Bell retired for a pinchhitter in the sixth after serving a home run to Harmon. John Wyatt replaced Bell, but was ineffective. Wyatt was tagged for two runs in the seventh and the Sox won by a score of 4-3.

Andrews batted a two-run homer, his sixth of the season, but the first of his young career.

CHURCH SOFTBALL
Scoring in every inning but the second, Army Navy stepped up to bat Wednesday night on a run-scoring single by five-hitter Art Benvenuto. The Red Sox collected a full advantage of 10 hits and nine runs.

White led the winning batters with a perfect four-for-four while Joe Shea had three hits and Bob Horry and Tom Comar scored two apiece.

The Niversons paced the losers, Charlie and Ron both collected two hits apiece. Benvenuto and Cuneo; Cooper and Benvenuto.

Win One, Lose One' on Current Home Stand Red Sox Fall into Bad Habit

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox are falling into a bad habit in their current home stand as they try to win one and lose one in an 11-3 win over Wyman Oil at Mt. Nebo.

The current home stand has been a win one and lose one, a pattern that has not been good enough to bring Boston its first American League pennant race.

The last place Kansas City Athletics handed the Sox another severe jolt by rallying for an 8-4 victory Wednesday night before a crowd of 34,840 at Fenway Park.

The loss left Boston 2 1/2 games behind the Yankees and Cleveland Indians.

The Red Sox jumped out to a 1-0 lead on Mike Anderson's lead-off walk, a double by Carl Yastrzemski and a sacrifice fly by Tony Conigliaro.

However, the A's bounced back with three unearned runs in the second. Two walks landed on catcher Gary Bell, an error by Rico Petrocelli, a suicide squeeze bunt and a single did the rest.

Andrews batted a two-run homer, his sixth of the season, but the first of his young career.

Elston Howard Sold to Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox today traded veteran catcher Elston Howard from the Yankees to the Red Sox for an undisclosed amount of cash and two players to be named later.

The 38-year-old Howard has been with the Yankees since 1958. He has seen the limited action this year and is batting .198, has hit three home runs and has 17 runs batted in.

Howard was traded to the Red Sox for a pitcher and a player to be named later.

Baltimore Decline Luridous Stage Nearly Reached

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles, going from the sublime to the ridiculous in one season, almost reached the luridous stage Wednesday night.

After a squabble which lasted several minutes, Dobson delivered another pitch and Brown slammed a game-winning homer into the left field bleachers.

The Tigers won the opener 4-2 and were leading 1-0 in the ninth inning of the nightcap when the pitcher was ejected on an embarrassing protest.

Arguing vainly for a time out, Frank was standing on the base with his back toward home when a 2-1 pitch was made quiet by a time out.

Frank's protest that such a base was illegal was rejected by umpire Bill Valentine, and so was Robinson's request for a time out.

Ex-Spartans, Irish On Defensive Unit

CHICAGO (AP) — The Green Bay Packers' offensive unit can't be blamed too much Friday night if they think they are participating in a replay of last year's 10-10 tie between Notre Dame and Michigan State.

Rigney Gets Repoz Running And Angels Trim Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — It's been said explaining why he hesitated at second base. "I was yelling my lungs out for Roger to run," laughed Rigney.

Repoz took off like a scared rabbit and scampered across the infield, hitting home in the ninth inning Wednesday night as the Angels edged the New York Yankees 4-3.

Rigney's Angels were trailing in the ninth inning Wednesday night when Roger Repoz opened with a pinch single.

It was Field's seventh inning error that allowed Ruben Amaro to score from second with the runner on first and the Yankees in the lead.

The winners of each heat will qualify for Saturday's five-bat final. But the losers will meet in a repechage—second chance for 20-3.

Clay Passport Held by Court, Limits Travel

HOUSTON (AP) — A federal court held Gaston Clay's passport today, limiting the former heavyweight champion's travel to within the United States.

U.S. Dist. Judge Joe Ingraham ordered Clay's passport surrendered Wednesday after denying the fighters request to leave the country to participate in a boxing match in Japan.

Ingraham issued the order pending the outcome of Clay's appeal of a June 20 conviction for refusal to be inducted into the Army.

Clay, who claims he should be exempt from the draft because he is a Black Muslim minister named Muhammad Ali, was assessed a $10,000 fine and a 10-month prison sentence.

The World Boxing Association stripped Clay of his title when he refused induction and set up an eight-man elimination tournament to select a successor.

MANCHESTER (AP) — Making it two wins in a row, the Manchester Auto Parts defeated Annals' in the Town Little League Tournament at Wadell Field.

Tom Tomko had two singles and a double to lead the winners to a 4-1 victory.

Connie McCurry and Lyle Eastman an infield hit to account for the margin of victory. They added parts defeated Annals' 4-1 another marker in the fourth.

A tally in the second inning, the Town Little League Tournament at Wadell Field.

Tom Tomko had two singles and a double to lead the winners to a 4-1 victory.

Top Contender

Center Court, winners for the third straight year in the Championship.

The League will also be a strong contender. They have been runners-up in the town tourney the past two years.

The winner of each league gains a playoff spot and the second and third place teams will meet in a league playoff to determine the other top representatives.

It might not be amiss for the powers that be to consider playing more tournament games under the lights at Mt. Nebo. Consideration should be made to have every club play there at least once.

Should it be possible to play at night, it would go a long way in bringing the tournament to the people. Many spectators find it difficult to make a game that starts in the afternoon or early evening.

The Rec Department, like all parts of our town government, should not be for athletes alone. It should make an attempt to include everybody. Being a spectator is also a form of recreation.

Field Goals Lead Rams Over Saints

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Bruce Gossett kicked three field goals as the Los Angeles Rams spoiled the debut of the New Orleans Saints into the National Football League with a 16-7 exhibition game victory Wednesday night at Anaheim Stadium.

Gossett hit three field goals from 14, 9, and 45 yards out to provide the difference as each team had a turnover in the league's pre-season opener before 26,364.

Although the Rams dominated the first half and built a 10-0 lead, the new Saints marched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

Los Angeles fullback Les Josephson scored on a 2-yard run capping a 84-yard advance in the second quarter for the opening tally and Gossett kicked his first field goal before the intermission.

New Orleans quarterback Bill Klimer, who took over for starter Gary Cozzo, engineered the Saints' touchdown drive in the third quarter as he hit 10 passes for 58 yards, the final 8-yard throw to Les Killebrew. Duke converted.

Moments later Ed Mesnor inched back with a stronger showing in the final period.

New Orleans Coach Tom Fears sent Gary Wood in to run the offense in a Killebrew rollout he hit Jim Hester on a 38-yard gain to the Rams' seven. A pass interference penalty gave the Saints a first down on the two. Former star Green Bay Packers quarterback Taylor dropped a Wood pass, apparently destined for a touchdown and the Rams held on three more plays.
