Maoists Attacked By Soviet

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Communist party today unleashed a massive verbal attack against Mao Zedong and predicted that the Chinese people "will put an end to his harmful policy." The attack in the Communist party newspaper Pravda followed a new flap between this country and China over the Soviet ship Svirsk which was held with its captain in the Manchurian port of Dairen before being allowed to leave this week. Pravda declared that Mao and his followers were hurting the cause of communism both in China and in the world. "Discontent is growing in the party and the masses at large with the intolerable economic and political situation brought about by the Peking leaders," Pravda asserted. The newspaper expressed confidence that the Chinese people will not allow the present Mao policies to continue indefinitely. But it set no time limit on this and stopped short of actually predicting the overthrow of Mao. Should the Mao group manage to continue in power, Pravda said, "the possibility of a historic zigzag in the development of Chinese society cannot be ruled out." Where such a zigzag would take China was not spelled out. For the past year Khrushchev has been expressing increasing concern over the course of events in China. Moscow has openly sided with Mao's opponents and predicted that "true communism" would triumph eventually. Pravda said that the Mao group was "objectively aiding imperialism."

RCMP Seeks Killer of 9

SHELL LAKE, Sask. (AP)—Royal Canadian Mounted Police set up roadblocks and turned bloodhounds loose in Saskatchewan farm country today as they searched for the killer of nine members of a Canadian family. Only a 4-year-old girl was spared in the James Peterson farm house near Shell Lake Tuesday. Bullets from a 22-caliber weapon killed Peter, 47, his wife Evelyn, 42, and seven of their eight children. Storekeeper Earl Dallas of Shell Lake said the family was well liked and had "an enemy in the world." Coroner Dr. Calvin S. Lambert of Levellie said, "I don't think there was a suicide, because no weapon was found. Police Inspector Brian Sawyer said there was no apparent motive for the slaying."

South Viets Kill 98 Communists

SAIGON (AP)—South Vietnamese troops, supported by U.S. air and ground forces, reported today killing 98 Communist soldiers in two sharp clashes, one in the Mekong delta and the other 20 miles north of Saigon. One U.S. soldier was killed and the Vietnamese suffered eight casualties, a military spokesman said. Meanwhile, Communist booby traps killed eight Marines and wounded 10 south of Da Nang Tuesday and four terrorist attacks were reported in the next few weeks. Military officials have predicted a sharp rise in Viet Cong activity in the next few weeks, aimed at disrupting South Vietnam's presidential election Sept. 4. In the air war, an Air Force jet concentrated again on truck convoys, the Air Force issued a report that a total of 841 enemy trucks have been destroyed or damaged in the first 15 days of August, surpassing the total of 832 for the entire month of July. Scotland Yard Probes Finances Of Terrorists

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard police believe they are on the trail of an international gold smuggling ring financing Chinese Communist terrorism and rioting in Hong Kong, police sources said today. Submarine guns, rifles, revolvers, ammunition and models for counterfeit coins were uncovered in raids Tuesday on a rambling Bedfordshire house and a bakery shop in Middlesex. Sources said the detention of several British businessmen who make regular trips abroad is planned. Messages were dispatched to Interpol and other police forces in continental Europe and in the Far East. Former British speedway ace Francis "Squid" Waterman, 38, was charged Tuesday with attempted illegal exportation of gold. Waterman, 38, was charged Tuesday with attempted illegal exportation of gold. GOP Leaders Support Social Security Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—House Republican Leaders came out today in support of a pending bill to boost Social Security benefits and taxes, and thus apparently assured House passage of the measure. GOP Leader Gerald R. Ford and Rep. John J. Rhodes, R-Ariz., chairman of the party's policy committee, said the committee had voted support. Ford added, at a news conference, he knows of no Republican efforts to amend the measure. Scheduled to open today was debate on a bill that would raise the Social Security benefits of the nation's 22 million present recipients and of all future recipients. Flood Evacuation Goes On; Help Mobilizes for Fairbanks

$200 Million Damage; Three Deaths Counted

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—Flood-desolated Fairbanks counted its known dead at three and damage at upwards of $200 million today as round-the-clock evacuations continued and massive assistance efforts were mobilized. About half of this interior Alaska city's 30,000 residents had been evacuated by helicopter and river boats to refuge centers since Tuesday. The exodus still went on. Brown, allied flood waters of the wild Chena River, which slices through the center of the city, covered parts of Fairbanks to a depth of nine feet. Six buildings had been destroyed by fire since Monday night and the threat of a holocaust was ever-present. The deep, swift water made fire fighting impossible. At least three bodies had been recovered, one of them a child. There were no identifications. A state of urgency spurred relief efforts. Freezing weather was only two months away, and that the bitter cold of winter that saw temperatures drop to 20 below. $10,000 Lost, Found Again

WHEATPORT (AP)—The employee left the department store with the bag containing about $10,000, and headed for the bank. While he opened the car door yesterday, he put the bag on the roof of the vehicle, but to no avail. But everything turned out all right. A car dealer spotted the blue bag on the road, stopped and picked it up. When he saw what the bag contained, he called the bank and the department store. A bank representative and an official of the store were alerted. It was a hurried battle to lose. A strongly glowing search around St. Joseph's Hospital.

Eyewitnesses Say Flood Tears Out Fairbanks' Heart

FAIRBANKS, Alaska (AP)—My feet have not really been dry for more than 30 hours. It is an experience I share with a large number of residents of this community, where the hip high rubber boot and the rain jacket have become a way of life. There is something terrifying about dark and rushing water, and when that water rises the heart out of a city, it is even more dreadful. It was growing dusky under a mournful sky when I arrived here Monday evening. The Chena River was tearing at its bridges and the water was high at the edges of town. The city's battle against the river was dramatic. It was a hurried battle to lose. A strongly glowing search around St. Joseph's Hospital.

Brand New Roads Have Old Hazards

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal government has realized that some roadside hazards that make older highways dangerous have been incorporated into many new Interstate highways. Road builders now concede that when work began a decade ago on the $60 billion Interstate network's planners underestimated the perils that might be posed by fixed objects along the roadside. It's proving to be a costly—and deadly—oversight, although statistics show Interstate highways are far safer than other roads. Now, with 25,000 miles of interstate highways completed at a cost of $60 billion, the Bureau of Public Roads is urging states to spend what one source said would be hundreds of millions more in federal dollars to correct such hazards as: Heavy steel sign and light poles mounted in concrete bases. Although lightweight poles that snap off harmlessly when hit by a vehicle have been on the market for years, some states still erect the massive sign and light supports. Guard rails that don't guard, but guide skidding cars directly into bridge abutments and the like. Spoiled guard rail ends that can spear vehicles which run off the road. Some states bury guard rail ends in the ground, but most don't. Exit areas cluttered with trees and brush. Investigation shows these and other hazards "are as widespread today as the United States' exit from coast to coast," says Rep. John A. Blatnik.

California Senator Speaks

Two-Party System Blamed for Riots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Riots, he said, "they should be blamed for the riots and not the two-party system."

Sen. Mervyn Dymally, a Democrat and national co-chairman of the recently organized National Conference of Negro Elected Officials.

"The Democrats take Negro votes for granted and they're afraid of the white backlash," he said.

"I've talked to a number of officials back here and the word is out: 'If you're militant, get elected to the California Senate last year, cited his own experiences as an example of what he called his party's failure to respond to Negro officials."

He noted he was elected by an 82 per cent margin while the Republican Ronald Reagan was winning California's governorship by one million votes.

"Now you'd think the Democratic party would want to preserve such solid support by consulting with and working through the elected representatives. But I have virtually no contact with the national party," he said.

"And because they ignore me and other elected Negro officials, we simply can't prevent the legislation and the programs that are needed. The voters know this so they turn to another method than politics—and mostly it's Black Power."

"That's why it's ridiculous for white leaders to call on moderate Negro leaders to stop the SUNAPEE, N.H. (AP) — Mrs. Judy Murray looked out her kitchen window Tuesday and what she saw was enough to make a mother's blood run cold.

The family car with her two young children was rolling down the driveway at the Weston, Mass., family's rented lakeside cottage toward Lake Sunapee.

"I don't think you could have fit a car and 5 inches of air between those trees," said Jesse Stone of Newport, a conservative town officer.

The father, John, is a salesman in Boston. The Murray's have another daughter, Susan, 9, who was away at summer camp.

Second Thoughts Given

To Tshombe Extradition

ALGERIA (AP) — Both the Algerian and Congolese governments seem to be having second thoughts about extraditing Mobutu Sese Seko Konde Ngbendu to the Congo to face the death penalty.

Algeria's Col. Houari Boumediene is in no hurry to hand Tshombe over to Congo President Joseph D. Mobutu despite the Algerian Supreme Court's July 21 decision recommending extradition.

Tshombe, 47, former Balongo separatist leader, and former Premier of the Congo, was kidnapped in a flight over the Mediterranean and brought to Algeria June 30. He had been convicted in absentia of treason against the Congo.

Algerian officials and the government-controlled press have repeatedly hinted that the Boumediene government may set up an international revolutionary tribunal to try Tshombe in Algeria for "crimes against Africa."

Drafted in Error, Guardsman Released

FT. BRAGG, N.C. (AP) — of the individual," the Selective Service system had ignored Brown's requests for release—even though the Pennsylvania National Guard admitted he shouldn't have been drafted.

"Here it has taken five months to break through this bureaucratic structure on what I felt was an open and shut case," Schweiker said in an interview in Washington. "Naturally I'm glad it turned out this way but it is an example of how the Selective Service system is insensitive to an individual's needs."

As far as Brown was concerned, there was only one thing wrong—he never should have been drafted in the first place.

"I'm certainly glad to get out," Brown said Tuesday shortly after he was notified the Army—into which he was erroneously drafted from a National Guard unit five months ago—was letting him go home.

But Rep. Richard J. Schweiker, R-Pa., whose plans in the Senate were to release the 25-year-old Guardsman from Oakland, Pa., was still fuming.

"I started working on this case in March," said Schweiker, R-Pa. "I was a gentleman until I just got fed up. I decided there was no alternative but to make a strong public stand and within 12 hours he was ordered released."

Schweiker said until he issued a public statement Tuesday concerning draft chief Lewis B. Thunam and neodymium, an element that is essential for the production of atomic energy.

Not So Rare Most of the so-called "rare earths," chemical elements, are more common than gold or silver. Some, such as cerium, lanthanum and neodymium, are abundant in the earth's crust.

SNCC Attack on Jews Gets Double Censure

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee's charge that Jews are a dominating force in the Arab attack on Israel has been censured by the "Black Power" group from Jewish and civil rights leaders.

"Israel is and always has been the tool and footstool for American and British exploitation in the Middle East and Africa," said Ralph Featherstone, SNCC program director.

Featherstone, Executive Secretary Stanley Wise and Alan Bialik Minor held a news conference Tuesday to expand on the SNCC newsletter which charged that Zionists conspired to overthrow Israel through terror, force and mass murder.

The newsletter also charged that the Israelis destroyed more than 30 Arab villages before and after they took control of Palestine.

Decad Stone, head of SNCC in Atlanta, said the group is not opposed to Zionism, but that the public should be "aware of those situations in the Middle East."

Reaction to SNCC's statement came quickly from several sources. Whitney Young, executive director of the National Urban League, a Negro group, said in New York that SNCC's "diverse

College 'Political Interns' Researching in Washington

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gale Fox, a 26-year-old senior at Beaver College, Pennsylvania, is doing research at the Democratic National Committee on the causes of race riots and phases of Vietnam policy.

Over at the Republican National Committee, John F. Fressa, 19, who has completed two years at Illinois State University, is researching the psychology of voters, trying to learn what makes a voter to register as Republican or Democrat.

Both Mas Fox, of Maplewood, N.J., and Fressa, of Normal, Ill., are interns—college students spending the summer in Washington. Their primary aim is to spend more about how the wheels of government—and for these particular interns, politics—go around.

Altogether, there are some 5,000 students who are summer jobs in Washington. Not all are, strictly speaking, interns. Some just found and took jobs. But there are interns in government departments and agencies, in offices of Congress members and in quasigovernment organizations such as the two major political committees.

For purposes of definition, an intern is one who got a job through an intern program.

And the whole idea of students interning in Washington is a growing one.

The Y.M.C.A. and the Y.W.C.A. have national programs called "Washington Citizenship Seminars" geared to interning.

Some colleges are giving academic credit in political science for certain summer work in government. More are extending financial aid to those interns who receive no salary.

Many interns are not paid, although those in government departments get the regular scale for which their jobs are rated.

None of the six interns at the Republican National Committee is paid.

The Democratic National Committee, which currently has 12, says the majority are unpaid volunteers. Congress members have $700 each, available specifically for intern pay. It can be given to one or divided among several. Some in Congress who are financially well off dip into their own pockets to pay interns.

In Congress particularly, the problem is more applicants than jobs.

Firemen's Morale Still High Despite Rioting in Cities

Their arrival announced by screaming sirens, their all-out efforts to clear streets of rioters, black against orange flames, firemen in cities hit by violence in the streets have found themselves clear targets for bottles, stones and bullets.

Sims have died.

Fire department officials responding in an Associated Press survey of cities hit by rioting this summer say the danger hasn't lowered the firemen's morale.

The firemen themselves have mixed emotions—they're scared, but they have a job to do.

"It stinks," said Capt. John Hoffman, a 12-year veteran of the fire department in Newark, N.J., where one fireman was shot to death during racial violence. "But he died for a good cause and we have a duty to do."

John Caulfield, fire director in Newark, said, "I think morale is higher than ever. The crisis has pulled the men together."

Caulfield said he knew of only one fireman who had quit, and one other who planned to quit.

The disorders and the danger have brought changes in Newark, all alarms now are answered by two pumps, a hook and ladder truck and a battalion chief.

"No one is going in anywhere alone now," says Caulfield.

A fireman was among the 43 who perished in the Detroit rioting. Police said he apparently was the victim of a sniper's bullet.

"When the riot first started, the police are busy just handling the riot," said Detroit Fire Chief Charles J. Quinlan. "After the National Guard was called up, we had two National Guardsmen assigned to every piece of equipment. That gave our men some confidence."

Fire Chief James Mohr of Milwaukee, Wis., said "protection from snipers" was the principal concern of his men. Police and National Guardsmen rode fire trucks in the troubled area during the rioting there.

Wisconsin Atty. Gen. Bronson C. LaPette is reported to be considering granting arrest to firemen, increasing compensation for injury and providing more police help for the firefighters.

In an effort to minimize the danger, firemen responding to calls in New York's Spanish

Non-Silver Coin Is Planned for '76 Anniversary

SALISBURY (AP)—The United States Mint, its director said, would definitely produce a commemorative coin in 1976 to mark the 200th anniversary of the nation's founding.

Sigel handles management details for breakfasts put on by the Democratic committee, its cabinet members and other government officials speak.

Republican Glenn Medinger, 30, of Ventura, N.D., also thinks he would like to run for Congress some day. He is chairman of the Young Republicans at his school, the University of North Dakota.

Neighbors Aid Ailing Farmer, Plow 120 Acres

Neighbors stepped in when trouble piled up and kept farmer Gordon Smith from plowing his fields.

Friends and neighbors with 13 tractors and other farm equipment moved into the Smith place Tuesday and in two hours plowed 120 acres of land and prepared it for wheat planting. They figure it would have taken Smith five days to do the work.

Smith had been getting behind in his work in recent weeks since his son, Army 1st Lt. Gordon E. Smith, was wounded in Vietnam. The son tried to throw an enemy hand grenade clear of a vehicle but it exploded, taking off his right arm and injuring his face.

Then Smith had an accident with a lawn mower. He lost parts of several fingers.

"This put him further behind in his farm work, and the neighbors said they would take over their efforts," said Smith.

His wife went to an Army hospital at Dover where her son is recuperating from his injury.

"We just decided to do the work," said one farmer who pitched in with the chores. "We knew he was behind because of the troubles he had."

Neighbors Aid Ailing Farmer, Plow 120 Acres In Mile Hill Rd. Area

Neighbors stepped in when trouble piled up and kept farmer Gordon Smith from plowing his fields.

Friends and neighbors with 13 tractors and other farm equipment moved into the Smith place Tuesday and in two hours plowed 120 acres of land and prepared it for wheat planting. They figure it would have taken Smith five days to do the work.

Smith had been getting behind in his work in recent weeks since his son, Army 1st Lt. Gordon E. Smith, was wounded in Vietnam. The son tried to throw an enemy hand grenade clear of a vehicle but it exploded, taking off his right arm and injuring his face.

Then Smith had an accident with a lawn mower. He lost parts of several fingers.

"This put him further behind in his farm work, and the neighbors said they would take over their efforts," said Smith.

His wife went to an Army hospital at Dover where her son is recuperating from his injury.

"We just decided to do the work," said one farmer who pitched in with the chores. "We knew he was behind because of the troubles he had."

Tolland Bray Buys 161 Acres In Mile Hill Rd. Area

Three shunting plots of land in the Mile Hill Rd. area totaling 161 acres have been purchased by Stanley Bray of Manchester, according to records in the town clerk's office.

The property borders on the Vermont town line, Walker Reservoir and Mile Hill Rd. and is in the vicinity of the Wilbur Cross Highway. It was purchased from Werner O. Kuntz, Robert Fae and Louis P. Samel of Vermont. Bray could not be reached for comment on plans he may have for the property.

The land is in a residential area and borders on a parcel also owned by Kuntz, Fae and Samel which was involved in court action recently.

The former Vermont Fire District had changed the zone from residential to commercial. The zone change was ruled by Superior Court Judge Joseph S. Griffin in slightly over a year.

Mrs. Dorothy S. Kloter of Mile Hill Rd. brought suit against the zone change.

Mrs. Kloter's property, valued at $60,000, (according to the judge's memorandum of decision) is in close proximity to the former Old Post Office over three acres of her property was included in the rezoning.

The first parcel bought by Bray, a Manchester real estate developer, contains 86 acres bordering Reservoir Rd., the Vermont town line and Mile Hill Rd.

A second parcel of 13 acres borders Mile Hill Rd., and the third parcel of 60 acres runs

CPEC Report Bargaining Law Revisions Cause Towns New Problems

HARTFORD (AP)—Revised state laws on collective bargaining by municipal employees have in some ways increased labor contract problems facing cities and towns, the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council said today.

"Considerable thought should be given to revision of the municipal collective bargaining law before the 1969 legislative session," the private research organization said.

The CPEC urged continued study of the 1965 law and the 1967 amendments made by the General Assembly. The law granted municipal employees the right to bargain collectively with municipal employers.

But the CPEC said 1967 amendments to the law permitted bargaining to continue past the date for making the budget in each city and town, and provide that eventual agreements may be retroactive.

"Once a tax rate and levy has been established," the CPEC asked, "where and under what authority does a municipality find funds to implement an agreement reached after the start of the fiscal year?"

The research organization also said that the amendments permit towns with a selectmen-town meeting form of government, approval by a majority of selectmen is all that is needed to make such a labor agreement valid and binding on the town.

Not defined in the collective bargaining law revisions.

"Does this mean that in the municipal field," the council asked, "the decision of the arbitrator would oblige the legislative body to appropriate the funds needed for the arbitrated agreement in the town's budget?"

"And does it further mean," the CPEC asked, "that the (town) legislators would lose their power of review in such matters?"

The study organization's statement also said that the power of the town meeting, which it said is considered by some persons the final authority in approving town budgets, is curtailed by another 1967 amendment.

The CPEC said that the amendment provides that in towns with a selectmen-town meeting form of government, approval by a majority of selectmen is all that is needed to make such a labor agreement valid and binding on the town.

South Windsor Three Uninjured In Car Collision

Three persons escaped injury about 9:30 last night in a two-car collision at Pleasant Valley and Long Hill Rds.

Police said the car drivers were Robert G. West, 18, of East Hartford and Victor J. Gervasio, 29, of 161 Wetherell St., Manchester.

Police said Linda Zanetti of East Hartford, a passenger in West's car, complained of pain but no visible sign of injury was apparent.

Election Going Smoothly, 70 More Troopers To Guard Marchers

SALON (AP) - U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker said today South Vietnam's presidential election is proceeding fairly and freely. He said claims and rumors of unfairness are natural in any stiffly contested election. It was the first public statement by the ambassador in the face of charges by some of the 19 civilian presidential candidates that the military government was sabotaging their campaign and harassing their representatives. The United States mission has taken a hands-off policy. Bunker's statement was issued as the civilian candidates of a final meet with the people-10 days late. With the month-long campaign period almost half over, they went to Bien Hoa, 18 miles northeast of Saigon, and gave 15-minute speeches from a common platform. Bunker expressed his opinion that the election activities are proceeding fairly and freely, if we judge them by the standards of an American election, which many of us seem to be doing. "I think we sometimes forget that this is a nation with a long history of authoritarian control, both foreign and domestic, that there are still problems of security in the countryside, and that Vietnam is in the midst of a bitter war." Most of the charges by the civilian candidates have been aimed at the military ticket of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky. The candidates have charged that government officials and police are intimidating their representatives and that Thieu and Ky deliberately undercut the candidates campaign tour of the provinces. None of the charges have been confirmed and Thieu and Ky have denied all of them. Scheduled to start a 23-stop tour of the provinces Aug. 4, the candidates had called off the tour in Quang Tri, the first stop, when they were ambushed by a transportation mixup and what they felt were inadequate arrangements for the government. At a meeting with the planning firm of Currier, Anderson and Geda and Robert Koyas, director of election subcommittee, Edwin A. Lammann served as legal advisor. A crowd estimated at 1,000 turned out to hear the 2 1/2 hours of speeches in Bien Hoa. A light rain, divided down to fewer than 200 by the time the military ticket of Chief of State Nguyen Van Thieu for president and Premier Nguyen Cao Ky for vice president was absent, as it was on the trip to Quang Tri. A local representative spoke for the Thieu-Ky ticket at Bien Hoa. The candidates spoke from a small stage, decorated with the flag, in the yard of a girls' elementary school. Most of the crowd were civil servants and militarymen. Lt. Col. Tran Van Hai, Bien Hoa Province chief, said he had been informed only Tuesday afternoon that the candidates were coming. He said the crowd was small—there are 60,000 registered voters in Bien Hoa City and 170,000 in the province—because there was not enough time to spread the word and because it was the middle of the week and most people were working. He said loudspeaker trucks of the government information ministry had gone around announcing the campaign rallies. Information Ministry workers passed out campaign literature of all the candidates at the rally. Some spectators obviously were supporters of one candidate or another, with leading civilian candidate Tran Hung getting the lion's share of the applause.

South Windsor Proposed Industrial Site May Call for Zone Change

The proposed new industrial complex to be located on Rt. 5 may call for a zone change on some of the 248 acres to be developed. Russell Broderick, head of the developing firm which represents Davis Brothers Inc., said the present zoning is not satisfactory with the permitted land uses and an up-zoning of the zoning regulations may be called for. At a meeting with adjacent property owners to the industrial area this week, Broderick said the complex would be the highest type of industrial facilities. It was noted that two or three industries already have been turned down for possible occupancy of the complex because consultants did not feel the total concept of the area would be served best by business concerns of this type. Residents of the Westwood Park subdivision, which adjoins the land to be developed, expressed concern that any zoning change would call for at least comparable or better permitted uses for the property. Broderick, commenting on the Westwood Park area, said the attractiveness of the homes in this section was very favorable in the overall plan of development for the complex. He noted that the master plan for the area is not completed yet and studies are being made on such aspects as commercial support for the complex. He also said developers will create restrictions of their own within the area as to noise levels, colors and other industrial effects. The major portion of the complex land is zoned industrial. However, portions of adjacent acreage is zoned R-1, A-20 and R-2. In response to a question regarding what use would be made of the areas zoned A-20 and R-2, Broderick said the definition of industry is not clear. He noted that types of industry range from warehouses to manufacturing concerns. The final analysis now is under study, Broderick said. The Capital Region Planning Agency predicts this area will be prime location by the year 2000 for housing as well as for industry, he said. The Westwood Park prop-

He was observed driving over the double yellow line on Center St. shortly after midnight last night. He is scheduled for court appearance on Aug. 28. Rights Bill Controversy Continues Welfare Family of Nine Takes $200-a-Month Home

WASHINGTON (AP) - House backers of a civil rights bill say it won't deter Negro rioting... WASHINGTON (AP) - A family of nine, who have been living on relief payments in a 500-a-month motel, have decided after some wavering to move out of the motel by the end of the month, they would be put on the street. The Westchester County Welfare Department is offering it. "I made it clear that it boiled down to that," Kurtis said. "Mrs. Jacobs had some objections about the size of some rooms, but apparently they're overcome now." The county said it would cut another window in the nine-room house's living room to make it more comfortable for the Jacobs. The house in Yonkers has a big backyard. The Jacobs were forced out of their original apartment when the owner demanded they move to make way for his daughter's family. Beatrice Bittner, head of the Yonkers office of the County Welfare Department, said the family had been evicted from its 4 1/2-room apartment Feb. 27 and has been living in the motel since then. She said rent for the new house would be "in the vicinity of $200."

Baggage Load Vast

WASHINGTON - Airlines are preparing to handle 830 million pieces of passenger baggage a year at airports by 1970. Plans are under design to permit baggage claims within three minutes of arrival. The welfare official said, however, that the family looked for a home from October to January, when it came to the Welfare Department for assistance. "This has been the only offer we have had," Mrs. Bittner said. Asked about Mrs. Jacobs' reported objections, Mrs. Bittner said: "She's kind of dreaming of finding a place in a nice neighborhood. She's living with hope." The welfare official said, however, that the family looked for Consideration of the measure resumed today with a flock of amendments expected. However, the bill has strong bipartisan support and leaders expect its passage by tonight. "There is a correlation between the nondeterrence of civil rights violence and the violence in our cities," Collier said, adding that failure to prosecute for violence against Negroes helps breed lack of respect for legally constituted authority. An opponent of the bill, Rules Committee Chairman William M. Colmer, D-Miss., said it and previous civil rights bills have been a cause of rioting. "You go out and offer more and more and more political bait to many people who can't understand it and who use it as a license to go out into the streets and shoot people and burn property down," he argued. Colmer also contended the measure was "a built-in defense" for a House-passed bill that would make it a federal crime to cross state lines with the intent of inciting a riot. But Rep. William C. Cramer, R-Fla., chief sponsor of the anti-riot measure, said provisions already in the bill, plus others he hopes to add, will make clear the rights bill is not intended to protect persons who incite, instigate or cause riots. The bill aimed at strengthening the government's ability to meet threats or violence against civil rights workers, voting, public accommodations, jobs, jury service and education.

Mayor Ignored Housing Plea, Says Flint Man

FLINT, Mich. (AP) - A city commissioner has charged that Flint's Negro mayor refused to consider an open occupancy housing ordinance earlier this year. Mayor Floyd McCree said he will resign his post because the commission rejected the ordinance Monday. At least four Negro city appointees said they would follow McCree's lead and resign also. But Commissioner Harry K. Cull, who said he voted against the bill when it was beaten 8-2, said Tuesday night he sought to have McCree bring up the bill last spring "to head off this 'long, hot summer' thing. Cull said McCree told him the time was not ripe. McCree could not be reached for comment. "I have no basic quarrel with an open housing ordinance," Cull said. "I think I'm sure it will pass within three or four months. I just don't want to move under the shogun."

McCree has served nine years on the commission in this industrial city of 200,000 some 60 miles northwest of Detroit. He was elected by fellow commissioners last fall. "I'm not going to sit up here any longer and live an equal opportunity lie," said the 44-year-old mayor. Three members of the Flint Human Relations Commission, Leo A. Greene, John W. Mack and the Rev. Avery Aldridge, said they would resign. The Rev. Alfred L. C. Robbs, a member of the county board of supervisors, said he too, would quit if McCree resigns. Cull said the resignations "show a certain amount of irresponsibility. I want to see Floyd back in as mayor. I think he's a good one. He just let his emotions run away with him."

Flint and other Michigan cities suffered racial violence and rioting in July. Bands of Negro youths roamed through Flint, setting fires and throwing rocks and bottles. There were no deaths, but police arrested 120 persons. About 25 per cent of Flint's residents are Negro. FALOMBA NOMINATED WATERBURY (AP) - The Republican Town Committee has nominated unanimously for a second term incumbent Mayor Frederick W. Palmista. The committee took the action Tuesday. It also dropped City Sheriff John D'Agostino from the GOP ticket and replaced him with Angelo Barone, a longtime police commissioner. There were indications that D'Agostino might go to a primary for the nomination as tax collector against Juliette Dioma who was nominated by the committee.

Vernon Joy Explains Regulations On Property Assessments

Town Assessor Benedict A. Joy set forth rules Tuesday to comply with three new state laws governing property assessment. The laws, passed by the 1967 session of the General Assembly, include the freezing of the tax rate for persons 65 or over, a $1,000 exemption for veterans who have been in the service since January 1945, and an exemption for passenger cars owned by service men.

To qualify for a $1,000 exemption on real property (not automobiles) and for the freezing of the tax rate, senior citizens must be able to answer "yes" to the following questions, Joy said.

Do you own the house you live in, in whole or in part?

Are you or your spouse, if living with you, 65 or older?

Have you or your spouse owned your own home in Connecticut for at least a total of five years?

Was your total income from all sources during the calendar year a) not more than $2,000 if unmarried or if not living with spouse; or b) not more than $3,000 joint total income if married and living with spouse.

Joy said applications for persons who wish to take advantage of the exemption and freeze may be made from Oct. 1 to Jan. 15. He said that applications should be made as soon as possible after Oct. 1.

Veterans who served in the armed forces since Jan. 1, 1945 are eligible for a $1,000 exemption. To qualify, veterans must have their discharge from honorable discharges. Photostat copies will be accepted. Dis-

Ex-Prisoner At Walpole Found Shot

BRITISH INTELLIGENCE reports show that recent troubles and riots in the British colony of Hong Kong have doubled the price of gold on the black market. The bulletin is said to be urgently needed to help finance the Communist-led rioting against British colonial authority and to supply arms and ammunition.

Communist attempts to cripple British authority have so far been frustrated. More than 3,000 persons have been arrested on charges of terrorism and rioting, and Hong Kong police have smashed dozens of Communist headquarters and hideouts, seizing large stores of weapons and explosives. Police raided the red-brick country house at Bedfordshire at dawn Tuesday. Bullets and gun bones of arms found there were matched with shells known to have been used in some of England's biggest armed gold traffic.

Officers collected dies for counterfeiting and other forgery equipment from the house and outbuildings. Half an ounce of gold and what appeared to be traces of gold were found in a shed.

At the bakery in the northern suburb of London, metal crucibles that can be used for smelting were set and examined by experts.

Well over $2.8 million worth of gold bullion has been stolen in London alone in the past three years. Little has been recovered. The biggest single raid was staged this May when a gang hijacked a security van containing $1,900,000 in bars. Only $160,000 has been recovered.

But the rising waters crept under the door and we lost our refuge.

Out into the streets once again—wading slowly against the cold waters that pressed against us, stumbling into holes and over curbs, falling more than once.

An island appeared in the gray light of morning, inhabited by gray soldiers in the gray dawn.

We scrambled up from the water to join them.

But this refuge also was sinking fast. Finally a boat came by.

We hailed it and were taken to the Public Safety Building.

Here we saw the gray dawn come in.

And with the dawn came a frightening sight. As far as you could see, the land was hidden under the surging waters.

Fairbanks, the warm and very habitable city of yesterday, was almost submerged.

cutives said the demonstration likely would cause the companies to delay any new contract offer beyond Aug. 22, only two weeks from expiration of current pacts.

Some expressed fear that it might stir up discord between skilled and production workers. Pressed by dissenting union men in 1966, the UAW amended its constitution to permit separate voting on contracts by skilled and production workers, with rejection by either vetoing any agreement.

None of the Big Three as yet has made a counter-offer to UAW demands, which include a guarantee annual income and wage increases among other things.

Two Arrested In Car Crashes

Police investigated two accidents in the past 24 hours and arrested drivers of two cars. One accident was of the hit and run type. No injuries were reported to police.

Mario Deborstoli, 31, of Ellington was charged with making an unsafe turn, after the truck he was driving was hit by a car driven by Lisa Kove of 202 Henry St. Police say the pickup truck was traveling east on W. Middle Type, and was making a left turn into the parking lot at Shop and Shop when the Kove vehicle hit its right front fender.

Both cars were drivable, police say.

Deborstoli is scheduled for court appearance on Sept. 11. George Cartwright, 19, of 31 Green Hill St. was charged with creating responsibility early this morning. Police say the Cartwright car hit a car on Main St., then left the scene. The car was stopped, police say, at Main and Bristol St., and may have been on its way back to the scene of the accident.

The Romney Campaign

There were three Republican governors and one former governor and their wives together on the island, frequently the scene of important Republican developments. There were newsmen about, who would appreciate it if they were given a press conference of some kind. They were accommodated, and there was a statement made by Governor Rockefeller of New York that he and his fellow guests, Governor Chafee of Rhode Island and former Governor Scranton of Pennsylvania, "share deeply a sense of dedication to help Governor Romney in his quest for Michigan, win the Republican presidential nomination in 1968.

This pronouncement fully found its way out across the country, creating a mild Sunday ripple through the world of politics, but then leaving some young postulating Monday morning thoughts. Was this a casual pronouncement which was the only thing that could be said once the newsmen were granted a conference? Or did it represent the beginning of a concerted effort on the part of the three guests to serve notice on party and country that it was time to stop putting Romney under the dissecting and analytical microscope and time to begin running with him on the basis that, whatever his imperfections, he is in any case the party's best possibility? The Romney situation, as we see it, is that he has almost from the moment of the 1964 results been in, been the Republican party's obvious front runner for 1968. He has, it seems to us, paid more than the other candidates for his front runner position. The spotlight thrown upon him by his own party and by newsmen has been more searching and ruthless than that of any other candidate who has not functioned very well under this premature kind of spotlight pressure, quarreling conspicuously with the press over his own right to reserve some of his opinions and decisions for a later time, flunking, on occasion, some of the searching examinations the press has insisted on giving him. Instead of exposing a little honest ignorance or doubt, Governor Romney might have made a better impression on the newsmen covering him, we suppose, if he had been capable of the gift and rebounding error and blindness of judgment one of his much more widely informed and experienced rivals for the nomination keeps proclaiming so forcefully at every possible invitation.

In any case, the newsmen's pundits have been having a field day pronouncing sag in the Romney campaign. And at this point Rockefeller, Chafee and Scranton gather at MacInac to make public pronouncement that Romney is their man. So the question does arise. Was this something casual, to oblige the newsmen on the scene? Or did it represent the beginning of a concerted working effort to put the Romney campaign into higher gear?

We can only offer an opinion. But it seems to us that if the Romney campaign has any brains at all, and we know it has some, it must be following a plan and timetable of its own, and not trying to respond to every interim judgment from the nation's political pundits. It is getting close to the normal season for a serious presidential candidate to make formal announcements and set up formal headquarters and organization. The weekend visitation and pronouncement at MacInac seems a planned piece of interim preparation for that moment. We assume that Messrs. Rockefeller, Chafee, and Scranton intend to put their effort, their influence and their money where their mouth is.

Billions Via Millions One thing, according to a Reuters dispatch from Saigon, our section of the war in Vietnam has succeeded in costing the enemy. By latest calculations, we have forced the Vietcong to escalate its expenditures for the war up from $22,000,000 in 1965 to three times as much, or $140,000,000 a year now.

At the same time, our help, and our own expenditures, have enabled the South Vietnamese to enjoy a mild decrease in its expenditures for the war, which have gone down from $200,000,000 in 1965 to $100,000,000 this year.

Our own expenditures, calculated in the billions instead of the mere millions, keep going up.

The interesting thing about the report of the increased spending we have made necessary for the Vietnam is the calculation that most of the money the Vietcong spends for war comes from South Vietnam itself - from the taxes it collects in the regions where it is the only government, and from the war bonds which it began selling to the South Vietnamese people three years ago. Only 20 per cent of the money the Vietcong spends comes, by this calculation, from North Vietnam and other Communist countries.

Such calculations do not, obviously, include the money North Vietnam spends for the operation of its own troops in South Vietnam, which has for some time been calculated near the $50,000 level, or money Russia and China spend in supplying war material to North Vietnam or the Vietcong.

But the same rough proportion which features manpower in war between guerrillas and a great modern military power also applies to the dollars, even more so to the dollars. We calculate we need at least four men to one in the field; the ratio of dollars must be much greater. We now spend in two or three days, for instance, about as much as the Vietcong reportedly spends in a year.

Even at that, there is one melancholy comfort. We can probably afford it better than the enemy, and one suspects this is one more of the reasons the administration optimists, like Secretary Rusk, keep claiming that the enemy "is hurting."

The Banana And The Machine

The Federal Food and Drug Administration has had one of its automatic smokers puffing away on dried banana peels for more than three weeks, and the automatic smoker hasn't given the slightest indication of feeling that it had been "turned on" or hallucinogenated.

The machine, with all its tubes and retorts, its ultraviolet inspections and infrared spectrophotometric procedures, has been smoking dried banana peels. Presumably, then, the crumpling guardians of the morals of our youth will relax across the country, creating a mild Sunday ripple through the world of politics, but then leaving some young postulating Monday morning thoughts.

Was this a casual pronouncement which was the only thing that could be said once the newsmen were granted a conference? Or did it represent the beginning of a concerted effort on the part of the three guests to serve notice on party and country that it was time to stop putting Romney under the dissecting and analytical microscope and time to begin running with him on the basis that, whatever his imperfections, he is in any case the party's best possibility?

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — President Johnson's effort to sell his tax cut to Democrats is still quite capable of running a proposition through a set of scientific machines and then concluding that it knows it is all right.

Simultaneously, that is also precisely why the younger generation stages such a constant present day revolt against the supposed stability and certainties of its elders. It is determined to prove that it doesn't think and feel as a machine might feel and think; it thinks, instinctively, against the steady gains by knowledge and processing through tubes and retorts; it denies the certainties the older generation tries to hand it, for its own good.

It so happens that we never quite manage to believe the machine, ourselves. That means, then, that as we see the tax cut rolling along on the banana smoke, we will have had a suspicion that they are really getting something out of it. Maybe they will, too.

New Methods, Not More Troops In view of President Johnson's announcement that 40,000 to 50,000 new troops will be sent to Vietnam, we feel obliged to repeat a statement which we made a month ago. At that time we wrote, "We cannot see how, under present conditions, the sending of 40,000 additional men can afford any guarantee of success." We then suggested that there be a halt on new troop commitments until adequate study had been given to other ways of either winning the war or bringing it to a negotiated settlement.

We can only repeat this statement and this suggestion in even stronger terms today. Nothing that has happened during the month which has passed since our earlier comment leads us to believe that the situation in Vietnam can be salvaged by sending up to 40,000 new troops during the next 10 months. The situation is so bogged down, the failure to develop new and better methods so clear, the lack of adequate help from the South Vietnamese Army so handicapping that we cannot see how such reinforcements will make any appreciable difference.

Since this is so (and we are convinced that the White House and the Pentagon know this even better than do we), we again urge Washington to consider other alternatives. The first and foremost of these is a halt in the bombing of North Vietnam. Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin is reported by a Japanese newspaper (and, most significantly, with no denial from Moscow) to have offered himself as a mediator in the Vietnam imbroglio. These statements are extremely important. It is not small thing for the Russian leader to again put himself in an exposed ideological position with an offer to play a role in bringing peace to Vietnam. As for U Thant, his assessment of the situation in the bombing of North Vietnam. For six days prior to the offer, he was in the world in a better position to make an educated guess in this matter.

Viet Victim's Parents Return LBJ's Letter

NORTH MUSKOGEE, Mich. (AP) — The parents of a Navy medical corpsman killed in Vietnam were returned President Johnson's letter of sympathy Tuesday.

The letter was sent to the White House by Mr. and Mrs. Lester B. Lansing. Their son, John R. Lansing, was killed in action May 8 near Con Thien by an enemy mortar shell while giving medical aid to a wounded Marine.

Copies of the letter were sent to Michigan congressmen. The Lansing' son enlisted in the Navy after his graduation from high school and later volunteered for duty in Vietnam.

"John served because he believed he was needed in this fight for freedom and his strong desire to help others," the letter said. "We pray to God that his death will be the death of other men who have been killed here and not in vain."

WILDCAT STRIKE ENDS

HARTFORD (AP)—The United Auto Workers' Local No. 405, and Chandler Evans Control Systems officials reached an agreement to end a wildcat strike.

The union Tuesday apparently persuaded the company, a subsidiary of Colt Industries, Inc., to take the workers' back.

GOP Leaders Support Social Security Bill

Some states have broadened the financial standards for eligibility enough to take in large proportions of their population. The Medicaid program is not connected with Medicare. Other controversial amendments would require states to put more emphasis on job training and welfare opportunities in their federally-aided welfare programs. There appeared to be little opposition, however, to the section of the bill providing more money for beneficiaries of the basic programs for the aged, widows and dependent children.

two days to the debate, beginning today, but members fell behind schedule Tuesday in their attempt to pass the bill. It is expected to be passed in the next few days.

The prospective Social Security debate, meanwhile, caused a recess in hearings by the House Ways and Means Committee on President Johnson's proposal for a 10 per cent surcharge on the income tax. Top administration fiscal spokesmen, appearing Tuesday for the second day before the American research committee, were told repeatedly they have not yet made their case for a tax increase to help finance the Vietnam war and avoid an inflationary deficit that might hit $20 billion.

Bishop Pike Urges Support For Strip Plan

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Retired Episcopal Bishop James A. Pike has urged delegates to the annual Southern Christian Leadership Conference convention to give consistent support to the Castroville strip plan. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.'s nonviolent philosophy of social change, the California clergyman said in remarks Tuesday night after King outlined a new campaign of civil disobedience, including a massive Negro camp out in Washington to demand that Congress take action to alleviate slum conditions and economic deprivation of Negroes.

"It will be almost moving into the Uncle Tom category," the bishop said. "But we know what we have accomplished. I think we have too much at stake to be rash and lose our consistency. He said civil rights workers and non-violentists should be on the edge of violence."

King, charging that Congress was "wildly racist," said civil rights forces must do something before the lawmakers adjourn.

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — "Gue-Red." Marulanda's skills as an elusive and dangerous guerrilla force, scattered over two mobile fronts in an area larger than South Vietnam, are awaiting signals from Havana on future strategy. The Castroville objective is to merge the two politically dissimilar groups behind a common policy and leadership for the war on the government. Two tough obstacles confront the Liberals in the fighting of 1949-57. After a political truce ended the Liberal-Communist war, it came under Marulanda's command and gave itself a name, Revolutionary Armed Forces of Colombia—FARC. One of its aims was to create "independent republics"—armed peasant guerrillas—in isolated mountain regions. These were destroyed by the military and army leaders claim, Marulanda's forces have now been neutralized by confinement to the relatively unsheltered lowlands of Cauca Department in the southwest.

This is how the Colombian internal situation is viewed by military and political figures who believe the guerrilla movement is at its lowest ebb ever and no immediate threat to the National Front government. They are still interested, if not in the "Gue-Red" as a future surprise Havana is preparing. Because guerrillas are essentially a military problem, preoccupation with Havana is far from the mind of the Cuban army. Created around a Cuban armed force base than in the political circles of the chilly capital Bogota, 45 miles up the cloud-shrouded mountains.

Counter-guerrilla specialists, foreign officers say it is also tougher than the U.S.-operated counter-insurgency unit in the Panama Canal Zone. Created in 1958, it was the product of the guerrilla-type violence, from 1949 to 1967, between Liberals and Conservatives. Perhaps 500,000 Colombians are estimated to have lost their lives in the fratricidal conflict.

The training center's objective is to produce sharply trained leaders of small combat units. It has helped reshape the Colombian army into a light, swift, mobile striking element specializing in irregular tactics—a guerrilla-type force that on a small scale uses peasant guerrilla to fool the enemy. Small but hard-hitting combat teams, backed by helicopters, are tracking down guerrillas on two mountain-top fronts, in the south near the Ecuador border, and in the north toward Venezuela—an operational area estimated to include 70,000 square miles.

The guerrillas in the south are commanded by the near-legendary Manuel Marulanda, better known as "Tirofina" or

Town Seeking Engineer Aide

The Town of Manchester is advertising for a senior engineer aide, at an annual salary schedule of $8,984 minimum to $7,480 maximum.

Applications for the position may be obtained in the general manager's office in the Municipal Building and must be returned there not later than Sept. 2.

The job was advertised last February but has remained unfilled due to the lack of qualified applicants. The Engineering Department has been operating with two part-time junior engineering aides in the post. Because one of the two is returning to school and because the other is unsure about his future plans, the job is being readvertised.

Applications are being screened also for the position of town engineer, vacant since last month when Emil Lucek resigned for a similar job in South Windsor.

Administration Suffers Foreign Aid Bill Defeat

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration has suffered a Senate setback on its military assistance program and is showing heightened concern over other parts of President Johnson's 1967 foreign aid bill. The Senate refused Tuesday to allow the Defense Department to continue guaranteeing repayment of loans made to underdeveloped countries for purchases of U.S. arms.

The key vote was 46 to 46, upholding the Foreign Relations Committee recommendation for abolition of the guarantee plan. During Senate debate, administration representatives met with nearly 50 senators to appeal for support in restoring sharp cuts the committee made in other areas of foreign aid.

A final vote on the overall measure is not expected until at least late this week. The committee headed by Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., cut more than $70 million from the $4.4 billion requested by Johnson. The bill it sent to the floor the 1950-60 average was 4,000 million. Higher averages were 1941-45, 5,000; and 1946-50, 5,537.

The committee also refused to approve the two-year authorization the President requested and struck out of his bill major policy decisions Johnson had offered as a new look in foreign aid.

Evaporation Control

BOZTON—Virtually no control of the reverse process of evaporation has been achieved. About 70 per cent of precipitation on land areas evaporates more or less promptly from soil, vegetation and water surfaces. Vast soil-moisture conservation projects in various countries have achieved control of only a minute percentage of evaporation and, for the world as a whole, evaporation control is essentially nil.

GUN BELL OPPOSITION

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — The Pennsylvania House of Representatives has voted 124-79 to adopt a resolution urging Congress to reject the gun control bill sponsored by Sen. J. Dodd, D-Conn. Sponsors of the House bill—17 Republicans and 4 Democrats—labeled the Dodd bill an "inconvenience and undue burden on law-abiding citizens" that would violate the constitutional right of a citizen "to keep and bear arms."

Dodd's bill would regulate mail-order purchases of firearms.

South Viets Kill 98 Communists

(Continued from Page One) A multinational force from the South Vietnamese 41st Regiment had locked in heavy fighting all day Tuesday with an estimated two companies of North Vietnamese army regulars—perhaps 200 or more men. The government troops, some of them in armored carriers, came under heavy rocket fire and mortar fire. Elements from the U.S.

Army's 1st Air Cavalry Division backed by American M48 tanks tried to surround the Communist troops while U.S. fighter-bombers, Army helicopter gunships, Air Force AC-119s with rapid-firing Gatling guns, and artillery raked the North Vietnamese positions. Under the heavy barrage, the Communists broke contact shortly before midnight. The 10 American civilian contract workers were wounded in the Chinese quarter of Saigon early today when a Vietnamese boy ran out of an alley and tossed a fragmentation grenade

Rail Commuting Low

NEW YORK—The number of commuter passenger-miles rolled up by American railroads last year was just a little above the average for 1958 to 1960. In 1966, 4,192 million passenger-miles were recorded; the 1958-60 average was 4,000 million. Higher averages were 1941-45, 5,000; and 1946-50, 5,537.

May Ready For School Site Plans

An up-to-date contour map of Center Springs Park has been prepared at the request of the Manchester Board of Education in anticipation of architects' requirements for drawing preliminary site plans and specifications for the proposed new elementary school in the park.

William O'Neill, director of public works, said the map was made from sections of an aerial photogrammetric survey of the park area. The survey was done for the town several months ago by Quinn and Associates of Pennsylvania at a cost of $4,000.

School officials, who recently received Board of Directors' approval to begin planning for a new Lincoln School in the park, have agreed selection of the building site should be determined by an architect.

However, the site which has been favored by the school board is a sloping, wooded plot of about five acres north of Valley St. and roughly bounded by imaginary lines extended from Winter and Trotter Sts.

A letter signed by O'Neill was mailed yesterday to four local architects advising them of the proposed school project. It was the consensus of the Town Building Committee that local architects should get first priority on the project, O'Neill said.

The selection committee designated by the general manager, will be composed of School Superintendent William Currie, O'Neill, Thomas A. Monahan, building inspector, John Hartigan, town engineer, and three members of the Building Committee.

It is anticipated that a public referendum on the school, which would replace the existing Lincoln School at the Center, will be held in late fall or early winter.

3rd Arrest In Hartford Disturbance

HARTFORD (AP) — A third arrest has been made on charges of inciting injury to persons or property in connection with disturbances last month in Hartford's predominantly Negro North End.

Roosevelt D. Terry, 27, of Hartford, was arrested Tuesday on a Circuit Court warrant. Police said his arrest followed a lengthy investigation.

He is alleged to have done the inciting July 12 at Main and Pavilion streets. The North End was the scene of disturbances July 12-14.

John Barber, 29, of West Haven, former head of the New Haven branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, was booked last week on an indictment charge in connection with a July 13 incident.

William D. Hendricks, 21, of Hartford, was arrested on a similar charge Aug. 5. The indictment charge was dropped as was one of resisting arrest, but Hendricks was given a suspended 60-day sentence for breach of the peace.

Coco Chanel Celebrating; Mystery Shrouds True Age

PARIS (AP) — Coco Chanel, Chanel has never been a champion of the mink-trimmed fur finds of the grande mademoiselle of Paris fashions, is having a birthday Saturday. Whether she is about to become 64, 65 or 66 is shrouded in feminine mystery—she likes to think of herself "up in the 70s."

Whatever her age, her energy and dynamism still mark the fabulous world of high fashion. She has twice conquered the fashion world and still holds her own. A Chanel suit is a status symbol. Woman have been known to keep them for 30 years and update them by maybe 1964 she returned to the scene, shortening the skirt, though subconscious influence and designed clothes "a la Chanel." When her first collection appeared it was a nostalgic remembrance of things past, for she had picked up where she had left off 15 years before. It took her a couple of seasons to get back into stride, but almost from the first, clients began to order wardrobe.

Today there's nothing nostalgic about her designing. Creating fashion in her own way is her life. She cannot remain idle. Like an actor, she cannot leave the stage and has never given a farewell performance. "C'est plus fort qu'elle — she can't help it," say her workers who adore "Mademoiselle" regardless of the way she is inclined to scotch an entire group of dresses as if she finds an imperfection. Her influence was so great on the fashion world that when in other designers had undergone last moment because they did not live up to her expectations. At times, she says: "This is the last collection I'll design." It only means she's tired, and on she goes.

"Mademoiselle" arrives at 11:30 and has her lunch in her apartment on the third floor of Rue Cambon every day around a new perfume called "Coco" will be launched. Whether it will have the same triumphant success as No. 5 remains to be seen. "Just a fluke," says Madeleine, "and not my lucky number at all."

Look ahead. Enjoy the ride." On men's designing for women: "We lost the couture because men are the designers. They ridicule women. Fashion must revive the feminine woman, a little romantic, placed on a pedestal by men, and happy." Finally: "When fashion descends to the street it's a revolution, but when it comes up from the street, it's a catastrophe."

Chanel is a brilliant conversationalist and when not launched in a tirade comes up with a flow of maxims and paradoxes. On love: "Solitude for a man is possibly profitable. For a woman, it is always a disaster." On success: "Any woman of genius who shows it is a fool. Or she prefers solitude." On life: "Don't look back."

Win Big Lift for Red Sox

Homers Power Attack

BOSTON (AP)—The Boston Red Sox won time showing their pleasure at returning to Fenway Park and now Manager Dick Williams is hoping they won't forget their slugger habits for a while. "This was a big lift for us," Williams said Tuesday night after his club opened a 12-game home stand with a 4-0 victory over Detroit.

"We could really have been down if we had lost this game," he added.

The Red Sox bats, which had been silent during a near-disastrous 27 road trip, exploded right at the start as Reggie Smith and George Scott hit first inning home runs. Carl Yastrzemski later drove in two more runs with his 28th homer and a sacrifice fly.

Aside from that, the Red Sox couldn't do much with three Detroit pitchers, but the four runs were more than enough for young Dave Morehead as he set the Tigers down on six hits.

Smith, the leadoff batter, belted Joe Sparma's second pitch into the Red Sox bullpen for his seventh homer of the season and his first in several weeks. It was also the switch hitting center fielder's first homer ever at Fenway Park, butting left-handed right fielder Reggie Smith to get us off to a quick start," Reggie said. "Especially since that's what we were doing when we had our winning streak and then we started falling behind early when we lost all those games on the road."

Scott, benched for the last three games for being over the 210-pound weight limit imposed on him by Williams, celebrated his return with his 10th homer, plus a dazzling defensive play at first base.

Asked about the weight problem, Scott said there was "no question" about the fact that he hits better when under the limit.

"It'd like to play even if I'm 200, but I know he's doing it for my own good," Scott said. "I'll tell you one thing—I won't get back again."

Morehead, stacked at the quick 2-0 lead, was brilliant in the early innings as he limited the Tigers to one hit and struck out seven over the first four frames.

The young right-hander ran into his only serious jam in the fifth when a single, an error and a walk loaded the bases with two out. Don Wert hit a sinking line to right, but Tony Conigliaro raced in and made a diving, tumbling catch to end the inning. He hurt his left shoulder on the play and took a while to get up, but remained in the game.

"I didn't know I had it until the last second," Conigliaro said.

Morehead lost the strikeout touch after that, winding up with eight for the entire game, but he was never in trouble again. Tonight had a luck right hander Lee Stange, 7-0, who has lost several well-pitched games, including a 1-0 heartbreaker last weekend in California. In scheduled to oppose Detroit, right hander Denny McLain (15-12).

The loss was his 12th against only three victories. He pitched the Yankees still managed to finish the top two cars in each of a series of qualifying heats will be entered in the feature.

Van Hoff Impressed In NL Mound Debut

Major League Leaders

NEW YORK (AP)—Bruce Van Hoff thought all day about making his first major league start and now that it's over National League batters have something to think about.

"I was told this noon by Speck Richardson (Houston general manager) that I was going to pitch," said the 23-year-old right-hander who was called up from Anderson of the Texas League Monday. "I thought about it all day."

After eight innings of Tuesday night's game, the Los Angeles Dodgers undoubtedly had some thoughts about Van Hoff—probably unpleasant ones—but that's about all they had. Van Hoff gave them just four hits and no runs before being lifted for a pinch hitter in the bottom of the eighth.

However, he didn't get the victory. But Houston did, 2-1 in 12 innings, and that's a story in itself. The Astros had lost 10 previous games by scoring a total of 28 runs, but their pitchers gave up 70 and completed just one game.

In other National League games, St. Louis beat the Chicago Cubs 4-1, Philadelphia swept total of 28 runs, but their pitchers gave up 70 and completed just one game.

Lenox and Spruce Softball Winners

Two Games Tonight In Softball Tourney

Limiting Center Congo to but four hits, Ed Gracyny paced Lenox Pharmacy to a 6-2 victory in the Red Department Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament at Charter Oak Park last night. The winners took a quick 3-0 lead, then finished with a three-run sixth to clinch their win.

Seven runs in the first inning gave Spruce Tavern a lead it never relinquished, leading Spruce to a 6-2 victory in the Red Department Slow-Pitch Softball Tournament at Charter Oak Park last night. The winners took a quick 3-0 lead, then finished with a three-run sixth to clinch their win.

BASEBALL HEROES

PITCHING — Stan Williams, Indians, stopped Washington on five hits as Cleveland beat the Senators 3-0.

BATTING — Rocky Colavito, White Sox, hit a three-run homer, sending Chicago to a 4-2 victory over Kansas City in the first game of a two-night doubleheader. The A's won the second game 4-2.

The New York Mets drew the best 1967 spring crowd in the National League on May 26, when they played a double header against the Atlanta Braves in New York. A crowd of 46,925 turned out.

Morehead's Last Shutout, Complete Tilt Was in '65

NEW YORK (AP)—Dave Morehead's most recent complete game shutout wasn't as brilliant as the one that preceded it, but it was more important. The first one meant a place in the Little Red Book. The latest may have meant his career.

Morehead's at-batter in Boston's 4-0 victory over Detroit Tuesday night may have marked the end of the trail in his comeback attempt from an arm problem that struck just when he seemed on the way to greatness.

The last complete-game shutout Morehead pitched was a no-hitter against Detroit on Sept. 16, 1965. But in April of 1966, he came up with a sore arm that held him down to 12 appearances and a 1-2 record.

When no improvement showed over the spring he was sent to Toronto where he compiled an 11-5 record before being recalled recently. He pitched erratically in his first few appearances until striking it out against his old friends, the Tigers.

Demolition Race Set at Thompson

The first presentation of its kind this season at Thompson Speedway will enable "Demo Derby" fans to have a first-hand look at the demolition encounters that have become the most thrilling automotive spectacle conceived. Normally, 25 cars start, soon converting the raceway into an arena of confusion.

Constant crash, roll, punnet and mutilate each other's car. The last vehicle still operating, regardless of condition, is declared the winner.

At Thompson, the championship competition will take the form of eliminations and finals. The top two cars in each of a series of qualifying heats will be entered in the feature.

Break Out of Batting Slump

Yanks' Pitching, Fielding Appears to Be Breaking Up

NEW YORK (AP)—The New shot by Horace Clarke and Bill Robinson's homer with a man on the play and took a while to get up, but remained in the game.

"I didn't know I had it until the last second," Conigliaro said.

Morehead lost the strikeout touch after that, winding up with eight for the entire game, but he was never in trouble again. Rival Ring Foes Predict Knockouts

NEW YORK (AP)—Both lightweight Champion Carlos Ortiz and challenger Immanuel Laguna predict knockout victories tonight. If either comes through with a layoff it could make for the best kind of finish to the widely criticized title fight at Shea Stadium.

The bout will be telecast by ABC-Sports Network, Inc. but New York will be blacked out of the live telecast. Starting time is 10 p.m. EDT.

In case of a weather postponement, the fight will be held Thursday.

Gonzales Hits All Pitchers And Brings Up Bat Average

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—"Tony Gonzales made me think about this," said the manager after the 30-year-old right hander was hit by four different pitchers in his first game as a Phillie Phanatic.

Laguna destroyed Ortiz in Panama on April 10, 1965, and then was beaten by Ortiz in a return at San Juan, Puerto Rico, seven months later.

A single knockdown was scored by either in the 30 rounds. Neither ever has been stopped.

The fight is rated even in the betting and take your pick.

Bill Laguna, a skinny 5-9 1/2 package of punching fury, took the lead in the first round by knocking him out in the 10th or 11th round.

"Great, let him put on the heat," returned Ortiz. "I'll stretch him out. I know what he can do now and I'm gonna beat him out in the 10th or 11th, may be even sooner."

Cards Lead by 10 1/2 Games

'El Birdoes Never Lose on Payday'

ST. LOUIS (AP)—It's about that time of year when the sports writers ask the league leaders who they think will win the pennant. So the sports writers asked the St. Louis Cardinals who they want to play.

"Japan," Julian Javier said. "I don't care who we play—Japan, we'll win."

Javier laughed after he said he wanted to play Japan, and he said he would like to see the Cardinals play the Cardinals.

"I don't know how far in front we are," he said. "I don't know how many games we have to play, and I don't know who's behind League. All I know," Cepeda said, "is that we're playing the best ball we've played all year right now."

"I don't know how many games we have to play, and I don't know who's behind League. All I know," Cepeda said, "is that we're playing the best ball we've played all year right now."

Pitching Strong Point LaGace and Schardt Bat, Mound Leaders

By PETE ZANARDI

"Pitching was our strong point," said Legion Coach Charlie Graf. "I thought, at the beginning of the season, that we had a good ball club, but I didn't figure out how to use it."

In his first year as head coach, Graf guided Manchester to the State "Tournament" with a 3-0 record.

It was the second night in the week the Cardinals came back to town. Graf, who has pitched in the major leagues, was in the dugout for the first time in 10 years.

Orlando Cepeda is so relaxed that he doesn't know how far in front he is.

Committee Changes NCAA Hoop Format

COLOREDADO SPRINGS, Colo. (AP)—The NCAA Executive Committee announced today a change in format for the NCAA basketball championships beginning with 1969.

The four regional playoffs and the championship finals will be scheduled on Thursday night and Saturday afternoon as an experiment for 1969 and 1970. They have been held on Friday and Saturday nights.

The finals for 1969 are scheduled for March 22 and 23 at Treadwell Hall in Louisville, Ky., and the regional a week earlier on March 15 and 16 at sites to be determined.

Lee said there were several considerations in the playoff days later and many of the cars and drivers running Friday at Stafford will be heading for Trenton the following day.

Gene Bergin, Fred Harbeck and Fred DeSartre have already been guaranteed spots at Trenton by winning special races held at Stafford, Thompson Speedway, and at Norwood Arden. These fellows will be using the night's racing to refine and polish their performance.

Bill Blatter will be leading a big group of drivers and cars that will be tuning up and then leading up to Trenton to try to qualify thru the time trials for the limited open spots to be filled on race day.

Friday night should prove quite exciting and interesting with many cars sporting the biggest engines allowed for their class.

Qualifying heats go at 8:15 sharp. Box office opens at 7 p.m.

Stafford Speedway is located on Connecticut Rd. 140 in Stafford Springs.

Top Stafford Car Drivers In Warm-up

Something a little special is on tap for Stafford Speedway Friday night.

The main event is to go to the extra distance of 80 laps on the half-mile paved oval. The feature event is called the Trenton "warm-up" inasmuch as the big 200 mile race at Trenton is scheduled two days later and many of the cars and drivers running Friday at Stafford will be heading for Trenton the following day.

Seven-Run Spree Sinks Moriarty's

Exploiting seven runs in the first inning, the Mets gave Moriarty a 6-0 victory over the Yankees at the Polo Grounds Tuesday night.

The Mets' seven-run first inning was the most in the history of the Polo Grounds since 1957.

Moriarty's play again tonight, meeting another Hamilton up at bat for the lights at Madison Stadium at 8:15.

Manager Gene March of the Philadelphia Phillies liked the play Gonzalez was swinging the bat and decided to play the Cuban outfielder full time.

Gonzales had been platooned for four years, playing only against right hand pitchers.

The 31-year-old Gonzalez slammed six hits, including his seventh home run and a double, and scored three runs Tuesday night in the third inning of the Philadelphia Phillies' win over the Mets in the 13th inning.

"There is no way I got to bat against left handers, so I don't even think about it," he said.

"He couldn't have been more wrong."

The Decline and Fall of the Yankees
Take a look at the American League standings and you can again see the New York Yankees deep in the second division. There must be a reason for the fall of the once mighty organization and Jack Mann's work in his excellent book, "The Decline and Fall of the New York Yankees," supplies many of the answers. The book, published by Simon and Schuster, has 284 pages, and sells for $4.95.

Brooklyn-born Mann, 41, turned in a masterful job in his first venture into the book writing field. A former New York and Detroit sportswriter covered the Yankees in their minutes and observed them in their decline.

For over 40 years, the Yankees dominated baseball, winning 29 flags and 22 World Championships from 1917 through 1964. In those 47 years, the Yanks won 586 more games than their nearest rival, the Cleveland Indians.

Two years ago the once proud New Yorkers fell down to sixth place and last season dropped all the way to the bottom of the American League—10th place. And the way the Yankees today, it will be another second division finish.

Victim of Trends
Mann's chief contention for the about face by the Yankees is that the dynasty was a victim of economic, social and cultural trends that have wrought changes in the structure of baseball over the past quarter century. Plus some certain Yankee attitudes, policies and errors, some by commission but mostly by omission, that hastened the decline by preventing the organization from adjusting to the new environment.

Swinging from the heels, Mann points out the harm caused by television's near take over of baseball—the complete ownership in the case of the Yankees, plus divorcing the club from the fans who are the source of the Yankees of any other team's excellence.

System Was Working
The Yankees declined to participate in the bonus madness.

Bears Just Another Team Without Flashy Gale Sayers

RENSHLEAHER, Ind. (AP) — Livingston was being bombed as Gale Sayers is the Chicago Bears. When the Kansas comet steps on the field the Bears sparkle and fizz. Without Sayers the Bears are just another football team with a drab attack and an unimpressive wave of defenses, injuries and retirements.

New Ruling By Officials Announced

WETHERSFIELD (AP)

A $3,000 pro-amateur tournament gets the Great-Hartford Open golf festivities rolling at Wethersfield Country Club today.

On Thursday through Sunday the prize money amounts to $100,000 for the tournament itself.

Forty-eight professionals, each with three amateur partners, will compete today. When the GHO starts formally Thursday, the field will number 144.

Practise rounds were the chief consideration at the 6,500-yard course Tuesday, although in mid-afternoon a ruling by Professional Golfers Association of 40-year-olds' break-up of the Yankees.

Mann aims his third blow at the baseball owners and executives who he feels have legislated baseball into mediocrity and "accomplished the quest of 40 years' losers: Break Up the Yankees."

As part of his history of the game that was covering the 44 years of their reign, many of which have not been previously computed.

Pulled No Punches
The ex-baseball writer doesn't pull any punches, which no doubt didn't please the Yankee brass.

Mann covers all, including, in his own words, the sacking of announcer Red Barber and Mel Allen.

Pat O'Sullivan Risks Title In Women's Tourney Here

JULIUS BOROS JUAN RODRIGUEZ KEEN VERVEIRE

Defending her title in the second annual Connecticut State club and amateur golf tournament at the Manchester Country Club, Pat O'Sullivan will risk her title in a match play event here today.

Among the challengers will be Patty Torna, the CWGA Junior Champion, and Beryl Buck, the Southern Conn. Golf Association and Public Golf Association champion.

The trophy has been donated by George Buck, pro at the Longshore Country Club in Westport and Porky Manero of Manero's Restaurant in Stamford.

Should O'Sullivan go on to successfully defend her crown at Ellington, she'll become the first golfer to capture both the Manchester and EWG club titles in the same year.

Four times—a club record—she has won at Manchester.

Halfway Leader at Ellington Hilinski Seeking 'Double' In Club Championship Play

BY EARL YOST

Shooting for an unprecedented "double" on the green today, Hilinski, 37, the local manufacturer, who won the Connecticut Club Championship last month at the Manchester Country Club, is well on his way to adding the Club Championship at the Ellington Hills Country Club to his list of conquests.

Defending champion at Ellington, Hilinski burst in a 27-hole score of 111 in the first half of the 54-hole Club Championship flight at Ellington last Sunday for a four-stroke lead over Tom Schiller.

Should Hilinski go on to successfully defend his crown at Ellington, he'll become the first golfer to capture both the Manchester and EWG club titles in the same year.

Four times—a club record—she has won at Manchester.

America's Cup NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — Inbred and Columbia, easy winners Tuesday, square off against each other today in a crucial test in the America's Cup selection trials off Newport.
