there's no doubt about it," Dr. Maurice A. Dawkins said in an interview. He also said the summer's riots made congressional approval of OEO funds uncertain. Dawkins, a Negro, is the director of the civil rights division of OEO. "Our position is that the country has the money to fight the war on poverty and the war in Vietnam, but it will take a congressional reorganization of priorities to do both," he said.

"That reorganization must be based on tax reforms, primarily the 10 per cent tax surcharge. If the President doesn't get his money, it could very well put the OEO out of business and kill the war on poverty."

At best, Dawkins said a refusal by Congress to legislate new taxes would require "spinning off" various OEO programs to other federal departments and agencies, making the antipoverty program "almost completely ineffective."

"There would be no command post, no coordination any longer. It's the one place the poor have to go with their problems. Until the OEO, the poor had nobody to talk for them," he said.

"Now they're in danger of losing the voice they've just begun to learn to use."

He asked the delegates to throw their support behind the legislation as proposed by President Johnson and to urge that the war on poverty be given a $35-billion-a-year budget.

Clemency

The horrors of Vietnam, the scars of the Middle East war, the news of poison gas employed in Yemen, the anonymous victims of tyranny and misery throughout the world make us pause before we would condemn the internation al kidnaping, the irregular trial, the dubious extraditional process, and the threatened execution of Moise Tshombe. Why Tshombe? The African leader has bles for personal gain; he was not adversaries; and many Africans believe that the death of Patrice Lumumba

Why protest the treatment of Regis Debray, the young French Castroite intellectual, awaitin trial and possibly execution in Bolivia Why protest the mysterious removal of South Korean students from West Ger-Korea? are so willing to devote to one political event over in South Vietnam. There was a free election in this country in 1964, in which more than 72,000,-000 people went to the polls in an election which was unrigged, and not pos-sibly open to any decision by corruption. Of those going to the polls, 48,000,000 Americans voted for a candidate who pledged himself not to do anything so rash and foolish as send American boys into combat in Vietnam. It is not the fault of the South Vietna-number of us the wrong war in the wrong place hitting the wrong people. The poor people of South Vietnam haven't very much experience with a free election. We Americans have free elections, but we have been sitting helpless for three years while the mandate we voted in 1964 has been constantly and directly violated.

Mottled Leaves And Lungs?

Down at the Agricultural Experiment Station at Mount Carmel a new threat to agriculture has now been labeled and put on public trial. It is the combination of gasoline fume and diesel dust which now infests the atmosphere of this Atlantic Seabord. It has been demonstrated, at Mount Carmel, that a plant does not have to be located directly on a superhighway, or even near one, in order to receive its unhealthy, mottling dosage of pollution. What the highway users put into the air stays there, especially under weather conditions such as we have had this summer, to blanket all the countrysides

The Mount Carmel Station has now had complaints from various Connecticut farmers that spinach, celery and tobacco crops have been injured by the mottling effect which the Station traces We who haven't seen such effect on as a mere amateur watches the exhaust fumes collect on the snow, or to experts in chemical effects like those at Mount Carmel, as to what the effect of these exhausts on the human lungs may be. If they mottle the tissue in plants, what do they do to the tissues of the human lung? If they can blacken the side of a snowdrift, what can they do to human gency between the pollution of our water and that of our air? We all can at least exercise some conscious choice and discrimination about whether we go swimming in certain waters, or eat fish from certain waters, or drink certain waters, but none of us can claim very much freedom of choice about what particular air we, or our agriculture, shall breathe.
