Naacp Complains

Dr. Seamans Resigns from Post in NASA

(and other news items)

NASA and contractor officials because of the fire. 3. Congress cut heavily into the NASA budget request for this fiscal year, forcing cancellation of some programs and jeopardizing others. As a result, wholesale layoffs are occurring in the aerospace industry. Insiders say Seamans probably resigned for a combination of these three reasons.

He has a reputation as a capable official since joining NASA in 1960, leaving a post as chief engineer of the RCA missile and electronics and control division. He has been deputy administrator for nearly two years. Seamans has fought hard beside Administrator James E. Webb to build a sound base for exploring space beyond the Apollo moon landing. Now, because of the Apollo fire and the deep budget party, many of their dreams have been dashed or delayed.

Since the fire, NASA has made numerous high level personnel changes. At its center, Huntsville, Ala., Houston, Tex., and Cape Kennedy. The agency has been criticized by some congressmen for not making any shifts in top personnel at Washington headquarters. Some suggested that Webb should resign.

North American Rockwell Corp., prime contractor for the Apollo spacecraft, has completely overhauled the management of its space division, including two key changes last week. A board of review that probed the fire criticized NASA and North American for poor management, negligence and sloppy work in the capsule in which the astronauts died.

NASA and North American initiated a $75 million effort to improve the spacecraft. The first craft slated to be mated was Apollo was to have flown. Kennedy next February.

Last week NASA said it was discussing with the company a delay of the delivery date of the massive Saturn 5 possibly until May. With a minimum four-month checkout at Cape Kennedy, that would put at least launching date off until at least next September. That's 19 months after the first manned Apollo was to have flown.

But even without the fire, Apollo would be in trouble, especially in two areas: development of the massive Saturn 5 and the lunar module. NASA is going all-out on the maiden flight, firing all three stages—main, service and lunar—on Oct. 24 or later. A major problem is the lunar module, which is to be launched into orbit last May. It now is set for a January liftoff about a Saturn 5 rocket.

Delay after delay have left an easy feeling among space workers at Cape Kennedy and elsewhere. Many are relatively idle. Thus, some seek employment in other industries such as aircraft.

Also unsettling is the budget cut—more than half a billion dollars out of NASA's request for $5.1 billion.

Webb said recently that 20,000 firms that work for the space agency are laying off 4,000 employees a month, primarily because of the fund curbs. He said 100,000 persons of a one-time peak of 400,000 already have been laid off, with the possibility this figure might reach 200,000.

NASA itself, which has about 30,000 employees, has not been seriously affected yet. But the agency is tightening its belt, and personnel reductions are expected at all centers.

Most seriously affected by the budget cuts were plans to send unmanned probes to land on Mars in Project Voyager and the Apollo applications program.

Voyager could have paved the way for astronaut journeys to Mars in the 1960s. The latter is a project to use Apollo hardware—the Saturn rockets and modified space ships—after the moon landing to further explore the moon and establish large space stations. America's unmanned exploration of the moon now will end early next year with the last of the Surveyor soft-landing craft. Only two more planned shots are scheduled in the foreseeable future—two Mariner flybys of Mars in 1969.

A possible result is a reorganization within NASA, a tightening of program lines for better coordination. One suggestion is that there be a closer alignment between manned and unmanned programs.

Pact Barred By Truckers Amid Strife

from an overhead bridge from someone who mistook the truck for a steel hauler. The same mistake had been made several times before.

Roadblocks were also set up on four other spots in Ohio near Youngstown and Alliance, Ohio. It was one of the worst nights since the wildcat strike was started by dissident Teamsters at Gary, Ind., seven weeks ago and spread east. Now the movement numbers 10,000 to 20,000 men who own their rigs, and contract to trucking firms.

A lawyer for the men, who have organized themselves into the Truckers' Protest Committee, said the men turned down a $100,000 offer to settle the case which was worked out in Pittsburgh last Friday night.

The truckers also want paid for the time they spend waiting at mills to load and unload, but behind trucks operated by pu behind trucks operated by men working on a hourly basis and the wait often mounts into hours.

Denied Teamster support, the truckers have resorted to their own means to stop rigs. Violence has been reported in the big steel centers of Ohio and Pennsylvania every night for three weeks.

As trucks pulled out at a truck stop on U.S. 20 near Erie, truckers talked them out of going back on the road. The police said 70 to 80 of the big rigs stacked up before troopers could untangle the traffic.

There was no violence. Near Somerset on the Pennsylvania border, state police reported 10 to 12 windshields were smashed by rocks and pellets from the night before. No one was hurt.

Trucks were slashed at the New Stanton interchange near Pittsburgh. Another windshield was shattered near Everett.

Berger said the truckers started voting on the settlement offer Sunday night, and so far most are in favor of the offer. In Indiana, Michigan, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania have lined up against it.

Truckers are also striking in Illinois, West Virginia and Kentucky. Berger said he could not talk about the details of the proposed settlement until it is agreed to by the Teamsters to reopen negotiations and promised reprisals against the strikers.

"The arrangement created by the settlement proposals, it was hoped, would lead to immediate indications that the men would be at least initially paid for their waiting time in the mills," he said.

"Unfortunately," he said, "it did not happen."

Stolen Jackets Worth $6,000

A check of missing items by the owners shows that between $8 and $7 thousand worth of sports jackets were taken in a break at Norman Miller's men's clothing store, Police say.

The break took place sometime Friday night or Saturday morning, and footprints found in the area indicated more than one person took part. The intruders, police say, snatched a lock on a vacant, unfinished store next door and then sawed through a wall between the stores to gain entry.

A number of sports jackets, both suede and cloth, valued from $60 to $120 each, were then carried through the rear door of the store.

The exclusive men's clothing store only recently opened for business. It is located in the group of stores where King's with the list of the Surveyor soft-landing craft. Only two more planned shots are scheduled in the foreseeable future—two Mariner flybys of Mars in 1969.

SQUEEZING YOURSELF GETS YOU NOWHERE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

It's very normal to take all of the tricks that lie on the surface before you dig deeper. The trouble is that by that time you may already have dug your own grave.

Opening lead—ten of diamonds. West led the ten of diamonds and continued the suit when declarer played low from the dummy. South ruffed the second diamond, drew three rounds of the trump and then led out his four top hearts without a care in the world.

It was all very normal until South had to discard from dummy on the fourth heart. He then discovered that he had squeezed his own dummy. Since he hadn't afforded to unguard the king of diamonds he had to discard a club from dummy.

When South next led a low club West stepped up with the queen of clubs and led another diamond. South ruffed with his last trump, and East took the last trick with the ace of clubs.

One Too Many South cashed one heart too many. Instead of leading the last heart, South should have led the king of clubs! The idea is to make East with the first club since East is marked with the ace of clubs for his opening bid.

If East returns the ace of diamonds, South ruffs and leads another club. If East returns a diamond, South simply discards. If East leads a club to the queen, South can ruff the diamond return, cash the ace of hearts, and then lead a club to dummy's established jack.

South must not, of course, start the hand should produce 8 or 10 West would step up with the queen of clubs to lead a diamond.

Daily Question As dealer, you hold: Spades, A-K-Q-J-10; Hearts, A-K-Q; Diamonds, 2; Clubs, K-Q-3. What do you say?

Answer: Bid two spades. Your hand should produce 8 or 10 quick tricks. This is enough for a forcing opening bid.

Mayor, Town Board Tussle at Meeting

The right and wrong of the arguments did not seem to matter as the members of the Board of Representatives and the mayor argued heatedly over several issues last night.

Mayor John E. Grant accused Representative Robert Houley and Joseph Konkoli of attempting "to embarrass the administration."

Houley demanded a public apology from the mayor. He did not get it.

Representative Abner Brooks made two motions to disapprove the mayor's comments in the verbal hassles. One ended in the mayor declining to do so.

The mayor refused to consider the Board's complaint of his neighbors concerning a new house across Merline Dr. from his own home.

The second was ruled by town council. Abbot Schwebel was mostly an endorsement of the town to be used as a tool for a private vendetta or publicity purposes in this matter.

Mr. Houley has gone too far," Houley prepared his own statement which said in part, "I demand a public apology from the mayor for his libelous remarks. I cannot accept his position that every inquiry or question is an effort to embarrass or harass the administration and that every person who tries to do his job must be cut down by a vicious attack."

Both men, speaking with apparent firm conviction, made a passionate remarks for the meeting's minutes.

Konkoli asked in a letter to the mayor "that you consider the recommendation of Donald Maguda as the new Chief of the Rockville Fire Department." He asked the matter be discussed last night.

Mayor Grant noted there will be a survey taken by an insurance firm of Rockville's fire needs and he wanted to wait till it was done before selecting a Chief.

He added, "Konkoli either showed very poor leadership, or was attempting to put the Ad-

Police Arrests

Police arrested several persons charged with breach of peace after Arthur Peterson, 20 of 27 Pearl St. told police someone chased him with a knife.

Peterson told police that shortly before 10 last night, four men approached him as he stood by a car in front of Center Park. He told police one of the men threatened him and that Ready stood behind him with a can opener in his hand.

Peterson said he turned and ran toward the Center, and as he ran he saw a man he did not know with a knife in his hand.

Shahmoon Low On Pipe Bids

Shahmoon Industries Inc. of Boston is the apparent low bidder, of only two who submitted prices today, for supplying the Town Water Co. with a quantity of cast-iron pipe, of various sizes and various specifications.

Shahmoon's prices were lower in all categories than were those of the other bidder, the U.S. Pipe & Foundry Co. of Braintree.

The specifications called for pipe in 16-foot lengths and of 6-foot, 8-foot, 10-foot and 12-foot diameters.

The bulk of the purchases will be of the tyon-joint variety. Small purchases will be made of the regular ball and spigot variety.

haunts—which ought some day to be evaluated from the point of view of their relationship to the welfare, health and safety of man, and ordained against accordingly.

The Redoubtable Mrs. Hicks... The almost unbelievable fact about Mrs. Louise Day Hicks of Boston is that she is so completely perfect in her role.

Since she loves the Negro, and loves all children, and hates nobody, there is no real reason why anybody should be able to vote against her. The result is that although her own followers seem to think they find a key which tells them in their own hearts why they are with her, and that, although her opponents likewise can sense what they are contending with, the semantic task of trying to prove that she is what she contrives to seem to be, but nevertheless steadfastly denies being, is a difficult task indeed.

Presumably, if all those who could succeed in gaining the right label on her nevertheless follow what their own blood and sense tell them and combine against her on Boston's election day, she can be blocked off from the office of Mayor. But the very speed with which all the "decent" factions of Boston and Massachusetts political life are rushing into this kind of coalition against her carries at least some portion of commitment to build up for Mrs. Hicks herself. It will be a fortunate thing for Boston if Mrs. Hicks is defeated.

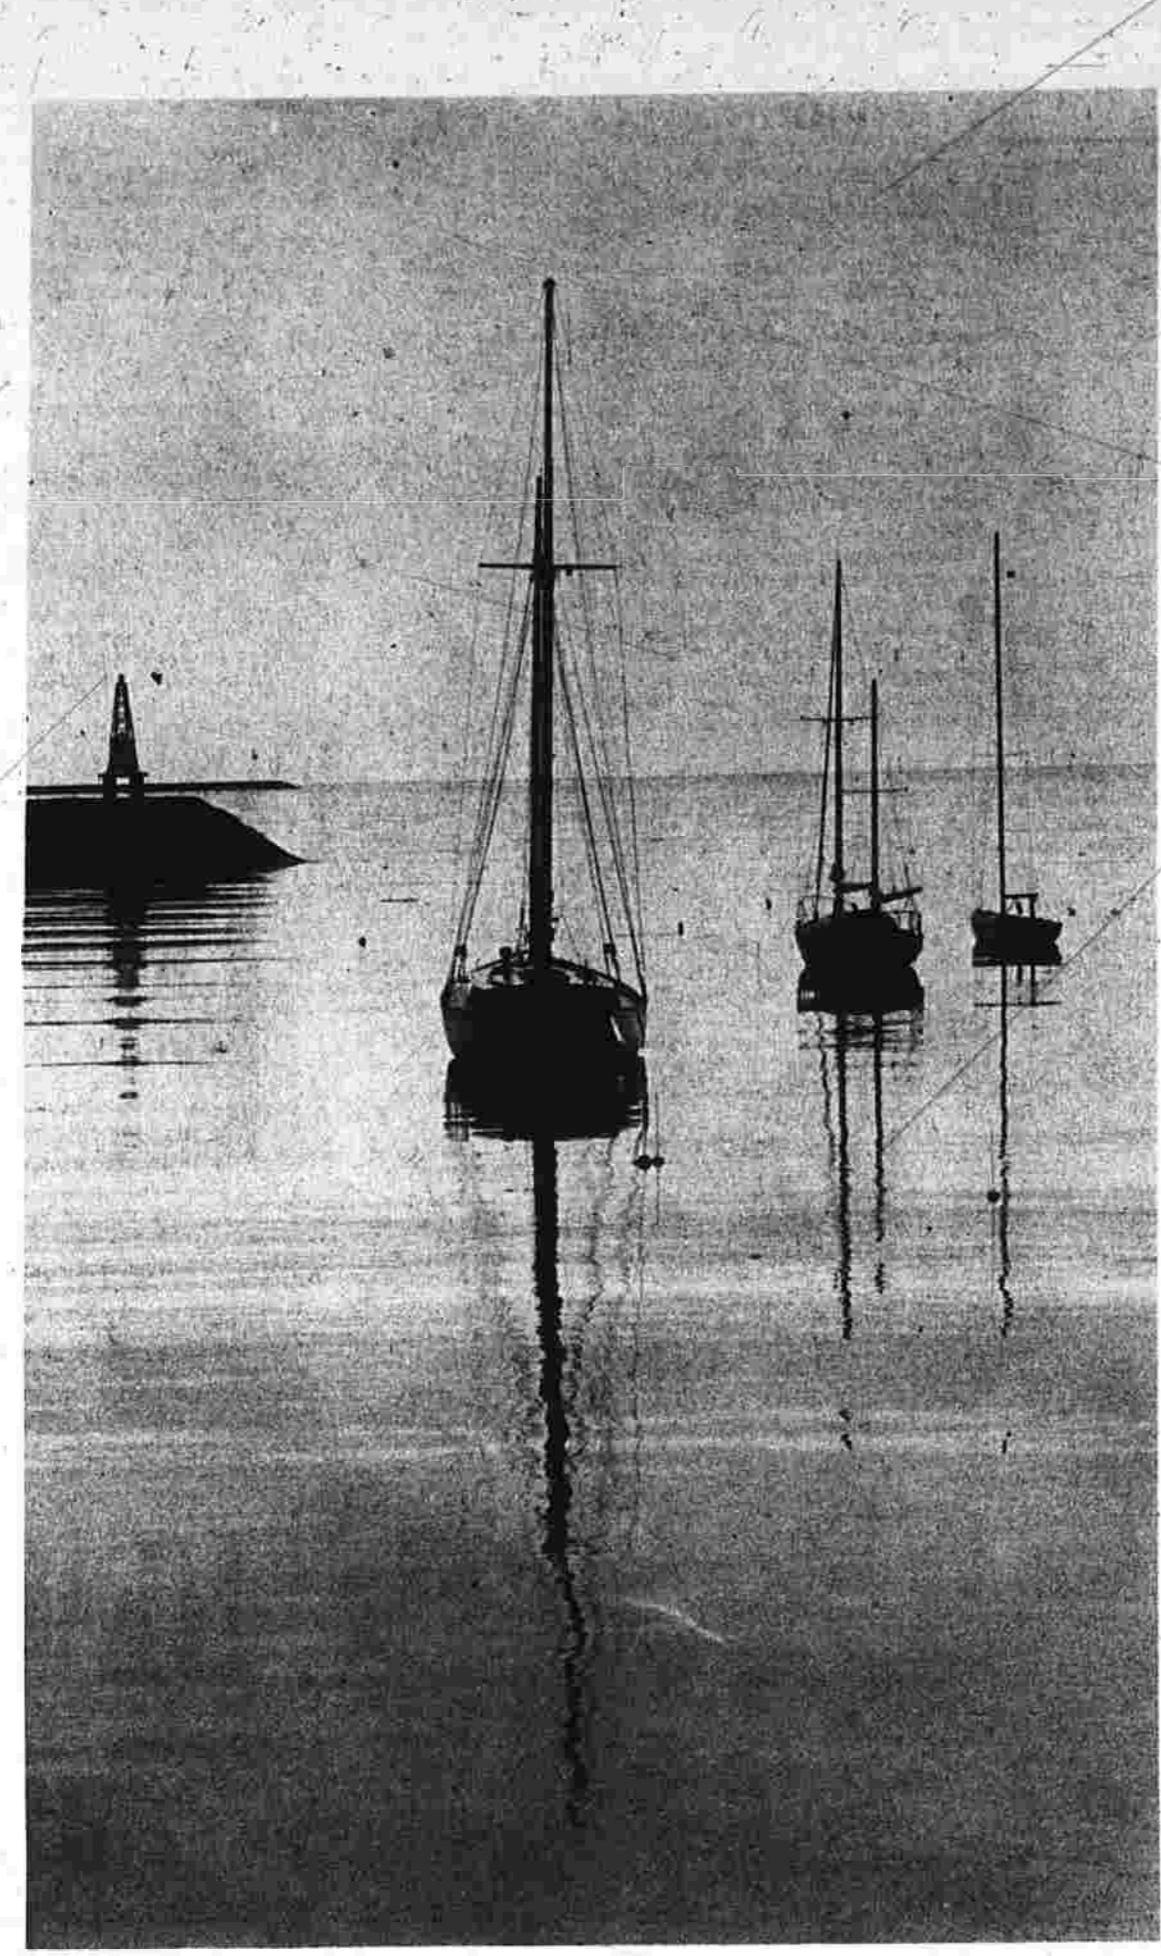

For the people of Santa Barbara are offending another typical kind of Americanism—that of an uncaring indifference of the necessity of such discomforts, annoyances and injuries as may be entailed in the march of something that can be labeled progress.

In the area of human discomfort, there is probably no public nuisance more bold in claiming excessive privilege than that of the sonic boom, and, none, generally accepted, with exceptions such as Santa Barbara, nor coming into notice, accepted with more benevolent fatalism, or even, sometimes, with some small sense of pride at living in times which propose such majestic inconveniences.

A second element in the contrast traces down to older and more universal traits—the drama, the appeal of the plight of the specific individual against that of the anonymous crowd. There is a certain accumulation of silent horror over the casualty figures from the war in Vietnam, now that they usually total some 2,900 in dead and wounded each week, but the best hope that the American mind might really ask itself if it knew the whys of Vietnam and whether they were worth our sacrifice existed in these earlier days of our participation when the first Americans in combat died singly, and their home communities could devote 30 days of official mourning to each casualty.

The impetuous generosity with which we will rush to the support of the individual and the mass sense of indifference and powerlessness we seem to display when the fate of thousands, or perhaps, to be realistic without attempting melodrama, that of the whole of mankind is involved, is something which begs for new philosophical invention, some new switchboard, ultra-sophisticated, for interchange of currents between microcosm and macrocosm, some great grid system which can bring to our routines and reasonable service of the great human majority the same resolute ingenuities that majority so readily generates into the emergency need of an individual. We busy up if it sparrow but fail to take responsibility for ourselves.

We salute the citizens and councilmen of Santa Barbara, for daring to think that acceptance of life under the son of a bitch need not be either reasonable or inevitable. We note, too, that if such a token rebellion should ever achieve even some momentary balance or equilibrium of success, there are other items of progress and civilization—including speech-and-go automobiles, the gray blob of power and asphalt plants, and the black crime of diesel truck ex-

SAIGON — With the express consent of U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker, a liberal Democrat from California conveyed a polite but tough message to President-elect Nguyen Van Thieu shortly after the election here.

But, prophets are where you find them. We do not mean to imply that the President-elect's worst fears have been realized. We only suggest that military spending has assumed such gigantic proportions that $70 billion for the next fiscal year—and the dependence of some companies on government contracts is so great that the power of the military to indirectly influence public opinion, and hereby influence policy, has been enhanced greatly.

Admittedly, new weapons will always be needed. But they must not be allowed to become pawns in some future game played for the mutual benefit of the military and those who supply it.

WATERBURY REPUBLICAN

Connecticut Yankee By A.H.O.

Of all those difficult Democratic State Chairmen, John Bailey faces in the three political years just ahead, there is no one so completely perfect in his role as our Connecticut Yankee.

The progress of these three problems will be a subject for political columnists for months to come, and one thing which will become obvious many times over is that some trends perhaps inevitable for any political power structure are involved.

Here is that same almost inordinate, very passionate love of the game of politics for itself. People who are subject to such passion naturally do everything possible to win at the game; but they also have a capacity, half passionate smile, half cool professional, to appreciate and admire the strategy of their opponents.

Bolton GOP Holds Reins, Licitra Selectman

In the only surprise in yesterday's town elections, Joseph Licitra outpolled Democratic incumbent Dr. Bernard Sheridan to become the new Democrat on the Board of Selectmen.

Licitra led the Democratic ticket, Mr. Virginia Butterfield, running unopposed for the board of finance, received the state's highest number of votes, 334.

The new Democratic Selectman, Licitra, is a Middletown native and has lived in Bolton 20 years. He is a representative of state realty. But the Democrats should have run someone else in his place, initially.

Man Charged In Attack on Patrolman

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — David Broadnax Jr., 21, attacked Patrolman Edward Ewaskevich while the policeman was investigating a car-fire truck collision Monday night, police said.

The younger Broadnax was charged with assault and resisting arrest and was released under $1,000 bond. His father was charged with interfering with a police officer and was released under $200 bond.

The Manchester YR (Young Republicans) Club has backed the Manchester Police Association in its dispute with Town Manager Robert Weiss over the police established for promotion examinations. It has asked the Board of Directors to investigate the association's complaints.

It has also asked the Board of Directors to be more careful in its appointments to town commissions, boards and agencies and to ascertain, before an appointment is made, the individual considered for appointment will live up to his responsibilities.

Man Charged In Attack on Patrolman

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — David Broadnax Jr., 21, attacked Patrolman Edward Ewaskevich while the policeman was investigating a car-fire truck collision Monday night, police said.

The younger Broadnax was charged with assault and resisting arrest and was released under $1,000 bond. His father was charged with interfering with a police officer and was released under $200 bond.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING DEPT. HOURS 8 A.M. TO 5 P.M. COPY CLOSING TIME FOR CLASSIFIED ADVT. 5 P.M. DAY BEFORE PUBLICATION

PLEASE READ YOUR AD Classified or "Wanted Ads" are taken over the phone on a commission. The advertiser should read his ad the FIRST DAY IT APPEARS and REPORT ERRORS in time for the next insertion. The Herald is responsible for only ONE insertion to the extent of a "make good" insertion. Errors which do not lessen the value of the advertisement will not be corrected by "make good" insertion.

643-2711 875-3136 (Rockville, 2nd Floor)

Trouble Reaching Our Advertiser? 24-Hour Answering Service Free to Herald Readers

Want information on one of our classified advertisements? No answer at the telephone? Simply call the EDWARDS ANSWERING SERVICE 649-0500 875-2519

HERALD BOX LETTERS

THE HERALD will not disclose the identity of any advertiser using box letters. Readers answering blind box ads who desire to protect their identity can follow this procedure: Enclose your reply to the box in an envelope addressed to the Classified Manager, Manchester Evening Herald, together with a memo listing the companies you do NOT want to see your letter. Your letter will be destroyed if the advertiser is one you've mentioned. If not it will be handled in the usual manner.

Law Classes In Colleges Given Praise

State Sen. David M. Barry of the Civil War will praise the state's community college system for insuring a curriculum of police administration and law enforcement in two of its institutions.

Beginning this fall, the Manchester and Norwich Community Colleges are offering such courses in a two-year program leading to an associate degree. Citing the rising crime rate, social unrest and the changing laws relating to the apprehension and prosecution of criminals, Sen. Barry said that the courses are a vital part of the total educational services offered by the community colleges.

The scope of the curriculum indicates the colleges' recognition of the need for a broadening of police training beyond the purely technical aspects of police work," he said.

He cited the inclusion of courses in sociology, psychology, political science, social science, natural science and English in addition to criminal investigation, traffic control and police administration.

Sen. Barry said that already more than 100 students have enrolled in this program at the Manchester High School, is attending Porter School of Design, Rocky Hill. He is employed as a machine apprentice at Pratt and Whitney, Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford.

No date has been announced for the wedding.

to benefit from a better-educated and better-trained police force.

12th Circuit Court Cases

MANCHESTER SESSION
Jon C. Castine, 22, of East Hartford pleaded guilty to the charge of failure to grant the right of way, operating a motor vehicle without a license, and operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

He was fined a total of $45 as a result of a two-car collision on Broad St. The car he was driving struck another driven by John J. Pareto of 150 Loomis St. No injuries were reported.

ABC Files Suit Against TV Union

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Broadcasting Co. has filed a $2 million damage suit against Mel Brandt, president of the AFL-CIO American Federation of Television and Radio Artists (AFTRA), which has ordered its members not to cross picket lines of striking ABC technicians.

The suit, filed Tuesday in the New York State Supreme Court, also sought an injunction restraining AFTRA from persuading ABC employees "to violate any employment contract under threat of facing disciplinary action by the union."

About 1,500 technicians—members of the AFL-CIO National Association of Broadcast Employees and Technicians—have been on strike against the ABC television and radio networks since Sept. 22 in a contract dispute.

In Los Angeles, one of five cities where NABET is on strike and picketing, Superior Court Judge Ralph Nutter on Tuesday granted ABC a temporary restraining order prohibiting AF-

TRA from persuading ABC employees "to violate any employment contract under threat of facing disciplinary action by the union."

ABC said the union's order would have caused the network to lose $2 million in advertising revenue.

UFT Found Guilty; Shanker Sentenced

NEW YORK (AP) — UFT teachers were found guilty of a conspiracy to defame the city's public school system.

Charges against two other union officials were dismissed by a judge.

The city's Board of Education had obtained an injunction against the strike under the new Taylor law, which was designed to prevent strikes of the city's public school system.

The sentencing, by Justice Emilio Tamm in State Supreme Court, was viewed as the first application of the punitive provisions of the state's new Taylor law, which bars strikes by public employees.

Maximum penalties under the law are fines of $10,000 a day against the union and jail terms of up to 90 days and a $500 fine against leaders.

The law was passed by the two-million-member State AFL-CIO. UFT attorney Ernest Fleischman, "You are being punished for contempt of the jurisdiction of the court's lawful mandate, respectively of the Taylor Law."

Meet a "lucky" he's tearing up his home heat service contract James Wakeman of 2037 Boulevard, like hundreds of other homeowners in Greater Hartford, is a "lucky." He's converted his original heating system to a low-cost, dependable GAS. He doesn't need a service contract any longer. It was quicker, easier and cheaper than Jim thought, too. In a few minutes we installed the new GAS burner right where the old unit was... same furnace... same thermostat and controls. And no installation charge, either, even though we brought the GAS in all the way from the main. And Jim... the lucky... all he pays is a $2.95 monthly rental, plus the low, low cost of the gas he uses. This one small charge includes service and repairs... including parts and labor... anytime... day or night... year after year. And he knows that if he's not satisfied after a year... for any reason... we'll refund every penny he's paid in rental, except for the GAS he has used. Why don't you become one of the "luckies"... and convert to GAS today? Call the Hartford Gas Company at 249-1331 or your plumbing and heating contractor... today.

Truckers Harrassed Despite More Police PITTSBURGH (AP) — Rocks and bullets harrassed truckers moving along the Pennsylvania Turnpike during the night, despite Gov. Raymond P. Shafer's placement of the National Guard on standby and beefed up police patrols. And in Ohio, Butler County sheriff's deputies said four trucks parked at a trucking company near Middletown, Ohio were drenched with gasoline and set afire. Two rigs were destroyed.
