Company Seeks to Soothe Opposition to Condominium: Opposition appears to be growing among residents of the northeast section of town, particularly around Buckley School, to a proposal by the Green Manor Construction Co. to erect a 202-unit complex of condominium-type apartments off Lydell St. near Vernon St.

A special, informal meeting of area residents has been scheduled by Green Manor to tonight at 7:30 p.m. at the Marine Corps Home on Parker St. for the purpose of airing the company's proposal.

A letter from Green Manor's attorneys, Lesmer, Rollner, Korp and Pflieger has been sent to residents abutting the 51-acre tract where the construction is planned, inviting them to attend the session and bring objections concerning the impending construction.

"It has come to our attention that some of the people living in the area are concerned about the effect of the proposal and that many rumors are being spread, causing a misapprehension in some people's minds as to what is contemplated," the letter said in part.

"Condominium" means "joint ownership" and applied to such dwelling means that tenants would own their apartments under a common title through an association.

As tenants would own their apartments under a common title through an association, the occupants would be responsible for the upkeep, renovation and sale of their property.

The construction of this type of residential facility in Connecticut was approved by the 1965 General Assembly.

Derelicts In Bowery Getting Aid: NEW YORK (AP) — Things are changing for Bowery derelicts. The change is not in the grimy windowed flophouses where some of them sleep or in the taverns where many go to drink, but in the approach taken by authorities in dealing with these homeless men.

At the end of this month a new experimental program is scheduled to begin which may alter the way police and welfare officials handle the 6,000 derelicts who live on or near the Bowery.

Starting Oct. 31, two-man teams consisting of plainclothes patrolmen and a reformed alcoholic or Bowery room clerk will comb the streets for derelicts to offer them medical help. Now the men are either left to fend for themselves or arrested and put in jail. Recently the practice of arresting derelicts has been successfully challenged on constitutional grounds.

The new $500,000-a-year effort, being developed by the Vera Institute for Justice, a private nonprofit organization, and its budget will be financed by various federal, state, local and private sources.

Auto Workers Split Seen with AFL-CIO: WASHINGTON (AP) — Most top AFL-CIO officials expect Walter Reuther to march his United Auto Workers Union out of the federation in December in what would be organized labor's biggest split in a decade, informed sources say.

Reuther, who has stilled his tongue-lashing criticism of AFL-CIO President George Meany since the month-long Auto Workers strike began against Ford Motor Co., and by 1969 would name his plans even to close associates.

Neither Meany nor other federation leaders want to see it happen, but feel powerless to stop a move which would be the most drastic labor break since the AFL-CIO kicked out the Teamsters Union on corruption charges 10 years ago.

Reuther quit last February as an AFL-CIO vice president and Executive Council member. He later gained authority from his 1.5 million members to pull the union out of the federation whenever he wanted.

High labor officials believe he will use the forum of the AFL-CIO's convention to do it, probably in a sudden surprise move.

"Whatever he does will be dramatic," said one source. Reuther used the tactic of complete surprise in announcing his resignation from the AFL-CIO hierarchy eight months ago.

Then Reuther issued an escalating barrage of anti-labor criticism on everything from labor politics to social programs and foreign relations. Reuther's recent silence, although attributable at least in part to the Ford strike, appears to be preparing for the final plunge out of the AFL-CIO.

E-fish-ent Ceremony: LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Rev. Mike Mason picked a wet suit to wear under his clerical collar because of the soaking for today's wedding ceremony at the bottom of a fish tank.

The couple — Miss diver Jack Tyre, 26, and stunt girl Charon Day, 29, — bought the amiable pastor of the First Church of Christ of San Fernando how to submerge himself in the tank containing artificial water.

The happy windows of the tank containing artificial water were set aside for people-watching.

Dwelling at 32 Maple St. Hit by Fire: Fire raced through the ground floor rooms of a single-family dwelling at 32 Maple St. shortly after 11 this morning, doing extensive damage to the house.

Apparently no one was injured in the fire. Assistant Fire Chief Sedrick Straughan, directing operations at the scene, said the blaze started in one of a back-hall closet adjacent to the kitchen area.

The dwelling is owned by the Maple St. Co., whose principal owners are Walter and Albert Gallagher.

The house is one of several multiple-family houses on the street.

Waldo Gallagher said the occupant of the burning house was a Mrs. Ann F. Maeselek who lived with her two young sons.

Truck Fatality Probed For Link to Strikers: PITTSBURGH (AP) — Trucks were battered with rocks and bullets in three states today and one driver, ironically not a strike-breaking steel hauler, was killed in a night of renewed violence.

In Michigan a man hauling animal parts to a soap factory was killed when two rocks were pitched from a truck.

In Ohio a night rider in a green car passed four tractors on the Pennsylvania Turnpike, but a trooper said, "Just a few more inches and these could have been real bad."

In Pennsylvania and Ohio eight trucks were struck by rocks or gunfire. No one was hurt but in some cases it was close.

An investigation was started to see if the fatal accident was connected to the violent strike by maverick Teamsters trying to force their union to get them a better contract. If the conviction is confirmed, it would be the first death caused by the seven-week-old strike that has almost completely stopped the highway movement of steel.

Other trucks were hit by rocks pitched from an overpass, also near Everett. Windshields were smashed both times.

Planes Again Pound North Supply Routes: SAIGON (AP) — American warplanes struck the supply lines deep in North Vietnam for the fourth straight day Friday, while in the South an Army Navy tank force reported killing 200 Communists in ground actions scattered across South Vietnam. Besides the delta battle, action was reported in the central highlands and along the coastal foothills of the 1st Corps area. Just below the demilitarized zone.

The focus of the war remained on the raids over North Vietnam, however, as Air Force, Navy and Marine pilots flew 129 missions in the continuing effort to cripple Communist supply routes as much as possible before the monsoon rains cover the targets late this month.

The most significant targets were in the heavily defended northeastern part of the country, including two bridges 10 and 15 miles from and China. The area contains major supply areas and the vital northeast link to the Communist bloc supplies to Hanoi.

U.S. headquarters reported the loss of a Navy F4 Crusader jet, with the pilot missing—the 68th announced U.S. combat loss in the North. The plane went down Thursday—one of five acknowledged losses reported in the heavy fighting in the immediate vicinity of Hanoi or Haiphong Friday for the first time.

Air Force Thunderchiefs pilot reported leaving 15 rail cars twisted and wrecked on two rail sidings about 25 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Other raiders hit rail points 24 miles south of Hanoi and 24 miles south of the capital, plus the Yen Bai military area. The driver, Clarence Helm, 42, of Canton, was not hurt.

The flight was carried by the new Army-Navy riverine forces operating in swamps, twisting streams and bamboo stands about 80 miles southwest of Saigon. Air Force jets supported the ground troops by dropping bombs and at dusk the battlefield was lit by flares from a plane—night-fighting planes with Gatling guns.

12 Arrested In Groton Gaming Raid: GROTON (AP)—State police raided the Electric Boat Division of General Dynamics Corp., and nearby areas and arrested a dozen men on various gambling charges.

The raiders carried 16 arrest warrants in their raid Friday in and around the nuclear submarine plant.

The arrests followed a two-month investigation by Lt. Wayne H. Bishop, commanding officer of the State Police Criminal Intelligence Division, and Lt. Frederick P. Moran of the Groton barracks. Company officials cooperated.

A Navy man stationed at the nearby U.S. Submarine Base, a drug and 10 Electric Boat employees were arrested. The men were dealt with betting on both horse racing and miscellaneous sports events, especially football games.

The Navy man was identified by police as Lois W. Flynn, 36, of Groton. He was charged with selling and holding in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Police said he was on route to his Electric Boat contact with "one of the actors" whose arrested. His car was seized as evidence.

Joe J. Shanahan, 35, of Ledyard, who operates a drug store near the Electric Boat plant, was charged with pool selling and holding in lieu of $1,000 bond.

RIGHT TRUMP PLAY DEFENDS ON HAND BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD How do you play a trump suit when you are missing only the king and three very low trumps? Do you take a trump finesse? The answer may depend on the rest of the hand.

The standard play to avoid the loss of a trump trick is to lead the queen of hearts from dummy for a finesse. The point about this hand is that South cannot tell at the beginning how anxious he is to avoid the loss of a trump trick.

South is sure to lose a diamond and a spade. If South must also lose a club he must try the trump finesse in the hope of avoiding the loss of a trump trick.

What do you say? Answer: Bid two clubs, the Stayman Convention. This asks partner to bid a four-card or longer spade or heart suit if he can.

Declarer cashes the queen of spades and returns to his hand with the ace of trumps in order to discard dummy's last club on the ace of spades.

House Retains Early Features

STORY BY DORIS BEEDING PHOTOS BY JOSEPH SATERNIS More than 250 years ago, when a handful of early settlers and sometimes visiting Indians enjoyed strolling on the verdant Tolland Green, the commodious Shampson House, one of the first to border the green, was erected.

At the right of the front entrance the former front parlor has now been converted into a music room, complete with console organ, grand piano and various smaller instruments.

Tuttle Re-elected Chairman Of the Board of Education

The Columbia Board of Education reorganized at its Thursday night meeting after the election of Monday. Board members remain the same as before the election with both Democrat Guy Beck and Republican Donald Tuttle, a veteran of 21 years on the board, being returned to office.

Tuttle was re-elected chairman of the board by a three to two secret ballot vote. Beck received the two votes. Ellen Hills (R) was re-elected secretary by the full five votes. Members are Tuttle, Beck, Mrs. Willis Mrs. Edith Haver and Wallace Lohr.

The secretary read a letter from the Rev. Hugh Murphy acknowledging the board's decision to refuse to use classrooms for catechism classes. Father Murphy had made such a request at the September meeting of the board.

Father Murphy explained in his letter that he was disappointed at their decision and asked if they would please reconsider his request. He said instead of 150 children registered in the religion classes (which was what he originally thought to be the number) he found that there are 200 children involved and his church is just not large enough to accommodate them.

After a short discussion of the matter the board at the request of Beck tabled the matter until a meeting to be scheduled in the near future.

Also to be taken up at the same meeting will be the request of the Girl Scouts to use the cafeteria after school on Thursday of each week.

Seven Accidents Listed by Police

Yesterday and Thursday police investigated seven motor vehicle accidents involving 13 vehicles. No injuries were reported and no arrests made. One written warning was given.

Roger Schuetz, 22, of 43 S. Hawthorne St. got a written warning for unsafe movement from a parked position after the car he was driving was hit by one driven by Kathleen A. O'Brien of 106 Russell St. yesterday at 9 p.m.

Police said the Schuetz vehicle pulled out of a parking space on Main St. near Haynes St. and was turning when hit on the left side by the O'Brien car.

A wire fence on S. Main St. near Lakewood Circle S. was damaged Thursday when a car driven by Anthony J. Vastie, 24, of Wetherfield scraped it with its side. Vastie told police he lost control of his vehicle when his right wheel went off the asphalt curbing when the road narrowed.

The left rear of a car driven by Marion K. Schneider of 19 Fulton Rd. was damaged as it was parked on Main St. near Birch St. yesterday morning. The vehicle which did the damage left the scene, police say.

A van type truck, driven by George R. Perodeau, 40, of Wetherfield hit a parked car driven by Geraldine W. McKean of Vernon yesterday at 9:15 a.m.

Perodeau told police he did not see the McKean vehicle as he pulled ahead in the Parkade parking lot.

Russock, 32, of 240 Charter Oak St. on Pine St. near Forest St. yesterday at 4:44 p.m. Police say the collision took place as the Russock vehicle swung left to make a turn, and the Colton truck attempted to pass it.

At E. Middle Tpke. and Walker St. yesterday at 4:40 p.m., a car driven by Richard J. DuMas, 17, of 94 Mather St. hit a car driven by Jane P. Walker of Falls Church, Va. Police say the Walker vehicle pulled out from Walker St. onto E. Middle Tpke. when the collision took place.

One of his officers, Black Caucus Leader John Barber, said the act "is structured so that it won't reach the people who need it most."

PUC Gives Increase To Water Company

The State Public Utilities Commission (PUC) has approved a rate hike for customers of the privately-owned Manchester Water Co., but has amended the new rates downward to provide for additional revenues to wells. It also has reservoirs available on a standby basis and capable of being used in emergencies. The capacity of the reservoirs is approximately 90.5 million gallons.

The Town of Manchester presently is negotiating for purchase of the water company. The 8th Utilities District which also is interested in the purchase, had asked the PUC to postpone the rate increase until after the town and water company had concluded their negotiations.

The PUC ruled that, under Sec. 16-19 of the State Statutes, it does not have the authority to defer the rate increase and that "it is immaterial whether any negotiations for the sale of the company, by the company, by its stockholders, have been, are, or will be taking place."

"We find," the PUC decision states, "that the company is in need of additional revenues to enable it to properly fulfill its statutory responsibilities, maintain its financial stability and earn a reasonable return on property it has dedicated to public service."

The PUC ordered the rates changed to $5.75 per quarter for the meter and to 88 cents per 1,000 gallons for the first 60,000 gallons.

The PUC found that additional revenues of $49,500 annually would be sufficient to return 6 per cent on the company's $801,549 rate base.

The Manchester Water Co. at the end of 1966, had 3,240 customers in the North End of Manchester. Its principal source of supply is three gravel-packed

Residents Still Unhappy Over Condominium Plan

Residents of the northeast section of town were not soothed as a result of last night's meeting with Green Manor Construction Co. on the erection of a 302-unit complex of condominium-type apartments off Lyndall St. near Vernon St., said Mrs. Elliott of 49 Shalters Rd., one of the opposing residents.

Elliott said that the residents were not receptive to the comments made by the attorney, architect and engineer who are representing Green Manor. The residents as a group are opposing the apartment complex on the grounds that it is a dense area and there would be too many residents in a 51 acre area.

Also the residents claim that the "Buddley School" cannot take any more pupils because it is already overcrowded. The one and half hour discussion centered on safety, health, water, sewer and overcrowding of the school.

The architect and engineer representing Green Manor displayed plans for the complex and answered the residents' questions in an attempt to dispel the idea that these are low cost apartments. They explained that condominium means "joint sovereignty" and applied to such dwelling means that tenants would own their apartment units through an association.

The plans call for 56 parking garages for 302 houses with a total of one and one half parking spaces per house. The complex will contain 30 one-bedroom; 90 two-bedroom; 162 three-bedroom and 30 four-bedroom units. It is expected that the cost of the individual townhouses will range from $15,000 to $22,000.

As tenant owners, the occupants would be responsible for the upkeep, renovation and sale of the property. The town would be responsible for sidewalks, sewer, and schooling of these residents' children.

The final comment made by the opposition was that this type of housing was not conducive to the neighborhood containing single family homes and that this type of complex belongs in the North End Redevelopment area.

The opposing residents plan to attend the public hearing before the Town Planning Commission Monday at 8 p.m. in the municipal building's hearing room. Green Manor at this time will present a master site plan for the erection of the 302-unit apartment complex.

Making Shows Longer

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Two-hour feature films are galloping off with the television season's top ratings to date and a lot of people in the industry are thinking about adding more long programs.

Since the industry apparently regards the length of shows as significant rather than content, the viewer may soon find that on several evenings a week a network will have two long programs in prime time. CBS has already started it, with "Cimarron Strip" running for 90 minutes followed by a two-hour broadcast of a feature film.

But there are others who are not so sure that the popularity of feature movies is anything more than normal reaction to a definite programming gambit in use by all three major networks. They plan to wait awhile before proclaiming that half-hour comedies as well as one-hour action stories and westerns — traditionally TV staples — are, if not dead, declining in ratings.

"Wait until we've all run out of the strong shows in those movie packages we've bought," cautioned one executive. "We're all loading in our best stuff now. I think it would be a mistake to count any show dead, no matter what those early ratings show, until we see what happened when we are all forced to use the run of the mill movies."

Meanwhile, there are reports in the trade papers about the pending demise of a number of shows with poor early ratings.

Mentioned were NBC's "Maya" which so far has indicated that even a lovable elephant star is no match for Jackie Gleason, its heavyweight competition. CBS's "Dundee and the Culhane" got off to a dull start and disappointing results. ABC, with more new shows than the other two networks, also seems to have more trouble spots in its schedule.

Its biggest problem is "Good Company," trying to do battle with two ratings giants—NBC's "Dean Martin Show" and the CBS Thursday night movie. In Thursday nights program F. Lee Bailey, the aggressive criminal lawyer who is a surprisingly diffident host in the series, was conducting a stilted, sober-sides interview with Sean Connery who in person is hardly the dashing character he portrays in James Bond films. It was no match for the power displayed on the other channels—Phil Silvers and Janet Leigh working with Martin; and a star-studded cast headed by Rex Harrison in "The Yellow Rolls Royce" a popular old movie.

With CBS's third Barbra Streisand show coming up next

Wednesday and its 90-minute original drama, "Do Not Go Gentle Into That Good Night" following a week later, the three networks will begin to unwrap some of their special programs. From the fourth week of October through the shopping season ending on Christmas, they will be coming thick and fast.

Barbra Streisand in a scene from her third hour-long special, "Belle of 14th Street," a re-creation of American vaudeville at the turn of the century. It will be shown Wednesday at 10 p.m.

Those 'Spoiled Brats' on Television Series

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — tiny nose, Johnnie Whitaker, is at 7, television's youngest star. She's blonde, blue-eyed, very exciting, built exactly the way a girl should be, dressed in a costume that does a lot for her, and is seated in a director's chair on the edge of the set where they are filming their series. She is absorbed in a Los Angeles newspaper.

She is Anissa Jones, age 9, one of the 16 talented tots, 13 boys and three girls, who toil in television series. Her co-star in CBS-TV's "A Family Affair," a darling redhead with a bridge of freckles across his 15; Jay North ("Maya") and Stanley Livingston ("My Three Sons"), 16.

Despite the fact that child actors have a reputation for being unbelievably spoiled brats, a lot of these children are normal in a situation far from normal.

Johnnie Whitaker's pretty mother, Thelma, says she had a talk with Johnnie before he began his acting career. "I told him that as long as he stayed the sweet boy he is, he could continue acting. But if there is any change, he will stop and he knows it." Helping keep Johnnie normal—seven brothers and sisters at home.

The thing that all the youngsters seem to agree on is a dislike for crying scenes.

Johnnie Whitaker says he "just thinks of something sad. One time Shirley Temple couldn't cry because it was such a happy day. So her mother told her something about Spotty, her dog, just before a scene. She told her that Spotty died, and Shirley cried. Then after the scene her mother told her Spotty didn't die—she just said that to make her cry."

Anissa, when asked how she makes herself cry, said, "I hate it. When it's a real happy day and then I have to do a scene where I have to cry, I have to think of something sad and then

I think of it all day. I can't make real tears, you know, But I can make a crying sound."

Clint Howard, who may be the world's only 8-year-old stand-up comic, can move hardened adults to tears when he puckers up.

"When I have to cry," he says, "I don't really enjoy it. Because when I go to school and we have time in the playground, everybody looks at me and says, 'Yah, yah, cry baby.'"

Clint and his brother Ronny, of CBS-TV's "The Andy Griffith Show," are a great comedy act. Ronny is totally normal, and a bit shy and sensitive. Clint is one of the world's great extroverts.

Conversations between the Howard Boys sound like this: Ronny: I played a tough boy in Gentle Ben.

Clint: I was a bad guy in Laredo.

Ronny: I'm not good enough

A Piano, Dingy Hall And George Burns

By JOAN CROSBY, NEW YORK — (NEA) — He's a totally happy man, standing at a piano in a dingy rehearsal hall doing what he loves best—singing in a voice that sounds like a foghorn with a battery that needs recharging.

He's extremely trim, active, a comedian's comedian, acknowledged by them all as the master. He moves and looks like a man 20 years younger. He's George Burns, age 71.

"Listen," he says, "you take all these kids and add their ages together and I'm older and you can throw in their agents."

"He's in New York, rehearsing songs with the Harper's Bizarre and dancing to choreographer Peter Genmano's beat for the Oct. 11 Kraft Music Hall on NBC called "Tin Pan Alley Today."

Burns says he works these days only when he wants to. "I have a nice life in California. I don't work much. I play bridge, I swim, I exercise, the gin is as good there as it is here, and I've got a good piano player who comes over every night. I sing six or seven songs, then go to bed and I never have to take a sleeping pill."

By this time, he was lurching at Sartre's, and putting catchup on his fish. "You can tell I'm an old vaudeville man. I put catchup on everything."

Likes New Music

He likes modern music and the young performers, even if he does have a few reservations.

"I think the music is great, but I do the old songs. If I wanted to learn the new songs, it would take me a whole season, and I don't have a whole season to kill. I have to play bridge. I learned a couple of Beatles' songs for this show. These kids today write around corners. The songs are not easy to sing. They take liberties with lyrics and there are no verses. I'm a verse man myself. And the phrasing. In the old days, if you broke a phrase the way they do today, they'd knock on your door and give you pictures back.

"I love singing. I really do. I love the kids that sing today. You can't have favorites because they all have long hair. Take any group and change their name and no one will know because they all look like Buster Brown. I've got more hair than the Harper's Bizarre. I've got a whole trunk full of it.

"The kids today have a looseness that performers didn't have when I started. They wouldn't allow you to change a joke or a song in those days. You signed a contract for five years and you played for five years with the same material. If you wanted to do a new joke, you had to bootleg it in.

Trying Out Joke

"I'll tell you a story and it's a true one. Gracie and I had a joke we wanted to put in our act. Now if you had 17 minutes on good material you could make a living for a lifetime. The joke was a twoller. I said 'A funny thing happened to my mother in Cleveland.' And Gracie said, 'I thought you were born in Buffalo.' It added a second to our act. But it was an important second. So when we finished one engagement, we went to New Haven for a three-day engagement for less money than we usually made, just so we could break the joke into our act.

"The kids today are really good. They are born with this monster, television, that eats material, so they are loose. You couldn't keep them out of show business. You discover nobody. They break your doors down.

"Do you mind if I light a cigar? Milton Berle once said to me that he paid $2 for his cigars. I buy domestic cigars. I told him if I paid $2 for a cigar I'd kiss it. I cleaned that up for you. I think if you pay $2 for a cigar it must be able to do something else."
