Assessors In Session On Saturday
The Board of Assessors will be in session at the town office building Saturday afternoon from 2 to 5 p.m. to receive tax lists and to provide information for taxpayers with any questions about their assessments. This is the last meeting of the board before the Nov. 1 deadline for payments of second quarter tax bills.
Unlike previous years, it is no longer necessary to file a list of real estate and motor vehicles. This year only personal property is to be declared. The assessors, however, are somewhat concerned about the small number of such personal property lists so far filed with them. Apparently only about a third of such property has been declared. To avoid the 10 percent penalty the lists must be filed no later than Nov. 1, and, if mailed, bear a postmark of that date.

Sen. Morse Eyes Votes From Vietnam Dissenters

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — "I'm not alone any more," says Sen. Wayne Morse, making no effort to conceal his satisfaction. The senator implies that those now keeping company with him in opposition to the war in Vietnam are the vanguard of enough supporters to send him back to the U.S. Senate for a fifth straight term. But Morse's critics also are looking forward to next year's Democratic primary, convinced that at long last they have found a man with a chance to beat him. He is Robert B. Duncan, 46-year-old former congressman who was the Democratic candidate for the Senate last year, but lost to Republican Mark O. Hatfield.

Duncan, a personable, articulate Portland lawyer, is a long-time supporter of the Vietnam war, and neither he nor his friends have forgotten that Morse excels for work in the Senate. The 67-year-old Morse, twice elected to the Senate as a Republican and once as a Democrat, has been challenged before. But never by a candidate of Duncan's caliber. An Oregon public opinion poll, leaked last spring, showed Duncan leading Morse 2 to 1, and Duncan's friends insist that subsequent polls show him maintaining the margin. As for Duncan, he calls himself a "noncandidate," which apparently means he's merely waiting for the right time to announce. He couldn't resist taking cognizance of the polls. "Morse is paying intense attention to Oregon now," said Duncan. "He may be reading the same polls I'm seeing. That's why he is campaigning so hard."

Whatever the reason, Morse is certainly campaigning. He is spending every spare moment in the state, talking, shaking hands, being very visible. There is one announced candidate—Phil McAlmond, 38, a wealthy political amateur like Duncan, a strong backer of the war. Morse, long one of the war's most bitter critics, now can point to a number of political leaders who have joined in one degree or another, in criticism of the war. One Democratic leader says, "Duncan can't use Vietnam as he did against Hatfield. There has been a shift of sentiment." There is debate on this point but those close to Duncan regard it as irrelevant. They believe he has made up his mind to run and awaits only some glimmer of hope for financial support. His losing race last year against Hatfield left him in debt, and he is reported as leery of another race without money. Duncan will only say he is "looking at it pretty close."

This is what he can say. Morse's opposition is bitter, vocal and seemingly numerous; many party workers and county chairmen are among the senator's sharpest critics. "Labor no longer is solidly as before," Morse said at the recent state AFL-CIO convention, a straw vote gave Duncan 289, Morse 101, McAlmond 4. "The results are serious," Morse said, "but not accurate. Straw votes in the past, at fairs and such things, have always been against me." Still another says that when the issue is joined, Morse will pick up votes as he always has by the logic of his arguments, the power of his oratory. "There is general agreement on only one point: If Morse is going to be beaten it will have to be by Duncan; no other Democrat can come close. And few suggest seriously that any Republican can either."

Despite Low Living Costs Government Official Says Tax Increase Is Needed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Living costs rose two-tenths of one per cent in September, the smallest increase in six months, but a government spokesman said today that price hikes are accelerating and "corroborate the need for a tax increase." The bureau reported an increase of one-tenth of one per cent in its wholesale price index to 102.2 in September. Preliminary indications are for a drop of one-tenth of one per cent in October. Ross said wholesale prices were still six-tenths of 1 per cent below a year earlier primarily because of lower food prices.

But he added that basic wholesale industrial commodities were up seven-tenths of one per cent in the past three months after remaining virtually stable earlier in the year. Ross said that increase combined with the accelerated rate of consumer price increases "corroborates the need for a tax increase." In consumer prices, housing was up three-tenths of one per cent in September, clothing 1.1 per cent, transportation three-tenths and medical care seven-tenths of one per cent. Wholesale prices were also up, the bureau said. For steel, lumber and plywood products were higher, because of the more than three-month strike in that industry, the bureau said. Auxiliary Hears Social Worker

Miss Doris Dean, chief psychiatric social worker of the Hartley-Salmon Child Guidance Clinic of Children's Services of Connecticut yesterday told a group of interested Manchester Auxiliary members of the clinic's work in helping emotionally disturbed children in the Greater Hartford Community Chest area. She spoke at a morning meeting held at the home of Mrs. Anthony Urbanetti, 57 Butterfield Rd. Miss Dean gave a short history of the clinic, mentioning that the Hartley-Salmon is one of the oldest child guidance clinics in the United States. In 1980 it became a member of the Community Chest, and services about 400 children in 48 towns, and in 1962 it merged with Children's Services.

Cricket's Chirp

In open, still air, a cricket's chirp may be heard at a distance of 1/2-mile. The sound of chirping crickets is more than one million tons, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica. The cricket's chirp is a result of the male cricket rubbing its wings together. The sound is produced by the friction of the wings against each other. Teen-ager, Presumed Dead Home After Two Months

PARSIPPANY, N.J. (AP) — Mrs. Burkan said she was up returning from the dead. Tuesday when "Bruce" walked in. She stood in complete shock for a few minutes and then "few" down to him. She said similar scenes took place as his three brothers, Barry, 13, Lee, 9, and Wayne, 15, came home from school. Mrs. Burkan showed Bruce a remembrance book she kept showing pictures and stories of memorial services conducted since Aug. 22, when he left his home. More than 200 area residents, Valerie Schuster, 19, the Bruce said Wednesday he remembers being in Ashbury Park and leaving the bus terminal. "I never dreamed so many people cared about me," the youth said. "No one even knows how much he will be mourned at his funeral. I've had the golden opportunity of returning."

Eight new voters were registered at Tuesday night's session. The registrations were evenly distributed between the parties, with three Republicans registering, three voters registering but remaining unaffiliated. Two Democrats registered and one unaffiliated voter registered Democrat.

Highlights of the days activities will be an International Fashion Show, and a talk by Mrs. Thomas Donahue, General Federation of Women's Clubs Junior, education chairman.

Members of the Tollard Historical Society interested in writing a book on the History of Tollard will hold their first meeting Monday night at 7 at the home of Mrs. Harold Garretty, Tollard Green. The history will eventually be used as a textbook for their grade students in fourth grade of local history.

Local public schools will be closed tomorrow for the teachers' convention. The Board of Recreation-sponsored Halloween party for Pre-school children will be held tomorrow at 1 p.m. at the Hillside Memorial School, and the party for first through fourth graders will take place at 6:30 at the Hillside Memorial School. The Board of Assessors will meet in the Congregational Church parking lot and walk down to the school in costume.

Jury Finds LSD Slaying Insanity in

The jury in the murder trial of a man charged with slaying a woman with LSD, found that the defendant was insane at the time of the crime.

The defendant, who was charged with the slaying of a woman, was found to be insane at the time of the crime.

The jury's verdict was based on evidence that the defendant had been taking LSD at the time of the slaying.

The jury's verdict was a surprise to many observers, who had expected a conviction on charges of murder.

Senate Spurs Demand For Slashing of Budget

The Senate has passed a bill to slash $1 billion from the federal budget, a move that has drawn criticism from some quarters.

The Senate's action was seen as a signal that Congress is serious about curbing government spending.

The bill, which would cut $1 billion from the budget, is expected to pass the House in the near future.

The Senate's move is part of a broader effort to reduce the federal deficit and control inflation.

Assuming Republican suspicions were correct, who were then the real scoundrels in the situation? The Republicans who turned down a surface gesture of patriotism? Or the Democrats who may have been using patriotism in order to set a political trap?

Out Of The Deep Freeze... Canadian scientists have now taken seeds that are believed to have lain dormant for some 10,000 years in frozen wastes of the Arctic and planted them and got them to germinate and produce.

Dissect And Disgrace... Official Washington and, indeed, the American system itself acquiesced themselves in the face of protests, defamations, and rank abuse during the week-end's so-called anti-war demonstrations in the capital.

Which Governors Were Patriotic?... The nation's Republican governor, at the climax of their handling of the Vietnam issue at the Governor's Conference, found themselves faced with what they felt forced to deal with as a political wolf masquerading in patriotic sheep's clothing.

Which Governors Were Patriotic?... The harm they have done this time is not to the war effort. The peace march and the hippie demonstration of it were sufficiently canceled out by pro-administration rallies elsewhere so that Hanoi could not have been seriously misled about the scope and weight of the protest.

Which Governors Were Patriotic?... The Republican reason, however, happened to be clear and valid. They had just, acting by their own concerted effort and within their rights, operated to prevent consideration of the frontal resolution on Vietnam, by which the White House had been scheming to get from them another of those endorsements of its Vietnam policies which had been routine endorsements at previous conferences.

Inside Report

By Rowland Evans Jr. Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON Representative Durward G. Hall of Missouri, a perpetually indignant spokesman for Bourbon Republicanism, was furious when he approached Representative Melvin Laird of Wisconsin on the floor of the House one September afternoon.

Such a confrontation seemed inevitable three years ago when Laird was narrowly elected to the leadership over the passionate opposition of liberal Republicans. Their greatest fear then was that Laird would corrupt the new House Republican leader, Representative Gerald Ford of Michigan, and push him rightward.

Official Washington and, indeed, the American system itself acquiesced themselves in the face of protests, defamations, and rank abuse during the week-end's so-called anti-war demonstrations in the capital.

Another possible criticism of the New Jersey system, and one that I think is important, is the normalcy of it. It is that downgrading the importance of the presidential election as a part of legislative practice.

House OK's $10 Million To Continue Rent Subsidy

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House today approved $10 million to continue the rent subsidy program Thursday as it sent two more big compromise appropriation bills to the Senate.

The second bill, passed by the House today, would provide $4.8 million for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. The bill would also provide for the continuation of the rent subsidy program and $12 million for the model cities program.

Demonstrations Held At 3 Major Colleges

Student antiwar protesters held demonstrations on three of the nation's major college campuses Wednesday. At the University of Minnesota, a National Student Association leader announced plans for a conference on student power. At the University of Wisconsin, demonstrators were aimed at protesting the presence of local recruiters from the Dow Chemical Co., a chief manufacturer of napalm being used in the Vietnam war. In Cambridge, Mass., some 40 Harvard and Radcliffe students held a Dow recruiter captive for seven hours in a conference room before they voted to release him.

Hard Bargaining Not Seen In LBJ-Diaz Ordaz Talks

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mexican President Gustavo Diaz Ordaz said today that he expects to get a series of three public appearances commemorating the anniversary of the 100-year-old Chamula border dispute. The two countries for many decades have been at odds over the Chamula border area because the Rio Grande River changed its course in the El Paso area and left a slice of Mexican territory inside the legal border of the United States.

Commissioner Predicts Insurance Settlement Shift Would Draw Lawyers' Fire

HARTFORD (AP)—Any proposed changes in the present system of settling auto insurance claims will probably draw heavy fire from some lawyers, the state insurance commissioner says.

Commissioner William R. Cotter said Wednesday he is studying possible changes in the laws to permit claims to be settled out of court, as are workmen's compensation cases.

Cotter said certain attorneys would oppose changes "especially when it would mean cutting into one of the more lucrative areas of the legal profession."

An injured person under the present system can sue another person who is charged responsible for the accident. A jury usually decides if the accused was to blame for the accident. Then the jury decides how much damages are to be assessed.

Critics of the present system say such damage claims are a primary cause of court logjams.

Under the present system, the defendant's insurance company pays part of the damages. The legal fee charged to the plaintiff can run from 30 to 40 percent of the settlement.

This kind of system, Cotter said, is "wasteful and inefficient."

"A great deal of money could be saved in lower auto insurance rates under a more modern approach," he said.

J. Warren Upson of Waterbury is heading a Connecticut Bar Association study committee scheduled to make a recommendation on the subject early next year.

According to Upson, his committee is studying whether jury trials are the best method of handling auto damage litigation. In the compensation approach, an injured party gives up his right to sue, and is paid a certain pre-scheduled sum for his injury, including loss of time and wages.

Head of State UFO Group To Give Talk to Bomarco

Lawrence Fawcett of Coventry, chairman of the Connecticut section of the Aerial Phenomena Research Organization (APRO), will address the Bolton Married Couples Club Saturday at 8 p.m. at the Community Hall.

Fawcett was responsible for organizing the Connecticut section six months ago. Prior to this, he was an investigator for the National Investigating Committee on Aerial Phenomena.

APRO, Fawcett says, is the oldest organization investigating UFO's in the United States, having been founded in 1952 in Tucson, Arizona.

The headquarters in Tucson serves as a bulletin center for UFO reports and helps to direct the network of sections.

Members of the Connecticut section are grouped in investigating teams assigned to various geographical areas of the state.

Cider and doughnuts will be served after the program. Hosts for the evening are Mr. and Mrs. James Klar, Rev. and Mrs. J. Stanton Conover and Mrs. Richard Olmsted.

Bomarco is open to all couples in town. New couples are especially welcomed from now on. Mrs. James Klar has taken the job of assistant hostess under the Manchester unit of the Welcome Wagon.

She has quite a backlog of summer and fall movies to start out with. Anyone knowing of newcomers she might be especially those who are renting, should call Mrs. Klar.

PTA's Open House and the open house at the elementary school last night sponsored by the PTA was well-attended. In a brief business meeting the membership learned that PTA calendars would be coming out soon and voted to bring Santa Claus in by helicopter again this year.

Volunteers are being requested to help the school nurse collect dental program money. Anyone who would like to help should call the nurse, Mrs. Polly Connell at the school, or PTA president Allan Hoffman, Loomis Rd.

The November PTA event will be the annual book fair.

3 Halloween Parties
The Bolton Cooperative Nursery School will have two Halloween parties. The two-day session will have its party tomorrow. The three-day session will have its party Tuesday. Children should wear costumes to school.

The home and breeding ground for fish, snakes, alligators, mosquitoes, and hordes of other biting insects.

The fishing grounds for more than a million storks and herons. The habitat for deer, bear, raccoons and otter, and one of the last sanctuaries of the disappearing mountain lion.

Sounds like an interesting but disconcerting place to visit? Well, you can be transported there from the ease of an upholstered armchair in the Manchester High School auditorium tomorrow night at 8.

Robert C. Hermes, lecturer for the National Audubon Society, will be your guide for a vicarious tour (filmed in color) of this forbidding area in his presentation, "Everglades—River of Grass."

This is the story of the unusual Everglades River, which flows from Lake Okechobee in southern Florida down to Florida Bay. For eleven years the lecturer, an expert photographer, has lived on the border of Everglades National Park. Thus, he has had a unique opportunity to record the story of the area, and many of his filmed sequences reveal new

Ex-Missionary Church Speaker

Miss Lois Shelton of Mattoon, Ill. former teacher and missionary, will speak tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at an informal family fellowship meeting at Calvary Church, 647 E. 36th St. The topic is "Lo, Children are a Heritage of the Lord." The program will include a hymn sing and refreshments. The event is open to the public.

The speaker will also participate in Worship Services Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. at the church. She recently resigned as a teacher at Northeast Bible Institute, Green Lake, Pa., where she taught for 15 years. She is presently conducting special religious training classes for Church School members.

Before serving at Northeast Institute, Miss Shelton was an Assemblies of God Missionary in Liberia for 20 years.

Prompted by Fatigue Factor Air Force Adds Crewman To Nuclear Missile Site

WASHINGTON (AP)—A sign of prolonged tension fatigue factor has prompted the Air Force to add a third crewman to launch sites for the nation's latest land-based nuclear missile, sources report.

The Minuteman II, the Air Force said, requires three men to alternate at resting and carrying on the hour-by-hour, checkouts of the missile's readiness and other activities.

The Air Force, in response to questions, officially attributed the need for the additional officer to the greater sophistication of the 4,300-mile range intercontinental ballistic missile.

As the Air Force explained it, the Minuteman II, with great directions to hit installations in the Soviet Union and China, "has more sophisticated computer and console equipment which requires more consistent monitoring by members of the site has greater range than the first, special penetration aids to help it get through enemy defenses and a warhead of just under one megaton. The Minuteman I has a single warhead packing slightly less explosive power.

To enter the missile fleet is the Minuteman III which has three nuclear warheads.

The Air Force told the Associated Press at Cape Kennedy, Fla., Wednesday the Minuteman II will undergo flight testing commander ranking from lieutenant colonel down to lieutenant officers.

Region Government Proposed by CRPA

tain towns, both on an economic and social level. The county lines were drawn on a more arbitrary basis, over 100 years ago.

The strong New England town tradition prevailing in the area would rule out metropolitan or state government, according to CRPA's conclusions.

The present situation is mainly composed of independent regional and sub-regional advisory bodies and is "highly unstable," according to the findings. This situation can be expected to change.

The report predicts the movement of an "ad hoc" fashion through regional coordinating councils culminating in regional federation.

A major area to be retained under town control is the field of education. Other local functions would include such areas as basic fire protection and police protection.

The report's conclusions were developed after study of what functions are currently performed today and the effectiveness of the job being accomplished.

Sixteen different forms of government were studied and included the report. These were measured against a seven-point yardstick established by the national Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (ACIR).

The committee's findings were balanced by results of a

Responsive Government Stressed by CRPA Panel

"A people who govern themselves through elected officials, and who are aware that they do, possess and exercise the initiative, imagination and freedom of choice that can make and keep their government strong."

This statement expresses the views of the Capitol Region Planning Agency's Governmental Functions report released yesterday. It is included in the progress report on the study which was completed by the CRPA Governmental Functions Committee after almost four years' work.

"It continued, 'Without that awareness, the people are easy mark for almost any antagonist. Stable government depends on the participation of the people, the people often have no other recourse but to demonstrate against that government."

"We believe that the most responsible type of government is the most responsive—that is, government is removed far from direct control of the people, the people often have no other recourse but to demonstrate against that government."

"We believe, and think our report shows that there are no alternatives for all the ills that beset our complex modern society, but rather one area and way, which is in the people's own hands, and which must develop for its

CRPA Starts Health Panel

Representatives of the Capitol Region Planning Agency last night unanimously established a Health, Education and Welfare Committee, extending its services to the field of social planning as well as planning for the physical problems of the region.

The committee was appointed on a special basis but might become a standing committee in the future according to CRPA Chairman Seymour Lavitt of Vernon.

"Planning doesn't just include the land, it includes the people on the land," Lavitt explained.

The committee was formed to meet federal requirements of CRPA approval for local grant applications in the area of housing, schools, hospitals and libraries, as well as other areas.

Those attending also approved the formation of a Bylaw Committee to consider revision of the methods of approving the agency's contractual payments, possible revision of committee structure and any other changes felt appropriate.

Lavitt expressed the sentiment that many of the present committees were too involved with the internal affairs of the agency, and not enough was accomplished on the external effects of regional planning.

Action on a community sheltering planning study to be undertaken with 100 per cent Federal Civil Defense funds was tabled until such time as the funds are available, probably another eight to twelve months, according to executive director Robert Brown.

Town officials from several member towns were present at the agency's annual dinner meeting.

The next meeting will be held Nov. 16 at 9 p. m. at the South Congregational Church in Hartford. Members are expected to approve the adoption of the Regional Open Space Plan, and the three-town amendment to the Land Use Plan which includes Enfield, Somers and Suffield.

The first part of the CRPA

Six Crashes, One Injured, Two Arrested

In six accidents investigated yesterday by Manchester police, only one person was injured and two were arrested after crashing into trees, barriers or other structures.

In general, the larger metropolitan areas from good, fair, or poor.

In general the larger metropolitan areas from good, fair, or poor.

The injured person was Mrs. Anna Muska, 64, of Broad Brook, who was injured when her car was driven by a 16-year-old driver who was charged with failure to grant the right of way at an intersection.

The final ruling was a balance between the two categories. "Could the performance of the function be improved sufficiently to balance the loss of direct voter power?" On this question the panel has concluded that improvement is possible.

The despatching of certain functions to a regional base was a natural compromise to preserve as much as possible under the control of the local voter.

It would "do a better job" of services than the local government would provide, according to committee member Otto Neumann of Hartford.

State and Federal control would be extended if we don't cooperate with each other. There is maybe we won't have local government," Neumann warned.

It is rather to be expected that a government which included the Capitol Region, rather than the national Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations (ACIR).

The committee's findings were balanced by results of a

Text of Principles in Report

Following are the principles used by the Governmental Functions Committee of the CRPA in arriving at its conclusions on regional government.

"The lowest level of government which is capable of performing a function is the appropriate level to perform the function. In cases where a choice is possible, Democracy should prevail over efficiency. In reviewing functions it should be determined whether they can be performed satisfactorily from the point of view of self economy and efficiency, by a highly centralized government. However, as functions are transferred to a higher level, the ideas, thoughts and wishes of citizens in a given area become less effective in policy decisions. Whenever possible, functions should be performed at the lowest level consistent with sound performance so that the type and level of service is set by the specific people receiving it."

2. The continuance of a strong level of local government is the most effective and economical type of government in the present situation of the philosopher king, the enlightened ruler working for the benefit of all the people.

History and political science, however, show that, due to the inherent nature of man, the inherent rule soon becomes corrupt and overbearing. In the long run government is a bad government for people.

3. The United States has shown the advantage which can occur in a stable democracy. Changes and progress have occurred, in some cases, too slowly for the advocates of the more radical for the opponents, but at a time a majority became convinced of the need for a change, a definite and positive action has been taken.

Democracy itself can take many forms, and a review of history shows that a system with built-in checks and balances is the most stable. The least subject to extreme actions. This is the great tradition and strength of the United States.

One of the best checks and balances in the United States is the idea of federalism, which is essentially a system of governmental powers between a central government and several other governmental units, each of which is responsible for the performance of certain governmental functions over a portion of the country or region. In such a system the federal government is actively engaged in powers which those which are assigned are reserved for the other units. As examples of this system we have the national government and the respective state and municipal governments. (in most states) and municipal governments. Thus, basic to our system of democracy is a strong viable level of local government.

3. There is no ideal size, either in terms of population or geographic area, for a town. We can have good governments with 2,000 or 150,000 people, with 15 or 50 square miles in area. However, the present arrangement is inadequate in terms of some present day governmental problems. Economies of scale require either larger geographic area or larger populations. In advocating some sort of changes we are not overlooking history. History shows us that there is nothing sacred about present arrangements.

4. Town lines as they presently exist are not entirely rational or meaningful, but rather are largely historical and emotional; nevertheless they are important. The development of town lines occurred basically as a result of historical circumstances. They have changed frequently if viewed over the last three centuries. In addition the present mobile society means that there will be even less traditional support for the "town" as a separate entity. Rather the demand for participating governmental services is likely to overcome tradition and

Civil Rights Bill Faces Filibuster

WASHINGTON (AP)—The threat of a filibuster now hangs over a civil rights bill through administration jammed through the Senate Judiciary Committee Wednesday.

The measure provides stiff criminal penalties for using force or threats to interfere with the rights of Negroes to vote, attend public schools, serve on juries, use public accommodations or engage in other specifically enumerated activities.

Ervin said he opposed the government's providing protection only to those whose rights are interfered with because of race, color, religion or national origin.

The Judiciary Committee last week adopted the bill over Ervin's substitute and amendments in a series of 84 votes to adjourn.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said in a separate interview he anticipates the civil rights bill will be brought up for debate this week.

Mansfield said before making a definite scheduling decision he will look into the possibility of a bill Aug. 16, 328 to 93.

Ervin said he would have introduced legislation to amend the bill, but that it would be a very complicated bill.

About 60 Cub Scouts and parents attended a meeting Oct. 20 at South Congregational Church in Hartford. The program was a Halloween party which had been arranged by the den mothers.

The officers for the coming year are as follows: Lloyd Curkin, Cubmaster; Pete Garver, Assistant Cubmaster; Charles McKenzie, Treasurer; Mrs. Veronique, Secretary; Kenneth Walker, Chairman; and Alan Dugal, Institutional representative.

The den mothers are Mrs. Roger Hall, Mrs. Theodore Slaby, Mrs. D. B. Stockton, Mrs. Newton Emerson and Mrs. Robert Hawkes.

Cub Scout Pack 65 of Lincoln School last night held a bobcat and wackoo induction ceremony.

Advancement man Arthur Norwood and Cubmaster Frank Sciesz presented bobcat pins to Walker, chairman, and Amos Dugal, institutional representative.

Fine Art Picks Best Pictures

Pictures of the month were chosen recently at a meeting of the Manchester Fine Art Association.

The artists and pictures are: Mrs. Ada Christian, "Misty Morning," an oil; Mrs. Ann Jytkia, "Oille and Grandin," an oil; Joseph Cuttle, "Chinese Lanterns," an oil; Mrs. Ada Christian, an oil on velvet, "Therem painting"; Mrs. Veronique Tremmins a formal in oil and check on the State government, and as such is fundamental to a good democratic system. It is the choice between State assumption of all functions on the regional district basis and regional cooperation, the latter is to be preferred.

All evaluations made in this report reflect only the situation of the Capital Region of Connecticut. This committee was concerned primarily with the area we represent. In light of the experimental nature of all regional approaches in this nation, we feel that our approach should be limited to what is good for the Capital Region.

The measure provides stiff criminal penalties for using force or threats to interfere with the rights of Negroes to vote, attend public schools, serve on juries, use public accommodations or engage in other specifically enumerated activities.

Ervin said he opposed the government's providing protection only to those whose rights are interfered with because of race, color, religion or national origin.

The Judiciary Committee last week adopted the bill over Ervin's substitute and amendments in a series of 84 votes to adjourn.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield said in a separate interview he anticipates the civil rights bill will be brought up for debate this week.

Mansfield said before making a definite scheduling decision he will look into the possibility of a bill Aug. 16, 328 to 93.

Job Corps Waste Seen In Report

There have been some improvements in procedures and other changes are under consideration by the contractor.

Much of the report is devoted to the costs of the program, designed to provide youths between 16 and 21, most of them school dropouts from impoverished backgrounds, with job training and basic education.

The contract was originally negotiated at an estimated cost of $12.8 million and a fixed fee for Linton of $200,000, says the GAO. But by November 1966, the total cost was up to $23.6 million including a fixed fee of $683,079.

The report finds that 1,762 of the center employees are on a cost item, accounting for $9.4 million when total costs were $20.3 million. It said the center had a staff of 1,078 for 1,869 enrollees at the end of 1966. At the instant of the OIG report during the enrollment was 1,762.

The report also cited an excessively costly administrative television system and recreation facilities that include a bowling alley, roller skating rink, movie theater, swimming pool and recreation hall with 14 pool tables.

In all, it said, the costs pushed the average enrollee cost per year to $11,000, although the gross has written into the audit. The other 10 were charged poverty law a requirement that a cost shall not exceed $7,000 per enrollee.

The GAO said absenteeism charged with aggravated assault as high as 20 per cent in

Piracy Counts Are Dropped Against Six Cuban Exiles

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Piracy charges against six Cuban exiles were dropped in federal court Wednesday after it was found the party they allegedly hijacked was in coastal waters instead of the high seas.

Judge Clyde Atkins directed a verdict of acquittal after the captain of the freight train porter testified his ship was a mile or two offshore of Miami Beach when it was seized at gunpoint by six men.

The defendants, all from the Chicago area, were convicted of lesser charges. They included conspiracy, assault and battery, destruction of property and obtaining money.

Atkins upheld a defense motion which cited a 1952 United Nations-sponsored treaty establishing the high seas as being outside national territorial waters.

The judge said the 1948 piracy law under which the Cuban exiles were indicted defined the high seas as "beyond the territorial rights of a sovereignty, and in the case of the United States this is three miles."

Statements of five of the defendants placed before the jury said seizure of the freight transporter was part of an anti-Castro plan.

Ramiro de la Fe, indicted as leader of the expedition, said in his statement that the plan was "to make forays on the high seas against Cuban vessels."

The other defendants were Armando Betancourt, Modesto Garcia Mendez, Manuel Alva-

HARTFORD (AP)—Seven youths arrested in connection with an assault on James Rogers, 23, of Hartford, were charged with aggravated assault on Oct. 21.

Rogers was walking on the sidewalk at the time he was struck in the head by a brick thrown by one of the youths.

The attack took place at Rogers' home.

One youth under 16 was put in custody of juvenile authorities. The other 10 were charged with being unlawfully in a dwelling without a permit to enter.

Three of them were charged with aggravated assault as high as 20 per cent in

ALCOHOL RULED IN CRASH

WASHINGTON (AP)—A light plane crash a year ago in Orange, Conn., has been blamed by a federal agency on "alcoholic impairment" of the pilot.

The National Transportation Safety Board said Wednesday that the pilot, Theodore V. Steiner, 40, of Monroe was inadequately prepared for the flight and lost his way while trying to rely on his own eyesight on the foggy night of Oct. 21, 1966.

Steiner and his wife were on a flight from Bridgeport to Hartford when the plane crashed near a farmhouse on Route 34. Both were killed.

Events In Capital

LBJ Answers Critics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Answering critics, says President Johnson, has "utterly repudiated the racist nonsense of an earlier era."

Therefore, he said, "any charges that the United States fears a 'Yellow Peril' in Asia is absurd."

"Indeed," the President said, "we have made a commitment in Asia because we do believe that no man, whatever the pigmentation of their skins, should be delivered over to totalitarianism. Race has no place in our purpose."

Johnson made the remarks as he presented a Medal of Honor—the nation's highest military award—to Marine Maj. Howard V. Lee.

His words were directed against some commentators and congressmen who accused Secretary of State Dean Rusk of raising the "Yellow Peril" issue during an Oct. 12 news conference when he warned of the threat of the great population masses of Communist China now that that nation has nuclear weapons.

Lee was decorated for heroism in battle during action at Cam Lo on Aug. 8-9, 1966, when he disregarded his own wounds to lead a relief force through enemy forces to one of his outnumbered platoons.

1967 Inflation High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Inflation, the government reports, is taking a larger bite out of the average wage earner's income gains than at any time in more than a year.

And this monetary erosion is expected to get worse just at the time many Americans want a little extra spending money—the Christmas shopping season. Income after taxes rose by 8.1% for every man, woman and child in the nation during the third quarter of this year, according to figures compiled by the Senate-House Economic Committee. But after adjustment for inflation since 1958, only 3.7% more was left at their disposal.

A government official said the upward spiral of prices will continue unless the Congress approves the administration's 10 per cent surcharge on corporate and individual income taxes.

Capital Footnotes

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Norfolk, Va., will be the permanent station of the new super carrier John F. Kennedy, the Navy has announced. The 66,000-ton ship is due to be commissioned next September. Although there have been no cases of amylase in the United States since 1940, Dr. John M. Neff, a Harvard University Medical School scientist, says everyone should be vaccinated against the disease every 8 to 10 years. The reason: the effects of the vaccine eventually wear off and it is virtually of no use after 25 years.

Capital Quote

"It would be a nice thing if we could blame all the riots on the Communists, or the Black Panthers, and go out and round them up, but it's just not that easy." —Dist. Atty. Evelle J. Younger of Los Angeles. In testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities.

DEER BAGGED, NO SHOTS

LUIS, Wyo. (AP) — Rancher Paul Percival recently bagged two deer—without firing a shot. Percival said he got his first deer with his pickup truck—at a cost of $700 damages to the vehicle. He phoned his wife to get the deer in their car. En route back to the ranch, Percival's car struck and killed another deer but the car escaped damage.

Democrats Fight GOP Move On Board of Education Post

The vice-chairmanship of the Board of Education is still under consideration as the result of Tuesday's meeting of the board.

The election of Harry Anderson as chairman some two weeks ago was ruled illegal since the process was done by a voice vote and not by a secret ballot vote. Therefore, the board moved to appoint Charles Lyons as acting chairman of the board for the time necessary to rehold the election.

Nominations for the position were Anderson (R) and James Arnold (D) and a count of the ballots showed Anderson elected by a six-three vote.

The problem of a vice-chairman arose because of the fact that following the October election, the board for the first time was composed of nine members, forming a partisan board with six Republicans and three Democrats. Before it had eight members split four-four.

The regulations of the board stipulate that the chairman and vice chairman shall not be members of the same political party. However, a move was made by the Republicans at the last meeting of the board to change this rule before a vice chairman was elected.

In a minority member statement on the regulations, the Democratic members of the board said for the first time in recent years, the board has a majority of its membership from one political party.

"Previous Boards of Education have attempted to remove any suggestion of a politically controlled education system by agreeing to alternate the position of chairman of the board between the two political parties."

They added, "In addition, Boards of Education felt that it was important for the chairman and vice chairman to be from different political parties. On July 18, 1967, a majority of the members of the present board of education felt that this policy was important enough to be maintained in the rules and regulations."

New members of the Woman's Club "Blat-Off" Post in Killington. New members of the Woman's Club include Mrs. William Tychsen, Mrs. Edwin Nelson, Mrs. Richard Wright, Mrs. James Birdwell, Mrs. Leonard Black, Mrs. Gerard Caron, Mrs. William Conley, Mrs. Donald Engel and Mrs. Arnold Johnson.

Also, Mrs. Edward Kramer, Mrs. Robert Krause, Mrs. Robert LeBlanc, Mrs. Walter Mealy, Mrs. Robert Cedar, Mrs. Mark Sweet, Mrs. Frederick Tomasic, Mrs. Paul Tooley, Mrs. Rupert Vincent and Mrs. Thomas Walsh.

"When a fancy dessert is on the menu," Mrs. Arthur Pyka of 99 White St., says, "I usually make Blueberry Torte, a never-fail and extremely simple recipe. I make Mock Cherry Pie from a recipe given to me by my grandmother, and the pie has become a family favorite for holiday dinners."

Blueberry Torte

Crust
2 cups flour
1 cup shortening
1 teaspoon salt
1 egg, slightly beaten
Cut shortening into flour and salt mixture, add egg and mix until a soft dough is formed. Pat over the bottom of a 11x7x1 1/2-inch pan. Bake in 425-degree oven for 20 minutes. Remove from oven and cool.

Meringue

1 egg whites
1 teaspoon vanilla
1/4 teaspoon cream of tartar
dash of salt
4 cup sugar
1/2 cup walnuts, chopped (optional)
Beat egg whites, vanilla, salt and tartar until soft peaks form. Slowly add sugar and beat until stiff. Add walnuts and pour meringue over blueberry filling. Place in 350-degree oven and bake 20 minutes. Remove from oven and cool and serve.

Mock Cherry Pie

1 cup whole cranberries
1/2 cup raisins
Pastry enough for pie shell and lattice top
Cut cranberries in half and wash out seeds with cool water. Mix with raisins and place in an unbaked pie shell.

Sauce

1 cup sugar
1 cup water
1 tablespoon flour
1 teaspoon vanilla
Mix sugar, water and flour in saucepan and cook until thick. Flavor with vanilla. Pour over cranberry-raisin mixture in pie shell and cover with lattice top. Bake for about 40 to 45 minutes, until golden brown. Serve with whipped cream.

Mrs. Pyka is a member of the Manchester Junior Women's Club, Inc., and its public affairs chairman and a member of its nominating committee. She is also a member of Bentley School PTA and its executive board. Her hobbies are duplicate bridge and sewing, and she makes her own clothes. Her husband is a senior engineer in Pioneer Space and Life Systems, Hamilton Standard, Division of United Aircraft Corp., Windsor Locks, and assistant director of the Manchester and East Hartford Duplicate Bridge Clubs. They both attend Center Congregational Church.

The Pykas have two children, Stephen, 6, and Jill, 1 1/2.

Russian Say Dogs Sniff Out Deposits

NEW YORK — Russian geologists have successfully trained dogs to sniff out ore deposits, says the publication, Chemical Week. One dog, it reports, found a sulfide ore deposit 10 to 12 feet thick under seven feet of earth.

And in Finland, where such work was first done, a dog in aid to find a large, 1,300 acre containing rocks where a man could find only 270.
