The Spook and I

By TOM TERRY
 NEA Staff Correspondent
 BALD LAKE CITY—(NEA)—
 The house is small and aged.
 The plaster is flaking and the eaves drip with spider webs.
 Long fingers of foliage scrape menacingly against some of the higher windows.
 Mrs. Faye Cook lives here.
 And so, she says, does "that darned ghost."
 Mrs. Cook isn't spooking about the spook. She claims her house is haunted by its previous owner, a man who died in bed 25 years ago.
 "According to legend, the previous owner succumbed in an epileptic seizure. A murder had been committed in the neighborhood at the time and the man was personally connected with both the victim and the slayer.
 "It must have really shook him," says Mrs. Cook.
 In fact, it did more than that.
 The man was so bothered by it all that one evening he climbed into an attic bedroom, laid down, fell asleep and was never heard from again... that is, until recently.
 "He started moving around
 a short while ago," explains Mrs. Cook. "At first I could hear things in the attic. Then once in a while I felt somebody or something touch me when I was all alone.
 "Then one night he came right out in the open. I was in bed and I saw his eyes here in this very room. It's true, I could see his eyes very plainly... looking right at me in the dark."
 Since then, the ghost has been a regular terror.
 He moves around the house at will, Mrs. Cook says. Sometimes he bumps a hanging lamp
 and it wiggles in his wake.
 Sometimes he slams a door or moves a chair or lets out a funny little sound.
 But usually the spook (Mrs.
 Cook refers to him as a diabolical) stays cooped up in the attic room of his demise, a 6-
 by-12 foot room which is dustily decorated with gaudy lineman and faded wallpaper.
 He is generally quiet during the day, but at night he is restless and the floors often creak
 under his pacing, thumping feet.
 "I know it sounds strange," Mrs. Cook admits. "It's hard for me to believe it all myself.
 I used to wonder if I was having hallucinations and I tried to figure out natural causes for everything.
 "But I don't try to figure it out any more. Too many things happen in this house. I have no doubt that it's really being haunted."
 Mrs. Cook is not alone in her opinion. Dozens of the curious have inspected her premises and several have confirmed her suspicions.
 Some examples:
 Glenda Christman, a housewife who explores the supernatural, says she has experienced "tremendous blasts of cold air" in the attic bedroom, even though outside temperatures were over 80 degrees.
 Another believer, a self-proclaimed student, insists he has communicated with deceased
 "Uncle Marvin" who warned him and others to "get the hell out" of the attic bedroom and the house itself.
 A third young man entered the house a month ago and immediately began screaming that he saw "my dead grandmother." He lost control, had to be forcibly quieted, and broke down in tears.
 But the most talked-about incident in Mrs. Cook's house occurred recently when a local radio personality, Tom Carlin, agreed to conduct an hour-long experiment in the "afflicted" room.

 Before entering, Carlin was given a sheet of infrared Polaroid film by a University of Utah instructor who remained with the radioman throughout the test. A dozen others also witnessed the episode.
 Carlin's film was factory wrapped in thick layers of paper. It had been presented and never opened. The radioman's task, of course, was to get some ghostly communication on the packaged film.
 "I was," says Carlin, "very skeptical."
 The skepticism, however, was shortlived. Inside the room he had a number of strange sensations, one being an overwhelming odor of bay rum, although a subsequent search failed to uncover any source.
 When he finally emerged from the attic, the radioman in the presence of his companions. The film was exposed with the imprint of a single, shakily written word: "DANGER."
 "It's the truth," says Carlin, "no help me."
 "I realize I can't prove that darned ghost is really here," says Mrs. Cook, "but on the other hand, nobody can prove he isn't."

Prison in Alabama Teaches a Trade
 By PIERRE BERNHETT
 SPECTOR, Ala. (AP)— Marvin, a three-time loser, is out of prison and earns $700 a month—honestly.
 Johnny, a junior high school
 dropout booted out of the Navy
 for an undesirable discharge,
 is now a convicted forger and em-bezzler.
 Dwight tried to hold up a loan company with a toy pistol, but was caught.
 The three men (only the names are false) are products of a pilot project in prisoner education being conducted at Draper Correctional Center
 here. It has just celebrated its third anniversary.
 "We don't have the easy ones to work with," says Mrs. Doris Seay, a program director in Draper's Vocational-Educational Demonstration Project.
 Prisoners with the best records are sent to a minimum security prison. Draper keeps those more likely to cause trouble.
 Only sex offenders are barred
 from the training program.
 Mrs. Seay says that's "just a precaution, but they really need more psychiatric help than we can provide."
 The project has helped 271
 inmates learn a trade. Prison gains have opened for 159 of the graduates and only 37 per cent have come back. Most of them are caught in what Mrs. Seay calls technical violations, such as excessive drinking and failure to report for work. Only 18 per cent have been returned for other crimes.
 Before the Draper program began, about 70 per cent of Alabama's ex-cons were eventually returned to prison. Mrs. Seay says the national rate is about 60 per cent, although the ex-cons don't agree on an exact figure.

Picasso the Sculptor Is Now on Exhibit
 By MELBA A. SMITH
 AP Wire Editor
 NEW YORK (AP)— Pablo
 Picasso, sculptor, far less known than Picasso, painter, is being given a huge retrospective exhibit at the Museum of Modern Art. The result is a new look at the versatility of this acknowledged genius.
 There are 204 sculptures and constructions, covering more than 60 years, and about 60 per cent of them are from Picasso's own collection. There are 23 ceramics, 16 drawings and collages related to his sculpture,
 half from his personal cache.
 Another 23 prints are from the museum's collection.
 This exhibit is an outgrowth of the Picasso exhibition in Paris last year, celebrating the artist's 80th birthday. For that show Picasso loaned the bulk of his own sculpture collection.
 The sculptures were shown at the Tate Gallery in London. Now they have reached America in a show selected by Sir Roland Penrose, head of the London Institute of Contemporary Art. It will be on display through Jan. 1. Simultaneously the Museum of Modern Art has established Picasso's "The Sculpture of Picasso," a well-illustrated compendium.
 As Penrose points out, "It is difficult to find an explanation
 for the considerable difference in attitude that Picasso has to "found objects" is fairly well known, and of course the show contains several examples of these playful transformations,
 such as the bull constructed from a saddle and handbeaters of Cuban, illustrates.
 His next interest in sculpture came around 1930 when he experimented with iron and wire figures, and a few years later when he modeled a series of huge heads that influenced the works of many other sculptors.
 But these were not prime periods of his work.
 Now in this show there is a record of his latest interest,
 when he modeled small images,
 created from folded paper models.
 Picasso tells us, "His painted iron sculptures are born from childhood games.
 When he used to use his sister Lola by his dexterity with scissors and nails and fantasies with magic speed... it was not until 1958
 that he found the means of expanding and solidifying the small figures into large, with them cut out and folded in sheet metal...
 The result combines the two-dimensional significance of the drawing, the three-dimensional planes of the relief, with the theme—the gutter
 and the transparent space between among them. And often they

One has to presume that it is this experience which has inspired Russia. What we don't know, of course, is whether Russia plans to cross with its carrier, the Atlantic or the Pacific or the Arctic, and what small coastline country with no air force it might consider a suitable destination.

Against the current American satisfaction with the carrier, as used off Vietnam, and as against the apparent Russian conversion to the carrier, we would guess a layman's guess that nations which construct weapons for pleasure use against small non-air-force countries or a non-nuclear version of war are asking, eventually, for a larger war in which carriers may have to deal with opposing air forces carrying nuclear bombs. When that happens, a lot of things, including not only carriers, but civilization itself, are likely to be proved obsolete.

A Substitute For Credit Cards?

Down in the Bronx, police undercover men have just broken up a credit card ring in which the use of stolen credit cards to send fictitious bills to the credit card companies had been put a profitable professional basis. Elsewhere, statistics on the loss of cards, and the use of cards lost or stolen for one degree of fraud or another, continue to mount.

There is no reason to judge, however, that this development of some slight imperfection in our system of commerce and exchange represents anything beyond the control and cure of a civilization as ingenious as ours.

Burely, if the emergency depens, we can invent some medium of exchange which carries its own value with it and which completes the transaction, without any tedious bookkeeping involved the moment it passes from one hand to another. Since such a proposed medium of exchange would represent value in itself, people would not leave it lying around so carelessly it could be stolen, and since people couldn't use it if they didn't have it such a medium might work better than the use of many personal economies and the peace of many a mind. There can and will, if there is demonstrated need, be an improvement successor to the credit card.

We Come Apart At The Seams

The war in Vietnam—or the issue of President Johnson's leadership in that war—was being voted on directly and indirectly last Tuesday afternoon.

In San Francisco, the vote on the issue was direct, in the form of a referendum, but a referendum worded so foolishly no responsible critic of the war could have felt free to vote for it. Elsewhere, the Vietnam issue was less directly involved, but indications are that it had more influence.

The San Francisco referendum question read as follows: "Declaration of policy: Shall it be the policy of the people of the city and county of San Francisco that there be an immediate cease-fire and withdrawal of United States troops from Vietnam so that the Vietnamese people can settle their own problems?"

This kind of unconditional withdrawal from Vietnam could easily prove to be, in the opinion of most observers, just as much of a disaster as we face from our present commitment to eternal escalation of the war there.

The total vote against this proposition was 132,406, while 78,822 voted for it. It is a fortunate thing, for the nation's policy, for the sake of Hawaii, that the referendum was not approved.

But it would be an irony for the administration at Washington not to realize that if such an irresponsible proposition can obtain the support of a majority of the voters, the sentiment among Americans for a more sensible approach must be tremendous.

In the opinion of the Northern California Democratic Party, the State Central Committee, a change of one word in the proposition would have produced a "yes" vote which would have been overwhelming. That would have been "systematic withdrawal" instead of "immediate."

Aside from the San Francisco referendum, the war was vividly almost everywhere in the voting, being blotted out entirely only in those situations where the other great national-dividers of our times, the racial issue, was dominant.

The first Republican to be elected Governor of Kentucky in 20 years campaigned heavily in criticism of the war in Vietnam, openly appealing for the votes of those who were "Tired Of The War."

And in New Jersey, where legislative elections turned into a Republican landslide, Senator Clifford Case gave this analysis: "Over all, I think the greatest single factor in the election was the deep-seated dissatisfaction with the Johnson Administration in its handling of the war in Vietnam."

But it is, of course, no news that the war in Vietnam has been making Lyndon Johnson an unpopular President, or no news that criticism of him has become so extreme people will resort to almost any kind of tactic to express it. On this very election day, there was an unofficial public opinion poll which came out showing that there were now six Republican presidential possibilities—even including Richard Nixon—who would, at the moment, lose LEI. The reaction itself grows irrational in its reaction to its own irrational leadership. We come apart at the seams. We need, desperately, a Vietnam policy and a leadership which can have a chance of knitting us together again.

Across What Ocean?

One has to be somewhat disturbed by the news that Russia, after all these years, is finally going in for the construction of an aircraft carrier—a piece of naval equipment once, immediately after World War II and the dawn of the atomic age, considered almost obsolete. Russia has been doing some re-thinking, we suppose, on the basis of that American experience which has restored the aircraft carrier to its present esteem in this country.

If you want to wage a war against a small country which has no air power of its own, and which lies far across a vast ocean, thousands of miles from your own shore, there is nothing like selling an aircraft carrier across that ocean and up near that coast and then using it as a stationary floating airfield for bombing the small country enemy ad infinitum at will.

Washington—Amid the debris of the current House debate on the poverty program, aid for struggling Negro businessmen in the big city slums is likely to be stomped to death by the muscular small business lobby.

That lobby is a rare combination of trained lobbyists, crafty bureaucrats, and senior members of Congress who can and do get things done. Since mid-October, it has been operating with immense success to strip from the poverty bill a special program of loans and technical assistance for slum entrepreneurs.

What makes this so important is that Negro ownership of slum businesses is becoming a Senate Labor Committee, forced SBA to suspend its order closing down the program. But in the uncertainty their number dwindled by about 20.

Consequently, when this year's poverty bill came before the Labor Committee, Javits put through an amendment transferring the slum business program from SBA to the more socially conscious Economic Development Agency (EDA), which would view loan applications with less strict a banker's eye than SBA.

It was then that the small-business lobby really got cranked up for action. The Small Business Administration (SBA) officials calling signals behind the scenes, members and staff members of the Congressional Small Business Committee lobbied their colleagues. The Administration has reacted not at all. Sargent Shriver's OEO never has been much in contact with Negro owners of slum businesses and harnessing the profit motive to the anti-poverty program. Rep. Carl Perkins of Kentucky, manager

Education Week

To the Editor,

This is American Education Week. Our American Educational System is the greatest system for mass education yet devised. On it we, as a nation, pin our hopes for an educated populace and a secure future. I urge every parent, citizen, and taxpayer to take advantage of American Education Week to learn of the progress being carried on in our school system. As a parent, show an interest in your child's education; as a citizen, develop an understanding of the impact of education on our youth on the future of our country; as a taxpayer, learn how your tax dollars are being spent.

Let's celebrate American Education Week to the fullest. Let's be involved with the future of our educational system by participating in the PTA and other organizations dedicated to the education and welfare of our children.

Eugene R. Montany, President Manchester Council of Parent-Teacher Associations

How Good?

To the Editor,

"How Good" Are Your Schools? This year's American Education Week's theme gives us all an opportunity to re-evaluate our educational plan and system. A few questions relating to this theme are pertinent to Manchester.

How good are the school buildings and grounds? Do we hear about poor heating systems, lack of classrooms, broken windows, leaking roofs, inadequate space for physical education, library work and new programs, and many others? We are not in the best of condition.

How good are the teachers and other staff? We've lost some of our best to the community college and to other towns who pay more. We've not been able to hire some very excellent candidates because other communities have more to offer. We had attractions which have kept teachers in Manchester for include a harsh word muttered in a bar; someone trying to get a neighbor in trouble; an implied threat in a letter to an agency or the White House itself; a direct threat.

On the average there is said to be one direct threat a day. These cases are classed under preventive investigation. As a measure of the increased activity, the Secret Service closed 90 FBI, the CIA, the State Department and the Office of Naval Intelligence, the Secret Service has nothing on him.

Before the assassination, the service had about 1000 men in the field. The President plans a trip to Chicago for example, the secret service will within moments spin out a report on persons in Chicago area who might be of concern in protecting the President. These people will be checked for information from federal, state and local agencies as well as surveillance or perhaps brought in for questioning until the President leaves.

School Board Will Receive Curriculum Report Monday

The Curriculum Council, formed last year by the Board of Education, will make its final report to the board Monday night.

The committee, originally a textbook committee with Albert Smith as Chairman, was charged with the added responsibility of curriculum revision at the high school.

It joined with the administrative staff and department heads at the high school and formed the Curriculum Study Council. Assistant superintendent of schools, Allen Dresser, acted as chairman of the group and conducted the meetings which were held at the Sykes school cafeteria.

Miss Margaret Hart, head of the commercial department, acted as secretary of the committee. She will make the final presentation of the suggestions brought forth by the Curriculum Council.

The recommendations will consist of some 10 new offerings and changes in the present studies at Rockville High School.

Miss Lucille Kuhnly, the school coordinator for the entire school system, has presented a plan for group study of the science curriculum during the summer.

Miss Kuhnly's plan would involve the middle school (Grades 6, 7 and 8). Miss Kuhnly will be present at the board meeting at 7:30 p.m. Monday night to answer any questions.

Parents and interested citizens are also invited Monday night to attend the board meeting which will be held in the Sykes School cafeteria at 7:30 p.m. The cafeteria is in the new section of the school and those attending will be given the opportunity to tour this addition. It includes several classrooms, a library and the cafeteria.

Driving License Urged

Police Chief George A. Trapp yesterday urged motorists and pedestrians to exercise caution in the months ahead. He said inclement weather and increased hours of darkness in the fall and winter can lead to dangerous traffic conditions.

Trapp warned that children and elderly citizens are the most vulnerable to pedestrian injuries and deaths. Although Vermont has had no pedestrian fatalities in the past year, he said, pedestrian deaths in the state were 78 as of Nov. 1.

He urged parents to instruct children in the rules for safe walking and to supervise their play activity so they will not be exposed to traffic hazards. He also warned drivers to drive at more reasonable speeds in urban and residential areas so that they may be able to stop in an emergency.

Ellington Voting Set On Garage

For the third time, Ellington voters will go to a town meeting to vote on a proposal to build a garage for the town.

The meeting will be held Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the Town Hall.

The voters will be asked to approve an appropriation of $60,000 to the Selectmen for the cost of construction and furniture of the garage.

The first meeting, held last Spring, turned down a proposal for the erection of a combined garage and Civil Defense facility. They agreed to the added cost of the project, even though it was partially reimbursable by the state.

In July, a second meeting was held and voters approved construction of the garage only. The plans which will be in effect at the time of the meeting will be to build a garage which will be full operation by the end of the year.

The facility will be constructed on land purchased by the town, near the firehouse on Main St.

Alco Corp. Seeks Variance

Alco Development Corp., Rt. 30, near Boston Ave. in a town of Meriden, will ask at a public hearing Nov. 21 at 7:30 p.m. at the Administration Building for a variance in connection with the Redevelopment project.

The developers and the Redevelopment Agency are asking for a variance for height, parking and density for housing for the elderly.

The housing project, proposed for the renewal area will be built by the developer and then sold to the state.

At the same public hearing four other appeals for variances will be heard. Dominic Peralta and Gail Oil Corp. are seeking permission for a limited repairer's license for a gasoline station. The station is located at the intersection of Route 83 and Center Rd.

Louis LaFante and Ed Vets are seeking exception for a non-residential use of a building permitted use of a building located at 30 West St. The applicant wants to use the building for a food catering business in a residential zone.

Corra E. Dewey of 2 Minterburn Court is seeking special extension for sales of new and used articles of the same name address in an industrial zone.

The appeal of Jorma Nurmi DENVER, Colo. (AP) — Fred D. Gill was 100 years old today. Asked how it feels, he replied: "Tired."

Nation Pauses Tomorrow To Observe Veterans Day

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The nation will pause today to observe Veterans Day. In the morning Johnson will commencing the ceremony at the North Island Naval Air Station at San Diego then to visit Air Force bases in Kansas and Virginia before visiting the Arlington National Cemetery in Arlington, Va.

The observance stems from 1919 when President Woodrow Wilson proclaimed Nov. 11 as Armistice Day to commemorate the end of the war in World War I.

The President, commander in chief of the nation's armed forces, will spend tonight aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise (SSN-593) in the Atlantic Ocean.

Johnson will be accompanied by Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara, Deputy Secretary of Defense Paul Nitze and other officials.

Little Rock parade coordinators also scheduled including an afternoon rally in Union Square sponsored by the Vietnam Veterans Against the War and Veterans for Peace in Vietnam.

The President, commander in chief of the nation's armed forces, will spend tonight aboard the nuclear-powered aircraft carrier USS Enterprise (SSN-593) in the Atlantic Ocean.

Judges Cite Coentry New Teacher Group Seeks Vote on Bargaining Rights

Superior Court Judge Jay E. Rubinow of Manchester will be honored by his associates for his seven years service as chief justice of the State Circuit Court.

He has been a Superior Court judge since July 1 and serves as the state's Probate Court administrator.

The federation said it "hopes to develop effective communication with the parents and other taxpayers concerning the complex of education here in Coentry. Such direct and explicit contact between teacher and community is sorely needed. Since every taxpayer has the right to know whether or not his educational dollar is well-spent, the Federation feels obligated to be more than just a whisper in community relations."

Education Board to Weigh Project Concern on Monday

The Board of Education will discuss a project concerning the health of the school system on Monday.

The board will receive the report from the Health Study Committee by Dana Hanson, and a report from the Long Range Study Committee by Robert Treat.

The board will take action on proposed revisions to the Health Policy and a policy on "Offices of the Board."

The board will also take action on the resignation of Mrs. Nancy Landolph, physical education teacher on leave this year; on the description of duties and responsibilities of department heads; on a request for the Bolton Area Youth Forum to use school facilities; and on a request for an executive committee to consider nomination of a candidate for the reading consultant position.

The board will be asked to give formal approval to Miss Kathleen Geer's plan to take a study trip to the conference on the atom in Chicago, and to approve a request from the school mothers to contribute $5,000 to try their hand at conducting a measles immunization survey.

Players Offer Simon Comedy

The Manchester Community Players will present Neil Simon's "Barfoot in the Park" at the Whittier Memorial Auditorium, 85 N. Main Street, Nov. 17 and 18, starting at 8:30 p.m.

This three-act comedy, which was directed by Mike Nichols, has a very long and successful run on Broadway and was subsequently made into a movie starring Jane Fonda and Robert Redford.

The city of Montgomery, Ala., has a "ceremony for the foreign dead" honoring foreign armistice soldiers during World War II while in training at Maxwell Air Force Base.

The troupe also have an "Avenue of Flags" from Court Square to the state capital. Birmingham, Ala., citizens contributed $5,000 to buy flags which will be flown along the parade route.

Oregon Gov. Tom McCall and California Gov. Ronald Reagan will lead the parade in Albany, Ore., then go to the Oregon State-Southern California football game in nearby Corvallis.

And the Kiowa Ton-Kon-ko Black Legion Warior Society will conduct an annual Veterans Day celebration at Indian City, U.S.A. near Anadarko, Okla., with the theme "I Am an American." The program will include war dances.

 Mother's job—must still be done. The love and understanding of a mother can never be replaced; but if she should be taken away, the family's shopping, cooking, nursing, mending, teaching and planning must still be done by someone, somehow.
 As well as a load of grief on his heart, Dad would have a load of worry on his mind—the worry of extra bills, and the worry of finding and paying a capable housekeeper.
 The money value of a mother's time should be protected, just as father insures the family's other great asset, his income.
 Why not talk this over, the two of you, and decide to fund "mother's job" with life insurance?
 Talk it over with me.

G&S Workshop To Meet Monday
 Manchester Gilbert and Sullivan Workshop will have a general meeting Monday at 8 p.m. at South Methodist Church Reception Hall.
 Discussion will center around the production of "Ruddigore," the Workshop's choice for its 1967-68 presentation.
 Auditions have been scheduled for early December, the dates to be announced. Speakers said that there will be 17 lead parts to be filled.
 The meeting is open to all present and prospective Workshop members. Volunteers are needed for several committee appointments and non-performing members are needed. Reservations will be served.
 In Colonial times the tavern served also as a community center and courtroom.

South Windsor Town Zoning Board Grants Two Petitions, Denies Two

The Zoning Board of Appeals granted two petitions and denied two at a recent public hearing.

The board also elected Robert Gillingham, Brian Rd., as chairman. Gillingham succeeded Edward Hayes in the post.

The property is bounded approximately north by Walter A. Koshala and Joseph A. Krawak, Jr., south by Daniel F. Driscoll and Joseph A. Krawak, Jr. This is an A-20 zone.

Also granted was the request of Clayton D. Bradley and Lou C. Mather, 00 Edward R. Kuehn, East, 966 Farmington Ave., West Hartford, to allow a minimum lot depth of less than 120 feet on premises on Chapel Rd., east of the north by Chapel Rd., east by Everett R. Jenkins, et al., Trust, and west by Anna J. J. This is an A-20 zone.

Denied was the petition of Roland Jones, 248 Sullivan Ave., for a temporary and condition permit to allow the use of a non-conforming building on premises at 120 Sullivan Ave. The property is in a C-2 zone.

The board ruled against the use of the building used for an orange or early growth in the area.

Also denied was the request of John H. Bancroft, 90 Robert St., Wapping, for a variance to allow construction closer to the sidewalk than permitted on his premises. The property is in an A-20 zone.

The board ruled against the petition because of the effect on the character of the entire area and that no hardship was evident in the case.

The appeals board will hold a special meeting Nov. 17 at 8 p.m. at the Wapping Elementary School, Ayer Rd., Wapping to consider the following application:

Dynamic Controls, 8 Nutmeg Rd., requests a temporary and conditional permit to allow parking of a trailer on its premises. This is an A-20 zone.

A copy of the application is on file in the building inspectors' office.

Gifts Being Blago
 The Ladies Guild of St. Francis of Assisi Church will sponsor a "Thanksgiving Turkey-Money Blago" Nov. 18 at 8 p.m. at the church hall.

Highlight of the evening will be the drawing of a raffle ticket at for a four-day trip for two to Bermuda.

The public is cordially invited to attend children.

Kiwanians Take an Advance Look at Auction Items

Kiwanians Herman Heck (left) and Francis Della Fera stand amid some of the many items which will be auctioned off at the annual Kiwanis Radio Auction Nov. 14. The items to be auctioned are on display in the Main St. window of the Watkins Bros. store, and a list of the items will appear in the Herald shortly before the auction. Local merchants donate the goods to be sold and the funds go to support various Kiwanis community projects. (Herald photo by Pinto.)

All-Staters Make Music

The Connecticut Music Educators' Association presented the 1967 All-Connecticut Music Festival at UConn Oct. 27. The concert was held in the Albert N. Jorgensen Auditorium, on campus. The story of the concert really begins the day before it took place. This was the first rehearsal at where members of the orchestra, band, and chorus met together. MHS contributed several members to the orchestra and two to the chorus. Thursday began with registration at 8:30 a.m. The rest of the day was marked by a hectic schedule with a total of 7 1/2 hours rehearsing time. These rehearsals gave the directors a chance to "pull their groups together" and obtain the best possible sound from them. Five more hours were spent Friday morning and afternoon and were held at the same place. Each director did an excellent job preparing his group for performing. The orchestra director, Mr. Walter Hagan, has many multi-achievement students. The chorus director, Mr. Robert Page, is the head of the music department at Temple University. The concert itself began at 8 o'clock. The orchestra, comprising about 100 members, turned out an excellent performance. Their numbers included two by Glinka and Wagner, played with professional accuracy. The chorus also turned out the memorable performance. Their songs ranged from Bach, to the rousing "Negro Spiritual," "Great Day," arranged by Warren Ratt. For their last number, they were joined by a small ensemble from the orchestra in performing Aaron Copland's "The Promises of Living" from "The Tender Land". Last to perform was the band, which opened with a typical band number—the "Athletic Festival March" by Frederick Fennell. This was particularly enjoyed by the audience, as a jazz suite which was arranged by the band conductor, Mr. Hunsberger. The groups seemed to excel in order of their appearance. Records were made available to all who participated in it, and all who attended the concert. Gary Jodoin '68

Expression of Own Ideas Important for 1968 Officers

Karen has led a very busy life in her three years at MHS. Her activities include two years on student council, two years on the Somanhis Staff, (this year as a senior officer), membership of APS, two years with Sock and Buskin, three years in the SHI Club (this year as a senior officer), and work as MHS announcer for three years, (serving as vice-president for two years). Karen feels she is qualified as she has shown leadership ability in all the activities she has participated in since entering MHS. If elected, Karen said: "I would like to continue the present class activities and perhaps a senior semi-formal party in the spring." Bryce Carpenter Bryce K. Carpenter Jr. believes he has the following qualifications needed to be a class officer: 1) leadership, which he has gained from two years of varsity football, three years of Boy's Leaders (present this year), three years on the Student Council, and a few other activities; 2) the ability to cooperate with the staff and work with people. His ideas about senior activities? "I think the winter carnival that the class of '68 put on last year should be continued. Also I think dances should be held by the class as a means to raise money." Jackie Clarke Jackie's activities include a three-year membership of the SHI Club and of the Student Council. Jackie has also done much work with the Teen Center and this year was elected as the MHS Homcoming Queen. Jackie feels her experiences with people would qualify her as a class officer. She has had much experience in her school activities in doing things to help other students. Asked what plans she had if elected, she said there was nothing particular at this moment and that she would strive to have other activities that would help all the seniors to know each other better before graduation. John Leggett In his three years at MHS, John has been a participant in many school activities. These include two years with Somanhis and being co-editor for the 1966 book, acting as a member of the Student Council and as a member of its executive committee. John has also played junior varsity soccer, been a two-year member of Sock and Buskin and three years member of the Boy's Leaders Club, a year round participation in varsity sports, including two years of football, three years of basketball and three years of baseball. He is also a member of the Current Affairs Club. Dick Cobb Dick has led a very active life since entering MHS 3 years ago. Dick's list of activities include Student Council for three years and membership of the executive committee for two years, three years member of the Boy's Leaders Club, a year round participation in varsity sports, including two years of football, three years of basketball and three years of baseball. ## Candidates Chosen for AFS Summer

There's something brewing in the left half of room 215, and it's going to be big! According to the yearbook co-editors, Mrs. Kelson, the 1968 Somanhis will incorporate Doug's ideas and Jim Leggett's "fantastic photography." Doug is also a busy scholar with an honors course load of English, Standard Chemistry, Math IV, Latin III and Spanish III and Algebra II (I). He is also an active participant in many other school activities, including High School World, Student Council, Spanish Club, German Club and SHI Club. He is another of Robin's line-consumers. ## 33rd Somanhis Is Best Yet sneak previews of the Somanhis. The staff is headed by five editors: Linda Leon and John Leggett, co-editors; Karen Bradford, senior editor; Dave Hooch, sports editor; and Jim Leggett, art editor. All '68. Not wishing to spoil the surprise to be brought by "the best one yet," the creators of Somanhis maintain their right to keep silent. Somanhis representatives recently have begun to accept the first payment in homerooms. This is $3 with SAA and $5 without. The first payment period will last until November 30. Whoever the wise old sage was who said "in ten years, you'll care" must have been thinking about the pleasure of looking back to high school days; being able to see "a lot of funny-looking kids" and "your contact with East Windsor's oldies" in a yearbook. How else could you do this unless you bought the "fantastic" "photography" '68 Somanhis with a whole new effect?

Populous Corner

DETROIT — Seven of Michigan's 10 metropolitan areas are in the southeastern corner of the state. They account for more than 8 million population, by 1980 census, or three-fourths of the state's population. THEED OF COTTON FARMING MEDINA, Tenn. (AP) — Albert Brown, a 77-year-old retired salesman, was mightily surprised by what he found in small cotton crop in the country. He had some extra space in his backyard and got some cotton seed to plant. He grew 80 stalks and harvested a grand total of 20 pounds of cotton. His troubles began when he took the cotton to a gin. Officials couldn't buy it because Brown didn't have a cotton label. Brown gave away his harvest and commented: "Now I'm beginning to see what this farming is all about."

Pages Helpful in Library Operation

Did you ever find yourself faced with a difficult research assignment and realize that you did not know how or where to start? Suggestions from a Library Page would prove to be helpful. What would you do if there was a Library Page to give you College Zoology or other research books? Library Pages, under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Gerard, is a working service organization in which the first obligation of all members is to serve the student body and faculty. The tasks performed by the pages are necessary for the library to function smoothly. They charge out books, pamphlets, and magazines; shelve returned books, and repair and process books. The Pages also take a daily count of books in circulation, make out overdue slips, notify faculty members of new material and design the bulletin boards and exhibits that are on display in the library. Some new books and comment on them. The Library Pages hold a monthly meeting where they learn library procedures, hold social affairs, plan book fairs and field trips. Workshops also are scheduled for every X period. They have visited Widener Library at Harvard University and Sterling Memorial Library at Yale University in previous years. The Pages are also members of Nutmeg 620, the state library association which is sponsored by Southern Connecticut State College. This organization meets each fall and is followed by regional meetings in the spring. A workshop is usually held in March. Pat Sylvester, '70, is the second vice president of Nutmeg 620 and also helping themselves, in that she is learning to use the library more efficiently. Cathy Glard, '68

World Briefs

The sale of Somanhis will begin Nov. 6 in the homerooms and continue until November 30. Your SAA book must be presented to the Somanhis Sales representative at the first collection. INTIMIDATED Does a rugged game of football appeal to you? How about a relaxing wintertime in the pool? You can participate in an exciting individual sport like tennis or a team sport like basketball or the body building of weight training. It is in the intramural program. It is a good way to build your body while having fun. It is also a good time to learn about new sports and improve old ones. Pam believes that everyone has to work for what they want. And you can be willing to work toward your ambitions. Until she attains her goals in life, she resides with those to whom she owes every thing—her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Evelyn Johnson, and brother Doug and Jeff, at 137 Keeney St. Stan Blaszberg '68

Legion of Honor

A smile on her face and a song in her heart... This describes this week's female legionaire, Pamela Johnson, performer in the Somanhis. About Well, it could be BBI Ousey or Charlie Brown. Or it could be "I love my school" which makes her laugh! The one thing that has influenced Pamela's life is her love of basketball, or baseball. But she is not a fan of the game, she is a fan of the player, Dale. Dale, through his athletic ability, could go into the professional field. Pamela's life is her love of basketball, or baseball. ## Girl's Field Hockey

The season has ended for the MHS field hockey team leaving them with a record of six wins, one tie and three losses. The last game was played Oct. 31st at home against East Windsor. It was a fast game with the home team scoring the only goal of the game early in the second half. Half-back Cindy Gobeille, '68, drove for the point at close range putting the team ahead. The rest of the game was a close contest with East Windsor's girls trying to even the score. Several injuries late in the year caused the team to lose. However, they were successful in holding the opposing forward. Next in girls' sports is basketball and many girls are impatiently awaiting try-outs. Paula Sanchez, '68

New Teacher

Since a good part of the average man's life is spent to work, it is the truck man whose work and outside interests can coincide. Such a man is Mr. Adrian Groot III, one of Manchester's new faculty members. Mr. Groot enjoys teaching automobiles at MHS because he can share with his students what he calls "automotive enthusiasm." His interest in cars does not end with the close of school day, as he enjoys working on cars at home as well. At the moment his enthusiasm is directed at his 427 Chevy Impala. Mr. Groot prepared for his career as an automotive teacher with a major in Industrial Education at Central Connecticut State Teachers' College. He lives in Bolton with his wife and young son. ### Beekeepers Rent Space at Cape

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Bee-keepers are buzzing here in a new type of man-made moon launch area.

Working under licenses issued by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, beekeepers are presently exploiting nearly 2,000 colonies of bees inhabiting the cooler areas of NASA's Kennedy Space Center. Each colony contains 80,000 to 100,000 bees, NASA said.

The commercial beekeepers annually bid against each other to rent space around the man-made launch complex, where bees thrive in an abundant supply of wild flowers.

Keeper of the beekeepers is J. F. Cain Jr., chief of real estate and management disposal for the Army Corps of Engineers. The corps helps manage the 82,000 acres which make up NASA's moonport.

"We have never had any problems with the owners of the bees," said Cain. "They both have been very cooperative. Occasionally, we have to move a colony because workers were getting ready to clear the area with bulldozers."

The licenses permit each beekeeper to place his hives anywhere within designated areas (away from launch sites) and the keepers move the hives around depending where the flowers bloom.

He holds a Ph.D. degree from Drew, where he also earned his B.A. and S.T.M. degrees.

Willie's Bid for Parking Before ZBA Again Nov. 20
A repeat of a variance request by the owners of Willie's Steak House, turned down March 21, 1966, heads the seventh agenda of the zoning board of appeals (ZBA).

The variance request was opposed by W. Center St. property owners at the 1966 hearing.

In another repeat request Nov. 20, the State Highway Department will seek a variance for the property of Gerald Smith at 21 Overland St., in Residence Zone B.

The state is asking permission to diminish the lot area below minimum requirements, in conjunction with plans for a relocation.

The request was denied at a September ZBA hearing. Smith did not oppose the variance then and has requested since that it be reconsidered.

The other five variance requests to be aired and considered Nov. 20 are from: 1. Thomas Folio, permission to erect an addition to his dwelling at 2 Wilbury Rd., in Residence A.

The addition would be closer to the rear line than regulations permit.

2. Economy Builders Inc., permission to erect a detached garage at 21 Foster St., in Residence B.

The garage would be to the side of the dwelling in the street.

3. The request was denied at a September ZBA hearing. Smith did not oppose the variance then and has requested since that it be reconsidered.

ABOARD U.S.S. ENTERPRISE (AP)—President Johnson, to the delight of many of the nation's military bases, has called for national unity to win the Vietnam war.

The President left the White House Friday morning, flew to Ft. Benning Ga., and then to the country to visit with Marines and went to sleep after viewing the nation's largest aircraft carrier anchored off San Diego, Calif.

Thousands of Marines and troops are being sent to Vietnam to help that small nation defend itself from the aggression of the North Vietnamese.

South Vietnamese paratroopers reported killing 11 Communist soldiers and capturing 20 weapons in two clashes within a few miles of each other Friday, 119 miles west-southwest of Saigon.

High U.S. military officials believe more hard fighting is ahead along the demilitarized zone that divides Vietnam, and that a new "live front" may be developing in the central highlands.

The outlook for American military forces in the coming months is to "accommodate" progressive pressures that they have had the capability of putting on the money for more than a year, officials said today.

When the U.S. building began in South Vietnam early in 1966, one out of every two men was required for a support role, the officials said. In the coming months, they expect one out of every five men to be in a support role.
