Favretti Recommends Trees

Manchester may have to take action if it is to preserve the concept of being a city of villages, said Prof. Rudy Favretti at a meeting at the Senior Citizens Center last night.

The older slides were taken at various spots last summer and some showed Manchester from the street and parking lot level together; Hartford Rd. facing east, just beyond Goslee Dr. where Hartford Rd. curves and the viewer faces a line of old trunks and cars which give the appearance of an unattended junk yard.

Prof. Favretti offered one solution to the unattended trees. The professor showed how trees would beautify the landscape in the street and parking lot off Broad St.

Another viewer commented that it is well to talk about fixing up existing unsightly spots, but doing this is like "bailing water from a leaking boat."

South Windsor Park and Recreation Panel Approved by Town Council

The town council last night approved an ordinance establishing a park and recreation commission. The new commission will consist of seven members to be appointed by the council. Of the appointments, three will serve two-year terms and four will serve four-year terms.

The commission is charged with making reports or recommendations to the council on the initiation, development, maintenance or administration of recreational programs for the town.

Also under the duties of the commission will be the acquisition, development, and maintenance of public parks, playgrounds, swimming pools or other recreational facilities. The recommendation that a full-time recreation director be hired will be made by the administration in the forthcoming general government budget for the fiscal year 1968-69. The present budget includes funds for a part-time director only.

Postponed Tonight's scheduled meeting of the Manchester Board of Directors has been postponed to next Tuesday, Nov. 28.

The postponement honors the memory of former Town Manager Richard Martin, whose funeral was today.

The schools will have a half-day session tomorrow as the Thanksgiving recess begins. High schools and kindergarten classes will end at 11:45 a.m. There will be no other kindergarten sessions.

Possibility Is Renewed To Pass LBJ's Tax Hike

Christian left the impression that the presidential plan would reduce a potential $29 billion deficit for fiscal 1968 to about half that amount.

Congressional sources, who disagreed with the White House version of the savings in prospect, expected to see the deficit reduced below $20 billion if the administration plan is carried out.

But at the White House, Christian said the British move—followed by Federal Reserve Board action boosting its interest rate on loans to member banks from 4 to 4 1/2 per cent—made the surtax package "absolutely imperative," in the opinion of the President.

There was general satisfaction on the Treasury and Federal Reserve Board over the behavior of U.S. and world markets in the wake of the devaluation, which was coupled with a $3 billion credit agreement among all major industrial countries to support the pound.

Prices on the New York Stock Exchange plummeted at Monday's opening but regained most of the loss during the day. The bond markets were described as "very orderly." The dollar remained firm in European money markets.

Christian confirmed that congressional leaders of both parties were brought to the White House for a briefing on the British and American monetary situation, and that House Democratic leaders, including Mills, had been invited to an impending British action on Friday.

Christian said he did not know exactly when Johnson learned of the coming devaluation. It was disclosed to the Cabinet at a 90-minute weekend meeting. At the same meeting, the press secretary said, Johnson reported that in the absence of a tax increase the government would be taking $5 billion in new borrowings in the first half of 1968.

That would send interest rates up and shrink the supply of funds for housing and for state and local government borrowing, Johnson told the Cabinet officers. If the surtax is voted, he said, the money would be reversed; the government would be feeding $5 billion back into the financial markets in that period.

As for international considerations, Johnson was quoted as saying that the belief is widely held abroad that a tax increase is considered essential to maintaining confidence in the dollar.

Rham District Plans on Expansion Outlined at Hearing

About 25 of an estimated 300 families in Andover, Marlborough, and Hebron with children in Rham High School met there last night and over 500 on a thorough presentation of the expansion plans. The plans would accommodate the expected enrollment increase from the present 800 pupils to the anticipated 1,600 within the next five or six years.

Board chairman Robert Price of Hebron opened the hearing by introducing the other eight members of the board and then outlining why the extra space and facilities will soon be needed. He pointed out that the original school, built in 1908 and 1907 and opened for use in the fall of 1907, had core facilities for 1,200 students but teaching stations for about 800. Such space must be provided for the 400 enrollees in excess.

Price also stated that a middle or intermediate school, such as the one now under construction in Coventry, to accommodate grades 5 through 8 was an acceptable and desirable idea. However, the school population for those four grades in the three towns in District 8 is not so large enough to make the idea economically feasible. High Grades 7 and 8 of the three towns will appear in the same school.

George Munson, board member from Andover, was introduced as chairman of the new project. He stated that his committee had worked for the last year and a half on it. Basically, he said, the expansion would be converting back to classroom use those rooms planned for each town but not used for arts in the last ten years.

ZBA Allows Parking Lot

The zoning board of appeals (ZBA) last night unanimously approved all seven variance requests up for public hearing, including one from Wilton's Steak House, for a parking lot at W. Center St. and Henderson Rd.

The new parking area will give Wilton's 26 more off-street parking stalls, giving them 38 in all from Center St. to W. Center St.

The ZBA stipulated that Wilton's must plant three-foot high shrubbery bordering W. Center St. to be set 20 feet back from the street line; that it must construct an opaque fence, to shield the parking area from neighbors; that the entrance and exit must be from Henderson Rd.; that the lot must extend from the shrubbery to the sidewalk; and that the lighting system will be 2 or 3 feet from the ground.

Wilton's had been denied a similar request in March 1966. Then, as again last night, the application was opposed only by Raymond Tweedy of 81 W. Center St. last night presented a petition in opposition, signed by 10 families.

The several other persons who spoke in opposition to what they regarded as Manchester's continuing pro-growth policy, included business men into residential zones.

Mrs. Charles Utting of 88 W. Center St. wanted the ZBA to be set back from the street line. Regulations call for a 30-foot setback.

The ZBA was reminded that Wilton's, several years ago, received a zone change for a parking lot on Henderson Rd.; that it had convinced the ZBA that it was for parking use only; and that it later constructed a motel.

Atty. John Mirovich, representing Wilton's introduced two letters last night — one from Police Chief James Reardon, commending 2.3 million blocks of revenue, weighing an average of 2 1/2 tons apiece. It took 200 men to build the pyramid.

Mr. Mirovich labeled Wilton's growth in the past 17 years "a typical Horatio Alger story" and cited the three construction additions there to the original bar and grill.

The other variances granted last night are to: 1. The State Highway Department, to diminish the property of Gerald Smith at 21 Overland St. below minimum area requirements. The parcel is in the path of Rt. 6.

2. A similar variance request was turned down in September. It was reheard at the request of Smith, who said that he wanted to continue living there, even with a diminished lot.

3. Thomas Pelletier, to add an L-shaped porch to his dwelling at 3 Whitney Rd. The addition will be 15 feet from the rear line. Regulations call for a 25-foot setback.

4. Economy Builders Inc., to erect a detached garage to the side of the dwelling at 28 Foster St. Regulations require detached garages in the area to be to the rear of the dwelling.

5. T. J. Crockett, to erect a

Plan A on Schools Adopted, Putting Town on 4-4-4 System

The Board of Education voted to adopt "Plan A" of school reorganization at a meeting on school population, approved by the town. The plan, one of three suggested by Robert Leonard of the Connecticut State Board of Education, was approved by the Board of Education on Monday.

His remarks are based on the enumeration and do not include any margin for moving. A report on this year's enumeration will be made public within the next few weeks, Castagna promised.

He said that the trend in Bolton seems to be following the lower grades in 1970, then expected when the children, the "population explosion" begins school.

Dr. Castagna said that, based on present enrollment, with up to 30 in some elementary grades, and perhaps new over to some, the present space arrangements will take care of all students next year. This includes the carousels, or portable classrooms.

Board member William Grunke, who is now in the state, suggested that facilities in the new school and the present elementary school add to the school until they were forced to go to a middle school.

Mr. Grunke wondered about the location of the new school, asking if it could not be placed closer so that a corridor could connect the two facilities.

Mr. Grunke said he is concerned about long-range planning and also about the town's being given a deposit when it comes to a vote.

It was explained that some of the variance is denied. Under the plan, part of the Burrows property would be reduced in depth from its present 116 feet to a proposed 80 feet.

Mets Have First in Rookie from Seaver

NL Award To Pitcher Announced

The last-place New York Mets have a first today in pitcher Tom Seaver, the National League's Rookie of the Year for 1967, and they have the luck of the draw to thank for it.

Two other right-handed pitchers were mentioned on the voting announced Monday.

Hughes was second in the voting and Delong was fifth.

Hughes posted a 16-6 record with 148 strikeouts in 1967.

Ike Seen Backing Tax Hike

WASHINGTON (AP)—Former President Dwight D. Eisenhower is quoted as having given qualified endorsement to a tax increase.
House Republicans who attended an off-the-record luncheon Tuesday at which Eisenhower was guest, said the former president told them he did not see how a tax boost could be avoided.
But, they added, he said an increase must be coupled with substantial reductions in government spending, a position taken last month by the House Ways and Means Committee when it postponed further consideration of the administration's tax hike request.
Eisenhower was in Washington for a physical checkup at Walter Reed Army hospital, and left there shortly before the unannounced luncheon.
The committee has called a meeting next week to take another look at the fiscal situation and hear administration spokesmen outline how and where they proposed to cut spending.
The meeting tentatively scheduled for Tuesday but likely to be postponed until Wednesday, will be open to the public.
The administration hopes, by a combination of higher taxes and reduced spending, to cut this year's prospective $23 billion deficit in half.
The deficit would be shrunk to roughly $11 billion—still one of the biggest splashes of red ink in U.S. history—by the fiscal package plan to be presented to the House Ways and Means Committee next Tuesday.
Treasury Secretary Henry H. Fowler said Tuesday he and Budget Director Charles L. Schultz hope to convince the tax-writing committee "it is doubly important" in view of the international financial repercussions following Saturday's devaluation of the British pound, to "protect the dollar now, because the dollar is in the rough lines."
The tax hike is needed, Fowler said, "to reduce substantially the existing deficit, minimize the risks of inflation, avoid escalating interest rates, avoid a credit crunch and reduce our deficit financing to manageable proportions."
Fowler told a news conference the budget target is still the one set by President Johnson in his Aug. 8 tax message—to reduce the red ink to a range of $14 billion to $18 billion.
To approach the lower figure, it became clear, it would be necessary for Congress to make the 30 per cent surcharge on individual income and corporation taxes effective Oct. 1.
The retroactive date will be in the plan delivered to the closed Ways and Means Committee hearing, Fowler said. He acknowledged that retroactivity would involve "administrative problems and difficulties."
Actually, a retroactive personal income tax boost is most unlikely. Congress consistently has rejected such proposals but in some instances has enacted retroactive corporate tax hikes.
It seemed likely, however, that the administration hopes for an Oct. 1 effective date for business firms and Jan. 1 for individuals.
The White House has described its fiscal package—whose details still are under wraps—as providing expenditure cuts to match the anticipated $7 billion tax receipts dollar for dollar.
However, the cuts to be bagged over in the Nov. 28 meeting will add up to $4 billion. About (See Page Twelve)

Wilson Faces Censure Vote, Reports Big Weapons Slash

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Wilson, facing a censure vote in the House of Commons, announced tonight big cuts in new weapons for Britain's armed forces, including cancellation of some phase orders from the United States.
Wilson's drive for economy cuts in the British army's order of cancellation of the pound orders of the pound order, new vehicles and instruments as part of a campaign to top $40 billion of defense spending.
The prime minister added the government is withdrawing from the $2.46 billion and government critics forecast more from a project to build a big staging base in conjunction with the United States on Alabama Island in the Indian Ocean.

Dak To Battle Enters 20th Day

SAIGON (AP)—The Dak To 246 Americans killed and 860 take a bittering ridge line, said: "We'll be up there for Thanksgiving." The tenacity of the North Vietnamese, who shot from log-covered bunkers, suggested they were under orders to hold to the last man.
The U.S. Command listed 1,200 hand grenades killed in the Dak To sector since the outbreak of the battle Nov. 3.
The bloodiest previous encounter between American and North Vietnamese troops was in the Ia Drang Valley, like Dak To in the central highlands, Nov. 14-15, 1965. At that time the Americans—units of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division—routed a mixed North Vietnamese-Viet Cong division at a cost of 217 dead and 222 wounded. Communist dead were recorded as 1,280.
The Ia Drang Valley showdown followed a battle near Plei Me in which 154 Americans and 109 South Vietnamese and 458 of the enemy were killed. American wounded there totaled 328.
Two U.S. battalions appeared at noon today to be in nearly full control of Hill 875. But there was still a seaway effect in the struggle.
The paratroopers pulled back from part of the hillside to allow American jets to hammer the Communist positions.
Associated Press photographer Al Chang reported helicopters going in to deliver supplies and remove the wounded. However, a few feet off the ground at a hastily cut landing zone, they were shot Monday night as they came under enemy fire.
The Dak To fighting has become the longest sustained battle of the war, but U.S. officers believe the fighting is petering out. The 14th North Vietnamese regiment, in reserve to the northwest of Dak To, was committed to Hill 875 as a diversionary move so North Vietnam's 2nd and 6th regiments could slip away to the Cambodian border on the southwest and sanctuary from pursuing American troops.
"I have to give the enemy his due," said one senior U.S. officer. "Obviously he had outstanding morale and discipline."
He stood his ground" on Hill 875.
State police today disclosed that she has been married to Alan Menard of Edward St. She is reported to be separated from him.
A total of $900 is now said to have been taken in the robbery. Police said a new audit was made at the bank. Police had first announced that $1.17 million and later that $700 was missing.
Police found $100 in a rented car allegedly used in the hold-up. The car was recovered Monday night in a Hartford parking (See Page Twelve)

LBJ Reflects on Four Years

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON, Nov. 21 (AP)—President Johnson, looking back on four years in the White House, cited two big disappointments: Failure to achieve peace in Vietnam and to improve relations with French President Charles de Gaulle.
Johnson, four years in office today, does not regard these as personal failures, however. He feels, for example, that the Vietnam situation was largely inherited and he simply—as he told a news conference last week—faced the 1968 decision to "put up or shut up." As for De Gaulle, he is mindful that much of the French leader's displeasure with the United States grew out of his unpleasant relations with President Franklin D. Roosevelt during World War II.
The President was spending this anniversary at his ranch home near Johnson City, some 75 miles north of here. He and his wife Lady Bird flew to Texas Tuesday evening for a Thanksgiving holiday.
Looking ahead, Johnson's hopes for the coming year include:
—Peace both in Vietnam and the Middle East.
—Substantial progress in coping with the crime problem at home.
—Revolutionary efforts to rebuild the cities and to promote better housing and jobs.
Johnson, who isn't saying yet whether he will seek re-election next November, likes to quote former President Harry S. Truman as saying that personal political fortunes don't count. Most people believe, in (See Page Ten)

Social Security Voted Big Boosts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate passed today a massive Social Security bill carrying 15 to 59 per cent increases for present beneficiaries and larger boosts for persons retiring in the future.
The roll call vote was 78 to 6.
The dissenters were Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah; Carl F. Curtis, R-Nebr.; Spessard L. Holland, D-Ia.; John Stennis, D-Miss.; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; and John J. Williams, R-Del.
The measure, which would make the biggest cost benefit and payroll tax increases in the 39-year-old history of the Social Security system, was sent to conference with the House.
The conference is expected to be a tough one, with major differences to be resolved over the cash benefit and tax provisions and over new restrictions on public welfare programs.
Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., called the final Senate procedure a landmark bill in the history of Social Security.
One of its most important results, he said, will be to move out of poverty more than two million elderly people. This would be accomplished chiefly through a new $70 a month minimum payment coupled with higher checks for all persons now getting slightly more than the present $44 minimum.
The benefit and tax levels in the Senate bill are largely those recommended by the administration.
Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee related those in the seven months his bill was before his panel earlier this year. He is expected at least to insist on a compromise in the conference.
Williams, senior Republican on the Finance Committee, which handled the bill, announced in advance he would vote against it.
"This bill goes far beyond what I think the country can afford," he declared. "It would make staggering increases in the wage taxes on young families."
Bennett took the same view. "I was shocked," he said, "to see the Senate vote for more than $1 billion of additional benefits on the floor without adequate consideration and at a time when we are having so many troubles with our economy."
He said he would vote against the bill. This also is expected to be a sticky point in the conference.
The Senate stayed in session 15 hours Tuesday, its longest meeting of the year, to complete work on all amendments to the bill carrying 15 to 59 per cent increases for present beneficiaries and larger boosts for persons retiring in the future.

One of its most important results, he said, will be to move out of poverty more than two million elderly people. This would be accomplished chiefly through a new $70 a month minimum payment coupled with higher checks for all persons now getting slightly more than the present $44 minimum.
The benefit and tax levels in the Senate bill are largely those recommended by the administration.
Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee related those in the seven months his bill was before his panel earlier this year. He is expected at least to insist on a compromise in the conference.
Williams, senior Republican on the Finance Committee, which handled the bill, announced in advance he would vote against it.
"This bill goes far beyond what I think the country can afford," he declared. "It would make staggering increases in the wage taxes on young families."
Bennett took the same view. "I was shocked," he said, "to see the Senate vote for more than $1 billion of additional benefits on the floor without adequate consideration and at a time when we are having so many troubles with our economy."
He said he would vote against the bill. This also is expected to be a sticky point in the conference.
The Senate stayed in session 15 hours Tuesday, its longest meeting of the year, to complete work on all amendments to the bill carrying 15 to 59 per cent increases for present beneficiaries and larger boosts for persons retiring in the future.
The roll call vote was 78 to 6.
The dissenters were Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah; Carl F. Curtis, R-Nebr.; Spessard L. Holland, D-Ia.; John Stennis, D-Miss.; Strom Thurmond, R-S.C.; and John J. Williams, R-Del.
The measure, which would make the biggest cost benefit and payroll tax increases in the 39-year-old history of the Social Security system, was sent to conference with the House.
The conference is expected to be a tough one, with major differences to be resolved over the cash benefit and tax provisions and over new restrictions on public welfare programs.
Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., called the final Senate procedure a landmark bill in the history of Social Security.
