Stocks Rise In Spite of Devaluation

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite the devaluation of the British pound and other important events in the world of finance, national and international, the stock market this week staged its best rise since stocks made their 1967 peak on Sept. 28. It was the third straight week of resistance to the long slide. It lasted six weeks from the September high. This week brought the first solid advance—the biggest for any week since mid-September.

Gold Run Reported 'Near Panic'

LONDON (AP) — London gold dealers report buying orders are arriving in "near panic" proportions from all over the world in the challenge to the U.S. dollar touched off by Britain's devaluation of the pound. But Washington says the dollar is not in an international currency.

Washington Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's new theory that the dollar might be weakened in the near future by the devaluation of the British pound and other important events in the world of finance, national and international, the stock market this week staged its best rise since stocks made their 1967 peak on Sept. 28.

Gold Run Reported To Be 'Near Panic'

Financial powers to support the pound and maintain the value of their own currencies.

When it no longer occupies that role, he said, its price will drop to "something much closer to $8 an ounce than to $35."

London gold dealers said buying orders were piling up in "near panic" dimensions from around the world.

The Swiss National Bank advised that the nation's leading banks to stop temporarily forward sales of gold in a move to protect its supply of dollars.

Normal turnover on the London Exchange, which handles the bulk of European gold business, is about 6 tons a day.

William McClellan Martin, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board, has often declared the board's intention to support the dollar by selling government securities.

When a major country devalues its currency, there is bound to be a shakeout afterwards," an official said.

Granite Hard to Get

SALEM, N.H. (AP) — A Salem paving contractor confirms that it has come to the point that you can hardly get any granite in the Granite State.

The demand for New Hampshire's famous natural product so exceeds the supply that Andover's Donovan, vice president of the Manchester Paving Co., Inc., of Hooksett, admitted to the town of Salem recently a sidewalk contract with a stipulation he would not be able to put in the specified granite curing until next spring.

It isn't that there is any shortage of granite in New Hampshire, Vermont and Massachusetts quarries, Donovan said.

As fast as they cut it, contractors are buying it up," Donovan says the heavy demand for granite is due mostly to the unprecedented construction of interstate highways and bridges.

That's Bobby Turning On the Christmas Lights

With a boost from dad, two-year-old Bobby Brock gets set to push the master switch and light Manchester's Christmas decorations at three widely scattered downtown Main St. stores off Toland Ypk.

The ceremony took place last before dusk yesterday at the new Hartford Electric Light Co. power substation on Obout St.

Traditionally, the Christmas lights will remain on nights by through Jan. 1, Bobby's dad is Robert L. Brock, executive vice president of the Chamber of Commerce.

Looking on are Douglas Thompson, vice president of the Chamber of Commerce, next to pole, and Harold Gaboray, chairman of the Chamber's Retail Division.

TAKE FINESSE ON LEAVE'S FINEST

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The average player spends a year learning how to take finesse and several more years taking every finesse in sight.

Only the very good player can take a finesse or leave it alone.

Opening lead — queen of diamonds.

Is today's hand one finesse or another would lure the average player to defeat.

He ruffs the second diamond, leads a heart to dummy's king and tries a heart finesse on the way back.

West wins with the queen of spades, and West returns a heart.

South has already lost three tricks and must surely lose a club trick as well.

A more experienced South might try the club finesse instead of the heart finesse.

This line, and draws trump with the trump trick. Down on either way.

Reest Temptation

A pure-hearted player makes the contract by resisting all temptation.

He ruffs the second diamond, knocks out the ace of spades, ruffs the diamond return, and draws trump with the king of ace. No finesse, mind you.

The South leads out his spades, discarding clubs on dummy. Eventually South can take the ace of clubs and ruff some of the bidders both last year and the year before.

West may ruff the last spade, if he likes, but he cannot interfere with declarer's plan.

Daily Queens

Partner opens the bidding with one spade, and the next player passes.

Spades, 4-4; Hearts, 6-3; Diamonds, 4-4-3-3; Clubs, 9-4-3.

Answer: Pass. You have a naturalized English citizen.

Two Diminished Authorities
It was to be devoutly hoped, of course, that both the United States and the United Nations efforts to stave off war between Greece and Turkey on Cyprus, and renewal of war between Israel and the Arab states in the Near East, will be successful. The world needs a war between Greece and Turkey, it needs an open renewal of the Arab Hosts war, like it needs a hole in its head.

The Questions Never Answered
Harold Philby, the British double agent who served Moscow so well he was on the line actually and the British anti-Soviet intelligence operation, gave up the game in 1953 and returned to Moscow. The other day he was interviewed by a French newspaper. His story was that he had been led to his decision to work for Communism, way back in 1933, by his analysis of the situation in the Near East. He said, no regrets, and would do it all again. And he had a few more to go, lack of real intelligence in British intelligence, and he may have been dealing with the Americans, when he worked with us helping us set up our Central Intelligence Agency.

Wonders of the Universe Making It Possible To Live in Space
By DR. L.M. LEVITT, DIRECTOR, The Fels Planetarium, The Franklin Institute
A new process for producing life-supporting materials, on extraterrestrial bodies to convert them into future habitable bases is being proposed. In the past, this concept of man-made life has been considered a pipe dream, but it is currently being studied for applicability to the surface of Mars. When astronauts land on that planet, the implementation of this concept may permit them to stay there for long periods.

Connecticut Yankee
By A.H.O.
A couple of ages ago—and we hate to employ such a word or concept in any connection with any lady anytime—a slim, elegantly dressed woman, a deft, deft-looking figure stood before a Republican State Convention in Bushnell Memorial Hall in Hartford and clinaxed a stormy 48 hours of power politics by declaring a war on the lines of an old English ballad. The context of the lines was in vivid contrast to the habitual wiles of the lady. But the oratorical skill and passion of the voice filled out the rough vigor and defiance of the lines.

Club Honors Youths At Camp Kennedy
"Recognition Time" last night for the 71 teen-age volunteer counselors of Manchester's Camp Kennedy, when the Army & Navy Club honored them with individual gifts. It marked the fourth consecutive year that the club dedicated an evening to recognizing and praising the counselors for their unselfish service in giving up a summer to aid the retarded. And club president James Anderson pledged, "The Army & Navy Club offers its wholehearted support to the camp in the future."

Gifts for Coventry Shut-ins
The Coventry Public Health Nursing Agency will be giving the Coventry churches a Christmas gift this year to the ill and shut-ins on their visits. Admiring the work are, from left, Mrs. Alton Pierre and Mrs. Richard Libby of the Sunnyside Church, Mrs. Ernest Le Doy, president of the Coventry Church, and Mrs. Mary Jones of the St. John's Church.

Toronto Doctor Says Cord Never Severed
Amsterdam, the capital and largest city of The Netherlands, was founded about 1275. The first broke a plastic cord attached to the money wrappers and containing a foul-smelling chemical. The doctor found the fountain pen, abandoned and smelly. He said the surgery required special tools.

Ex-Judge Auctioned 640 Oregon Acres
Two East Hartford youths who were alleged to be in a fight at McDonald's on Nov. 11 with three other youths were charged last night with breach of peace. The two, Dennis L. Robinson, 19, and Harold A. Borchert, 20, are scheduled to appear in court on Dec. 11. A warrant was issued for their arrest after police arrested a complaint from the drive-in restaurant of a fight there, found three of the five youths, and were told that two others had driven away. Witnesses gave police the license number of the car the two were in.

Policeman Hurt In 2-Car Crash

An off-duty policeman suffered a back injury yesterday when the car in which he was a passenger was hit by another car on W. Middle Tpke. at Tower Rd.

The patrolman, Carl Silver, 32, of 125 Cooper Hill St., was taken to Manchester Memorial Hospital after the 10:12 a.m. crash and was treated and released, police say, and ordered off his feet for several weeks.

The car in which Silver was riding was driven by off-duty Patrolman Robert C. Parizeau, 32, of 48 Summer St. The vehicle was coming to a stop on W. Middle Tpke. when a car driven by Edward F. Fitzpatrick, 55, of 109 White St., hit it in the rear, police say.

The Parizeau car was driven away with front end damage. Fitzpatrick was charged with failure to drive a reasonable distance apart and is scheduled for court appearance on Dec. 11.

A car driven by John Weir Jr., 61, of Glastonbury, and one driven by Paul Kristoff, 74, of 232 Spring St. collided at Main St. and Hartford Rd. yesterday at 5:08 p.m. The left side of the Weir vehicle was damaged, while the Kristoff car had damage on the left front fender. Both cars were drivable, police say.

Wednesday morning in the parking lot at the Stop and Shop Market off W. Middle Tpke., a car driven by Constance C. Grotta of 79 Anasid Rd. backed into a car driven by Leah R. MacLachlan of 66 Strickland St. Minor damage was done to both cars, police say.

A teen-ager riding a bicycle hit a car driven by Janet A. Marcin of 128 Vernon St. as the car was stopped on E. Middle Tpke. near Vernon St. Wednesday afternoon. The right front headlight on the car was damaged.

The Marcin girl told police the youth gave her his name and address but that she could find no such name at the address in the telephone book.

Sometimes Wednesday or Thursday, a vehicle which left the scene struck a car belonging to Bruce L. Charbonneau of Bolton as the car was parked on Henderson Rd. near W. Center St. The left side door on the car was damaged, police say.

A car driven by Richard E. Holman, 19, of 184 Highland St., skidded on the wet pavement and hit a car driven by Linda F. Larala of 34 Green Rd. at Spring St. and Gardner St. Wednesday night. The Holman car was towed away with front end damage; the Larala car was drivable.

Mrs. Ida Della Jarvis, 75, of 62 Woodland Rd. died last night at a Manchester convalescent home.

Mrs. Jarvis was born Aug. 27, 1892 in Fall River, Mass., and lived in Manchester many years.

Survivors include two sons, Alfred J. Jarvis of Manchester and Norman F. Jarvis of Apponaug, R.I.; six grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Monday from the Boule Funeral Home, 415 Broadway, Fall River, with a Mass of Requiem at St. William's Church, Fall River. Burial will be in Notre Dame Cemetery, Fall River.

The John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., is in charge of local arrangements.

Store Damaged, Office Robbed In Two Breaks

Tony's Package Store at 535 Main St. was broken into sometime during the night. Police say some liquor was taken and the intruders spilled wine on the floor, counter, and splashed it on walls and the ceiling.

Police yesterday investigated the theft of approximately $130 from the office of the athletic director of East Catholic High School.

The theft took place sometime over the Thanksgiving holiday when the school was closed. Police say a window on the door of a first-aid room was broken to get into that room, and that entry to the office was made from the first-aid room.

Police say the money was taken from a cabinet and a desk drawer. Attempts were made to enter several other offices in the school, but these failed, police say.

No forced entry into the school itself was apparent, police indicate. Vandals splashed paint on a pickup truck belonging to Benjamin Montalvo of 52 Cooper Hill St. sometime Tuesday night on Wednesday morning as the truck was parked in the driveway at the residence. The paint was splashed on the roof and left side of the vehicle.

Plenty of Books on Hand For Gifts at Christmas

By MILES A. SMITH AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (AP) — How high will your Christmas tree be?

Even if it's a giant, you can top it by piling up a towering stack of gift books for all your family and friends. If you take advantage of the offerings the book publishers have prepared for the holiday season.

This is a quick run-through on some of the highlights of the gift book category—those fascinating, lavishly illustrated volumes on specialized subjects that make appropriate presents for practically everyone on your shopping list, including yourself.

Get down the author, title and publisher before you start to shop.

An always, art books are a major part of the show. And for some reason, this is a year which offers a great variety of new books on birds and beasts, flora and fauna, wildlife and the outdoors.

Let's start with the art books. Artists and Art Periods. For those interested in the American art scene, there are such items as Sylvan Schindler's "Eskimo" (Little, Brown), with 158 reproductions of his paintings; "The Artist in America," (Norton), by the editors of "Art in America," covering 300 years of American art; and "New York: The New Art Scene," (Holt) an album of photos by Ugo Mulas and a text by Alan Solomon, portraying 15 contemporary painters and sculptors.

Some readers are interested in individual artists. They may like a big volume, "Auguste Rodin" (Viking), by Robert Descharmes and Jean-Francois Chabrun; "Picasso, the Blue and Rose Periods" (New York Graphic), by Pierre Dax and Georges Boudaille, with 770 illustrations; or two books from Reyna "Doudit" in an analysis of his life and work by Giuseppe Marchiori and "Matisse, the Artist and his Time" by the same author.

The arts of particular regions are well represented. "African Art" (Viking) by Pierre Meuseux, contains photographs of African sculpture from the prehistoric age to the present. "Art in Israel" (Chilton), is an illustrated survey by several authors, edited by Max Joyce-Joyce.

In Crown's "Art of the World Series" there are "Art of the Steppes" by Karl Jettmar and "The Art of Chinese Landscape Paintings," by Anil de Silva. "Polynesian Art" (Dodd Mead), by Edward Dodds is an elaborate study of art in the Pacific islands. The Bronze Age is represented by "Minoan and Mycenaean Art" (Praeger) by Reynold Higgins. "Native Art of Norway" (Praeger) by Roar Hauglid and others is concerned with prehistoric and primitive artists. "Indian art in South America" (New York Graphic) ranges from the pre-Columbian period to the present.

There also are books about museum treasures such as "Paintings from the Berlin-Dahlem Gallery" (MacMillan), with commentaries by Edwin Redlob.

Coming down to some of the modern trends, there is "Constructivism, Origins and Evolution" (Braziller), an historical survey illustrated with 350 photographs.

The Performing Arts. In the performing arts field there are a couple of books on the dance: a survey by Walter Sorrell titled "The Dance Through the Ages" (Grosset and Dunlap), and a reference work by Anatole Chujoff titled "The Dance Encyclopedia" (Simon & Schuster), with some 3,000 entries.

There also is a look about a symphony organization now 50 years old, "The Cleveland Orchestra," by Robert C. Marsh and an album of photos by Arnold Newman titled "Bravo Stravinsky" with text by Robert Craft. Both are from World Publishing. Lehman Engel's "The American Musical Theater" (MacMillan), covers the full history of this lively aspect of the arts.

The Interior Life. The decorative arts are favored by several large volumes, including "Decorative Art in Modern Interiors, 1907-68," edited by Ella Moody (Viking); "Great Interiors," edited by Ian Grant (Dutton), which surveys the subject in the United States, England and the Continent since 1600; and "Table Settings, Entertaining and Etiquette," a history and guide by Patricia Eastbrook Roberts (Viking).

Dorothy Rodgers, wife of composer Richard Rodgers, tells in "The House in My Head" (Atheneum) the story of the building and furnishing of her own new house in Connecticut.

Other specialized items include "Oriental Rugs and Carpets" by Stanley Read (Putnam), and "The Chair—Its Origins, Designs and Social History" (A.S. Barnes), which emphasizes the English style and its American offshoots.

"The Art of Furniture" (Reinhold) by Ole Wanscher is a history of 500 years of furniture and interiors, with ample illustrations, scale drawings and bibliography.

Flora, Fauna and Outdoors. The second volume of "Wild Flowers of the United States," a two-part huge and beautiful product by Harold Wilham Rickett (McGraw-Hill) now is available, covering the Southeastern States.

The Imperial Collection of Audubon Animals" Hammond reproduces all 150 plates from the rare edition of naturalist's "The Quadrupeds of North America."

Another big reference work is "The Larousse Encyclopedia of the World" (McGraw-Hill), containing 100 color plates and 900 in black and white.

"Nature's Paradise" (Houghton Mifflin), by Des and Jen Bartlett, is an oversize volume portraying the wildlife and scenery of Africa. "Great National Parks of the World" (Random), by Richard Carrington, depicts flora, fauna and landscapes, with nearly 200 illustrations.

For bird fanciers there are "The Shorebirds of North America" (Viking), with text by Peter Matthiessen, and 3 paintings, by Robert Verity Clem, and Walter Scheithauer's "Hummingbirds" (Crowell), containing 75 color plates.

"Living Plants of the World" (Random) by Lorus and Margery Milne has 340 illustrations; "The Four Seasons of Survival" (A.S. Barnes) by William L. Van Allen tells a story of wildlife in Oregon; "Wildlife of the South Seas" by F.A. Roedelberger and Vera I. Groeschoff of an album containing 250 photographs.

Roger Caras has written "North American Mammals" for Meredith Press, and Emily Hahn's "Animal Gardens" (Doubleday) describes her tours through many of the world's zoos.

Places, People and Yesterday. Travel, geography and history are the themes of a whole shelf of new, sumptuous volumes. Joy Adamson (the one who wrote about Elsa the lioness) offers "The Peoples of Kenya" (Harcourt, Brace) which demonstrates that she is a portrait artist, photographer and amateur anthropologist in recording their story.

Hans' "Mexico" (Rand McNally), containing 50 color plates; Felix Marikham's "Oxford" (Morrow), an illustrated history of the English university; and "Jerusalem: A History" (Putnam), covering 5,000 years of history illustrated with 470 pictures, are among the other items. "Japan in Color" (McGraw-Hill) is a huge book containing 98 photographs by Robert Berry, with text by Anthony Thwaites.

History fans may be interested in "The World of Ancient Rome," (Putnam), edited by Giulio Gianelli, a social history of the city's Imperial Age; "Age of the Renaissance" (McGraw-Hill), with essays by 12 scholars, edited by Denys Hay; "The Horizon Book of the Elizabethan World" with more than 400 illustrations and 12 chapters of text. "Cities of Destiny," an illustrated series of essays by historians on great cities both ancient and modern, edited by Arnold Toynbee (McGraw-Hill); and "The Windsor Years" (Viking) by Lord Kinross, chronicling the era of the Princes of Wales who became King Edward VIII and then the Duke of Windsor. A reference work is "A Dictionary of Battles" (Crowell), containing details of more than 1,500 engagements, accompanied by 99 maps.

America, the Beautiful. In the field of Americana, there are such items as "The American Heritage History of the Thirteen Colonies," by Louis Wright, which is a companion volume to "The American Heritage History of Colonial America" by Marshall B. Davidson, both distributed by Simon & Schuster. In a similar category is "The Golden Treasury of Early American Houses," by Richard Pratt (Hawthorn), covering the period 1650 to 1850 and containing more than 300 photographs.

"Wilderness Kingdom—The Journals and Paintings of Father Nicolas Point," (Holt), describes Indian life in the Rocky Mountains, 1840-47, and combines a missionary's diary and his miniature paintings.

More recent views of the American scene include "Remember, When," (Golden Press), an album of more than 400 illustrations depicting the first 42 years of this century, with text by Allen Churchill, and "The Revealing Eye," (Atheneum), an album of photographic portraits by Nicholas Murray, covering 150 celebrities of the 1950s.

Hobbies—The Search for Fun. There is variety in the hobby and collecting field.

The Putnam Pleasures and Treasures Series includes Roger Tilley's "Playing Cards," Alan G. Thomas' "Fine Books," and "Rare Stamps," by L.N. and M. Williams.

"The Fun of Old Cars," by Bob Steubenrauch (Dodd, Mead) concerned with collecting and restoring these machines, contains camera studies of 26 classic cars. The English writer Anthony Bird, in "Antique Automobiles" (Dutton) brings in pictures and diagrams of some turn-of-the-century specimens.

Mab Wilson's "Gem," from Viking, is a new history of precious stones.

For the darkroom addict there is "Photography in the Twentieth Century" (Horizon) a selection by Nathan Lyons of 150 photographers' works from the George Eastman house of Photograph.

For the connoisseur there is "Wines of the World," edited by Andre L. Simon (McGraw-Hill), a 700-page compendium.

Sports, Anyone? On the sports scene there are some new books for golfers, skiers, football fans and hunters.

One item is an anthology of the whole range of the sporting world from magazine Sports Illustrated, titled "The Wonderful World of Sports."

"Golf Resorts of the U.S.A.," by Harry Baron (New American Library) is a directory of 700 courses, full of charts and illustrations.

"Skiers' Paradise," by Morton Lund and Bob Laurie (Putnam) is a guide to the 100 best ski runs in North America.

For pro football fans there are Tex Maule's "The Players" (New American Library), a heavily illustrated work of all the stars, and "Quarterbacking" (Prentice-Hall) in which Bart Starr of Green Bay tells all about the skills of his job, with plenty of play diagrams.

For college football fans there is "The Army-Navy Game," (Dodd, Mead) a heavily illustrated history of this gridiron rivalry.

"Great True Hunts," edited by Peter Barrett (Prentice-Hall) is a collection of big game stories.

The Scientific Front. Among the science books is one surveying recent developments, "Explosion of Science," edited by Sir Bernard Lovell (Meredith), copiously illustrated with 480 pictures.

A new reference work in this field is the "Cowles Encyclopedia of Science, Industry and Education," from the Cowles Educational Corp.

For stargazers there is a "Picture History of Astronomy," (Grosset & Dunlap) by Patrick Moore, full of 428 illustrations.

Burglary Suspect Needed Drugs, Police Contend

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — A 20-year-old youth arrested on a burglary charge said he needed money to buy narcotics, police said today.

Robert E. Borucki was caught stealing business machines from the Bridgeport We Co. Friday night, police said.

After a patrolman had reported seeing someone enter the building at 46 Seymour St., less than one block from Borucki's home, detectives and police dogs began searching the area.

Det. James V. Fitzgerald said he spotted the suspect lying on his stomach behind some barrels.

Borucki had already carted two typewriters out to his car, police said.

State News Teen Booked In Gun Death Of Man, 21

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — Police booked a teen-age boy on a charge of murder today in the fatal shooting of Jorge L. Blas, 21, on a Bridgeport street corner.

The suspect was identified as 17-year-old Cayetano Coloff Alcala of 102 Highland Ave.

The shooting occurred shortly before midnight Friday at the intersection of Highland Avenue and Harval Avenue.

The suspect and Blas quarreled, and the youth pumped several shots from a .32 caliber German automatic into the older man, police said.

Colon Alcala was taken into custody at the scene. He was held without bond.

Waits for Release. HARTFORD (AP) — Although Fred Harris Jr., leader of the New Haven Hill Parents Association, has been named to the regional advisory council of the South Central Community College, he won't be able to assume his duties until Dec. 9.

That is the day the Negro leader is scheduled to be released from Hartford State Jail after serving a 30-day term for a breach of the peace conviction. The charge arose from a 1966 welfare demonstration at State Welfare Department headquarters.

The 25-man council, named Friday, to begin next Wednesday to select a site in the New Haven area for a two-year community college. The institution plans to begin classes in September, 1968.

$4,000 Safe Robbery. STAMFORD (AP) — Police were searching Friday for burglars who apparently broke into a company building through a roof entrance and took some $4,000 from a safe.

Police said the money was taken from an office safe of the Pickwick Ice Cream Co.

More Bus Mediation. WETHERSFIELD (AP) — State mediators are to resume efforts Monday at setting a 27-day bus strike which has forced some 50,000 residents in southwestern Connecticut to seek other transportation.

Negotiations between the Connecticut Railway & Lighting Co. and striking Amalgamated Transit Workers members broke off Friday without reports of settlement progress.

Bond Prices Fall Sharply With Pound

NEW YORK (AP) — Bond prices fell sharply Monday after devaluation of the British pound and an increase in the U.S. Discount rate but staged a comeback later in the week.

The recovery apparently was sparked by revival of hope that President Johnson's surtax proposal bill will be enacted before Congress adjourns, according to Salomon Brothers & Hutzler, a Wall Street bond house.

Price fluctuations in government bonds were particularly wide. A strong rally late Monday and Tuesday more than offset the 1 1/2-point opening loss. Most of this rally, however, was lost at the close.

sharply to the highest levels since late 1966 and early 1967. While Treasury bill rates tended to back down from their opening rise, most other types of short-term yields remained at their highs. At present, rate levels secondary market certificates of deposit are still about 40 basis points below their highs of the crunch last year, while Treasury bills are still as much as 80 basis points below their 1966 highs.

Corporate bond prices were unchanged to a little better for the week. A decline in the estimated level of new issue yields, however, contrasted with some net price losses in recent issues.

During the rally at mid-week several of the previous week's undistributed corporate offerings sold out.

The postponement of virtually all of the week's important new bond issues took some of the pressure off the market. This reduced the November calendar to about 475 million, the lightest volume since January. Thus far the December calendar totals about $850 million.

The municipal bond market sold off from 10 to 20 basis points at the opening but later erased about three-fourths of these yield advances. New issues were generally well received but at very high yields.

Metric Contract Likely. WASHINGTON — A new air-to-ground missile program may become the first U.S. weapons system developed and produced in terms of the metric system of measurement. The $200 million Maverick contract may pave the way for U.S. conversion to metric measurement.

Four Arrested In Heroin Probe In Hartford

HARTFORD (AP) — Three men and a woman have been arrested and three others are being sought as the result of a joint local and federal roundup of suspected heroin pushers.

Three of the suspects were arrested here Friday and charged with the sale of heroin. The fourth was taken into custody by federal agents in New York City.

Federal and local authorities armed with a search warrant arrested Gasaway Ware, 45, and Miss Gwendolyn Calhoun, 55, in an apartment at 147 Magnolia St.

Both suspects, who listed the Magnolia Street address, were released. Ware on a $5,000 signature bond and Miss Calhoun without bond under the condition that she spend from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. daily with her three children.

Hartford police earlier arrested Donald Mahone, 25, of Hartford outside a Main Street restaurant.

Held in New York was Joseph Richardson, also of Hartford. He was also charged with the sale of heroin.

Names of the other three suspects sought in connection with the roundup were not disclosed.

Issuance of the seven warrants by U.S. Commissioner Thomas F. Parker followed a lengthy investigation of alleged narcotics traffic in the Hartford area by the Federal Bureau of Narcotics, officials said.

Finance Head Offers Program In State Deficit

HARTFORD (AP) — A three-point plan to help Connecticut keep down expenditures in the face of an estimated $40.3 million budget deficit has been proposed by the state finance commissioner.

However, Commissioner George J. Conkling said Friday that he informed department and agency heads that no general cutbacks are planned.

The deficit forecast was made two weeks ago by Louis I. Gladstone, state comptroller. He said Connecticut could end up $40.3 in the red June 30, 1969, the end of the current biennium.

Conkling's proposed program: —All new programs are to be held in abeyance, at least until the overall fiscal situation warrants proceeding. He said a careful review will be made of every program, already started, which might be slowed down or discontinued without undue difficulty or loss.

Plans to upgrade services will be postponed. There is to be no lowering of operating standards below those of 1966-67. However, "We are not, at this time, in a position to raise qualitative levels," he said.

—As an extension of the campaign already launched to cancel unneeded vacancies, every effort will be made to achieve savings in the carrying on of established programs and activities without sacrificing acceptable levels of service.

Until the middle of this year, Communist defections had been running more than double the rate for the same period the year before.

Officials were unsure why the defections have dropped recently, but they noted that present military action mostly involves North Vietnamese regulars rather than the Viet Cong, the Viet Cong have launched a major propaganda campaign against the Chieu Hoi program, those most receptive to appeals may already have defected and the new government in Saigon is an unknown quantity to the Viet Cong.

Seventy-five civilians were reported killed by the Viet Cong last week, officials said, and another 153 civilians were wounded and 261 kidnaped.

This year there have been 3,300 civilians killed, 6,514 wounded and 4,287 abducted, according to official statistics.

Lynda, Fiance Will Be Feted

DALLAS, Tex. (AP) — Lynda Bird Johnson and her fiance, Marine Capt. Charles S. Robb, fly to Houston today for the second in a series of pre-nuptial parties honoring the couple this weekend.

Guests from the worlds of finance, sports and entertainment gathered to honor Miss Johnson and Capt. Robb in Dallas Friday night.

The President's daughter and Robb are to be married Dec. 9 at the White House.

At the Black-tie dinner dance held at the fashionable Dallas Club on the 50th floor of the Republic National Bank tower were mainly friends of Miss Johnson's, members of the bird party, and selected others.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Woodward, longtime friends of the Johnsons, members of the bride's court, Oreta Culp Hobby, publisher of the Houston Post, will be hosts at the party in Houston tonight.

Drive-in Open Despite Fire

The fire at Dec's drive-in on Center St. yesterday did not do sufficient damage to force closing of the restaurant, it was reported this morning. It is open for business.

Roof timbers were burned by the fire that started in grease and the flames were sucked into the vent by the smoke ejection system.

Max von Sydow as Mr. Frank consoling his daughter, played by Diane Davila, in "The Diary of Anne Frank" Sunday, 9 to 11 p.m.

The Lead Was in Lima, Peru

NEW YORK — Diane Davila was in her parents' home in Lima, Peru, a little over a year ago when a cable arrived. Could she come to New York to test for the title role in the television version of "The Diary of Anne Frank" which Talent Associates was preparing to tape for ABC?

She was en route within the day.

The results of that hectic trip will be manifest Sunday 9 to 11 p.m. when Diane makes her television debut as the doomed heroine of "Anne Frank," just as Susan Stras-berg made her first Broadway appearance in that same role in 1955.

For producer David Suskind and director Alex Segal, Diane's discovery was as manna from Heaven. Having already signed a major cast, including Max von Sydow, Lilli Palmer, Viveca Lindfors, Donald Pleasance, Theodore Bikel and Maria Favan, they saw their costly production in danger of being delayed for lack of an appropriate Anne. Over 400 young actresses had already been auditioned, with no appreciable results. Then casting director Alan Shayne remembered Diane and tracked her down in Peru.

Diane was born in the United States of a Chilean mother, whose father had been Chilean Ambassador in Washington, and a Cuban father who was serving as Director of the United Nations Information Center. As her father moved around the diplomatic route, Diane lived successively in Greece, the Philippines, Rome and Peru, during which peregrinations she learned to speak English, Spanish, French and Italian. That Fickle Public

NEW YORK (AP) — That fickle public that picks up a show, gives it a ratings whirl then, bored, drops it, is not really as faithless as it is reputed to be.

The A. C. Nielsen Company, which projects the vital statistics by which television programs live and die, recently came up with a list of 35 programs that between 1961 and 1966 consistently stayed in its "top 20" popularity list for at least four seasons.

An amazing number of them—about one fourth of the list—are still on top. The all-time champs, each with 12 years to their credits, are Ed Sullivan and Red Skelton. Sullivan first made the top 20 in 1951, and Skelton, the following year.

Lucille Ball, first with "I Love

Lucy" and then "The Lucy Show" has 10 years on top. Jackie Gleason and "Gunsmoke" have seven; Andy Griffith and "Bonanza", six, and "Dragnet," five.

This suggests strongly that once members of the television audience finds someone and something they really like, they stick with it indefinitely.

But not always. "You Bet

Your Life," the Groucho Marx comedy-quiz programs, had eight years in the top 20—then slid into oblivion. Arthur Godfrey's "Talent Scouts" was a hit for six seasons and "Arthur Godfrey and His Friends" for four. Attempts to revive the former have not amounted to much, and the other show died quietly years ago.

The 15 year reprise of hits recalled some shows that have been almost forgotten, but once were prime favorites. There was "This is Your Life," "Your Hit Parade," "December Bride," "Fireside Theater," as well as Milton Berle's early "Texaco Star Theatre."

The "Philco TV Playhouse," now one of the legendary series of early television, made the top 20 lists between 1951 and 1954, proving that the public once had an appetite for anthology dramas.

Who are the Johnny-come-latelies for future lists like the 1961-66 roundup. Dean Martin, for one, seems to be developing the kind of hard-core audience necessary for high ratings—even with tough feature movie competition. "Bewitched" remains popular year after year, and so do "Gomer Pyle" and "Hogan's Heroes" no matter how often their network switches their positions in the schedule.

Soggy

Thanksgiving was a great day for football, but a poor day for the televised parades, especially in soggy New York. One of the great public displays of fortitude took place during the NBC broadcast of the New York festivities when, in the middle of a number by the American Opera Company ballet, the drizzle turned into a downpour—and they carried on without missing a step, without losing their smiles.

The Lead

she returned to New York, it was in the company of not one but two dummies, her own and her mother's old chaperone, who were to supervise her activities, Latin-American style.

In 1955, a family friend introduced Diane to Ovaldo Rios-Ramos, the director who was about to stage a Spanish version of "Romeo and Juliet" for Joseph Papp's New York Shakespeare Festival's Mobile Theatre, and the young actress made her debut as Juliet in Central Park, thereafter traveling with that production throughout four of the city's five boroughs.

Diane studied acting for a year with Herbert Berghof and Uta Hagen, and last summer appeared as Hermia in Cyril Ritchard's production of "A Midsummer Night's Dream" at Stratford, Conn., just after completing the taping of "The Diary of Anne Frank." Earlier this season she made her Broadway debut as Alfred Drake's daughter in "Song of the Grasshopper" and the week that "Anne Frank" is televised she goes into rehearsal for "The Prime of Miss Jean Brodie," due in New York in mid-January.

Now that Diane is definitely launched in her acting career, she has few regrets about leaving Lima, where the family settled after her father's retirement. "The only course for a proper young girl there is to get married and have lots of children," she said. "This is so much more exciting. Mother has come to New York for a while and we're looking for an apartment, so it's not really as though I left everything behind."

Musing about Anne Frank, whose diary was published the very year Diane was born, the actress has one overwhelming feeling: "I could never have been as brave as she was."

"HONDO" GOING
 NEW YORK (AP)—ABC has decided, after all, to drop its new western series, "Hondo" after the Dec. 29 show. It will be replaced the following Friday with a new western, "Operation: Stormfront," which will consist of variety shows taped before audiences of servicemen. The pilot show was shot earlier this month before some Marines at Camp Pendleton, Calif. Various show business personalities will serve as one-shot hosts.

A Tough Producer With Story of Hope

NEW YORK (AP) — This has not been a particularly impressive season for documentary programs with the exception of "Africa," ABC's four hour study early in September. But good, bad or indifferent, they fall into two basic types of presentation.

There is the "information documentary," which is usually a service type of program and, as one network executive explained, "You take a subject and make pictures about it, and then you add a voice that tells you the meaning of what you are seeing."

The other type, utilizing a familiar journalistic technique, tackles a big dramatic issue and explores it in terms of a little story "microcosm" such as showing the drug problem in terms of one man's addiction.

Lester Cooper, who makes documentaries for ABC, prefers the latter. And next Monday night his half hour special, "Can You Hear Me?" is very special to him. It will tell the story of a little girl named Beth Ann who is 2 1/2 years old and who was born deaf. It shows how she has been learning with the help of infinitely patient and gentle family members and teachers to break out of that silent, lonely prison.

Cooper, a sensitive man of middle years, has made excellent documentaries on air pollution, narcotic addiction, Negro slums, the Vietnam war—all the big, pressing subjects so dear to documentary makers.

But this program is different, for Lester Cooper himself is partially deaf. He has undergone several operations but now has lost all hearing in one ear because of nerve destruction. So the problems of the deaf are close to him, particularly those of children who have never been able to hear the sound of a human voice.

"I think this is basically a story of hope," he said. "It is essentially an effort to reach parents and show them that something can be done. I don't know exactly how many children have hearing problems but I do know the number has increased enormously since the rubella epidemic of 1964—German measles often affects the nerves of the ears."

He chose Los Angeles' John Tracy Clinic—founded by Mrs. Spencer Tracy whose son was
