Purdy-Meikle

Mrs. Susan Gale Meikle of Simsbury and George Jeffrey Purdy of Manchester exchanged vows Saturday afternoon at the First Church of Christ, Simsbury.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Leung Meikle of Simsbury. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John M. Purdy of 665 Porter St.

The Rev. Lyman G. Potter of the First Church of Christ performed the double-ring ceremony. The bride was given in marriage by her father.

Mrs. Dorothy Dommel of Westfield, Mass., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Purdy Jr. of Manchester, sister-in-law of the bridegroom; Miss Lynn Clark of Ellington and Miss Mary Ellen Mauley of Eastchester, N. Y.

John Purdy Jr. of Manchester served as his brother's best man. Ushers were Douglas B. Meikle of Simsbury, brother of the bride, and Larry Dikana and Richard Dotchin, both of Manchester.

Reception for 175 at the Avon Golf Club, the couple left on a skiing trip to Vermont and to the White Mountains after Dec. 9.

Wedding

Hulse - Darby of Flemington, N.J., became the bride of Dr. Charles Orcutt Hulse of 41 Morse Rd. Saturday afternoon at the Baptist Church in Flemington.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Thomas Leslie Darby of Flemington and the late Mr. Darby. The bridegroom is a son of Dr. and Mrs. Russell August Hulse of Abury Park, N.J.

The Rev. Edward Chapin Dunbar of the Flemington Baptist Church performed the ceremony.

Mrs. Catharine Janet Darby of Flemington, N.J., was matron of honor. Bridesmaids were Mrs. John Hulse of Flemington, N.J., and Francis Galasso of Manchester.

Warren Tice of Manchester was maid of honor. Ushers were Ervin F. Doyle of Troy, N.H., and Francis Galasso of Manchester.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother.

Mrs. Hulse, a graduate of Bennington (Vt.) College, was her master's assistant at the University of Connecticut, Storrs. She also served as a first lieutenant in the U.S. Air Force. Both are employed at the Research Laboratories, General Electric, Hartford.

After a wedding trip to the Bahamas Islands, the couple will live in Manchester.

Dress Styles Go Romantic

By JEAN SPRAIN WILSON AP Fashion Editor NEW YORK (AP) — The word around America's style center is that the romantic look is coming back.

Women, now that they have proven their independence, are back wanting to look like women. Being romantic is suddenly dandy!

Thus, some dress manufacturers are putting the waistline back in its place. Wide belts and sashes cinch it in most upcoming collections. Or princess line costumes emphasize it.

The bust is back, too. Instead of a topless dress, it is a tan-talting plunging neckline that gets more gita than others, etc.

Long sleeves are in. Part of this is because Lynda Bird likes them. She has insisted on them for her wedding dress. After all, the President's elder daughter and her Chuck Robb are the 1967 romance of the year.

So are fluttering skirts. Pleats, gores, even gathered, action-built into the new clothes for spring. They behave themselves much better than sheath dresses in the era of the brief hemline. And a well-behaved skirt is much more romantic than one that lets all a girl's inside secrets.

On the other hand, some designers are looking to the romantic past for inspiration. Robin Hood's men and the days and Knights of King Arthur are the kind of costume romance that many stylists are borrowing. Of course, the movie spectacular, "Camelot," did its part to whip up enthusiasm for the Medieval days. The Medieval times are back far enough, as far as the designers are concerned. Nobody wants to go back as far as the first romance couple, Adam and Eve. After all, they did not have a very large wardrobe from which to steal ideas.

A Censur Quirk SHAWNEE, Okla. — This city's 1966 census population (24,229) is far larger than the population of Boston, Mass., as reported in the first decennial census (1790) when there were 18,300 Bostonians.

Christmas-Messenger

Concordia Lutheran Church was the scene Saturday morning of the wedding of Miss Madeline Florence Slade of Manchester to Edward Victor Pyka of Tolland.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Slade of 101 E. Middle Pyka. The bridegroom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Pyka of Rt. 74, Tolland.

The Rev. Joseph E. Bourvel performed the double-ring ceremony. White flowers were on the altar. David Almond of Vernon was the organist. The Concordia Church Choir sang special music.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a full-length gown of pastel-colored fabric with empire waist, long pointed sleeves and chapel train trimmed with lace applique and seed pearls. Her elbow-length bouffant veil of silk illusion was arranged from a crown of seed pearls and she carried a bouquet of white butterfly roses with green holly and coffee leaves.

Miss Barbara J. Bojornit of 105 E. Middle Pyka, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Shirley Nelson of Cromwell, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. John Hulse of Tolland, sister of the bridegroom. They all wore full-length gowns of ruffled red velvet with matching satin trains. They were matching open-toe high-heeled shoes with circular veils, and carried white veiled muffs with a spray of red tea roses and holly.

A reception for 200 was held at Schaub's Restaurant, East Windsor. For a motor trip to a ski resort in Quebec, Canada, Mrs. Pyka wore a pink wool dress with light brown accessories. She wore a corsage of yellow cymbidium orchids.

A reception was held at Willet's Steak House for 140 guests.

Land at Highway Junction Zoned for Commercial Use

The Planning and Zoning Commission granted a zone change from light industrial to commercial for a plot of land at the junction of Rt. 190 and the Wilbur Cross Highway after a brief public hearing last night. No opposition to the request was voiced.

The property is owned by Warren and Nelson Götter, who sought the zone change because of inquiries received from various commercial sources, according to Atty. Herbert Hamanbury of Vernon, who represented the owners.

Hamanbury did not state the type of business interested in purchasing the property, although many rumors have been circulating around town.

He did say the Tolland Industrial Development Commission has a prospect which would be "very favorable to the town."

Hamanbury stressed the lack of commercial activity in the town, in his request, noting the net annual expenditure per family in Tolland is "only the size of Vermont." The average expenditure for a town the size of Tolland should be about $1,200 according to the attorney.

The all-women jury of assessors is that there is no place in town to spend the money, he noted, despite the town's limited population in excess of 7,000 people.

The hearing was attended by only three residents other than the applicants, the PZC and the press, and took about an hour. The zone change affects parcel 17 on the town zoning map, plus additional land extending into the marsh shown on the East 99 intersection are now zoned commercial.

Pending Court Case The PZC received a letter from the law firm of Greene and Bloom in Hartford, notifying it of a pending court action against the PZC over the lot size change instituted a year ago.

Atty. Barry Greely, representing the Lipton Realty Co., developers of the Sugar Hill subdivision on Kealey Rd., requested a meeting with the commission to suggest an out of court settlement prior to the court action. The PZC will be listing its next meeting dates.

Lipton Realty claims the showing of a portion of the deed indicating the land around the developed section of the subdivision, constituted the PZC's approval of the lots, thereby exempting them from the one-acre 200-foot frontage requirements.

The PZC agreed to send the town health inspector and sanitary inspector to the property today, to check on reports of septic tanks in new houses on the site, which are supposedly over flowing. The houses were built this year.

The commission also authorized member Cliff Williams to accompany zoning supervisor Carmelo Zanghi to inspect construction of the roads in the Valley View subdivision, presently being developed by Isidore Cause.

Christmas Education Building. Twenty-two members of the Rockville High School choir will present a program of Christmas music under the direction of Miss Ellen Sullivan, at the public is invited.

The Couples Club will hold "Little Italian Christmas" at the home of the James Rock on Chapel Lake Rd. Saturday evening. Reservations may be made by calling Ann Rock or writing to the 4:30 Mass on the Wilbur Cross Highway after 5:30 p.m. on Saturday evening. The couples club will meet tomorrow night, as part of the Christmas potluck supper event, at the church.

White gifts will be received and distributed at the Dec. 11 church school worship service of the church. The gifts will be taken to Avery Home in Hartford where pastor emeritus Dr. William C. H. Moe is a resident. Suggested items for the gifts are diabetic cookies or cakes, shaving lotion and knick knacks for window sills. The Balaista Board of the Ways and Means Committee of the Tolland Junior Women's Club will meet tomorrow at 2 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Gerald Pasternak, Crestwood Dr.

St. Matthew's Men's Choir will sing at the 4:30 Mass on the Wilbur Cross Highway after 5:30 p.m. on Saturday evening. The couples club will meet tomorrow night, as part of the Christmas potluck supper event, at the church.

St. Matthew's Christmas potluck supper, sponsored by the Holy Name Society and the Ladies Guild, will follow the 4:30 Mass on the Wilbur Cross Highway after 5:30 p.m. on Saturday evening. The couples club will meet tomorrow night, as part of the Christmas potluck supper event, at the church.

The Tolland Volunteer Fire Department is seeking games, toys and clothing, suitable for girls from 3 to 12 years of age, and for boys 8 to 11 years, for Santa's Workshop. Donations may be left at either the Mercey or Leonard's Corner Firehouses. Manchester Evening Herald Tolland correspondent Betty Quatralie, telephone 875-2845.

Carols on Records Offer Big Variety

By MARY CAMPBELL AP Newsfeatures Writer

New Christmas carol albums are out in force and variety again this year. There are three new ones by women singers, some from the mena, some instrumental and a few others peeping out of the musical Christmas stocking.

Barbra Streisand's powerful, clear voice gives us "A Christmas Album" on Columbia. On one side she sings secular songs like "White Christmas" and "My Favorite Things." On the other side she sings the religious, "Silent Night," "Ave Maria," "I Wonder as I Wander," "The Lord's Prayer."

She is always dramatic, be it an unusual aria or a traditional "White Christmas" or the slow importance of "Silent Night." Ella Fitzgerald's "Christmas" on Capitol includes 12 carol hymns. She sings with the Ralph Carmichael chorus and orchestra. Miss Fitzgerald can sing anything and so, of course, she can sing carols. But the arrangement here, the chorus and carols are intermingled, often instrumental, often with accompaniment on so strong that they overpower her. We're hearing Floyd Cramer's piano, unpretentious and lovely, is featured in "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" by RCA. There are 23 tunes mostly played as medleys. Bouncy numbers are on quieter and the orchestration is less complicated, as on "Silent Night," "Miss Fitzgerald's Christmas" is unsurpassed.

Best arranged of the albums by the women is "A Christmas Treasury," by Julie Andrews, on RCA. Big orchestra effects come while she is not singing. The harpsichord is often used, as on "Oh Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Greenleaves." Miss Andrews has lovely tone, enunciation and high notes.

She sings 14 carols, though we are familiar with plus several from the British Isles. Best voice among the men singers is Ingvar Wixell, a 36-year-old baritone. Although he sings in Swedish, "Christmas Music of Sweden" on Capitol, is good to listen to even if you can't understand the words.

Next comes Ed Ames, singing in English on RCA's "Christmas with Ed Ames." Ames sings with wonder, feeling and warmth. The first two are songs, "Deck the Halls" and "Let it Snow!" and the rest are carols.

There's a discreet use of choir on "Joy to the World" and "wonderful spiritual, "Sweet Little Jesus Boy."

"Traditional Christmas Carols," sung by Pete Seeger for Folkways, gives us 13 of what are described as "folk compositions of great antiquity."

Seeger sings these well and accompanies himself on the guitar. Most are not well known, but all are lovely. Titles include "O Holy Night," "The First Noel," "Twas on a Night Like This," "What Child is This?" "The First Noel."

A folder with the recording gives verses and choruses and the tune for singing. History of the songs is not given.

PLEASANT LISTENING Mike Douglas, singing "My Kind of Christmas" for Epic, has a nice voice, not great. He sings familiar carols and tells one story of a little girl who worked in the Bethlehem inn on Christmas eve.

Also among the pleasant are five Fredricka sold in stores that "The Sound of Music," on Crest, sell stamps. These tracks are taken from well-loved old Cap-

You Should Know... William R. Schaller

"An $11 million a year business, such as Schaller's, doesn't run itself," says Town Director William R. Schaller, "and, in many respects, it must be operated like a private business."

"And, that's how I approach it," he adds. Instead of 2,000 customers, we have approximately 200. It is a case of keeping as many of them happy as possible."

Schaller is a Manchester native who never participated in politics until May of last year when, as a registered Republican, he was asked by his town committee to run for the Board of Directors.

"Why did he accept the invitation? For two reasons, he explains.

First, because he had always been interested in politics. He studied political science while attending St. Michael's College and the University of Connecticut.

Second, and he says the more important, because he was dissatisfied with the way some previous boards had been handling things.

"I didn't think they were attentive to the wishes of the people," he says now.

"People may not always be right in their thinking, but right or wrong, they are the people and they elect officials to reflect that thinking," he insists.

"For the most part, he says, the present board has succeeded in following the wishes of the people.

But, he has one complaint. "The problem," he says, "is communication. We don't know always how they feel and we must use our judgment."

Spending only for himself, he says, "I have lived in Manchester all my life and I approach problems on the basis of what is best for the town. My many contacts with people over the years have helped me form these opinions."

He continually returns to the subject of people and their wishes. "It is important for us on the board to use people as a sounding board."

One of his principal sounding boards is the public comment sessions the directors conduct twice a month.

Schaller has yet to fail to sit in on at least one session each month.

He makes certain that the comments, suggestions and criticisms are always directed to the manager and to the appropriate town department for follow-up.

"I'm happy to serve and I'm glad I was elected to the board," he says. "It's a very challenging and rewarding. My one complaint of it is that it takes more time than I expected."

"Manchester's problems have been growing for a long time and they keep growing," Schaller says, "and we'll never solve them in one fell swoop. It's completely unrealistic to even think so."

He continues, "It's the modern problems that are the easiest to solve—the old ones take longer and, if we can solve one or two at a time, that's all we can expect."

Schaller says he thinks the town will have to face up to accepting bond issues for some of the most pressing problems, such as sewers, sidewalks and some school repairs."

He sees no need for a new Municipal Building now. If the town builds a new Lincoln School, he says, the old one would be ideal for a Municipal Building annex.

He says that he doesn't foresee the need for any substantial rise in the tax rate for taking care of the operating budget.

"Since we can solve only one problem at a time, our normal Grand List rate should supply sufficient increased tax revenues for most of living, budget increases," he notes.

Schaller has become the board's leader in probing into administrative procedures. His questioning is always in the forefront, seeking answers to unexplained questions and problems.

"I like to be blunt, and I want the answers," he says. "I don't like politicians to speak for hours and say nothing. If something bothers me, I get it off my chest. My approach to town problems is not an accident and not newly acquired."

He is vice president and general manager of Manchester Motor Sales, a long-time Oldsmobile agency, founded by his father. He was virtually raised in a business atmosphere, from the time he was born, Sept. 20, 1929 in Manchester.

He graduated from St. James' School and from St. Thomas Seminary and attended St. Michael's College and the University of Connecticut. In addition, he has a certificate from the General Motors Institute.

He is a past president of the Young Managers Club of Oldsmobile and is a past secretary and present treasurer of the Manchester Automobile Dealers Association.

He is a past president of the Manchester Exchange Club, is a charter member of Manchester Lodge of Elks and was vice president of the Bentley School PTA.

He served in the U.S. Air

Prince Plays Cello
CAMBRIDGE, England (AP) — Prince Charles, Britain's future king, played the cello in the Trinity College orchestra in Cambridge Monday night.

Charles, 18, sat in the back row of the cello section for the concert, which included Mozart's Magic Flute Overture, Beethoven's Fifth Symphony and Weber's Bassoon Concerto. Conductor Giles Swayne, 21, said: "The prince is a very competent player and is very willing to take criticism."

"Like all other members of the orchestra, he gets plenty of it."

Charles is a freshman at Cambridge University, where he is studying anthropology.

Gov. Hughes Surgery
TRENTON, N.J. (AP) — Gov. Richard J. Hughes of New Jersey will be operated on Friday for the removal of a cataract from his right eye.

Hughes, in the University of Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia, is recuperating from the removal of a cataract from his left eye last Wednesday.

The second operation was announced by the Democratic governor's office Monday. It will be early in the morning as was the first one.

Hughes, 65, is expected to be out of the hospital by Christmas but his recuperation period will last four to six weeks.

Capote to Alabama
MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Author Truman Capote returned to Alabama, his boyhood home, Monday for the filming of another of his stories.

Capote, accompanied by Princess Lee Radziwill, sister of Mrs. John F. Kennedy, said he would also have a reunion with his father, an aunt, and "some cousins" who are coming to see him.

The film is "The Thanksgiving Visitor" which will be shown on ABC television in January. Production is now under way in his rural The Road section of Montgomery County.

United After 43 Years
CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — For 43 years Jung Wing has been patient.

In 1924 at the age of 39 he left a wife, a son and a daughter near Canton, China, and went to Canada to seek his fortune.

Decades crept by. He moved to Birmingham, S.C., Norfolk, Va. and then to Charlotte, where he has lived and worked since 1944.

By the end of World War II his own children had died and his wife, Leui Chan Jung, a daughter-in-law and a grandson moved to Hong Kong.

Quota limitations made it difficult for Jung Wing to get his family here but he persisted.

Meeting Planned By Waddell PTA

The Waddell PTA will hold a special family meeting tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the school auditorium.

A seasonal program has been arranged for parents and their children. It will feature the Rev. Donald Wilson of Second Congregational Church in his "Let's Talk Magic" show. He will be followed by a "Folk Sing Along" with the Depot Folk Singers of Manchester.

There will be no business meeting, but PTA memberships will be available at the door.

NOW, THE ELECTRIC STAR
NEPTUNE CITY, N.J. (AP) — The star, popularized by Ray Charles of India and George Harrison of the Beatles, has gone the way of the guitar.

It has been electric.

The star, a classical instrument of Indian music, with movable frets, six strings and 19 sympathetic strings, takes years to learn. The electric star, with six strings and 19 sympathetic strings, can be played by the guitarist in any rock 'n' roll group.

South Africa Making Movie On Its Ballet

FRITOTIA, South Africa (AP) — A low-budget film on South African ballet hopefully will improve this country's overseas image.

British movie director Alf Travers, scheduled to direct the first ballet film ever made in South Africa, is enthusiastic about the film's potential influence. "People abroad have little idea of the true South Africa," he said. "This film will give them an opportunity to sample the cultural side of the country through the ballet, which is top-notch."

Travers, who has filmed the Bolshoi ballet starring Ulanova and the British Royal Ballet with Margot Fonteyn, maintains that South African ballet is among the best in the world.

Unlike his other productions, and enough recruits to add 50 million-dollar class state that in fact, the budget is so tight that

The War, The U.S., The U.N.

The most glaring single fact about the war in Vietnam is that it has been a full-fledged war for nearly three years now, and that, in all that time, the United Nations has not intervened, as it did in Korea, as it did in Suez, as it did in the Congo, as it did in Cyprus.

What's wrong with the picture thus presented—a picture of the United States proposing to bring the United Nations into a responsibility it should have assumed long ago? If the United Nations does nothing now, is that not the fault of the United Nations? From now on, can't the United States proclaim that it has always been willing to have the world organization enter the situation, but that the world organization proved incapable of doing so?

The proposal the Senate refused to include in its resolution was one which, in effect, pledged the United States to accept the judgments of the United Nations which might reach on the Vietnam issue.

And the Senate debate leading up to the 82 to 0 vote illustrated, again and again, that the dominant objective of the leading proponents of the resolution seemed to be to prove that the blame for United Nations inaction was not ours, but that of somebody else.

It is a move more likely to make the exclusion of the United Nations from the issue final than it is to bring the United Nations in. And the silly, posterous thing is that it would be read into the record, by some, as a serious effort on our part to have the United Nations become involved.

May Go As High As 20%: We trust that all believers in intelligent investment have been waiting with proper suspense for the latest statistics on the dollar return from a college education. As compiled by economists, working from a comparison of information provided by the 1950 and 1960 censuses, the rate of dollar yield is on the way up.

Varieties of Vandalism

In a property-conscious society vandalism is a type of behavior that arouses fierce passions. The deliberate destruction or desecration of property represents not just a financial loss but a total invasion of the ethics of possession.

One American study distinguishes three types: predatory, vindictive, and wanton. Predatory vandalism covers damage done for "useful" reasons: smashing and looting parking meters or gas meters. Contrary to public opinion, much telephone vandalism is of this type; at least half the damage is to get money from the coin box.

By far the largest category is wanton vandalism; this includes all the acts which don't fit into the other categories and are therefore labeled "senseless" or "aimless." Almost no type of property is immune. Acts may take the form of destruction, as in the case of the children who destroyed the property of the United States.

Another important fact about vandalism is that it is, as a whole, a group and not an individual offense. The social influence of the group is a powerful motivating force. In an adolescent group where there is a strong need for approval from one's peers, this effect might explain how the incidents in the White House occurred.

There is a final motivating factor which may disturb many well meaning people. It is possible that some ways of trying to control vandalism are not only more expensive than the damage they are supposed to prevent but in fact, might cause more damage. It is probable that television and press publicity have this effect.

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—The evolution of President Johnson's tax disagreements with Representative Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas into a full-blown vendetta is evident in the obscure fact that a widow from Arkansas named W.F. Norrell.

Now, however, Mrs. Norrell's job is being quietly eliminated, and she may soon be off the government payroll. To Mills, this looks like part of a Presidential vendetta against him.

It is no isolated incident. Mills has notified to include Congress members that Presidential committee shears have been sharper in his district than elsewhere, slashing public works of all kinds.

Another important fact about vandalism is that it is, as a whole, a group and not an individual offense. The social influence of the group is a powerful motivating force.

There is a final motivating factor which may disturb many well meaning people. It is possible that some ways of trying to control vandalism are not only more expensive than the damage they are supposed to prevent but in fact, might cause more damage.

A Thought for Today

Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

Hail to the Coming King... Blessed be the King who comes in the name of the Lord. (Luke 19:38)

Astronaut John Glenn, the United States' first man to orbit the earth, was overwhelmed by the outpouring of New Yorkers who honored him following his successful flight in the space ship Friendship 7.

Between the illustrious past of Campaign Consultants and the potentially illustrious future of these Boston political experts are heading toward with Romney in New Hampshire, the interview in question left a certain gap.

Today we can't wave palms in Jerusalem or throw ticker-tape out of New York towers to honor Christ as King. We don't need to. We honor Christ when we humbly, yet confidently, take our place in His Kingdom and let His love sweep over our every thought, word and action.

Manchester Memorial Hospital Women's Auxiliary votes to present Mrs. Tassalon, Congresswoman for the hospital, with a check for $700 at its annual ball, and one of the first in the hospital was another incubator.

Tolland Courses Started 8 Years Ago For Learning Disabilities

Tolland was the first town in the state to recognize the education of the perceptually handicapped student as part of the responsibility of the public school system, according to Mrs. Paul Meyer, local teacher of the perceptually handicapped.

The town undertook the educating of one affected child eight years ago. The program has been expanded to include seven children with learning disabilities this year, according to guidance director Andrew Winans.

The local program has evolved from education on a tutorial basis with Mrs. Meyer to the regular program developed by Winans with the assistance of the State Department of Education.

Special Classes Held: There is no stigma attached to the child who uses the special facilities, he explained. The education of the handicapped is a normal procedure except for regularly scheduled periods during which he receives special attention.

The Monitor interview, however, did seem to offer two direct sidelights on that 1960 adventure into Connecticut politics. Apparently, either before or after the Connecticut experience, the Boston experts formulated for themselves a formula of involvement and responsibility which Mr. Goldberg expressed in the interview in the following language: "We are not willing to come out ourselves totally in state campaigns. It would eliminate us from participating partially in a number of campaigns, which we want to do. If you assume total management of a campaign you do not and cannot provide the kind of objective that a consultant can bring to bear."

We think we can testify, from our own reading back, that the Boston group never did have "total management" of the 1966 Congress campaign. Nobody did. Another remark in the same interview gave some possible indication of why the Boston experts were not taken more seriously by their 1966 Connecticut employer. He and his associates, Mr. Goldberg said, had begun as amateurs, but had found that "it is almost imperative to turn professional and be paid on payment, and good payment if you wish to have an active part in the election process."

We don't recall the exact amount of the bill rendered for the Congress campaign, but apparently it wasn't quite high enough to command real attention for the good advice it offered. One more sidelight comes into focus. We now begin to understand why all the good advice provided by Connecticut's own political experts—all of us were full of it—was never taken, never put to use. We were all pouring it into free.

Wallace Sees Shifting in School Rule

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Gov. Lurien Wallace predicted today that the U.S. Supreme Court ruling upholding court-ordered desegregation in Alabama's public schools would be reversed.

The court affirmed Monday a three-judge panel's March 22 decree. Mrs. Wallace made a brief statement to newsmen at the Capitol, calling the ruling "a part of the master plan being pushed and sponsored by the enemies of our constitution to nationalize our schools."

She called the decision "un-American and un-Christian." She said she would lead a "massive resistance" to the ruling. Wallace, campaigning in San Bernardino, Calif., to put his American Independent Party on California's primary ballot, predicted that the court would extend the desegregation order throughout the nation.

Labor Supports LBJ But Expects Return

By NEIL GILBRIDE
Associated Press Labor Writer
MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP) — AFL-CIO leaders, throwing their support to re-election in 1968, are serving notice they will demand more from the Democratic administration and Congress on many labor issues.

"The United States, in the familiar phrase, can easily afford 'guns and butter,'" said George Meany, president of the 14 million member labor federation, in pledging support of both Johnson's Vietnam war policies and social programs at home.

"This is the program that I say here right now is the program of Lyndon Johnson, and labor must back that program and must get Lyndon Johnson the type of Congress that can put the program over," Meany said.

Meany lambasted administration officials as "stupid" for allowing the U.S. Merchant Fleet to deteriorate in time of Johnson on Vietnam but demand more "quid pro quo" return from the Johnson administration on labor problems.

Hall privately voiced the same view a year ago, but said nothing publicly, reportedly out to the AFL-CIO's policy making Executive Council.

"The fact is that without 'but' the solution of the urban

Four Nation Rescue Effort Saves Doctor

LONDON (AP) — A combined operation by four countries rescued an injured British doctor from the antarctic today, the British Antarctic Survey reported.

Authorities in the United States, Falkland Islands, New Zealand and Britain were asked to help after Dr. John Brotherhood and Jim Shircliffe were on a one-day expedition from the survey base at Halley Bay, on the Weddell Sea.

Brotherhood suffered serious injuries to his back and face. The men were returned to base by a search party. Over a radio link, the health officer in Stanley, Falkland Islands, advised immediate evacuation for the treatment.

Sir Vivian Fuchs, director of the survey, contacted the National Science Foundation in Washington which asked the State Department and U.S. Navy for assistance.

The U.S. task force commander in Christchurch, New Zealand, prepared two planes to fly to Halley Bay, refueling at the South Pole.

Probers Told Poor Negroes Don't See Rights Advances

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal official has told the White House panel probing urban rioting that to poverty stricken Negroes, recent civil rights advances are like wind over the trees. They don't see any changes.

Director Roger W. Wilkins of the Community Relations Service, in Sept. 21 testimony before the President's Advisory Commission on Civil Disorders made public today, cited as key factors in last summer's riot:

—Poor Negroes, "hemmed in by facilities, impersonal, unfeeling institutions designed for middle-class Americans, are growing more hopeless, aware of clearly losing faith in America, and the American system."

—White Americans "cannot believe that the system which serves them so well is as cruel and ruthless and brutal as the Negroes in the ghettos know it to be."

The Community Relations Service seeks to head off racial troubles by setting up talks among Negro leaders, police and federal officials in various cities.

Wilkins said it is gross understatements for American Negro institutions to touch them harshly and injuriously.

He said schools often teach them they are failures, out of the race for a good life before they start; police appear to be "constant" forces bent on preventing them from encroaching on the lives of white people; and welfare agencies neglect family life.

It is the failure of these institutions, Wilkins asserted, that led to the riots, and "the working of these institutions is reflected in decision-making priorities which send clear messages to the people in the ghettos."

He cited these two examples from Washington projects:

A planned subway system in the nation's capital projects a spur connecting downtown with the prosperous Northwest section but none for the Anacostia section, where poor Negroes live.

While Shaw Junior High School, located in a Negro area, is regarded as "shameful" because of its bad condition, no site selection had been made for a replacement "although work is progressing rapidly on development of the Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts."

It used to be that Negroes could personalize prejudice in America, but a lot of the old

Father Turns In His Son In $84,000 Bank Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — A Norwich, Conn., high school administrator has turned his son over to the Federal Bureau of Investigation after discovering the $84,000 proceeds of a Thanksgiving weekend bank robbery.

Theodore O. Kennedy uncovered the missing money on the property of his sister-in-law, Miss Jane Waters.

Kennedy said he and Allyn Brown, a Norwich lawyer, dug up a metal box containing $41,783 on Miss Waters' farm. Earlier, she had found about $40,000 hidden in her barn according to Asst. Dist. Atty. Anthony DiPaola.

Theodore O. Kennedy III, 21, and Samuel Bernthal, 20, were arraigned Monday on burglary charges in U.S. District Court in Brooklyn.

Bernthal is the son of the owner of a gift shop in Great Neck, N.Y. Both youths are students at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn.

U.S. Commissioner Salvatore T. Abruzzo set Thursday for a hearing on extraditing the youths to Connecticut. He ordered them held in $10,000 bail each.

Authorities said young Kennedy had worked last summer as a teller in the Norwich branch of a bank and had been burglarized on campus.

Bolton January Hearing Set On New Grade School

A public hearing on the proposed new elementary school and on future educational building plans will be held the second week in January, probably Jan. 8.

The Board of Education and the Public Building Commission, decided at their joint meeting last night to hold the hearing to give the public a chance to look at preliminary plans, to learn about Plan A in general and to ask questions.

A town meeting on the new school will be held later, after bonding has been arranged. At that meeting the town will be asked to accept the preliminary plans and vote the bond issue for construction of the school.

The cost of the first stage of the school has been estimated by the architects at $770,000. Stage two, to be built somewhere around 1969, is estimated at $330,000.

Plan A, proposed by the architects and endorsed by both the school board and the PBC, calls for renovation of an addition to the present elementary school, converting it into a middle school to house Grades 5-8, and the eventual construction of a cafeteria, auditorium at the high school.

The new school, taking care of kindergarten through Grade 4, is to be ready in January 1969; the middle school is asked for the fall of 1970.

400 MAIN STREET - MANCHESTER, CONN.

...the walls between classrooms are to be of the same material as the other walls—vinyl-covered gypsum—but are to be installed so that they could be easily removed if the educational program of the school demands larger areas for teaching.

Lienhard said that the demountable walls cost about $700 each.

Movable walls would run between $3,000 and $3,500 more. These would be large-panel accordion partitions, which could be operated by hand. There would be track boards on the panels.

No Demand Seen

Lienhard recommended that all the partitions be installed, or none. Otherwise, it would be "just an experiment," he said.

Dr. Joseph Castagna, superintendent of schools, was asked to describe team teaching, which would be one use of the partitions. He said that, ideally, team teaching involved both large and small movable instruction areas, but that Bolton would be operating on a much smaller scale.

He explained that the partitions had been "brought up for consideration," that they were not a demand, but that five years from now he didn't want townspeople to ask why partitions weren't considered. He suggested alternatives on the bidding, for two partitions and up to the six the school would need at the first building stage.

James Norris of the PBC said that this would be making the townspeople decide, Douglas Cheney, PBC chairman, said he could be justified satisfactorily to the town.

Mrs. Virginia Butterfield of the school board said she thought the board should have a speaker on ungraded primary school, before the board makes a decision on the partitions.

Architect Lienhard said he thought the Board of Education should make a decision on its educational program, not have the bidding dictate the program.

Alternate Bids Proposed

A motion was made to erect gypsum walls for the present, and if the board decided on team teaching in the future, to ask that the walls be changed.

School board member William Grunke said that he didn't think the board knew enough about team teaching to reach a decision, that alternate bids should be requested.

The all-purpose room was also discussed. As a cafeteria it will fold up into the wall. The chairs will be folding chairs, which can be used for assemblies also. An assembly hall, the room will seat just under 400.

Lienhard reported that the first stage of the school will

Penney High Rugged Test For Eagles

At last the long awaited basketball season is here with a majority of schools opening their doors this week. East Catholic's Eagles start the schedule tonight at 7 in a road game against Penney High in East Hartford.

Coach Don Burns has plenty of height and good depth this season, the makings of a championship team. The Eagles are a very aggressive team and have performed well in pre-season scrimmages. Tonight will tell the tale of the hard work and perhaps a bit of the forecasts for the future.

With Louisiana State Five
The family that stays together stays together. Press and Pete Maravich don't actually play together, but they are staying together in an effort to achieve common goals—winning basketball games for Louisiana State.

Two free throws by Dave Clark with 58 seconds left in an outstanding overtime Tech to a 77-75 triumph over Tampa Saturday night.

Only two members of the Top Ten—Houston and Vanderbilt—will play Monday night.

Second-ranked Houston, 2-0 led Abilene Christian by only two points, 84-82, at halftime in Houston, then the Cougars ran wild for a 90-75 victory. Abilene scored 33 points and grabbed 21 rebounds.

No. 4 Vanderbilt, 2-0, got 28 points from junior Tom Egan, eight of them on foul shots in the last two minutes, to beat Auburn 78-66 in a Southeastern Conference game at Nashville, Tenn.

Bruins' Reputation Tarnished But Hold First Place in Poll

NEW YORK (AP)—UCLA's reputation as an overpowering college basketball team was tarnished somewhat in its first game of the season, but the Bruins still managed to build a strong lead in The Associated Press' weekly poll.

The Bruins fell short of unanimous selection as the nation's No. 1 team in the initial poll of the regular campaign. They received 31 first-place votes in the first poll by sports writers and broadcasters.

Houston and Louisville, which placed second and third, respectively, each collected one vote for the No. 1 position.

UCLA, a unanimous choice as the top team in the preseason poll, accumulated 37 points in the voting announced today. Houston had 29 and Louisville had 25.

Modern Pro Grid Game Leaves Neale Cold

Desire Gone, No Tricky Vet Claims

NEW YORK (AP)—Earl "Greasy" Neale, one of football's all-time great coaching personalities, let out a personal secret today—the modern pro game leaves him cold.

"I enjoy watching them play all right; you can't drag me away from the television set on Sundays," said the gray-haired, 76-year-old stern disciplinarian of another era.

"The players—to them it seems to be just another job. He's a man going to the office from 9 to 5. I don't see the sport that was there in the old days."

Neale, an end, quarterback and fullback at West Virginia, Wesleyan, coach at Little Washington and Jefferson and Yale, coached the Philadelphia Eagles, who will be inducted tonight into the Football Hall of Fame.

Ex-Charter Oak Says Not Guilty

HARTFORD (AP)—A former pro-football player is awaiting trial after pleading not guilty to charges that he embezzled $2,500 from his former employer, the Charter Oak Bank.

The suspect, James E. Ward, 30, entered his plea Monday in U.S. District Court.

Ward was indicted July 21 by a federal grand jury on charges of embezzling $2,000 on Jan. 4 and $1,000 on Jan. 17 while he was employed by the bank as a commercial teller.

He was also charged with submitting on Jan. 17 a false balance in his accounts.

Ward was traded to the Norfolk Tides in a Continental League transaction. He has been living in Norfolk, Va., and is currently free under his own cognisance.

Engaged

The engagement of Miss Diana Theresa Mathias of East Hartford to Norman R. Cole of Manchester has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Mathias of East Hartford.

Her fiance is the son of Mrs. Adolph O'Brien of 31 Albee Dr. and the late Rene Cole. Miss Mathias, a graduate of East Hartford High School, is employed at Eastern Record Distributors, East Hartford. Mr. Cole, a graduate of Hartford Technical Institute, is employed at Pratt and Whitney, Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford. He is a member of the Army National Guard.

A 1968 fall wedding is planned.

Alfred Werber, appraiser for Agostinelli, said that the present building is in need of rehabilitation and the area is heavily business. He said that in his opinion, the erection of the proposed building by Agostinelli would not change the characteristics of the neighborhood.

Two residents of the area expressed opposition to the zone change with the objective of relocating the Agostinelli business there, Richard Piette of 24 St. John St. expressed the zone change for the proposed building stating that there is enough noise in the area as it is. Other objections were based on traffic, rubbish, and vandalism.

Meet a "lucky"

Meet a "lucky" Betty Lutsky of 105 Forest Drive, Wethersfield, has all the cooking advantages that 9 out of 10 of America's professional chefs have . . . and even a few more. She's a "lucky." She cooks with clean, modern GAS.

GAS puts Mrs. Lutsky in control . . . gives her instant heat with an infinite choice of temperatures . . . not just a few fixed dial settings. And no "hang-over" heat when she turns a burner down. Her "Burner-with-a-Brain" makes every pan an automatic cooker . . . no more burning or boil-overs. Mrs. Lutsky can program her cooking, too. The oven can be set to come on by itself . . . in time to have everything ready for dinner . . . and keep things piping hot up to four hours without over-cooking . . . in case guests are late.

And how Mrs. Lutsky loves to broil with her GAS stove! GAS lets her keep the broiler door closed . . . keep grease and smoke inside the broiler where the GAS flame actually consumes them.

Why don't you become a "lucky"? Call the Hartford Gas Company at 249-1331 or see your appliance dealer today about an economical, new GAS range.

Police Head In Arkansas Put in Jail

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — State Police Director Lynn A. Davis was put in jail Tuesday and said he was prepared to stay "until hell freezes over" rather than name an informant who gave him information that led to gambling charges here.

Davis, however, may win his release today. His attorney was expected to petition the Arkansas Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus to free him from Pulaski County Jail.

Circuit Judge William J. Kirby held Davis within contempt of court Tuesday for refusing to tell the Pulaski County grand jury and the judge the name of an informant whose information led Davis to conduct raids which 12 persons were arrested on gambling charges Sept. 9.

"As far as I'm concerned, he's going to answer the questions or stay in jail until he makes up his mind to do it," Kirby said.

Davis said he would not divulge his informant's name because revealing confidential sources "puts law officers out of business." He also had said previously that identifying his informant might place that person in jeopardy.

"I'm prepared to stay here," Davis said.

The measure still must win final approval from a Senate that won't like the shift in control of the program and its cost.

The measure now goes back to the House and Senate for expected final approval before being sent to President Johnson. The House may consider it today.

"This is one of the most remarkable victories for the American consumer in years," said Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn., a co-sponsor of the Senate version.

President Johnson said the measure would help guarantee the needs of the consumer.

U.S. Steel Reports Second Weekly Hike

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Top year will have been boosted on ranked U.S. Steel Corp. leader of the latest round of steel price hikes, announced today its second increase within a week. It raised galvanized aluminum coated sheets by $5 a ton.

Big Steel's 85-ton boost Friday cut steel sheets was followed by Bethlehem, No. 2 producer, No. 3 Republic and Republic, the third largest steel producer.

A question remains as to what the price increase will have on steel and hot-rolled strip and new car prices. Detroit filed suit Tuesday.

Chrysler, Ford and General Motors say they need more time to decide whether they will be able to absorb the price increases, or will be forced to pass them on to car buyers.

At the same time, U.S. Steel said, "No change in price will be made at this time in the price for hot-rolled and cold-rolled strip or for hot-rolled and cold-rolled sheet."
