CEMBER AUDIT BUREAU OF CERCULA-Friday, December 22

Hurrah For Some Moderates!

ment of the "moderates" on United States policy in Asia is that, despite the auspices under which these scholars met, that of the Freedom House, their conclusions are indeed, for the most part, moderate. "Freedom House" has rather consistently been the euphemistic cover title for hawk-like findings. This time, however, the scholars it assembled together have moved out, seemingly under their own logic, to a series of unassailable, sensible positions. We excerpt some of these pieces of "The Asia-Pacific region shares one basic issue with the Europe-Atlantic region: The major societies of the area must either find means of accommodation, or risk increasing dangers of con-sound analysis and sensible directionfrontation." "In every case, however, it is crucial that we remain sufficiently flexible to permit carefully graded steps up or down the policy continuum."

"Vietnam, indeed, is a crucial test of whether we can stay the course with a limited war involving extremely important, but limited objectives. It is a part of the broader test of whether in this nuclear age, we have the wisdom, maturity and patience to avoid totalistic

"If incremental policies are to be effective and acceptable to our people, bowever, a capacity to go down as well as up by carefully considered and measured steps must also be demonstrated. At this juncture, such a demonstration is needed in connection with Vietnam. Nothing could do more to strengthen American support for our basic position than to show a capacity for innovation of a deescalatory nature, indicating there is no inevitable progression upwards to the scope of the conflict."

"To accept a Communist victory in Vietnam would serve as a major encouragement to those forces in the world opposing peaceful coexistence, to those elements committed to the thesis that violence is the best means of effecting change. It would gravely jeopardize the possibilities of a political equilibrium in Asia, seriously damage our credibility, leeply affect the morale-and the policies-of our Asian allies and the neutrals. These are not developments conducive to a long-range peace. They are more likely to prove precursors to larger, more costly wars."

"Meanwhile it remains true that many respects, the war in Vietnam will be won or lost in the South. . . . An increasing emphasis must be placed upon seize and hold' rather than 'search and The statement includes, to summarize nany conclusions and opinions and recommendations with which all thoughtful, not primarily emotional, analysts of the predicament in Vietnam will agree, quite easily.

On one or two occasions, the statement of these "moderate" scholars seems itself inadequately informed, o unsound in appraisal. "The recent rise of isolationist sentiment in the United States," the statement says, "should be a matter of deep concern, even though its wellsprings are understandable." We quarrel, mildly, with any flat assumption that there is really a rise of "isolationist sentiment" in the United States. Our division is not over whether we shall be out in the world or withdraw from it, but rather over what kind of a game we shall play out in the world. The true internationalist believes we should play the game of collective security and collective action, under world law as it has been written into the Charter of the United Nations. He doesn't like it when his country acts unilaterally in the world, in an imperialistic, law-giving, law-enforcing big power role. The erstwhile isolationist, on the other hand, dislikes the idea of collective security, but tends to be heartily in favor of big power solo action. Our present division, then, is not internationalist-isolationist, but between those who would prefer to see the United States the first servant of the United Nations and those who like to see the United States the nearest thing to a world empire there can be in today's world. There are actually then, at the moment, almost no isolationists left on the American scene. Almost everybody believes in our having a vital interest in what goes on in Southeast Asia. The quarrel is over how we should define and serve that interest.

The statement of the moderates is perhaps being a little wistful, as if wishing and warning could change something rooted very deeply in the nature of this war, when they seem to want to have the American people erase their own doubts about this war so that Hanoi will cease counting these doubts as an asset in its own determination to continue the war. These doubts seem an inevitable product of the nature of the war itself crossed with the nature and conduct of our national leadership in the war, and these doubts have increased steadily as the war has grown and as the argumentative ferocity of the President has increased. But one thing we can say: moderate discussion of the kind these 14 moderates have authored is in Itself the best kind of demonstration to Hanoi that there may be something in this country which is neither

The Snowbound Indians

Contrary to the tempting glib judg ment, the probability is that the Navajo and Hopi Indians in their Arizona resercurrent experience with unusual blizzard than they would have been back in the days before the white man and his ways came along to alter the condition of the original Americans.

The snow which has visited the Southwest this December is the worst in tribal memories; it may be the worst any human beings have ever had to contend with in this section of the country. Conceivably, under their own old civilization, the Indians caught in such a snow would have been more self sufficoncerned. But their need for fuel for themselves and for food for their live stock, might have been great, and there might have been, in the good old days, consequence might have been historic and shattering loss of life and posses-

How To Defeat Your Purpose

If you are for something or against something, don't discuss or argue it, pro or con, with others who may be concerned in one way or another: don't write a letter to the editor, don't buy newspaper space or radio or television time or even put out a mimeographed broadside expressing your views. Don't take it up with your alderman, tate senator or representative, U.S. Congressman or senator, either orally or in writing Don't hire a hall and invite all and sundry to hear your reasons or your expressions of your emotions. Don't go around to club meetings which are hard up for speakers and put your case be Those are civilized methods of bringing about change within the structure of an orderly society. Instead, get a few cronies, grab some insulting signs and start blocking traf fic. Lie down in the street or in front of the door of the mayor's office so no other citizen having business there can get in. Rush through your city shouting refabricated slogans, or shrieking them like a madman with horrible fa cial gestures you have practiced before a mirror. Stop traffic. It helps if you have a screwy-looking hair-do or an unkempt beard and wear kooky garments while you scream bloody murder at policemen who are trying to restore order which you are bent on disrupting. And, most of all, prevent, if you can, by raucous interruption, or other means, any other American whose views differ from speaking or being heard even in a private gathering. Shout down your adversary, or better still, knock him down.

That is the way of the barbarian. It doesn't win many friends or influ ence many people to your way of thinking. It gives the impression that you claim to be above the laws that are made for all in a democratic socity, hat you feel you are somehow privileged to a degree that ordinary citizens

But mob violence? Anarchy that b ts very nature destroys the liberties of others? These are the way to lose everyone's freedoms, including our own, for anarchy always leads to tyranny. If your aim is not to win others to your way of thinking — and it might be surprising to know how many are in agreement on at least some fundamentals of every protest—if your aim is solely to terrify others into immobile acquiesence by mob violence, step outside of yourself and look at yourself for a moment and learn that you are defeating your own purpose, labeling your self in the minds even of people who may agree with your basic ideas as a danger to themselves. That is a silly way to become "involved" in the issues of the day.

If the barbarian way is to prevail in this country, we are wasting billions on education for the citizen of tomorrow need not know how to express what is on his mind or even condescend to betray the secret that he has a mind. All he or she needs to perform his full civic duty is a bull voice or a shattering soprano and a foul mouth to shou threats and insults, a sound pair of legs to rush through the streets, yelling like a fiend, stopping traffic, grimacing into cameras or lying down on Kingman Brewster's lawn and blowing soap bubbles.—ANSONIA EVENING SENTINEL

Bids must be submitted on Proposal Form No. CON 114G in Bid Envelopes provided by the State Highway Department, which may be secured at 59 Newfield Avenue, Hartford, Connecticut. The telephone number is 249-5211, extension 322, 282 or 283.

A CERTIFIED CHECK, BANK CASHIER'S CHECK, BANK TREASURER'S CHECK, DRAWN upon a STATE BANK & TRUST COMPANY or a NATIONAL BANK located in the STATE OF CONNECTICUT, or a U.S. POST OFFICE MONEY ORDER, to the order of TREASURER, STATE OF CONNECTICUT in an amount not less than $100.00 or 10% of the base bid, whicheve is greater, must accompany each Proposal, unless the Bidder shall have on file with the Highway Department, a sufficient Annual Bond for Proposal, (reference paragraph (2) of Proposal Form CON 114(1) hedges as directed by the same hedges as directed by the same following property.

The State Highway Department in accordance with the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (78 Stat. 252) and the Regulations of the Department of Commerce (18 C.F.R., Part 8) issued pursuant to such Act, hereby notifies all bidders that it will affirmatively insure that the contract entered into pursuant to this advertisement will be awarded the successful responsible bidder without discrimination on the

the successful responsible bidder without discrimination on the ground of race, color or national origin.

NOTE: The contractor is required as part of his contract bid price to supply suitable material acceptable to the Engineer to complete the back fill of all cellar holes immediately upon removing the buildings from their foundations. The top two feet of fill (below adjacent ground level) shall contain no stone larger than five inches in its greatest diameter. Top soil or loam will not be considered suitable material. If the contractor fails to back fill all cellar holes at the time the buildings are removed it will be necessary for him to protect the public by erecting a temporary fence to the satisfaction of the Engineer; payment for the erection and removal of this fence shall be considered as included in the contract bid price. The general contours of the surrounding ground shall not be changed without specific written permission by the Engineer.

NOTE: In addition to the Insurance requirements contained in paragraph eleven (11) of Proposal Form CON 114G the successful bidder shall furnish a Certificate of Insurance for the same stated minimum amounts to cover Explosion, Collapse or Underground Damage Liability (XCU).

Annual Bond for Proposal, (reference paragraph (2) of Proposal Form CON 114G).

It is understood the deposit will be forfeited in the event the successful Bidder fails to execute the Contract. The Bidder's name shall appear on the face of the check.

Deposits received in any form other than specified in the Proposal "may be the cause of rejection of the bid."

NOTICE TO BIDDERS: The bidders' attention is called to the established Connecticut State Demolition Code, Chapter 354A of the General Statutes, to which they are to comply.

NOTE: The disposal of the debris and demolition material shall be the responsibility of the contractor and he will make the necessary arrangements for disposal. In so doing he must be guided by all local ordinances and regulations.

General clean up of all areas and removal of fences and hedges as directed by the Engineer will be required for each following property. 71 PRATT ST.
