Ex-Army Psychiatrist Tells Of Retirement Syndrome

By FRANK CAREY
AP Science Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Army psychiatrist reports discovery of an emotionally upsetting "retirement syndrome" among commissioned career officers nearing check-out time.

The doctor said his patients usually showed symptoms of underlying compulsive personality traits but that, rather paradoxically, they disclosed no signs of their personalities when severely disgruntled.

Berkey, submitted the article while he was still at Fort Lee, Va., holding a captain's rank. He left the Army last month and lives in Richmond, Va. He graduated from Medical school seven years ago.

Reporting in a medical journal on a study he made of an undisciplined number of such patients, Berkey said:

"Reaching the rank of full colonel or higher is generally accepted as having achieved success in a military career. To the officers seen, retirement as a lieutenant colonel, or lower rank, was tantamount to being vice president but not the president; the understudy but not the star.

"Being not as good as the next man; having some inner defect; these were the feelings conveyed by officers who had failed to make higher rank."

Berkey's report was in "Military Medicine," journal of the Association of Military Surgeons of the United States.

He said emotional problems also often beset civilians as they near retirement, but they usually are in the old-age group, whereas military retirees are relatively young men.

Moreover, military men face the necessity of adapting to an entirely different kind of life.

Berkey said most previous studies of emotional problems of prospective military retirees made no attempt to differentiate between problems of the commissioned and commissioned-officer officers.

The Fort Lee study, he said, brings out such differences as these:

Study of Sites For Fields Set By Rec Board

Manchester's Advisory Rec and Parks Board, when it meets Wednesday night, will discuss possible sites for relocating the Mt. Nebo Ski Slope and the new Globe Hollow school.

The existing facilities may be relocated to the town which is the site of the new R. I. 6 bypass. Suggestions have been made for relocating the softball fields at Kenney St. School or at the new Globe Hollow school.

No definite replacement site yet is in the old-age group, whereas military retirees are relatively young men.

Rotterdam Fire Kills 2, Hurts 60

ROTTERDAM, Netherlands (AP) — An explosion set off a fire that ended over 18 acres at the Shell Oil Co. refinery here today, killing two persons and injuring about 60. One other person was reported missing.

The blast at 4:30 a.m. smashed windows in thousands of homes in nearby Hoopveld, where thousands of refinery workers live, and in Vinardingen across the Rotterdam waterway. Shipping in the new channel between the North Sea and the Rotterdam area was halted for two hours.

About six hours after the explosion firemen had the fire under control and reported there was no danger of its spreading. Firemen used 300 feet from 15 oil tanks and a number of small buildings.

A spokesman for Shell said damage would run into many millions of guilders. The U.S. dollar is worth 3.60 guilders. About 800 men were at work at the refinery when the explosion occurred in one of the processing plants.

$1,000 to SS Hope Honors Dr. Diakan

A check for $1,000 was presented to Dr. A. Elmer Diakan last night, to be given to the hospital ship SS HOPE in honor of the doctor's volunteer service to the mercy ship. It was made at the testimonial dinner held at the Omar Shrine Club and attended by 310 guests.

Dr. Diakan first volunteered to serve aboard the HOPE in 1966 when it was in Nicaragua. Last spring he returned while it was in Colombia. Within short months Dr. Diakan will again go with the HOPE, this time to Ceylon.

His son, Lance, a U.S. Army Cadet, was a volunteer in the HOPE's last voyage. Jill, the doctor's daughter who also attended, is a former Peace Corps volunteer, now a Vista worker at Atlanta, Ga.

Brig. W. Harold Bevan of the Salvation Army, a Shriner, pronounced the invocation and benediction.

The remainder of the evening was spent dancing to the music of the Eddie Roberts Orchestra.

Dorm Blaze Hits School In England

HOUSHAM, England (AP) — Fire raged through a boarding school in the Sussex countryside today while 60 boys were asleep in the building.

Police said many of the boys had been in their dormitories to safety in another building.

But a spokesman reported difficulties in establishing whether any boys were missing. Lists of pupils' names were destroyed along with other school records.

Police began efforts to contact parents of boys who should have reported at the school Friday for the start of a new term.

The boys sleeping when the fire started were between eight and 15 years old.

Cause of the blaze was unknown. Sixty firemen brought the flames under control.

UConn Faculty Sets Draft Resolution

STORRS (AP) — The University of Connecticut faculty says today it should not cooperate with draft boards trying to punish student protesters against the Vietnam war.

The university Senate, composed of faculty members, said in a resolution that "this university should not cooperate in any effort directed to the reclassification of students or other members of the university on the basis of their anti-war activities."

UConn ended the practice of notifying draft boards of the grades and class standing of students after the 1966-1967 school year.

The doctor permitted one of his members was being recognized, and Dr. Robinson said, "Physicians in the future will have to reach high to live up to Dr. Diakan's standards. He has the gratitude of the entire Manchester Medical Association for his service to mankind."

"The attendance reflects the community's esteem for this man," said Fremton, pointing out that Shriner members are familiar with helping the less fortunate. He noted the Shriner contributions to society with its 20 orthopedic hospitals and burn institutes.

"Friend to the world," said Murdock during his introduction remarks.

Three nurses who have served aboard the HOPE for two years were in attendance. They are Miss Margaret Kelly and Miss Patricia Sweet, both of Boston, and Miss Claire Henahan of Providence.

Atty. Egan said he was awed by "this man who sits on my right. My efforts to serve humanity are illiput as opposed to this gentleman, who is steeped in the law."

Stocks Post Big Decline Last Week

By ED MORSE AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market took a thumping loss this week, and uncertainties as to what course Congress and President Johnson will steer for the business and financial world in 1968.

It was the worst loss since the week ended last Nov. 4 when the Associated Press average declined 11.5. This week the AP average fell 4 to 212.2.

Trading continued extremely heavy, totaling $3,800,790 on the New York Stock Exchange, close to the record 69.9 million shares traded in a week ago.

The mounting volume from week to week caused a paper-work logjam in the back offices of brokerage houses, and the major stock exchanges therefore ordered an indefinite period of shorter sessions starting Monday to enable their member firms to untangle the mess.

Last August, the Exchanges had short sessions for nine days. As in August, the exchanges will close 90 minutes earlier, cutting the trading day to 4 hours from 5 1/2.

The Dow Jones industrial average this week fell 18.6 to 802.2. This was quite a relapse from the recovery peak of 906.8 made Jan. 2.

The five most active issues this week on the New York Stock Exchange were:

Benetton, up 1/4 at 10 1/2; 800 shares; Electrical & Musical Industries, up 1/4 at 6 1/2; Gulf & Western, off 1/4 at 6 1/2; Armour, up 1/4 at 4 1/2; and Glen Alden, off 1/4 at 15 1/2.

The five most active issues this week on the American Stock Exchange were:

Carrows, up 3/16 at 1 1/2; 1,600,000 shares; Burma Mines, up 3/16 at 1 7/16; New York Central, up 1/4 at 15 1/2; and R. I. Group, up 1/4 at 6 1/2.

Sheinwold on Bridge

IMPORTANT STORY MUST COME FIRST

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD North dealer East-West vulnerable

Accurate defense sometimes depends on knowing how many cards your partner holds in a suit, and sometimes on how high those cards are, at once, to what course Congress and President Johnson will steer for the business and financial world in 1968.

When West led the four of hearts a few months ago in the annual European Team Championships, declarer put up dummy's ace. East didn't know whether to say that he had poor hearts or that he had four of them. For some obscure reason he decided that the count was important, and he therefore played the six of hearts, beginning a high-low to show an even number of cards in the suit.

Declarer led a club from dummy and played the queen from his hand. West won with the king of clubs and led another heart, assuming that his partner's signal had been encouraging and that East therefore held the queen of hearts.

Makes Game

Now declarer could not be beaten. He won with the queen of hearts and led the jack of clubs to force out the ace. Even if the defenders switched to spades, South was sure to take 19 tricks.

East should have played the discouraging dozen of hearts at the first trick. The count was less likely to be important than the message that East could not encourage a heart continuation.

West would then shift to a spade on winning his first club, and the defenders would defeat the contract with two clubs and four spades.

This was not the tirade of an emotionally upset woman, but the supposedly cool analysis of a professional sociologist. But both the near-hysterical woman and the cool sociologist answered President Johnson's Wednesday night question more convincingly and realistically than he did. Our highest marks among all the performances involved Mrs. Johnson's former husband, who said beautifully under unexpected and undeserved fire.

Next, The New Geography

No sooner are we able to congratulate our educators and ourselves on the restoration of geography as a subject worth the attention of our younger generations than we are warned that the geography that will be taught tomorrow may be unrecognizable to us.

Having geography back in the curriculum is, of course, just as good as it was to have things like spelling and arithmetic. More and more, however, after long exile, we are well rid of that modern sophistication about education which preached that nothing that needed any artificial effort to be remembered belonged in 20th century schools.

As for the multiplication tables came back into the schools just about in time to find the modernists forging ahead with something they called the new mathematics, and just as the supposed return to the essentials for being able to speak and write the English language failed Richard Nixon, so the return of the multiplication tables, which, if ever left to themselves, might create a new international language, but never anything called English, may also be the end of the road for the multiplication tables.

From LBJ Down To Earth
 Three people have made the news in the past several days discussing the same question in different ways—President Johnson, Barbara Kitt, and Daniel P. Moynihan.

"Americans are prosperous as men have never been in recorded history," President Johnson said in the United States message Wednesday night.

"New Wet-Dry Warfare?"
 On the basis of findings gleaned from a government-sponsored, five-year study, a distinguished member of the Congressional Commission on the Study of Alcoholism has just filed his report. Its conclusions, based upon the premise that it should be national policy to promote drinking in a family setting, are the explanation for this many-sided and highly emotional state of mind. Part of the explanation for this many-sided and highly emotional state of mind is the same kind of discussion of "retreat" as the explanation for this many-sided and highly emotional state of mind.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.

Way back in ancient times of raffishness of the Republican party's high state official, the Honorable James O. Easton, former lieutenant governor and governor of his state, found himself being tagged into a strange interlude of public service he himself never has sought or desired.

The office he was suddenly dragged into, with no desire either to be there or remain there, was that of Republican National Committee member from Connecticut. The occasion was the decision of the state administration to resign from the National Committee.

Former Governor Shannon had two prime qualifications as a candidate to succeed Easton as national committee member. He was from Fairfield County, like the incumbent, and he was Irish Catholic, like the incumbent.

The day the mouse roared.

You're in school for 12 years. But most of you will never make a team. Why? Because you're too light. Because you're a girl. Because you work after school and can't practice. Whatever the reason, it's a fact: the same kids make all the teams.

Today you can stand up and do something about it. There's a new kind of team at school. The President's All America Team. And everybody has the same chance to make it. Don't let the name scare you into thinking it's difficult. It's easy if you're in shape. Every boy and girl 10 to 17 can try out. This is a test of all-around ability (not how good you are in one sport).

It's a test of strength, speed and endurance. You have to run, jump, sit-up, pull-up and throw a softball. Big guys have no advantage over little guys. Boys have no advantage over girls. This is the youngest, smallest, lightest, newest, strongest team in America. Last year, 50,000 kids made the team and won an award and a badge from the President. Can you make the President's All America Team? You'll never know unless you try out. So do it. And don't worry about your size, sex or shape. After all, David beat Goliath. Delilah took away Samson's strength. And you can be the mouse that roared.

Coventry School Panel Slates Talks With the CFT

Negotiations between the Coventry Federation of Teachers (CFT) and the Board of Education will begin next Thursday involving salaries and "conditions of employment." Ground rules have been approved by both sides and the sessions will be closed. The school board has received the first CFT proposal, but this information is not being released at this time.

The Board of Education will negotiate "as a committee of the whole, with the superintendent acting as the agent of the board."

Ground rules also stipulate that "at the conclusion of each negotiation session, progress reports shall be made available by either or both parties."

Official minutes of all meetings will be kept by the Board of Education, and a tape recorder will be used for "motions and pertinent comments." Each party will have the right, by request to caucus "at any negotiating session, to discuss a proposal or counter-proposal of the other party."

The CFT has been officially recognized as the bargaining agent for the teachers. This will be the first year for this arrangement, since the CFT is a new organization. It won the right to represent the teachers in a referendum held last month.

The referendum was between the Education Association of Coventry (EAC) and the CFT, with the CFT winning by one vote. The EAC challenged the decision of the moderator that the CFT was the winner, since two ballots of the total 95 were cast for the third choice: "Neither organization." The CFT won 47 and the EAC 48 votes, with the EAC claiming there was no "clear majority."

The EAC is seeking legal advice on the matter, and hopes to get a special run-off election between the two groups. However, the challenge would have to be officially and legally accepted by Thursday in order for it to have any effect on this year's negotiations.

Eight Klansmen in N.C. Acquitted of Intimidation

SALISBURY, N.C. (AP) — Eight Ku Klux Klansmen have been acquitted of federal charges that they formed a terrorist gang to intimidate school officials and others to prevent racial integration in two North Carolina counties.

An all-male, all-white jury returned the verdicts Friday after deliberating more than seven hours in U.S. District Court. The jury said it could not agree on a verdict against a ninth defendant and Judge Edwin M. Stanley declared a mistrial in that case. The judge said Ronald Lee Mullis, 29, of Concord would be brought to trial again. No date was set.

As the nine left the courthouse they were met by J. Robert Jones, North Carolina grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan. Jones embraced each of the men and said they "are the best friends I've ever had."

Freed were Ray L. Hornbeak, 27, of Concord; Nolan Safrir, 45, of Kannapolis; Clifton Wayne

Over $100,000 Awarded To Jorgensens for Crash

A Rhode Island Superior Court jury has awarded Donald Jorgensen, 22, and his father, Wenzel Jorgensen, both of 23 G. St., East Hartford, $114,490, the result of an negligence case growing out of a 1963 automobile accident near Misquamicut Beach in Westerly, R.I. The defendant was Brian Hamilton, 21, then of 543 Vernon St.

Donald Jorgensen was awarded $98,000, but Rhode Island law allows interest to accumulate. Interest amounts to $16,490, and his total award is $114,490, according to Atty. John S. Gardner Sr., 60 of 23 G. St., East Hartford, who is associated with a Providence firm representing Jorgensen. Wenzel Jorgensen was awarded $1,089.90.

Hamilton was driver of the car which was in collision with one driven by George T. Howard III, 48, of Pawcatuck, in the Aug. 3, 1963 accident. At the time of the accident, Westerly police said Hamilton had pulled out of line to pass a car on a curve near the west end of the beach on Atlantic Ave., and crashed into the Howard car coming in the other direction.

Jorgensen, who was found across the front seat of the car he was riding in, sustained a skull fracture, a cerebral concussion and several cuts of the face and forehead. Hamilton and Howard received minor injuries.

The plaintiffs contended Hamilton was responsible for the accident and Donald Jorgensen sought damages for injuries, including what he alleged was permanent brain damage. His father asked for damages for medical and other expenses for his son's injuries.

Counsel for Hamilton said that the plaintiffs were not entitled to damages because Donald Jorgensen knew Hamilton had been drinking on the trip from Connecticut and he assumed the risks involved.

The Jorgensens were represented by the Manchester firm of Lessner, Retner, Karp and Piepler in association with Atty. Edward I. Friedman of Providence. Atty. Francis A. Kelleher of Providence represented Hamilton.

MacKenzie Proposes 3 Uses For $10,000 School Surplus

The Board of Education has heard recommendations from the administration on the reallocation of a $10,000 surplus in teacher-salary accounts because the surplus occurred because the total amount in the account was established before all teacher contracts were completed for the current school year.

At a board meeting last month, the board passed a motion that administration come back with suggestions on the reallocation and that it be distributed among accounts that were cut during final budget work in June, perhaps in the area of teaching supplies and equipment.

Acting Supt. David MacKenzie told the board Thursday night that the administrative council had voted unanimously to split the $10,000 into three uses, all involving the new middle school, scheduled to open in September.

The three recommendations were that a librarian be hired as soon as possible for the new school; that a secretary be hired, also as soon as possible, and also for the new school; and that a vice principal be hired for the high school to free middle school Principal Oliver Chaffield for full-time work on the middle school.

Chaffield was hired last summer as principal and was to serve also in the year before the opening of the school as an assistant to the high school administration.

Paul Boardman reminded MacKenzie that such a use was not the intent of the board when it asked that the surplus be distributed to other accounts. He noted also that in addition to a surplus in the teacher salary account, there is a surplus in the administrative salary account.

This surplus comes about because MacKenzie is now receiving in opposite directions collided at E. Middle Tpk. and E. Center St. The left fronts of both cars were damaged. The drivers were Thomas E. Lane, 28, of Woodland St., Tolland, and Clifford A. Hurlbut, 19, of 29 Snipps St., Rockville.

Two drivers avoided a collision at New State Rd. and Hilliard St. about 7:40 a.m., but one of them hit a snowbank as a result. The drivers, Clayton R. Adamec, 25, of 56 Gardner St., and Mrs. Dorothy K. Grant of 50 Horton Rd., were in opposite directions when they realized their cars were about to collide; the Adamec car hit the bank.

Yesterday morning, two cars collided on a curve in the driveway to East Catholic High School. The drivers were Carol A. Smith of 13 Laurel Pl. and Robert E. Donovan, 42, of 29 Greenwood St., East Hartford. A written warning for following too closely was issued to William F. Tilden of Hunting Lodge Rd., Storrs, after an accident at 9:55 p.m. at Center St. east of Cooper St. Tilden's car struck the rear of one driven by Lauretta M. Clark of Plymouth Lane when the Clark car stopped behind one which was turning off the road.

Cars driven by Wilfred R. Willette, 32, of 8 Vernon Heights, and Barbara E. Edlund of 137 Brookfield St. collided at Center and Linden Sts. about 5 p.m. Police report that Willette, traveling on Linden St., stopped for a stop sign then turned left onto Center St., failing to yield the right of way. His car was struck by the Edlund vehicle.

Clifford Seen
(Continued from Page One) pointed him special counsel, for Job Clifford held until 1960. For Truman, he worked on a study of unification of the armed services, a two-year project. Then he helped write the 1947 National Security Act.

Clifford also was Truman's liaison with the newly created Defense Department. And he was a principal architect of Truman's dramatic 1948 re-election victory.

When Kennedy was elected, he asked Clifford to help in the massive transition of power. Kennedy also named him to the Foreign Intelligence Advisory Board which was set up after one of Kennedy's greatest setbacks—the Bay of Pigs invasion repelled by the force of Fidel Castro. Later, Kennedy named Clifford chairman and Johnson continued him in that post.

When Johnson went to the summit meeting of Asian allies in Manila two years ago, Clifford was at his side.

Clifford, father of three daughters, lives on an estate in suburban Rockville, Md. He was graduated from Washington University in St. Louis in 1928, where, a friend says, "he cut a wide swath" in drama, writing and acting in plays. Reputedly a good dancer and bartender, he ranks as a prize guest for any party-throwing hostess but usually avoids the social limelight.

Swollen Nose
ROME, Italy (AP) — Nino Benvenuti shrugged off a swollen nose today and said he was ready to win back the world middleweight boxing title from champion Emile Griffith in New York on March 4.

Benvenuti took a stiff left jab in the face while gaining a 10-round decision over Charley "Bad News" Austin of San Diego, Calif., before a capacity 15,000 at the sports palace Friday night. It happened in the second round when Austin mixed freely with "Ni-No."

Civil Rights Home Priority, McCarthy Tells Negro Group
(Continued from Page One) "If we are to set priorities, and Vietnam is one, then it seems to me there is no question what is the priority at home," McCarthy said. "The President has said we could wage two wars and win them both. The fact is we're not waging two wars; we're waging one and we're not winning any."

The youth council has been demonstrating for 145 consecutive days in demand of an all inclusive open housing ordinance for Milwaukee. Tensions raised by the marches have led to sporadic violence.

"A colonial nation is living among us," said McCarthy. He referred to what he called Negro exploitation as evidenced by the traditional occupations that fall to Negroes in the United States. He said, were the same as those that fell to natives in colonial lands.

More than 1,000 persons jammed a ballroom for McCarthy's talk in which he accused the Johnson administration of abandoning traditional Democratic approaches in favor of policies laid down by

Specialist Teachers To Air Grievances

Supervisors of art, music and physical education for the Manchester elementary schools will appear at their own request Monday before the Board of Education to present their side of what appears to be brewing into a dispute with the elementary classroom teachers. The speakers, who want to discuss the job being done by the special subject teachers under their supervision, will be Mrs. Sally Haukas, art; Miss Martha White, music; and David Wiggins, physical education.

An apparent controversy in the professional rank over the manner in which the special teachers are doing their jobs came to the public view at the last board meeting two weeks ago when five classroom teachers from Kenney St. School brought a grievance before the board.

The five, whose grievance had previously been turned down at Levels one and two — before their principal and before the superintendent of schools — told the board they wanted to be released from their classrooms during the time their pupils were receiving special instruction in art, music and physical education.

The teachers, Mrs. Hilda Campbell, Mrs. Joan Dareska, Mrs. Marjorie Dearington, Miss Judith Flaherty and Mrs. Ann Harding, were supported in the request by the Manchester Education Association's professional rights and responsibilities committee.

The MEA during contract bargaining talks has also been seeking to win released time for the classroom teachers. Board chairman John Rottner agreed to listen to the grievance over the objection of some board members, but Rottner told the five women in no uncertain terms that the board looked "with disfavor" on their presentation because the matter of released time was already being covered in bargaining discussions.

The teachers, however, maintained that they had a legitimate complaint — on the grounds that the board has failed over the years to provide enough specialists to permit effective programs.

They also scored the administrative ruling which requires them to remain with the specialists while their classes are being taught art, music and physical ed.

They charged the ruling amounted to "a waste of the classroom teachers' time," which they maintained could be better used for planning other activities or correcting papers.

The experienced teacher should be allowed to leave the class at her own discretion during the special instruction, they maintained, saying that the pro-

CABE Offers School Boards Aid During Negotiations

Professional consultant services on school board-teacher negotiations are being made available to members of the Connecticut Association of Boards of Education (CABE). The Manchester school board holds membership in the organization.

CABE President Charles G. Crump today announced the appointment of Metzler Associates of Newark, N.J., as consultant to assist local board with collective negotiations.

Metzler Associates is headed by Prof. John Metzler, associate chairman of the department of industrial relations at Newark College of Engineering, who is also a staff member of the Institute of Management and Labor Relations at Rutgers University.

For the past two years, his firm has been consultant on school-board-teacher negotiations to the New Jersey State Federation of District Boards of Education. Crump said plans in Connecticut call for seminars with school board groups and individual consultation of local boards.

The Manchester board has been embroiled in a series of negotiations controversies with its teachers each year since the passage of 1965 state legislation guaranteeing teachers the right to negotiate.

This week, for the third year in a row, the local teachers decided to submit an impasse over salary raises to state-level mediation. One board member, N. Charles Boggins, has recommended several times in the past two years that the board avail itself of the services of a professional negotiator.

Weather Brief

WINDSOR LOCKS (AP) — Most of the nation continues to be dominated by high pressure this morning with two stationary centers, one over Utah and one over Texas, generally maintaining the fine weather.

The only two areas of precipitation are in Texas and the Pacific Northwest.

The U.S. Weather Bureau reports that here in southern New England we will continue to be dominated by an extensive area of high pressure through most of the weekend. There are, however, signs that our mild trend will be breaking down.

Our latest weather charts indicate that the winds aloft will be slowly changing from a west to east flow to a northwesterly flow by Sunday night.

This would continue our mild trend through most of the weekend but will then start to pump colder air over us for at least the first part of next week.

At this stage it is too early to determine the extent to which it will turn colder. Meanwhile we can continue to enjoy our generally fair and mild weather while it lasts and before Old Man Winter returns.

Conscription, enforced service in the military, was exercised from the earliest days of history and was customary in Greece and Rome. However, the first modern national law of conscription was adopted in the French Revolution.

Pat Paulsen a Candidate for Nonpresident

NEW YORK (AP) — Pat Paulsen, the dead-pan, double-talk editorialist on "The Smothers Brothers Comedy Hour" who specializes in satire, arrived in New York Monday to launch his noncandidacy campaign for president—or anything.

Paulsen's noncandidacy will be announced formally on the CBS program Jan. 28.

"Some over-enthusiastic people are suggesting that I become involved," said Paulsen, toying thoughtfully with a cigarette. "But if nominated I don't think I'll run, and if elected, I don't think I'll serve."

"Clubs seem to be springing up in my behalf all over the country," he continued. "But although I am unable to say anything at this time, I am glad of an opportunity so early in my campaign to deny that I am running."

At this point Paulsen asked that any further quotations be attributed to either a "spokesman" or "a close associate."

A spokesman explained that the candidate would represent the "Straight Talking American Government party," or "STAG party." He said that a platform was being drawn up by "over-enthusiastic, unsolicited supporters."

"He will campaign for positive thinking," said the spokesman. "As Roosevelt said, the only thing to fear is fear itself and, of course, the bogey man."

"About the war on poverty, he thinks we have enough of it. And, on crime in the streets, he suggests that it be moved indoors. Hippies should be reduced, and he agrees completely with Herbert Humphrey on urban development: New York City and Pueblo, Colorado, should be torn down and rebuilt.

"Let the rest of the country root hog," the spokesman concluded.

The STAG party's slogan—to be printed on its buttons—will be "We Can't Stand Pat—Paulsen for Prexy." And it will feature bumper stickers which will destroy themselves in three months.

And—seriously, folks, as they say in TV—the Paulsen for President put-on will be a big item on the comedy-variety show until early September when, after the two major parties have had their conventions, the STAG convention will be held on camera.

The noncandidate will reveal some of his noncampaigning plans Wednesday night on "The Johnny Carson Show"—if some other noncandidates don't get out an injunction against him before that.

ABC has set Jan. 28 as the date to show the 1965 "Slip of Fools," which will run on a Sunday night for two hours and 45 minutes—from 9 p.m. to 11:45 EST, which means without very much editing.

The kid the wars—I kidded World War II and I kidded the Korean War. But somehow you can't kid about Vietnam.

"And the same thing holds true about civil rights. Nobody jokes about that any more. Even the Negro comics don't joke about it any more—except Dick Gregory, and he's so far out it isn't funny."

Winters doesn't even make jokes about hippies very often. He thinks there's more sadness than comedy in the indiscriminate use of narcotics.

"I think," he says, "that if a kid has to get hooked on something, he should get hooked on reality. It's criminal to waste time taking trips, when the real world is so fascinating. When you're bombed out, you're giving away time and there isn't enough time as it is."

Steady Work With 'The FBI'

NEW YORK (NEA)—It is to be assumed that "The FBI" can survive William Reynolds.

The newest member of the cast of the successful ABC series is a handsome, well-mannered young man who, through no fault of his, has had several flop television series.

His first was a Jack Webb-produced series called "Pete Kelly's Blues." It lasted 13 weeks. "The Islanders" lasted 24 weeks. Ever improving, Bill's next series, "The Gallant Men," lasted 26 weeks.

"All of them together don't really make a run," he says with a wry smile. "If The FBI folds after this season, there won't be a studio in town I can walk into."

He's joking, but the joke covers up a sensitive area. Prior to The FBI, he went two years without acting. "Sometimes the economics of the business catch up with you," he said.

Reynold's answer was to go back to school. He had just passed his exams as a real estate lawyer and was set for an enforced career change, when The FBI happened.

"Was it discouraging? Yeah, very. I like to work. I've never done anything other than acting. I could have gone to Europe to get some jobs, I guess, but there is a fairly limited market for my type. As long as I was a juvenile, I could get work. But my chances of being hired as a character performer are few. I figured it would probably be another four to five years before I would be usable, so I switched to real estate as a means of earning money you need so you can pursue acting. The casting people in Hollywood seem to have gone from the scratchers to Englishman and bypassed a whole generation of studio-trained actors like me."

GUINNESS ON TV

Alec Guinness, the British actor, will head a cast of London theatrical figures on ABC's "The Actor," a look at acting and theater. The program, scheduled for March 19, will show Guinness on and off stage.

Edmond O'Brien in the two-hour television drama, "Flesh and Blood," a study of a family, Friday evening at 8:30. E. G. Marshall is also in the play.

'Star Trek' Has 'Quality' Fans

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC and television columnists all over the country have been bombarded for the past several months with letters from "Star Trek" fans expressing alarm over a report that the science fiction series would be canceled.

The letter campaign comes at a time when network executives are planning next season's schedules. Within the next few days, a decision will be made whether to give "Star Trek" a third network season or drop it at the end of summer reruns.

The program actually has an excellent chance for survival. In the three-cornered network fight for audiences, it usually comes in second — and the tough competition is CBS's "Gomer Pyle" and feature movie.

NBC, too, is happy that the series has a special appeal to what the researchers call a "quality audience."

Networks make their program decisions with the help of information gathered by research outfits. And most sponsors who scatter their messages over programs, are concerned with the cost of reaching potential customers.

The cost of reaching 1,000 homes now averages $4.30 in prime evening time. NBC's

Telephone Hour, for instance, has a cost per thousand of $13, since the smaller the audience, the higher the cost. "Star Trek" costs $4.70 per thousand, but as one research man observed, "The sponsors get that quality audience."

NBC, incidentally, has a number of programs in greater danger than "Star Trek."

BEN AND BENNY

Pantomime comic Ben Blue will be among the guests for Jack Benny's annual television show March 20, NBC has announced. Others already scheduled are Lucille Ball and Johnny Carson.

Poston Quits 'Truth'

After all these years as a regular on the daytime game show, "To Tell the Truth," Tom Poston is now off the panel. His place will be filled by various performers.

Mark Goodson, producer of the show, said that the program had under gone a radical change of format, had introduced some new faces, and had improved its ratings which had been dropping.

Allen Ludden, formerly of Goodson's "Password" which CBS recently replaced with a soap opera, will soon be seen as host of a weekly, prime-time syndicated game show, "Win with the Stars," which will start with a lineup of more than 40 stations.
