Love Feels Postage Pinch, Valentines Rate 6 Cents

What is the price of love? According to Manchester Postmaster Alden E. Bailey it has been raised to six cents.

Seemingly with little regard for the romantic postulations of the heart, Uncle Sam's recent postal increases will apply to all valentines this year, whether they be one ounce or lighter.

For those who have sweethearts and loved ones serving overseas, however, there is a bargain in the offering.

This year the regular first class rates will provide fast flight to rush valentines to foreign lands, including Vietnam, as well as special air mail service to all servicemen more than 250 miles from the mailing point.

Recent legislation, which went into effect Jan. 7, now prohibits the old four-cent rate for greeting cards.

S.C. Riots Are Halted By Curfew

ORANGEBURG, S.C. (AP) — A dusk-to-dawn curfew and the exclusion of students from two predominantly Negro colleges Friday night brought Orangeburg its first racial peace in five nights.

Previously three Negro students had been killed and 50 persons injured, including several Negroes, in the riot.

Firemen dashed to the scene to hose down the freeway, but the cold water only hardened the asphalt. It took several hours of sporadic California sunshine to melt Los Angeles hot fudge freeway.

Stocks Take Biggest Loss Of This Year

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market this week took its worst loss of 1968 as war jitters uprooted confidence in Wall Street.

The Dow Jones industrial average dropped 22 1/2 to 840.94 yesterday and for the week was down 100.44.

The biggest action of the week came on Thursday and Friday when most of the loss was suffered. A feeble early rise disappeared and the market already was softening when reports came Thursday that North Korean premier Kim Il-Sung had said war may break out "at any moment" in Korea.

The possibility of a second front in Asia, along with Vietnam, triggered a wave of war-panic selling. It was speeded by a report that the White House had lifted recent bombing restraints on Hanoi and Haiphong.

The decline in the Dow industrials brought it below the theoretical support level represented by the Nov. 8 closing low of 848.37. That level was penetrated in the first half hour Friday when nervous selling continued and was heightened by the approval of a three-day weekend.

Markets will be closed Monday for Lincoln's birthday.

Chartists say that the next line of theoretical support in the Dow industrials lies at 800.

Seoul Expects Vance, Pueblo Hopes Rise

SEOUL (AP) — Hopes rose again today for the release of the Pueblo crewmen with the conclusion of the fifth private meeting between U.S. and North Korean officials and the impending arrival of U.S. Ambassador Cyrus Vance.

North Korea has held the crewmen 17 days.

The talks at Pannunjom today lasted three hours, the longest session since talks began eight days ago.

Officials were silent on what took place but the speculation in Seoul was that both sides settled "final procedural matters" for the release of one dead crewman and three injured men.

The talks were between U.S. and North Korean officials.

Fudged Freeway

Los Angeles Times

Washington Post News Service

LO ANGELES, Feb. 9 — Drivers on their way to Disneyland yesterday morning found things sweet and sticky even before they got there.

It seemed that a truck pulling two stainless steel tankers containing 75,000 pounds of heated chocolate syrup overflowed onto the Santa Ana Freeway.

The contents oozed out and oozed several hundred feet of the multilane expressway, making it the most noticeable landmark this side of Big Rock Candy Mountain.

Firemen dashed to the scene to hose down the freeway, but the cold water only hardened the asphalt.

It took several hours of sporadic California sunshine to melt Los Angeles hot fudge freeway.

Planes Raid Haiphong, First Time in Month

Marines set up skeleton, taken from Hue medical school, in front of mortar.

SAIGON (AP) — U.S. warplanes raided the Haiphong area Friday for the first time in a month, apparently ending a bombing restraint ordered by President Johnson while American officials looked into peace prospects.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk indicated that the peace probe ended after the Communists launched their biggest offensive of the war Jan. 30.

Fighting from that had camped against major South Vietnamese cities has died out in all but Hue and Saigon, where the allies reported some success in efforts to clear out Communist-held areas.

U.S. Marines maneuvered to bring a truck convoy into Hue today for the first time since last Saturday.

The U.S. Command said the Communist death toll climbed by 1,068 Friday, reaching a total of 27,706 since Jan. 29. The allied death toll was reported as 2,207, including 829 Americans, 1,133 South Vietnamese and 54 other allies.

Bombing reporting an air raid on Cat Bi, four miles southeast of Haiphong, U.S. spokesmen gave a delayed report which confirmed the presence of 80-viet south I-28 twin jet bombers in North Vietnam.

Air Force fighter-bomber crews said their bombs hit near the Phuc Yen airfield 18 miles northwest of Hanoi. The Air Force had reported several months ago it believed North Vietnam had six I-28s.

The raid at Cat Bi was the first since last Saturday.

Marine's Plane Hijack Foiled

Los Angeles Times

WASHINGTON Post News Service

DA NANG, Feb. 9 — A young Marine tried to hijack a Pan American airplane at gun point at the Da Nang Air Base yesterday and force the crew to fly him to Hong Kong.

For nearly three hours the pilot, dressed in civilian clothes, pointed a cocked .45 automatic pistol at the heads of the flight crew before the engine was able to disarm him.

The gunman was later identified as Pfc. William Lee Clark, who is attached to an artillery unit with the 1st Marine Division.

At one point, base officials, at the request of the flight crew, gave the plane permission to take off for Hong Kong. But as the engine was warming up, a message flashed into the base.

The drama on Da Nang air strip began at 1:20 p.m. yesterday with the Pan American DC-8, a piston engine loading up with 82 Marines, sailors, and from Gen. William C. Woodmerland, U.S. commander in Saigon.

"Don't let the plane leave," said the message. "Use tear gas."

The airliner was ordered to stop its engines. Armed air policemen surrounded the airplane with drawn rifles. Tear gas canisters were tossed into the rear door just as the engineer hesitated to attempt to disarm the Marine gunman.

As the copilot, E. L. Archer, 30, of Beaville, Tex., later commented: "He was getting nervous and sweaty. I thought he'd shoot. And he said he'd shoot one of us to make his point if we didn't take off."

Indians Top Windham Again, Tie for Lead

Lead All the Way In CCIL Struggle

It was a capacity crowd, 2,200, at the Clarke Arena last night that witnessed the Manchester High Indians roll to a 71-60 victory over Windham High of Williams. Both teams broke identical 11-3 records to share top CCIL honors. The crowd, by far the season's largest, hung in all but the last quarter, as 14 points separated the teams at halftime, 57-23, Manchester. The lead was increased by 20 points by the Indians to a 66-38 third quarter score.

Overall	W-L	Points
Manchester	11-3	12-4
Windham	11-3	12-4
Conard	10-4	11-4
Easton	7-6	8-7
Maloney	7-6	9-6
Central	6-7	8-8
Hall	5-8	8-8
Westerfield	3-11	4-12
Platt	1-12	1-13

"This was by far our best team defensive effort which along with rebounding told the story. We shot for Bristol (51.5%) and led North (52.2%) at the other end. However, we won't be laying down when they come back Tuesday. The Indians hit 31 of 75 shots from the court for games as by far our ultimate goal at this stage of the season," said a happy Coach Paul Hyde.

There is no one individual who performed better than any other last night because each had a different task to fulfill. As well as being a scorer, Ben Gray held the edge in the rebounding department clearing the boards and putting 13 for 18 grab. He wasn't alone as Dale Ostroff and Ray Kelly shared nine each followed by Dick Cobb and Tim Coughlin with eight. The Indians out-rebounded Windham 41 to 28. Ostroff was high man for the Indians and White with 25 points. Taking advantage of a weak point at the base line of Windham's defense, Ostroff scored 12 points in the first quarter. Gray sank 16 points, Kelly 14. Coughlin added 10 points and hit for eight points, pecking the Indians scoring.

Manchester's Dale Ostroff jumps high for rebound. Tim Coughlin (30) and Bob Cloutier (13) await ball.

HCC Crown Regained by East In Romp over South Catholic

It was back to the "good old days" for a powerful East Catholic High last night as the Indians captured the Hartford County Conference basketball championship and whipped rival South Catholic of Hartford, 68-36, before a crowd of 2,800 at Central Connecticut's Roster Gym.

control was particularly evident in the second half, where Reynolds scored 24 points and led the team to a 52-36 lead at the end of the third quarter. The lead exchanged hands three times in the low-scoring first quarter, with both teams shooting but failing to hit. Reynolds' jump shot best the buzzer for the one-point margin at the first turn.

That earned its third conference title in four years, reclaiming the South Catholic which held it last season. The clinching win was the local second triumph over the Rebels this year, duplicating an earlier 74-57 conquest at the CCIC court. The winners led by a slim 9-8 margin at the first quarter, but really started rolling until a late scoring spurge with two minutes remaining in the second quarter. Reynolds scored 24 points, five from Jim Reynolds' clutch shooting, really invaluable in setting up our fast breaks. Also doing an outstanding job was Tim Kearns, who made the big difference in our rebounding.

Reynolds popped in seven field goals and went 7-8 at the foul line to lead the Eagles in scoring with 21 points. Dummitte scored 16 points, mostly in the second half. Gary Kral had 10. Sal Gilbert was South's top scorer with nine tallies. "Melody and Reynolds played excellent games for us," Burns commented around a tough press defense in the final 16 minutes but had an adverse effect. South was called for 24 personal fouls, and East's game-long visits to the foul stripe were mostly in the second half. The locals hit 22 of 32 free throws, with 14 of them at the end of the game. East's coming after intermission.

Knights Edge Bobcats In Real Barn Burner

Three conference clashes highlighted last night's area hardwood activity. It was a barn burner in Ellington as the home team Knights edged visiting South Windsor High, 69-68 on Jim Reynolds' foul try in the last eight seconds. Ellington boasts a 6-2 record while the Bobcats are 5-3 in the NOCC.

3:57.5 Mile Set by Ryan In New York

NEW YORK (AP)—"It looked like he could go on forever," said Sam Blair. Blair, the little Kent State runner, turned in a fast mile Friday night, but he was still setting the final turn when Jim Ryan was crossing the finish line.

Ryan's 3:57.5 at the U.S. Track and Field Federation meet was the first sub-four-minute mile of the indoor season and the third fastest ever run indoors. What was supposed to be a light competitive battle between Ryan, Blair and Villanoza's Dave Patrick turned into a rout.

It was very pleased and surprised with my times," said the world-record holder (3:51.1) from Kansas said. "I felt strong all the way."

Ryan led for a time in the early going and looked over his shoulder once as if to ask if he were going to have to set his own pace.

Ryan's goal is to run two quality miles on consecutive nights. He is half way there. The only person to run faster than Ryan is Tom O'Hara, who in 1964 ran 3:56.8 and 3:56.9 within one month.

Killy Wants Triple In Olympic Skiing

CAMBRIDGE, France (AP)—Jean-Claude Killy of France is a perfectionist who has the habit of winning. He expects to win, because the record proves that he is technically and athletically superior to his rivals.

Now, the big question is whether he can take all three races in the history of Olympic skiing. Killy, who won the downhill Friday, said he was going for victory in the remaining two races, the giant slalom and the slalom.

Killy won all three, he would duplicate a feat done only once in the history of Olympic skiing. Killy, who won the downhill Friday, said he was going for victory in the remaining two races, the giant slalom and the slalom.

Second Attack Wave Expected in Vietnam

There has been criticism that the surprise nature of the attack demonstrated an intelligence failure on the part of U.S. and South Vietnamese military leaders.

From some high officials in Washington this criticism gets an angry brush-off with a response that precise tactical intelligence on the timing of enemy strikes is almost impossible to obtain.

Discussing this issue with newsmen, some officials complain bitterly about what they call probing for things to criticize in the allied conduct of the war.

What is important to concentrate on, they argue, is that the United States and its allies should win.

They did express belief that on the whole American reporting from Vietnam gives a balanced view of what is happening in the conflict. In this connection, they ruled out any imposition of censorship in Vietnam, saying the United States does not want that.

Police Make Second Arrest In Package Store Robbery

A second man, charged with the armed robbery of the Cooper St. Package Store last Sept. 27, was arrested by detectives in Hartford late yesterday afternoon.

Richard E. Lyman, 26, of 33 Niles St., Hartford was apprehended by Manchester Police Detectives John Krinjak and Joseph Brooks in a Hartford bus station at 8 p.m.

According to Krinjak, Lyman had little money and was not attempting to leave the area.

Lyman and Albert LaPointe, 22, of Magnolia St., Hartford, who was arrested Thursday, and accused of robbing the package store of more than $125 and four bottles of liquor, while holding the proprietor, Nicholas Lanzano at gunpoint.

The robbery occurred at 9 p.m. LaPointe, who was arraigned at Manchester Circuit Court yesterday, is being held in lieu of $5,000 bail pending his Feb. 26 continuance where he will be represented by the public defender.

Lyman is also being held in lieu of $5,000 bail and will be arraigned at East Hartford Circuit Court 12 Tuesday.

Both men were arrested on Circuit Court 12 warrants and are presently in Hartford State Jail, charged with robbery with violence.

Car Wrecked, Town Man Hurt In I84 Crash

John P. Moriarty, 28, of 90 Hilliard St. demolished a car and was sent to Hartford Hospital after a violent crash on I84 at 8:45 last night, Hartford Police report.

Moriarty was heading east on I84 when he struck the concrete wall on his right, then smashed into the Capitol Ave. divider and flipped the car over, police said.

He was taken to Hartford Hospital where he was reported in fair condition this morning with multiple injuries including facial cuts. The car was towed away.

Police charged Moriarty with reckless driving. He is scheduled to appear in a Hartford Circuit Court 14, on March 18.

Keith Will Render Referendum Opinion

Assistant Town Counsel W. David Keith said yesterday afternoon that, in the absence of Town Counsel John Shea, he will render a formal opinion in a few days on the legality of an April 30 advisory referendum on Project Concord.

The referendum was authorized by the Board of Directors Tuesday night, by a vote along party lines, with all six Republicans voting "yes," and Democrat Francis Mahoney above in his "no" vote. Democrats William FitzGerald and Anthony Pietronirolo abstained.

On Thursday, FitzGerald requested two opinions of the legality of the referendum — one from Shea and the other from State Attorney General Robert K. Killian.

Shea and his wife left Wednesday on a Caribbean cruise and will not be back in Manchester for another week.

Keith said that he had conferred with Shea prior to his departure and, consequently, will be able to rule on the question.

GOP Director William Schaller said Tuesday night that Shea had informed him that the advisory referendum would meet charter requirements.

In May 1966, when the Board of Directors, then Democratic-controlled, turned down a similar request for an advisory referendum, Atty. Irving Aronson, then the town counsel, ruled that its action was correct.

His formal opinion stated that the town charter does not permit the expenditure of funds for informational referendums. He warned that, if one were held and if funds were expended, the town might be liable to a taxpayer's suit.

Shea, on several occasions, has said that he agrees with Aronson's ruling.

In stating that Shea told him the April 30 advisory referendum would be legal, Schaller said that Shea based his statement on the circumstances that it would not require the expenditure of extra funds.

The April 30 special election will include referenda for six bonding proposals and, possibly, a referendum on proposed charter changes.

The Charter Revision Commission (CRC), when it was appointed 13 months ago, was charged with the study of a possible charter change for revising and broadening existing referendum powers.

In its final report to the directors, submitted Dec. 5, the GOP-controlled CRC stated that it had studied the possibility of advisory referendums and that it had ruled against them.

The report stated that advisory referendums had been attempted twice in communities in states outside of Connecticut. In both instances, the report stated, the proceedings were declared illegal in the courts, following taxpayers' suits.

The courts ruled that, since advisory referenda are not binding, their cost is an unauthorized use of public funds.

Keith, reportedly, will indicate whether the addition of the advisory referendum will increase town costs.

S.C. Riots Are Halted By Curfew

The bowling alley has continued to operate during the daytime but has closed before dark daily at the request of police. It remains segregated and owner Harry K. Floyd says he intends to keep it that way.

"I have a right to run my business anyway I see fit," Floyd said.

Many parents came to Orangeburg Friday to take students home. Other students left in buses supplied by the state. The combined student bodies number about 2,600. A police check showed only 80 still in campus dormitories Friday night.

The first injuries and arrests came Tuesday night. The violence built to a peak Thursday night when three students were shot to death in an exchange of gunfire with state patrolmen. Thirty-seven other persons were injured.

Roy Wilkins, executive director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, wired McNair urging prompt and thorough investigation of the violence.

Wilkins said in the telegram, "There is no report that the students were leaving the campus or that their conduct was disorderly or threatening public peace."

McNair told a news conference in Columbia that state patrolmen opened fire only after "an extended period of sniper fire from the campus and not until an officer had been felled...."

McNair said it developed that the patrolman's injury was caused by a thrown missile but at the time "there was reason to believe he had been shot."

Car Crashes Into Pole, Three Hurt

A young Manchester man lost control of his car early this morning, striking a power pole and sending himself and two passengers to Manchester Memorial Hospital for treatment.

Richard T. Ladysa, 39, of Horton Rd. was the driver of the car which split a Hartford Electric Light Co. pole at 12:15 a.m. on Hackmatack St. near S. Main.

Police charged her with failure to yield right of way. She will appear in court Feb. 26.

The 629-foot ship, with six of her crew still aboard, was leaving her cargo of 30,000 tons of oil through one and possibly two cracks in her hull.

The Coast Guard, reporting the oil slick was "intact despite heavy seas," said the leaking would present a problem if the slick drifted eastward or if the ship was towed to a U.S. port.

U.S. officials in Washington said the President had banned bombing in the immediate areas of those key cities while the United States looked for signs that the Hanoi government would respond by leveling off military activity to open the way for peace talks.

The Navy A6 Intruder pilots who attacked CAT B said strings of 1,000-pound bombs cut across the intersection of runways. But heavy overcast and darkness prevented further damage assessment.

The northeast monsoon weather limited U.S. pilots to 84 missions Friday, with other targets including the Ung B electric power plant 15 miles north of Haiphong, a transshipment point 35 miles southwest of the port city, the Kep airfield 38 miles northeast of Hanoi and an army barracks 65 miles northwest of the capital.

In continuing fighting in the cities, U.S. infantrymen squeezed in on Communist guerrillas moving in and out of Saigon and reported killing 303 of them Friday in three sharp clashes seven miles northwest of Tan Son Nhut airport. Seven Americans were killed and 80 wounded, military spokesmen reported.

1,000-YEAR-OLD STRUCTURE JERUSALEM (AP) — Israeli archeologists digging under the West Wall have uncovered a still unidentified structure which may have housed a synagogue about 1,000 years ago.

The building appears to have had square arched ceilings. Government archeologists who had found only the top of the structure decided to continue digging until the entire building is uncovered. Old books had quoted travelers in Palestine at about the 10th century of the Common Era as having said there was a synagogue at the site. The archeologists said they would also attempt to uncover two layers of soil under some of the large stones with which the West Wall had been erected.

Virginian's Shirt: A Clue to Westerns

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
NEW YORK (AP) — Any red-blooded American housewife who worries about having the whitest laundry on the block may also be fretting about The Virginian's shirt.

James Drury, who has been playing the title role in the NBC series for the past six seasons, has never been seen on screen without a shirt that looks like mahogany or dark velveteen. And everybody knows they didn't have dry cleaning establishments for those Old West ranchers.

"I guess they must have turned out about four or five dozen of those shirts for me since the show started," says Jim. "They bought a lot of the material when we started—it's upholstery cloth—but we ran out of that long ago. Now they've got some new material and dyed it to match the color of the original."

Drury is not so crazy about that distinctive shirt.

"It's awfully heavy and awfully hot," he said, "and last summer was the hottest I can remember. Some days it would get up to 116 on the studio back lot. And I suffered in those shirts."

Hot or not, Drury's basic shirt and the rest of his costume serve twin purposes.

His western get-up from black hat to leather boots is distinctive, so that the figure of the Virginian can easily be spotted on the small screen.

And it is economical. If Drury is always dressed in the same clothes and riding the same horse, they can shoot a lot of film at one time and later cut it into a variety of episodes. In fact, sometimes, they can reuse the same film clip.

Roy Rogers and Dale Evans, in the old old days when they were turning out annual batches of half-hour westerns, used the same device, but in a more limited way. Each had a "riding suit," but usually wore it only when they were going to mount their loyal steeds. When they were just hanging around the ranch or going to a church outing, both Roy and Dale would get all fancied up. The viewer would know there wasn't going to be much action until they changed clothes.

In the action programs, most heroes have break-away suits that are specially constructed to tear easily in fight scenes. For a couple of seasons, "The Man from U.N.C.L.E." Robert Vaughn, has a fighting suit of an identifiable shade of light gray. Every time he turned up in it, the eagle-eyed would know that haymakers would be flying within a few minutes.

Lloyd Bridges Wet and Wary

NEW YORK (NEA) — In order to get Lloyd Bridges to take another television series, "It would have to be great," he says. "What I got out of the other series in the way of recognition and money was good. But it's a hard way to work because of the speed and compromise."

Bridges, ironically, was known in the trade as an exceedingly fine dramatic actor before he got all wet — and famous — in "Sea Hunt." But it took a series like that, which never really taxed his acting talents, to give his name that extra luster that means money at the box office.

Right now he is appearing on Broadway in "Cactus Flower," and will be seen on ABC in "A Case of Libel" on Feb. 11. He also has a couple of unreleased movies, so he is suitably busy. But he is uncompromisingly honest about himself, telling of one play he wanted to do "but the producer wanted Henry Fonda and my agent couldn't convince them to take me."

His son Beau is one of the hottest young actors around now and Lloyd smiles as he says, "I wish I was that hot. You know, there are times when I wish he wasn't my son so I could really speak glowingly of him. He's one of the sweetest fellows I know."

Like son, like father.

From 'Bonnie' to 'My Father'

Gene Hackman says that until now he has been typecast on the East coast for comedy and on the West coast for serious drama.

"I change character in flight," says the performer whose dramatic acting ability will be seen coast to coast in Robert Crean's original "CBS Playhouse" drama, "My Father and My Mother." The play, which also stars Ralph Bellamy, Jane Wyatt and Inga Swenson, will be broadcast Tuesday, 9:30 to 11 p.m.

As Ned Piper in the George Schaefer production, Hackman is a man who looks with nostalgia to the past to find a simpler approach to a too-complex life. His versatility as an actor is challenged by the requirements of the role—nuances in character from the naivete of a boy to the strength of an adult.

Hackman is a New Yorker by address only. He flies the East-West circuit at least six times a year for dramatic specials on television and films in Hollywood, and for stage productions in New York.

"If I could do one serious role on Broadway, I'd probably be satisfied to leave New York for the warm climate of California," he says.

Hackman has starred in such Broadway comedies as "Any Wednesday," with Sandy Dennis; Jean Kerr's "Poor Richard" and, last season, in "The Natural Look." In Hollywood, he recently won acclaim for his portrayal of the brother, Buck, in the film "Bonnie and Clyde."

Carl Reiner Gets Animated

NEW YORK — "I've done just about everything in show business, but I've never been animated before," said veteran actor-producer-writer Carl Reiner. Reiner does just that — becomes an animated cartoon character — during a sequence from "The Fabulous Funnies" special Sunday 9 to 10 p.m. on NBC.

"I think they made the nose just a little too long," he continued, referring to the animated caricature of himself. "But that's the way you do in a caricature — you take an outstanding feature or two and you exaggerate."

The special is billed as a tribute to the creators of America's comic strips and Reiner becomes animated when he introduces some of the nation's favorite cartoon characters.

And, as if he had to prove what a versatile performer he is, Reiner also provides all of the voices for the cartoon characters featured in the special — including Little Orphan Annie and Brenda Starr.

"I've been doing cartoon voices on and off for years, starting in New York," Reiner said. "About 10 years ago I did all 10 voices for a featurette called 'The Violinist'."

"And I still keep my hand — or my voice — in once in a while when a friend asks me. I enjoy doing cartoon voices because the work goes quickly."

Reiner, who recently produced and directed his first feature film, also had delved into almost every other branch of show business, performing as an actor, comedian, recording artist, writer, television moderator and producer. He has gathered eight Emmy Awards, two for his work on the Sid Caesar shows and six as producer-writer on the Dick Van Dyke series.

"The producer of 'Fabulous Funnies' came to me and told me that he discussed it with the National Cartoonists Society and

Roy Rogers and Wife Accept Each Other

By JOAN GROSS—Roy Rogers and Dale Gribble are the only thing that sets them apart from all other decent American grandpa-figures who are concerned about family and whose faith gets them through times of tragedy is the fact that they are Roy Rogers and Dale Gribble.

They are stars, presently in New York rehearsing an appearance on the Feb. 14 "Kraft Music Hall" called "Cowboys and City Slickers" resort hotel guests (The Apple Valley Inn), the subject of a museum near the resort and horse breeders. But mostly they are a happy husband and wife whose large brood of children (all married but one), has made them grandpa-figures 12 times over.

According to Roy, "We got caught up on projects and had a lot of time on our hands," so they decided to come to New York for the first time in a long while. "He had a lot of time," Dale says, "I'm always telling him he's better than he thinks."

"I'm glad you think so," she smiles, "although now that I hear some of the hippies sing, I'm not so bad. But she always makes me reach for notes I don't have in my voice."

Reiner

they thought I'd be great to host the show," Reiner continued. "This was the first I'd heard of it, but he made it sound like some kind of an award or something. So I did it, and I enjoyed doing it."

"The part I like best was watching the cartoonists at work. Here are a bunch of good men from good homes dealing seriously with what might seem to be the somewhat childish world of comic strips - strips that bring so much enjoyment to people young and old."

"Many of the cartoonists were graying, but they were still young at heart. Cartooning keeps them young. They've managed to retain their understanding of that little bit of child that lurks in all of us."

"It gave me a very warm feeling," he concluded - with considerable animation.

Virginian's

Drury, a completely unknown young actor when he was cast in the title role of the western, is one rising star who seems happy with his acting lot.

"I'm certainly not bored," he said. "I think nothing expands a man or taxes his abilities as much as acting one role over a long period. A one-shot role is fascinating, but it is a real challenge to keep playing a character and finding ways to keep him interesting."
