MHS Officials Issue Hair Style Ruling

Manchester High School Principal A. Raymond Boyer has issued a directive setting regulations for boys' hair styles, which will bar "exotic" fashions, including long sideburns, mustaches and goatees among male students beginning Feb. 26.

The regulations, announced by the administration yesterday and today over the school public address system will not take effect until after next week's mid-winter vacation. All Manchester public schools will be closed Feb. 18-20 and re-open Feb. 25.

Vice Principal George Bismeyer said the "grace" period was intended to give all students adequate time to comply with the regulations.

Any students not conforming with the rules set forth in the regulations will be sent home until the rules are met and will be required to make up lost time after school hours, Bismeyer said.

Boyer was on a teacher recruiting trip to upper New York State today and not available for comment. Bismeyer said the announcement regarding the student body said that the administration viewed male styles as "not appropriate for students in school."

At the same time, the announcement said, the administration this year has been more liberal than in the past regarding both clothing and hair styles, in order to reflect the changing times.

As well as prohibiting mustaches and goatees, the regulations state that sideburns must not extend below the earlobe, and that hair on the neck should be neatly combed in such a fashion as not to extend below the eyebrows.

Manchester Chess Club will meet tonight from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. at the school cafeteria. Members of the VFW Auxiliary wishing to work on cancer pads will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rose Asselin, 302 Main St.

Cub Scout Pack 53 of Wadell School will meet tonight from 8:30 to 10:30 p.m. in the school cafeteria.

Members of the VFW Auxiliary wishing to work on cancer pads will meet tomorrow at 7 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Rose Asselin, 302 Main St.

Cub Scout Pack 144 will have a Blue and Gold Banquet to night at 6:30 at Keeney St. school. Mothers are reminded to bring place settings for their family.

Senior Citizens To Hear Details On Food Stamps

The Federal Food Stamp Program will be explained to senior citizens Tuesday at 7:15 p.m. at the Senior Citizens' Center at Myrtle and Linden streets by officials of both the program and the Department of Agriculture.

The program is one which entitles persons with low income to a food subsidy. It is designed to put more food on the table and to improve nutrition. Under the program, the government issues food stamps which can be used in almost all food stores.

It is sponsored by the Department of Agriculture and is not a welfare program. Persons needing transportation to the meeting should contact Walter Fortin at the Senior Citizens' Center before noon Monday.

Bombs Continue To Blast Citadel

SAIGON (AP)—Heavy fighting continued inside the historic Citadel at Hue today, the number of U.S. combat planes in the air against North Vietnamese and Viet Cong troops holding out along the southern wall of the Citadel, the U.S. Command reported another battle just outside Hue, and enemy mortar fire around the city.

Leathernecks from the 8th Marine Regiment who entered the Citadel through the uncompleted northeast corner—were advancing along the eastern wall of the Citadel with about 200 yards to go before reaching the bulk of the enemy parallel to the river.

The Communists were held off the Citadel by well defended positions. The Communists were held off the Citadel by well defended positions.

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—Gov. George Romney and his campaign strategists have decided that their best hope of upsetting former Vice President Richard M. Nixon in the New Hampshire presidential primary is a frontal assault on the issue of Vietnam.

The Michigan governor is trying to wage a distance the public debates Nixon rejected, arguing that the former vice president has offered nothing but a repetition of President Johnson's policy toward war in Southeast Asia.

ROMNEY BRIBES AT THE SUGGESTION THAT THIS AMOUNTS TO A PERSONAL ATTACK BY ONE REPUBLICAN ON ANOTHER. "I HAVEN'T DEALT IN PERSONALITIES, I'VE DEALT IN ISSUES," ROMNEY SAID THURSDAY NIGHT.

"I have no alternative in discussing the issue but to indicate areas of difference," he said. He offered this description of the Nixon position at a Concord meeting of Sigma Delta Chi, the Journalism fraternity.

"Now my opponent has had the position that we should prosecute this war more vigorously. His only difference with Johnson to date has been that he wants more military action."

Other Marine units operating 13 miles southwest of Da Nang reported killing 31 enemy troops Thursday in a three-hour battle. Marine casualties were given as two killed and 25 wounded.

Near the Sanh, meanwhile, a Marine patrol returning to the beleaguered base on Thursday came under heavy mortar attack. The Communists left 56 dead when they fled after five hours, the U.S. Command said, while three Americans were killed and 14 wounded.

WASHINGTON (AP)—American jet fighters intercepted two Russian bombers flying over the North American continent last week, the Pentagon said today.

The Soviet aircraft evidenced no hostile intentions and the interception was made solely for the purpose of identification, the Pentagon said.

"At no time did they enter the airspace of the North American continent. They turned away from their own accord and were followed by three other aircraft on their way out of the area," the announcement said.

The Pentagon minimized the incident, calling the interception procedure "routine."

U.S. Air Force F102 interceptors from an undisclosed base were scrambled to check out the Russian planes over North Atlantic waters, Feb. 9.

The Pentagon said the bombers were the Soviet Bear-type aircraft which fly at 600 miles an hour. They are powered by four turbo-prop engines.

The Pentagon said the Russian planes flew parallel to the coast of Newfoundland for approximately one hour.

A spokesman said the Russian did not fly over Greenland, which is territory of a NATO country, Denmark.

Earlier, Jim Lucas, a Scripps-Howard newspaper staff writer had reported from Colorado Springs, Colo., that five Russian planes were intercepted over Greenland.

Lucas said in a syndicated article the 4-engine Russian planes were "forced to turn back, but only after they had penetrated to the Newfoundland coastline."

A spokesman for the North American Air Defense Command at Colorado Springs said it would have "no comment at the time."

BOSTON (AP)—Richard M. Nixon was asked to comment on the racial problems in the cities today at the outlook for a "cooler summer" this year than in 1967 for cities plagued with racial problems.

One reason, he said, is that "extremists have put the peace forces on notice of their plans."

"Last summer, too much of it was unexpected. This summer, I think we will find peace forces in the cities will be prepared, and that kind of preparation will cool it off and nip it in the bud before it gets out of hand."

The former vice president said he sensed this "intuitive" in informal conversations with some analysts suggesting the Communists would focus some dug-in artillery on Hue to make the Americans

Three American Pilots Freed by North Viet

TOKYO (AP)—Hanoi radio said three U.S. fliers were turned over to two American captives today in the North Vietnamese capital.

The State Department said in Washington the three had arrived in Hanoi, the capital of Laos.

The broadcast said the three, the first captured pilots to be released by North Vietnam, were turned over to the Rev. Daniel Berrigan of Cornell University and Dr. Howard Zinn of Boston.

The three U.S. airmen, according to identifications released by North Vietnam are Air Force Capt. John David Black of Johnson City, Tenn.; Air Force Maj. Norris Miller Overly of Huntington, W.Va.; and Instructor and Navy Lt. David Paul Matheny. The Pentagon said Matheny enlisted in the Navy at South Bend, Ind., and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sol Matheny, were reported to have moved to California.

North Vietnam announced Jan. 27 it would free the three as a humanitarian gesture in observance of the lunar new year. Hanoi said the three "had shown a repentant attitude during the period of detention."

The Pentagon said Matheny was placed on the captured list Jan. 24. Black was changed from missing to captured status Nov. 20 and Overly had been listed as missing since Sept. 15.

About 500 U.S. airmen are believed to be prisoners in North Vietnam and none have been set free before. The only American flier to get back after being captured is Navy Lt. (j-g) Dieter

Mutinous Merchant Menaces Mission

The men of the good ship Rock Bottom found a traitor in their midst before they found the school of successful sales secrets. General Creighton Shoor Arnold suggested "Let's give up the search and just have higher prices during the sale." But, while sharp sword blades threatened to extinguish the traitor, the Honorable Judge Jay Reed Marshall read him the sales riot act. The general said it was the hot sun adding his sales sense. He was put on probation till the Washington Birthday Sales next Thursday.

Miss Tebaldi Coasts Along As 'Manon'

By JOHN GRIBBER
It was an undulating performance of "Manon Lescaut" that the Connecticut Opera Association offered last evening at the Bushnell. This is the earliest Puccini opera still produced and the composer had yet to hit his stride; it takes a superlative production to take the listener's mind from its many failings and this it did not get.

Renata Tebaldi was cast in the title role and it is quite evident that her voice is not what it once was. Most of the evening she sang mezzo voice to husband her dwindling resources and never really dominated things throughout the performance.

The last actually so old (she was 46 earlier this month) but voices don't seem to last the way they once did. The vocal Tetravini in her mid-fifties and it was far more thrilling than Tebaldi was last night.

Enzo Sordello as Lescaut and Placido Domingo as Des Grieux did much to help the production, but with a prima donna who offered little vocally or dramatically, it was hard to believe the members of Tebaldi's suite was the candidate for the special observance in 1962.

The team Tuesday includes: Placido Domingo was heard in his first leading role here and sang very well. His voice is more resonant than when he was heard in a minor role some years back, but he won't take any prize for his acting, which merely adequate as is so often the case in opera.

Erwin Dunsen, as Geronte, was acceptable but not very weighty enough for a villain. He sang Puccini's music, but hardly projected anything of the character. He is young and sounded young, almost naive in spots. The role depicts an elderly ruse who knows his way around thoroughly.

Caruso, last heard here in "Butterfly" made the most of two small roles as the Dancing Master and the Lamp Lighter breathing life into both parts so that during his brief moments there was something of adequate tempo to the production. He has an unusual good voice for a character singer, by the way.

Ernesto Giesco, William Dunsen, Gwyn Cornell, and William Beck were adequate and a little more in minor roles. The chorus was really poor, particularly in the first act. There weren't enough men for one thing, and Riccardo Morosco who staged the effort could not get them on and off the stage with any degree of finesse.

Costuming and scenery were excellent, with the possible exception of the set for the last act. Acts II and III were superlative, however, in this department.

As is my custom when bored with things on the stage, I paid very considerable attention to the orchestra, and found it excellent. Here was the redeeming feature of the evening. My respects to Maestro Giesco and his instrumentalists who did an exceptionally fine job.

Laying—A wVWp v Wter J. Although this was not a bad production, but it certainly wasn't up to the standards we have come to expect from Frank Pandofo. I have seen productions at the Met which were less than the Met which were no better, but that doesn't make them a standard by which to judge.

Masons to Perform Ritual In Colonial Scene Tuesday

The Masonic Temple will take on a Colonial setting Tuesday night for the portrayal of the Master Mason degree by a team composed of present and past officers of lodges within the sixth Masonic District.

The special event for Manchester Lodge of Masons is being arranged by Howard Waddell and Hayden L. (Mike) Groszwick Jr., both past masters of Manchester Lodge. Groszwick is also a past district deputy of the sixth district. The special meeting will open at 7:30.

Cost members will be dressed in Colonial garb, and the suite will be received into the lodge headed by a Spirit of '76 team of drummer, flag bearer and arm bearer.

When last performed in Manchester Lodge, the Colonial ritual marked the bi-centennial anniversary of George Washington's becoming a Mason. That was on Nov. 3, 1852, and was a joint celebration arranged by Manchester Lodge and Washington Lodge of Windsor. The cast then was composed of past masters from various Connecticut lodges.

One of the members of Tebaldi's suite was the candidate for the special observance in 1962.

Conventry Selectmen Deny Allen Appointment

The Board of Selectmen, meeting last night, turned down a request by Building Inspector Samuel P. Allen that he be appointed, pursuant to Public Act 875, to the post for a period of four years.

Allen has been building inspector for nearly three years, serving "at the pleasure of the Board of Selectmen," and in denying the request, selectmen overruled their own terms as set forth in their own bylaws.

Allen will continue in the post under the present arrangement.

Selectman Richard Nicola pointed out that with expiration of terms of the present selectmen, there will no longer be a Board of Selectmen, since the town will, in November 1968, come under the government of the new charter. This will change the government over to a town council-chief executive form.

Allen also serves as assessor of the town, and deputy health officer for the town, all by appointment of the Board of Selectmen.

Selectmen have received the recommendation of the planning and zoning commission that Northfields and Forge Hills, health. Reason for the denial is the Northfields subdivision in the Northfields subdivision would be accepted into the town road plan.

State Publishes Election Data

An election calendar, for use in preparation for the Nov. 6 state election, has been issued by Secretary of the State Bill T. Grasso and is available in the Manchester town clerk's office. It may be obtained also from the Secretary of the State's Office, 30 Trinity St., Hartford.

Copies of the printed booklet already have been mailed to election officials in each municipality and Mrs. Grasso has urged individual voters to obtain copies, "as reminders to take an active part in the selection of candidates and in the election."

Contained in the calendar are the statutory deadline dates for all phases of the fall election, from the selection of delegates for the party conventions to the canvass of the vote following the election.

Statutes governing the administration of election and the transfer of voting privileges are included, as well as a statutory code governing the absentee voting procedures and other rights of electors.

Rham District Addition Referendum Tuesday

Shaded sections indicate where classrooms would be built under plan.

Rham board has been concerned with problem of the physical plant: The "spread out" building, student traffic pattern, adequacy of boiler capacity and the unprotected ramp where students go to and from the gymnasium.

The first referendum held on Dec. 4, 1967 was defeated by the total three town votes. Although voters accepted the basic plan, Hebron voters rejected all three questions on the referendum.

The new referendum has only one question. Referring to the pamphlet mailed to all homeowners in the region, "Plan to build additional classrooms and renovation at Rham on Tuesday, Feb. 20, 1968."

The referendum will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 20, 1968. The referendum will be held on Tuesday, Feb. 20, 1968.

Bombing North Vietnam Is Not Paying Off

Extensive Bomb Damage of North Vietnamese steel works at Thai Nguyen, 38 miles north of Hanoi, is revealed in a U.S. reconnaissance photo. But North Vietnam's economy is essentially agricultural and agriculture has not suffered critically.

questions: Has the bombing of North Vietnam had any appreciable effect on "the physical and organizational functioning of North Vietnam as an economy and political entity?"

Hoefling says throughout his report that the level of U.S. bombing has not been as great as Hanoi expected—or said it expected. Thus, the North Vietnamese have been—and are—prepared for more severe attacks than they have yet undergone.

In terms of evacuations, diversion of the labor force to emergency repair work and training programs, Hanoi was ready for a great amount of destruction. It never materialized, at least not to the degree that had been anticipated.

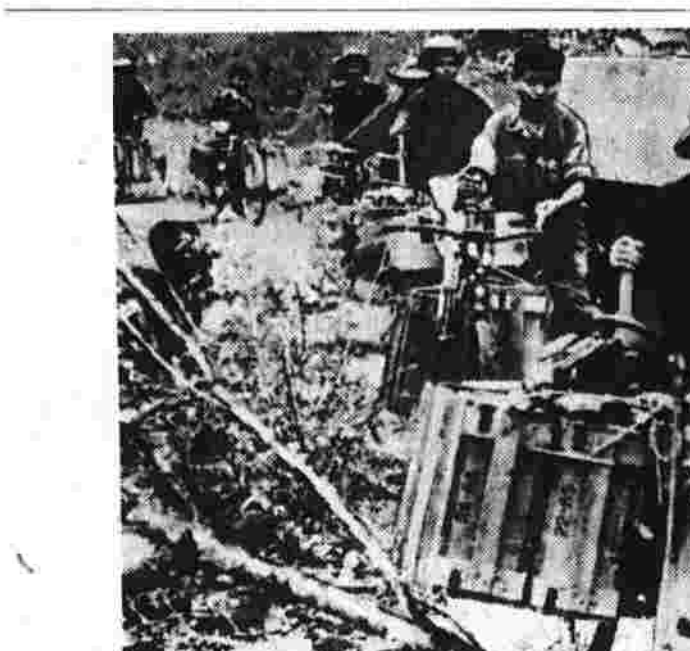

Even if they had been bombed as heavily as they professed to expect, Hoefling says, the effects would not have been catastrophic. For example, he writes that Hanoi diverted as much as 15 to 20 per cent of the agricultural labor force into war-related activities. Despite this, North Vietnamese agriculture—and it is an agricultural country—has not suffered critically.

The country is continuing (or was, at the time the report was written) with such nonmilitary efforts as a large-scale program to expand irrigated acreage and a major program of resettling the rural population to less densely settled areas.

Outgoing Defense Secretary Robert McNamara in his final message to Congress on the nation's defense posture reflected certain aspects of the Rand report when he said:

"The agrarian nature of the (North Vietnamese) economy precludes economic collapse as a result of the bombing. Moreover, while we can make it more costly in time and manpower, it is difficult to conceive of any interdiction campaign that would pinch off the flow of military supplies to the south as long as combat requirements remain at anything like the current low levels."

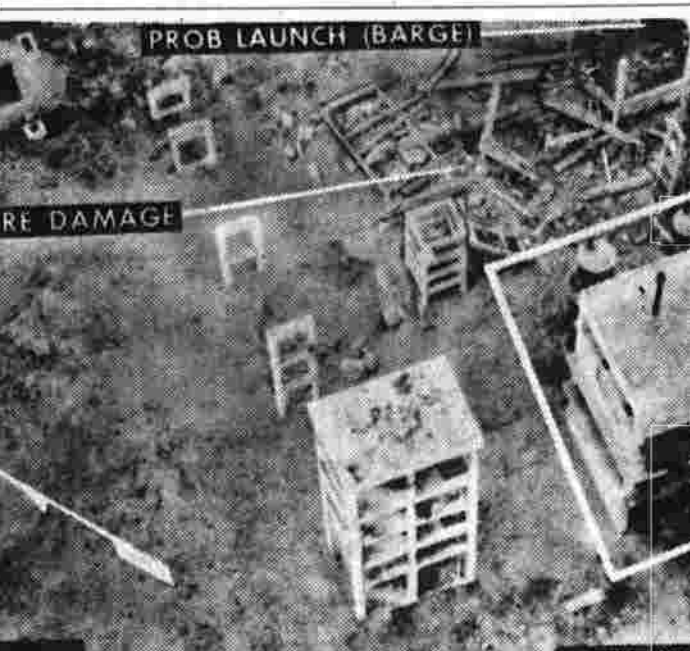

Hoefling says that Hanoi has learned to deal with the

Secret Pentagon Report

By DICK KLEINER
NEA West Coast Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, Calif.—(NEA)—The Pentagon has had in its possession for slightly more than a year, a report stating that continued bombing of North Vietnam is of doubtful value from an economic and political standpoint.

This report has just been declassified and its contents are being revealed here for the first time.

It was made by Dr. Oleg Hoefling of the economic department of the Rand Corporation. His research into the economic and political effects of the bombing, sponsored by the Department of Defense, also suggests that there has not been a decisive reduction in the level of infiltration of men and supplies from north to south.

"Although the bombing in North Vietnam," he writes, "raised the cost of infiltration, the level of infiltration has not been reduced sufficiently to prevent North Vietnam from helping to maintain a combat force in the south strong enough to deny the prospect of a decisive military victory to the United States and its allies in the foreseeable future."

The report, dated December 1966, is titled, "Bombing North Vietnam—An Appraisal of Economic and Political Effects." It is a 36-page document which delves deeply into the subject, from every conceivable angle. Hoefling is a specialist on the Soviet economy and an expert in propaganda analysis.

In his conclusion, Hoefling writes:

"It becomes increasingly doubtful that the advantages of continuation or intensification of the (bombing) attacks outweigh the potential net gains from cessation or, at least, drastic and demonstrative de-escalation."

Hoefling's position today, more than a year later, remains unchanged. He states now: "My own feeling is that my report has stood up fairly well. Escalation of the bombing has increased and the effects—or lack of effects—have been what I predicted."

Hoefling directed his report toward answering two basic

The Lashback To Korea

Korea—both Korea—are at peace under the terms of an armistice negotiated between North Korea and a United Nations Command.

The Korean war, from our side, was fought as a United Nations police action, with General MacArthur and Ridgeway commanding the UN forces.

The armed guard is mounted along the South Korean side of the border between the two Koreas in still, technically and legally, a United Nations command.

As grown exponentially there was a plot of it growing at Expo — it has proved tall in plant, like wheat, but heavier in the grain head than either wheat or rye.

Our protest to North Korea, over the Pueblo incident, have been conducted primarily in two ways — at private meetings between United States and North Korean representatives.

While, technically speaking, it is the United Nations which stands guard at the border between North and South Korea, the latter nation has been the one to request and urge, sent some 40,000 of its troops to Vietnam, to fight in a non-United Nations action being conducted there by the United States.

There has been one cult of thought which has held, as trouble in Korea began to accompany the current struggle in Vietnam, that this fact constituted a warning to all sane policy makers, not to tolerate in the world again the kind of police action war, the kind of peace without victory, which has been symbolized by Korea.

Maybe Rheat, Neat?

It is named "triticate," a word formed by combining "tritium," which is the scientific name for wheat, with "secale," the name for rye.

Mr. Rusk in an obvious effort to dampen down any public feeling that there might be, in recent moves and travels by Prime Minister Wilson or Secretary General Thant, or in fresh statements from Hanoi sources, any real hope that the present moment might be one propitious for a move toward negotiations on Vietnam.

Whatever his intent, it has to be pointed out that Secretary Rusk long ago lost his credibility on the subject of peace. He himself is part of an administration which has itself launched phony "peace offensives" and which has itself accompanied its professed unwillingness to negotiate with what it considered effective escalation of the fighting itself.

If Hanoi has rejected our terms, it is equally true that we have repeatedly rejected Hanoi's terms. And whenever Secretary Rusk speaks about the possibility of negotiations, the almost unanimous judgment, at home and around the world, is that he, on the record, is much more likely to be trying to feed off negotiations, until we have become the enemy into a greater degree of submission, than to give and take character.

Mr. Rusk wants peace, unquestionably, but he wants it on his own terms. This makes him a very poor authority on any prospects, at any time, for negotiations which do not begin by promising to meet his terms.

"We will be interested in a serious move toward peace," the secretary concluded his statement, "when Hanoi comes to the conclusion that it is ready to move in that direction." The world is waiting not only for Hanoi to come to such a conclusion, but for Washington to do so, too. Rusk himself has never passed the tests he applies to Hanoi.

Inside Report

by Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON — The latest liberal by-product of the balance-of-payments concoction let loose by President Johnson and Secretary of the Treasury Henry H. Fowler on New Year's Day is a hidden but intense struggle inside the Administration over trade policy.

Fowler is privately agreeing to Congressional demands for a tariff surcharge to let Congress to swallow the Rubo-Goldberg contradiction taxing the out-of-pocket cost of the tariff.

There is where the protectionist question comes in. Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, the all-powerful Chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, has advised the Administration that a tariff tax stamp cannot pass without a prohibitionist trade gimmick attached.

Starting point for the trouble is the travel tax scheme sketched out by Fowler in the New Year's Day message. There is no doubt that the Treasury originally intended a prohibitive head tax on U.S. travelers intended to keep them out of Europe the next two years.

It is a rather sad commentary on our society that the word "egregious," which ordinarily connotes something that stood out from the ordinary — actually came from the herd or flock — has degenerated into a term of opprobrium.

At any rate it is now considered an egregious fault for anyone to wear his hair long or to adopt a Byronic pose, faults we tend to find exclusively in the younger generation.

Too soon our immature young "rebels" will grow up and exchange their present rebelliousness for a more mature and responsible conformity for a new one. That, at least, is the way it has always happened.

Why Project Concern? The recent decision of the Board of Directors to put Project Concern on an Advisory Referendum is a very inept attempt to give the government back to the people.

GOP Factions Bicker, Wallace Names Mate

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS... Michigan Gov. George Romney is pressing former Vice President Richard Nixon for his answer to Vietnam — while Nixon criticizes New York Gov. Rockefeller's handling of the New York City garbage strike.

While the Republicans engaged in their intraparty wrangling, independent presidential candidate George C. Wallace named a temporary running mate who could get a permanent spot on the ticket.

Wallace announced former Governor Marvin Griffin would not be a candidate for any political office this year. There has been speculation he would seek to return to the State House.

Ulbricht Scores
Best Germany
BERLIN (AP) — Keeping up the pressure on West Berlin, East Germany's President Walter Ulbricht said Thursday night that West German attempts to turn the city into a "MATO base" (and a powder keg) would not be tolerated.

Ulbricht told a Communist rally in East Berlin the Bonn government had a policy of escalating political activity in West Berlin and this was unbearable to his government.

His remarks followed a Soviet election to the United States Wednesday that West German "provocative" action is undermining the allied right to station troops in Berlin.

The West German parliament's work committee holds meetings in Berlin, and this is the Communists. On Jan. 23 the U.S. State Department said it was not aware of any attempt by West Germany to increase its political activities in Berlin.

Coventry Chatfield to Give Full Time As Middle School Principal

The Board of Education voted last night to relieve intermediate school Principal Oliver Chatfield of his administrative duties at the high school, so he can devote full-time to his principalship. In preparation for the September opening of the new intermediate school, Chatfield said, will allow him sufficient time to work on his budget, as well as the equipment and staffing of the new school.

This is Peter C. Tracy of Tolland, co-chairman of the 1968 Heart Fund in Tolland.

A photograph published Tuesday, as supplied by the Heart Association of Greater Hartford, turned out to be that of the Heart Fund chairman of another town.

Tracy, an employee of the Agency Services Department of Travelers Insurance Co., is a leader among 12,000 volunteers in 29 communities to raise $170,000 to support programs of the Heart Association.

He is co-chairman with Mrs. David Benjamin of Tolland.

Tracy lives with his wife, Diana, and two sons on Woodland St. in Tolland.

Dr. Brennan has worked with religious leaders of all faiths and creeds in the brotherhood movement, and has participated in social and welfare projects. He is a known authority on the history of the church in Abraham Lincoln and the American heritage, and since his retirement he has lectured on the subject.

Elections Unlikely

BRUSSELS (AP) — The conservative Party of Liberty and Progress, former coalition partner of the ruling Social Christian party, has asked that elections be held as soon as possible, it was learned today.

The opposition socialist party called for elections soon after the coalition dissolved.

The break-up occurred after Social Christian Cabinet members split on whether the French section of the Catholic University of Louvain should move out of the Flemish-speaking half of the country.

The famous university has been in a turmoil for months over the language dispute.

If the Liberty and Progress party stands by its request for elections, King Baudouin will have little choice but to dissolve Parliament and schedule elections within 40 days of the dissolution.

But the government, however, are unlikely to bring a majority that could pass a solution to the language dispute.

Highway Patrol in L.A.

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The California Highway Patrol is taking over the job of patrolling the 125 miles of state freeways within Los Angeles.

The move is expected to free 200 police officers for duties involving crime in the streets.

Mayor Sam Yorty called for the switch, approved 11-3 by city councilmen Wednesday.

Tolland Baton Twirlers Get Awards

Three members of the Board of Recreation awarded permanent medals for outstanding performance last night and one was presented a permanent trophy.

The permanent awards are presented every 12 weeks of actual baton lessons. The classes which began this year, are taught by Dolly and Mary Fierman of Springfield, Mass. It is the only recreation board sponsored program for girls in operation, although plans are being made for a Girls Basketball League.

The classes meet weekly on Thursday evenings at the Hick Memorial School gym, and includes girls ranging in age from five to seventeen.

Revolving trophies, awarded last night to Valerie Elmer, Julie Jolicoeur and Candace LeBlonde. Other February winners include Shelly Knecht, Debbie Fortin, Cindy Elmer, Lisa Lemke, Patricia Tomatore and Patty Hill (Herald photo by Buevich).

Citizen Suggests Outsider For Teacher Negotiations

A complaint and a counter proposal were registered with the Board of Directors last night concerning a budget request by the Manchester school officials for a second assistant superintendent.

The school board, which accepted its record high $7,147,199 budget Monday night, explained that one of the reasons of the new assistant would be to conduct salary negotiations with teacher organizations.

The complainant said that he objected to the hiring of a staff member to negotiate with other staff members.

He proposed that the money might be better used to retain an outside professional negotiator, who would have no direct indirect ties with school personnel.

The man was one of six persons who appeared at last night's Board of Directors' monthly comment session, managed by Republican John Gann and Democrat William Flanagan.

Two partners in a Manchester business block questioned a former tenant of a store in their building.

They asked for explanation of why they, the owners, were billed, why a six per cent interest charge was added, and why the water department placed a lien against the property.

A repeat complaint, one filed at almost every session of the board, was heard.

It concerned alleged grain dust from the Farmer's Coop Rogers Corp. Both companies are off Oakland St.

The two directors said that they were favorably impressed with a suggestion for placing trash barrels on town-owned parking lots. It came from a person who said that the lots are being used by people for emptying car trash trays and for dumping empty liquor bottles and used beer cans.

The sixth person who appeared last night opposed a Board of Directors action, placing for an April 30 vote an advisory referendum on Project Concern.

The busing of Hartford school children to Manchester, His argument was that the question might jeopardize the passage of other referendum questions scheduled for that date.

Abdominal Support FOR LONGER LIFE

Why do widows outnumber widowers? To the traditional view of work and worry, long bracketed the sultry pair, weight has been so strongly linked by science that dieting, once a woman's pastime, has become a major preoccupation.

It isn't just the paunch, but the sag that brings on the pullers—that the glands that give the ladies their girlish figures may also be extending their lives.

The idea that control under shorts, tightening the abdominal muscles and expanding the chest, improve not merely appearance but health isn't exactly a new one. Long before modern drugs came on the market, doctors prescribed abdominal belts for men with heart ailments.

But new research, reported in the Journal of the American Medical Association, tends to show that the new drugs may be no more effective than the old-fashioned belts. Institute scientists found that "application of the belt previous to exercise reduced or prevented the abnormal postural increase in the amplitude of the A-wave of the apex cardiogram," just as popularly prescribed glyceryl trinitrate.

How do control shorts help the heart? One famed medical writer, Dr. R. J. Steiner, writes that it helps the circulation of the blood, and "thereby takes an unnecessary load off the heart. And when one multiplies this by the heartbeats which add up to a few billion in the normal lifetime, it is an understandable how a simple abdominal support might add years to a man's life."

Many doctors are suggesting the increasingly popular new types of men's control shorts to their patients, and finding back and breathing as well as circulation benefits.

The most popular type, Mandate, underwear that also meets the Medical Journal's prescription of a belt, is made of a special fabric in such a manner that it does not disturb the patient's respiration or produce discomfort.
