Rubinstein Plays with Sentiment

By JOHN GRUBER Romanticism triumphed last evening at UConns Jorgensen Auditorium as Artur Rubinstein, arch-romanticist, presented a program that transported his audience to the days before World War I. They loved both the pianist and the music. In fact, they anticipated their pleasure so much that for days the house had been sold out, together with hundreds of extra chairs placed upon the stage. There seemed to be personal rapport between soloist and auditors, and if there were not actual personal report between

Enclose Open Porches for Better Use

AP Newsfeature Writer If you have one of those small open porches with low railings, consider making it more useful. Many turn-of-the-century houses and some dating from the Civil War period have these porches off the kitchen area. Through the years, some have been widened from their original four feet or so. But today space is so precious that it seems a waste to maintain such a little porch merely as a service entrance, rubbish station or an airing area on good days. It can be screened for sum-

On many of these highways, the disappearance of the ugliness of the billboards has also meant the disappearance of essential information for the tourist. Some mere label sign of "Food Fuel and Lodging" at an exit may lead him toward accommodations he doesn't want when he finds them. It is sensible to have the motorist able to pick his exits according to what the exits actually have to offer him and the state-oper-

Recognition, Plus At a time when the military junta now ruling in Greece is busy tightening its vicious grip on the political life of its country, the United States is not content with having joined Turkey in being the first nations to extend formal recognition to the junta's dictatorship.

That formal recognition might have been defended as some kind of diplomatic necessity. After all, we do recogaize many other dictatorships in the world almost as a routine, if, that is, they happen to proclaim themselves to be the anti-Communist variety. But our Washington leadership was not content with any mere formality in the case of this newest and perhaps worst addition to the list of contemporary dictatorships succeeding a troubled democracy. We had to prove to the Greek junta, and to the world, that we not only extended diplomatic recognition to the junta but that we loved it. So we steamed our mighty aircraft carcoln unquestionably had a grievous rier, the Franklin D. Roosevelt, into the time, but the U.S. intervention in a Piraeus, the port for Athens, and had our top man in Greece, Ambassador

Phillips Talbot, have the leaders of the new dictatorship on board for a friendly social time. No one is to do America the injustice of assuming from this that we really love and favor dictatorships. If we bless totalitarianism in Greece at the very moment we proclaim ourselves to be fighting it in Vietnam, that is not because we like to have things that way. It is just because we are trying to be as practical and unsentimental and pragmatic as we can be in a harsh and unkind world.

Some day, of course, we will begin to

It is that when the Greek people throw over this dictatorship, as, sooner or later, they will, the freedom cause in Greece will rank us as its enemy rather than its friend. One by one, the nation which desperately wants to be the champion and friend of freedom throughout the world is adding to the list of small astions to whom it begins to seem the enemy of freedom.

Our great ally, the South Vietnamese government, demonstrates its inability to protect the people either in hamlet or city, or to pu through the requisite reforms; the ques tion is what sort of government and na tion it is that we are trying to save from the Communists. Understand but healthy respect is developing for fense Minister Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

it is said that in Washington a belated the strategy and tactics of Hanol's De As for American strategy, it strikes a layman as pretty weird, not to say unavailing. Three years after the start of the big U.S. buildup it seems we hold, in a truly secure sense, practically nothing. Our forces appear to be doing justhe same things over and over: Destroying villages, herding anguished refugees, evidently getting nowhere in particular. Despite our might, the Communists are able to mount these severe nationwide attacks. A legitimate question here is whether the present military leadership possesses the skill and imagination to turn the tide. If a paramount U.S. objective still is in fact to save South Vietnam from communism, there is a growing question about that too. Not only are all concerned—the U.S., the South Vietnamese army, the Vietcong and the North Vietnamese regulars-engaged in the physical destruction of the place. A further point is that if "negotiations" actually began in anything like current circumstances, the U.S. might have to make concessions once considered unacceptable. If Washington feels compelled to permit, says, Communist participation in a future Saigon government, then manifestly it has not saved South Vietnam from com-Some of the more hawkish Americans contend that talk of saving South Vietnam is naive; we are in this war to achieve or maintain a balance of power against the Communists in Asia and the whole Pacific area. Consequently to withdraw or to settle on slippery terms would be calamitous for the U.S. and the West, great for communism. We think there is validity in the argument. However large a mistake it may have been to decide to fight land war in Asia, the consequences of giving up now are grim to contemplate. Yet the consequences of accepting a military commitment for the entire area are scarcely less grim. Without trying to read the future, we would guess that Communist warfare will not end with Vietnam. For one reason, a major U.S. aim has already been in effect defeated. The U.S. was going to show the Communists, and especially the Communists in Peking, that aggrescion does not pay, so that after Vietnam they would cease their trouble-making. In the event, the Communists have found they can hold off, and maybe turn back, the biggest military power in the world. What has already happened may well tempt them to further military adventures, instead of deterring them. Such efforts could be made not only for concrete gains but also for the purpose of draining the U.S. of men And the drain would be considerable, as just this one war in Vietnam testifies. If we had to fight year after year in one nation after another, or more than one simultaneously, we could see our economy go to pot, our civil liberties restricted, the nation moving to a full garrison state. So the biggest curstion arising out of Vietnam and its possible after-effects is, Is it worth it? A look at the map makes the question more insistent. The notion of "spheres of influence" is anathema to some people; yet geography is geography. Forgetting communism for a moment, it does not seem any more logical for the U.S. to have a sphere of influence, at such exorbitant cost, on mainland Asia than it would for Red China to have a sphere of influence on our continent. Many months ago we concluded that there is no good, or even half-way good, road out of this involvement, and that is only more sadly so today, even if peace" talks were to start tomorrow. It is all the more discouraging, therefore, to sense that the authorities in Washington are increasingly taking refuge in historical analogies, rather than trying to think the thing through. Specifically, this week the President compared Vietnam to our Civil War and his ordeal to Lincoln's. Well, Lin-strange, remote land cannot seriously be put on a par with the fratricidal struggle here. As James Reston wisely observes Mr. Johnson's turning to the past is understandable in human terms. The absolutely crucial consideration, however, is not whether superficial analogies exist; it is whether this particular. present war, with all its foreboding possibilities, is right for the U.S. In this time of sorrow, it would help . to feel that U.S. officials were doing more than speeding additional troops -that they actually were rigorously reexamining the whole nature, scope and probable consequences of the Vietnam commitment. - WALL STREET JOUR-

tength dark hair is being sought by Manchester police after he snatched a woman's purse yesterday in broad day-light in a parking lot behind the State Theaetre. Nancy Cummings of Hartford, a waitress in a Main St restaurant told police the mar ran down Birch St. toward her at about 10:5 a.m., grabbed her purse and kept running without breaking stride.

The man streaked down ar alley and faded into the shad ows of some buildings only mo ments before a paterolman foot and two cruisers arrived t scour the area. Police search in vain, for the thief had van shed without a trace.

The man was described being about 5 10 of medium bulld with long scraggly dark hair and a beard to match. He was wearing an equally match ing dungaree jacket and pants and is said to have been about 18-20 years of age. Mrs. Cummings told police that her purse, yet unrecover-

Bristol Boy's Death Ruled Accidental BRISTOL (AP) A medica examiner said an accidental firing of a .22-caliber rifle killed a 14-year-old boy. Police said Mrs. Robert I

Bechard found her son Robert lying on the living room floor when she returned from an afternoon shopping trip Tuesday The boy was wounded in the chest, police said, and the .22 caliber rifle was near him. Police took the boy to Bristol

Hospital, where he was pro-nounced dead. The medical examiner, Dr. Fred Tirella, at-tributed the death to an "accidental discharge" of the rifle. The boy was alone in the house at 2 p.m. when the mishap occurred, police said. He was a Bristol Central High School student.

"I would guess more than 50 per cent of the boys who come counselors Cleo Griffin, Israel Heard and Robert Marshall, the crimes committed by fatherless boys, or those with disinterested fathers, are usually breaking and entering, assault, rape and molestation.

What can a mother alone do to prevent her son from getting into trouble? per cent of the boys who come to the attention of the juvenile court are fatherless," says Juvenile Court Judge Robert Halvorsen. "There's no question about it. Fatherless boys get in more trouble than boys with fathers."

Why does a good father—af to prevent her son from getting into trouble?

"She shouldn't try to be both mom and dad, just a better mother," says Mrs. Pat Barnard, another juvenile court counselor, "She should learn to be a responsible, stronger person herself."

SELF-SERVICE, PRE-PACKAGED MEATS CAN BE A PROBLEM!

You can see the top side of the meat but not the bottom. So you wonder.

The steak looks good, but is the bottom all bone and fat?

It's a problem...a problem we've given a lot of thought. We think we have the answer.

We have a policy.

We put the best side down.

The side you don't see is guaranteed to be equal to or better than the side you can see.

Simple? as ABC.

Effective? No more gamble.

Fair and square? Sure because "We Care."

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

VIPs Given a Cucaro When They Visit Frisco

Cucaro doesn't work without "It's in the hands as well as the heart," said the balding man, flexing his long fingers.

"I have it from my mother, who's not only good with the needle and thread, but creative in the way she sews dresses," added Pascal (Pat) Cucaro, hailed by critics as a brilliant Western American contribution to the world of art.

Cucaro doesn't work without interruption during his 18-hour daily marathons at the easel. He takes frequent breaks "because I love my wife."

She is Kitty Cucaro, 32, an attractive brunette who grew up in an Ottawa, Ont., convent.

She and Cucaro, married since 1960, both are deeply religious. They attend Roman Catholic Masses regularly, and Cu-

New Album By Lehmann Is Tribute

By MARY CAMPBELL Among the new classical bums by sopranos is "Opera Arias" by Lotte Lehmann on Sera-The album, a tribute for he 80th birthday, is a treat both for those old enough personally to have heard her and for those who have heard her only on re-Miss Lehmann was born Feb. 27, 1888, in Perleberg, Branden-burg. A friend of Strauss, she has written a book about singing his operas under his supervi-sion. She made her Covent Garden debut in 1924, her Metropoli-tan Opera debut in 1934 and gave her last lieder recital in 1951. Today she is director of the Music Academy of the West in Santa Barbara, Calif. Arias and two songs by Wagner, all in German, on this album were recorded between 1928 and 1933, years when many music critics considered her the greatest soprano. First band on the album is the "Willow Song" from "Otello," an aria expectedly clear and pure, Miss Lehmann surprises those who don't know her voice right away. Instead of a "white" tone, her voice displays individuality and much charac-Her "Romance" from "The Tales of Hoffmann vibrates with intensity. And she is, of course, entirely in her element with Strauss. It sounds unusual to hear Tosca's "Vissi d'Arte" and "Manon" sung in German, but Miss Lehmann's is such artistry that it really doesn't matter. Montserrat Caballe, the soprano who opened the current Met season in "La Traviata," sings more from the same composer on a new RCA release, "Verdi Rarities."

Album notes point out that Verdi wrote more than 12 operas between 1840 and 1850, and only in 1851, after "Rigoletto," could he afford to slow down and stop grinding them out so fast. Arias have been selected from seven of his early operas which are never done, or even heard of, now, which is probably for the best. In any event, there is a lot of enjoyable-to-hear musical fireworks here and singing that requires a great deal of flexibility. Miss Caballe handles both the fireworks and the flexibility with nonchalant ease. Her voice jumps up to high notes and holds them or jumps on again as lightly as a hummingbird darts around a flower garden. Mirella Freni, an Italian soprano in her early 30s, as is the Spanish Miss Cabelle, sounds much younger. Her forte has been "sweet young girl" roles and she has been a great suc-cess as Liu, Micaela, Mimi and

On the new Angel LP, "Pucci-ni Arias," she is the perfect Mimi and Butterfly, singing with innocent delicacy and at the same time mature assurance. "But she is less successful with an aria from "La Rondine" and her "Vissi d'Arte" indicates that she is not really a Tosca.

Avalanches Shot Down By Rangers By TOM KUHN

ALTA, Utah (AP) - Cannoneers of the U.S. Forest Services are sighting in on a perennial enemy of the people-the avalanch - bearing snow cornices high above Wasatch Range ski resorts,

Assteinoed Press Writer

Alta Snow Ranger Ray Lindquist has spent eight summers plotting strategy, and winters carrying it out through peepsight of a 75mm recoilless rifle or high explosive hand charge. He said the Wasatch Forest Office are pounding the upper reaches above Alta and Brighton ski resorts this winter with more vigor than ever before. The two popular winter sports areas are located about 15 miles southeast of Salt Lake City at the base of sharp, craggy peaks. Last year, snow rangers fired approximately 1,100 of the sixpound high explosive projectiles into snowpacks along and above ski runs. Lindquist says this year 1,400 rounds have been requestioned from the military. There are four recoilless rifles and one pack howitzer used out pack howitzer are at Brighton. A mortally wounded overhang falls down the mountainside in a furious, tree-smashing avalanche. The rangers do the shooting at daybreak before skiers get on the slopes. Brighton and Alta are the only two spots in Utah where the Forest Service uses the big guns to fight snowslides. An unexpected avalanche can easily become a killer on a congested ski The vital spots that will bring the overburden crashing down are plotted during the summer, long before the first snowfall. Lindquist says overlays are drawn for topographical maps of Alta and Brighton ski areas. Rangers familiarize themselves with "the lay of the land." The same overlays and maps are used in the spring in demolition work-destroying the 75 mm rounds that didn't explode. "I blew up 14 duds on the slopes, right on the main ski area, last spring," Lindquist said. "They're no problem in the winter." He said the unexploded TNTfilled projectiles penetrate into the snow and are buried 12 to 15 feet beneath skiers.

Yellow Choice For Fire Trucks

COVENTRY, England (AP)

- This city-historically involved in a big sight hassle 900 years ago when the original Peeping Tom stole a squint at Lady Godiva-is again involved in a question of vision. This time the issue is not over a nude lady riding horseback through Coventry's market place, but the color of the municipality's fire engines that almost daily race over Her Ladyship's original route. Despite the fire engines' clanging bells and flery red color, car drivers and other citizens are having trouble spotting This has resulted in delays in getting to fires, traffic tieups and even collisions. Finally, Coventry's Chief Fire Officer, A.A. Leese, blew the whistle and asked the Lanchester College of Technology to scientifically test which color is the most arresting. After sweating over hot spectroscopes for a year, the experts informed the fire department that red was not the perfect color for fire engines.

"Yellow," said the technocrats, "is the most psychologically unpleasant color of the spectrum to the human eye." Because it's most unpleasant

Kirk Plea Unheeded In Florida

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) -A third of Florida's public schools were closed today as nearly 40 per cent of the state's teaching corps scheduled more public meetings despite a personal plea from Gov. Claude Kirk for an immediate return to the classroom.

The Republican governor who was censured by the Florida Education Association last fall for his stand on education spending, told the teachers he has no plans to call another special session of the legislature in the near future.

About five hours after the hijacking, Delta Air Line Flight 843 returned to Miami, leaving behind in Havana a young man who gave his name to the airline as "S. Wilson." Three Connecticut residents were on a list of passengers aboard the Delta Airlines Flight 843 which was forced to fly to Cuba Wednesday. A partial list of passengers released today included two Pawcatuck, Conn., residents, Jo seph and Adell Halle of 10 Lincoln Ave., and D. Ritson of River Road, Weston, Conn. The plane and passengers later returned to Miami safely. In Havana, the hijacker was identified as Lawrence Rhodes.

29, of St. Petersburg, Fla., who asked for political asylum. The government announced it was studying his request. The man boarded the Chicago-Miami flight with 64 other persons at Tampa. Other passengers said he had been drinking heavily at the airport bar. Delta officials said he bough a $21 first class ticket at 12:4 p.m. Wednesday in the airline's downtown Tampa ticket office.
