Connecticut Yankee By A.H.O. We were wondering how open our probe into the relationship between Democratic National and State Chairman John Bailey and the candidacy of Senator Robert Kennedy when there arrived on our desks a copy of "The Yankee" by Penn Kimball, himself a one-time warrior on the Connecticut political scene.

What Rockefeller Wouldn't Do? Although Governor Rockefeller's assessment of the practical odds against his candidacy may have been quite accurate, our theory would be that it was not the length of the odds in the quest for the delegates, but the distance he had to travel to achieve them that was the determining factor.

Robin and Peeper To each his own robin and to each his own peeper, and that is one of the beautiful privileges of spring. The robin of our peeper's peeper was heard by a set of ears before he was heard by a set of eyes before he was seen.

The Fire Departments The fact that the grand list of the South Fire District has passed the Central District in taxable wealth again illustrates the difficulty of merging the various systems.

Obituary

Mrs. Rose DiBattisto
Mrs. Rose DiBattisto, 57, of 21 Scarborough Rd., widow of Domenic DiBattisto, died this morning at Manchester Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. DiBattisto was born in Pittsburgh, Pa., July 22, 1899, the daughter of Rocco and Mary Senise Solomon, and lived in Manchester many years. She was a member of the Ladies of St. James.

Survivors include four sons, Albert M. DiBattisto of East Hartford, Robert J. DiBattisto of Glastonbury, Donald DiBattisto of Rocky Hill and Eugene M. DiBattisto of Enfield; two daughters, Miss Rita DiBattisto of Manchester and Mrs. Nicholas Pechusick of East Hartford; a sister, Mrs. Peter Pinto of Manchester; six sisters and three brothers in Pittsburgh, and fifteen grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Tuesday at 8:15 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a solemn high Mass of requiem at St. James' Church at 9. Burial will be in St. James' Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow and Monday from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Anthony Messino

Anthony Messino, 78, of Windsor, died yesterday at Mt. Sinai Hospital, Hartford. He was the father of Ralph Messino of Wapping and Mrs. Norman Mawdsley of Hebron.

Survivors also include his wife, 3 other sons, another daughter, and 14 grandchildren. Funeral services will be held Monday at 10 a.m. at the F. W. Carman Funeral Home, 6 Pononock Ave., Windsor.

Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow from 3 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Frank Zelenitz

Frank Zelenitz, 79, of 8 Regent St. died this morning at a Manchester convalescent home.

Mr. Zelenitz was born in Poland, Oct. 5, 1888, and lived in Manchester 50 years. Before his retirement 12 years ago, he was employed at Cheney Bros. for many years.

Survivors include two daughters, Mrs. Lena Cejkowski of Manchester and Mrs. Victoria Demsey of Norwich; a sister, Mrs. Anna Zedko of Manchester, and another sister in Poland, and three grandchildren.

The funeral will be held Monday at 8:30 a.m. from the Leclere Funeral Home, 23 Main St., with a Mass of requiem at St. Bridget Church at 9. Burial will be in St. James' Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Mrs. Josephine T. Fox

VERNON — Mrs. Josephine T. Fox, 73, of Hartford, mother of Mrs. Joseph Horvath of Vernon, died yesterday at Hartford Hospital.

Survivors also include a son, another daughter, a sister, and a granddaughter.

The funeral will be held Monday at 8:15 a.m. from the Thomas F. Farley Funeral Home, 96 Webster St., Hartford, with a Mass of requiem at St. Luke's Church, Hartford, at 9. Burial will be in Rose Hill Memorial Park, Rocky Hill.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 5 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Miss Catherine Naven

Miss Catherine Naven, 83, died yesterday at a Manchester convalescent home. Before her retirement many years ago, she and her late niece, Miss Marie Naven and Miss Nellie Naven operated Naven's Shoe Store on Main St.

Miss Naven was born in Coventry, Feb. 21, 1885, and was a longtime resident of Manchester.

Survivors include four sisters, Mrs. Rita McCann and Mrs. Mary Paganl, both of Manchester, and Mrs. Henry Reilly and Mrs. Mae Ahern, both of Kingston, R.I.

The funeral will be held Monday at 8:30 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass of requiem at St. James' Church at 9. Burial will be in St. James' Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Ernest R. Johnson

Ernest R. Johnson, 71, of Sterling Village, Boynton Beach, Fla., formerly of Manchester, died yesterday at his home.

Mr. Johnson was born in Manchester, Dec. 22, 1897, a son of Alfred and Christine Olson Johnson, and lived in this town all of his life before moving to Florida two years ago. He was employed at Pratt and Whitney Division of United Aircraft Corp., East Hartford, for 20 years, retiring five years ago. He was a World War I Navy veteran, and a member of the VFW and Emanuel Lutheran Church.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Monette Belliveau Johnson; two daughters, Mrs. Donald Wiley of Manchester and Mrs. Richard Lee of Andover; a brother, Elton A. Johnson of Vernon; two sisters, Mrs. Howard Keeney of Manchester and Mrs. Helen Saven of Elmhurst, Ill., and five grandchildren. The Holmes Funeral Home, 400 Main St., is in charge of arrangements which are incomplete.

Two Injured In Accidents

Two accidents involving injuries were included in reports of Manchester motor vehicle mishaps occurring yesterday. Earle F. Cato, 20, of East Hartford was listed in satisfactory condition at Manchester Memorial Hospital this morning after sustaining a dislocated hip and multiple abrasions and contusions in an accident on Hillstown Rd. near Spencer St. at 11:52 p.m.

Cato allegedly disregarded construction barriers at the intersection and drove around them, crashing into a large bulldozer which was parked for the night.

Police issued written warnings for disregarding a barrier and for driving after drinking to Cato.

Daniel Fortin, 5, of 54 Elbridge St. was examined and released at Manchester Memorial Hospital yesterday afternoon after he was struck by a car driven by Michael K. Escavich, 38, of 30 Norwood St. Police said the accident took place at 3:24 p.m. yesterday on Spruce St. near Oak St. after the boy, who was being chased by a dog, darted out in front of the oncoming car.

A witness to the accident said the driver stopped quickly at first sight of the boy and the car only brushed him, knocking him off balance. The boy sustained a bruised hip and the driver was not cited by police.

Marguerite Agostinelli, 27, Oak St. was issued a written warning for failure to drive right yesterday at 7:21 p.m. after her car was struck by a car driven by Bruce Stevens, 23, of 28 Cornell St. She was making a right turn from Spruce St. into Charter Oak St. and allegedly took the turn too wide.

Cars driven by Karen E. Machle of Coventry and Edwin E. Freeman, 22, of Newtonville, Mass., collided on Center St. near Henderson St. at 7:39 p.m. yesterday. Police said they could not tell how the accident happened as both vehicles had been removed before their arrival and there were no witnesses.

Two cars had to be towed from the scene of an accident which took place at the Center at 9:30 a.m. today. Sandra Webster of Williamantic was the driver of a westbound car which was struck by a car operated by Lance Owen, 35, of 108 Ridge St., as she attempted to make a left turn onto Main St. Owen was headed east on Center St.

An investigating patrolman issued the Webster woman a written warning for failure to grant the right of way at an intersection. Witnesses said the light was green for both parties at the time of the collision. No one was injured.

The dealer's license of Holmes and Burns Auto Sales at 478 Center St. was suspended for 10 days by action of the State Motor Vehicle Department, according to an announcement yesterday by John J. Tynan, commissioner of motor vehicles.

The suspension, to start Monday, was based on a motor vehicle hearing Dec. 10 at which the dealership was charged with allowing a test drive without written permission and selling without the buyer having seen the car.

But Graham Holmes, part owner of the dealership, said this morning, "We're not being closed down."

Holmes explained, "We appealed the decision. It's pending now and probably won't come up until next winter."

Holmes and his partner, Matt Burns, said many dealers allow potential buyers to test drive their cars without filling out forms.

Also, the incident of the buyer who did not see the car he signed for involved a girl whose brother signed all papers after she tested the car and made payment arrangements with the dealers.

The motor vehicle department and Tynan were unavailable for comment today.

About Town

Units of the Manchester Police Department and Town Fire Department responded to a false alarm turned in at Box 61 located on Charter Oak St. at 6:38 p.m. yesterday. No one was in sight upon their arrival, they said.

"The Prophets" will play for a dance tonight from 7:30 to 11:15 at the Teen Center on School St.

The Manchester Pension Board will meet Monday at 4 p.m. in the Municipal Building Hearing Room for its regular monthly session.

Hospital Sets New Schedule For Visitors

Manchester Memorial Hospital has announced a change in visiting hours in most of its units.

The new visiting hours, effective Monday, are as follows: Obstetrics—3 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 8 p.m. Pediatrics—3 to 8 p.m. Parents will have unlimited visiting hours, except between 12 noon and 2 p.m., which is nap time.

Self Service Unit—10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Crowell House—5 to 8 p.m., weekdays and 3 to 8 p.m. on weekends and holidays. Private Rooms—10 a.m. to 8 p.m. Semi-private Rooms—3 to 8 p.m.

Special Care—Any time, but with a five-minute limitation, and for immediate family only. Visitors are reminded that the nursing personnel has the authority to control visitors, and visitors are requested to follow nurses' instructions when given.

The changes in visiting hours are expected to reduce congestion in the hospital parking lots. Nurses, who change shifts at 3 p.m., have been experiencing difficulty finding parking spaces.

Philip D. Mahoney, 59, of 81 Main St. died of a heart attack while driving his car yesterday, according to police.

Mahoney was brought to Manchester Memorial Hospital after the car he was driving hit two other vehicles on Rt. 44 in Bolton. An autopsy performed at the hospital showed Mahoney had suffered a heart seizure before the car went out of control, police said.

Mahoney was pinned behind the wheel of his car after it crossed the highway, sideswiped a car driven by John J. Melia, 45, of 126 Cushman Dr., and rammed head on to a parked State Highway Department surveyor's truck. Sitting in the truck was Barney E. Griffith, 28, of Hartford. Melia got a shoulder injury as a result; Griffith was not injured.

It was mistakenly reported yesterday that an unidentified woman was driving the Melia station wagon.

The accident took place about noon near the State Highway Department garage, which is a mile and a half from the Manchester town line.

For the past 20 years, Mahoney worked for the Hartford Times.

Mahoney was born in Manchester, Oct. 29, 1908, a son of Dennis and Margaret Hebron Mahoney, and lived here all of his life.

Before working for the Times, he was employed at Travelers' Insurance Co., Hartford.

He was a past Grand Knight of Campbell Council, KofC; a member of the Nocturnal Adoration Society, and was one of the organizers and an active member of the Lady of Sorrows Retreat Group, West Springfield, Mass.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Sally Richards Mahoney; two daughters, Mrs. William J. Malloy of Boston, Mass., and Miss Margaret Mahoney of Manchester; a son, Philip D. Mahoney, Jr., of Manchester; two stepsons, Dr. Paul E. Paige of Cazenovia, N.Y., and Eugene E. Paige of Augusta, Ga., and a brother, Raymond E. Mahoney of Manchester.

The funeral will be held Monday at 9:45 a.m. from the John F. Tierney Funeral Home, 219 W. Center St., with a Mass of requiem at St. Bridget Church at 10:30. Burial will be in St. James' Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home tonight from 7 to 9 and tomorrow from 2 to 4 and 7 to 9 p.m.

Other officers to be installed are Mrs. George Foss, associate matron; Charles Robinson, associate patron; Mrs. Florine Slater, secretary; Mrs. E. Carlton Pease, treasurer; Mrs. James S. Hucker, conductor; Mrs. Robert Silver, associate conductor, and Mrs. Charles Robinson, chaplain.

Also, Mrs. Thomas Hull, marshal; Mrs. Ernest Dimmock, organist; Mrs. Charles Bettinger, Adah; Mrs. Grady Pearson, Ruth; Mrs. Dexter Stark, Esther; Mrs. Carl Wheeler, Martha; Mrs. Joseph Salko, Electa; James Hoekler, warden, and Grady Pearson, sentinel.

Family Displaced by Fire Still Looks for Quarters

A family of 10 persons displaced by a fire two weeks ago is still looking for living quarters, and their situation is getting desperate.

The P. John Buckley family, one of two families uprooted by the fire, is now living in two units at the Manchester Motel. If the family, which consists of the parents and eight children, cannot find accommodations, they will have to split up.

The Manchester Chapter of the Red Cross has been paying for their lodging and meals, but the payment ends Monday, according to Mrs. George Sweet, secretary of the local Red Cross Office.

"In cases such as this, where there are less than five families involved, the Red Cross has a time limit of two weeks," Mrs. Sweet said. The two weeks are up tomorrow.

It was on Sunday afternoon, March 10, when the fire broke out in the attic at 22-24 Locust St. The fire did heavy damage in the attic, and the water and smoke completely ruined the possessions of the Bucleys.

They were left with only the clothes they were wearing. Mrs. Sweet said the Red Cross supplied some clothing for the children, and the American Legion supplied some more.

The Clarence Amidon family, which lived at 24 Locust St., moved into the Manchester Motel this week, Mrs. Sweet said, but yesterday they found a place on N. Main St. and are moving in now.

Mrs. Sweet said their quarters are temporary since the building they have is scheduled to be torn down within a year.

The Amidon family consists of two adults and four children. Both Buckley and Amidon are employed at Pratt and Whitney Aircraft. Buckley, a sheet metal worker, has not been working since the fire. He has been looking for living quarters for his large family in different towns in the area, as well as in Massachusetts.

According to the American Legion, the family needs, besides a place to live, bedding of all kinds and related items.

Others installed are Robert V. Bolduc, senior vice commander; George C. Edwards, junior vice commander; Edwin Edwards, quartermaster; Harold Duff, chaplain; Kenneth Aseltine, surgeon; John Lynn, judge advocate; Lewis E. Remyey, three-year trustee; Patrick J. Humphrey, two-year trustee; Jake Lagusa, one-year trustee, and Cary A. Crane, historian.

The newly installed commander attended St. James' School and Manchester High School, and has been employed at the U.S. Post Office for the past five years. He served with the U.S. Navy from 1952 to 1955, in the Korean Conflict. He is also a member of the Stein Club and Army-Navy Club. He is married and has three children.

The Military Order of Cooties is the honor degree of the VFW. Its program consists of hospital care and community service.

Officers were installed by Robert Jocko, past Grand Department commander. Mrs. Mary Leduc, Department president of the VFW Auxiliary, was guest speaker at the installation.

Firemen Press Sticker Program For the Invalid

The men of the town's volunteer fire departments would like to know, for safety purposes, if there is a handicapped person or invalid in a Vernon home.

The firemen have window stickers which they would like to place at such homes in case of fire. When firemen are called to a house fire the first thing they would do is check the front door. If a sticker is found there they would then check for a second sticker which is on the window of the room where the invalid customarily stays.

These stickers notify the firemen they must check the room immediately to make sure the incapacitated person is removed from danger at once.

William Lennon, secretary of Vernon Company 2, is in charge of the project which has been adopted by the company as its community service project for the year.

All three Vernon companies and the Rockville department are cooperating, however, in an attempt to have the stickers distributed where they are needed.

Persons will not be called, Lennon pointed out, because some people are reluctant to have it known they have an invalid in the house. To date only about three stickers are in use in Vernon, and five in Rockville.

Hausman said today, "The only solution to the mess we're in Vietnam, in inflation and high prices, in crime, in race relations — a mess created by the Democratic Party — is election of a Republican president, of a Republican U. S. senator from Connecticut, the re-election of Cong. Thomas Meskill of New Britain, and the election of five more Republicans to replace the state's incumbent Democratic congressmen in Washington."

Riegel heads the conservative faction of the state federation and Dalton the more liberal faction.

Riegel was the floor manager last year when incumbent Dwight Mayer of Wilton was elected state chairman.

The main conclusion reached by the survey was that "at blood levels of more than 80 mg-100 ml, the risk of being involved in an accident is greater than it is at levels lower than 10 mg-100 ml, and that the risk increases rapidly as the highest alcohol levels are reached."

The police are firmly in favor of the breathalyzer. They maintain little extra time is taken up in going through the various steps of the test.

Habits have changed among drinking motorists. Some observe the Ministry of Transport's advice: "If you drink, don't drive." If you drive don't drink." Others take their liquor home.

A survey by Britain's automobile association showed that 23 per cent of motorists now use their cars less frequently on social occasions. Over half (53 per cent) agreed with the law in principle, and another 21 per cent agreed but thought the allowable level should be higher than 80 milligrams.

Britain fixed the limit at 80 after studying the results of an investigation carried out by Prof. R.F. Borkenstein of Indiana University into accidents in Grand Rapids, Mich.

"We felt that over-all the commission wanted to be and was constructive and helpful," he said.

The report, Johnson said, was "a very thorough one, very comprehensive and made many good recommendations. We did not agree with all of the recommendations, as certain statements have indicated."

The report is being analyzed by the various departments and "there is a general 'sympatico' of views. I think between the Cabinet officers who handle these programs and the recommendations of the commission," the President said.

"We think it was a good report made by good men of good will that will have a good influence," he said. "We hope that every person in the country can read it and try to take such action as they can to implement it."

Heads Cooties

Florian Boloc of 86 Linden St. was installed as commander of Pup Tent 6 of the VFW Military Order of Cooties Thursday night at the VFW Home.

Others installed are Robert V. Bolduc, senior vice commander; George C. Edwards, junior vice commander; Edwin Edwards, quartermaster; Harold Duff, chaplain; Kenneth Aseltine, surgeon; John Lynn, judge advocate; Lewis E. Remyey, three-year trustee; Patrick J. Humphrey, two-year trustee; Jake Lagusa, one-year trustee, and Cary A. Crane, historian.

The newly installed commander attended St. James' School and Manchester High School, and has been employed at the U.S. Post Office for the past five years. He served with the U.S. Navy from 1952 to 1955, in the Korean Conflict. He is also a member of the Stein Club and Army-Navy Club. He is married and has three children.

NEEDS THE MONEY

HOLLYWOOD (NEA)—Ken Berry is set to star in Mayberry RFD next fall, a spinoff from The Andy Griffith Show. That's fine with Ken—he needs the money.

"I'm saddled with a bad investment," Ken says. "I got a lot of money in a coin-operated dry-cleaning place and it keeps losing money and I can't get anybody to buy it. So I keep pouring more money into it, and into the laundry next door which my father owns."

Berry says he won't use a rural accent on Mayberry RFD—and, he says, if you stop to think about it, there were several of the Griffith regulars (Don Knotts, Frances Bavier) who were accentless, too.

What Berry would most like to do is musicals—he started out as a dancer—but "there's not much call for hoofers, and that's basically what I am."

Maybe he could do a musical about a coin-operated, dry-cleaning place and kill two birds with one overture.

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC's "Music Hall," a variety series headlining a different star each week, will be turned over to two hosts for most of the summer season. Ed McMahon will be host of eight shows and country singer Eddy Arnold will take over six.

Big Ed McMahon has to be one of the busiest men in show business. He has worked with Johnny Carson as announcer and chief aide for 10 years—he was with him on "Who Do You Trust?" before "The Tonight Show."

In addition to the evening job with Carson, McMahon is host on a daytime game show, "Snap Judgment," the official spokesman for a beer company, a regular host on NBC radio's "Monitor," and still finds time to head up a graphic arts business.

Children Shows: Changes Coming

NEW YORK (AP) — Network television turned its attention to children Thursday.

It has been a period when the networks have all been getting criticism about their Saturday morning program lineup of cartoon shows.

Networks are pretty ruthless about prime time programming. An evening series that fails to win or place in the Nielsen race is usually replaced at the earliest possible moment. The Saturday morning lineup apparently has involved the networks' precious images so something has been done.

The first vent was a mid-week announcement by the educational network, in financial collaboration with two foundations and the U.S. government, that it would turn out a 26-week series of daily programs aimed at the preschool crowd and stressing the educational aspects of entertainment.

By extraordinary coincidence, less than 24 hours later, NBC said it would present "new concept" of programming on Saturday mornings starting next September—an hour of child-oriented programs that would consist of high grade cartoons, music and games, plus some repeat performances of special children's shows that have won good notices from adult critics.

Within hours, came word from CBS of "a major new creation" on Saturday mornings, also starting in September. That network plans to return to the old gentle "Bugs Bunny" type of cartoon—as opposed to shows starring monsters, spooks and supermen—for two and one-half hours weekly. CBS hopes to turn out some special travel and real-life adventure shows, too.

And both have plans for serials like those many-part cliffhangers that used to fill movie theaters with young on Saturday mornings.

Neither revision of programming, it was firmly stated, had been stimulated by the criticism of the cartoons now seen, and all plans were on network drafting boards long before the educational network announcement beat them to the punch.

Meanwhile, Thursday night there was the first production of the season from NBC's "Children's Theatre"—"The Reluctant Dragon," starring the puppet Kuklapolitan players and Fran Allison.

Kukla, Fran, Ollie, Cecil Bill, Beulah Witch and Mme. Oglepuss over the years have built up a hard-core legion of adult fans since puppeteer Burr Tillstrom is a pretty sophisticated impresario, and they were not let down Thursday night.

During the hour—which was beginning to drag a bit toward the end—Ollie was magnificent in blue wig and a neck of iridescent blue sequins for dragon

The Monkees at Peace and War

By DICK KLEINER

HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — Between skirmishes, I chatted with Mike Nesmith and learned that the Monkees consider it "a moral victory" that their television series wasn't renewed for next season.

The four primates are shooting their first movie for Columbia now. It has no title — the working name, "Changes," will have to be changed because there already is a film by that name — and to give you a rough idea of the type of plot it has, consider this scene:

The setting is wartime, an unspecified war. The four are in GI uniforms, in a large, economy-sized foxhole. Shells are bursting around them. Peter Tork runs out to get help and along comes Green Bay Packer linebacker Ray Nitschke, in full football equipment, and blocks him out. No explanation — of course.

Nesmith was able to relax while the cameras focused on Tork, Davy Jones and Mickey Dolenz. He is a bright, articulate and pleasant young man, given to big words and refreshing frankness.

"We couldn't have gone through another season with the series," he said. "We were in the middle of a political struggle and, although we didn't precipitate any of it, we got a bad press. Now we've instituted an open-door policy—we'll talk to anybody, any time. This has been a moral victory for us."

They will continue together as a group, of course, with the movie, recordings (they're doing their own now, Nesmith says), personal appearances and television specials.

"Now we'll be able to do the things the way we want to," Nesmith says. "We each have our own style—Peter is understatement, quieter, melodic; Mickey is ragtime, old fashioned; Davy is Broadway, moltar tuxedo; and I'm hard-driving West Coast rock—and our albums will have a bit of each."

He says that the "pop music establishment" is down on them, possibly out of jealousy, and that they haven't received the recognition they deserve as musicians. But he believes, with time, that will change and they will be appreciated.

"People think we're tools of the establishment," he says, "but we're not. We're really the truest expression of the iconoclastic youth of today."

Their personal lives have, naturally, changed considerably since the lightning struck. Nesmith has adjusted beautifully to the problems of fame and fortune.

"The solution," he says, "is to realize what you can and cannot do. I learned early that I can't go into Denny's for a hamburger. But I've found quiet, out-of-the-way places where I can go — it may cost me $50 to get in, but I have privacy."

"If I'm going anywhere, I know I'll be mobbed. So I either go prepared for it, or I don't go. I don't think that any of the big stars — Cary Grant, Jimmy Stewart, people like that — have been through what we have. Perhaps only five others in history have had it — Presley and the Beatles."

There are compensations, of course.

"It's easy to get used to luxury," Nesmith says. "The other day, I asked my wife how Alfie was working out—Alfie is our chauffeur. And she said, 'I don't know how I ever got along without him'. The body adjusts to luxury very quickly."

They are shooting in Bronson Canyon, a rugged area only five minutes from the heart of Hollywood. Because of its proximity to the center of things, the canyon has been used in hundreds of films. Mickey Dolenz remembers when he was a child star in Circus Boy that they filmed several episodes in this same location.

Then he was working with an elephant. Now he's part of the Monkees. It's a step up the zoological ladder.

FRIDAY: "The Swinging Scene of Ray Anthony," Anthony and his band at a West Miami night club, 7:30-8:30 p.m. on Channel 18. "Give Us Barabab" on "Hallmark Hall of Fame," the conversion of the Biblical thief, with James Daly and Kim Hunter, 9:30-11 p.m. on NBC.

Lord Snowdon, whose film will be shown Tuesday night.

Lord Snowdon On Growing Old

If the television viewer watching British song-and-dance man Eddie Connor on Lord Snowdon's "Don't Count the Candles" is reminded of a bygone vaudeville era, he has good reason, because Connor is of that generation of vaudevillians.

The CBS news special, which is Lord Snowdon's first venture—as a cameraman and director—into the field of television documentaries, will be broadcast Tuesday 10 to 11 p.m. on CBS.

Connor is seen singing "When I Grow Too Old to Dream" and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" during a performance at an English music hall, on "Don't Count the Candles," which is described by CBS News executive producer Don Hewitt as "an essay on growing old that is both a very perceptive and sensitive look at the problems of aging and a remarkable achievement in cinematography."

Expressing his views on aging, Connor says: "I've a dread that I won't be able to dance anymore. I don't remember when I first learned to dance . . . Can't remember. I hope never to retire."

Connor is one of the many people from virtually every social and financial level of British life who talk, on the broadcast, about what it means to grow old. Among the others are Field Marshal Montgomery, Noel Coward, Cecil Beaton, author Compton Mackenzie, sculptor Barbara Hepworth, the world famous fashion model "Twiggy," and Lady Patricia Ramsey, a granddaughter of Queen Victoria.

"Don't Count the Candles," filmed mainly in Great Britain, includes scenes of the marriage of a 75-year-old man to a 78-year-old woman, the coastal resort of Bournemouth, a young man being fitted for his first hairpiece, the exercise rooms at a health resort and the world-famous Leopold Stokowski, now 86 years old, conducting Beethoven's 9th Symphony. Lord Snowdon and his crew began shooting the film last spring.

MONDAY: "Kiss Me Kate," on "Armstrong Circle Theatre" adaptation of Cole Porter's musical, with Robert Goulet and Carol Lawrence, 9:30-11 p.m. on ABC.

scales. Kukla was almost unrecognizable in a blond wig. The story centered on the arrival of warrior St. George to get rid of a gentle, poetry-writing dragon. It had all sorts of moral lessons built in, including one about spreading false rumors. But the windup fight between St. George and the dragon was a phony, rigged by the principals—and what kind of a lesson is that?
