guarantee, and the only possible solution one which had to be political. How do Gaulle took reins on the military side of the war, and gradually built up both in France and Algeria the climate for the approach to a political solution became a classic and masterful piece of leadership operation. At it freed France itself from a curse, represented by its Algerian involvement, which threatened to do worse things to the hearts and minds of France than Hitler's invasions could ever have done. For some time, it has seemed fatefully clear that America was injuring, poisoning, torturing itself by its involvement in Vietnam. At this juncture, de Gaulle qualifies as a sort of political expert on the sidelines.

The Madison Referendum

There was one special piece of voting in Wisconsin last Tuesday which deserves its own special notice. It was the vote on a referendum which called for an unconditional immediate cease-fire and withdrawal of troops from Vietnam. This particular referendum vote was held in the city of Madison, a center of liberal and progressive political sentiment, and an area from which Senator McCarthy derived much of the impetus for his own impressive victory in the Wisconsin primary. The vote on this referendum went against it, by 27,233 to 20,679.

The Small Flame Of Hope

Hawks and doves seem momentarily united on the proposition that developments potentially opening in the direction of peace in Vietnam are ground for cautious and praiseworthy encouragement. The common denominator truth, we think, is that all manners of opinion about the war in Vietnam reached, some time ago, even if for different reasons, without being particularly affirmative or encouraging, something better than a refusal.

The Chances Of Peace

President Johnson's dramatic announcement that he would not seek and would not accept his party's nomination for another term in office completely surprised the U.N. media. He has never advocated a bombing pause which - up to that point - could have been interpreted as a signal observer as a political maneuver. In view of the President's withdrawal, however, even the government of North Vietnam must be convinced that Mr. Johnson is sincere in his desire to bring about an end to the war.

From The Veteran Of Algeria

Of all the sidelights bearing upon the possibilities of negotiation over Vietnam, none has seemed a more significant flicker of hope than the statement of President de Gaulle of France, issued before the first sign of agreement for a first meeting had appeared from Hanoi.

A Thought For Today

Remember the faith that took men from home. At the call of a wandering preacher, Our age is an age of moderate virtue. And of moderate vice. When men will not lay down the Cross. Because they will never assume it. Yet nothing is impossible, to men of faith and conviction. Let us therefore make perfect our will. O God, help us.

Today's Quotation

We should not deny other nations the right to have their own revolutions. To intervene militarily wherever we smell a danger of revolution is to play God with the destinies of nations. -Dr. John C. Bennett, president of Union Theological Seminary.

Licensing of Cars

ALBANY, N.Y. - The idea of taxing highway users originated in 1901 when New York State enacted a law requiring yearly licensing of motor vehicles. Within 18 years all the states were using licensing as a source of funds for highway construction and upkeep.

Connecticut Yankee

By A.H.O.
 There are times for political drama to be taking long incoherent weekends so they can spread to be asked to put themselves on record every time the 1968 political picture comes itself up in the air and comes down with one more "disbeliever" completely changed. But putting on dark glasses was down in Florida, wasn't it? safety for Democratic State and National Chairman John Bailey last weekend, and the big change in the picture pursued him down there and cornered him for instant comment. We imagine he was one of those who had been forewarned, some time during that Sunday of the President's decision, that the decision was coming out. Whether he had a chance to plan his response beforehand, or had to produce it off the top of his head, the Bailey response, when it came, was typical of Bailey's own nature, which is, as all would admit, complimentary fashion by now, primarily political. As he spoke the tributes to the gesture and of success for the prospect of peace in Vietnam.

News About Senior Citizens

I've been talking about the possibilities of a bus trip to New York to visit the United Nations and the U.N. Secretariat, and I now have some information for you. We are planning the trip for Tuesday, April 30 and the bus will leave the Senior Citizen Center at 7:30 a.m. and is expected to arrive at the U.N. about 10:45 a.m. Once we arrive the group will visit the U.N. Secretariat, which will be free to move around at their leisure. We should arrive in time to watch some of the meetings before they retire for lunch. At the building there is a Coffee Shop for those after the November elections and are wishing a snack and a dining room. The bus will leave the building around 2:30 p.m. and is expected to arrive at the Senior Citizen Center about 8:45 p.m. This trip is open to all of Manchester's Senior Citizens and the cost for the trip which includes the bus fare and tour is $8 per person. These making the trip will be responsible to buy their own meals. Anyone interested in making the trip must register at the Senior Citizen Center on or before Wednesday, April 24. No reservations will be taken over the phone, however applications will be mailed to those wishing them. We need 40 persons to sign up before we can make the trip and reservations will be on a first come basis. More buses will be available if needed. For further information call the center. Those making the trip will not be allowed to leave the building under any circumstances. Our favorite program here at the center is our pinocle tournament and again this past Monday it was greatly attended. Those in attendance must be congratulated as over the week the fun went on the bus and it was very cold in the building. I was all for calling the tourney off, but more and more people came in and wanted to play, costs on and all. The winners were Martin Mader - 64, William Nevelite - 63, Ellen Bronkie - 60, Cia Wilson - 62, Frank Diana reasonably and humanly. The North Vietnamese have said that all that was necessary for peace talks to begin was the unconditional halt of the bombing. President Johnson has shown his sincerity by stopping the war in the North, except where American forces near the demilitarized zone are directly endangered. Now it is time for the North Vietnamese and their allies to show their sincerity. Just as the President's announcement gives him the freedom to pursue a new course in Vietnam, it also gives the freedom to push for measures desperately needed at home, measures to which no one can attach a political label. We do not believe, in short, that the President will be considered a "lame duck" in these final months in office. The President, at last, has escaped from the "credibility gap" and the vilification which he - as a man who seemed to feed on public approval - must have agonized over.

 In answer to the "Bolton Tax Payer and Father" column, I say this! The leaders of Project Concern are well aware of the overcrowded conditions of Bolton's schools. Dr. Thomas Mahan, when questioned on this very point, stated that they do not want bused-in students to be placed in overcrowded classrooms. He stated that the Board's intentions? The Board of Education has no reason for wanting to hurt their town's educational system. They are doing their level best to improve it, most of the time against pretty stiff opposition.

Wonders of the Universe

Lunar Exploration After the Apollo
 By DR. I. M. LEVITT, DIRECTOR
 The Fels Planetarium and the Franklin Institute of Philadelphia are currently studying the method for post-Apollo lunar exploration. It is estimated that by 1970 a man will be walking on the moon and other lunar exploration in 1973 men will be on the lunar surface for two-week periods. What is planned for the ultimate moon? Most scientists working on this problem focus in the next decade extensive lunar explorations and, perhaps, by 1980 a permanent settlement on the moon. There is a large number of people who have been attending the new engine - the J-28 - for mid-range correction and braking into a lunar orbit. Three or four men will be able to stay in this large payload for about eight weeks. The talks between the McDonnell Douglas Corp. at Huntington Beach, Calif., and the Army Research Office-Durham, N.C., are progressing well. The use of the Saturn 5 launchers in the next three-stage of the Saturn 5 launchers is being studied. The vehicle for the initial orbital and subsequent surface exploration missions and the Pacific area that any future space program may have supporting lunar exploration missions and toward this objective they have developed a method for the 8-man lunar surface exploration program. To implement their ideas they have proposed a Lunar Surface Station (LSS) for use on the lunar surface and a Lunar Surface Support Vehicle (LSSV) for a four-week stay on the moon. The LSS concept will have the LSSV stage descend to the lunar surface. It will start terminal operations in the LSSV stage and at 60 miles the retro-rockets will fire to brake the descent velocity. The LSSV, with a 27,000 pound payload, will be bested up to support the four landing legs which must absorb the shock on touchdown. Since the huge mass necessary to support our space program is not available because of the extraordinary costs of a war, the developments of the future. However, very little work has been done in the succeeding phases of this initial lunar landing. Let us hope that the National Aeronautics and Space Administration planners will concentrate on the use of the spent S-IVB stage for the next logical step in the space program - the exploration of the moon.

Francis Angling

MADRID (AP) - Gen. Francisco Franco is going angling over the coming Holy Week and peristat rumors claim he will fish up a major Cabinet reshuffle along with the salmon. The change is reported due to a Cabinet meeting shortly after Easter, when Franco will be back from the Asturias region on the Bay of Biscay. Seven of 17 Cabinet posts, the reports indicate, will be affected. Members of the Spanish Cortes (Congress) and the new Cortes have been urging a reshuffle of ministers as his replacement.

Ship Visit Postponed

BELGRADE (AP) - Yugoslavians asked the United States to postpone a scheduled visit today of the flagship of the U.S. 8th Fleet for fear it might cause incidents, a spokesman for the U.S. Embassy said. The spokesman said that as a result, the visit of the U.S.S. Litchfield to the Adriatic port of Dubrovnik, had been held up. The ministry said the visit would be held after the student mass meeting in Belgrade to protest the U.S. role in Vietnam. It expressed fear that the appearance of the vessel could touch off incidents that would harm relations between the two countries and Yugoslavia.

Frankfort Captured

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) - Frankfort was the only capital of a non-seceding state to be captured by Confederate forces during the Civil War. The Confederates, under Gen. Kirby Smith, captured the city Sept. 3, 1862, and held it until Oct. 4 of that year.

Action Seen Needed on Conyer's Bill

By WILLIAM RASPBERRY
 The Washington Post
 WASHINGTON, April 4 - It will be no easy decision that the followers of slain Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will have to make: Whether or not to go ahead with the poor people's campaign here. It would well be understandable if the Rev. Andrew Young and other of Dr. King's closest confidantes opted to cancel it in their grief over the death of their leader. But they could well feel that the campaign must and should go ahead, for Dr. King might have wanted it that way. They could also feel that the slaying of Dr. King could be a momentous meeting, as a symbol of the anguish that so many Negroes feel. It is all the more persuasive if members of Congress, perhaps, could lead them into action on the proposals that Dr. King had offered. Dr. King's followers know that the planned poor people's campaign, set to begin on April 22, the day Congress re-

Work on Rt. 6 Seen Spur to Open Spaces

Planning Commission chairman James Hasset opened the hearing Thursday night with the statement that the open space plan "comes at a very opportune time..."

He introduced Conservation Commission chairman Robert Young, who described the open space plan.

Young explained that the Conservation Commission's primary interest is in land, to see that the town has enough for the present is necessary he said, because he said that the commission had been helping with park design and planning, also, and would probably continue to do so, but that this was not the commission's primary function.

He described the goals of the plan and said that the town did not need the usual sort of parks because residents can have picnics in their own back yards.

What is needed, he said, is areas for such activities as tennis, and other games, swimming and picnics. Herick Memorial Park can take care of these needs when it is developed he said.

Trucks' Right of Way He went through the list of priorities, from land for recreation, to land for scenic spots and conservation.

The commission is not recommending that the town purchase a lot of land, but that development be kept out of some areas, such as the river valleys and that some public agency set aside special land, such as "Warner Swamp," which provides wildlife sanctuary.

The plan recommends that the railroad right of way be taken over by some agency other than the town if the tracks are ever abandoned.

Young described the cut through the ledges—"you'd think you were in the Adirondacks"—and said that the trail, for hikers and more leisurely walkers, would be in with Vernon Valley Falls park and with Camp Johnson, the Boy Scout camp in Bolton.

He said he thought it would be difficult for the town to acquire and maintain the right of way.

Everett McKinney asked Young if a park is purchased with open space funds for a town park, is the town allowed to keep other people out? Young said no, but that there can be certain restrictions.

McKinney said that a Bolton park would be more apt to be used by people from out of town, that Bolton people "very seldom use" a park.

He suggested that the Planning Commission encourage some company to purchase the railroad property for an excursion train.

Development of Notch The Conservation Commission is doing a good job, McKinney said, but he said he didn't think it should plan for 1,500 residents, that the town will have a population of 4,000-5,000, total.

He advocated the development of the 70 acres of state park at the notch, rather than the acquisition of more land. McKinney was highly in favor of the possible purchase of property from the E.J. Holl estate on Bolton Lake and recommended that no state funds be used so that it can be restricted to residents. This area, he said, it's up to the town, he said.

Young said he didn't think the Conservation Commission cared how that land is purchased, that it's up to the town. He said that when the time comes to make an actual proposal on the land, townspeople should know "all the implications" of each method of purchase.

McKinney said it is difficult to use state funds, then tell state residents they can't use the area the money was spent for.

The question of the pollution of the lake was raised. McKinney said that area sewage treatment systems could be constructed.

Hasset noted that the houses from which possible contamination might come were built before planning and zoning regulations, that regulations are now very strict.

Freja Park Questions There were questions on Freja Park, across Notch Pond.

The 22 acres is all set for acquisition. The open space request has been processed by the state, and the Fish and Game department is ready with its share of the money for the one acre it wants to purchase for a parking lot and access to fishing. (Notch Pond is owned by Fish and Game, but it has no access except over railroad or private property.)

The town's share of the total price of $7,500 under open space is $1,500.

Oscar Kreysig said he was in favor of using state funds for an area like that. His wife disagreed, seeing a possible future need for a land-fill dump area, if the town can no longer use Andover's dump.

Young said that a town can always repay the government's share of an area if the town wants to change its use, from open space to something else.

First Selectman Richard Morris said that the town was still studying the possibility of an incinerator operation. He said he was in favor of acquiring the land because of its natural beauty, and that it would be too involved to give the town a choice on method of payment.

Purchase of Park Town Clerk Mrs. Olive Toomey, a member of the Conservation Commission, said that, since it's all set up with the state, the purchase should proceed under open space, then if the town wants to, it can buy it later.

McKinney said he thought it should be purchased outright, and a decision as to whether it could ever be used for swimming.

The general discussion continued, going into the proper access to the state park at the notch (without scaling the ledges) and ending with a history of old roads, one of which went right through Bolton Lake—before it was a lake.

The hearing was sparsely attended. Besides members of the two commissions and the press, there were two selectmen, two members of the zoning board and three townspeople.

Copies of the 12-page open space plan are available in the town offices.

Baseball Programs Boys 13-14 years old who are interested in playing in the Willimantic Pony League in the town baseball program should call the manager of the team, Joseph Tracy.

Boys who have signed up for the farm and little leagues will be notified when practice starts by their managers.

More fathers are needed in the program and are urged to attend a meeting Monday at 7:30 p.m. in the fireplace room of the Community Hall.

Manchester Area Police Recover Cases of Liquor Stolen in Harlem

Cases of liquor stolen from a Harlem package store during disturbance there Thursday were found in a car traveling on the Wilbur Cross Highway in Tolland yesterday morning, state police announced today.

Police have charged the driver, James C. Hill, of Jamaica Plains, Mass., with possession of stolen goods, illegal transportation of alcohol and operating a motor vehicle without driver's license.

The package store was broken into during disturbances in the wake of the assassination of Dr. Martin Luther King. Police said troopers stopped the car during a routine check and found the cases on the car floor and seats.

Moon Crew Could Be Lost, But Odds for Return Good

Exhaustive analysis of the many concepts proposed, including engineering feasibility, possible modes of operation, costs, etc., show some techniques appear reasonable, including the use of existing spacecraft, modified and stripped-down.

Some sort of bailout capsule appears likely for emergency escape from low earth orbit rather than a rescue system which implies a flight from earth to pick up stranded crewmen.

A bailout device carried aboard or docked to an orbiting spacecraft could provide quicker escape at lower cost than a rescue system.

Designed only for emergency return, it need not have normal spacecraft complexity and would feature a re-entry heatshield, retrorocket, life support system, reaction controls, a landing parachute and communications.

Such an escape capsule would have application for future space ferry craft and is being studied as a three-man device that perhaps could be expanded to a six-man vehicle.

For large orbiting laboratories it appears that a modified or stripped-down space-considered.

One obvious concept in any multiple-launch lunar operation recommends the readiness of successive space vehicles for fast emergency launch and rescue of the preceding flight, if required.

An alternative approach would develop special systems for particularly critical phases of lunar flight.

For an emergency of the surface of the moon wherein crewmen could be stranded by a malfunction landing craft, several techniques are being

U.S. Force Lands in Khe Sanh

(Continued from Page One) In one trench, the rangers reported finding the bodies of three North Vietnamese soldiers, all well equipped. They apparently were hit when U.S. artillery and air strikes pounded the trenches.

Earlier, about 1,000 U.S. Marines had moved nearly two miles southwest of the base in an effort to root out North Vietnamese troops lurking in the hills near the Laotian border.

South Vietnamese troops were expected to take over defense of most of the two-square-mile fortress, opening the way to withdraw some of the Marines or send them out on additional offensive thrusts.

U.S. commanders once expected one of the biggest battles of the war to develop at Khe Sanh, and estimated that 20,000 enemy troops surrounded the base. But the latest estimate was that only 7,000 enemy soldiers remained and the rest had withdrawn into the mountains toward Laos under massive U.S. air attacks.

The relief force set out Monday on Operation Pegasus, and parts of it swept the mountains east, south and west of Khe Sanh today.

Further information on teacher negotiations was released Thursday night as a "position statement, proposed by the Coventry Board of Education."

The statement reads: "This Board of Education, as a body, endorses fully the rights of the teachers of Coventry and of all members of the teaching profession in general as long as their rights practically co-exist with the duties of the same profession. This negotiation procedure is, therefore, a two-way street that must encompass these ten basic requirements at the time of the items include:

The ten items include a salary proposal consonant with Coventry's ability to pay and after "honest" study; acceptance of assignment connected with the curriculum; non-interference in the actual evaluation process of teachers by the administration and school board; and "reversion" for prerogatives of the board as representatives of the public, to create, not follow policy.

Also, respect for the prerogative of administration to execute the policy created by the board, which would involve noninterference in the administrative process while pursuing grievance machinery; and acceptance of assignments without undue obstructionism or cost, and responsibility for workings of the teacher's organization.

Also, professional development in a program not only organized by the administration, but also individually planned and arranged; sanction and policing within professional and ethical units by the teacher organization and creation and maintenance of a positive and "cooperative" liaison between teachers, board and administration.

A final item noted by board chairman Ruth Benoit was that the board agreed to break into a sub-committee for negotiations as they continue. This is a change from the earlier ground rule that the board would negotiate as a "committee of the whole."

The three-member sub-committee is made up of Mrs. Benoit, Paul Boardman and Richard Messier, with negotiations scheduled to resume on Tuesday night and most likely every Tuesday night until things are settled.

No further salary proposals have been made by either side as yet, since the original CFT proposal in January. Teachers at that time requested a starting salary of $8,400, with a maximum salary possible of $11,688. The starting figure would be for a Bachelor's Degree in the first year of teaching; the maximum for a Master's degree plus 30 hours and 11 years of experience.

Towns in the surrounding area have agreed on starting salary of $6,000 or $6,100 in almost every case.

Manchester Churches Plan Services for Palm Sunday

The triumphal entry of Christ into Jerusalem will be observed tomorrow with special Palm Sunday Services at Manchester area churches.

Special Palm Sunday services include: A Men's Holy Communion Service and breakfast beginning at 6:30 a.m. at South Methodist Church. Guest speaker will be Atty. Peter Costas who will speak on "Involvement of the Citizenry in Obtaining Social Legislation."

Church services at 9 and 10:45 a.m. will be provided music by the Chancel Choir Ensemble, Youth Fellowship Choir, and the Chancel Choir. At 3 p.m. a Vesper Service Program will be held in Cooper Hall for the church school members, their families and friends.

Church services at 9 and 10:45 a.m. will be provided music by the Chancel Choir Ensemble, Youth Fellowship Choir, and the Chancel Choir. At 3 p.m. a Vesper Service Program will be held in Cooper Hall for the church school members, their families and friends.

The Rhythmic Choir will present interpretive motion dancing directed by Mrs. Charles Baxter and Mrs. Jay Stager. Readings will be by James Campbell, youth director and Edwin Sage.

A reading of the Passion according to St. Matthew will be part of the Palm Sunday Family services at 9 a.m. and 11 a.m. at St. Mary's Episcopal Church under the direction of the Rev. James W. Bottoms. Clergy, lay readers, and choirs of the church will take part.

St. John's Polish National Catholic Church will have the blessing of the Palms and their distribution at the 8:30 a.m. and 10:30 a.m. Masses. Second Congregational Church will have a communion service at 8:30 a.m., to be followed at 7 by the annual Men's Palm Sunday Communion Breakfast. Guest speaker will be Ivor Hugh, director of the Department of Communications for the Greater Hartford Council of Churches and the Connecticut Council of Churches. He will speak on "The Challenge of Communication."

A reading of the Passion according to St. Mark with Jazz Commentary will be performed Sunday at 5 p.m. in the Trinity College Chapel, Hartford. The service will include contemporary jazz interpretations of the passion music written and performed by Trinity students who are members of the Collegiate Jazz Band.

Center Congregational Church will present an evening of Worship as the drama of Holy Week unfolds, Sunday evening at 7:30 in the Sanctuary. Special music will be provided by the Senior Choir under the direction of Walter Graybi, organist and choir director.

Sugar for Morocco

CASABLANCA, Morocco — A sugar refinery is planned for Sidi Bannout, near Casablanca, that will produce 80,000 tons of sugar annually from 200,000 tons of sugar beets. This will bring the country's sugar output to 200,000 tons a year — about half the consumption.

'Neat' Man Is Sought

(Continued from Page One) Clark, who made an eight-hour visit Friday, said evidence "indicates a single individual" was involved in the assassination. "There is no evidence of a widespread plot."

The investigation already has widened to several states, he said, and "will spread as far as the evidence takes us. It has already spread several hundred miles from the boundaries of Tennessee now."

Clark also said that evidence in the case was considerably more than police "usually get in cases like this" but he refused to elaborate.

"A number of studies of prints of the smiler are being made by police and FBI agents with the aid of the FBI laboratory in Washington, he said.

Some Songs, Mostly Comedy

Offbeat humor of the late Ernie Kovacs is sampled Tuesday at 10.

The World of Ernie Kovacs

NEW YORK—In Ernie Kovacs' world, the unexpected was the norm. He'd set up a pie-in-the-face scene with two possible targets, a beautiful girl and a fat policeman, but it would be the beauty wearing the custard at the fade-out.

"The humor lies in the incongruity," the late comedian pointed out.

An hour-long sampling of classic Kovacsian comedy will be presented on the ABC Television Network Tuesday, in "The Comedy of Ernie Kovacs" from 10 to 11 p.m.

Ernie's comedy was a joy to behold but a problem to its creator. "We tried to get a regular director, but we couldn't find one who understood what I was trying to do," he once said.

He tailored his comedy to television, making the medium work for him.

One of the funniest examples of a Kovacs electronic situation: First, a close-up of a picture of a dam on the wall of a board room. The dam bursts and water pours from the picture. The camera pulls back to show the water soaking a gathering of dignified board members.

In another, a man sings so loud his teeth shatter. For full impact, the camera zeroes in on his mouth to show the dental disintegration taking place. Impossible for the stage but ideal for television.

Kovacs did his own trail-blazing. The only guidelines were other Kovacs shows.

"I have to write them myself," he said of his wordless shows. "As soon as you hire four or five writers, each man starts trying to earn his salary. You end up going in four or five directions at once."

The script was only the start. After he had the 24 or so pages written, with sets and costumes planned, he'd go the story-board route. Rough drawings were used to specify the placement of music cues; action was worked out as in a comic strip with a separate panel for each antic.

"All my rehearsals are on paper. When I finish a script in my den, that's it."

He said of his shows, "Eighty percent of what I do is sight gags, not pantomime. Much of it is suppressed desire carried through to the logical ending. What man hasn't wanted to throw flowers at the toastmaster at a banquet?"

"One of mine has been to park a car on Madison Avenue in New York during a busy part of the day, then spread a blanket on the sidewalk and hold a family picnic."

Incongruous? No, Kovacsian.

Behind Scenes at Broadcasters' Meeting

By LAWRENCE LAURENT The Washington Post

CHICAGO—The 46th annual convention of the National Association of Broadcasters here this week will go down as the biggest, most successful and the happiest in history.

It became the biggest with a total registration of 5,644 broadcasting executives and engineers. It became the most successful mainly because of the unscheduled, unexpected appearance by President Johnson. Previous conventions in Washington have been addressed by a President, most recently by President Kennedy in 1961. But no broadcaster at this convention could recall a President flying to Chicago to address them.

The happiness stems from the new business outlook, an expectation of economic growth after a 1967 that frightened this industry. An advertiser-supported medium is increasingly sensitive to business fluctuations and while 1967 was a profitable year for broadcasters it didn't bring the usual growth.

The unhappiness, the wrangling and the fighting are off-stage and behind the scenes. Broadcasting does have its troubles, but it is an industry that has grown and prospered from the infighting among the contending segments.

The American Broadcasting Co. TV network, which is fighting for its life and in bad need of capital, put on a happy face at this convention. New president Elton Rule assured operators of ABC-TV affiliated stations that things are looking up. He talked about new programming, mainly new faces in action-adventure series. He forecast success, an annual prediction at such meetings that is part of the broadcasting ritual.

Privately, not even ABC affiliates could see much difference. The belief is that next season's ratings will once more find CBS in first place, NBC in second and ABC bringing up the rear.

Elmer Lower, president of ABC News, did offer a less ritual attitude. A change is being prepared in the nightly ABC newscast. Hard news will get just the attention that editors think it deserves, but without the padding that has been used to fill out the time. Greater emphasis will be given to interviews, opinion and off-beat feature stories.

Lower would pale at the use of the term, but what he was describing is an electronic equivalent of the "tabloid" approach to the news.

CBS-TV is getting grumbles, privately, over its recent decision not to compensate affiliated TV stations for broadcasting its coverage of the 1968 conventions. Station managers bemoan the decision, particularly since August is the month in

New But Still Lucy

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "The Lucy Show," now repeating programs shown earlier this season, will not return to CBS. Lucille Ball will be back, starring in a comedy series in the same Monday night half hour, but some drastic changes will occur over the summer.

When Miss Ball returns next September, it will no longer be as Lucy Carmichael. She will be Lucy Carter, widow with two children. And the children will be her own — Lucie, 17, and Desi Arnaz Jr., 16. Gale Gordon will no longer be Mr. Mooney, the banker, but Uncle Charlie, and Lucy will still be working for him although no longer in a bank. The change, Miss Ball explained, comes partly because certain rights to the old property have expired, but mostly because she thought it would be good for the show to change things around a bit. And she also wanted to get her two teenagers into the act.

"I'd been thinking about it for some time," Lucy said. "But I didn't say anything until about a month ago. At first they thought I was kidding, and then they began to get excited. It won't present any real problems — instead of going to school they'll have a tutor. And they'll just have to work harder."

After all those years with "I Love Lucy" as a married woman, Lucy switched format and character with "The Lucy Show." She started out in that series as a Connecticut widow with two children. Two seasons ago, Lucy Carmichael moved to California, and somehow along the way, the two children got lost.

"We've even got to find another name for the series," she said. "I've got an idea or two but I'm not sure yet. Besides, I really don't think that we're going to make a really big fuss about the changes. If people like it they won't care whether I'm Lucy Ricardo, Lucy Carmichael or Lucy Carter."

Burr's Hall

Raymond Burr owns a house with a hall around it! Burr, star of "Ironside," owns his own Fiji Island, Nautauga. When he first purchased the South Sea paradise, the plantation house which went with it was surrounded by a spacious veranda.

"I needed more room," explains Burr, "so I hired carpenters to completely enclose the veranda. Now I literally have a house with a hall around it. I plan to break it up into four separate bedrooms, though. Eventually, I'll build a new veranda."

'ARSENIC' SET

Helen Hayes, Robert Crane and Lillian Gish will star in a two-hour adaptation of "Arsenic and Old Lace" next season on ABC. Also starring will be David Wayne as "Teddy Roosevelt" and Billy De Wolfe as Mr. Witherspoon.

Tony Awards April 21

NEW YORK (AP) — The "Tony" awards show, on NBC April 21, will honor the 1967-68 season's outstanding Broadway shows and performers and will present samples from four hits. Pearl Bailey and the chorus of her "Hello, Dolly!" will do a production number. Steve Lawrence and Eydie Gorme will sing a number from their "Golden Rainbow." Robert Goulet and David Wayne will act out a scene from their "Happy Time." And the ensemble of "How Now, Dow Jones," will also perform.

Comedians Added

NEW YORK (AP)—NBC has added two comedians as regulars to the summer series replacing the Dean Martin show. They are Paul Lynd and Shecky Greene. Stars of the show will be Frank Sinatra Jr. and Joey Heatherton. The next CBS National Geographic special, on April 16, will be a story of Portuguese cod fishermen whose work takes them onto the seas for six months at a time. The show is called "The Lonely Dorymen."

Shirley Anne Field in the movie, "Kings of the Sun," Thursday 9-11 p.m. on CBS.
