Receive Girl Scout's Highest Award

Eight Cadette Girl Scouts of Troop 77 received their first Class Brides, the highest award in Girl Scouting, last night in the Robbins Room of Center Congregational Church. They are, from left to right, Miss Kristin Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Potter of 144 Vinwood Rd.; Miss Linda Lull, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Lull of 88 Hemlock St.; and Miss Alexandra Ferguson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Ferguson of 128 Autumn St. Back row, left to right, Miss Dianne Gray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gray of 74 Battaglia Rd.; Miss Laura Winzler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Winzler of 16 Constance Dr.; Miss Susan Samuelson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Samuelson of 108 Hemlock St.; and Miss Virginia Morse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Morse of 12 Lodge Dr. Miss Claire Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Smith of 24 Ripstone St., not pictured, also received the award. To earn the badge, girls must earn challenges in the fields of social dependability, active citizenship, emergency preparedness, and the Girl Scout Promise. Mrs. Lillian Banning and Mrs. Andrew Winzler are troop leaders. (Herald photo by Buscivitis)

Neighborhood Recreation Suggested by Mahoney

A program of "Neighborhood Recreation," similar to "Neighborhood Recreation" is being proposed for Manchester by Democratic Town Director Francis Mahoney. As for the cost of his program, Mahoney says, "By providing neighborhood recreation, we might easily be giving everyone, young and old, the use of their property." He notes that "most of our old or build new recreational facilities belong to the taxpayers." He notes that "most of our old or build new recreational facilities belong to the taxpayers." He notes that "most of our old or build new recreational facilities belong to the taxpayers."

12th Circuit Court Cases

MANCHESTER SESSION In the case of Kenneth W. Brooks, 25 of 146 W. Center St. charged with several counts of obtaining controlled drugs in excessive amounts, Judge John Canale ordered the suspension of the prosecution until the first Monday in June 1969. Prior pleas of guilty were also vacated. Brooks has been placed in the custody of the local probation department under the Health Commission of the State of Connecticut which will recommend treatment for him either of an outpatient or inpatient nature. On May 16, Brooks agreed to undergo examination by Dr. William Doerr of Hartford, who reports that Brooks is suffering from a drug dependent psychosis as a drug dependent under Public Act 563 which was passed in October of last year. He was arrested in February on a warrant charging him with obtaining a controlled drug after a report had been received by police that he had been purchasing narcotic in successive amounts. Mahoney says, "I was an active member of the Rec Department as a boy, and then as a young man, and I was a supervisor at both the East Side Rec and the West Side Rec. I hope, however, our facilities are for a proper recreation program."

Warnings Issued In Two Mishaps
John J. Cummings, 16, of 11 Lockwood St., driving an ice cream truck, was issued a written warning for making an improper left turn at 5:30 last night. Police say the accident occurred at New State Rd. and Buckland St., and the truck was in collision with a car driven by Thomas F. Walsh Jr., 18, of 48 Ridge St.

Ahearn Scores Republicans On Closed Meeting Issue

The cross-rough continues between Aloysius Ahearn and what might be called the Bolton Republican Establishment on the question of the attitude of the Zoning Commission toward the public.

Ahearn is seeking the nomination for Democratic candidate for the City Council in the General Assembly. His charge is that the Zoning Commission has violated the state's "right-to-hear" law (P.A. 723) by holding closed meetings and not making minutes available to citizens. He has been speaking earlier this week by Milton Jensen, Republican town committee chairman, James Chandler, however, in the attitude and action of town officials who apparently feel that they are becoming a "political football."
In answer to this, Ahearn said,
"Republican leaders of Bolton have had the chronic habit of rejecting every criticism by screaming 'Politics!' Regardless of what the Republican Town Committee would like us to believe, this particular matter is not a question of politics. It is a question of right and morality. And any citizen, regardless of party conviction, or position on the question of the defending the statements, attitudes, and actions of the Zoning Commission. I do not think that the board puts a town official above citizens. I realize that town officials occasionally make mistakes. Bolton is no exception.

Bolton

What I particularly object to is the attitude and action of town officials who apparently feel that they are becoming a "political football." In answer to this, Ahearn said, "Republican leaders of Bolton have had the chronic habit of rejecting every criticism by screaming 'Politics!' Regardless

Committee would like us to be-

THE BIBLE SPEAKS
by Eugene Brenner

"Of making many books there is no end," Eccl. 12:12. The number of books pouring from presses around the world staggers the imagination. But long before the art of printing, books were being written and libraries developed. A most interesting study in the discovery of ancient works and the formation of reliable texts in their original languages. Of all ancient volumes, the one nearest to us is the Bible. In this study this reason, no other approach is so factual and credible.

The Bible has been so well preserved partly because of what it is. It is the word of God's covenants with his people and their promises. It is the word of God's love and mercy. It is the word of God's

Answers Awaiting Needs

Have you been putting off getting savings for your house savings? Has the weather had been too warm? If you want canvas savings for your home this year, do not put it off any longer or you may find yourself going without protection from the sun half the summer. The place to go? Manchester Shell. Why not at all times, naturally, for they have the very finest canvas for awnings that money can buy.

Adrian St. Pierre, owner of Manchester Awning Co., established the business in 1947, and since then any work done in his company has given satisfaction to all of his customers. He handles only the best in materials and stands in back of every canvas he makes. He makes a difference in custom tailored awnings, both in their appearance and in their durability. They add comfort to your home, and they also add beauty, and frankly you can enjoy the best at very little extra cost. So why not let Manchester Awning Co. take care of your awning needs? They have many sample books to look at and are always glad to stop in and let them look over. You can park right in front of the store, and this is always an advantage. It is never a problem. There are many new patterns this year which are in popularity. They are designed to give long wear, and they are also designed to give you the best that you can get, designed to give long wear, and they are also designed to give you the best that you can get.

Swift Courteous Service

Many people have found that Dick's Shell gas center when they do their shopping, and they, in turn, have made this their choice of service station. Not only are they pleased with the services they receive but they also enjoy the excellent mechanical work that is done here. If you have any car problems, let Dick's Shell gas center take care of them. They will find the prices charged are most reasonable. It is almost three years ago that Dick Grinovich, the owner, opened the station. They have a limited repairer's license and two bays to serve you. Mr. Grinovich attended automotive trade school and he has attended several General Motors training schools over a period of two years. He can and does do a thorough job in your car, and he does it quickly for you. One job most of us hate is washing a car, but when you have this done at Dick's Shell, you will find it is not a chore. The station is open daily from 7 a.m. to 9 p.m. and Saturdays and Sundays the hours are from 8 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Before starting on summer trips, you may find that your car is not running as well as it should. It may be that your car is dirty and that you need to have it washed. Don Wert, Tigers Blast White Sox Homers for 'Beek' and RSox

Don Wert, Tigers Blast White Sox

Homers for 'Beek' and RSox

CLEVELAND (AP)—League lead to 6½ games over Baltimore.

Ken Harrelson turned on three times as much power as Don Wert, but he couldn't have short-circuited Cleveland more completely than Wert did the Chicago White Sox.

Wert, a little slower pulling the switch, waited until the 14th inning before blasting his seventh home run that brought the American League-leading Detroit Tigers a 6-5 victory over the White Sox Friday night.

Harrelson held off until only the fifth inning before beginning a barrage of three consecutive homers that drove in seven runs and surged the Boston Red Sox by the Indians 7-2.

The rest of the league's hitters remained mostly grounded as Minnesota 2-1, infield hit,uffed out and Chicago had to settle for a sacrifice and scored on an inning before blasting his seventh home run on second base before Detroit relieved the aid.

The Tigers got into extra innings in the first place when Earl Wilson, making his first start since injuring a hand May 24, capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning with a three-run homer.

The White Sox had taken a 4-0 lead with a brief and surprising show of power as Tom McCraw hit a three-run homer.

Wert, not noted as a power pitcher at the 1967 start, tabling a 4-1 lead against loser Bob Priddy, 0-3, on Bill Freehan's run-scoring hit. Luis Aparicio best out a hit for the Sox in the 13th, second, took third on a sacrifice and scored on an inning before blasting his seventh home run on second base before Detroit relieved the aid.

The Tigers got into extra innings in the first place when Earl Wilson, making his first start since injuring a hand May 24, capped a four-run uprising in the fifth inning with a three-run homer.

Harvard-Yale Crews Prepared

NEW LONDON (AP)—The 103rd race in the famous Harvard-Yale boat race series will be rowed here today on the Thames River.

The four-mile race between eight-man crews will start at 10:30 a.m. and will be the 103rd in the series.

The favored Harvard crew has not been beaten in collegiate competition since 1965. In addition to the traditional rivalry, however, the Yale crew will have an additional incentive because their chances of going to the olympic trials at Long Beach, Calif., next month depend entirely on their showing today.

Harvard's crew is led by Alan Sorenson, who won the 1967 race. Yale's crew is led by Steve Starnes, who won the 1966 race.

U.S. Open Golf Leader Yancey Very Happy if He Shoots 140

ROCHESTER, N. Y. (AP)—There's an all-American boy air, a certain mild naivete, about big, over-the-hill, 37-year-old Yancey, the second-round leader in the U.S. Open Golf Championship.

Defending 1967 NASAR member, Yancey, who had a 140 on the first day, said he would be very happy to shoot a 140 on the second day.

Harrelson Credits Dark With Hitting Development

CLEVELAND (AP)—Manchester Indians' Ken Harrelson credits his hitting development with the dark.

Harrelson, who hit three home runs in a 7-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox Friday night, credited his hitting development with the dark.

Errors Hurt Pitching Performances of A's

OAKLAND (AP)—Everything went wrong for the Oakland A's Friday night. The lights went out in their dressing room after a 10-inning loss to the Chicago White Sox.

The A's were ashamed of their performance, and they were ashamed of their performance.

Dodd Charge Draws Denial By Pearson

copies of the report Oct. 27, 1964, after extensive hearings in which 56 witnesses were heard. Dodd said Pearson praised him in a Nov. 9, 1964 column for the subcommittee work. He added that the latest column showed Pearson to be "an unmitigated and scoundrelous liar." A series of columns by Pearson and his associate, Jack Anderson, in 1965 and 1967 about Dodd's alleged use of political funds for personal purposes led to a Senate investigation of Dodd and his subsequent censure.

Mule Train Goes Forward

move, Maddox joined the troopers about an hour after it began the 30-mile trip to Atlanta. Maddox had promised to allow the mule train to proceed during the light traffic hours late Friday and early today. "We don't trust Lester Maddox," declared wagon leader Willie Bolden at an Atlanta meeting Friday night. "We told the state troopers and Lester Maddox we were going to Atlanta on Interstate 20. We will come to Atlanta on I-20. In Mississippi, we did not allow the governor to dictate to us. In Alabama, we did not allow the governor to dictate to us. And, we just flatly refuse to let Gov. Lester Maddox dictate to us," Bolden declared. The mule train members were arrested when they first attempted to enter the interstate highway Friday near Douglasville. Thirty-two juveniles, including the 9-year-old son of the Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, president of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, were also taken into custody. The juveniles were released but chose to remain with the adults. Later, Douglas County Sheriff Claude Abercrombie announced that all charges were being dropped against those arrested.

The mule train is headed for Resurrection City in Washington, where several thousand persons have already assembled to demonstrate for more government assistance to the poor. Bolden, who helped organize the mule train when it left Marks, Miss., May 12, said the group had traveled 560 miles in reaching Douglasville. "Those 560 miles were not easy," Bolden said. Those on the mule train range from 6 months to 83 years old, he said.

Fountain Object Of Prank Again

The namesake of the newly completed Fountain Village apartment complex opposite Wickham Park is getting to be a fountain of youthful pranks. At 10 last night, the decorative fountain that adorns the development's entrance received an impromptu cleansing from a pair of fleet-footed youths. The night watchman at the development arrived too late to prevent the pair from dumping half a container of liquid soap into the bubbling water. Although the youths saw the watchman approaching and dropped the container before finishing their task, the result was about one inch of billowing suds covering the fountain's bottom level. Just after the fountain was installed, about two weeks ago, some mischievous youths dumped a container of black dye into it, which rather than having the desired effect of changing the water's color, gummed up the fountain's apparatus, causing costly repairs. At least the latest incident was all in good clean fun.

Blind Students Receive Awards

Three Manchester area students were among several blind children from various parts of the state who received awards yesterday afternoon at the closing exercises at Oak Hill School, Hartford, which is conducted by the Connecticut Institute for the Blind. They are Sharon Hughey of Vernon, a braille watch award in home economics and a Red Cross certificate for the home nursing program; Michael Robinson of South Coventry, an improvement award in citizenship; and Gary Hale of Wapping, an improvement award in recreational effort.

After this interview and questioning session, she said the service asked her to resign, on grounds she lacked the proper moral character for her proposed new position.

Her new classification would have involved working with some classified materials as a photographic technician.

Miss Tattnell said she learned that government investigators had asked her neighbors about her moral character. She said they talked to seven residents of her apartment building whom she did not know.

"They were ridiculous about the whole thing," she said. "It's an outrageous case," said Lawrence Spelsier, director of the ACLU's Washington office.

Nixon

He concluded his speech at the rally with the prayer, "God bless everyone of all races."

White Wallace spoke and before he arrived, the auditorium was heavily guarded by police, the presidential candidate's own security officers from Alabama and Secret Service agents assigned to him by President Johnson after the slaying of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

Armed policemen were posted at every entrance to the auditorium. No one was allowed in the balcony behind the platform where Wallace spoke.

In his speech, the third-party candidate said one of his first acts, if elected, would be to ask Congress to repeal the new federal housing act which, he said, is only a way to get you in jail without a jury trial if you don't sell your house to whoever they want you to."

McCarthy

HELENA, Mont. (AP) — In a bid for support of some of Montana's 28 convention delegates, Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy promised quick Cabinet changes if he is elected president and took some pokes at his opponent, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey.

McCarthy, making a flying tour of three Western states, came here after a visit to a similar convention in Idaho Falls, Idaho, and left for Phoenix, Ariz., shortly before midnight.

McCarthy, speaking at a state Democratic convention opening dinner, said he wished Cabinet members were more expendable.

"My administration is going to make them the first to go," he said. The Minnesota senator drew a laugh from the crowd when he said splitting "the Democratic party in 1968 is like chopping sawdust."

Before McCarthy arrived, James H. Rowe, a Humphrey adviser, delivered a message to the delegates from the vice president. It asked for their support.

Humphrey had planned to address the convention before his self-imposed moratorium after the death of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy.

McCarthy asked the Democrats to keep an open mind about candidates and the issues facing the nation until the national convention in August.

Earlier in Idaho Falls, McCarthy said he could "remember speeches that were made back in 1948 by some office holders who are still around, about how important it was to keep important issues ahead of the party."

He added: "They don't remember what they said in 1948." Humphrey's stand for a strong civil rights plank in the 1948 Democratic platform led to a walkout by Southerners at the national convention. Now Humphrey is urging party unity on Vietnam.

Wallace

A helmeted policeman who reached the surveillance area Sunday night to keep him off a big Negro. The crowd was going to kill them."

A young white man, not with the demonstrators, was arrested as he walked into the auditorium shortly before Wallace began his speech. Police said the man, identified as George W. Dehoff, 25, of Murfreesboro, Tenn., had a loaded pistol tucked in his belt.

"There was one round in the chamber and about seven or eight rounds in a clip," said Asst. Police Chief Donald Barton. "He was charged with carrying a pistol and released on $50 bond."

Barton said Dehoff identified himself as a "special deputy sheriff" in adjoining Rutherford County and said he had "a permit to carry a gun in that county." The gun was confiscated.

The demonstrators—one of them a Negro man in a wheelchair—were parading in front of the auditorium as Wallace concluded his speech, inside by calling for strict law enforcement and asking for the support of all Negroes in Tennessee.

The crowd filing out of the auditorium met the demonstrators and the shouting and cursing began. Police converged on the area, drove through the press and pushed the demonstrators toward the jail two blocks away. "Communists!" one bystander shouted at the demonstrators.

We had planned a peaceful demonstration to put some light on law and order," said Bill Gregory, 25, of Nashville, who identified himself as a volunteer worker for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. "We had a picture of the four kids killed in the church in Alabama to demonstrate the kind of law and order he wants," Gregory said. At the rally, earlier in the day in another speech and at a news conference, Wallace discovered a racist philosophy and invited support from "the good people of this state and every state, regardless of color."

Politics Elsewhere

Nixon

He observed what amounts to a personal campaign moratorium through about July 4.

The theory in the Nixon camp is that active, personal campaigning would lead inevitably to some kind of confrontation with Rockefeller, even if only through comments by one candidate on what the other is saying and doing.

As Nixon's strategists view it, this would be more likely to aid the underdog rather than the frontrunner.

Nixon already has spurned Rockefeller's challenge to debate. Nixon's stand on personal debate with his Republican rival was endorsed Friday by California Gov. Ronald Reagan.

"The more that our presidential candidates can avoid confrontation with each other," Reagan said, the better the chances of avoiding party division and of building unity after the nominee is chosen.

Governors

The material is a 5 1/2-inch-thick stack of working papers, including a series of suggested solutions to domestic problems which stir disagreement.

Among these suggestions was a series of new civil rights measures dealing with open housing, racial balance in the schools and fair employment.

In addition, the document compiled by the governors' association suggests an income maintenance program for Americans unable to work, and guaranteed employment, by the government if necessary, for those who can.

Gov. Tim Babcock of Montana said the suggestions were not endorsed by the governors, only accepted as a starting point.

The document grew out of staff studies and a series of platform hearings held by the GOP governors.

There was discord on the question of gun control legislation.

Pennsylvania Gov. Raymond P. Shafer, chairman of the governors' policy committee, advocated strict gun registration; Babcock disagreed.

So did California Gov. Ronald Reagan. He told a news conference he favors measures to keep guns out of the hands of criminals and mentally disturbed, but opposed universal registration.

Reagan said registration of firearms in Communist countries was used "to remove people's ability to fight back" against totalitarianism.

Shafer acknowledged it will be difficult for the governors to agree on platform proposals.

But he said they will keep trying in hopes of fashioning a firm position on such matters as jobs and welfare, law and order, civil rights and the federal system.

"If we don't take positions, we will not be as strong as if we do," in attempting to influence the platform, Shafer said.

Wedding

Gorsch-Belding

Mrs. Rudolph V. Gorsch

Mrs. Doris Hastings Belding of Manchester and Dr. Rudolph Victor Gorsch of Flushing, N.Y., were united in marriage last night at Center Congregational Church. She was the women's editor at The Herald.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Charles Hastings of 54 Cambridge St.

The bridegroom, recently retired, was a clinical professor of proctology at the New York Polytechnic Medical School and Hospital, and director of proctology at the Midtown Hospital, New York City. He is a Senior Fellow of the American Proctologic Society and an Honorary Fellow of the New Jersey and Florida Proctologic Societies, and a Fellow of the New York Proctologic Society. He is a graduate of New York University and Columbia University Medical School. Degrees include A.B., M.D., F.I.C.S., F.A.P.S., and D.A.B.P.

The Rev. Kenneth Steere of Center Congregational Church performed the double-ring candlelight ceremony. An arrangement of gladioli and shasta daisies was on the altar.

Mrs. Richard A. Lynchski of Plainville, daughter of the bride, and Charles Gorsch of Flushing, cousin of the bridegroom, were honor attendants.

The bride wore a gray raw silk ensemble with full-length coat, dress fashioned with jeweled yoke and sleeves, matching accessories, and a corsage of rubrum lilies, roses and ivy.

Mrs. Lynchski was in chartreuse crepe, and carried a bouquet of pale yellow carnations and roses.

A reception for 150 was held at Fiano's Restaurant, Bolton. After a trip to Grand Cayman, British West Indies, the couple will live in Flushing until Aug. 2, when they leave for the Orient, New Zealand, Australia and Hawaii. In November, they will return to make their home in Manchester.

Crash Causes Minor Injuries

A 58-year-old Manchester man suffers minor injuries early this morning after crashing his car into a parked automobile at Center and Winter Sts.

The injured man, Frederick Brandt of 68 Spruce St., according to police drove his car into the rear of a parked and vacant car owned by Salvatore Catania of Rocky Hill at 1:08 a.m.

Brandt was rushed to the emergency room of Manchester Memorial Hospital where he was treated for a laceration of the lower lip and discharged.

Police issued Brandt a written warning for driving after drinking. Ten minutes later a second accident occurred on Center St. near Henderson Rd. where Richard Farrell, 26, of 861 Center St. drove his car into the rear of a car operated by Robin Pizzy, 26, of Rocky Hill. There were no injuries in the crash.

Minor damage was incurred in an accident that took place in the Parkside parking lot near Stanley Green's Restaurant at 12:15 a.m. today.

James J. Anderson, 20, of 58 Pine St. drove his car into a car driven by Edward F. Kucks, 24, of East Hartford, according to police, after a left turn too wide.

Police Arrests

A 23-year-old Manchester man was charged with breach of peace last night, after allegedly attempting to climb through the window of a Center St. apartment into a woman's bedroom.

The man, Gerald R. Freeman, of 24 Bunce Dr., was taken into custody at a next door apartment after police responded to a telephoned complaint from the woman.

Police said a second man, who allegedly accompanied Freeman, could not be identified by the complainant.

Freeman was released on no cash bail for July 1 court appearance. Phillip G. Patros, 36, of 28 Summit St., Willimantic, was charged with indecent exposure, after police answered a call from the manager of a Main St. department store at 5 p.m. yesterday.

Police said Patros was allegedly exposing himself to customers inside the store. Acting on a description of the man's car, including license number, provided by the store manager, a patrolman stopped Patros a few minutes later on Ludlow Rd.

Patros was released on no cash bail for July 1 court appearance. Robert L. Rankin, 24, of Coventry was served a 12th Circuit Court warrant yesterday afternoon, charging him with non-support. He was allowed to go free on $500 bond provided by a professional bondsman and will appear in court July 8.

State Convention

Compromise Hinted Smoothing GOP Way

of the midnight discussions. Shea, state central committeeman from the 4th Senatorial District and co-chairman of the First Congressional District, is expected to be elected one of the state's eight GOP presidential electors.

Keynote speaker U.S. Sen. Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, failed to stir the delegates, possibly because he is unknown in Connecticut and, possibly, because he repeated all that has been said, and that is being said, in routine Republican speeches.

His was, in effect, a "State of the Union" speech, comparing the condition of the country today to what it was seven years ago, at the end of the Eisenhower administration.

"The real crisis of America," he said, "is a crisis of leadership. The challenge to us Republicans is to provide the firm, forceful and dynamic leadership our nation must have."

On the subject of law and order, he said, "It should make no difference whether the law-breaker is the governor of Alabama, defying a federal court's school desegregation order, or the twisted person who senselessly murdered Sen. Kennedy; or the so-called poor people campaigners who threaten to turn Washington downside-up and upside-down."

A Nixon backer, he left out that portion of his prepared speech which listed some of the qualifications for the presidency which, in his opinion, a candidate should have.

Omitted was the prepared statement, "The man we are seeking must not be tied to a narrow philosophy or ideology. He must be a man capable of capturing the national imagination, the imagination of America's restless and groping youth."

Hosts to over 1,000 persons at the Hotel America, following the convention session, were N.Y. Sen. Jacob Javits and David Rockefeller, younger brother of the N.Y. governor.

Javits said that the purpose of his Connecticut visit was "to keep the convention open, to keep the uncommitted delegates firm, and to keep Nixon from walking off with the state's votes even prior to the national convention."

"The crisis in the world and at home is so great and so dangerous," he warned, "that our party and our country can't afford to choose anything less than anyone but the best, and Nelson Rockefeller has the unique qualities needed."

Javits said, "The polls have shown, and continue to show, that Nelson Rockefeller is the man who can win."

David Rockefeller, who said that the present campaign is his first venture into politics, called his brother, "the one person in the country who can achieve what needs to be achieved."

Nelson Rockefeller will be in Connecticut June 26 for a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner at the Hartford Hilton.

Sen. Javits and David Rockefeller, in short speeches at the Hotel America reception, both urged the GOP delegates, "Let's take nothing for granted," in referring to reports that Nixon is far ahead in national GOP delegate strength.

Parties and receptions were in abundance at the Hotel Hilton last night.

The Nixon people had a suite on the 19th floor, May's reception was in the Terrace Room, Sibal had a party on the 16th floor, and 6th District Cong. Thomas Meskill had one on the 7th floor.

Rockefeller, Nixon and May Girls were at both hotels and at the Bushnell, distributing straw hats, buttons, pencils, bumper stickers and literature. The Nixon hats have bands reading, "Nixon's The One." Those on the Rockefeller hats read, simply, "Rockefeller."

Buttons for Sibal read "ABE," with the E crossed out a reference to incumbent Sen. Abe Ribicoff.

A station wagon with Massachusetts plates and lettered "Reagan for President" was parked across the street from the Bushnell. Reagan volunteers were in the lobby, distributing armbands and literature. There were few takers.

The Manchester delegation sat near the front of the auditorium, on the right center aisle, under the banner sign of the 4th Senatorial District.

Among the approximately 50 guests seated on the stage, and introduced to the convention, were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Riegel of Manchester. Riegel is state chairman of the Young GOP.

There were very few Negroes among the delegates on the ground floor and among the alternates in the balcony. The only Negro on the stage was the Rev. Richard Battles of Hartford, who delivered a short benediction.

The Rev. Joseph C. Gengras, also of Hartford, who delivered the invocation, asked the delegates to commit themselves to the cause for which the late Sen. Hubert Kennedy gave his life. His entire invocation was dedicated to the late N. Y. senator.

Meskill, the temporary chairman, was introduced by Hausman as "the product of the New Britain Republican establishment."

Hausman, in his short address said that he has lived, and will continue to live, "harmoniously" with all factions of Connecticut Republicans.

Atty. John Gerardo of Harwinton, GOP candidate for lieutenant governor in 1968, was appointed temporary clerk; and Mrs. Lillian Ludlum was appointed temporary secretary. They and Meskill are expected to be elected to the permanent posts today.

Unlike almost all previous conventions, Republican and Democratic, there was no organized last night. Instead, there was the 7-piece Al Jarvis Orchestra, playing appropriate songs when anyone was introduced. It was "The Tennessee Waltz" for Sen. Baker.

The convention was called to order at 8:15 and was adjourned at 9:20.

The colors were presented in an impressive ceremony by a group of TAR's Teenage Republicans. The Star Spangled Banner was sung by Marie Salami of Haddam.

Songs from All Over

Gilbert Becaud
Socks It to 'Em

NEW YORK—Gilbert Becaud and father of the Bossa Nova, Joao Gilberto; Swedish singer Lill Lindfors and Berlin's Gunter Kallmann Chorus.

But despite this array of talent, Becaud manages to overwhelm his audience—on this occasion gathered at Telefilm Saar studios in Saarbrücken, Germany. It is the kind of setting he likes, small and intimate.

His stage presence is mercurial. He roars out a sing or intones it tenderly. He laughs lustily then moments later looks like a small child who has done something wrong.

All his critics cite his magnetism and diversity of style. After a concert at London's Festival Hall a reviewer wrote:

"The five musicians in dinner jackets start a rhythmic beat. Enter Becaud — slim, black hair, mohair suit. Roars of applause. He leaps down from the stage, advances into the audience with arms outstretched like General de Gaulle. More applause. Then a lightning leap onto the stage, and smack into a song.

"It's a song about a bird. Becaud bends down to the bird, coaxes it. All his songs are dramatic. He sees the girl he's

Unpredictable, but Pretty

By JOAN CROBBY

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The trouble with most beauty contest winners is that they are so predictable it would be possible to write a standard contest winner's story and run it year after year, changing only the girl's name and the contest. Which is why Didi Anstett, recently chosen Miss U.S.A., is so refreshing.

Didi is a tall, scrubbed, pink-cheeked brunette beauty who will be representing her country in the "Miss Universe Pageant," to be seen on CBS on July 13. She is the second oldest of a Kirkland, Wash., family of nine.

"We have a sign on our front lawn that says "Population: 11," she smiles. And she tells of a telegram she got from her older brother, the married one, after she won the contest. "Congratulations. Don't get too cocky," it said.

It would probably be impossible for this girl to get cocky. She is too interested in the people and things around her to get wrapped up in herself. During our lunch, she was much more interested in my reactions to a trip behind the Iron Curtain than she was in talking about herself.

Dorothy Catherine Anstett was born June 28, 1947, in Roslyn Heights, Long Island. When she was 12, her parents moved to Washington. She was educated at the Convent of the Sacred Heart in Forest Ridge on the first full scholarship ever awarded by that school. She is currently majoring in English and minoring in drama at the University of Washington, although her Miss U.S.A. activities have forced her to drop a quarter.

Would she like to be an actrix? "Well, I have been offered a contract. I enjoy being in front of an audience. Do I have musical talent? I sing in church and everyone turns around and tells me to be quiet. My mother is a talented singer. I can't help wondering what happened to all my notes."

SONGS BY FESTUS

Ken Curtis, who plays Festus Hagen on CBS' "Gunsmoke" on Mondays, has recorded a new album of ballads. In it, Curtis departs from the dialect of his country characters to sing in the style he used as a vocalist with the Tommy Dorsey orchestra.

TV and Violence

NEW YORK (AP) — All television, particularly the major networks, is worried about talk relating violence to broadcasting and motion pictures. TV executives expect that their entertainment programs will be scrutinized for first fights, gun play and the like.

CBS President Frank Stanton in a statement Monday said that his network plans immediate conferences with producers with the aim to "de-emphasize violence" in programs being made for next season.

A programming executive who requested anonymity said that he knows that all networks are moving fast to tone down the violence in action-adventure shows.

"It's too late now to do much about the reruns," he said, "but there will probably be a little editing where possible. And the length of some fights may be trimmed down."

It is probable, too, that episodes now scheduled for rerun in a series will be pulled out and milder episodes substituted.

ABC last week made last-minute substitutions when an episode of "The Flying Nun" turned out to be built around an assassination plot. Another comedy, "The Second 100 Years" did a fast shuffle when the scheduled episode was found to turn around a funeral.

BENNY IN THREE
 Jack Benny will have three programs next season on NBC — two originals and one a repeat. For the past three years, he has only done one show a season.

Gilbert Beaud

singing to, he puts the musicians on the back, he invites them, he invites us all to see what he is seeing."

So consuming was Beaud's performance that the reviewer closed his article like a supplicant.

"This was a thoroughly French occasion. What the Normans did 900 years ago, this Provincial did last night. He left the Anglo-Saxons groggy at the knees, wondering what hit them. Well, he conquered."

Highlights

Late-Night Letters

"I get letters, lots of letters." in April 1967, but she doesn't have time for singing. That could be the theme song of Mary Rose Winters, who has worked in "The Joey Bishop Show" production office since the ABC late-nighter premiered

Now fan letters are a joy to a performer because they make him feel loved; loved, loved; they are a delight to the network, which likes to know it is watched and listened to and they turn on sponsors by proving that not only do many people watch the show, but they are moved by it as well.

But to pretty, blonde Mary Rose, they are work. Letters have to be opened, read, referred, answered and filed.

She loves everything about her job — the show, the boss and his fans — but there have been times — called "letter alerts" — when the mail has been overwhelming.

The first one occurred soon when Joey and his announcer, Regis Philbin, were having their usual opening conversation. Joey mentioned that he had bought two puppies from singer Dinah Shore and was wondering what to name them. That was the start of the first contest on "The Joey Bishop Show" and the first "letter alert" for Mary Rose. More than 100,000 entries piled up on her desk. Before the puppies became Dum-Dum and Dee-Dee, Joey had to hire an extra girl to help out and promised Mary Rose she'd have help if there was another contest.

There was, when Joey got to wondering hoy many people in the U.S. would like to be on television. More than 250,000 wrote that they would. This time, however, Mary Rose got a break. The entries were on postcards.

Contests always generate sacks of mail, so these "letter alerts" were to be expected. What can't be calculated is the amount of mail an incident, a skit or a chance remark can bring. The Bishop office was flooded with requests for copies of a poem read on the show by actor Dale Robertson.

And the mail consists of more than letters and postcards.

Shortly after Joey kidded Regis about the nickname he had in college — "Pussycat" — stuffed animals began piling up on Mary Rose's desk. To get even, Regis later reported that Joey was known as "Tootsie" in high school. Those two remarks brought in enough stuffed animals and Tootsie Rolls to fill a warehouse. As he often does with his gifts, Joey sent them to children in hospitals in the Los Angeles area.

Making Money With the Animals

NEW YORK (NEA)—Chances are that somewhere in the United States at every hour of the telecasting day, Bill Burrud is represented.

Since 1964 this jovial looking former child actor has syndicated eight different series, "True Adventures," "Wanderlust," "Holiday," "Islands in the Sun," the "American West," "Vagabond," "Treasure" and "The Wonderful World of Women."

These have all been turned out by Bill Burrud Productions, and Burrud has appeared on most of them "because we can't afford to hire anyone else."

Now he is learning how the other, richer half lives. For the first time, his company has sold a series to a network. It's NBC, which will begin telecasting "Animal Kingdom" Sunday when he prepared to leave his California home to come to New York to talk about the series, the network sent a limousine to take him to the airport.

"That had to impress my two boys who figured I was either going to a funeral or becoming important."

For the premiere of "Animal Kingdom," Burrud and his 14-year-old son, John, traveled to Kenya to film the mass migration of animals on the Serengeti plain. For other shows, Burrud has gone to Australia, Antarctica and Alaska. There will be no stock footage in this series.

Burrud feels there is value in the series. "Man is part of the animal kingdom. To learn to live in it is important. If we decimate all the wilderness areas, we'll suffer much more Jeanne Roland in a scene from ABC's "Man in a Suitcase" Friday 8:30-9:30 p.m.
