

Mia Farrow Gets Divorce From Sinatra

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Mia Farrow, Frank Sinatra's young bride, says her two-year marriage was unbearable. Without an announcement, she obtained a quickie Mexican divorce Friday in Juarez.

Farrow said she was not going to have her name on the divorce papers for the break-up, a spokesman for the 35-year-old actress said, "but she said if anybody asks, there's certainly no third party involved."

Haggard looking, the former star of television's "Peterson" gave her name to Hollywood after the 30-minute divorce proceeding. The divorce was proceeding the week into inclusion for $200,000. Her attorney, Shmida, 52, flew east Thursday after leaving a television show in Hollywood and was unavailable for comment.

The divorced, seemingly fragile actress with close-cropped hair and frightened eyes married the fast-talking Sinatra on July 13, 1966. Hollywood was abuzz, and some in the film industry predicted that because of the difference in ages—29 years—it could never couple.

"Their on-again-off-again courtship quickly turned into an on-again-off-again marriage as their separate careers often kept them apart."

Mia Farrow said she could not appear with Sinatra in "The Detective," the picture he produced, because of her starting role in "Rosemary's Baby." The picture reportedly irritated Sinatra.

They were separated last November after a two-day courtship. Early Friday Mia Farrow hopped a private plane to Juarez.

The divorce in Juarez Civil Court was over by 10:30 a.m. green checkered blouse, the witness announced she would not appear at the hearing. She could hardly hold the pen. Her hands trembled as she signed the papers.

She charged her actor-husband with cruelty and incompatibility. She said she had been unbearable with him.

After their separation, the couple briefly lived in Miami Beach, Fla., last March but maintained separate apartments.

Sinatra was first married in 1941 to a singer as is the father of his three children. Frank J. Nowak is a singer as is the father of his two girls, Nancy, 25.

After a 1961 divorce, Sinatra married actress Ava Gardner, and she divorced him two years later. His name was on the divorce papers and she was the plaintiff. She and her two children, Mia Farrow, whose name is her first husband's.

Mia flew to Los Angeles last January to study with Maharishi Mahesh Yogi, guru and spiritual adviser to a number of people. The Maharishi said the actress did not mention Sinatra during their talks.

Sinatra is expected to attend the Democratic National Convention in Chicago which begins Aug. 28.

Concerning Mia Farrow's plans, her spokesman said: "She's mulling a lot of scripts. She hasn't made up her mind what her next project will be."

Mia is the daughter of actress Maureen O'Sullivan and her husband, John Farrow, a film director.

LET PARTNER IN ON YOUR SECRETS

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Sometimes one defender has a clear idea of how the defense should go, but his partner is less well informed. Part of the art of defending will be to let your partner in on your secrets in such situations.

Opening lead—king of spades. West opened the king of spades, and East naturally followed with the queen. West then led the ace of spades, and East didn't know what to do. It seemed quite possible that South had the jack of spades and that West was next going to lead a low spade for East to ruff.

To avoid giving information to declarer, West discarded his diamond on the ace of spades. West continued with the jack of spades, and that was the last trick for the defense.

When West led a fourth spade, South could ruff it in dummy with the king of hearts. South then drew four rounds of trumps and discarded a diamond on one of dummy's good clubs.

Bonn Willing To Nullify Poultry Firm Ordered To Stop Selling Feed

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Times reported today that West Germany was prepared to nullify the 1963 Munich Pact "sell from the country" if it would lead to diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia.

The treaty, reached Sept. 29, 1963 by Helmut Kohl, West German Chancellor, and Alexander Dubcek, Czechoslovak Premier, provided for the nullification of the pact if the Czechs agreed to a temporary injunction requested by the federal Food and Drug Administration (FDA).

Prague's new reformist regime is reported to be demanding nullification of the pact as a condition for recognizing the Bonn government.

The correspondent David Binder, in a dispatch from Bonn, quoted a West German official close to Chancellor Kohl as saying that the government would be ready to nullify the treaty today "if it would pave the way to diplomatic relations with Czechoslovakia."

The official, who asked that his name not be disclosed, said it would "make it easier for us" to reach a deal with the Prague government.

Ray's Lawyers Question Chance Of Fair Trial

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) — Attorneys for the man charged with murder in the death of Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. will present courtroom arguments Friday that they believe would prevent a fair trial in this country.

The attorneys moved Friday that the first-degree murder indictment against James Earl Ray be dropped because of "pervasive and widespread publicity" about the man charged in King's slaying here April 4.

Arthur J. Hanes Jr., who won the case for Ray, said in his motion before Circuit Court Judge W. Preston Battle that the publicity has removed "the presumption of innocence which must accompany any trial."

Another motion asked that attorney Arthur J. Hanes Sr. and members of his staff be allowed access to witnesses, and that Ray be allowed to be used by the prosecution to be opened to the defense.

Judge Battle set a hearing on the motions for Sept. 2.

The first motion said publicity "contaminated and so depicted the victim" as to make the man charged with his murder the object of "widespread public outrage and hatred."

Clippings were attached to the motion which showed a photograph of Ray with a headline that read, "The Man Who Killed Martin Luther King."

An excerpt from an article by a columnist, Morris Ryskind, was attached and cited Ray as the "convict who killed Martin Luther King."

He Deserves Defenders

Attorney General Ramsey Clark is probably the most honest and forthright to pay the price for being the nation's outstanding example of a man, civilized in his conduct and his actions, who has been attacked by the nation's police and law enforcement power. Precisely because he has not sacrificed his intelligence and his ability to reason to the empty promises of office...

Peakabo Gets An O.K.

The Party Choice

The man who has been the news media that he was all through with politics after a disastrous defeat for the governorship of California in 1962 came to Miami Beach and went home to his home in California...

When order is restored, as it will be, we shall have to go on living together, black and white, forever on the same soil.

Excessive force, inhuman action, a blood-letting can only lead to further violence and further violence.

There are few acts more likely to cause further violence in our cities and division and hatred among our people than to encourage police to shoot looters.

"The first rule of law enforcement," he said, "is never bluff. If you announce you will shoot looters and don't do it, you are not to be believed."

It is very simple, easy answer to the law and order issue, it is in going to be debated in the forthcoming political campaign.

After his defeat for the presidency in 1960, he was a political comeback in 1962 by running for governor of his home state. He was badly defeated by Democrat incumbent Governor John D. Brown.

But he changed his mind two years ago and he turned on the comeback trail. Now, he is the choice of his party delegates. To us this choice is disappointing for the D.O.P. in Connecticut and the nation.

Gifts for All Occasions
Bry's Jewelry Store, 737 Main St., has been serving the people of Manchester and vicinity for over 25 years. In fact, it is one of Manchester's oldest jewelry stores. Bry's Jewelry Store is a modern store, and it is now William Bry's joined him, and on April 1, 1968, William Bry's became the owner of the store.
This is a most complete store and you will find Mr. Bry always willing to help you in any way possible. For that very reason, you can buy with assurance, and you know you are getting a fine diamond if you purchase it at Bry's.
Choosing wedding gifts or gifts for special occasions can be somewhat of a chore, but you will find a very fine selection of gifts at Bry's. Both Thomas clocks make a very welcome addition to your home. Bry's has a large selection of watches in a wide variety of prices.
If you are looking for a really good watch, stop in at Bry's Jewelry Store and look over their fine selection of watches. Mr. Bry carries Longine, Valora, Westminster and Caravelle Watches, any one of which would make a wonderful gift. Not only that, but you know you are purchasing a watch that will give you beauty, accuracy and dependability.
For years Bry's has done expert watch repairing, and many people depend on Mr. Bry for his fine service. All work is guaranteed, of course. Most of us tend to forget that

Edwards and Victor Delaney, and they have made a great deal of money for themselves. This is a complete machine shop at Manchester Auto Parts and they can carry them. For shock absorbers on your car, they can—and do—carry them. If you have had your shock absorbers checked lately, it would be a most sensible thing to do. One way for you to test them yourself is to press down on the back of the car; if it bounces, your shock absorbers are a real menace and they can—and do—carry them. Obituary
Porter Dies, Served State And Military

VERNON—Howard S. Porter, 83, of Woodstock, formerly of Vernon and director of transportation for civilian defense during World War II and former chief engineer of the Connecticut State Highway Department died yesterday at his home.

Mr. Porter was born April 20, 1885 in Hartford. He attended Hartford schools and graduated in 1908 from Trinity College, Hartford, where he majored in civil engineering.

He joined the State Highway Department in 1908 and worked under Highway Commissioner James H. MacDonald, and later served with Commissioner James B. Bennett as chief engineer of the department.

An Army veteran of World War I, he returned as a major from serving in France and Germany and received certification from the Army General Staff College for staff duty with troops.

Moving to Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., he was connected with several engineering equipment manufacturers, and was elected to two terms as trustee of the village. Later he organized the consulting industrial engineering service of Porter, Fox and Hester, Inc. of New York, and served as its president and treasurer until he retired in 1940.

During World War II he was drafted by the Connecticut State and appointed state director of transportation for civilian defense with offices at the Hartford State Armory. He also was council representative for the Connecticut Manufacturers and Manufacturers of the Civilian War Service.

He later was recalled by the Army to serve with the Springfield Ordnance District in its Artillery and Tank Branch for the procurement of heavy ammunition, negotiations, and final settlement of war contracts. During the Korean conflict, he was again recalled by the Springfield Ordnance District for similar work.

He lived in Thompson before coming to Vernon in 1953, and left four years ago for Woodstock. He was a member of the Elks Lodge of Rockville, a 2nd degree Mason, and a member of the National Sovereigns and the Veterans of World War I, U.S.A. He also served as president of the 301st Engineers Association.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Edgar H. Elliot of Woodstock with whom he made his home, and four grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 1 p.m. at the Newkirk and Whitney Funeral Home, 315 Burnside Ave., East Hartford. Burial will be in Center Cemetery, South Windsor.

There will be no calling hours.

Dr. Charles W. Robertson VERNON—Dr. Charles Warner Robertson, 57, of King George, Va., father of Mrs. Rosemary M. Kelly of Vernon, died July 28 at the Manassas (Va.) Manor Nursing Home.

Survivors also include his wife, 2 other daughters, a son, a brother, 9 grandchildren, and 12 great-grandchildren.

The funeral was held in King George. Masonic rites were accorded at the burial in Fredricksburg, Va.

HHH Inching Away From US War Policy

(Continued from Page One) ed to emphasize that he subscribes to most of the program proposed by the National Committee for a Political Settlement in Vietnam, the group headed by Clark Kerr, former head of the University of California.

The Kerr program includes free elections with all political groups in South Vietnam, including the Viet Cong, allowed to enter candidacies; a bar to military escalation or unilateral withdrawal by the United States and an immediate cease-fire.

The only modification to the Kerr proposal, is Humphrey said, that he would and the rather lonely campaign.

"We have all read about the emergence of a new Nixon," said Humphrey. "It seems I've heard this refrain before—in 1956, 1962, and now, once again, in 1968."

Humphrey said the one thing that had been added to the Nixon political lexicon was, "Clear it with Strom."

"When a candidate for the presidency of the United States can give veto power over the choice of his vice presidential running mate to a man—Sen. Strom Thurmond—whose public record is synonymous with reaction and segregation, then I say we have a job to do this fall," Humphrey said.

Nixon adds have denied that Thurmond held any veto. (Continued on Page 17)

Gov. Maddox To Announce Bid Today

(Continued from Page One) Two Georgia delegates said Friday they think the delegation would have to support Maddox, even though some are already committed to Humphrey.

These committed include Lt. Gov. George T. Smith and Phil Campbell, state commissioner of agriculture.

As a candidate, Maddox would have to relinquish his role as delegate and head of the Georgia delegation. James Gray of Albany, state party chairman named by Maddox, likely would assume the role of delegation head. Gray has said he favors Humphrey for the nomination.

The family suggests that those wishing to do so make memorial contributions to the Rockville General Hospital Chapel Fund.

Boris Berdnick Funeral services for Boris Berdnick of 29 Foster St. were held this morning at the Watkins-West Funeral Home, 142 E. Center St. The Rev. Rev. Fyod Kolyvko of Hartford officiated. Burial was in East Cemetery.

New Britain Man Heads Firemen's Group

WEST HAVEN (AP) — The new president of the Connecticut Firemen's Association is Mortimer Swanson of New Britain. He was elected Friday night at the association convention here.

Other officers elected were: Benjamin Musio of Stamford, vice president; John Moshing of Stamford, secretary; and Thomas J. Flanagan of Ellington, treasurer.

Two Whites Charged in Negro Death

(Continued from Page One) The slain woman, identified as Mrs. Willie Roberts, 50, had ordered two white men and a group of young Negroes who had been arguing near her car to leave the area.

Minutes later a shot felled her as she stood in her car on Prospect Place near Reading Road—about four blocks from the scene of last April's rioting.

Seventy-five policemen reinforced by the force's tactical unit closed main streets into Avondale.

Charles Dunigan, a 16-year-old Negro, was shot and critically wounded by a patrolman when the youth hurled bottles at officers, police said. Dunigan was taken to General Hospital suffering from a stomach wound.

At least two shots were fired from concealment at two patrolmen investigating a traffic accident in the West End. Neither was wounded. The patrolman said the shots missed their cruiser by feet.

A crowd quickly formed after the Avondale slaying and other groups gathered along Reading Road for several blocks.

Windows of an automobile agency were smashed and the door of a liquor store was heavily damaged by hurled objects. Police in three armed with shotguns stood guard in front of many business establishments.

The businesses damaged had suffered similar losses during April's rioting.

Marsha Cox, 18, Middletown, was taken to Children's Hospital early today, where doctors expressed concern over the seriousness of her eye injury.

Steve Nolan, 20, who said he was Miss Cox' boyfriend, told newsmen that he, Miss Cox and two other girls had come to Children's to see a movie. All are from Middletown.

"They threw trash cans, bottles and rocks at the car," he said. "Then one of them reached in, pulled Marsha and hit her in the eye with his fist."

Nolan said he managed to drive the car around the crowd and took Miss Cox to the hospital. The other two girls, unidentified, were treated for minor cuts and bruises and released.

The spokesman said eight prisoners were injured—some seriously—as military police fired shotguns to help quell the disturbance. He did not say how many Marines were in the brig or how many took part in the riot.

The prisoners were reported as objecting to saying "air" to guards and other regulations that they claimed were an infringement on their rights. The commanding officer of the 3rd Military Police Battalion is investigating the complaints.

Two U.S. sailors were killed and three sailors and 15 Vietnamese civilians wounded when two charges exploded in a Navy pickup truck at a garbage dump south of Da Nang Friday night.

Allies Beat Back 4 Enemy Attacks

U.S. B52 bombers flew eight missions Friday night and today. Among their targets were suspected enemy troop concentrations 25 and 45 miles northwest of Saigon and near Dak To in the highlands.

In the battle 13 miles south of Da Nang early today, men of the U.S. 1st Light Infantry Brigade fought for an hour with an enemy force of unknown size. They reported killing 30 enemy soldiers with the help of helicopter gunships. One American was reported wounded.

U.S. B52 bombers flew eight missions Friday night and today around Saigon and Dak To in the central highlands, then this afternoon flew into the southern half of the demilitarized zone to rain 100 tons of bombs on North Vietnamese positions menacing allied outposts along the frontier. The attack was nine miles northeast of the outpost of Con Thien.

U.S. fighter-bomber pilots flew 95 missions over North Vietnam's southern panhandle Friday and pilots reported destroying or damaging 51 supply boats and seven trucks.

Hanoi Radio accused the United States today of more than doubling the force of its air raids on North Vietnam from June to July, while continuing to "massacre" the people of South Vietnam.

The radio said U.S. planes dropped 84,600 bombs on North Vietnam in July, compared to 42,600 in June.

It accused the United States of using B52 bombers for "wanton raids on populated areas," and said the attacks had killed many civilians and destroyed many homes and vast areas of crop land.

In Da Nang, U.S. Marines being held in the brig Friday night and burned one of the cell blocks in a noisy protest against regulations, a Marine spokesman said.

Two U.S. sailors were killed and three sailors and 15 Vietnamese civilians wounded when two charges exploded in a Navy pickup truck at a garbage dump south of Da Nang Friday night.

A Navy spokesman said the sailors were at the dump to change the guard when the charges exploded. They apparently were planted in the truck at the dump, the spokesman said.

The driver and a sailor standing next to the truck were killed. The three sailors who were not seriously wounded were in the vehicle.

Chicago Cabbies Out on Strike

Mayor Richard J. Daley said he supports the taxi drivers' union demands for a wage boost. The mayor also said he would support an increase in fares by the companies.

The union is demanding wages equal to 50 per cent of the fares each cab collects, paid vacations and hospitalization, control of a $100,000 trust fund to pay medical bills and bullet-proof glass separations between driver and passenger compartments.

The companies have offered 47 1/2 per cent commissions over a 10-year sliding scale. Under the contract which expired June 30, drivers with 15 or more years experience earned 42 1/2 per cent, which averaged $30 a day.

Everett W. Clark, union president, said about 40 per cent of the drivers failed to report for work Friday because the taxi companies had taken away their cabs.

Yellow and Checker stored several hundred of their newest cabs in garages in preparation for the strike.

Dies in Crash

GLASTONBURY (AP)—A 26-year-old Maryland man has died in a one-car crash at the intersection of Routes 2 and 17 here.

The victim was identified as Dr. Joseph Keefe of Baltimore. He was dead on arrival at a hospital Friday night.

The state police said the car hit a guard rail and posts before landing upside down and trapping the driver inside. He was alone.

They are: Registrars of Voters: Miss Margaret E. Jacobson, first district; Mrs. Gertrude A. Haven, second district.

Justices of Peace: Herman R. Allard, Donald H. Bishop, Lawrence C. Lettner, Wesley F. Lewis, J. Richard Woods, Alan V. Olsen, Anthony J. Tremont, and Mrs. Christina Wood.

Agnew Will Meet Black Leadership

(Continued from Page One) Frank A. DeCosta, a registered Democrat, said he viewed his role as more than "the Negroes' black man." He said, "Mr. Agnew promised me complete freedom." The 22-year-old assistant attorney general was named Thursday to replace Dr. Gilbert Ware, who resigned.

Ware, also a Negro, said Agnew had failed to consult him before adopting policies and making statements on racial matters.

Newsmen asked Agnew for his reaction to the renunciation of the Republican ticket as "racist" by Jackie Robinson, the Negro ex-baseball star and backer of New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller for the GOP nomination.

He said he hopes to talk to Robinson and persuade him to return to the fold. "I don't think there's anything in my philosophy he'd find repugnant," Agnew said, "and I hope to have some conversations with him to try to convince him of that."

The governor said his candidacy has been hampered by political animosity and that his present image "hasn't been fully developed."

"But I have tremendous faith in the fairness of the American people," he added, saying he would depend on mass communications to introduce himself and his policies on urban affairs.

Asked if he didn't advocate shooting looters, Agnew said the decision whether to shoot a looting suspect is a "judgment call" for the individual police officer.

"If a police officer feels in his judgment the crime is serious—and certainly I would never advocate shooting anyone—I think we should use the minimum amount of force to stop a criminal."

"But if the person won't stop, and if the police officer feels that some serious crime that endangers human life, such as arming or mugging, is involved, I think he has an obligation to stop that person."

Car Ransacked, Parked at Home

More than $400 worth of items were taken from a car belonging to Gustave Arendt Jr. of 28 William St. while the vehicle was parked at the Arendt home last night.

Police said the articles taken included a $300 set of machinery tools, a combination stereo radio and tape player valued at $40, and nine stereo tapes worth $60.

The thief, said slashed the front seat of Arendt's car before leaving.

Phillip Andrulot of 28 Lenox St. reported yesterday that burglars broke into his home through a cellar window the night before, making off with $28 in coins.

The thieves took $40 worth of half dollars from an upstairs bedroom, but left a similar amount. They then took $13 worth of pennies and 25 in quarters and dimes from the rooms downstairs.

Doctors Report Ike In Critical Condition

Eisenhower already has more than defied mortality statistics on heart attacks.

His seventh and latest means that he has now had more than twice as many attacks as the number—three—that most often add up to certain and swift death.

Eisenhower's latest series of heart attacks started with a minor one on April 29 during a vacation at Palm Springs, Calif.

He was moved to Walter Reed May 14. He suffered a second, more serious one June 15.

He recovered sufficiently from the June attack to address the Republican National Convention on television Aug. 5, looking thin but strong and speaking in resonant tones.

He was due to return to Gettysburg a few days later, but less than 12 hours after the speech he suffered another heart attack. Doctors described it as major.

He had finally been permitted to sit up and do some light reading before Friday's attack.

Johnson, for the most part, has been attending to routine paperwork during his Texas stay. Friday he signed a number of bills, nominated some small town postmasters, released a report on a program to keep federal blue collar pay scales in line with civilian pay, and made some routine appointments to the General Advisory Committee on Atomic Energy.

Johnson's own medical staff relays the latest available information to him from Washington's Walter Reed Army Hospital.

The chief executive twice visited Eisenhower in California this year and just before his current trip to Texas, spent 45 minutes with the former president. He came away saying he found him "relaxed and chipper." Eisenhower has had two major heart attacks since then.

As Senate Democratic leader in the Eisenhower administration, Johnson worked closely with Eisenhower, sometimes to the dismay of fellow Democrats. He has maintained close relations since.

Manchester Man Out of Water

A Manchester man is in satisfactory condition at the Lakes Region General Hospital in Laconia, New Hampshire, after a near drowning accident at Ellacoya State Beach there this week. George Irwin, 26, of 59 Walnut St. was vacationing in the state with his wife and had gone to the state beach in Laconia on Wednesday. The near tragedy happened about mid-afternoon, approximately 70 yards from shore in about 10 feet of water. Irwin has apparently suffered cramps, according to officials. His condition was described as serious but not critical on his arrival at the hospital. Two young lifeguards at the beach and an unidentified man who alerted notified Irwin's difficulty first and signaled the boys are responsible for his recovery to the shore. About Town Two Manchester men are serving with the First Marine Division in Vietnam. They are Sgt. Robert L. Rowe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Rowe of 20 East St., and Pfc. Edward J. Sans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert F. Sans of 970 Vernon St. Pfc. Alan K. Kissell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Kissell of 78 E. Middle Tpk., recently completed his training as an engineer equipment operator at the Marine Corps Engineer School, Camp Lejeune, N.C. He is stationed at Chu Lai, Vietnam, with the Marine's 8th Engineering Battalion.

Hope Lange, top left, will star in NBC's "Ghost and Mrs. Muir," Saturday.

Comedy Swings Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Situation comedy, out of style and out of favor with network television program makers for the past few seasons, is making a comeback next season.

There are seven new series of the genre on the schedules of the three networks. And a lucky swing of the programming cycle returns them at a time when fierce physical action and gunplay is, if not taboo, at least radically modified.

Television series are usually under construction for one or two years before the public gets its first look at a show, so most of these were on the drawing boards long before the public and the networks began worrying about shoot 'em ups and their suspected effects on tender or disturbed minds.

On the September docket are CBS' "Doris Day Show," the popular film star's first excursion into television. She plays a former band singer, a widow with two children, adjusting to rural life. There is also NBC's "Julia," with Diahann Carroll playing a widowed registered nurse with child. Other nonviolent comedies include CBS' "Blondie," based on a comic strip; ABC's "Uglyest Girl in Town"; NBC's Fantasy, "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir"; CBS' "The Good Guys," and ABC's hour-long "Here come the Brides," a period piece set in the Northwest lumberjack country.

Second most popular category for new shows is action, mostly police or private eye action. The five shows include NBC's "The Outsider," in the mood of those old Raymond Chandler private eye books; ABC's "Mod Squad" and CBS' "Hawaii Five," both working the police beat; NBC's "Adam 12," which will handle a pair of squad car cops in the manner of "Dragnet"; and NBC's major effort, the 30-minute "Name of the Game."

Peter Graves: My Long Climb Up

By PETER GRAVES

EDITOR'S NOTE — Peter Graves, after some traumatic experiences, is now established in the CBS hit, "Mission: Impossible," and is that rare avis: A happy actor. Here he tells about some of the difficult times during the long climb, including playing second fiddle to a horse.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — One of television's favorite parlor games is called "biting the hand that feeds you." It's played by actors and actresses in hit series usually after two or three years of having their stomachs fed and egos massaged.

At this point, the nouveau-star suddenly arrives at one or more of the following insights: (1) he has sacrificed his "artistic integrity" for a series which really isn't worthy of his talents;

(2) he's "bored" with playing the same role week after week; and (3) he isn't getting nearly the salary or fringe benefits he deserves for "carrying" the show.

He confides in the press. "The truth is I'm ready for bigger things. I should be starring in major movies or playing on Broadway. But that fool I took on as my agent signed me to a long-term contract—I didn't know any better; after all, I was working at a gas station when we met — and now I'm stuck in this rotten show."

The actor who takes this attitude is naive or inexperienced or both, and for his own sake, ought to have some sense pounded into him. Instead, he's apt to suffer a worse fate. The industry just may call his bluff, and he'll find himself back-strophing high octane.

What such performers forget, particularly when they start reading their own publicity, is that landing the lead in a high-rated TV series takes more than talent. It requires luck and timing and the contribution of directors, writers, cameramen, stage hands and many others.

I can speak from experience. When I stepped off the train in Hollywood 15 years ago, I figured I was ready to storm both movie and TV citadels. After all, at 16, I'd been the youngest radio announcer in the history of station WMIN in Minneapolis and had received glowing notices for "MacBeth" and "Of Mice and Men" at the University of Minnesota.

So what if there were no brass bands or gorgeous starlets to greet me? There was probably a supermarket opening on the other side of town, and all the brass bands and stars were gathered there.

I set my sights on landing a starring role in a major prime-time TV series. Meanwhile, I was fortunate enough to appear in several movies, including "Stalag 17," "Rogue River," and "The Court Martial of Billy Mitchell."

Finally, I did get a television series, "Fury." It wasn't exactly prime time (unless you consider Saturday mornings prime time) and while I was nominally the star, a horse had all the good lines. For the next six years, my fan mail came from youngsters, 6 to 10, who figured I was a lucky guy to get that close to such a smart horse.

Vince Edwards At the Movies

By KEVIN THOMAS
The Los Angeles Times

grimmest realities of show business is the tough time a TV star has a getting a good movie part after his series has rounded out its last season.

This is because the old adage that asks why should anyone want to pay to see what they've had for free continues to be persuasive with many motion picture producers. When—and if—the actor whose name has been a household word finally lands a picture so much time has passed people are asking the deadly "Whatever happened to—?"

Nearly two years passed between the time when Vince Edwards wound up five seasons as Ben Casey and the release of the much-panned but highly remunerative "Devil's Brigade," in which he played an irreverent officer clashing with his CO, William Holden.

Edwards, who kept busy by launching a successful nightclub career, has now completed the detective-adventure story "Hammerhead," which may develop into a series along the lines of Matt Helm, a Civil War picture, "The Desperados," and is up for a dozen roles. All this may sound as if he's home safe, but Edwards has been around too long to look at it that way.

"The fight's just begun," he says. "When you're going up against guys like Newman, Douglas, McQueen, Marvin—the top down, say—you've got to push harder than ever. But first you have to decide where you want to go—whether to be content with just making one program after another or to reach for that top rung. You fight for every picture. No actor ever has it made."

Edwards speaks from experience that began years before Ben Casey. In the 50s he appeared in notable B pictures like Stanley Kubrick's "The Killing" and Irving Lerner's "Murder by Contract" and "City of Fear," but nobody noticed but the critics. Edwards, however, doesn't buy the theory that this may have been because rugged guys like him and Lee Marvin weren't in style then.

"Lee Marvin was as interesting in 'The Wild One' 15 years ago as he is today. We've been cheating ourselves. But it took all that time for the thick-headed producers to take a chance with Lee. We're our own worst enemies in this business. Few people have any imagination, and producers are sheep. "They all jump on the bandwagon, but none of them want to be first. But it figures—they're the money men. They'd shoot the phone book if the deal was right." (Edwards, however, intends to set up his own production company. "Why not? Everybody else does it.")

The producer who was willing to take a chance on him was David L. Wolper, the distinguished TV documentarian who made his feature debut with "The Devil's Brigade." This led to "Hammerhead," which Edwards describes as "very stylized—like 'That Man from Rio.'" In "The Desperados" he plays a confederate guerrilla who eventually throws down his rifle. "It's like 'King Lear' in a way. It shows the degeneracy of a family obsessed with violence. Jack Palance plays the father of George Maharis, Christian Roberts and Me."

Speaking of the kind of roles he wants to play, Edwards says in selecting a part he looks for characters "with a lot of simpatico. You've got to like the guy even if he's a heavy, a killer. There has to be something appealing about him.

"I can't be a Gable. You've got to do something close to yourself," says Edwards on the subject of image. "You want to be able to project a little of your own feelings about life. It's hard to say what kind of part it might be that will give you the chance to do this. "There might be somebody in an office somewhere writing something right this minute that's completely different from whatever you imagined you'd ever be playing. It's like Casey. Five years before that I'd never thought I'd be doing a doctor, but I became him. The doctor's been great to me. I think that show will rate a little chapter in the TV history books."
