Tollard 18 Acres Near the Highway Shifted to Commercial Zoning

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night approved a rezoning of a 18-acre parcel near the intersection of Route 1 and the new highway. The rezoning is from residential to commercial.

The property formerly residentially zoned will now become a commercial zone, in keeping with the town's comprehensive plan of development.

Also approved following a public hearing, was an amendment to the town zoning regulations which will permit the location of cemeteries in Rural Residential and Residential A zones, upon application and approval of the Planning and Zoning Commission. The PZC will require the holding of a public hearing on the application prior to approval.

In the meeting the PZC granted formal approval to a two-lot subdivision submitted by Ellis Smith. One of the lots is located on Route 1, another on Merry Rd. Little opposition to the two

Tollard PZC Approves Acceptance Of Portions of 2 Roads

The Planning and Zoning Commission last night approved the town's acceptance of portions of White Birch Rd. and Pine Hill Rd. under state state aid, providing the standards established by the Board of Selectmen have been met and an $5,000 maintenance bond is posted for a five-year period.

PZC member Clifford Williams, abstained from voting on the item, claiming the roads have not been built according to the present road regulations on file in the town clerk's office.

The present regulations, which are in the process of revision, require the use of "broken stone." The road is constructed with "processed gravel" as are most roads built by state highway specifications, according to PZC member John Hardy.

First Selectman Ernest Vile supported the state aid, and noted that White Birch Rd. Etc. included in the call of tonight's town meeting. He noted that the road, as promised by its owner, Dr. Harry Barak, the other road, constructed by the Puritan Construction Co., for developer James L. Childers, are satisfactory, according to Vile.

The PZC deleted White Birch Rd. Etc. from its motion to approve acceptance of the roads. The maintenance bond to be placed on the road for the portion of the town against any problems which may arise regarding the road, and from the use of heavy construction equipment on the road.

Conceivably Childers may sell the bond to whoever he wishes, but the town would agree to the extension of the commercial zone onto their side of the interchange.

Four Letters Disregarded
Dr. Barak has ignored four letters ordering him to pay the short stretch of White Birch Rd. Etc. on which two houses are now located. He argued that the road, but did not pay according to town regulations, according to Town Counsel Robert King.

The town has some control over Dr. Barak to require he meet regulations as long as he owns the additional 58 acres of property in the New Rd. area, King noted.

The town presently holds a $20,000 cash bond submitted by Childers for his roads, which will be recommended for acceptance at tonight's town meeting.

Tickets for the event are available from Second District Democratic Central Committee members and town chairmen in the various county towns.

My good friend Rody Kantar, bridge champion, teacher and writer, gets emotional over bridge hands. He hopes over one that he didn't bid or play to emotion last month at the national tournament in Minneapolis.

Opening lead Jack of diamonds. Kantar picked up the South hand during the national open-championship and bid two clubs in a sublimed tone of voice to show a game-forcing hand. When North made the negative response of two diamonds, Kantar jumped to four notrump. This was the method he and his partner had agreed upon to show this kind of hand.

The restraint was, however, too much for Kantar's emotional nature, and he bid four notrump. He said he was not sure if he should bid or not, but he must jump to four hearts as much to shut the opponents out as with any hope of making the contract.

Also, the cards fall face up on the table, and Kantar's partner saw most of the hand. The tournament director, heartily summoned to the table, informed the players that North would have to pass at his next turn. Since nobody felt like bidding against Kantar's 29 points bid of four notrump because the final contract.

Makes 12 Tricks
Kantar was the first diamond, led the ace of spades and then switched to clubs. After giving up one club trick, Kantar discovered that his nine of diamonds was good. He needed nothing else for 12 tricks.

Oddly enough, the hand was a trump for Kantar even though he missed the slam. At 400 other table of the match on Wednesday night, Kantar's partner bid seven spades with that lovely South hand down. Kantar's team scored 600 points for three notrump with three overtricks and an additional 100 points for leading seven spades. Obviously, Lady Luck has her ways of rewarding honest emotion.

Vernon Chief Dwyer Outlines Improvement Plan

By BARBARA RICHMOND

Chief Edmund Dwyer will have the honor of outlining his plan for improving the Vernon Police Department in a report to the Board of Representatives today.

Dwyer, who was appointed as chief by the mayor and the Board of Representatives last night and was sworn in this morning by Town Clerk Henry Butler.

Dwyer had been deputy chief of the department since the town governments were consolidated three years ago. Chief George Trapp resigned his position two weeks ago, and Dwyer has been acting chief since that time.

Prior to coming to Vernon, Dwyer was an officer on the Manchester Police force from 1957 to 1960.

When he left the Manchester department he became a private detective and a deputy sheriff in Tullahoma, Tenn., and in 1965 was appointed chief of the town of Vernon. This was the first time he had held a police department in a town since 1957.

At Police Institute, Chief Dwyer recently attended the Southern Police Institute in Louisville, Ky., taking a course in police administration. In May of this year, he attended a law enforcement training course in police administration in Connecticut. The course was on police management and was sponsored by the FBI.

Chief Dwyer is also a member of the International Association of Chiefs of Police and is active in the improvement of the department include educating the public, as well as the officers.

More police power out in the open, where it can be seen, using more marked police cars, is one point of Chief Dwyer's proposed 30-point plan for the department.

Emphasizing the service aspect of police work, with prompt response on the part of the front office, faster arrival time on patrol calls, and a more efficient use of buildings and residence checks for people on vacation in another town.

Police Reserve Unit

Chief Dwyer also said today he plans to set up a reserve unit to supplement personnel shortage. He also plans to use this as a recruiting base for additional police officers.

Chief Dwyer also plans to put back youth bureau activities with younger officers participating. He noted he will be training in this area.

A traffic safety program, with emphasis on education, will also be included.

ZBA Grants 12 Requests

The Zoning Board of Appeals met last night and granted 12 requests while denying one.

A variance was granted to Alex Yantulis for property on the west side of Adams St. and 153 feet south of Tolland Tpk. in Business Zone II. He requested extension of permission to display and sell farm-grown produce. The business is not within an enclosed building as required by regulations.

Lillian Smith was granted extension of permission to have a beauty parlor at 28 Kensington St.

The 70 E. Middle Tpk. Corporation, in Residence Zone B, was granted a variance to erect an addition at the rear of a professional building.

The request was opposed by Mr. and Mrs. Otto Matlack of 69 E. Middle Tpk. who said that the new building would cause parking problems.

The board said no question would exist because the addition would not diminish existing space used for parking as the addition is to be built on the rear of the building.

Fred Thrall was granted a variance to divide a parcel of land into two lots with less area and frontage than regulations require on property at 277 E. Middle Tpk. in Residence Zone A.

Benjamin Shanahan was granted a variance to erect a carport closer to the side line than regulations require on property at 78 Milford Rd. in Residence Zone A.

A variance was granted to erect a gas service station with a radius of 300 feet of a school on property at 270 W. Middle Tpk. in Business Zone II. The building will be a colonial style structure in accord with the town's beautification program, it was reported.

Robert and Estee Howe were granted a variance to divide a parcel of land into two lots, both with less frontage than regulations require, and one with less area than regulations require, on property at 177 Mead St.

A variance was granted to erect a dwelling closer to side line than regulations permit on lot No. 10 on the north side of Norwood St. in Residence Zone A.

Maurice R. Brown was granted a variance to erect a garage on a lot in the rear of a parcel in the North End Removal area.

The parcel is the site for a new industrial parcel on the corner of Adams St. and the MPA. It is owned by Raymond and Louis Dwyer. It will be the first private construction in the area.

Today at 10 a.m., the Department of Public Works and the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA) executed a contract.

Formal Groundbreaking Set For Renewal Project Friday

Invitations have been mailed to approximately 200 elected city and town officials, to attend the formal groundbreaking ceremony at 10 a.m. Friday at the site for the new apartment building, to be located on the corner of Adams St. and the MPA.

The project will be completed by Raymond and Louis Dwyer. It will be the first private construction in the area.

Today at 10 a.m., the Department of Public Works and the Manchester Redevelopment Agency (MRA) executed a contract.

Webb Stepping Down As Head of NASA

WASHINGTON (AP) — James H. Webb, who presided over America's entry into the space age, is stepping down as head of a U.S. space program, he believes, to be replaced by NASA's chief scientist, Robert F. Kennedy.

Webb announced his retirement Monday after a meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson. Kennedy, who is currently administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, would become acting head of the agency.

President John F. Kennedy named Webb to head NASA in February 1961 when it had 17,000 employees and an annual budget of $600 million.

Two and a half months later astronaut Alan Shepard rode a Mercury capsule on an orbiting mission of 116 miles, marking the nation's first manned penetration of space.

Webb, who actually will leave his post when he turns 62 next month, stepped out at a time when his budget is about $2 billion and NASA employs 34,000.

This is less than the $3.5 billion and 50,000 employees of 1966 when Webb told newsmen he was not quitting because of disagreement over current government economy measures.

Webb's resignation was a surprise, said Dr. Robert E. Gilruth, director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

Julian Schriber, a long-time administrator for General Electric Co. He served as NASA's assistant administrator for public affairs, great from Stanford in physical said Webb plans "to do a lot of things he is interested in on his own."

Balloonist--and Crowd--Drop In

By JUNE LINTON

A red, white and blue balloon, crowded with people and a bottle of champagne can suddenly set one's life with a yard in the right spot. It happened to William Gibbs on Rt. 30 in Vernon Sunday morning at about 9:30.

Gibbs was working in a newly cleared area in back of his business, Gibbs' Plumbing and Heating Co. when he heard a roar and looked up. Not far above and definitely coming down was a party of people hanging from this monstrous large but lively hot air balloon.

Someone in a bright orange t-shirt on the side had appeared.

Under his foot freer plane the United States would keep its vast supplies of surplus food, surplus foods either in tunnels bored into the Antarctic ice or on top of the ice under plastic covering. This would supply food for other uses such as coal trees for the ice under plastic covering. This would supply food for other uses such as coal trees for the ice under plastic covering.

Probe Ordered In Jail Break

HARTFORD, Conn. AP—Officials of the State Department of Correction have ordered an investigation into the substitution of the name of a man still in custody for that of a man who escaped from the Hartford Correctional Center.

The investigation was ordered Monday afternoon after it was discovered that Vincent Murphy, 46, was still in jail. Murphy was arrested in the Quinnipiac State Prison, where he was held as one of the seven who escaped Friday night.

Murphy, who does not speak or understand English, saw his picture published in the paper. An interpreter explained the reason to him and then the two of them alerted jail officers.

Three of the seven escapes have been recaptured. The other four were still at large Monday night.

Webb Stepping Down As Head of NASA

WASHINGTON (AP) — James H. Webb, who presided over America's entry into the space age, is stepping down as head of a U.S. space program, he believes, to be replaced by NASA's chief scientist, Robert F. Kennedy.

Webb announced his retirement Monday after a meeting with President Lyndon B. Johnson. Kennedy, who is currently administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, would become acting head of the agency.

President John F. Kennedy named Webb to head NASA in February 1961 when it had 17,000 employees and an annual budget of $600 million.

Two and a half months later astronaut Alan Shepard rode a Mercury capsule on an orbiting mission of 116 miles, marking the nation's first manned penetration of space.

Webb, who actually will leave his post when he turns 62 next month, stepped out at a time when his budget is about $2 billion and NASA employs 34,000.

This is less than the $3.5 billion and 50,000 employees of 1966 when Webb told newsmen he was not quitting because of disagreement over current government economy measures.

Webb's resignation was a surprise, said Dr. Robert E. Gilruth, director of NASA's Manned Spacecraft Center in Houston, Tex.

Julian Schriber, a long-time administrator for General Electric Co. He served as NASA's assistant administrator for public affairs, great from Stanford in physical said Webb plans "to do a lot of things he is interested in on his own."

Balloonist--and Crowd--Drop In

By JUNE LINTON

A red, white and blue balloon, crowded with people and a bottle of champagne can suddenly set one's life with a yard in the right spot. It happened to William Gibbs on Rt. 30 in Vernon Sunday morning at about 9:30.

Gibbs was working in a newly cleared area in back of his business, Gibbs' Plumbing and Heating Co. when he heard a roar and looked up. Not far above and definitely coming down was a party of people hanging from this monstrous large but lively hot air balloon.

Someone in a bright orange t-shirt on the side had appeared.

British Track Probe Spacecraft Return Denied by Soviets

MOSCOW (AP) — A Soviet telescope picked up signals from Zond 5 in 40-minute bursts throughout the night and the next morning and is believed on its way back to the earth.

The spokesman said the report from the Russian telescope did not go around the moon, but passed on one side of it, and then the signal strength increased many times as it turned toward earth.

The spokesman said he had no information on the flight of the Zond 5 unmanned spacecraft, which a Soviet announcement Sunday said had been launched into space from a parking orbit around the earth.

"Once they have achieved this, we can anticipate that they will put a man in one, send it near the moon, then bring it back without landing on the moon."

This may be tried within months, Lovell said, although the Russians may want to try more exercises on the critical maneuver of hitting just the right angle needed for re-entry of a moon craft.

Lovell said he believed Zond 5 would have enough to carry a man to the moon and back. The first Zond spacecraft took pictures of the back side of the moon three years ago, and other Zond craft since have failed in attempts to reach Venus and Mars.

Three U.S. astronauts are scheduled to take an Apollo spacecraft into prolonged earth orbit Oct. 11.

Wallace Qualifies In All 50 States TULSA, Okla. (AP) — George C. Wallace has completed an eight-month effort to meet the qualifications in all 50 states to be a third-party presidential candidate for the ballots of all 50 states.

Wallace has been certified by the voters of 48 states, but has not met the qualifications in all 50. He has met the qualifications in 48 states, but has not met the qualifications in all 50.

The projection attempts to predict how the sizeable number of undecided voters—about 20 per cent of the electorate—will actually cast their ballots on Nov. 5.

Norton said he personally feels that some of the Republicans and Democrats who now say they intend to vote for Wallace will "wander home" and line up behind their party's candidates before the election.

As for Mariani's strength in the Second District, Norton said the GOP contender is "several percentage points" behind incumbent Democratic Rep. William L. St. Onge. He expressed confidence that Mariani, a GOP resident and former State Senate Minority Leader, will overtake St. Onge and win the election.

Mariani is trailing Norton, according to the poll, which predicts the Republican presidential candidate will oust Humphrey by about 20,000 votes in the Second District.

New Herald Series Offers Help in Choosing College

Every college-bound high school student needs help. Help that is, in choosing the colleges or universities acceptable to him; and more importantly, that will accept him.

How is the high school junior or senior, afflicted with "college fever" and being pushed and pulled by well-meaning relatives and friends, to select a college from the more than 1,200 four-year institutions of higher learning in this country?

These students—and their harassed parents—need the help offered by the 1968 Guide to College Selection.

Beginning today on Page 16, the Herald will print a 12-part series on the College Selection Guide. It can also be purchased in book form. See the order coupon at the end of today's column.

The Political Scene

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Republican candidate Richard M. Nixon has indicated he might be willing to debate Democratic presidential opponent Hubert H. Humphrey—but not if the confrontation had to include third party candidate George C. Wallace.

Nixon called on Humphrey at the same time Tuesday to repudiate what he called evidence of a developing collusion between some Wallace backers and Democrats to throw the presidential election into the House of Representatives.

Humphrey, who has been pressing hard for a debate, reportedly said he would accept Nixon's challenge of "playing with the lives of humanity" on the nuclear hydrogenation treaty issue. He also said Nixon is more hawkish than anyone in the Johnson administration on the Vietnam war.

In other political developments, President Johnson strongly endorsed Humphrey as "a fighter and a patriot" and said Democratic unity and victory this year could "mean the difference between world order and world chaos."

All 30 congressmen seeking renomination in Massachusetts and Washington primaries were Tuesday in the Johnson advice convention he will be elected president by a big victory.

U.S. Attorney General Urges Stiff Gun Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A presidential panel opened hearings in its sweeping probe of American violence with testimony today from Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark urging stiff gun controls and police restraint in handling unruly demonstrations.

"Of all violence, police violence in excess of authority is the most dangerous," Clark said.

The attorney general made no specific mention of the bloody clashes between police and anti-war demonstrators last month in Chicago at the Democratic National Convention, one of the areas of violence to be studied.

Clark was the leadoff witness as the National Commission on Causes and Prevention of Violence began eight weeks of hearings. President Johnson set up the commission immediately after the fatal shooting of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., and the group met for the first time Oct. Office Building where the slain senator had his offices.

The initial session was closed to the public, but copies of Clark's prepared testimony were distributed to newsmen.

Clark said, "We pay a heavy price for our legacy of violence, the risk of bloodshed." Testifying "white America was debating wrong curbs on weapons, Clark told the panel, 'effective gun control will save thousands of lives, eliminate tens of thousands of serious crimes.'"

At the same time, Clark stressed the need for professional police and the importance of controlling crowds of protesters without triggering increased violence.

He spelled out recommendations to use specific instructions to police "to use the minimum force necessary" to defuse and to maintain a constant turnover of police involved in tense situations to avoid overburdening them.

"It is the duty of leadership and law enforcement to control violence, not cause it," Clark said, "to seek ways of relieving tension, not to look for a fight." Director J. Edgar Hoover.

The panel plans a preliminary report to President Johnson before he leaves the White House in January. Its final report is due next June.

A commission aide said the panel has had problems returning enough top-notch personnel for the study because the commission will go out of existence after a year.

Johnson created the 13-member commission June 5 as Kennedy lay dying in Los Angeles where he was shot at his California home. His California Democrat.

Senate Debate Set On Naming Fortas

WASHINGTON (AP) — After months of acrimonious debate will begin in the Senate next week that will end in either confirmation of a new chief justice or bitter defeat for President Johnson and his nominee.

The stage was set Tuesday when the Senate Judiciary Committee voted 11-6 to recommend acceptance of the nomination of Abe Fortas to the floor.

Despite a delay of more than two months, the favorable vote had been expected. But the future, holding the certainty of hark debate and the probability of a filibuster is clouded. Majority leader Mike Mansfield said he plans to bring the nomination up for a vote next week. He said the first attempt to limit debate probably will be made after four days.

President Johnson nominated his old friend and long-time adviser to succeed Earl Warren last June 26.

The Republican senators' appointment charged the White House with bringing great pressure to bear on Fortas.

Meanwhile, American infantry from the 35th Division knocked out nearly half of an attacking enemy battalion Tuesday northwest of Saigon, raising the number of enemy troops that were killed in that war hot spot this week.

The enemy's target was a 20th Division artillery camp called "Po" in a rubber forest close to the most traveled infiltration route for funneling Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops and supplies to the capital area.

After laying down a heavy mortar barrage, a battalion of about 400 men hit the camp just before midnight Monday. The attackers charged, repeatedly.

Court Action Threatens in NYC Strike

NEW YORK (AP) — Court action on the slated teachers' strike loomed today as a judge promised swift consideration of a suit to punish and possibly jail the head of the United Federation of Teachers.

"The situation is deteriorating fast and becoming intolerable," said state Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Blumenthal. "This court will not stand by and permit the situation to drift and drift. It helps very little to insist that negotiations are going on."

However, it appeared that no peace talks were in process. Union President Albert Shanker's call for round-the-clock negotiations went unanswered, and he sat in his Park Avenue South office while the court proceedings went on.

Rhody McCoy, Negro administrator of Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district and the pivot of the predominantly white teachers' union dispute over school decentralization, rejected Tuesday a new effort to end the walkout.

The court proceedings are based on the city's motion to punish Shanker for criminal contempt in calling the walkout, which violates a state law banning strikes by municipal employees. Shanker served a 15-day jail sentence late last year for leading the UFT's 14-day strike at the start of the last school year.

No Matter Who Is Elected U.S. Tax Code Due for Study

By EDMOND LEBERTON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter who is President or Congress, the U.S. tax code is due for a comprehensive study and possible revision next year.

Both Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Ore., who is in line to become chairman if the Republicans take over the House, say they favor a full-scale review of the Internal Revenue Code.

In separate interviews, both said they would set the review high on the committee's order of business and were prepared to schedule weeks, possibly months, of hearings.

Although some minor modifications were made in the code in connection with the 1964 tax reduction, there has been no extensive review of the tax law since 1964.

Over the years a host of special provisions have been attached to the code, many of which are said by critics to be loopholes for the well-to-do and the well-advised.

Demands were made in Congress earlier this year in connection with passage of the 10 per cent income surtax for revisions to allow for additional revenue without a general tax increase.

But the Treasury pleaded against what promised to be a controversial and drawn-out study of the code at the time because of what it saw as the need for immediate passage of the surtax.

The Treasury did promise to recommend to Congress possible changes in the law. Congressional leaders don't expect the recommendations until after the November elections.

There has been no official disclosure of the Treasury's recommendations, but it is expected to call for abolition of drastic reduction of the central 37 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance.

Sends Scranton Abroad Nixon Men Working To Overhaul Budget LOS ANGELES (AP) — Richard Nixon already has men at work overhauling the federal budget and is sending a personal emissary abroad preparing a mid-campaign for a Republican White House. But even as he took those steps, in anticipation of a Nov. 5 election victory, the Republican presidential nominee is the public opinion polls that show him running ahead are not going to tell the GOP into overconfidence. "The pollsters have been wrong all year long," Nixon said. "And so consequently, even though the polls show me ahead, all that I did when I heard the news about the Gallup Poll was to give orders to support the coalition."

The Republican senators' appointment charged the White House with bringing great pressure to bear on Fortas. Meanwhile, American infantry from the 35th Division knocked out nearly half of an attacking enemy battalion Tuesday northwest of Saigon, raising the number of enemy troops that were killed in that war hot spot this week. The enemy's target was a 20th Division artillery camp called "Po" in a rubber forest close to the most traveled infiltration route for funneling Viet Cong and North Vietnamese troops and supplies to the capital area. After laying down a heavy mortar barrage, a battalion of about 400 men hit the camp just before midnight Monday. The attackers charged, repeatedly. (See Page Six)

No Matter Who Is Elected U.S. Tax Code Due for Study By EDMOND LEBERTON Associated Press Writer WASHINGTON (AP) — No matter who is President or Congress, the U.S. tax code is due for a comprehensive study and possible revision next year. Both Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee, and Rep. John W. Byrnes, R-Ore., who is in line to become chairman if the Republicans take over the House, say they favor a full-scale review of the Internal Revenue Code. In separate interviews, both said they would set the review high on the committee's order of business and were prepared to schedule weeks, possibly months, of hearings. Although some minor modifications were made in the code in connection with the 1964 tax reduction, there has been no extensive review of the tax law since 1964. Over the years a host of special provisions have been attached to the code, many of which are said by critics to be loopholes for the well-to-do and the well-advised. Demands were made in Congress earlier this year in connection with passage of the 10 per cent income surtax for revisions to allow for additional revenue without a general tax increase. But the Treasury pleaded against what promised to be a controversial and drawn-out study of the code at the time because of what it saw as the need for immediate passage of the surtax. The Treasury did promise to recommend to Congress possible changes in the law. Congressional leaders don't expect the recommendations until after the November elections. There has been no official disclosure of the Treasury's recommendations, but it is expected to call for abolition of drastic reduction of the central 37 1/2 per cent oil depletion allowance. Court Action Threatens in NYC Strike NEW YORK (AP) — Court action on the slated teachers' strike loomed today as a judge promised swift consideration of a suit to punish and possibly jail the head of the United Federation of Teachers. "The situation is deteriorating fast and becoming intolerable," said state Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Blumenthal. "This court will not stand by and permit the situation to drift and drift. It helps very little to insist that negotiations are going on." However, it appeared that no peace talks were in process. Union President Albert Shanker's call for round-the-clock negotiations went unanswered, and he sat in his Park Avenue South office while the court proceedings went on. Rhody McCoy, Negro administrator of Brooklyn's Ocean Hill-Brownsville school district and the pivot of the predominantly white teachers' union dispute over school decentralization, rejected Tuesday a new effort to end the walkout. The court proceedings are based on the city's motion to punish Shanker for criminal contempt in calling the walkout, which violates a state law banning strikes by municipal employees. Shanker served a 15-day jail sentence late last year for leading the UFT's 14-day strike at the start of the last school year. (See Page Twenty)
