Book Review

THE KEEPER. By Audrey Lesski. Norton. $4.95

Descendants of a shipload of Puritans of the 17th century, the sect has been transplanted in 1950 from a rocky island off the Atlantic to a remote fishing village in West Wales.

The Company lives in a primitive type of communistic structure, ruled by a hereditary dictator known as the Keeper of the Books (the "Records" and the "Diaries and Diems").

Now the owner of the land wants to build a seaside resort at the site, and is faced with the problem of getting the Company out of the village.

The basic theme of the narrative is the gradual process by which the villagers come to realize that the Company is not as benign as it seems.

WITCH'S PALMAMAS is a satirical story about a man who makes an odd marriage with a witch.

WITCH'S MILK is a rather head-on view of a woman who is a witch.

The author's specialty is the matter-of-fact nature of life, and he continues that approach in this book.

MISSION TO HANOI. By Barry S. Ashmore and William C. Bagge. Putnam. $4.95

The Ashmore-Bagge mission developed after two other officials of the Center for the Study of Democratic Institutions, organizing a "Peace in Terror" meeting; Leonard and Mitchell were willing to talk with representatives of the Center.

At the meeting, the authors with State Department clearance, visited Hanoi in January.

Ashmore and Bagge are critical of Johnson and the State Department. Their own position is the second round of their mission, they described as "semi-official."

Gov. Hoff Backs State Income Tax

The creation of a state income tax for Connecticut and the elimination of property tax assessments for land speculators were urged yesterday by Republican Governor Philip Hoff of Vermont.

Addressing a luncheon meeting of legislators in Hartford yesterday, Hoff said that he would favor the creation of a state income tax because of its growth potential.

Under this system "farmers would be encouraged to remain on the land as long as they wish, but speculators would not be able to take advantage of the situation," Hoff said.

Hoff also urged the elimination of property tax assessments for land speculators, which would reduce the tax burden on those who build and live on the land.

Suburbs Urged To Assist Cities

It will cost this country 3 billion 800 million dollars to build and rebuild its cities in the next generation.

Patriot Healy, executive director of the National League of Cities made this statement in an after-noon speech at the Pre-Session Legislative Conference held Monday and Tuesday at the Hotel America.

Healy called on the suburbs to come to the aid of the cities. He said that the cities must now be given access to the suburban tax base.

Speaking about Connecticut in particular, Healy said this state was one of the few that does not have a personal income tax. He said that the state must raise taxes on the suburbs to help the cities.

Healy said that the state must also raise taxes on the suburbs to help the cities. He said that the state must raise taxes on the suburbs to help the cities.

Lunch Program Reviewed by School Board

The Board of Education met last night at the elementary school and had up for discussion the question of the school lunch program. The financial difficulties of the program have been both a source of concern and a source of pride for the school.

The price of the lunch, at 25 cents, does not seem to be the principal reason why only about 15 percent of the pupils take the lunch. Neither does the quality or quantity of food served operate against the low cost.

Present operations bring in a daily income of about $70, but the combined cost of wages for the cooks and milk totals just over $80. The net available for food is just over $13 a day. Although the state does reimburse the town for part of the total cost of the present deficit of the program is over $1,200 a year.

Healy recommended drastic reorganizations of city governments so that the city can have the proper authority and structure to meet its needs. Someone must be able to pull together and direct the city, he said.

Healy also said that the state legislature and the state executive leadership must be strengthened. He hit at the encumbrances posed by advisory boards and too many elected bodies in a way that stimulates local effort rather than discourages it.

John Bebout, Director of the Urban Studies Center, Rutgers University, began his talk by saying, "We all have heard of the saying 'growing old gracefully.' We must ask ourselves, is it possible for us to grow urban gracefully?"

Tomatoes Salvaged

FRENCO, Calif. — In studies at Fresno, 80 to 90 per cent of the unripe processing tomatoes harvested by machine last year were rejected as a satisfactory color in eight to 10 days of storage.

Since machine harvesting is a one-over operation, in which fruit is discarded because it is unripe when harvested. In California alone, where such waste can amount to about 10 per cent of the crop, salvaging the fully and unripe fruit would add an additional 300,000 tons, with a farm value of $6 million.

Race, Housing, Schools Discussed by Panelists

"White America is going to have to open its eyes and stop sweeping the problem under the rug of indifference and apathy," said William Brown, moderator of a panel discussion on Urban Problems held at Hotel America Monday afternoon.

The panel discussions were part of the Pre-Session Legislative Conference sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the University of Connecticut, and part of a grant from the Urban Studies Center at Rutgers University.

Art DePalma, by Christine Horvath, first; embroidered tank drawing by Kathy Mikulski, drawing by Kim Genovese, second; short story by Marjorie, honorable mention.

Brown, a member of the Urban League of Hartford, was one of four experts who participated in the panel discussion on "Urban Problems." He said that the state must take action to solve the problems in general, and Urban problems in particular.

Priest Sentenced In Tax Evasion

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A Catholic priest who authorities say led a double life has been sentenced to two years in prison for failing to file federal tax returns on more than $111,000 in income.

The Rev. Daniel Nihilore was sentenced Tuesday by U.S. Dist. Judge William P. Gray, but the judge said the sentence might be reduced after the priest underwent a 90-day psychiatric examination.

Gray also granted the clergyman a stay of execution until Jan. 6 as Father Nihilore can attend the opening of a new boys' home near Beaumont.

The priest is director of Boys Town of the Desert, an orphanage near Banning, Calif. The home was founded by the Rev. John D. O'Connell, a priest who lived in a $75,000 home in nearby Palm Springs.

The 37-year-old priest pleaded guilty to not filing tax returns in 1964-65, but denied misappropriating any funds connected with the orphanage, where he also is finance director.

Nihilore said he didn't think he had to file returns for the years in question.

He now realizes he should have filed, he said.

U.S. Atty. Matt Byrne said the priest had twice signed checks at the home and twice signed checks at the home and twice signed checks at the home.

Hebron Apartment Zone Approved

The Planning and Zoning Commission approved the proposed changes and additions to the regulations concerning apartments and multi-family dwellings at a public hearing last night following a public hearing.

The hearing, which ended at 11 p.m., was attended by about 35 persons. Chairman Fred Wythe attempted to read the proposed changes in regulations but persons in the audience were interested in discussing each item. Wythe continually repeated that it would be well to get the entire picture of the proposed changes before discussion.

The limitation of two main doors in the proposed regulations was questioned by members of the audience. Wythe stated that it was the minimum number of doors to be required in each apartment house and could be regulated.

Alfred Goldstein, a builder of property overlooking the center of the town won't keep the character of the town as it is. He stated that if apartments are going to be built, he thought it would be more advantageous to permit more doors, such as single entrance for each apartment to encourage housing for the elderly.

Goldstein also thought more doors would be a safety factor rather than the stairwells with fire escape. Goldstein stated that the zoning commission should be given the authority to permit more doors, such as single entrance for each apartment to encourage housing for the elderly.

Community School Concept Will Get Test at Buckley

Buckley School PTA was given the go-ahead to institute a pilot program in the community school concept. For the next two months this will consist of a Saturday morning and one afternoon session.

This authorization came after more than two hours of work by the joint committee for Buckley School PTA and the town would be glad to give the program a test.

Hours and nights of work controlling the school on a floor level, Turek said, can be ruled with a few hours when the school shifts. His department would be reluctant to go along with any program that would require a brook or culvert runway to provide water control. Even if the risk were feasible, he doubts if his department could make this winter, with the hope to be put in the spring.

Also attendance were Town Directors Francis Mahoney and John Garrido; Superintendent of Schools Donald J. Hennigan; John Hanson, Joseph Sylvester, and Davis Wiggins for the Park and Recreation Commission; Park Superintendent Ernest Turek; Mayor Nathan Agostini; Acting Recreation Director Walter Fortin; Sheldon Hennigan; and Charles Hennigan.

About 50 radical students assembled to march half a mile to the convention hall where they were met by police before the march began. The students sang the U.S. flag security treaty scrapped.

The only concession to color came at the 10-minute convention where a 25-piece band playing on stage before the proceedings began and an enormous spaghetti-marche unknown surounding a paper flag Sun flag at the back of the stage.

Job Training

CHICAGO — A private analysis of 1968 federal manpower programs for the disadvantaged found that 600,000 are involved in step-by-step training, many of them on the job, and 485,000 are in work-experience programs in schools, summer projects or community work.

With general manpower services added, there are almost a million trainees acquiring job skills or retraining.

Meadowbrook Addition Asked

The Board of Education agreed Monday night to seek ten-room addition on the Meadowbrook school in time for school opening next September.

Faced with a projected enrollment increase of at least 400 students, and three schools in which there is no available room, the school board asked the town to fund a $1.5 million addition to the school, "even if it's just walls and roof."

"The kids can sit on orange crates if they have to, but we must have more classrooms," he told the joint meeting of the Finance and School Boards.

Further discussion of the school as a "pleasant little school, cool and well equipped," designed for low elementary grades, and presently housing kindergarten, first and second grades, was discussed and discarded including building or leasing portable classrooms.

The Finance Board member Donald Morgenson estimated the town send the extra students to other towns on a tuition basis and partition the school gym. Neither suggestion was considered workable.

Surrounding towns are feeling space problems coupled with increasing enrollments, they noted, even if they were not as acute as Tolland's. Tuition students are also expensive to a town they noted.

Finance board member Frederick Carpenter told the school board and Superintendent of Schools Robert Stratton to prepare a plan for the schools to meet the needs of the town.

He estimates the breakdown next September to include 260 kindergarten students, 270 first graders, 260 second graders, 15 special education students and 10 gifted students.

The staff will include 25 teachers, including five kindergarten control the split of witches and the vegetation of cuts by means of a double row of trees. Eight special education students will be in the school.

TPC Chairman

M. Allen Dobbin, of 168 Shal-lowbrook Lane, was re-elected chairman Monday night of the Town Planning and Zoning Commission.

Dobbin, who replaced former chairman John Lomenzo in August of 1967, will be serving his second term as TPC head.

Dobbin is also chairman of the Republican Town Committee and has served on several other town committees. He has lived in Manchester for over 25 years and graduated from Manchester High School. After attending the University of Connecticut, Dobbin served four years in the Air Force, one of which was spent in Korea.

Owner of Hayes Products, Inc. of Middletown, a metal finishing firm, Dobbin is married to the former Miss Wallace of Hartford, and has two children.

Judge Denies Retrial Bid in Heroin Case

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP)—A Milford beauty parlor operator convicted 2½ years ago of conspiracy in a multi-million dollar heroin smuggling operation has lost another bid for retrial.

U.S. District Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal denied Tuesday two motions on behalf of James Miller, a resident of Orange, who was convicted in June 1966 of conspiracy to smuggle heroin from Mexico to Connecticut.

Miller, 40, remains free on $200,000 bond while appealing his 1½-year prison sentence.

The court action brought to focus the number of retrial motions denied. The previous two were carried to the U.S. Court of Appeals, where one is pending and the second was denied.

In Tuesday's decision, Blumenthal denied a motion that the conviction of Miller was invalid because of the government's use of hypnosis on a key witness, Joseph "Mike" Caron, while Caron was being held in federal prison.

The judge also denied a motion that the jury which convicted Miller was "tainted" by an alleged threat of what might happen to jurors if Miller were convicted.

Caron, who testified in the trial, identified Miller as the "pickup man" who met him before a bricklayer in connection with the smuggling plot. The judge ruled that failure of the prosecution to disclose the use of hypnosis while Caron was in prison provides "no basis for reaching an opinion that Caron's testimony was a fabrication."

The judge said Caron was hypnotized to help him remember a license number of an automobile he had seen during the two alleged meetings with Miller in Bridgeport in June 1965.

Concerning the alleged threat, Blumenthal said it was "simply a cocktail party" by a bartender at a party. The bartender had "known the juror for a long time and wanted to manifest some concern for him," the judge said.

The defense attorneys argued that the comment was passed on to other jurors.

Propane Gas Explodes Near Chevrolet Plant

NORTH TARRYTOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Three explosions in propane gas tanks adjacent to the huge Chevrolet and Fisher Body plant need several thousand right workers fleeing.

At least 15 persons were reported injured, some seriously.

Firesmen said the blast began as a tanker truck, carrying propane gas, was unloading its cargo into six storage tanks Tuesday night.

North Tarrytown, on the Hudson River, is about 25 miles north of Times Square.

The auto assembly plant, Chevrolet's second largest, turns out 64 cars and trucks an hour. The Fisher Body section produces the automotive shells which are sent on to the Chassis plant. Both plants employ a total of 6,000 workers.

The main building was not damaged but two fire engines and a truck driven by a fireman were brought under control early today.

Tolland County King, Houley See State Aide On Transfer of State Jail

State Rep. Robert King of Tolland and 30th District Senator-elect Robert Houley met yesterday with Department of Corrections Commissioner Ellis MacDougall to discuss the transfer of the state jail to the town.

They explained the proposal to MacDougall, who is in charge of the state jail. The transfer of the jail and the mutual aid radio network are expected to be completed before January.

Vernon Students at High School Enjoying Elective Subjects

Enthusiastic reports were given by teachers of elective subjects at Rockville High School to the Board of Education Monday night.

It seemed to be the consensus of the teachers that it is important to have pupils who take subjects because they want to, not because they have to.

The suggested courses of study do not always meet the needs of a particular student. In such a case it is recommended that parents and student arrange a conference with a member of the guidance staff.

Francis Shortell, head of the guidance department, told the board there is general enthusiasm on the part of the students for the opportunity of taking electives that were not available before.

He said he felt that the specific needs of the college preparatory student have been met in the various electives.

One of the negative aspects of the elective subjects, if it was planned, is the uncertainty as to how many students will sign up for certain courses.

South Windsor Let Council Set Budget, Education Board Asked

Peter Nicholas of the education committee of the Town Council has no say in the budget deliberations of the Board of Education to consider.

The board will consider Nicholas' request, but no decisions were made at the meeting.

String Program
Gerald Marks, head of the music department, and Russell Elliott of the music department, presented the board a proposal for the introduction of a string program into the school system.

The purpose of the program would be to promote study of string instruments and to ultimately establish a school orchestra. At present, the school system has only a band program.

Assistant Superintendent of Schools William Perry echoed Primavera's comment by saying that the education budget should reflect the curriculum and salary needs of the schools.

Perry said that he hoped that the council would act in on the salary negotiations to get a more accurate estimate upon which to base the figure.

The board agreed to have Mrs. Jones retain any statistics she felt necessary that did not require board action.

The bid for moving the agency yard was awarded to Charles Greco of Columbia at a fee of $10 per job.

Hebron 216 Visits During October Reported by Nurse Agency

Mrs. Phyllis Jones, head nurse for the Columbia, Andover and Hebron Public Health Nursing Association, reported today that a total of 216 home visits were made during the month of October in the three towns.

She reported that 74 persons took advantage of the flu clinic held at the agency last month, with 32 from Columbia, 23 from Hebron and 19 from Andover.

She also reported that a well child conference was held on Nov. 7.

First Selector Joseph Sunda of Columbia and J. John Perham of Hebron attended the nursing meeting Monday to discuss the board's policy of filling the agreed terms of the board of directors. Presently the policy is to have the nominating committee submit names of candidates, but no stipulation has been made as to where the names will come from.

Sunda and Andover members on the board of directors indicated that Percy Cook, president of Andover, was in favor of having one member at large from each town on the board.

Perham pointed out that Hebron voted at the town meeting to have the board of directors make the appointments to the board.

Following further discussion, Harvey Desrosiers, president of the board of directors, was directed to meet with the board of directors to work out a solution to the problem.

The personnel committee recharged of volunteers were appointed. Mrs. John Estabrook was named chairman for Columbia; Mrs. Maxwell Hutchinson for Andover; and Mrs. Robert Jones for Hebron.

A request came before the board to have Mrs. Jones take part in a panel on the program "Sound Off" at Radio station WJLA on Jan. 22 concerning public health nursing.

Mrs. Jones reported that she will be doing a time study program during the first two weeks of December of the agency staff.

Wapping Art Show Is Over but Sculptures Linger

If you are driving by the Wapping Community Hall and expecting to see preparations for the Christmas "tree" sale held there every year, you are in for a surprise.

Instead you'll see three abstract sculptures by Morton and Herbert Fishman. The two brothers have gained wide local prominence as recently engaged in a two-man show at Loomis School in Windsor.

Their works have been exhibited at the New York World's Fair and at Constitution Plaza in Hartford on various occasions. The Geogras Center for Exceptional Children owns a Fishman sculpture which is 30 feet across, and which does double duty as a jungle gym for students at the school.

The Fishmans have conducted a fall lecture series at the Manchester High School Arts Festival, and are currently lecturing on welding at Loomis and Renbrook Schools.

Upgrade Legislature Unruh Tells Parley

James M. Unruh, California Assembly speaker, urged Connecticut legislators Tuesday night to concentrate on bringing legislative improvements.

"Amateur standing may be a virtue in applying for the Olympics or for marriage," he said, "but we have passed the time when it is useful in government."

Unruh said legislators could accomplish their goals better if they upgraded the legislature's decision-making ability, its ability to originate ideas and its ability to ask the right questions.

The California Assembly speaker, who becomes minority leader in January because of Democratic losses in the Nov. 5 election, was the final speaker at a pre-session conference of legislators.

The meeting was sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the University of Connecticut.

Unruh noted that Connecticut legislators are paid on a much lower scale than their counterparts in California. But he stressed that the task of upgrading a legislature is more than money.

In Vermont, Hoff said, professional salaries are up 10 per cent, for example, the yield of a progressive income-tax system, he said the gathering, "will often rise by 15 to 20 per cent in the next few years." Thus, Hoff said, an income tax is an elastic revenue measure.

Road Race Course

START AND FINISH

East Faces South at Nebo

By DEAN YOST
Scholastic football season comes to an end Thursday, Thanksgiving Day, for many teams. Many outstanding seniors will hang up their cleats and jerseys for the final time. The season's action will be played out in the final weeks of the year. So the story goes at East Catholic High when the Eagles take the Rebel's South Catholic at Mt. Nebo Field at 11. The Rebels have never beaten Coach Cliff Demers' squad in any football game since the start of the series. South posted a 2-1 overall record and led in league competition can be the Hartford County Conference title with Northwest Catholic which has a 2-0-1 mark. East on the other hand with a 2-7 record, best yet, by any team in Eagle history, is out of the conference running with a 0-2 mark.

The team from Manchester, injury free except for a few pre-season mishaps and the usual weekly bumps and bruises, are both mentally and physically fit for the contest. The morale of the school and the team has been a major factor in a winning season.

East will have a non-playing game captain in the likes of Cliff Demers, who was picked 21, South 10.

THE Herald Angle

By EARL YOST
Sports Editor

Flooded with Calls for Information
Christmas is less than one month away but anyone who has been around The Herald switchboard during the past few weeks might have had the impression that the holiday season was being observed early. An estimated 300 calls were received by Mrs. Lillian Fitzsimmons at the board from men women and children seeking information on the five Mile Road Race. The calls were all directed to this department.

Kelley, Burfoot, Keefe, McCall, Vitale, Sink, Carter Head Entries Record Field Set for 10:30 Start

By EARL YOST
Once again some of the greatest distance runners in the United States as well as more than a score of scholastic, collegiate and club runners from all over the country will converge on Manchester for the annual five-mile road race. The occasion will be the 22nd annual race which takes on more stature with each passing year.

The race is scheduled for 10:30 with more than 200 runners—a new all-time record for the race. The starting line is at the intersection of Main Street, opposite school Street, for the first time in the race's history. The finishing line will also be at the intersection of Main Street and Charter Oak Street.

- Headed by a record field of entries in his best finishes, with one question, Keefe is the hottest club runner in New England this season. One of his few remaining goals is to win the Five Mile and the Middlefield scholastic race which is scheduled to be performed this fall. He'll perform with the Central Connecticut A.A.
- Coming down from the University of Connecticut will be two teams, the Huskie No. 1 and the Huskie No. 2. The Huskie No. 1 team, led by Craig McCall, John Vitale, Bill Young and Scott Carter, the first three helped UConn win Yankee Conference and New England intercollegiate team laurels and will be tough to beat in the team competition. Carter finished for the freshmen and is a lad who has a bright future.
- Newcomer to Manchester is Sid Sink, a sophomore at Bowling Green in Ohio, who now resides here. He'll be making his debut appearance and off his showing in New York in the Marathon. He missed making the Olympic team due to several illnesses but is back in serious training and will be after a race.
- Slender Jimmy Hall of Newington was the first scholastic runner to win the Boston Marathon by winning the Boston Marathon. He missed making the Olympic team due to several illnesses but is back in serious training and will be after a race.

Harvard Hero Back of Week

NEW YORK (AP)—Frank Champ, the scrambling superb sub, who brought Harvard from 16 points behind to a 29-29 tie, Saturday night, was the hero of the game. He scored the winning touchdown on a 29-yard run, setting off a wild demonstration by the partisan Harvard crowd.

"He did a remarkable job under a great pressure as you can put on an athlete," said Harvard Coach John Yordis after the deadlock gave his team and Yale 8-1 finishes and a share of the Ivy League championship. "The last few plays were just made. He had to do it."

Champ completed only six of 15 pass attempts, but five completions figured in the Harvard upset last weekend.

O.J. Simpson's Goals Simple, Hopes for Unbeaten Season

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Football star O.J. Simpson of the Southern California Trojan football team, the leading winner of the 1968 Heisman Trophy, today reaffirmed that his immediate goal is simple: "I just want to be a professional football player."

"I would like to live in California, but I would like to play in a California team," he replied. "I also prefer the NFL so that would mean Chicago or Dallas."

"If it weren't California, my second choice would be New York, Chicago or Dallas."

Simpson was reminded that the Los Angeles Rams recently declared they were interested in drafting three fine players rather than one great one.

"Some one doing it in Simpson the Rams would indeed get a big bang out of it. But we won't be sitting around."

Simpson indicated he hadn't everything I hear."
