30,000 Teens Stage Rally For Decency

MIAMI (AP) — A teen-age "Crusade for Decency in Entertainment" which drew 30,000 hand-clapping supporters to the Orange Bowl Stadium Sunday may become a permanent organization.

"We far surpassed our goal and we definitely plan to continue," said Kevin O'Conner, spokesman for the 10-member executive board which organized the rally. "We hope it will grow into something permanent, and we believe it will."

"This was not a protest rally at all. We're not against something; we're for decency. The response was just overwhelming. We raised enough to meet expenses before the rally went on, and have $1,500 left over."

O'Conner said the money was donated by the schoolchildren and at restaurant cashier's counters.

Teen-agers organized the rally after Jim Morrison, lead singer of The Doors, was charged with indecent exposure during a Miami concert March 1. Six warrants have been issued for his arrest.

"There is no question but that Morrison's actions promoted the rally," said the Rev. James Briggs of Notre Dame Academy, a Roman Catholic school in Miami. "We hope it won't be just a flash in the pan. All of us would like to see it take some form of permanent organization, at least countrywide. And we hope it goes beyond that."

Father Briggs said two of the original four members of the organizing committee came from Notre Dame Academy, where a discussion was held two days after the controversial concert by The Doors.

The idea caught on and the committee grew to 10 members representing different faiths and schools in the Miami area.

One singing group, The Lettermen, drove all night after a performance in Jacksonville to participate in Sunday's rally. One of the group, Ronnie Smith, said he and his associates thought the rally was needed to offset the image created by The Doors.

"We wanted to take part in bringing back the good will that entertainment groups should have, and which was lost to some extent by what happened," Smith said.

Some 30,000 persons, many of them youngsters and some carrying signs saying "Down with Obscenity," rallied in the Orange Bowl Stadium Sunday to support a teen-agers' crusade for decency in entertainment. Among entertainers at the rally were Jackie Gleason, Anita Bryant and The Lettermen.

Anti-Flood Work Begun by Army

WALTHAM, Mass. (AP) — Precautionary anti-flood work in several New England communities has been started by the Army Corps Engineers under a $1 million federal emergency allocation. The work includes freeing ice jams, clearing river beds and building temporary dikes and levees. Heavy rains could cause trouble quickly along the Merrimack and Upper Connecticut Rivers, the Engineers said last weekend. Work has begun in Ware, Easton and Waltham in Massachusetts; the Lincoln-Smithfield areas in Rhode Island; Peterborough and Israel River in New Hampshire; and Ansonia, Conn.

Eavesdrop Rule Stands, Court Says

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court refused today to reconsider a March 10 eavesdropping ruling that the government said would have an "adverse impact" upon gathering of foreign intelligence.

At the same time, the court followed the thrust of the March 10 decision by ordering hearings in federal courts for more than a dozen criminal defendants including Teamsters Union president James R. Hoffa and former heavyweight boxing champion Muhammad Ali to determine if the government's electronic surveillance of them was unlawful.

The Justice Department, just last Wednesday, had urged the court to exempt from the Constitution's restraints government eavesdropping and wiretapping for the sake of the country's "external security."

Additionally, the department had asked the court to foreclose examination of bugging transcripts by defendants in these cases and their lawyers.

The court rejected this plea out of hand. The plea included an assertion by the government that wiretapping and eavesdropping to obtain foreign intelligence information are exempt from the restraint imposed by the Fourth Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

The court obviously disagreed, but following tradition did not set forth its reasons for declining to reconsider its ruling. Reconsideration is rarely granted.

Thus the action was not entirely unexpected, although the speed with which the court acted raised some eyebrows.

The 5-3 ruling entitled convicted spies, extortionists and other criminal defendants to determine for themselves whether prosecution stemmed from illegal electronic surveillance from federal agents.

The ruling dealt specifically with the conviction of a Russian chauffeur Igor Ivanov, who was sentenced to 20 years on spy conspiracy charges.

The government had said that it would abandon several security cases rather than open its files.

At the same time, the justices returned more than a dozen appeals to lower federal courts to determine if the defendants were victims of illegal eavesdropping.

These included the conviction of Muhammad Ali, the deposed heavyweight boxing champion, on draft charges and of James R. Hoffa, president of the Teamsters Union, on both jury tampering and mail fraud charges.

The court cautioned that all that the defendants are entitled to at this stage is a hearing to determine if the government's electronic surveillance was unlawful.

If the government acted legally, the court said, there would be no disclosure to the defendant of material in government files and further proceedings would be unnecessary.

Justice Potter Stewart went out of his way to try to allay concern about the extent of the court's recent eavesdropping rulings.

For one thing, Stewart said, the court has not outlawed electronic surveillance by the government for the gathering of foreign intelligence information. Secondly, he said, the court required transcripts to be turned over to defendants only in situations where the surveillance determination—whether the Constitution was violated—is to be made by the district court judge alone, Stewart said.

All, who was Cassius Clay before he became a Black Muslim, was sentenced to five years in prison for refusing to be drafted. The Justice Department has acknowledged that five conver-

Allied Forces Launch Third Major Offensive

SAIGON (AP) — More than 3,000 U. S. Marines and South Vietnamese infantry men backed by an American armored column are pushing another major counter offensive south of the demilitarized zone.

Operation Maine Crag is aimed at a growing North Vietnamese threat to allied bases along the northern frontier. Marine officers at Da Nang said in the past month patrols have sighted as many as 50 enemy tracked vehicles and trucks carrying war materials toward allied bases. Some were believed to be big artillery guns.

It was the second big American drive announced in the past two days and the third within a week, as the Viet Cong's spring offensive rolled into its fifth week.

Maine Crag was launched March 15 but has been slowed down frequently by bad weather. The U.S. Command did not announce it until today for security reasons.

The Marines said the allied force had killed 48 enemy troops so far and captured two prisoners and 129 rifles. Ten Americans were reported killed and 64 wounded. But the allies' main purpose is to cut North Vietnamese supply lines from Laos into South Vietnam.

Maine Crag is taking place along the Laotian border, about 25 miles south of the western flank of the DMZ and just south of the old Khe Sanh combat base, where U.S. forces held off a North Vietnamese siege for 2 1/2 months last year.

One of the Marines' objectives is to cut Highway 928 from Laos into South Vietnam. U.S. patrols have sighted North Vietnamese self-propelled artillery guns along the highway, which leads toward the Marines' Vandegrift combat base, the major allied operations base on the northern frontier.

Field commanders think these big guns could be used to turn Vandegrift base into another Khe Sanh, which was pounded daily with enemy artillery until the siege was lifted. Khe Sanh was later abandoned, a policy of greater mobility was announced, and Vandegrift, 20 miles from the Laotian border and out of range of North Vietnamese artillery inside Laos, became the major Marine combat base along the frontier.

Maj. Gen. Raymond Dwyer, commander of the 3rd Marine Division, said that Highway 928 was particularly important now because the Marines had cut off other enemy access routes in Operation Dewey Canyon, a 30-month drive that has just ended.

Davis said that in Dewey Canyon the Marines cut off the road going into the northern end of the A Shau Valley, but the enemy is "still determined some-

Egypt, Israel Duel Again Across Suez

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Egyptian and Israeli guns blazed away across the Suez Canal today after one of the leading Arab guerrilla organizations reported large movements of Israeli troops into the Sinai Desert.

The firing continued through one U.N. call for a cease-fire at 10 a. m. U.N. observers called for another cease-fire at noon, when the Israelis said they stopped shooting. But Israeli army spokesmen said the Egyptians continued firing in several sectors until 12:30 p. m.

Each army accused the other of firing first. They agreed it began at the southern end of the canal then spread north, all the way to El Qantara at the northern end of the Suez Canal.

Israel said it suffered no casualties or damage. The artillery exchange lasted five hours and 33 minutes.

Elsewhere, Jordanian and Israeli forces clashed for 70 minutes in the northern Jordan Valley, a Jordanian military spokesman said. He claimed that Israel started that exchange and said there were no Jordanian casualties but that Israel suffered three.

The firing across the canal finally stopped after two requests by U.N. observers. It was the first artillery duel along the canal in six days. Spo-

'Tony Lee, He Dead,' They Chant

Anguillans Hold 'Funeral' For British Commissioner

By Laurence Stern
The Washington Post

ANGUILLA — Led by wailing native women, Anguillian islanders conducted a mock funeral ceremony Sunday for newly installed British President Commissioner Anthony Lee.

"Tony Lee, he dead," the women lamented at the side of a black coffin, atop which lay a wreath of bouganvillea. "Lord, harbor in which one of the invading British frigates lay at anchor. The Rev. Roy Wylie led his burlesque and made no effort to stop the ceremony or the shouting. On the front of the coffin there was a crudely executed drawing in ball-point pen labeled: "Traitor Lee."

A more hospitable reception was accorded Lee Sunday morning when he attended church services in a pan-tropical suit at the Bethel Methodist Church, which commands a view of a harbor in which one of the invading British frigates lay at anchor. The Rev. Roy Wylie led his congregation in the traditional prayer for the queen, and welcoming Lee personally from the pulpit.

"We hope things will soon return to normal and we will breathe again the free air of Anguilla," the minister said. Lee sat alone with empty pews in front and in back of him.

The commissioner, who seemed to have an unerringly abrasive effect on many of the natives, was jostled by a crowd of natives as he tried to enter his office. The roof and hood and trunk of his Volkswagen sedan were bashed in. But Lee abandoned the effort and escaped from the crowd in his battered car.

Demonstrators exultantly chalked it up as a victory against the occupiers.

Again Sunday morning, an around-the-clock band of protesters gathered under a chump of trees in front of Lee's office to demand an elected council instead of the appointed one that Lee has proposed.

"If there is no elected council, there is no Lee, even if he comes in the form Christ," one of the demonstrators said heatedly.

The mood of the dissidents to the new commissioner's presence has been growing surlier, and an undercurrent of racial bitterness is beginning to creep into the Anguillian complaints. The island has been remarkably free of such sentiment.

One British official said authorities are convinced that guns abound in a secret caches around the island, although extensive search has failed to produce any evidence of the weapons yet.

Lee was preparing Sunday to announce a policy of amnesty from prosecution for any Anguillians who turn in firearms within a month.

Lee, in a roadside interview after church, said he is convinced more than ever now that a small group of militant Anguillians are intimidating the majority into protest. Precise-ing the Dix correspondence love letters is "really jumping way ahead."

Snyder said the letters show here "deep personal interest and concern for his health. They were certainly very cordial, but beyond that the letters don't show an intimacy."

A second set of letters Snyder described as "intriguing" were from glamorous Miss Carroll, an editor and daughter of a Maryland governor.

She "was not a bit reluctant to try to influence Fillmore," Snyder said and she often arranged personal visits at campaign stops. But Fillmore avoided her and was discreet in answering her letters.

"She was very much annoyed at his failure to keep arrangements she was making to see him," Snyder said.

Miss Dix and Fillmore were "of a comparable age — both past 50," Snyder said. But during the time the bulk of the letters were written he was in Europe and she "just paused to write" while crusading across the country.

Tolland County Mrs. Hammer Appointed to Party Panel

Tolland County State Central Committeewoman Naomi Hammer of Vernon has been elected secretary of the state democratic party's new committee for the Revision of the State Party Rules.

The organization held its first meeting Thursday night in Hartford. Appointed recently by Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey, the committee will review the rules of the state party and begin to consider the effect in Connecticut of resolutions concerning delegate selection for the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

The extent of the committee's studies will largely be determined by the "grass roots interest" among local town committees and their chairmen, according to Mrs. Hammer.

Copies of the State Party rules will be printed in convenient booklet form and distributed to all local Democratic chairmen and vice chairmen, she explained. They will be asked to initiate local consideration of the state rules and to report any suggestions back to the committee.

"THE WAY I HEARD IT" by John Gruber

Tonight will bring the second in a continuing series of New Music concerts at von der Mehden Hall on the O'Connell campus.

Mr. Whittenberg, rather peevishly points out that this is merely a reaction to his music, and not a description of it. Well, in the first place you cannot describe audible sounds with words except in a few occasional instances. I state my reactions since any work of art must evoke reactions in the past of the audience of the composer.

With this in mind, a program has been assembled comprising "Computer Variations" by Hubert S. Howe Jr., some modern piano works by Ravel, Pleshov, and Wolpe, played by Anne Chamberlain, Milton Barbitt's "Pulmonal" (a work for voice with tape accompaniment), "Heroic Music Number One" by Robert Arlt and Edgar Varese's "Jortization."

The last named work is the oldest one, written by Varese in 1911. It is written for a percussion orchestra and presents complex rhythms as its "raison d'être."

Mr. Whittenberg's program notes quote Robert Craft on "Jortization" as follows: "Varese uses rhythmic figures of five—that is, he subdivides the beat into five—on an equal basis with figures of two, three, and four." Presumably he is only vaguely remembering a chamber work for baritone and orchestra of half a century ago as instruments that I once heard in New York at least ten years ago.

Of that performance, I recall only that Mr. Wolpe employed both heavy and light percussion which I felt was a bit redundant in so small a group, since the piano is technically anything that the harp can do. Still, it must have been a pretty good piece of music for me to remember anything at all about it at this late date.

Next to Varese, the best known composer represented is probably Milton Babbitt, professor of music at Princeton and Grand Pooh-Bah of electronic music in the United States. I've heard quite a little of his music and I remain unconvinced. This does not, of course, make his work valueless.

Two Days of Talks Slated Canada's Trudeau Visiting with Nixon

can have been welcomed when we visited there (Canada) as private citizens."
Mrs. Nixon did not participate in the ceremonies. But she and the President will welcome him at a white tie dinner tonight—first formal state dinner of the Nixon administration.
Trudeau, making his first official visit here, expressed thanks for "the very cordial welcome" he had and appreciates Nixon according him this honor.
He, too, stressed the "very many times that link us."
Trudeau said he is looking forward to a discussion with Nixon of matters of mutual interest and getting Nixon's views on world problems.
He said: "Like so many Canadians, I always look forward to a visit to the United States with great pleasure."
Nixon, who has yet to convince Congress of the need for a defense system, will likely be questioned by Trudeau about the matter during this visit.
Trudeau has confronted the same sort of critical debate in his Parliament over the proposed anti-ballistic missile program.
In addition to the ABM discussions, the two days of talks are expected to involve Canada's role in the North Atlantic Treaty Organization and other matters of continental defense.
Trudeau, who reportedly left Ottawa undecided about the ABM situation, was urged earlier in the week by some members of Parliament to try to persuade Nixon from positioning missile defense sites near the Canadian border.
While returning to do so, Trudeau said, however that "we do not have all the information" on the ABM system to convince him such defenses are necessary.
During a special four-hour debate in Parliament Wednesday, opposition members quizzed Trudeau's government on whether the ABM would not violate Canadian airspace and to what degree Ottawa had been consulted on the system.
Some questions suggested the United States to the program would heat up the East-West arms race.
The prime minister answered that he will discuss these matters with Nixon and "if we are convinced the ABM system is necessary though regrettable, we shall have to decide whether or not we shall participate in the operation of that system."
Closely related to the ABM question is the matter of continuing Canadian military participation in NATO and the North put Jordan off guard or could Terrorist rains have been falling on much of the Middle East for several days.

Fillmore's son, who first inherited the papers, died in 1889 leaving a will which ordered his executors to "destroy all correspondence or letters to or from my father, mother, sister or me." Young Fillmore's executor, Charles Marshall—member of a prominent Buffalo family and related by marriage to the Shephards—ignored the will and had the papers transferred to the attic of his Buffalo home. Hazel Koerner, whom Marshall had adopted in 1904, inherited the lawyer's estate when he died in 1908, whereupon she apparently discovered three chests containing the letters among the Marshall papers and had them shipped to the New Haven man-

Volkswagen brings you an exciting old idea.

We don't expect a standing ovation. But we do think our beloved automatic transmission* deserves at least a smattering of applause. After all, it does let you drive without shifting and still get up to 25 miles to the gallon. (You know what ravenous appetites our automatics have.) It does have the fewest moving parts of any 3-speed automatic. (You know how depressing transmission repair bills can be.)

It does offer you the lightest, most compact 3-speed automatic transmission you can buy. (You know how an automatic can take the oomph out of a car.) And where can you find our latest triumph?

In the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan and the Volkswagen Fastback Sedan. How do you feel like applauding? Thank you, thank you, thank you very much.

Vernon Dedication Tomorrow at St. John's

Dedication services for St. John's Episcopal Church, Rt. 20, will be held tomorrow night at 7:30 with the Rt. Rev. J. Warren Hutchens, Suffragan Bishop of Connecticut, officiating. The service will include the institution of the new rector, the Rev. Robert H. Welmer. This will be in the form of an old ceremony wherein the wardens, Richard Morganson and Robert Brown, will present the keys of the church as a token of the parish's loyalty and support. At the service of dedication, clergy from neighboring Episcopal, Protestant and Roman Catholic churches will walk in the procession. Father Grant Tracy will assist in the dedication. The new parish center was completed in December 1961, services have been held there. The church has been serving in Rockyville from 1884 to that time. When it became apparent that the parish was outgrowing its facilities, plans were made in 1953. Mr. Tracy died in 1958, in 1958, under the rectorship of the late Rev. Maurice O. Foulke, for the building of a new church in Vernon. Statistics projected in 1950 indicated that the present edifice would be in the center of population for the area St. John's would serve. In May 1961 ground was broken for the parish center. The Rev. James L. Grant became rector in September 1959 and under his direction, the parish began planning for the church building. A building committee was formed with Francis Pritchard Sr. as chairman, a building style was agreed upon and financial arrangements were made for the construction of the new building. A reception will follow the ceremonies in the parish hall, sponsored by the women of the church under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edith Phillips. Masonic Meeting: Fayette Lodge of Masons will hold its regular meeting tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple. The master Mason degree will be exemplified.

Religion Lectureship Established at Trinity Hartford (AP)—The Rev. Gerald Ellsworth Morton Tracy, lectureship in religion has been established at Trinity Church in Hartford, Conn. Tracy, a native of Waterbury, graduated from Trinity in 1900 and then attended the General Theological Seminary in New York. Ordained an Episcopal priest, he served in Ogdensburg, N.Y., and Maplewood, N.J., before becoming rector of Trinity Church in Hartford in 1909. He held that position until he died in 1958. Tracy died in 1958, in 1958, under the rectorship of the late Rev. Maurice O. Foulke, for the building of a new church in Vernon. Evan Kullgren of Columbia, Metals Artisan, Dies at 79

COLUMBIA — Evan F. Kullgren of Belmont Rd., a metal craft expert, died Wednesday at St. Joseph College in West Hartford. He was 79 years old.

Kullgren was setting up a craft exhibit at the college when he died.

Kullgren was a director and former president of the Society of Connecticut Craftsmen. He spent more than 45 years teaching metalwork in Providence, R.I., Albany, N.Y., New York City and in Connecticut.

In Hartford, he was director of religious education and crafts instructor for more than 20 years at the Institute of Living. Kullgren helped start the Columbia Recreation Council 25 years ago and directed the program in Columbia summer camps.

He was also well known in Manchester, where he was an instructor in printing and metalwork at the North End Y for a year and conducted a program for children in Grades 3 through 6 in the elementary schools.

After retiring from teaching in 1960, Kullgren turned his attention full-time to his own work. He made items in silver, pewter and copper in his workshop and was generally well known as one of the state's finest artisans in these metals.

The attorney Matthew B. Schwitzer, 203 S. Main St., was apparently killed in the accident. The exact time of the accident has not been determined but passing motorists discovered the car wreck at 11:20 p.m. and called the police.

New Trees To Decorate Main Street

Main St. will again have a new look as the city has dugged off the roots of the old trees that were removed from the street.

The 14 planters given to the town through the Chamber of Commerce and placed on Main St. sidewalks held strong trees last spring. They were kewanee cherry trees, the same kind planted in the Washington, D.C. area.

The trees were about four years old when they were planted in 1965. They all died last year.

John J. Turck, park superintendent, a member of the Chamber of Commerce City Beautification Committee and a member of the Board of Directors, said he is pleased to see the new trees planted on Main St. He said he hopes they will be as successful as the old ones.

Because the trees picked up extra heat and light reflected off the sidewalks and buildings, they were beginning to die. They were beginning to die last year, he said.

A severe frost "knocked them in" last year, he said.

The chamber layer, the source of the trees, was too late to be dug up. Despite the frost, they were dug up last year, he said.

Turck announced today that the town is buying new cherry trees to replace the old ones. He said he hopes they will be as successful as the old ones.

Hearing Set On Case Mt. Senate Bill

The proposed purchase by the state of Case Mt. will be up for a public hearing Thursday before the legislature's state Development Committee.

Senate Bill 1338, introduced by Hato Ben, David Barry and co-sponsored by Manchester's three state representatives, will be the first bill heard by the committee. The hearing will be 1:30 p.m. for those lawmakers who wish to speak, and 2 p.m. for the public.

The bill proposes that the state purchase a 212-acre tract in Case Mt. in southern New Hampshire for $500,000, to be financed equally by state and federal funds.

The 80 per cent federal cost would come from open space or recreation grants. The state's 20 per cent share would come from bonding or from special issue bonds approved for a vote.

A similar bill was introduced in the 1967 State Assembly. It, too, received a public hearing before the Development Committee. However, it died in committee and never reached the floor for a vote.

The 1967 bill called for a $425,000 appropriation for 273 acres.

Coventry Lawyer Dies In Car Crash

William F. Schwitzer, 48, of 203 S. Main St., died Saturday in a car accident on the North End Y for a year and conducted a program for children in Grades 3 through 6 in the elementary schools.

After retiring from teaching in 1960, Kullgren turned his attention full-time to his own work. He made items in silver, pewter and copper in his workshop and was generally well known as one of the state's finest artisans in these metals.

The attorney Matthew B. Schwitzer, 203 S. Main St., was apparently killed in the accident. The exact time of the accident has not been determined but passing motorists discovered the car wreck at 11:20 p.m. and called the police.

Antitrust Suit By U.S. Tests Conglomerates

The Strickland-Borst Group of Second Congregational Church will meet tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the church's parsonage, 140 N. Main St., to discuss the antitrust suit filed by the U.S. Justice Department.

The suit is the result of a complaint filed by the U.S. Justice Department in 1967. It charges that the Strickland-Borst Group, which includes the church, the Strickland-Borst School, and the Strickland-Borst Home, is a monopoly in the area of religious education and social services.

THE MANCHESTER EDUCATION ASSOCIATION FEARS:

- that education in Manchester is in danger of losing a hard won reputation of excellence;
- that many better qualified teacher candidates do not consider Manchester a town concerned with quality education;
- that many respected and experienced educators are seriously considering changing their place of employment;
- that recent philosophy has cost Manchester excellent teacher personnel;
- that the Board of Education budget no longer reflects this town's past philosophy of excellence for youth.

Please express your concern by calling and writing to your elected representatives.

Andover Budget Hike For School Explained

In connection with last week's hearings of the Board of Finance and presentation of budget requests, Superintendent Chamberlain touches upon some reasons for the increased elementary school budget in the current issue of School Chats.

Mrs. Chamberlain points up the new salary schedule for teachers' compensation. The salary at the Bachelor's step is $5,700 to $10,000 plus full coverage for the individual teacher for Blue Cross, C.M.S. and medical. Although the first step is $100 under that of Blain High school teachers, the new salary schedule for teachers is $5,700 to $10,000 plus full coverage for the individual teacher for Blue Cross, C.M.S. and medical. Vernon Wolf Raps Delays I-84 Work

Thomas Wolf, member of the Board of Representatives, has written a letter to Sen. Abraham Ribicoff and Rep. William O. O'Brien in an effort to expedite a decision between the state and federal governments concerning the widening of the Wilbur Cross Hwy. east of Vernon.

In his letter, Wolf said the State Highway Department has submitted a number of schemes to the Bureau of Public Roads in Washington for total improvement of this road to an eight-lane highway.

The Bureau of Public Roads, Wolf said, has taken the position that the existing road should simply be widened two feet on each side. He explains that the present highway was built in 1950. The safety standards have changed since then as far as grades and curves are concerned, Wolf said. He further said that it would not be until 1975 before the new road is built.

30,000 Teens More Snow Removal Funds Stage Rally For Decency

At the rally, the shirt-sleeved crowd sat in warm sunshine while teenage speakers gave three-minute talks on God, parents, patriotism, brotherhood and sex.

Professional entertainers including Jackie Gleason, Anita Bryant, and the Rhodes Brothers donated their services and provided inspirational talks, songs and music.

"I believe this kind of movement will snowball across the United States and perhaps around the world," Gleason said. "I have always liked Milton. Now I'm really proud of him."

The crowd included about 30,000 teenagers and as many adults. Members of the American Legion passed out 20,000 small American flags.

Executive committee members said they received telephone calls and letters from all over the country applauding their move and inquiring from other teenage groups interested in it.

"We're going to try to come up with some kind of international youth organization," said Alan Rosenthal, a committee member. "It could really tie the world together."

More Snow Removal Funds Topic of April 1 Hearing

The $200,000 consists of $107,000 for the current year and $93,000 for the fiscal year 1970. The Board of Directors is one for ownership of Charter Oak Field land.

The $200,000 covers the park department's 40 per cent ownership of Charter Oak Field land. Both parcels are the subject of condemnation proceedings by the state. The town had turned down the state's offer for the land.

Under state statute, when the state institutes condemnation proceedings, it is required to place in escrow the exact amount of its original offer. The court, as permitted, has released a portion of those escrow funds for the town's use.

Two proposed appropriations, one for $1,277, the other for $80, are for the Board of Education, and the subject for two other public hearings. The money already is in the General Fund budget.

Funds already received from the state, covering town land taken for R. 6 relocation, are the subject for two other public hearings. The money already is in the General Fund budget.

Tolland Full-time Librarian, Nurse Asked at Joint Boards' Parley

Discussion during Friday night's joint meeting of all town boards and commissions contrasted more on relating past accomplishments than on future plans and needs.

Representatives of 15 town boards were present, although representatives of the Board of Education were noticeably absent.

Among the future needs of the town cited during the meeting were the need for a full-time librarian and a full-time nurse to meet the demands created by the town's rapid growth and increased demands for services.

The need to freeze street names, eliminate the designation of Extension and substituting North and South on street names was again cited by the Board of Assessors.

First Selectman Ernest VII, admitting the need for re-evaluation, reported he is including a portion of the cost in the town's budget. Work on the project cannot begin until the mapping of the town is completed around November of this year.

The effects of re-evaluation would be to lower the mill rate, to increase the assessed value of property owned to 60 per cent of the present market value. Assessments are presently based on 1950 values, even for new construction.

He also expressed hopes for a new ambulance because the "one" is "old" and is in need of repair. The ambulance is currently being used by the Fire Department.

Conservation Lacking

Conservation Lacking
Leon Thorpe, a member of the Town Conservation Commission, pointed to the lack of activity of the commission, noting he did not know who the other members are any more and that no meetings were being held.

Vik replied he will activate the Conservation Commission because it is badly needed. He also put in a pitch for the creation of the Hockanum Valley Y.M.C.A. which will serve the tri-town Tolland, Vernon and Ellington areas. "It will mean a great deal to our youth and young adults."

Another event coming up is the chicken dinner of the Andover Women's Republican Club scheduled for April 19 at the school.

Bridge Night

Although spring is in the air bridge players, 16 in number, still felt a preference for the indoor sport and showed up at Friday night's session at the Congregational Church. Winning partners for the evening of duplicate play were Mrs. Howard Boyd and Mrs. Raymond Wolf, first place; Robert Campbell and William Radtke, second, and Mr. Marvin Graboff, third.
