Moon Voyagers Home Safely

ABOARD USS PRINCETON (AP) — Climaxing a voyage of discovery, the Apollo 10 moon explorers came safely home from the heavens Monday, blazing back through earth's atmosphere to a bull's eye landing in the South Pacific within sight of the recovery ship Princeton.

America's newest space heroes ended man's greatest and most dangerous space adventure when their sturdy six-ton spaceship parachuted into gently rolling seas about three miles from the Princeton.

Air Force Col. Thomas P. Stafford and Navy Cmdr. John W. Young and Eugene A. Cernan landed at 12:52 p.m., EDT. The touchdown was about 400 miles east of Pago Pago, just at dawn in this part of the world.

As the craft descended, its tracking lights blinked in the semidarkness.

The pinpoint landing was a fitting climax to the near-flawless eight-day flight, a final dress rehearsal which cleared the way for two astronauts to walk on the moon in less than two months.

"We are in great shape," Stafford radioed.

"We should be right on top of you if you're down there," Stafford radioed minutes before landing.

"I tell you this thing is beautiful," Young exulted.

Television pictures, relayed through a communications satellite, enabled millions of Americans to share the triumphal return of the three astronauts.

Viewers had a ringside seat as cameras focused on Apollo 10 floating down from space, dangling under three orange and white parachutes.

Helicopters spotted the astronauts several minutes before the splashdown and were hovering overhead within minutes.

Within minutes, Navy frogmen leaped from a helicopter. They attached a flotation collar and plugged in a telephone to talk with the astronauts.

Stafford, Young and Cernan traveled 76 hours outward to the moon, circled it 11 times in 6 1/2 hours and raced home along a 64-hour corridor. The flight lasted 8 days 3 minutes.

They logged about 700,000 miles and Stafford and Cernan made man's closest approach to

Top Court Rules State Sales Tax Applies to GI's

WASHINGTON (AP) — Servicemen are not entitled to exemptions from state sales or use taxes, the Supreme Court ruled unanimously today.

The decision, announced by Justice Potter Stewart, came on an appeal by Connecticut and 19 other states. They had said their entire system of taxation could be disrupted if servicemen were granted an exemption.

The high court examined the 1942 Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act and declared "the language and other factors had led us to the conclusion that Congress did not intend to free servicemen from state sales or use taxes of the host state."

The 1942 federal law had given servicemen immunity from income and personal property taxes in states where they may be stationed and where they do not have permanent residence.

The U.S. Circuit Court in New York last July concluded this law applied to sales and use taxes and granted servicemen exemptions.

Stewart, writing for the high court, said a history of the 1942 law showed that what Congress intended was to protect GI's from recurring taxes on their personal property as they moved around the country. The objective, he said, was to avoid having their property taxed by more than one state in the same year.

Just two years earlier, he said, Congress had expressly authorized sales and use taxation of servicemen everywhere on federal military reservations except post exchanges. He said it, therefore, was unlikely that Congress would have granted soldiers, sailors and marines an exemption from state sales and use taxes just two years later.

Speaking of the 1942 law, he wrote: "The most sensible inference to be drawn... is that the only taxes on the use of property from which servicemen are exempted are the special registration taxes imposed on..."

Manfield Says Congress Shares Blame for Waste

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield—adding his voice to mounting congressional claims of wasteful military spending—says Congress must take much of the blame.

"I think that the Congress has been in fault for allowing things to get out of hand," Mansfield said Sunday.

But unlike congressional critics who are pressing for investigation of military contract practices and legislation to control them, Mansfield said he believes the controversy over the automatic system already has brought a change of attitude.

And he said the blame cannot be laid simply to growth of a military-industrial combine.

"I think this combine," he said, "which is not just military-industrial but includes labor, the academic area, and the political field—including people like myself who want projects for their states—are all at fault and are all to blame because we haven't had the guts to stand up to this growth like toppy."

Wherever the blame lies, Mansfield said, he questions the type of military contracts that have been let, the money spent, the money wasted, and the fact that until last year all the Defense Department had to do was to ask and they would receive.

Laird Backs Battle Tactics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has spoken out in support of U.S. battlefield tactics in Vietnam, which Democratic critics say cause needless loss of American lives.

"It's always been our goal to keep the maximum pressure on the enemy consistent with the lowest possible casualties," Laird said Sunday, adding that U.S. commanders continue under instructions to carry out this policy.

"There are clear signs that the federal government is spending too much money on military programs," Proxmire said. "Huge cost overruns, waste and inefficiency have be-

Nixon Confident Of Vote for ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — After weeks of selling, the Nixon administration now believes it has the commitments necessary for Senate approval of the Safeguard antimissile system.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen said in an interview he is confident "the votes will be there" when the issue comes before the Senate possibly next month.

Although Dirksen said he knows of two switches among Republicans who came out early against ABM but have had second thoughts, he declined to mention any names or to deal in numbers.

He declined also to name any of those who had switched from

Tax, Budget Dilemma Special Session May Be Necessary

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Gov. John Dempsey said today he hoped the General Assembly could wind up its business by midnight June 4—but if it can't "we will have no choice but to have a special session."

"Any time a special session is needed to complete the business of the state," said the governor, "we'll have one."

He recalled that there had to be a special session in the summer of 1965 when the legislature failed to enact important money bills before the constitutional deadline.

In light of the House Democratic leaders' current consideration of a state income tax, Dempsey was asked whether he would veto an income tax bill if it won the approval of both the House and the Senate.

"I haven't changed my mind on the income tax one bit," said the governor.

When pressed for a yes or no answer, Dempsey only repeated: "My mind is not changed." The governor has been outspokenly opposed to an income tax for some time.

He also was not receptive to Senate Majority Leader Edward Marcus's proposal to impose substantial cuts at the state university and the state colleges.

he intends to "work intensively" on a fiscal program that all can accept.

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Connecticut General Assembly, which is constitutionally slated to adjourn June 4th, still faces its largest issues. One of them, the budget for the next fiscal biennium, may send the legislature into special session.

In February there was one budget package to consider—the one proposed by Gov. John Dempsey that called for raising some $700 million in new revenues by increasing the sales tax from three and one-half per cent to five per cent and by extending the sales tax to many items now exempt.

Because of strong opposition to Dempsey's proposed budget and taxing suggestions, both Republican and Democratic leaders decided to present their own tax packages.

Then on Friday, youthful House Democrats broke away from the party's original proposal and suggested their own tax package, leaving the legislators with four tax packages and only 10 days to decide which to choose.

A First... Space Shave

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Apollo 10 astronauts shaved in space for the first time Sunday. No American astronaut had tried it before.

"We were getting where we could barely stand ourselves there for awhile," Eugene A. Cernan said as his teammates beardless chins appeared on color television from space.

The space agency had spent thousands of dollars trying unsuccessfully to develop a power razor.

Experts had said the storm bristles would float around in the weightlessness of space. No razor ever made it off the ground.

Then a fellow astronaut bought a safety razor in a drug store and gave it to the Apollo 10 men.

So Cernan, Thomas P. Stafford and John W. Young shaved the regular way and had no problems.

"After spending a lot of money on mechanical shavers—which always manage to leave the whiskers flying around the atmosphere—somebody finally came up with the idea of using a razor and brushless shaving cream," Young reported with deadpan seriousness.

"You rub it on and it keeps the whiskers when you shave it off," Young continued. "Put it in a towel and dispose of it and you end up clean shaven."

When they broke out the shaving equipment Sunday, Stafford only hinted at what they were doing, calling it "scientific experiment Sugar Hotel Alpha Victor Echo."

RAY DENIED TRIAL

Paper Boat Skipper Pleased with Start

SAFI, Morocco (AP) — "She is really riding well," Thor Heyerdahl reported as he set out for America Sunday in his papyrus boat.

His 15-ton raft made of interlocking reeds and looking like a bright yellow basket with a wine-red sail, dropped a tow line 12 miles from the North African coast and headed west southwest for the deep-running Canary Islands current.

"She is doing better than I expected," Heyerdahl shouted to a sailboat on which his wife, Yvonne, was a passenger. "She is steering perfectly."

With six companions, Heyerdahl began a voyage he hopes will prove a theory for historians in the same way that his voyage across the Pacific 22 years ago on the raft Kon-Tiki proved that people who settled the Polynesian Islands could have sailed from Peru.

On this journey, Heyerdahl hopes to demonstrate that a boatload of ancient Egyptians could have taken their culture to the New World 5,000 years ago and influenced the pre-Columbian civilization of the Indians of Mexico and Peru.

Many papyrus experts and archeologists doubt the vessel, named the Ra after the Egyptian sun god, will be able to hold up that long. They expect it to become waterlogged and disintegrate.

But the skipper, gray-haired and sharp-eyed at 64, said just before departure: "The boat will float. The problem is how long it will take us to learn to navigate."

If the Ra sinks, there is a life-raft aboard.

The rudderless vessel's steering system, two 30-foot long oars, had never been used by modern men. Heyerdahl said learning to use it might take several days of aimless drifting.

After two days of postponement, the Ra was towed away from her moorings by 15 oarsmen. She listed to starboard, but Heyerdahl said she had been loaded that way to compensate for prevailing winds.

The boat rode high and easily in swells of about three feet. Heyerdahl stood on the steering platform behind the small cabin.

The sail was embossed with an orange sunburst. Flying from the 20-foot mast were a

James Earl Ray Seeks Full Trial, May Take Stand

A witness stand appearance by the 41-year-old prisoner would have interesting possibilities. At the time of his guilty plea, he was represented by a Memphis attorney, Percy Foreman, expressed in court a personal conviction that there was no conspiracy in the April 4, 1968, assassination.

The investigation would be conducted by Congress' watchdog, the General Accounting Office, and results would be turned over to appropriate committees.

Hastings, Rep. Samuel Stratton, D-N.Y., and others list some examples of extra costs or cost overruns.

100 for speechmaking seems likely not to be challenged. But almost any number of Congress, it appears, expects at least $200 for a speech delivered anywhere outside his own constituency. This may be slightly deflationary in that it obscures some of the naive idea that people in public life ought to believe in something strongly enough to be willing to talk about it for nothing. But, on the other hand, it has one encouraging and reassuring aspect. It does, at least, put a ceiling on the commercial value of words and labels, which gives them some status and prestige in our supposedly materialistic civilization.

In The Lemmings Hoop
 There is a new theory about the lemmings, and, although we feel duty bound to mention the advance of scientific knowledge, we think the lemmings loon. They are no longer, under the new theory, creatures who live out their proper cycle and then respond to an uncontrollable urge to march to their deaths by marching headlong into the sea. In fact, when they do happen to tumble themselves into the sea, that is merely because of the peculiar landscape on which they were born. If, as in Norway, it slopes everywhere irresistibly and narrowly down to the sea, then it is to the sea that all lemmings and purposeless lemmings inevitably descend. But where the geography doesn't pressure them, they may, when their time comes, just run around in circles.

What traps the lemmings, according to this newest theory, may be the very things that we usually think of as the things that live where they live in the first place. There is in the lemming hood a substance which acts as a kind of anti-force, which enables them to exist in very cold temperatures. But in the same anti-force which keeps their blood warm during the winter has a tendency to clot in warm summer weather, and the clot usually attacks the lemming's central nervous system, making the lemming seem to go mad. At the end of this disorder, the lemming is going to die, whether or not he happens to run into the sea, or merely run around in circles.

What happens is still, of course, a built-in population control, which keeps the lemmings from increasing at such a rate there would no longer be sufficient food for them all. But what happens to the lemmings is something one finds in the test tube, not in philosophical speculation that their behavior may have been programmed into them by the primitive instincts of their kind. Eventually, one supposes, everything will come down to, and be found in, the test tube. The process will continue to be fascinating, and it has our permission to pace itself. We are not in any emergency hurry to have all the answers.

Speed Laws Face Revision
 A 13-year-old "institution" in Connecticut may be coming to an end. A Thought for Today
 Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

"Praise the Lord, all nations, extol him, all you peoples! For his love is strong, his faithful-ness eternal." (Psalm 117).

For Jews and Christians alike, religion is not simply a personal relationship between an individual and his God. God must be worshiped in the interaction of men with other men. It is the Spirit of God which brings us together, which inspires us to care for and love our brethren.

Lawitt Will Appeal

Seymour Lawitt, owner of the Sealy Plastic Corp. on Union St., said today he will definitely appeal a decision by Superior Court Judge Alva F. Lohse ordering that his plant cease operations.

Lawitt, who is chairman of the Capitol Region Planning Agency, said his attorney, Arnold Anson of Vernon, will apply for a stay and will appeal. The application, expected today, will have the effect of postponing execution of the judge's order until a ruling is made on the appeal.

The court order, issued last week, was the result of a petition brought by Henry Butler of Peter Dugan and the St. Joseph's Church Corp. The property of all three abuts the factory.

The three plaintiffs objected to the noise and the traffic from the trucks and said their property value depreciated with the noise and the traffic from the factory.

Judge Lohse said the decision was based on a technicality of state law the Vernon zoning commission had violated when it amended an ordinance to permit the factory to operate in the industrial zone.

On June 23, 1966 the zoning commission voted to amend the ordinance governing the industrial zone to permit the factory to operate, and a public hearing was held on the amendment July 14, 1966.

According to state law, the zoning commission must vote notice of a proposed zoning change to the Planning Commission for a report 30 days prior to carrying on the change.

Normally, a draft case cannot get into court until Selective Service officials have completed their administrative examination of the registrant's exemption.

But of McCartney's case, Marshall said, "We are not here faced with a preliminary review to the courts." He said McCartney faced three years in prison, if he depended on Selective Service review he could wind up in jail without having any judicial review of an allegedly invalid induction order, Marshall said.

On the question of McCartney's exemption, the court said this was the first time it had to deal with the sole surviving son of a man who died in the service.

Proxmire Proposes New Budget Approach

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., asked today for a new approach to administration and congressional budgeting practices. The new method would save $10 billion a year, he estimated.

"Most of our budget decisions are made by intuition, not by logic, personal preference, instinct and local political pressure," he said.

Congressional administration officials, Proxmire said, should know why each project is necessary, what its objectives are, how much it will cost, and if there is any alternative to the plan.

This information is not known now, Proxmire said in a speech prepared for the Senate.

His proposal is to adopt the control method called Planning Programming Budgeting System (PPBS).

University Repression Cited by Heubright

WASHINGTON (AP) — Unrest and repression in universities are possible, says Heubright, who is a member of the Senate Select Committee on Assassinations.

"There is a rebirth of a kind of repression of the university or outside forces pressing in upon it to control it and I think this is a bad thing to happen," he said.

Heubright spoke on the Maternal television program "The Evans Report."

"I grant you," he said, "if we don't run ourselves, others will move in to run us. I think it is terribly important that we establish at least a kind of consensus within the total university community of what we stand for and what we are willing to get out of."

The Notre Dame president said he believes school authorities ought to be the ones to decide whether outside help is needed in campus when disorders break out.

Nixon Opposed Ceiling On Spending May Pass

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate leadership thinks a $12.5 billion spending ceiling will pass Congress even though it is opposed by the Nixon administration.

Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said the ceiling is not the type he wants, but he assumes it will pass in the Senate.

Senate Republican leader Everett Dirksen of Illinois said the ceiling may be increased, "but it's a popular issue with the country."

"It's difficult to vote against cutting spending at this time and that's how a vote against the limitation would be interpreted," Dirksen said.

Administration officials have said the limit would take away President Nixon's flexibility to meet emergencies.

The limitation was attached by the House to a supplementary money bill passed last week.

Standing Ovation

VIENNA (AP) — Leonard Bernstein got a standing ovation from an audience of 2,000 for his conducting of Beethoven's "Missa Solemnis" to mark the 100th anniversary of the Vienna State Opera.

The performance Sunday by the Vienna Philharmonic and the State Opera choir was attended by President Franz Josefa, Chancellor Josef Klaus and other dignitaries.

Tolland County Politics Houley Sees Income Tax Passing in State House

By BETTE QUATRALE. Tolland County State Senator Robert Houley is once again optimistic about the chances of state income tax passing in the House of Representatives.

He expressed elation over the split by the House of Democratic representatives on the issue of the payroll tax which he strongly opposes.

Although he would much prefer to see the passage of the graduated state income tax proposed by State Rep. Audrey Stock of Mansfield and others, he would opt for passage of the payroll tax.

His hesitation over the payroll tax is based on the fact that it would be "tidied" with the myriad loopholes which exist in the federal income tax structure.

The graduated state income tax had been reported out of committee with unfavorable report, but is still to be based on the four of the House of Representatives.

The Senate Democrats have scheduled a caucus for this afternoon beginning at 2 p.m. to discuss the issue of a payroll tax versus a state income tax.

Bills Passed. Robert S. Smith, chairman of the House of Representatives, has received approval of the house and Senate, according to Houley. The request originally submitted by the two towns, makes the two towns, Rep. Dorothy Miller, State Rep. William O'Neill, and by Houley.

The present location of the signs has had many people to mistake the location of Coventry Center and has been the subject of complaints from both Coventry officials and bus passengers.

The resolution introduced by Mrs. Miller and Houley instructs the commission of highway to rectify the situation. It now stands before the House.

Also competing were the proposed payroll tax, pre-identical primaries and giving the votes to 18-year olds.

The U.S. Envelope Co. which has a plant in Rockyville has written Houley in opposition to the payroll tax. The state man, officers are asking voters to write their legislators opposing the tax, according to Houley.

Joseph Dellommo, cubmaster of Pack 120, was presented the Clifford Sterling Trophy, Marc Begis, chairman of the event, officiated as adding voters to the payroll tax.

After you've paid for it, it starts paying for itself. We didn't want our bug to be a hog. That's why we made it go about 27 miles to a gallon of gas. And why we persuaded it to take points of oil instead of quarts. And why we gave it an air-cooled engine. (Air is free. Antifreeze isn't.) And why we put the engine in the back so you get more push from the rear wheels. (And less pull from tow trucks.)

And that's why at trade-in time if things are still the same as they have been, you can count on getting back more of your initial investment of $1799* than practically every other car owner gets of theirs. Which is only right. After all, why shouldn't the car that's been saving you money while you own it do the same when you sell it?

Friendly Families Plan Soon Begins Fourth Year

The Friendly Families program, run by the Honore Bushnell Congregational Church in Hartford, will soon begin its fourth year.

The program links suburban families with city families. It is "and gets a Hartford child out of the city for a few summer days, according to Mrs. Douglas Roberts of 25 Raymond Rd., the Manchester area representative of the program.

In the first few years of the program, only 30 Hartford children took part. As a sound system was worked out, and the program was expanded, and over 400 children took part last year.

This year, the leaders of the program hope it can become a large scale summer of inter-urbanization between city and suburb, she said.

The main difference to other programs geared to get city children out of the city and into suburban homes for a few summer days is the family contact. The families from both city and suburb work out a plan. Most of the details of the city child's suburban stay, Mrs. Margaret Mary Jennings said.

The Rev. Joseph P. Schick, curate at the Wapping Church, explained why they were so successful. His church members just got together several times to talk about the program's home. "No one wants to go out on a limb all by themselves," he explained.

The Rev. Stephen M. Price, curate at St. Mary's Episcopal Church on Park St., said his church will try the St. Margaret Mary experience this year. "I didn't count on winning," he said.

MIAMI BEACH (AP) — Wendy Dascomb, a 19-year-old blonde who represented Virginia in the contest, Saturday night in Miami Beach from Scotland, where he had been on temporary assignment.

"Wendy is a born winner. I knew I just couldn't miss this," he said.

Miss Dascomb is from New Orleans and represented Virginia because she is a freshman at Stratford College in Danville. Her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Harry Dascomb, were also in the audience with her brother and sister and their families.

Westbrook said he and the 19-year-old beauty have been friends for 15 years. He prepared to return to Washington as she got ready to begin her public appearance treks across the country.

"I didn't count on winning," he said.

Held in Husband's Death

WATERBURY (AP) — A 25-year-old woman was arrested early Sunday and charged by police with the shotgun death of her husband.

Police said Mrs. Jacqueline Young was charged with murder by Waterbury police after an apparent shotgun blast killed her husband, Troy, 33. He was pronounced dead on arrival at St. Mary's Hospital.

His wife was arrested shortly after an ambulance was summoned to the couple's home, said police. She was charged with first-degree murder, but without bond, waiting arraignment today.

Nixon Pleased With Prowess As a Bowler

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has proved to be something of a bowler, and he's just a bit pleased about it.

Standing with Mrs. Nixon after Sunday church services the President told about bowling in a few lines during his stay at Camp David.

"I bowled for the fifth time," he said. "Five strikes and two spares. That's pretty good. I averaged about 120." He also said his right thumb was sore.

Mrs. Nixon bowled, too, for the third time, scoring between 104 and 110. She did not beat her husband, "Dick is quite a good bowler," she said.

Sunday night the President and Mrs. Nixon were in the White House for the sixth anniversary of the Apollo 10 astronauts. "That's the whole thing in a nutshell."

In his remarks, the President said he knew Africa and believed in its future. "The struggle is Africa," he said, "is one in which we are honorably involved."

Terence Cardinal Cooke presided at the White House for the day's interdenominational religious service, the sixth in a series in which we are honorably involved.

Cardinal Cooke chose a sentence from St. Augustine which he said summed up the mystery of divine-human collaboration and cooperation: "I shall work as if everything depended on me; I shall pray as if everything depended on God."

Afterward, the President told reporters: "That's the whole thing in a nutshell."

"We live in one world. We are united even in our weaknesses; in sickness, suffering, death; in the social ills that plague us all. There can be no real and lasting progress toward the development of all humanity in a true spirit of solidarity." Cardinal Cooke said.

About 80 per cent of the people in India are Hindus.

Ever have a visit from a VIP? It's enough to make any host a little edgy.

Several VIP's may be visiting you this year, any time from June to November. Anna, Blanche, Camille, Debbie, Eve, Francelia, Gerda, Holly, to mention a few.

The hurricanes of 1969. A Weather Bureau watch will tell you they may be coming; a warning will tell you they're on their way.

How to treat them? Like any other VIP, only more so. Be attentive to their demands. Defer to their tantrums.

Specifically, store plenty of drinking water and non-perishable food. Check your battery-powered equipment. Move outdoor things inside. Protect your windows with board, shutters, or tape.

Evacuate low-lying areas early. Along the coast, storm surge may drive the sea onto the land. Elsewhere, heavy rains may cause severe flooding.

When the hurricane strikes, stay inside, even during the calm of the eye. Hurricanes can breed sudden, lethal tornadoes. Stay tuned to Weather Bureau bulletins until the storm has passed. Afterward, avoid fallen wires and debris.

And cheer up. The VIP's won't stay long. The important thing is to be alive after they go.
