U.S. Changes Its Policy Re Latin Nations

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has scrapped the ambitious goal of the Alliance for Progress in favor of a policy that will lower substantially the United States profile in Latin America.

Issuing his long-awaited Latin American policy statement Friday night, Nixon said the future United States role in the inter-American alliance will be that of a partner rather than a leader. "What I hope we can achieve is a more mature partnership in which all voices are heard and none is predominant—a partnership guided by a wealthy awareness that give-and-take is better than take-it-or-leave-it," he said.

Nixon used as his forum for the address a dinner gathering of the Inter-American Press Association, which wound up its week-long annual meeting here. The speech was beamed live by satellite to 11 Latin American nations.

Nixon indicated his new policy would treat all Latin governments—democracies and dictatorships alike—as equals. "We must deal realistically with governments in the inter-American system as they are," he said.

The remark was viewed as an admission that past United States efforts in favor of its diplomatic and economic influence to encourage representative democracy have not worked. Well over half of all Latin Americans now live under military dictatorships.

While offering "no grandiose promises and no panaceas," Nixon did propose changes in two areas which have been the subject of frequent Latin complaints—U.S. trade and aid policies.

He promised to lead a "vigorous effort" to reduce non-tariff barriers to trade maintained by nearly all industrialized nations and to support the establishment, within the inter-American system, of regular procedures for advance consultation on all trade matters.

He said U.S. loan dollars could now be used for purchases in Latin America as well as the United States. Under previous policy, virtually all loans were

GE Strike Suits Filed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Both sides initiated legal moves Friday in the nationwide strike that has crippled production in most General Electric Co. plants, but no progress toward a settlement was reported.

The United Electrical Workers, representing 16,000 of the striking employees, said it filed a new unfair labor practice charge against GE with the National Labor Relations board, charging the company was "illegally terminating" its contract.

GE obtained a show cause order in New York State Supreme Court directing the International Union of Electrical and Atomic Energy Workers to appear Wednesday on the company's contention that the American Federation of Labor was blocking legitimate entrance to the Schenectady, N.Y., plant, largest in the GE system. An order obtained earlier directs legal authorities to show why they should not open the picket lines.

Walter Reuther, president of the powerful United Auto Workers, lent the weight of his presence to a picket line near Cincinnati Friday, backing up his earlier statement that the entire labor movement should get behind the strike.

Meanwhile it was estimated production was halted or crippled at 80 per cent of GE's 280 plants in 33 states. However, the company said all the plants were open.

The 13 unions involved claim to represent 147,000 of GE's 310,000 workers. They said about 132,000 were on strike, while the company puts the figure at 128,000.

Pentagon sources said it was too early to assess the effect of the strike on GE's defense production, which represents one-fifth of the company's $8 billion annual total.

A company spokesman said more non-production workers were on the job across the country because court orders had stopped mass picketing. More than 2,000 members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists joined the strike Friday in Utica, N.Y. The company filed suit in Chicago for $750,000 damages against the AFL-CIO International Association of Sheet Metal Workers, charging the union

Three Dead, Two Injured In Turnpike Auto Accident

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — Three persons are dead and two others were seriously injured in a spectacular one-car accident here on the Connecticut Turnpike early this morning.

State Police say the automobile apparently went out of control in the eastbound lane and skidded 387 feet. The car then mounted the guard rail and struck it for 187 feet snapping off the two right poles, police said. The vehicle finally smashed into a Frontage Road bridge abutment, police said, splitting the car in half. According to officials, half the automobile tumbled onto the bridge and the other half, which contained the five passengers, plummeted over the bridge down an embankment.

Two men were dead on arrival at St. Raphael and Yale New Haven Hospital in New Haven shortly after the 12:30 a.m. accident. A woman died after reaching St. Raphael Hospital officials said.

Police identified the victims as Jarvis Andrews, 27, who was taken to Yale New Haven Hospital, Lavernon Daniels, 21, who was removed to St. Raphael Hospital and 22-year-old Judy Brown who was also taken to St. Raphael Hospital. According to officials, all three were from New Haven.

Two others were listed in serious condition. They are identified as Milton Andrews, 21, address unknown, who was taken to St. Raphael Hospital and Bosco Little, Jr., 25, who was taken to Yale New Haven Hospital.

Take-Home $ Up If Bill Is Passed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The take-home pay of America's 70 million individual taxpayers will take four jumps upward by 1972 under the latest version of the mammoth tax reform bill.

The Senate Finance Committee, ending two months of hearings and closed discussions, voted Friday to report the broadest tax code revision in the nation's history.

If its suggestions for cuts up and down the entire spectrum of income tax rates get past the Senate, a conference committee with the House and President Nixon, they will begin a series of tax cuts that could be worth several hundred dollars a year to millions of taxpayers.

The first will come Jan. 1, 1971, when the first stage of relief is widely accepted, strong effort to change the way it is given are certain to be made when the bill reaches the full Senate. But if the entire body accepts the committee plan, provisions are virtually certain to be retained intact in the final bill sent to Nixon.

The 1964 measure, with its $11.5 billion tax cut is the only one ever to carry greater relief than the 1968 legislation.

Congressional experts agreed its reform provisions amounted to the broadest tax code revision ever.

Although the principle of tax relief is widely accepted, strong effort to change the way it is given are certain to be made when the bill reaches the full Senate. But if the entire body accepts the committee plan, provisions are virtually certain to be retained intact in the final bill sent to Nixon.

The reason is that the panel adopted almost without change the House approach to relief and thus there would be little to settle in conference.

The relief includes $4.5 billion from a cut of at least 1 percent point in all tax rates, a new $1,100 low-income allowance to aid 12 million poverty-level families which will cost $2.65 billion, a $1.4 billion boost in the minimum standard deduction and a $450 million cut in taxes for single persons.

The Senate bill would mean these reductions for a man and wife with two dependents: $3,500 annual income, present $70 tax wiped out; $5,000 income, present $290 tax cut to $200; $12,000 income, present $1,567 tax cut to $1,347; $25,000 income, present $4,412 tax cut to $4,170.

For single persons, a new rate schedule would bring these cuts: $3,000 income, present $329 tax cut to $180; $7,500 income, present $1,188 tax cut to $1,008; $15,000 income, present $3,154 tax cut to $2,602.

The relief would not be fully effective until 1972.

Hijacker Captured in Rome After 6,900-Mile Flight

While Raphael Minichiello, the accused hijacker, shows merry tone at Rome police headquarters, TWA Steward Tracey Coleman is more subdued during interview at Rome's airport. (AP Photofax).

He Was Polite - BUT...

ROME (AP) — Crew members of the Trans World Airlines plane hijacked from California to Rome today described their armed hijacker as a gentlemanly young man who, one said, "just wanted to kill somebody or be killed."

"He seemed to have strong suicidal tendencies," said Capt. Donald Cook of New York. "He apparently wanted to come back here and fight somebody and die here."

The hijacker was identified as Raphael Minichiello, 20, an Italian-born naturalized American. "We talked about playing cards and what he was going to do after he got to Rome," said hostess Tracy Coleman of Cincinnati, Ohio. "He wanted some one to come out, an official, and kill him up so he could kill them, or else be killed."

"He didn't say who it was. He mentioned no individual at all. He didn't care who it would be. He just wanted to kill somebody or be killed," Miss Coleman said.

When the hijacked plane landed at Rome airport, the cabin-armed Minichiello demanded that the chief of police come aboard with his hands up.

"Apparently he wanted the police chief only as a matter of security—so he could get away from the airport," said First Officer Billy Williams, of Amityville, N.Y.

"He wanted to get away into the woods until someone came after him," Capt. Cook said.

"And he thought that the best way to do this was to get the chief of police to come out to the airplane unarmed and to take him as hostage."

The youthful hijacker was not drunk, Miss Coleman said. "He mixed gin and Canadian Club. He only had two miniatures."

"How did he act aboard the plane?" "Well, he was a pretty gentlemanly young man—except for his initial entry into the cockpit and for a short time at Kennedy Airport," Cook said.

"His behavior was extremely erratic. Sometimes he exhibited pretty good planning ability and other times his behavior was quite irrational."

"What do you mean irrational?" a newspaper asked.

Cook replied: "When you point a gun at an airline crew, that's pretty irrational to start with. And then discharging a bullet-loaded carbine in the plane."

Cook said the bullet which Minichiello fired during the stop at Kennedy hit the cabin ceiling but did not puncture the skin of the plane.

"At Denver the young man was pretty calm, and we convinced him there was no point in carrying the passengers with us, so while we were refueling for New York he allowed us to unload the passengers who were originally destined for San Francisco, and the baggage also," Cook added.

But at New York it was different. "When he landed at Kennedy he felt there were too many people around the outside of the plane and he started to get very, very upset. He threatened to shoot us," Cook said.

"No," Cook replied. "He claimed he had been cheated by the Marines out of some of his pay and that in order to get even with them he robbed the PX and was caught and court-martialed and didn't want to go to jail."

"He said he had been in Vietnam about 18 months."

"Did he express any opinion about the Vietnam situation?" Cook was asked.

"No," the captain replied. "We didn't talk politics."

"Were you prepared for possible hijackings?" the crew members were asked.

"Well, as much as you can be prepared for it," Williams said. "There is no training for it. There are very little instructions. It's mainly a matter of common sense and judgment to do what is required at the time."

Cook put it: "You don't argue with a man with a gun."

Describing the start of the hijacking, Cook said: "About 15 minutes after we took off from Los Angeles, the cockpit door was opened by a key and a young man entered holding a cut-down version of a military carbine pointed at one of the hostesses."

"He told us he wanted to go to New York. We advised him we didn't have enough fuel. At the very beginning he was quite nervous and insisted that he knew the range of the airplane was enough to go to New York. We finally convinced him and decided on Denver."

How did they convince him to let the passengers go? "Well, the point was that if he

Father's Hope: To See His Son

ACQUAFREDDA DI MELITO IRPINO, Italy (AP) — The father of Raphael Minichiello, the man identified by police as the hijacker who commandeered a Trans World Airlines jet from California to Rome, is 60 and ill. Neighbors say he used to tell everyone how much he missed his son.

Luigi Antonio Minichiello lives in a poor country house in this hamlet among the mountains inland of Naples, one of Italy's most backward areas. His friends call him Antonio O' Mericano, Anthony the American. He returned home from the United States several years ago.

He didn't marry until he was 50, and his wife, Maria Giuseppa Cerullo, was 27 at the time. Raphael, 20, is the elder of two children. The other, Anna, is 18.

The family of four emigrated together to America. The father returned here when he became seriously ill, but the other three stayed on in Seattle. The father has been in poor health most of the time since he returned.

Minichiello, a lance corporal, was listed as AWOL from the Marine Corps Thursday when he failed to appear to face charges at a general court-martial in Camp Pendleton, Calif. The FBI reported he had been accused of breaking and entering a post exchange at Camp Pendleton.

Crew members aboard the Trans World Airlines Flight 80 described the hijacker as a gentlemanly madman.

"He seemed to have strong suicidal tendencies," said Capt. Donald Cook of New York. "He apparently wanted to come back here and fight somebody and die here."

Schools Hit By Three-Day Violent Wave

CHICAGO (AP) — More than 200 youngsters were arrested, teachers were beaten and all tendence dropped drastically during three days of violence in schools on the South and West sides of Chicago.

Thirty-five youths were arrested Friday around Gage Park High School on the South side after noon recess brought fights in the surrounding area between black and white pupils.

Four young persons were arrested when clashes erupted after a football game between Kelly and Harper high schools on the University of Chicago's Stagg Field.

Police said that disturbance apparently was not caused by racial antagonisms, but rather by the intense football rivalry between the two schools.

They blamed the high absenteeism on a rumor that the school would be closed because of the earlier disturbances.

At Farragut High School, violence blamed by police on a gang rivalry led to the arrest Thursday of 40 persons. School officials said police continued to patrol the halls at Farragut Friday and broke up several scuffles against overwhining Democratic voters.

Those Republican races by Hartford Mayor Ann Uccello and Waterbury Mayor George P. Harrison may be aided however, by the presence of two independent candidates in each city—pulling votes which might have gone to the Democrats.

The number of communities holding elections in November increased sharply this year when 133 smaller communities switched over from October elections of years past.

ROME (AP) — The youthful gunman who carried out the world's longest air hijacking—from California to Rome—was captured in a little country chapel today, nearly five hours after the hijacked jetliner landed in Rome.

Rome police identified their captive as Raphael Minichiello, who was charged by federal authorities in New York with air piracy, kidnaping and interference with commercial aircraft.

The hijacker had flown 6,900 miles in a five-stage journey across the United States, the Atlantic Ocean and Western Europe.

He was found this morning in the Sanctuary of Divine Love near the Appian Way, about six miles outside Rome, just as 600 policemen were about to give up their manhunt.

At Rome police headquarters, Minichiello was questioned for about 45 minutes by detectives. He emerged looking calm, his hands no longer manacled.

He cursed at a photographer he considered too close to him. Chief of detectives Salvatore Palmieri said later the motivation for the hijacking "was not very clear."

After a meeting with Rome Police Chief Giuseppe Parlati, Minichiello was brought before reporters. He smiled and said, "Aw, go home."

"Why'd you do it?" a newspaper asked. "Why did I do it? I don't know."

Police said they would continue questioning the youth.

A priest at the sanctuary said he signaled the hijacker's presence to police after noticing a young man acting suspiciously during the morning Mass on this Roman Catholic holiday of All Saints Day.

The priest, Don Pasquale Billia, vice rector of the sanctuary, said the hijacker stood out in the crowd of 2,000 because he was wearing checkered Bermuda shorts.

Don Billia said the man looked absent-minded and weary. He said he followed him outside and into a new chapel next door and then called police.

"Hey palson (countryman)," the youth was quoted as saying, "why are you arresting me?"

The FBI reported he had been accused of breaking and entering a post exchange at Camp Pendleton.

Election Issues In 156 Cities

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP) — While voters are deciding issues and electing local personalities Tuesday in 156 Connecticut municipalities, political observers will be measuring the trends chalked up by political parties.

Republicans now hold political control in two-thirds of the cities and towns, but most of the major cities have Democratic Mayors and Democratic control of city councils or Boards of Aldermen.

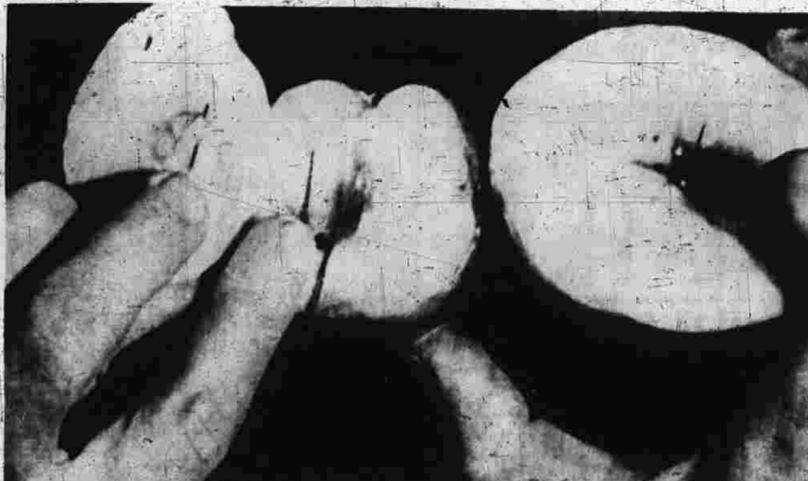

Hartford and Waterbury are among the biggest cities where Republicans in the mayors' chairs face difficult battles against overwhelming Democratic numbers of registered voters.

Those Republican races by Hartford Mayor Ann Uccello and Waterbury Mayor George P. Harrison may be aided however, by the presence of two independent candidates in each city—pulling votes which might have gone to the Democrats.

The number of communities holding elections in November increased sharply this year when 133 smaller communities switched over from October elections of years past.

Baptism long has been considered a sacred and unquestioned. Yet, biblically speaking, various teachings and practices in Christendom are highly suspect.
For example, some believe upon baptism, sacramental value, but in reality, it is merely a symbol of the death, burial and resurrection of Jesus. Rom. 6:4. He died to sin, buried the "old man" and raised in a new resurrection—thus to live a new life.
Unless the subject compre-hends this significance, the mere form of being baptized is valueless. Jesus predicted baptism upon being taught and believing in Christ. Mat.
28:19. Mark 16:16. He made repentance a condition of baptism. Acts 2:38. The Barnabians were baptized
when they were baptized
by Philip and they believed.
Acts 8:12.
Therefore, any tangible administration of baptism, such as to infants, is based solely upon human tradition. Those receiving such have yet to receive remission of sins, for which Christian baptism is a condition. Acts 2:38.

Top Tomatoes Replacing the Top Bananas

By DOCK KLEINER
HOLLYWOOD — (NEA) — In the old days of comedy, in the days of burlesque and vaudeville and then radio and movies, they called the leading comic the top banana. That was pretty much a man's world. Today, things are changing. On television, comedy belongs more to the women than to the men. Call them The Top Tomatoes. They've just about taken over. Lucille Ball. Carol Burnett. Sally Field. Elizabeth Montgomery. Barbara Eden. Irene Ryan. Hope Lange. Marlo Thomas. Dianam Carroll. Doris Day. Debbie Reynolds. Look at the schedule. The three networks have 30 shows that are alleged comedies. Twelve of those have female stars. Ten others have girls in major roles. That's 21 out of 30 that rely largely on ladies for laughs.

Think back to the old days. (Or get your granny to reminisce, at you.) Radio. Who was funny? Mostly men. Now and then there was a Gracie Allen, a Judy Canova, a Gertrude Berg.

Think even backer. Vaudeville. Fanny Brice, Mae West and a couple of thousand males.

Movies. There were a few, over the decades. Marie Dressler. Zasu Pitts. Judy Holiday. Did you ever hear of the Marx Sisters?

But, in television's brief life span, it has spawned more comedienne, more Top Tomatoes, than vaudeville, radio and movie combined in a century of funny business.

From Imogene Coca to Goldie Hawn, television has become more and more a girls' playground. The dozens of men who started out with comedy shows have vanished. Milton Berle, Sid Caesar, Red Buttons, Groucho Marx, Jimmy Durante — there's nobody left of the old guard but Red Shelton.

And very few new males have come along. Bill Cosby. Rowan and Martin (but much of the fun on Laugh-In comes from the girls). Andy Griffith. Don Knotts. Don Adams. Bob Denver. A sprinkling.

On the other hand, there is a flood of females. They've even taken over the titles. I Dream of Jeannie. Julia. The Flying Nun. (Would the Flying Father be as funny?) Petticoat Junction. (Try T-Shirt Junction and see who laughs). Here's Lucy. What's it all about?

Why has the tube gone so ga-ga for girl comedies?

And situation comedies seem, somehow, to be a feminine form. There are exceptions, of course, but the public seems to be embarrassed when confronted with a foolish father. We've been that route and, thankfully, outgrown it.

It's harder, now, to create a male figure that generates laughs. But it seems to be relatively simple to manufacture a "Hew Haw" is back in production, certain of a CBS spot around New Year's, probably the current "Leslie Uggams Show" time period. Johnny Cash and his crew start making new shows for ABC in the next 10 days. Programming executives of all three networks are in conference about cancellations and replacements. Among programs likely to disappear at midseason is CBS' "The Good Guys." ABC is unhappy about the reception of "Music Scene," "The New People" and "Mr. Deeds Goes to Town." It is unhappy about more than that, but there is a limit to how much repair work can be done. It is in the wings of the "Pat Paulsen Show" and Engelbert Humperdinck variety hour and a situation comedy called "Nanny," about a governess. It will finish out the season with "The Survivors" no matter what the ratings, and will stick by "It Takes a Thief," "Here Come the Brides" and "The Ghost and Mrs. Muir," all of which are languishing. NBC is not enchanted with the reception of "The Debbie Reynolds Show" or "Bracken's World." "I Dream of Jeannie" is on the weak side, too. But since there are often contracts and commitments, it is expected that, if anything goes, it is likely to be "Bracken's World."

woman who gets into trouble. That's laughable, acceptable. Our psyches can stomach a silly girl.

Whatever the explanation, the result is clear. Television comedy is fast becoming a girl's province. The Top Tomatoes are taking over.

Lucille Ball thinks it's a good thing.

"Our shows," she says, "are ones in a desert of violence and filth and decadence and unhappy people. The public needs—really needs—two or three Debbie's and Dorises and me."

Many theories are advanced. One is that the TV screen, small as it is compared to a movie screen or a stage, demands that everything on it be less broad. A comedienne ordinarily features humor that is more de-

Partial proof of this thesis is that some famous girls didn't make it on television—girls like Martha Raye and Judy Canova, whose humor is big and flashy, almost masculine in its punch.

Instead, we've always had successes from girls who are very feminine. Nobody could mistake Barbara Eden for a man. Even in television's good old days, there was Marie Wilson. Nothing masculine about her.

Another theory. A majority of television humor comes now in the form of a situation comedy. The one-liner is a joke of the past. If it hasn't got a family today, forget it.

Televisionese: A Viewer's Guide

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Televisionese, like most slang and jargon changes with time and usage. It is a combination of show business terminology, press agency, evasion and, often, accepted by those with good ratings and scoffed at by those who have received bad news.

Here are what some common TV words and phrases mean this season:

Star—Any actor with a regular role in a TV series—including an assortment of almost-human animals.

Superstar—Any performers whose name is also the name of his show, i.e., "The Andy Williams Show," "The Jackie Gleason Show," and, of course, "Lassie."

And also starring... Regular featured performer in a series.

Guest star—Performer of some stature in a one-shot appearance.

Special guest star—Performer of some stature whose agent who has held out for better billing.

Rare television appearance—Guest appearance by a performer who has not appeared on the network for two or three months.

Hit show—Any series that most often receives a higher Nielsen rating than rival programs in the time period.

Smash hit—Any program routinely among Nielsen's top

10. Nielsen rating—A statistical projection of the size of television audiences made by a research company on program choices of about 1,200 homes throughout the nation, devoutly accepted by those with good ratings and scoffed at by those who have received bad news.

Second season—A January period when each network attempts to repair, by replacement and reshuffling, weak spots in its schedule.

Action series—Westerns, cops private eyes, spies and soldiers, lots of physical stuff but, of course, no real violence.

Meaningful drama—Any program about grubby people in trouble which has a sad ending.

Public service program—A cultural or news show that attracts little sponsor interest, receives bad-Nielsen ratings but—usually—good critical notices.

Controversial—Any subject which has conflicting points of view and its TV treatment results in a flurry of complaints, especially in Washington.
