Vernon Probate Election Awaits Approval By Gov. Dempsey

A writ of special election to elect a Judge of Probate for the Ellington District is awaiting the signature of Gov. Dempsey.

The Ellington District includes Vernon. The election for the judge of probate is the only one called by the Governor. Anthony Sadlak, who was serving his second year of his four-year term, died last month. His son, also named Anthony Sadlak, is a Republican, defeated Democrat Atty. Leo B. Flaherty.

After the governor signs the writ for the special election, at least 91 days have to lapse before it can be held. Flaherty, who is Democratic town chairman, has expressed the feeling that he would be willing to contest with a temporary judge until the state election in November of 1970. Presently Robert K. Myhrver of the Tolland-Willington District is acting judge.

Flaherty said he feels a special election would not only be expensive but he also expressed concern that it would only bring out a small vote, his intention to run for the office.

Probate courts are the oldest of the courts in Connecticut. Originally they were county-wide in jurisdiction but, beginning in 1719, probate districts, smaller than a county, were organized. These courts exercise original jurisdiction and have a variety of powers over both personal and property rights.

Since 1850 the Connecticut Constitution has provided for the popular election of probate judges. These are the only judicial officials in the state who are chosen in this manner. Probate judges are elected by the voters of their particular district. They are paid on a fee basis, with the fees they may charge for the various duties they perform and actions they undertake carefully specified by law.

The probate court for the Ellington District was constituted in 1826. At that time, Ellington was a larger town than Vernon.

The laws have been criticized as a barrier to competition. "The practical effect... is to permit a foreign manufacturer indirectly to enter the field of U.S. goods... which might undercut a higher price charged abroad," said Chicago Law School Prof. Kenneth W. Dam in a law journal article.

A one-ounce bottle of Chanel

A 35mm German Leica camera

In 1964, the Justice Department

The Justice Department won

Canadians Rally For Biafran Aid

OTTAWA (AP) — Canadians staged rallies, fasts and teach-ins Thursday in a nationwide campaign to urge that government do something about the starvation and suffering caused by the Nigeria-Biafra civil war.

Volunteers collected donations for relief organs and circulated petitions urging an arms embargo and strong diplomatic initiatives to promote a ceasefire between Nigeria and the breakaway state of Biafra.

Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau said during a day-long debate on Biafra in the House of Commons that neither Canada nor any other non-African country should interfere in the war.

But Andrew Brewin, National Democratic party member from Ontario, said he would support a motion asking the government to support relief efforts, called the Biafran Relief Act.

Teach-ins, rallies and special church services were held in several Ontario cities, including Windsor, Kitchener, St. Catharines and Peterborough, where nearly 600 persons marched with placards and lighted candles.

A candlelight procession by about 800 persons highlighted Biafra Day observances in Halifax, where a petition against the war was handed to Mayor Allan O'Brien to be forwarded to Trudeau.

No Power—Cooks Steam
LEBANON (AP) — Electric power for about 7,000 customers was interrupted for up to an hour Thanksgiving Day after a tree limb fell across a 22,000 volt line in Lebanon.

Connecticut Light & Power Co. said the power failure occurred at 9:40 a.m. and electricity was restored in 30 minutes to one hour. Affected towns were Lebanon, Colchester, Salem, Columbia, Hebron, Coventry and Montville.

State Police at the Colchester barracks reported getting dozens of irate calls from homeowners who said the power loss delayed the cooking of their Thanksgiving turkeys.

Extortionists Lose Out
NEW YORK (AP) — Three Connecticut men convicted of extortion in trash collection operations in Connecticut have lost their appeals.

Turned down Wednesday by the U.S. Court of Appeals, 2nd Circuit, were Ralph "Willy" Tripiano, 58, of East Haven; William F. Grasso, 41, of New Haven; and Lawrence R. Fellegino, 35, of Bridgeport.

Six weeks ago Tripiano also lost an appeal to the Connecticut Supreme Court of his conviction for conspiracy to bribe a policeman.

Indians Mark Holiday On Alcatraz

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Indians in feathered headdresses danced and smoked peace pipes as they marked Thanksgiving on Alcatraz Island.

The setting was tranquil, in contrast to days past when Al Capone and other arch criminals were imprisoned on "The Rock."

Just before lining up for a buffet-style meal, an Indian read a "Thanksgiving Song" which said: "Tall Blackhawk stands with Sitting Bull. Wise Tecumseh speaks with Great Cochise. And all the tribes in all the lands send up the song for victory and peace."

The Indians were joined in the traditional turkey feast by a few palefaces—their attorney and Secretary of the Interior William P. Rogers.

The caretaker General Services Administration has urged the Indians to vacate because of inadequate health and sanitation facilities.

Security remained tight. "We have to keep the tourists off the island. They demand the Indians to vacate because of inadequate health and sanitation facilities."

CHICAGO—Demand for water in the United States today is inadequate to meet the needs of about 24 billion gallons a day, or 9 trillion gallons a year. By 1980 the demand is expected to reach 34 billion gallons a day.

Sage of Baltimore Is City's Favorite Son

By ROBIN FRAMES
Associated Press Writer
BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — H. L. Mencken, the late Sage of Baltimore, has been out of the literary limelight for nearly 25 years, but his memory lives on in his old home town.

Cart Bode's new biography, "Mencken," has sparked fresh interest here in the journalist, philosopher, whose vitriolic pen skewered many a sacred cow in the 1920s and 1930s during which he was one of the nation's most famous editors, authors and critics.

Movie Folk Bid Farewell To Jack Warner, His Era

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — You couldn't call it a love feast, because Jack Warner wasn't the kind of boss who inspired love. Indeed, none of the men who built movie empires were considered lovable.

But they are out of respect—and a sense of history. The respect was expressed when the crowd lit up with great moments of film: Al Jolson in the first sound movie... Paul Muni as Zola... Humphrey Bogart asking Dorothy Wilson to "Play it again, Sam"...

Jack Warner was potentate of Warner Brothers studio when all those achievements were filmed. And so a thousand industry leaders went to the studio last week to give him honor.

They also seemed to be bidding farewell to an era of Hollywood greatness now closed with absolute finality. Warner was the last of the industry pioneers to sell out. He had owned the studio to seven Arts, which in turn sold it to the present owners, Kinney National Services.

The new studio boss for Kinney, former agent Ted Ashley, gave the glittering farewell to Warner.

Frank Sinatra was once. He said, the dinner was in honor of a man who has done a great deal for what is left of the motion picture industry.

Jack Valenti, as president of the Motion Picture Producers Association, recalled his tussle with Warner over the saty language in "Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?"

"How I have longed for sweet, delicate 'Virginia'—longed for her after 'Nanny Hill'... One-time Warner gangster Edward G. Robinson called himself "the only 5-foot survivor of the days when he, Bogart, Fynn and Muni 'used to sit around exchanging X-rated anecdotes about our commander-in-chief.'"

She had known years of battle with Warner, but she commented: "Dorothy Parker once remarked that the thing most responsible for the good old days was a poor memory. I disagree."

This Minister Buses Flock To Services

HAMMOND, Ind. (AP) — Each Sunday the Rev. Charles E. Hand watches his fleet of 108 buses deposit up to 2,500 worshippers at the doors of Hammond's First Baptist church.

The operation collects churchgoers over 75 routes, employs a full-time fleet manager, has an annual budget of more than $80,000 and has contributed to huge gains in congregational growth.

The minister is full-time bus director for the church, which has increased its holdings of used school buses from six in 1961 to 108.

During the same period the church's congregation, including Sunday school, has rocketed from about 700 to well over 5,000.

"I believe the buses are an instrument of a growing church, not necessarily the way of achieving it," the Rev. Mr. Hand said.

As expected, Warner made one of his disjuncted, leading speeches which have been the bane of his friends and enemies.

"Jack would rather have a hat joke than make a good picture," Jack Benny once said.

Though he has bowed out as a studio executive, Warner at 77, is not quitting the business. He has set up offices in Century City, and expects to go on making pictures.

Stuck With A 10-Minute Chair? NEW YORK (AP) — Do you squirm around after a few minutes in that reception room chair? Does your lower back ache around 3 p.m.? Do you find yourself itching to get up and walk around during that two-hour business conference?

If so, maybe you've been stuck with a chair that's on the rickety end of the comfort factor scale.

According to a leading manufacturer of wood office furniture, too many offices have uncomfortable and unhealthy seating. Dietzphen's Marble Imperial division, which has built more than 41 million chairs, says office chairs are designed with specific comfort factors—ranging from minutes to hours.

For example, the firm says conference room chairs should be sufficiently upholstered to provide a minimum of three hours of comfort, while reception chairs require no more than 30 minutes of comfort. The executive, who averages 1,200 hours a year sitting at a desk, needs eight hours worth, and the chair should provide the good posture control, to reduce back fatigue.

The operation collects churchgoers over 75 routes, employs a full-time fleet manager, has an annual budget of more than $80,000 and has contributed to huge gains in congregational growth.

The minister is full-time bus director for the church, which has increased its holdings of used school buses from six in 1961 to 108.

During the same period the church's congregation, including Sunday school, has rocketed from about 700 to well over 5,000.

"I believe the buses are an instrument of a growing church, not necessarily the way of achieving it," the Rev. Mr. Hand said.

As expected, Warner made one of his disjuncted, leading speeches which have been the bane of his friends and enemies.

"Jack would rather have a hat joke than make a good picture," Jack Benny once said.

Though he has bowed out as a studio executive, Warner at 77, is not quitting the business. He has set up offices in Century City, and expects to go on making pictures.

Stuck With A 10-Minute Chair? NEW YORK (AP) — Do you squirm around after a few minutes in that reception room chair? Does your lower back ache around 3 p.m.? Do you find yourself itching to get up and walk around during that two-hour business conference?

If so, maybe you've been stuck with a chair that's on the rickety end of the comfort factor scale.

According to a leading manufacturer of wood office furniture, too many offices have uncomfortable and unhealthy seating. Dietzphen's Marble Imperial division, which has built more than 41 million chairs, says office chairs are designed with specific comfort factors—ranging from minutes to hours.

For example, the firm says conference room chairs should be sufficiently upholstered to provide a minimum of three hours of comfort, while reception chairs require no more than 30 minutes of comfort. The executive, who averages 1,200 hours a year sitting at a desk, needs eight hours worth, and the chair should provide the good posture control, to reduce back fatigue.

There's No Credibility Gap On Education Exhibit Tour

MOBOW (AP) — Russian-speaking Americans have turned a potentially dull U.S. education exhibit into one of Moscow's liveliest outings.

"We get off the subject very fast here," says Irene Murray, an attractive guide from Gaitanari, U.S.S.R.

Jeers, Cheers Greet the New Miss World

LONDON (AP) — Thousands cheered the new Miss World, a blonde model from Vienna, but women demonstrators demanding "liberation" of their sex lives booed her.

"It is true that most young people take dope in America," said Albert Hall police to keep order among the protesters as 20-year-old Eva Ruber-Staler accepted the title and said: "The first thing I want is my boy."

"Being Miss World isn't going to make any difference to my life," she answered. The date is "sometime next year and we hope to have two or three children."

Miss Ruber-Staler, who measures 56-23-36 won over 45 other contestants. She will receive $5,000 in prize money and $7,000 in personal appearance fees.

Miss United States, Gail Renshaw, 22, of Arlington, Va., came second and picked up a $1,200 prize, which she plans to use to pay off the mortgage on her parents' home.

The Russian drift from one booth to another, sometimes comparing the answers of the various guides and noting that the guides' opinions differ widely.

Lyndia Stopenkoff of the San Francisco office of the guides, shocked about 50 Russians in her booth one day this week when a visitor asked her what she thought about the space race.

"I'm against all communists and all astronauts," she replied bluntly. "They cost too much money."

But she got her best reaction when a woman asked her exactly when American education began to develop the machines in use now on display in Moscow.

"When you launched your first Sputnik," she said. The smile of satisfaction from the crowd was almost audible.

Exhibit director Tom Craig of Seattle said in an interview he believes the guides should express their personal opinions freely "for the sake of credibility."

"If they're all delivering the same line," he said, "it wouldn't go over."

Craig estimates that the exhibit will have been seen by 300,000 persons—one in every 200 Soviet citizens—when it closes in 15 days.

No Mourners At Last Rites For Sin City

HONOLULU (AP) — One third of the 45,000 people who spilled drinks, let the visitor know he has found Honolulu.

But a quick look, because Hotel Street as it has been known to a million servicemen is in the final throes of an un-mourned death.

The string of loud and gaudy honky-tonks, curio shops, tattoo parlors, arcades and fast-dance halls is being bulldozed away.

Urban renewal projects are edging in from the east. The glass-front business high-rise of downtown Honolulu are crowding in from the west.

Once loud and lusty, the famed sin city district of Chinatown has dwindled to five blocks.

Being Sin City, whose money was the street's life blood for three decades, pause there only long enough to catch the bus for Waikiki. That's where the action is to.

A final death blow could come soon. City officials, mapping a new street through the area, are eyeing Hotel Street as the best route for traffic.

"Sure it's dying. It may not even last another year," says Tad Matusoka, whose family owns and operates a strip-tease bar called the club Hubba Hubba.

"I'm losing money even though I have a floor show and draw a local crowd," he said. Matusoka has bought a nightclub in Waikiki tourist area. He says business there is picking up while his Hotel Street club plays to a handful of patrons.

"During the war years this place used to go all day long with both sides of the street jammed with sailors and soldiers," says Eddie Matusoka, owner of a nearby liquor store.

"I'm getting by because I have local customers. It's the bars that are feeling it. The nightlife has changed drastically since the days that the war in the Pacific a quarter of a century ago.

The country-western music and rock has replaced by rock and soul.

Where clubs used to feature hula dancers and female singers, the dancing and singing is being done by female impersonators.

Two Brothers Sentenced In Area Breaks

Two brothers received reformatory sentences Tuesday on charges of breaking and entering a Tolland County Superior Court on charges from both Tolland and Windham counties.

Glenn E. Argrove, 36, of Dobbson Rd., Vernon, was sentenced to two years in the Connecticut State Reformatory for breaking and entering a dwelling in the daytime and larceny.

Another of the youths at legally involved in the station robbery was William K. Hamilton, 20, of 118 Center St., Manchester. He was found to be drug dependent after an examination ordered by the court last month.

He received indefinite sentences to the reformatory for possession of narcotics and two years for possession of a dangerous weapon and for each of two charges of obtaining money by false pretenses all concurrent.

He also received two-year sentences on each of two charges of breaking and entering and larceny from Windham County, all to be served concurrently with each other and with any sentence he is now serving.

Argrove was presented for parole violation in connection with a service station robbery early in September for which three other boys received sentences of one to two years.

One of these was Argrove's brother, Gary, 18, of the same address, who was given indefinite sentences to the reformatory on charges of conspiracy to commit larceny and larceny between $20 and $25.

The younger Argrove boy was sentenced to two years each on a day of more than 100 kids, other charges of breaking and entering with criminal intent, and green.

Child Abuse Studied

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — The problem of mistreatment and neglect of children by their own parents will be studied here by a 19-member Citizens' Task Force on Child Abuse.

The acting chairman of the group, Mrs. Benny Anderson of East Hampton, said "Each of us knows of different cases where nothing is done about it. We know of cases that have been reported and still nothing is done."

The Connecticut State Department of Health received reports of 103 cases of "suspected or proven" child abuse in printed and photographic erotica.

Richard Gandhi Nixon?
President Nixon himself said, in the key renunciation he pledged for this country the other day, that "biological weapons have massive, unpredictable and potentially uncontrollable consequences. They may produce global epidemics and impact the health of future generations."

There is other argument, much of it technically expert, which points out that biological warfare, with all its lurid potentialities, is no safe asset for any nation, and, therefore, not a thing very difficult to give up.

The President, in addition to such specific attention to the particular qualities of biological warfare, delivered himself of a great ringing generalization: "Mankind," he said, "already carries in its own hands too many of the seeds of its own destruction. By the examples we set today, we hope to contribute to an atmosphere of peace and understanding between nations and among men."

In spite of such powerful arguments of specifics and of principle, there are, believe it or not, those among us who cling not to employ unilateral power. There are those who would not have us ever be the first to give up even the most horrible, or the most useless, bit of the mutual terror in which, in this twentieth century culmination of our human wisdom, we are putting our practice and our faith.

There are those, in short, who do not believe that any improvement in the affairs of men can ever come from having some silly fool be the first to volunteer to enter upon a higher standard of conduct.

Rather they insist, the advocates of the normal course of events, that the status quo can be brought about only after they have eliminated the wicked or put the wicked securely within their own power, or bound the wicked to some agreement the wicked could not possibly violate.

This is the normal system under which the world has lived until now. It is also a system which, so far as the major and all important question of peace and war is concerned, has accomplished absolutely nothing.

What Kind of Train For Us?

In three or four or five years there will be a certain kind of payoff on the New York - Connecticut takeover of the New Haven Railroad's commuter lines into New York City.

Whether it will also represent sound business for all the taxpayers of New York and Connecticut, whether it represents an undesired bonanza for Penn Central, whether Penn Central, in response to this action of the states in taking over its biggest headache for it, will exhibit some solicitude for those other taxpayers of the state not included in the two-state takeover—these are all questions for which there is no immediate reassuring answer.

On the surface, the two-state takeover would seem to make something of a mockery of the long battle fought to make the Penn Central merger include the New Haven. The taxpayers of Connecticut and New York, together with the federal taxpayers who will also come heavily into the program will now be paying Penn Central rather generously for the privilege of taking over financial responsibility for the losing commuter operation.

The prime justification for all this seems to be the theory that this is one way to get commuter service improved, and that no one else has the energy or the vision to devise and press toward some sounder, better, more principled way of running a railroad.

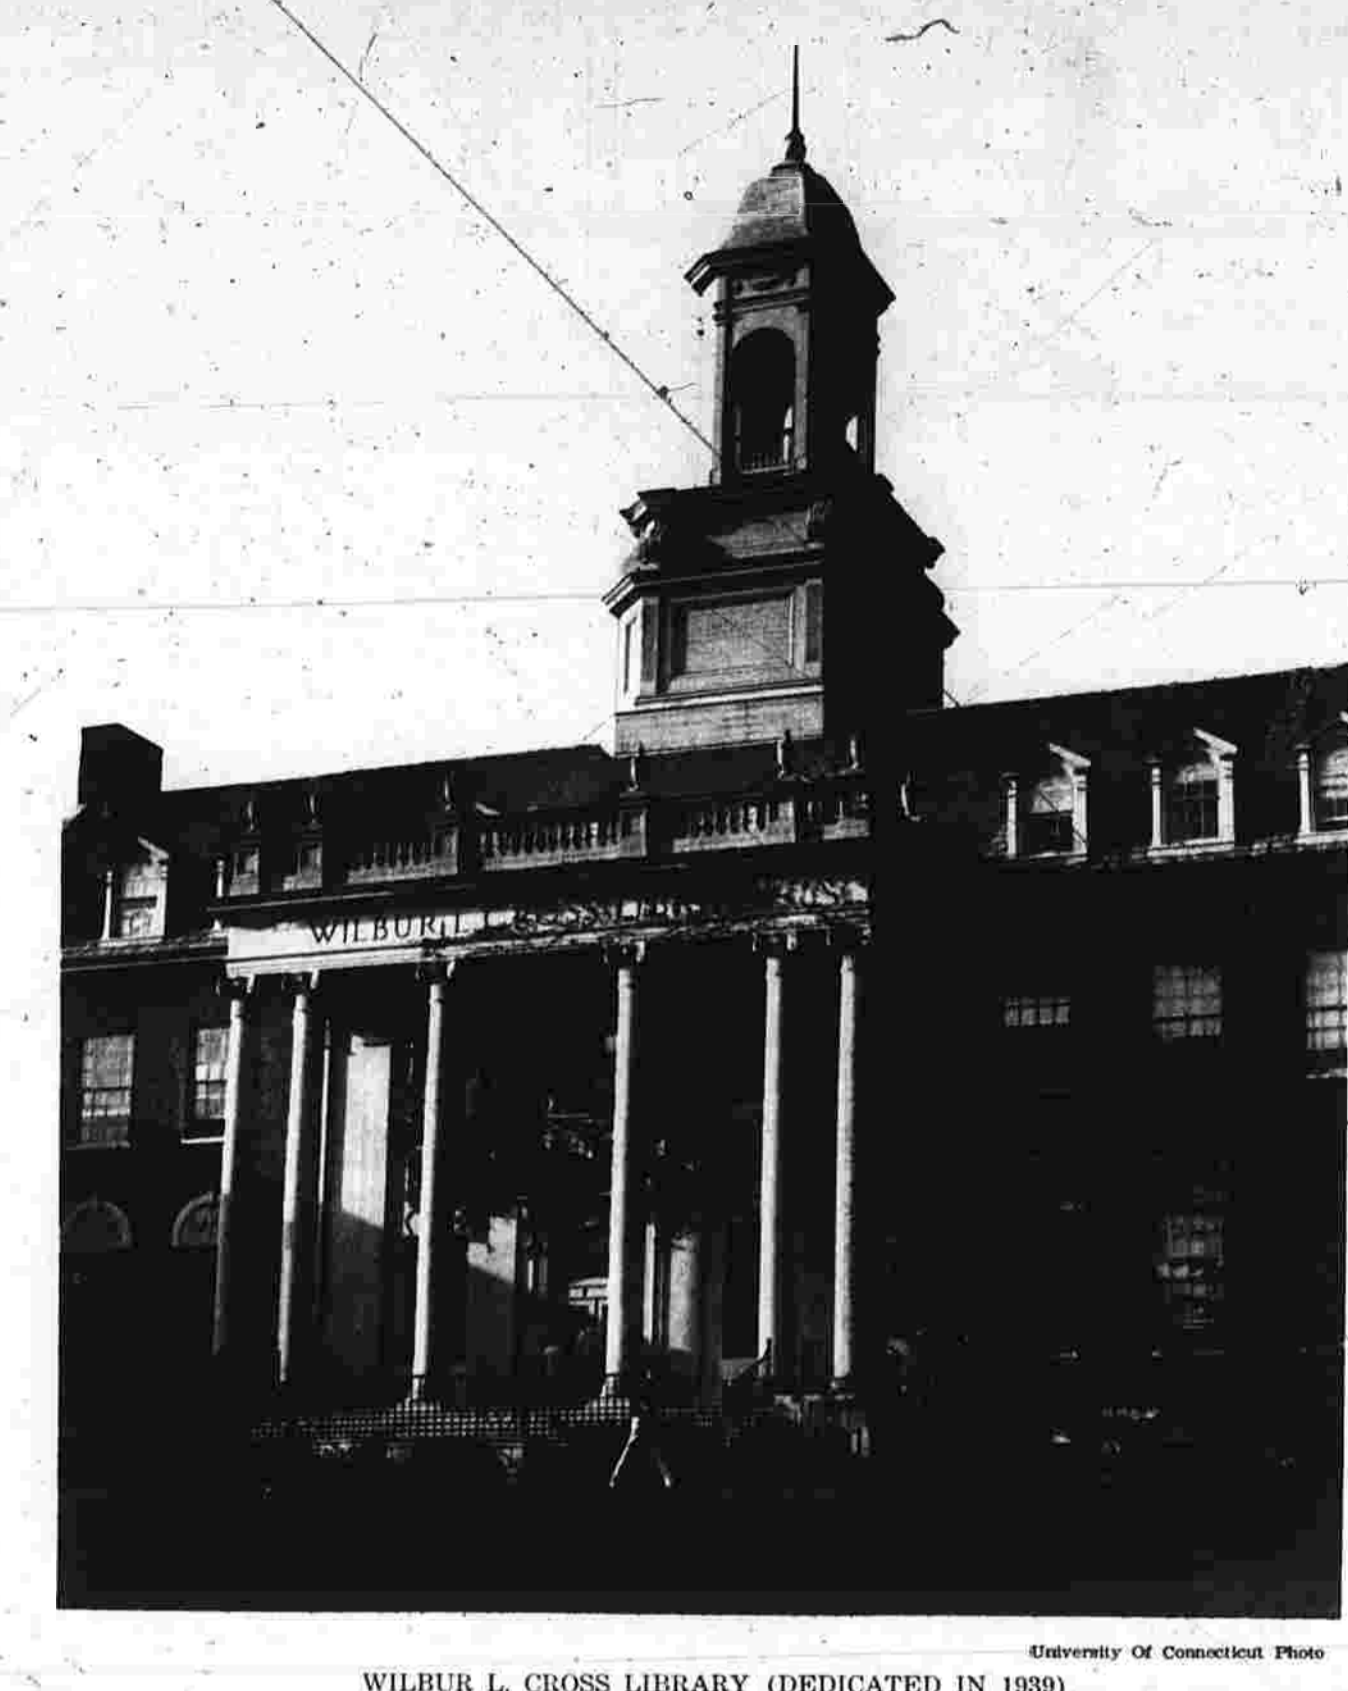

If there is no effective way to argue about principle, or question the fairness of the way the state's money is to be used, we people of Hartford County should at least have the privilege of making our own practical test of the eventual result.

At the end of five years, we find the train a day still running into New York, and we can see through its windows, perhaps we, too, will put on the same smile the two Governors wore the other day, as if they had achieved something splendid.

Control Salaries, Control Schools
At first examination, a statewide, non-partisan school investigation center they have eliminated the wicked or put the wicked securely within their own power, or bound the wicked to some agreement the wicked could not possibly violate.

Nonetheless, it is President Nixon who has, in Vietnam, been trying out some unilateral decolonization of the war, and now it is President Nixon who dares pledge his own nation to an unconditional renunciation of germ warfare, and that teacher salary schedules are a logical next step.

As against those who are indeed claiming that he is risking defeat and disaster for his country and for freedom by pulling troops out of Vietnam and cutting down the seeds of the fighting before the war there has been won, and who now claim that he is taking unnecessary and foolish risks with our security when he promises all the wicked people in the world, in advance, that we won't use germ warfare against them, even if they use it against us, it is against such views of the surprising actions on the part of President Nixon we feel constrained to venture the theory that he may be becoming the first President really to exercise and develop this nation's hitherto untapped moral powers, and that he may be beginning to build

WILBUR L. CROSS LIBRARY (DEDICATED IN 1939)

Inside Report
By Rowland Evans Jr.
Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—An urgent recommendation by the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) that the government seek a criminal indictment against Sen. Thomas J. Dodd of Connecticut for tax evasion is entering its ninth month of dormancy in the Justice Department's cockpit political pistol pointed at the Senator's heart.

Revenue agents actually completed their investigation of Dodd's finances more than a year ago, but bureaucratic delays kept their final recommendations from going to the Justice Department until March. By November, 1968, revenue agents working out of Hartford, Conn., had assembled a case against Dodd including statements by Dodd himself, letters to Dodd from state legislators who said they felt they were contributing to the Senator's re-election next year, all contents analyzed by Dodd himself. Coupled with damaging statements about the Senator's motives by Dodd's estranged aide, this was enough for the IRS to recommend criminal prosecution.

Justice Department lawyers were less enthusiastic about the strength of the case. Nevertheless, they were poised to render a quick decision in the closing days of the lame-duck Johnson administration—either to prosecute or to drop the case. To do otherwise, the government lawyers believed, would transform the Senate into a body of "90 Senators and one frightened man" (to quote one John Johnson administration attorney).

Not even Dodd's own staff knew in advance how he would vote. Both the White House and enemies of Haynsworth felt assured they would have Dodd's vote if necessary. In fact, after sitting out the first roll call, Dodd ended up voting against Haynsworth after his defeat was certain. Such behavior, even if perfectly innocent, arouses suspicion when viewed against the backdrop of the Justice Department's cockpistol.

"Agnew Hitting Home"

Righteous indignation is the general cry of the communications media. Agnew is hitting home. After so long a time of being fed slanted news and strongly biased editorials, I am afraid few citizens will come to the support of the communications media. Their power is so great that even the United States Government can't control them.

If the media are so sure that communism is unholy why don't they start calling for specific examples. There are many who would love the chance to be able to furnish them. Start with the headlines on Agnew in your paper today. You must learn to be as impartial as your cartoonists' sketches.

Sincerely yours,
Ben Levy

Numerous persons from the community have picked up their copies of the Chamber office at 237 East Center St., also representatives from Torrington, New York, have picked up their copies for distribution.

The Chamber's Board of Directors, in responding to the community reaction to the publication, has decided to make available copies to the offices of doctors, dentists, lawyers, barbers and other public waiting room areas within the Town. People are passing through these areas and many are interested in stepping on point tubes than in making a composition.

Swedish Experiment: Success or Failure?

By FRANK SCHMIDTBAUER
STOCKHOLM, SWEDEN (AP) — A motor cyclist on the muddy streets of Stockholm said "Mankind will not be happy until the last capitalist dangles from the spit of bureaucracy."

A U.S. Army deserter woke up and glanced at the legend, "WATER WAS SETTLING AROUND THE 'PUBLIC ACTIVITY HOUSE' AT 27 Old Bridge St. and American deserters, immigrant Pines and Swedes with no links to the 9 to 5 community were glad to have a place where the government would have been cutting back her forehead.

"Nobody bothers about the dustbins," he complained. The deserter yawned and Mona licked her fingers to try to do something about two limp traces of hair which should have been curling about her forehead.

"It's unbelievable the amount of haah that's peddled, around here and nobody has the authority to stop it," Kristor said. He was talking about narcotics, not the remnants of a best roast.

"This has been an experiment in anarchy, then it has failed," an old man muttered. The response to the Manchester Evening Herald publication for a "public activity house" provided by the Manchester Chamber of Commerce has been exceptionally gratifying.

Gold Is Worth Watching

By JOHN CUNIFF
New York (AP) — The price of gold has been plummeting of late. In one day this week it dropped 60 cents an ounce to a price of $35.00, continuing a downward trend from a high of $42 in March of this year.

Only that the price of this rare metal is to some extent a measure of man's greed. It has been so for centuries. The price of gold has been plummeting of late. In one day this week it dropped 60 cents an ounce to a price of $35.00, continuing a downward trend from a high of $42 in March of this year.

Vernon Apartments for Elderly Take Step Toward Reality

The high-rise apartment building for the elderly which is to be built in the downtown redevelopment area of Rockville is one step nearer reality, according to the Vernon Housing Authority. A cost increase had put the project in jeopardy but apparently is now acceptable to the proper authorities. The nine-story building, to cost better than $1.6 million, is to be constructed by the Alco Development Corp., of Meriden, for the entire redevelopment area. When completed the building will be turned over to the Housing Authority, a transfer procedure referred to as being on a turnkey basis, meaning the authority simply buys the completed building. There has been no final completion date set although it is hoped the building will be in use by the town's older residents some time in 1970.

Young American Is Set Free By East Germans

BERLIN (AP) — A young American from Los Angeles was released from an East German prison today and brought to West Berlin. U.S. sources confirmed that Leon Burrus James, 25, had been released by the East German government after spending more than a year in prison. "He looks okay," a source said, "except he says he has lost weight and is down to 120 pounds. He is not immediately available for questioning and sources said he appeared somewhat in a state of shock in comparison with the original contract price. The original contract price was $120,000 and was approved by the regional office of the Housing and Urban Development Agency in New York. The approval, however, was given by the management of the legal office of HUD, even though the managing office had signed the contract. A meeting was then arranged in New York between East German and American officials. Last week Francis Pitkat, executive director of the agency, explained the situation to Herman Hillman, regional administrator of HUD, while both attended a conference in Washington on "Free Barrier Construction for the Handicapped."

U.S. officials said James is wanted in the United States on a false passport charge. James was arrested in East Berlin in September 1968 and subsequently given a year's jail term on a visa charge. He apparently entered East Berlin with a passport belonging to his brother, an informed source disclosed. U.S. officials said James is wanted in the United States on a false passport charge. Man Sought in Shooting
NEW HAVEN (AP) — Police were looking for a short man between the ages of 18 and 33 today in the shooting death of an 18-year-old woman in a restaurant Thursday afternoon. Durrett was struck on the head with a pistol, further the restaurant, and then he was shot in the chest with a .22-caliber pistol, police said. Durrett was dead on arrival at Yale-New Haven Hospital. Police said they were questioning two witnesses to the argument that preceded the death.

Good Cast Does Well In 'Ballo'

By JOHN GRUBER
Verdi's "Masked Ball" was presented Wednesday evening at the Bushnell after a lapse of some years from the repertory of the Connecticut Opera Association. A surprisingly large crowd was on hand when it is considered there must have been many housewives industriously engaged in preparations for Thanksgiving dinners. This is a serviceable opera production. Personally I've never been overly fond of it. "Ballo" is one of the transitional operas when Verdi abandoned the glorified guitar accompaniments of "Traviata," "Favorita" and "Rigoletto." This is a serviceable opera production. In New England 'Papas' Replacing 'Mamas' In New Livestock Census

MONTPELLIER, Vt. (AP) — Beef production is on a definite upswing but is not wholly new to the state. Beef from slaughtered dairy cows has been available for years. Since he is a baritone he tended to be under-rated last evening. Irwin Densen and Louis Sgarro did well enough as Samuel and Tom, respectively, although Mr. Densen kept his chin sunk on his chest and consequently sang the floor most of the evening. These roles were poorly conceived by the librettist and reflected by the composer; they represent one of the more obvious weak spots in the opera. Long winters, marketing problems and increased expenditures for bulk milk storage tanks resulted in the death of many small dairy farms, says the state Department of Agriculture. Beef producers also have their problems, but as Henry Perkins of East Montpelier says: "Beef cattle require all the work of a dairy farm, except you don't have to do the milking twice a day."

Housewife Makes Business Fulfilling Leisure for Others

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Patsy Edwards says Americans capable of great achievement on the job, sometimes can't find satisfying things to do in their leisure time.

So, for a fee of $27.50, she tries to help anyone who has that "ugh" feeling when days roll around.

Her business is called "Creative Leisure." She and two part-time assistants provide suggestions for those who find weekends disappointing, vacations hard to fill and who dread retirement.

"People are getting more and more leisure time every year," 51-year-old Mrs. Edwards said. "The average man or woman has 28 hours a week of leisure time—and soon it will be up to 30 hours."

What's more, the part-time housewife said, surveys show 30 per cent of all Americans are unhappy with the way they spend their free time.

A secretary in her 30s told Mrs. Edwards she felt a need to "express myself." But she didn't know where to begin.

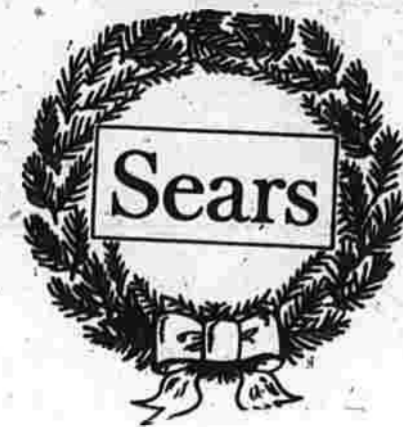

Vocational interest tests indicated the client was highly interested in paleontology and archaeology. Now the secretary spends six hours each weekend as a volunteer worker at the county museum.

A high school counselor and his wife were worried both about unfulfilling leisure hours and forthcoming retirement. The wife was steered to a book study club. Her husband, oriented toward volunteer work in parks and a wedding course that led to weekend meditative classes.

A retired executive secretary, bored with efforts at creative writing, learned through testing that—although childless herself—she had a tremendous interest in youngsters.

She was directed to a center for early education of 3-to-6-year-olds.

"It's such a joy," she reported. "It's my wee world of frustration."

Ordinance Unnecessary To Set Industrial Panel

A town meeting may not be necessary to set up an industrial development committee with purely advisory functions. This is why an ordinance establishing an industrial development commission was not on the call of last Monday's town meeting. A "commission" would have more than advisory powers and would require an ordinance.

This was explained by the town counsel, John Mahon, by letter and in person at Wednesday's selectmen's meeting. Mr. Mahon said he first wanted to ascertain which type of group the selectmen had in mind. Learning that, at least until the new town plan is completed, they wanted a group which would only advise, Mr. Mahon said he would check the statutes to be sure an ordinance is not required for such a group, which would be a "committee."

If an ordinance is not required, the selectmen are planning to set up the committee at their next meeting. They decided that a seven-member committee would be best.

If an ordinance is required, it will be on the call to a town meeting to be held within the next two weeks.

Following its holiday tradition, the town will have to have a pre-Christmas town meeting again this year. It will be called as soon as possible, at the request of the Board of Education to act on resolutions to make application for state aid for the two school building projects now nearing completion, the new elementary school and the alterations to the old elementary school.

In other business, the selectmen reviewed a list of possible members of a three-man appeals board for the building inspector.

They read a copy of a letter from the Public Building Commission to the Griswold Engineering Co. asking for help in determining where the monuments had been placed by that company during its survey of the new school property. It is necessary that the markers be found, or another survey will have to be made before a fence is installed.

The selectmen by a telephone poll between official meetings voted to appoint John Roberts, Republican, of Tuxis Tc, to fill the vacancy on the Zoning Board of Appeals left by the resignation of Howard Jensen, Republican, and to appoint Warren Potter of Hebron Rd., a Democrat, to fill the alternate position on the same board. Democrat David Mitchell had

IBM Officials Confirm Ridgefield Land Purchase

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (AP)—Officials of International Business Machines (IBM) Corp. confirmed today that the firm is purchasing about 700 acres of land in Ridgefield and neighboring Danbury for a future "administrative office location."

IBM officials stressed that the giant firm's corporate headquarters will remain in Armonk, N.Y., about 12 miles from Ridgefield. Specific plans for the Ridgefield-Danbury property will be announced in the near future, an IBM spokesman said.

IBM is purchasing several adjoining parcels of land in the two towns, some of it bordering on Wooster Mountain State Park.

IBM confirmed that it is exercising its option on three parcels of land owned by Mr. and Mrs. John Yervant. Outpost Farm Inc., and the estate of Sidney Sawyer. Several other pieces of land also will be included. The Yervants' property includes the Fox Hill Inn, a date to 3,000 B.C. He said they local landmarks in Ridgefield were occupied by various ancient peoples as late as 1,200 A.D.

The primary source of food for the villagers was animal waste, evidenced by an abundance of spearheads and arrowheads fashioned from animal bones. Fragments of iron ore from Danbury Airport, and also were found, from which the red hematite had been scraped to make arrowheads.

The hematite was the source of red pigment and generally used to decorate the bodies of the dead," Struwer said.

Ancient Indian Villages Uncovered

ELIZABETH, Ill. (AP)—Archaeological diggings along the Illinois River near the confluence of the Mississippi River have revealed three ancient Indian villages.

Stuart Struwer, a Northwest University anthropologist, said the well-preserved villages include the Fox Hill Inn, a date to 3,000 B.C. He said they local landmarks in Ridgefield were occupied by various ancient peoples as late as 1,200 A.D.

The primary source of food for the villagers was animal waste, evidenced by an abundance of spearheads and arrowheads fashioned from animal bones. Fragments of iron ore from Danbury Airport, and also were found, from which the red hematite had been scraped to make arrowheads.

Few Items On Agenda

The Manchester Board of Directors, when it meets Tuesday night for its regular meeting, will face with comparatively short agenda. Its last meeting was Nov. 18. It took action on all but a few items of its pending business.

The directors already have specified that use of the ski slope and swimming pools will be restricted to Manchester residents only. The only exceptions will be members of the Manchester Club, who patrol the slope and enforce its rules.

The decision still to be made is whether to charge town residents for the identification patches, or whether to issue them free of charge.

In other business Tuesday, the board will be asked to approve an application for state and federal open space grants in connection with Manchester Water Co. watershed land.

The directors already have authorized Town Manager Robert Weiss to prepare the application for $200,000 in federal funds and $100,000 in state funds. An additional $100,000 would be furnished by the state.

The board will appoint a replacement for Dr. Philip Sumner to the Conservation Commission and a replacement for Donald Kuehl to the Building Committee. Dr. Sumner resigned because of the press of his medical practice. Kuehl resigned when he was elected to the board of directors.

In other business, the board will consider approving two applications from the Capital Improvement Reserve Fund.

One is for $20,000 for the installation of utilities and for construction of Progress Dr., in the Manchester Industrial Park, off Parker St. and Colonial Dr.

Also, Mrs. David Fitzgerald and daughter, Glaustrbury, under an agreement previously approved by the board and subject to the town's Industrial Ordinance.

The other is for $30,000 to pay the costs of restoring driveway and lawn on Spring St. was re-constructed.

The board will be asked to designate eight banking institutions as depositories for town funds.

The eight are Manchester Savings and Loan Association, the Savings Bank of Manchester, Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., Hartford National Bank and Trust Co., Connecticut Savings and Loan Association Society for Savings, First National Bank of Manchester, and Morgan Guaranty Trust Co. of New York.

Israeli Pleads Self Defense In Shooting of Arab: WINTERTHUR, Switzerland (AP) — An Israeli secret service agent told a Swiss court today that it was a case of self-defense when he was confronted by an armed Arab commando after the attack on an El Al jetliner at Zurich airport Feb. 18.

Mordechai Rachamin, 22, is charged with homicide under extenuating circumstances after allegedly shooting an Arab, Abdel Mehsen. The trial began Thursday.

Rachamin claimed in testimony that the Arab he is accused of shooting still was carrying his Russian machine gun when Rachamin caught up with him after running from the plane.

"I shot at him in fear," Rachamin said. "I was afraid of him." Rachamin said he made a sudden movement and I opened fire. Court president Dr. Hans Gutwiler said Rachamin, although witnesses contradicted them selves on some points, all were unanimous that Rachamin had been disarmed when Rachamin approached.

Dr. Gutwiler said you were only acting in self defense? Rachamin: Absolutely. Gutwiler said you are not guilty of homicide.

Rachamin: I am sure. Gutwiler said you are not guilty of homicide. Rachamin: I am sure. Gutwiler said you are not guilty of homicide. Rachamin: I am sure.

DOYLESTOWN, Pa. (AP) — Bucks County Dist. Atty. Ward P. Clark, who was re-elected Tuesday and successfully prosecuted the biggest case of his career later in the month, outdid himself Thursday by delivering his own baby daughter.

Clark, 29, wrapped up a 22-day trial Wednesday when the jury returned a verdict of guilty of first-degree murder. Mrs. Mary Mannon. An it must have been courtroom logic that made Clark argue with his wife early Thursday that the baby wasn't due for another three weeks.

The 3-pound, 15-ounce baby delivered with a nurse on the telephone and his mother, an overnight guest.

"I slipped her on the back and she was born," Clark said. "I was in the room, it was the happiest sound I've ever heard." An ambulance later took Mrs. Clark and her baby to Abington Hospital where both were reported in fine condition.

New FTC Head Vows to Check Consumer Fraud

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Charles W. Weinberger says he is determined to make the Federal Trade Commission a tool for the average consumer to get a fair deal at the grocery store or the repair shop.

"I think the public in general doesn't have any idea of the functions of the FTC," Weinberger said during an interview in his Capitol office where he is finance director.

Weinberger will take over as trade commission chairman about Jan. 1. He was confirmed by the Senate last week.

Weinberger said he hopes the commission can rid itself of much of the red tape which has burdened it over the years.

Weinberger, 52, a San Francisco lawyer, said he intends to use the FTC's 13 field offices for mobilizing task forces that will "go out in the communities and find out what are some of the consumer fraud practices and how we can do to eliminate them."

Weinberger said he hopes to convince businessmen that full truth in labeling, advertising and lending will inspire "much greater confidence in the private enterprise system."

Pakistan's President Yahya Faces Explosive Problems

By ARNOLD KEITLIN (AP) — Eight months after a look over the government, President Yahya Khan is still facing more and more a man eager to give it back to the politicians.

Military association, remembering his more career, has living days as army chief of staff, note his travels as president of his geographically diverse land of about 100 million Moslems.

The geographical split, of the problem. The list of political parties waiting to take the place of what Pakistanis call the martial-law regime is enough to make the head of any military man swim.

There are the Awami League, the National Awami League, the Pakistan People's party, the People's Democratic party, the Pakistan Muslim League, the Council Muslim League and the Quaid-Azam Muslim League — plus a litter of splinter groups.

In spite of the political confusion, Yahya said in October "I have every intention of continuing the program of elections and transfer of power." That was after students at the University of Dacca broke martial law setups to demonstrate.

The government shall set up the process of democracy very soon," he said this month, adding "depending on circumstances."

Most politicians agree the country must have elections of some kind. They cannot agree if the three major issues should be settled before or after a vote.

One issue is the breaking up of the 210,000 square miles and West Pakistan, now one unit, into several states based on ethnic and language groups. Another is the granting of greater regional autonomy, especially to the smaller but most populous province, East Pakistan, where the predominantly Bengali people complain they have been unfairly exploited for 20 years by West Pakistan.

There is also the problem of awarding legislative seats on the basis of population so the 70 million people in East Pakistan would have a majority over the 50 million or so in the West.

Pressure is building up to solve the matter of methods and facts. Such a schedule would permit holding elections before the May-June rains turn East Pakistan into a swamp, virtually preventing campaigning and voting.

There is still confusion over what voters would vote for. According to Z. A. Bhutto, former foreign minister whose defiance one year ago helped speed Mohamed Ayub Khan's collapse after 10 years of rule, Gen. Yahya once favored a referendum to decide the split of the West and other issues. But the military has ruled out a referendum and apparently laying with permitting a constituent assembly to create a civilian-rule constitution.

Air Marshal Asghar Khan, former air force chief who also played a major role in bringing down Ayub, believes an assembly would be "disastrously time-consuming."

Crane Claims Victory Is Really a Nixon Win

CHICAGO (AP) — Republican administration's gradual Vietnam policy. Mr. Crane, a lawyer and state representative, lives in Niles township. He was unopposed in the Democratic primary.

In his campaign, Warman urged a U.S. withdrawal from Vietnam to be completed by the end of 1970.

The annual rainfall on the interior of Dominica, in the West Indies islands, is about 800 inches.

Crane got 68,150 votes, or 54.6 per cent of the ballots cast, in the special election Tuesday in Chicago's 41st district north of Chicago. Warman received 46,000 votes, or 41.4 per cent, in the unofficial count.

The vote turnout was relatively light, with less than 60 per cent of the district's 292,460 registered voters casting ballots compared with more than 80 per cent in the presidential election Nov. 3.

"I regard this election as an affirmation of President Nixon's policy, domestic and foreign, and especially his Vietnam policy," Crane said.

Warman said he was helped him sweep away much of the small majority enjoyed by the GOP in the 11th District.

In 1968, Donald Rumsfeld registered a victory for me as it was a vindication of the President's policy," Crane said.

Tollard Town Down to One Truck After Skidding Accident

A skidding accident yesterday morning resulted in about $1,000 worth of damage to the town's 1967 dump truck.

The accident removed the truck, the town's newest, from operation, leaving the town dependent on one working dump truck out of a total of three.

During Tuesday night's selectmen's meeting the board agreed to call a town meeting to authorize purchase of a new heavy duty dump truck, pending approval by the Board of Finance. The recommendation had been originally made by Highway Superintendent William Bevil.

Wednesday morning's accident makes the purchase more of an emergency item, while the selectmen keep their fingers crossed that there will be no snow in the meantime.

Only three of the usual six contractors of truck equipment have signed certificates of insurance protecting the town, according to First Selectman Robert Frasier, Mrs. John DePoni, and Friday, Mrs. James Charles Thifault. Sevelik has stated he will only use contracted equipment which carries the certificates.

Wednesday morning's accident occurred while the truck was ascending icy Babcock Hill. The truck turned over on Plains Rd., tumbling over the side at Sweetheart Lake, according to Thifault.

No injuries were reported as a result of the accident, but the two men were shaken up, reported the first selectmen, who gave them the balance of the day off.

The town's insurance will cover the damage, and the go-ahead for repairs was given Wednesday afternoon.

St. Ouge Replies

Thifault received a letter Wednesday from Congressman William St. Ouge, regarding the federal grant for the purchase of a new ambulance for the town.

The only problem presently holding up the town's approval of the grant is the lack of funds in Washington, according to St. Ouge.

The application is presently in the regional office of the National Safety Bureau, Department of Transportation, in Belmont, N.Y. It has cleared the St. Ouge level.

Although the authorization of funds for the National Safety Bureau program has cleared Congress, it is still awaiting Senate approval. St. Ouge predicted the funds would be cleared before the end of the session on Dec. 15.

First Selectman Thifault stated he will write Sen. Abraham Ribicoff and Thomas Dodd, immediately urging action on their assistance in speeding up the local application.

School Lunches

School lunches next week at all three local schools are: Monday, hot dog, macaroni, cole slaw, celery sticks, cake in Washington, D.C. Tuesday, hot dog on roll, mustard and relish, baked beans, cheese wedge, fruit on Dec. 1.

Chairmen of the various booths are Mrs. John Curtin, Mrs. Raymond Bidwell, Mrs. Louis Solots and Mrs. Allen Richter, baked goods and preserves; Mrs. Marguerite LaPlumme, candy; Mrs. Francis Spieckel, new and used toys; Mrs. John Duffy, Mrs. Raymond Sullivan and Miss Frances Gallo, raffles.

Also, Mrs. John Costello, Jewelry; Mrs. Primo Amadio, plants and dried arrangements.

The exhibit will continue every weekend until Dec. 21.

Nursery Assistants

Assisting mothers at the Tolland - Co-Operative Nursery School next week are: Monday, Mrs. Thomas Elliot, Mrs. Richard Carlin; Wednesday, Mrs. Robert Frasier, Mrs. John DePoni, and Friday, Mrs. James Charles Thifault.

Boys Basketball League

The Tolland Boys Basketball League will hold its final registration session and practice tomorrow from 11:30 a.m. until 3 p.m. at the high school gym.

During the previous registration session, 122 boys between the ages of 12 and 17 registered with the league, enabling the league to add two more teams this year.

Local Lions Forming

A Tolland Lions Club is in the process of forming, with Dr. David Bertucci as its first president. Other officers of the new organization are Carl J. Salina, secretary, and Peter Bassett, treasurer.

The club forming under the International Association of William St. Ouge, plans to meet the first and third Mondays of the month in the evening.

Warrantee Deeds

Three warrantee deeds for holding up the town's approval of the grant is the lack of funds in Washington, according to St. Ouge.

The application is presently in the regional office of the National Safety Bureau, Department of Transportation, in Belmont, N.Y. It has cleared the St. Ouge level.

Manchester firemen, aided by searchlights and a 100-foot aerial ladder, fight fire on second floor of Manchester Fruit Co. on Purnell Pl. The fire was believed to have been set deliberately by safecrackers. (Herald photo by Otiara)

Safe Crackers Find $30, Set Fire

Safe crackers, who early last night forced open and robbed a safe on the first floor of the Manchester Fruit Co., are suspected of deliberately setting a fire on the second floor of the 16 Purnell Pl. brick-faced wooden building.

The culprit, according to An. State Department of Consumer Protection, Food Division.

He said that an inspection of the first floor contents, checked by package and box tags, revealed that almost all of it can be used. He threw away what is not useable and will permit DiNova to sell what and that little cash is ever left on the premises.

The fire completely destroyed produce, boxes, cartons and packaging machinery on the second floor. The fire gutted the second floor walls and ceiling and burned out portions of the roof.

An examination of the premises this morning reveals that the first floor office was smashed and that business papers and records were strewn over the floor.

Waste left produce on the second floor was completely destroyed damage to produce on the first floor was minimal, according to a representative of the

that they are covered by insurance. Beyer said that he will repair the fire damage and DiNova said he will remain in business there.

Both declined to estimate the extent of their losses, pending investigation by insurance adjusters. The adjuster checked the premises this morning.

Although the first floor of the building was not damaged by fire, it sustained considerable damage from water pouring from the second floor.

The building, at the foot of Purnell Pl., is in the heart of the Downtown Main St. shopping area. It is only a few feet from the Rubinow Building. To its immediate west is Burton's Women's Shop and to its immediate south is Marlow's Department Store. To its north is the basement entrance to the W.T. Grant Co.

The fire attracted hundreds of spectators, including many town officials. Among them were Town Manager Robert Weiss and Civil Defense Director Edwin Edwards. The Manchester Ambulance Service had investigation is Det. Sgt. John Krnjak.

In charge of the police emergency duty, but it wasn't needed.

The fire was reported by an unidentified person, who pulled the fire box at Main and Park St. Firemen, responding promptly, placed a call for more equipment and more men.

About 30 on-duty and off-duty firemen fought the blaze, bringing it under control at about 8 p.m. Deputy Fire Chief John Rivova was in charge of operations. Fire trucks from three fire companies, plus the department's 100-foot aerial truck, were used.

Under control at about 8 p.m., the mapping up operations continued with a skeleton force for several hours. Rivova and Fire Chief W. Clifford Mason were the last to leave, at 3:15 this morning. They were back after 8 a.m., to view the damage in daylight.

Smoke - exhalation equipment was used to drive the fire from the building. Search lights, fed by a diesel-powered generator, aided the firemen in fighting the blaze.

An oddity of last night's fire was the discovery of two open safes on the first floor. In-

Overturned safe, on the first floor of the Manchester Fruit Co., yielded only $30 to safe-crackers last night. Strawn papers and records on floor suggest their annoyance. Officials theorize that they vented their frustration by setting fire to the second floor of the building. (Herald photo by Otiara)

Bishop Drops Out of Race For Ratings

HOLLWOOD (AP) — "About a week ago," comedian Joey Bishop despaired, "I asked ABC, 'Could I have a little time off?' But this is ridiculous."

That was Bishop's way of telling a studio audience Tuesday night that what he got was all the time in the world—he and ABC are terminating his 2½-year-old talk show.

Bishop then walked out of the studio, only minutes after the start of taping of a show to be broadcast tonight, saying he couldn't compete in "this kind of three-way race" against NBC's Johnny Carson and Merv Griffin of CBS.

Bishop's sidekick, Regis Philbin, over the taping, commenting 90 minutes later at its close: "I'll never be surprised by anything as long as I live."

Philbin said guest hosts, starting with comedian Jan Murray, would take Bishop's place to keep the show running for a while, probably until Christmas.

Earlier Tuesday ABC announced it had reached a tentative agreement with the 61-year-old comedian to terminate the show for "mutual reasons," primarily because of poor ratings—about 16 per cent of the total nighttime audience—and the low number of affiliates carrying the program, 125 to 132 for Griffin's show and 209 for Carson's.

"I think the American Broadcasting Co. put me on (April 17, 1967) when it was not considered the right thing, and they kept me on," said Bishop. "In some of the cities," he said, referring to the affiliates, "we did not do the business for them."

If the public wanted to know any more, Bishop added, "let Johnny or Merv to let me on to say it."

ABC President Elton Rule said in a statement: "I'm truly sorry this current association is coming to a close."

Through Joey's efforts the ABC television network for the first time has made substantial inroads into late-night programming. We at ABC owe Joey an extreme debt of gratitude."

Bishop was the second ABC talk-show casualty. Dick Cavett hosted a daily morning show and, last summer, a three-night-a-week program, both dropped by the network. Cavett is still under contract.

Three months ago—when CBS invaded the talkathon circuit with Griffin and immediately outdid Bishop—Bishop said there was room for all three shows.

Carson's prediction, though, "somebody's got to get hurt with the three-way competition," proved more accurate.

As Bishop and his wife left the studio, he was asked whether he planned to stay in television.

"Yes," he replied. "I've already received some offers from sponsors."

Area To Get Cops For Christmas

DETROIT (AP) — Residents of the city's crime-troubled 7th Precinct are going to get cops for Christmas this year.

Starting Monday, 179 policemen will provide extra protection in the precinct as Yuletide volunteers.

The policemen are donating a total of 1,200 hours of duty. This will permit the assignment of five extra patrolmen to precinct streets each day.

The unacknowledged gesture by members of the force has two aims. Officers say they hope the volunteer hours will help reduce crime and at the same time strengthen police-community relations.

"This gift represents an untold saving to the community in lives, goods and services," said Inspector Olson T. Tetreault, precinct commander.

Tetreault said the crime rate always increases during the Christmas season because people carry more cash and keep packages in their homes.

Officials said the 1,200 police-working hours would have cost the city some $11,000 if the men had been ordered out on an overtime basis.

The 7th Precinct, with about 90,000 residents, has the second highest crime rate in the city and was one of the affected areas in the 1967 riot.

Patrolman Joseph Whall dreamed up the gift and announced it Tuesday at precinct headquarters.

"We have offered this gift of gold in the spirit of Christmas, the season of cheer and goodwill," said Whall.

"We sincerely hope this gift will not be misinterpreted by any parties as anything other than what it is intended, that being a gesture of brotherhood during the holiday season."

Student Teachers Helping At Museum, Science Center

By JOHN A. JOHNSON

Two Eastern Connecticut State College students, Miss Linda Day and John Quinn, are currently dividing their eight-week student teaching period between the Lutz Museum and the Natural Science Center.

John graduated from Norwich Free Academy in 1968. He now lives in Voluntown with his wife and two children.

From January 1960 to October 1962, he was in military service as a Navy hospital corpsman, stationed at Chelsea (Mass.) Naval Hospital.

Between service duty and college, he worked at a number nine grade school bus, still takes charter assignments, and works weekends for a bus line that runs between New London and Springfield.

The outdoor teaching work at the Natural Science Center is not too far a cry from his Voluntown home. A few years ago, he bought a 27-acre farm. Although there is a 40 by 60-foot double-decker on the property, he has shied from raising live stock and poultry because of college demands. So far, he has limited his chores to having the farm on his own and neighboring farms with heavy equipment purchased over the years.

His wife owns a Morgan horse, which she rides for hours on the farm and in a state park across the road. His six-year-old daughter Cheryl spurs a Shetland pony and cat with her two-year-old brother John.

Quinn owns a 10½-foot, self-contained camper. Tuesday afternoon, he and his other avid ECSC soccer fans left for Eastern College in Richmond, Ind. By driving all night, he said, they hoped to arrive in time to see the Williamsport school's first game Wednesday morning in the NAIA Tournament at Spring Arbor (Mich.) Junior College.

College defeated ECSC, 1-0, scoring the deciding marker with only 21 seconds remaining in the sixth 5-minute overtime period. It was the first ECSC loss in its start this season. Today, the team will attempt to seal its winning form in the semifinal elimination tournament.

Resigned

Only one U.S. vice-president ever resigned from office, John C. Calhoun, vice-president from March 4, 1825 to Dec. 28, 1828, again his winning form in the senator double elimination tournament.

Rolling Stones Rock Garden For 17,000 Rocking Fans

By JOSH MILLS

Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Flaming their magiogy and brazen sexuality, the Rolling Stones took 17,000 fans by storm Thursday night in their first concert here in three years.

The Stones turn kids on by preaching male chauvinism, sex, drugs, freedom and violent revolution. Then they flash the peace sign and toss rose petals on their fans.

But to the young audience, it's all entertainment, and every word and gesture from Mick Jagger, the lead singer and superb dancer, is welcomed with a roar.

The Stones will have played to more than 50,000 persons here when they finish two concerts today at Madison Square Garden. They will be in Boston Saturday and West Palm Beach, Fla., Sunday, ending their tour.

They have promised to play a free concert in San Francisco next week.

The biggest hits with the audience were those songs that put down women: "Under My Thumb," "Satisfaction" and "Honky Tonk Woman."

The Stones covered their full range of material, from "Caroline" a Chuck Berry rocker on their first album, to "Midnight Rambler" and "Love in Vain," from their newest and 14th album, Mick Taylor, the newest Stone, played a fine bottleneck lead on the latter.

Keith Richards on lead guitar, Taylor on rhythm guitar, Billy Wyman on bass and Charlie Watts on drums were very tight all through the 70-minute set, providing a solid base for Jagger's theatrics.

The Garden, after two disastrous rock concerts with a revolving stage, seated 4,000 seats behind the fixed stage, and put in a first sound system. The four-hour concert also featured the Ike and Tina Turner Revue, Terry Reid and B.B. King.

Among the Stones' fans in the audience were rock guitarist Jimi Hendrix and singer Janis Joplin, who came on stage to dance with Tina Turner.

Wing For Transplants

CAPE TOWN—Grosche Schuur Hospital will step up its facilities for organ transplants when a $14 million cardiac block opens in 1971. Each floor of the eight-story building will be able to handle nine postoperative patients.

Earth science is the subject she would like to teach following graduation, Miss Day said, preferably junior high school students. "That's the age when so many seem to get lost. It's not enough to tell them they will grow up like everybody else. I would like to attempt to get some of them unstuck."

On the state side, her talent is in music. While in high school, she sang in the Eastern Connecticut All-State Chorus, and attended two choir conferences in Lakewood, in November.

At the museum, Miss Day sets up displays, makes lesson plans, conducts tours, and constructs dioramas. Wednesday morning, she was putting the finishing touches on a diorama of Brazil.

'Young Bob' Taft Doesn't Rest On Laurels of Dad, Grand-Dad

By HAROLD HARRISON
Associated Press Writer

CINCINNATI (AP) — U.S. Rep. Robert Taft Jr. is 32 and a strong political figure in his own right but many Ohioans refer to him as "Young Bob" Taft.

"Old Bob" Taft, of course, was his father, the 1952 U.S. Sen. Robert A. Taft who became known as "Mr. Republican" and twice was a candidate for the Republican nomination for president.

"Young Bob" Taft stands on his own feet.

That was shown last week when he announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for senator from Ohio. It was a battle with party colleague Gov. James A. Rhodes, a powerful vote-getter. Incumbent Democrat Stephen M. Young is not seeking re-election.

Many Republican leaders had hoped that Taft would seek the GOP nomination for governor to set up a Rhodes-Taft ticket. But Taft often has indicated a preference for the legislative side of government, at least for the time being.

Following in his father's footsteps is "not surprising," he said in an interview.

"I went into law and worked with my father and I just grew up in politics."

In Cincinnati the Tafts sometimes have been called aloof. But Taft often has been very thing but that. During his service in Congress, he has conducted regular community and house-to-house meetings.

"I think they have been tremendously valuable," he said.

Taft is well spoken. He smiles easily.

In his 1966 congressional campaign, in which he defeated incumbent Democrat John J. Gilligan, he once approached two men on the street, shook out his hand and said, "Hi, I'm Bob Taft. How are you? I'm just doing a little campaigning this morning. I would appreciate any help you can give me."

One of the men called out a "Volunteer for Gilligan's" card they all had a congenial chat.

As to the current issue, Taft speaks up plainly.

He said he is backing the Nixon administration on its Vietnam policy.

He added that he believed a planned withdrawal of U.S. troops may be the only way to bring about a negotiated settlement of the war.

"I believe the North Vietnamese are trying to salvage the war. They can salvage," he declared.

He reiterated previously declared support of a lottery system for Selective Service but said he hoped there soon can be most gum solutions thin out under these conditions.

Pope, Premier Join Debate On Divorce

ROME (AP) — Pope Paul VI and Premier Mariano Rumor have stepped into Italy's divorce debate.

Pope Paul appealed to Italian lawmakers to "venerate, honor and defend" the Roman Catholic principle of the marital indissolubility. Rumor, a Christian Democrat, called on members of Parliament to make "one last careful meditation." He said divorce would "trouble" relations between his Christian Democrat government and the Vatican.

All the other parties, from the right-wing Liberals to the Communists, are backing it. The audience at the Vatican, in a rare merger of forces between right and left, was

GI Dissenters Claim Reprisals By Brass

By VERNON GUDDY
Associated Press Writer

BOSSIER CITY, La. (AP) — Antiwar leaders at Barksdale Air Force Base say some men have lost their stripes, others have been transferred and others investigated because of antiwar activities.

Leaders of the group at the Barksdale Air Command-SAC base claim the Air Force has obstructed their efforts to express dissent legally and have assiduously barred them from posts where access to classified material was denied.

SAC officials say the allegations are misinterpretations of administrative and security procedures. They said that the investigation was prompted by the possibility of broken regulations, not legal dissent.

"We had to investigate," says Col Kenneth Steele, chief of staff of SAC's 2nd Air Force headquarters at Barksdale.

"At the time, we didn't know what we had. We could have had out and out rebellion."

As it stands now, Steele said, "I'm sure most of them will come out of this smelling like a rose."

The controversy at the sprawling SAC base here with its some 7,000 servicemen reaches out to include the two national Moratorium Day antiwar demonstrations, an underground newspaper and "Barksdale GIs for Peace," a loosely knit group which its organizers say has involved some 75 servicemen.

The allegations of the antiwar leaders came to light during a survey of servicemen who had signed a national advertisement opposing the war. The newspaper advertisement appeared Nov. 9. Sixty-five of the signers were from Barksdale, the largest number from any Air Force base.

Of these the signers contacted, however—from Barksdale and other bases—most said they had felt no reprisals from superiors, although some said they received lectures from commanding officers.

"I've simply exercised freedom of speech," says 1st Lt. Michael Osborne, one of the few protesters the Air Force says is still under investigation following events that began more than two months ago with the issuance of the first edition of the underground newspaper "GAP."

Osborne said he was informed Oct. 27 by the Air Force's Office of Special Investigation—OSI—that he was under investigation for "organization of an antiwar demonstration on 13 Oct. 69 designed to promote dissent among Air Force personnel."

Osborne, 25, said he was told Nov. 16 that his promotion to captain, due a week later, was being held up pending the completion of the investigation.

"The charge is outrageous," the Stryker, Ohio, native said in an interview. "You're presumed guilty until proven innocent."

Osborne is among four officers and nearly three times as many enlisted men investigated by the Air Force here either for participation in the Oct. 15 publication of "GAP" or for attendance at one of another antiwar meeting or demonstration.

Osborne said his first contact with peace activities was an Aug. 24 meeting of antiwar servicemen and their wives and members of the American Friends Service Committee which his wife attended but could not because he was on a flight.

After an informal gathering earlier in October, a meeting of the squad under investigation, what was to become "Barksdale GIs for Peace" was held at his home Oct. 12, Osborne said. It was lifted as they were available for temporary duty when northern bases called for more hands. Those who were sent, he said, were sent because they have only a short time left in their service, making reassignment in another job category unlikely.

Osborne said he did not get a moral flight to San Antonio because of his resignation and that had grounded him as a sailing action, and Lockridge had been relieved of "I think I was ordered to active duty."

Steele said that base officers did not know about the alert in advance. SAC headquarters "rang the buzzer on us" for the alert without warning, he said.

Coincidence also was the reason Fox and Osborne were given medical examinations at distant bases during the antiwar demonstrations, Steele said.

The colonel counters the allegation that OSI Oct. 15 raid had no real duties after their access to classified material was lifted as they were available for temporary duty when northern bases called for more hands. Those who were sent, he said, were sent because they have only a short time left in their service, making reassignment in another job category unlikely.

Osborne is seeking legal reassignment from the Army's Civil Liberties Union, Ft. Worth, for additional examination for "senior leadership" has offered his resignation and that had grounded him as a sailing action, and Lockridge had been relieved of "I think I was ordered to active duty."

Daley Thaw Brings Stevenson To Top of Democrats' Slate

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson III, a favorite Democrat in September to the seat held by his father, the late U.S. ambassador to the United Nations, was named to the top of the party's slate for the U.S. Senate in 1970. Stevenson, 66, the state treasurer and his party's top ballot attraction in 1964 and 1968, will probably face Sen. Ralph T. Daley.

Rothschild 'Monstrosity' Still Far from Complete

By STEPHEN BROOKING Associated Press Writer PARIS (AP) — It's been called the Rothschild mansion and "that monstrosity." And though it has consumed nearly all of $875,000, three months before approval of the $10-million appropriation, it's still a couple of years and more than a million dollars away from being restored to a state fit for the U.S. ambassador.

The 30-room, three-story mansion on Rue du Faubourg St. Honoré is about a block away from the U.S. Embassy on Avenue Gabriel and less than 100 yards from the Elysee Palace. Perhaps for those reasons successive ambassadors have coveted it as a residence.

Bought from the French Rothschilds in 1948 for $1.9 million, the mansion provided office space for more than 100 embassy staff members until 1967. That was when the House Appropriations subcommittee agreed to a long-standing request for money to restore and redecorate the mansion as the ambassador's residence.

Congress appropriated $875,000, a great deal less than originally requested by the State Department, and much too little to do the job. At appropriations subcommittee hearings in Washington last March, Frank T. Row of Ohio, the ranking Republican on the committee, wanted to know "what happened to that monstrosity the Rothschild house."

What happened, the Associated Press discovered in an investigation initially marked by official evasiveness, broken appointments and unreturned phone calls, is roughly this: Of the $875,000 appropriations, $500,000 has either been spent or is committed to contractors. One expert estimate is that it will require $1.7 million more to finish the job.

Embassy officials are hopeful that the funds needed to complete work on the 125-year-old house can be raised by private subscription. If they can't, the State Department will have to leave the property vacant, go back to Congress for the money, or sell it. It's worth nearly $5 million on today's market.

The State Department's building office in Paris let $188,000 in contracts between February and October 1968 for work on the mansion's roof, exterior walls and some plumbing. This work has been completed and was paid for in France. They last May and June further contracts were negotiated for plumbing, heating, electrical wiring, an elevator and a dumb waiter. These totaled $284,000. The latest contract, for $228,882, was signed Oct. 21 for mechanical work on the interior structure. This phase of the work should be finished Nov. 24, 1970.

Amerika Haus Revives Feeling Of Old Vienna

VIENNA (AP) — The U.S. Information Agency is reviving a tradition by turning part of its Amerika Haus into a Vienna coffee house.

The coffee house once was a cultural center in this Danube city. Franz Schubert and other famous composers wrote music in such places. The walls began a triumphant tour of the world from the "concert cafes" which dotted imperial Vienna. In post-war Vienna the coffee house became more functional, a place to drink a quick cup of coffee. One after another made room for espresso bars. The new coffee house at the Amerika Haus seeks to be a meeting place in the old tradition. Open attraction concert hall, a library and a room where youngsters can sit down on the floor and discuss things.

The purpose of this center will be to attract people with young ideas who will be interested in working with us to discover directions which man can take in the 20th century," says Robert G. Bohrens, public affairs officer of the U.S. Embassy.

A stable number of these youngsters will undoubtedly come from Communist-ruled Eastern Europe. Thousands of tourists from these flock to this neutral capital every year. There will in fact be two coffee houses attached to the Amerika Haus one for outdoor use during the summer months, and the other indoors.

What's In Spelling Anyhow? GABORONE, Botswana (AP) — The new spelling of the capital is only one of the changes in this independent black state whose names have been changed in working with us to discover directions which man can take in the 20th century," says Robert G. Bohrens, public affairs officer of the U.S. Embassy.

Stevenson was named to the top of the party's slate for the U.S. Senate in 1970. Stevenson, 66, the state treasurer and his party's top ballot attraction in 1964 and 1968, will probably face Sen. Ralph T. Daley.

POW Says Peace Rallies 'Boost Morale of Cong'

WASHINGTON (AP)—A former U.S. prisoner of war has raised a congressional stir. He says peace demonstrations and Army liaison officers helped statements by Senate Vietnam critics "helped break the spirit of Americans (POWs) and boost the morale of the Viet Cong."

Rep. James Rowe, says Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, and Rep. William F. Ryan, D-N.Y., is being used by the Army to discredit dissent and influence congressional policy on the war.

Rowe's congressional defenders say he is reporting facts Americans should know.

Rowe is a former special forces officer who escaped from the Viet Cong last year after being held five years in a dank U Minh Forest base camp, deep in the Mekong Delta.

He said his cover story was blown just before his escape when an unnamed U.S. peace group supplied his captors with his biography. Official accounts place Rowe as the lone American for years at his base camp prison.

Rowe has taped television interviews with some 20 congress-

Viet Official Wants Slayings Probed

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A helicopter pilot whose complaint led to an Army inquiry into the slaying of My Lai massacre was a heroism award for saving 16 children there. In South Vietnam, Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky said he has asked for a new investigation of the incident.

Chief WFO Hugh C. Thompson Jr., 37, confirmed Friday at Ft. Rucker, Ala., that he had received the Distinguished Flying Cross for bravery at My Lai on March 16, 1968—date of the alleged slaughter.

Thompson, of Decatur, Ga., declined to give any details but sources disclosed that the citation was awarded for his action in saving the lives of 16 Vietnamese children at "a point of disregard for his own safety."

Pentagon sources in Washington Friday said it was Thompson whose complaint touched off the Army's initial investigation of the alleged massacre. They declined to elaborate.

Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor told congressmen Wednesday that the original inquiry stemmed from a helicopter pilot who "suggested there might have been unnecessary killing of non-combatants at My Lai."

Army Lt. William L. Calley Jr. has been formally charged with the premeditated murder of 100 South Vietnamese villagers in My Lai. Investigators are under investigation in the case, 15 of them now civilians.

In Saigon, Ky said today he has asked the South Vietnamese Defense Ministry to conduct a further investigation of the incident.

An earlier inquiry ordered by President Nguyen Van Thieu concluded that the massacre reports were "completely inaccurate"—despite the fact that the U.S. Army had already filed charges against Calley.

School Bans Santa Claus

MARLBOROUGH, Mass. (AP)—The Marlborough School Department has banned all religious references to Christmas in the town's public schools, and also Hanukkah, the Jewish holiday which begins next Friday.

"All references to the winter Christmas will be eliminated in group activities planned in all Marlborough schools," a policy statement said.

School Dept. Anna W. Coleman said the department adopted the policy "following a conference with clergy members of all faiths in Marlborough."

He said the decision prohibits reference to Santa Claus and the exchange of gifts between parents and between pupils and teachers, and bars decorations in school windows connection with either holiday.

Coleman said the last year he received "numerous complaints" from Jewish parents about their children's participation in school holiday activities. He said the Civil Liberties Union complained that a "religious message" was being sent to a Christmas activity in the schools.

Racial Unrest In Military Seen Rising

SAIGON (AP)—A Pentagon civil rights specialist said today he believes the U.S. armed forces will be "sitting on a dangerous situation" unless they find ways to improve communication and relations between black and white servicemen.

Ending a week's visit to Vietnam, Lt. Howard Bennett, acting deputy assistant secretary of defense for civil rights, said he found white officers lacked "sensitivity, knowledge and understanding of the whole movement of black pride."

Bennett headed an eight-man team of investigators that toured military bases and interviewed some 800 servicemen. Three-fourths of them black.

His general conclusion, Bennett said, was that the military and technological communities about the future of the program, and much more dangerous than the public relations team at the White House had been prepared for, a political hurricane when President Nixon finally decides what to do next.

What has happened this year in space is astonishing. After a decade of men flying short hops like so many robots, suddenly two crews have not only managed to land on the moon, but to work on it. In between the two Apollo flights, the Russians had multiple crews experimenting with the mechanics and technology of putting instruments together in space. Mariner went to Mars and exposed to earth's scientists in vivid detail. It seems almost impossible to assimilate the knowledge that was burst upon us.

This seems to be one of the roads, along with money worries, of the crisis of personnel in the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the scientific community. The as-

Space Program 'Sinking'

By D. J. R. BRUCHE

Back on earth, the whole space program seems to be sinking in some kind of political swamp. There is confusion among the scientific and technological communities about the future of the program, and much more dangerous than the public relations team at the White House had been prepared for, a political hurricane when President Nixon finally decides what to do next.
