Agree Ends Threat of Rail Strike

Assistant Secretary of Labor W. J. Urey said at the beginning of the current marathon bargaining session Wednesday afternoon he was still optimistic for a settlement. But as the bargaining session dragged past the 15-hour mark, faces of negotiators and government officials appeared increasingly grim as they shuffled from room to room in the Labor Department with proposals and counterproposals.

Secretary of Labor George C. Schultz remained in his office, catnapping on a couch and receiving frequent reports on the talks in the dispatch which is crucially important to the Nixon administration's labor-management policy.

The administration wants a negotiated settlement without any appearance of heavy-handed federal pressure. At the same time, the White House wants to see smaller wage and price hikes to help in Nixon's effort to curb inflation.

That would probably force Nixon to ask Congress for a special law to end any shutdown, a politically dangerous move since the unions have not been described as "a luxurious hobo camp" with Arabian tappings, exotic cars, and a staff of 200.

Members of the four shopcraft unions—machinists, electricians, yard and mechanical workers and boilermakers—now earn $3.59 per hour.

Along with the cross-border military exchange, an unidentified former aide said.

On this basis, the community with the higher income, the more expensive homes, the more educational background, and more social status should be the community which would be most likely to welcome some opportunity to adopt some policy which reveals its lack of prejudice.

There's something in this theory. Quite possibly, it has had something to do with the degree of controversy with which Project Concern has been welcomed into, or rejected by, the various towns in the Hartford area.

But whether or not it worked around Hartford, the theory doesn't work for Scarsdale.

Scarsdale—whose very name at least used to be the symbol for upper class America—is apparently in the throes of some very lower class distress.

According to a dispatch to the New York Times, "a proposal to bus 20 Negro elementary schoolchildren from Mount Vernon into the nearby all-white Scarsdale public schools next year has caused consternation in this wooded Westchester Village."

The news story quotes Mrs. William Kay, president of the Scarsdale Council of Parent-Teacher Associations, which is supporting the proposal, as follows:

"You'd think the plan called for busing 4,000 Negro children instead of 20. This had become a very emotional issue."

The Scarsdale Board of Education has argued that the plan "will add an invaluable human dimension to our youngsters' schooling that no amount of black culture story-telling can supply."

Nevertheless, at six public hearings on the issue, those opposed have outnumbered those in favor. And, although the school board has refused to hold a referendum on the issue, pointing out that the law makes no provision for making any referendum binding on a school board, the residents of one section of the town held a referendum of their own, with the result 284 to 41 against the plan.

The Scarsdale school board votes on the matter next Monday night.

On Decorating: "What did she do with the pipe cleaners and the artificial holly after she made her beds of plastic and paper?" "She said to twist them through the wire, give the ends, and spray silver."

Anyone who has ever been exposed to a demonstration on how to make noise decorations for the holidays recognizes noise above conversation. Bright, original, artistic, ingenious women, annually give informative talks on how to make lively holiday items from un-likely materials.

After one such lecture, I was so carried away with the message of saving for peace that I was probably one of the few for months I never discarded an empty tuna-fish can without remorse of conscience.

For as boxes, empty egg cartons, halves of sardine cans, frozen-dinner trays, bubble gum containers, plastic coffee lids, bottle caps, tin trimmings, torn rain scarves, and last summer's collection of seashells from the seashore—their value is phenomenal.

As the speaker lecturer performs miracles with these assorted castoffs and a can of spray paint, it looks easy to do and exciting. Every woman present but me believes she can duplicate the finished product. Every woman present but me.

I know from past attempts that, although many of the odds and ends will take some kind of shape, it will still look like odds and ends.

On Christmas morning looking at little piles of junk all over the house coated with canned snow and flecked with sequins from a cocktail dress that had seen better days before the Truman Administration?

Once I was hung up on wire coat hangers. I had seen a most fantastic unburnt mass from them, where the U.S. troops were hanging.

I worked diligently to duplicate the total effect. The first guest appreciated it all right. She raved over the intricate design. I really had a winner until she looked down her nose and said, "How clever of you to think of wire coat hangers, my dear!"

In spite of that setback, I was still fair game for another lecture on wire coat hangers, professional centerpieces. She said it was only paper cups, angel hair, and a string of lights. I was motivated to try it.

Then I discovered that I didn't have enough paper cups in my cupboard for my five-year-old angel hair was tattered and torn, and a string of lights was already broken for the tree.

Coventry Steele Declares Leadership Lagging in Second District

Robert H. Steele of Vernon, a probable GOP candidate for the Second Congressional District seat now held by Democrat William S. Orme, told a joint meeting of the Coventry and Andover Republican Town Committees Tuesday night that both the national and Eastern Connecticut are going to require more vigorous and effective Congressional leadership in the 1970's than they are now receiving.

Robert H. Steele

Steele, who is 31, has been visiting Republican leaders throughout the Second Congressional District in the past few months and has not yet formally announced his candidacy, but is expected to do so in 1970. In his talk to the joint meeting, Steele said that on the national level, the current Democratic-controlled Congress has one of the worst records of any Congress in the past few decades.

Shannon To Get 'Life' in Slaying of Policeman

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — A sentence of life imprisonment awaits Paul J. "Blackie" Shannon in the slaying of a Hartford policeman.

Shannon was convicted by a Superior Court jury Wednesday night of second degree murder in the March 27 shooting of Francis X. Fenton.

Fenton, who was off duty at the time, stopped at the Edgewood Grill on his way home with "Master baskets for his children. According to testimony at the trial, Shannon was angry with the owner of the bar, John P. Chink, and pulled a gun on him.

When Fenton tried to intervene, he was wounded by Shannon. And when he got up again and tried to disarm Shannon, he was shot dead.

Shannon was tried on a charge of first degree murder, and State's Attorney John D. J. Libelle attempted to demonstrate that the crime was "deliberate and premeditated."

But Shannon's lawyer, Louis Ricciardi, did not dispute that his client killed Fenton, apparently over the jury with his argument that the shooting was a "sudden impulsive act by a man who lost control of his emotions."

Ricciardi said Shannon had been filled by his girlfriend and had done some heavy drinking before he walked into the Edgewood Grill that day.

The jury had convicted Shannon of first degree murder, it would have had to go back into session to consider the punishment for the crime—life imprisonment or death.

For second degree murder, there is only one sentence provided by law—life imprisonment.

Tolland Education Board To Seek Grants for Three Schools

A lightly attended town meeting last night unanimously agreed to permit the Board of Education to negotiate with the state for the receipt of grants for the middle school, the Meadowbrook School addition and the arts and science wing of the high school.

Estimated costs of the three school building projects are $2,300,000 for the middle school; $800,000 for the high school; and $200,000 for the Meadowbrook School addition.

The grants will be roughly 50 per cent of the estimated costs and will be received from the state immediately upon approval by the State Board of Education under the terms of Public Act 75-151 passed by the last session of the legislature.

A previous year the towns have financed school construction through the terms of Public Act 1967-2, permitting the town to borrow one-half the cost of the project.

A second advantage permits the town to apply for bonding through the state at a maximum four per cent interest rate. King noted the act is a bargain since the state presently pays six per cent and more for bonding.

Towns would be forced to pay even higher interest rates. A second advantage permits the town to apply for bonding through the state at a maximum four per cent interest rate.

Harriman Says Nixon's Speech Re-ignited War

NEW HAVEN, Conn. (AP)—Former diplomat W. Averell Harriman Tuesday night blamed President Nixon's Nov. 3 speech on Vietnam for the new offensive reportedly being planned by North Vietnam. North Vietnam viewed the President's address as a threat, Harriman told an audience at Yale, and, he added, "it's always unwise to threaten the enemy—especially a small people." Harriman, who headed the U.S. negotiating team in Paris last year, said it was "untrue" that the late North Vietnamese leader Ho Chi Minh had rejected a peace overture from the Nixon administration, as Nixon had charged in his Nov. 3 address. He read from Ho's letter excerpts saying that North Vietnam was seeking a "reasonable base of settlement." Ho also called for "good will on both sides," according to Harriman. Although sharply critical of Nixon's Vietnam policy, Harriman said he was optimistic because he assumed that the President "will realize he's on a disastrous course before it's too late." He said Nixon's Nov. 3 address to the people of the United States was motivated by "what is good for the political position of the President" rather than "how we can arrive at a settlement in Vietnam."

Ann Uccello Joins Town GOP Celebration

SOL R. COHEN About 200 Manchester Republicans, attending a victory-testimonial dinner last night at the Manchester Country Club, celebrated their sweep of the Nov. 4 municipal election and honored two veteran Republicans for their many years of public service. They whooped it up for their winners to elective office and they paid tribute to long-time town director and five-term mayor Harold A. Turkington and to former school board chairman Atty. John S. G. Rottner. Both retired from public service last month. And, as a surprise, appeared by Hartford Mayor Ann Uccello, invited and introduced by Mayor Nathan Agostinelli, electrified the Board of Directors is 6 to 3 Republican. After a few more words of praise for Manchester's GOP victory, Miss Uccello left. She had been in Manchester to attend the monthly meeting of the Capitol Region Council of Electors Officials, held in the Municipal Building. Agostinelli is chairman of the 26-town council. Agostinelli, who spoke next, said, "I hope that Harold and John have retired only from public office. I hope they continue to be involved in public service." Of Turkington, he said, "He is truly Manchester's number one citizen. I am in my fourth year on the board and I can tell you now that anyone who has been able to hold out for over 23 years certainly deserves everyone's thanks and tribute." Agostinelli named Rottner as "one of the finest individuals in Manchester and one of the hardest-working persons I have ever met. He took countless hours from his family and from his law practice and gave them unselfishly to the school board. And, he accomplished the task of negotiating contracts with the teachers to the credit of Manchester." In conclusion, Agostinelli pledged, "The Board of Directors I head will strive to continue the fine work started and continued by past Republican boards." GOP Town Chairman M. Adler Dobkin thanked all Republicans for participating in the Nov. 4 election sweep, and he praised all campaign workers for their dedication and for their many hours of work. He then presented Turkington and Rottner with framed photographs of themselves. Turkington's will be hung in the Municipal Building. Rottner's will be placed in the Richard Martin School, planned and completed during his tenure as school chairman. Town Manager Robert Wetas called on for remarks, said he was present to honor "two good citizens." "I've never known a poor government will work well with good people and good public servants," he said. "And, when a town has both good government and good people, there is no limit to how far it can go."

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By VIVIAN F. FERGUSON

Braided lobster stuffed with creamed dressing, braised beef in burgundy wine sauce, fried filet of flounder, hot turkey sandwich. Having dinner in a gourmet restaurant on a Thursday is a real treat for the most discerning of eaters. The executive chef of the top chef's cuisine would much rather talk about his wife's cooking, however. "I never go out to a restaurant," he says. "Five nights a week, my wife makes casseroles for me. Steak is out - anyone can broil a steak, but a good casserole takes special care, even though it may be very inexpensive."

DENNIS J. KLOTZER

"Dennis J. Klotzer of 49 Perkins St. is a tall, good-looking man who wears the toque (the tall chef's hat) with dignity. He is a quiet man, modest and, while not difficult to converse with, prefers to talk about someone or something other than himself. He likes his home and family. "Once I leave the hospital, I go home and stay there most nights." As a member of the Connecticut Chefs Association and secretary of the Manchester Sportsman's Association, which has its clubhouse in Coventry, he does attend organizational meetings.

Hunting and fishing are his hobbies. He and his family recently purchased a summer home in Vermont. Salmon and trout are his favorite catches there. In the fall, he hunts pheasant and partridge and tries for a deer. He likes professional football and basketball.

Dennis was born and brought up in Manchester, the son of the Charles Klotzer and Alice Williams resides on Hackmatack St. Mrs. Dennis Klotzer is the former Judith Hickey, who met her husband while in high school. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hickey, also on Hackmatack St. Dennis and Judith have married eight years and have three children, Sandra, 7, and John, 4.

Dennis became involved with food while still in high school. Under an educational program then practiced in the school system, he worked part-time during the school day for which he was graded by his employer. As a "round" cook he filled in whenever needed at a Howard Johnson restaurant under the guidance of Peter Trombetta, who is now manager of Avon Country Club.

The Culinary Institute of America in New Haven was Dennis' next venture. Upon graduation, he gained experience in restaurant and country club operations. After working for an industrial catering service, he accepted his present position with the Manchester hospital two years ago. While Dennis wanted regular working hours which the hospital position would afford, he had a few doubts as to whether his creativity would suffer. On the contrary, he found the hospital administration eager for new ideas, giving him much freedom to operate as an executive.

"This is a wonderful place to work," asserts Chef Dennis. The hospital's desire to provide the patients with the type of meals available in the best restaurants, about 10,000 patient meals are served daily over the course of a day, not including cafeteria services. There are approximately 200 at breakfast in the cafeteria with 400 at lunch. With an average patient stay of seven days, menus are planned on three-week cycles. The cafeteria, of course, has more frequent changes.

Dennis does not present the picture of the typically temperamental chef. He is typical in striving for perfection and cleanliness, and is capable of cleaning it from his staff. Like most experts, he cooks with a pinch of this and a handful of that. "Then, I taste it, and if it isn't just right, I add a little more."

As an expert ice carver, Dennis can utilize one ice block three different times. His first creation might be a swan. When the neck and head melt, he fashions a goose with a short neck. The final work will end up as an owl.

Extremely modest about publicity, Dennis is very proud of his wife's culinary accomplishments. When first married, he gave Judith some recipes. She did all the work and then he would criticize. "She's really good, and I almost never cook at home," Judith is chairman of the kitchen and social committee of Vernon Congregational Church.

Chef Dennis shares with us three gourmet dishes. While his recipes are in quantities for 60, he has taken the time to figure proportions for six.

Tournedos Rossini
Tournedos are the aristocrats of steak, taken from the heart of the filet of beef. They are sometimes called medallions of filet of beef I prevailed upon Dennis to change the title as Rossini traditionally uses a slice of foie gras (goose liver) and truffles. Because these two items might be difficult for our readers to secure, he has sug-

'Panther' Jailed In Public Threat On Nixon's Life

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - David Hillard, Black Panther party chief of staff accused in a federal indictment of killing an antiwar rilly: "We will kill Richard Nixon," has been arrested.

Hillard, 27, was unable to post the $30,000 bond set Wednesday by U.S. Dist. Court Judge Stanley Weis and was taken to the Alameda County Jail.

Secret Service agents arrested Hillard as he was driving in downtown San Francisco about an hour after the federal grand jury returned the indictment.

It charged Hillard with willfully and knowingly making threats in public to take the life of or harm the President of the United States. Conviction carries a maximum penalty of five years in prison and a fine of $10,000.

The charge grew out of a rally at Golden Gate Park on Nov. 15 attended by a crowd estimated by police at 65,000. It was televised live locally.

The indictment said Hillard "referred to President Richard Nixon as 'the man that's responsible for all the attacks on the Black Panther party nationally' and stated, 'We will kill Richard Nixon.'"

Hillard, a former longshoreman, awaits trial in another case on charges of assault with a deadly weapon and attempted murder. This charge resulted from a shooting between Panther and Oakland police April 6, 1968, when Panther Bobby Huton was killed and two other chieftains were wounded.

John Lennon Christa Role In 'Jesus Christ'

LONDON (AP) - John Lennon has been invited to play Jesus in a pop musical called "Jesus Christ" planned for the spring at St. Paul's Cathedral.

The bearded Beatle said today he would consider the role if his friend Yoko Ono is permitted to portray Mary Magdalene.

Tim Rice, 25, composer of the musical, said that he and Andrew Lloyd Webber, 21, the producer, said they believe Lennon would be ideal in the title role.

"We are bound to upset a few people but we don't want to annoy anyone," they said in a statement. "He is sincere in his efforts for peace - that is trying to do something."

"The dean of St. Paul's, the Very Rev. Martin Gloaguer, said: 'Why should I have an opinion? I am interested in what the musical's organizers have done.'"

UMW's Boyle Fights Free-Swinging Battle

By ED NICHOLS
Associated Press Writer
CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP) — W.A. "Tony" Boyle walked in the shadow of John L. Lewis for 21 years before emerging last summer as the leader of the United Mine Workers of America.

Now Lewis is gone and Boyle is invoking his name and his family's name as he tries to style as the son of John L. Lewis, the son of a coal miner who had entered Scotland's coal pits at the age of 9. In 1948, Lewis called him to Washington and Boyle rode far west to the one-hundred coal mines of eastern Montana, where he had lost the small finger of his right hand in an accident.

Boyle's shrewd, Richard J., is the relative property of today. The 67-year-old Boyle is fighting an intense free-swinging battle—and the miners love it. Boyle accuses his opponent, Joseph A. "Joe" Yablonski of "leaky hypocrisy" and "cheap opportunism." He derides what he terms Yablonski's "madden conversion to sainthood" and Boyle thunders: "What the hell charges him with a 'transparent intention' to deliver the union to outside forces."

Boyle has had to do, for every free minute finds the shrewd, free minute finds the coal fields from the portals of the dingy mines to the houses of the men who work them. Lewis when he tells miners the union "won't deliver the mine that we've got for the men who dig it for $20 a day." They now earn from $25 to $35 a day feeding the nearly $6-billion per year coal industry.

Boyle remembers a coal miner could once buy a good steak for his family's dinner for well under a dollar a pound," Boyle told his wife, Mary.

"And when your children were off to school this fall, how much did those new shoes on their feet set you back?" he asks, only to answer his own question: "Plenty, I'm sure."

United Mine Workers Election: Underdog Yablonski Prepared for Losing

WELCH W. VA. (AP) — "My name is Joe Yablonski," says the chunky challenger for the presidency of the United Mine Workers of America as he stumps the coal fields of Appalachia.

With a quick, firm handshake, Joseph A. Yablonski adds: "I'm going straight this union out. I hope you can see your way clear to vote for me."

Yablonski, 59, is challenging incumbent President W. A. "Tony" Boyle, 67, for the right to rule the 220,000-member union for the next five years. Boyle, who will take office Dec. 9, is constantly puffing cigarettes or pencil-size cigars. Yablonski has been campaigning full tilt since declaring his candidacy May 29.

"Mining is still the most dangerous of all occupations and the union is falling far short of what it should be doing," he contends in a television interview. "The mine workers organization has been stagnant. The miners need to belong to a labor organization that is totally democratic so it can be responsive to their needs."

In the flesh, he is more blunt, thundering: "We'll throw them plunders out of there."

"It's time the miners stopped being treated like dirt. It's time you got some respect and something more than a day's pay," he tells the rank and file during shift changes at the mines.

Yablonski says he is prepared to fight for the possibility of losing, a possibility he claims is there only because the incumbent and union leadership "plans to steal the election."

"If I lose, I'm still ambitious and I'll play the devil's game to get back in," he says.

Hebron Town To Strictly Enforce Parking Ban on Snow Days

First Selectman Aaron Reid has stated that there will be strict enforcement of the town's snow removal ordinance relative to parking a motor vehicle on town roads during snow removal operations.

The ordinance, adopted Oct. 20, 1964 at a town meeting, states that "any person who parks a motor vehicle within the limits of any street or highway maintained by the Town of Hebron during and for five hours after any winter storm, so as to obstruct snow removal operations, shall be fined $2 and shall be liable for any necessary towing costs."

Because of the many problems created in the past by parked cars on town roads when tractors are attempting to plow, it has become necessary to enforce the ordinance.

Police officers during snow storms, residents may call the town garage.

Reid also announced that effective immediately he will hold regular office hours in the Town Office Building on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays from 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Office hours at other times will be scheduled by appointment.

Police officers during snow storms, residents may call the town garage.

They Created Them Themselves

Displaying her oil painting of "Pitcher with lemons and limes" for the appraisal of Mrs. Lois Aaron is Mrs. Richard Karpinski of 92 Falkner Dr. The work was created in the Manchester Adult Evening School class of Mrs. Lucille Glaeser. Mrs. Aaron, of 141 Pitkin St., holds a pink dress coat made in the beginning sewing class of Mrs. Judy Marteny. Last night in the Manchester High School cafeteria, the two ladies were among approximately 40 evening school enrollees who exhibited about 80 items completed during the first semester.

Philip Ulanis, who was called as a defense witness, said he regarded the drawing as a gesture of contempt. The Court would never print such a thing, Ulanis said.

Hardy is on trial on a charge of libel. Similar charges against two other students, Benedict M. Holden and John Zannal, were dismissed Wednesday because the prosecution was unable to establish their relationship to the student newspaper.

Charges of obscenity against all three students were dropped on Tuesday.

Student Editor Defends Cartoon Labeled Libelous

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The editor of a student newspaper which published an insulting salute to President Nixon testified in court Wednesday he didn't think the cartoon was malicious.

The drawing, which appeared in the Nov. 13, 1968, edition of the Liberated Press at the University of Hartford, depicted a fist with a raised middle finger drawn to resemble a male sex organ.

Under the cartoon was a caption which simply said: "Richard M. Nixon."

Student editor John S. Hardy said in court that the purpose of the cartoon was to signify the frustration of youth, the lack of communication in society, and what Nixon's victory in the presidential election meant to the American public.

Six prosecution witnesses said they found the cartoon vulgar, repulsive and abusive. Six defense witnesses called it political satire and part of the political dialogue carried on in the pages of the Liberated Press about the 1968 election.

Blacks Seize Harvard Hall

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Between 50 and 100 blacks seized control of Harvard University's administrative nerve center, University Hall, today to dramatize several demands.

The group moved in just before start of the business day and placed wooden bars over the windows and doors. Employees reporting for work were turned away.

There were reports that a handful of employees had been forcibly ejected by the protesters, but the university said these were erroneous.

"My understanding is that there was no violence," said Harvard College Dean Ernest R. May.

Using a bullhorn, May told the protesters about 45 minutes after the seizure that they might be liable to criminal trespass prosecution if they remained.

Later, May, L. Gard Wiggin, Harvard's administrative vice president, and Prof. Archibald Cox were allowed into the building to talk with the demonstrators.

At that point there was no evidence of police involvement, Cox said separately about a half hour later. Cox is the company of a black youth.

Cox and the youth went back inside shortly thereafter, and Cox called again to tell newsmen the next move was up to the protesters.

He said the university had sent the OBU a formal response to its demand Thursday night, but the organization had not received it. He said he left to get a copy of the response and gave it to the demonstrators, when he returned.

He described the protesters as a "very orderly, well behaved gathering."

Small clusters of blacks occasionally moved in and out of the building. Some carried food. They declined to speak with newsmen.

The demonstrators, members of a group calling itself the Organization for Black Unity, OBU, spotted colleagues in buildings near University Hall, apparently to act as lookouts for police. Some carried walkie-talkies.

The OBU has been increasingly active on the Harvard campus in recent weeks. Its demands have ranged from increased Negro enrollment of the 33-year-old Ivy League institution to improvements for Negro laborers employed by the school.

In a statement issued shortly after the takeover, the protesters said they wanted more blacks hired at universities where

U.S. Jobless Rate Takes Sharp Drop

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate took its sharpest monthly drop in 10 years in November, declining five-tenths of one per cent to 4.4 per cent, the Labor Department said today.

However, most of the sharp drop was accounted for by workers leaving the labor force and seeking their own way, a spokesman said.

The report showed a small rise of 45,000 to a total of 78.7 million employed Americans.

"There is continued slowdown in employment growth," said Howard Stambler, chief of the Division of Employment Statistics.

The civilian labor force declined 83,000 as many so-called "secondary" workers — teenagers, women and young men — left the labor force, Stambler said.

The drop in unemployment counterbalanced September's jobless rise of five-tenths of one per cent, which had been the sharpest jump in about 10 years.

"Unemployment rates for secondary workers — teenagers, adult women and part-time workers — were reduced significantly over the month. Among primary breadwinners, however, rates remained about the same, though the total number of secondary workers — rates of unemployment were moderately," said the report by the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Other key figures in the report pointed to a continued economic slowdown in President Nixon's effort to combat inflation, including a drop in factory overtime for the second month in a row and another drop in average earnings.

"Average weekly earnings fell by 62 cents in November to $116.67," the report said. It was the second straight monthly decline in earnings for some 46 million rank-and-file workers.

Average hourly earnings remained unchanged at $11.15. Weekly paychecks were lower

G.I.s Find Even Children Can Kill

EDITOR'S NOTE — Allegation that American G.I.s massacred South Vietnamese civilians during a raid on a village complex last year has stunned the United States. How could it happen?

The most frequently asked question in the following analysis, John T. Wheeler, who reported the war in Vietnam for the Associated Press for several years, gives an insight into the conditions of a strange war in which anything can happen.

By JOHN T. WHEELER, Associated Press Writer

To try to understand the alleged massacre by American G.I.s of civilians at My Lai it is necessary also to understand the atmosphere of a war which has led many U.S. fighting men to feel they are as much at war against Vietnam as for it.

While the communists speak of battles involving companies and battalions—the clash of professional soldiers doing their grim job—each G.I. carries with him the certain knowledge that in any village there may be men, women, and even children who are also the enemy, waiting for the time and place to attack.

Brutality, and indifference to human life, are commonplace in Vietnam. Even the disfigurement of dead G.I.s is common.

In Vietnam the killing of civilians was a practice established by the Viet Cong as a major part of the war long before the first U.S. ground troops were committed in March 1965.

By official count, more than 30,000 civilians had been murdered by that time in enemy controlled areas. The charge was the terrorizing of the countryside that would result. The toll now is more than 40,000, including more than 3,000 killed by the enemy in Hue when they held part of that city for 2 1/2 weeks. A

Calley Faces Viet Probers

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor today reached outside the Army and appointed a special counsel to help in a probe of a possible cover-up in the original field investigation of the alleged My Lai massacre.

A Pentagon spokesman said Resor wanted a civilian counsel available to Lt. Gen. William B. Peers, head of the investigating board, to help assure "objectivity and impartiality."

Resor chose Robert MacCrata, partner in the New York law firm of Sullivan and Cromwell. The 46-year-old MacCrata in turn selected James K. Walsh Jr., partner in the New York law firm of Walsh and Prich, as his associate special counsel.

Resor's move was announced as the probe board prepared to take testimony from chief Lt. William L. Calley Jr., who is facing court martial on charges of killing at least 109 Vietnamese soldiers in My Lai hamlet on March 16, 1968.

The eight-man board, made up mostly of military officers, is questioning witnesses in secret at the Army Operations Center, two levels below ground in the Pentagon.

The mission of the Peers board is to determine why there was a falldown in the original investigation in April 1968 of reports of atrocities at My Lai.

According to the Army, that field investigation concluded the reports were unsubstantiated. In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

Las Vegas Expedite Viet Probe

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Maj. Charles Robb says he is anxious for the Pentagon to investigate and clear up an allegation that men in his Marine company had killed or injured Vietnamese civilians.

The 20-year-old son-in-law of former President Lyndon B. Johnson, replying to a report of "indiscriminate killing" by Marines in his command, said: "I know of no single instance in which any of the civilians were injured or killed."

In Washington an aide to Sen. Charles H. Percy, R-Ill., announced earlier that the senator had asked the Pentagon to investigate charges of "indiscriminate killing" by U.S. troops.

The charge was made in a letter to Percy from Anthony Martin-Trigona of Champlain, Ill.

Columnist Jack Anderson said Thursday in an article published in the New York Post, the letter claims the killings were committed by members of Robb's Marine company, Martin-Trigona visited Vietnam as a newspaper correspondent.

Robb, who spent 18 months in Vietnam, is married to the former Lynda Bird Johnson.

At a Las Vegas news conference Thursday, Robb said Percy had informed him of the letter and referred the matter to the Defense Department for investigation.

"I'd like to clean it up and put it to bed," Robb said of the charges.

In writing to Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird, Percy said that Martin-Trigona "mentions incidents of indiscriminate killing in Vietnam which deserve attention during DOD campaign of the Song My (My Lai) incidents." The Pentagon said the letter from the former

Senate Vetoes Bid to End Private Unit Tax Exemption

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate voted overwhelmingly today to eliminate the tax reform bill and a provision that would have ended the tax exemption privilege for private foundations after 40 years. Opponents had called the provision "a death sentence" for the foundation.

The action came before the Senate was set to consider adding an amendment to the bill to increase Social Security benefits Jan. 1 by 15 per cent—an action a ranking Republican senator said would increase the chances of a presidential veto of the entire bill.

The Finance Committee had approved the foundation provision after hearing testimony that hundreds of foundations had been set up for tax evasion purposes.

Sen. John O. Pastors, D-R.I., arguing to eliminate the provision, said, "If you keep this you're going to destroy some things that are fine and noble in America."

"Don't burn down the barn just to get one mouse," he said.

Sen. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., a principal author of the provision, said the committee had found "the great majority of these foundations were set up for purposes of tax evasion."

Many of them, he argued, paid little or nothing in charitable and educational benefits to the public.

Before the 60-38 vote on the foundations, acting Senate GOP Leader Robert F. Griffin told newsmen he "wouldn't bet against" a presidential veto if the Social Security increase were added to the bill.

The Democrats, moving rapidly to stall the march on the House, prepared the Social Security rider Thursday, hoping to get it into position for adop-

Viet Cong Schedule Cease-Fire

SAIGON (AP) — The Viet Cong announced today that its forces would observe Christmas and New Year's truces of three days each, one day longer than those proclaimed Thursday by the Saigon government.

The Viet Cong radio said the Christmas truce would start at 1 a.m. Dec. 24, 12 noon Dec. 25, 12 noon Dec. 26, and end at 1 a.m. Dec. 27. It said the New Year's truce would run from 1 a.m. Dec. 28 to 1 a.m. Jan. 2.

President Nguyen Van Thieu proclaimed Saigon cease-fire at 8 p.m. Christmas Eve and 4 p.m. New Year's Eve.

The U.S. Command said American forces would join in the truce proclaimed by Thieu.

The U.S. Command said today it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

In a special memorandum to newsmen, the command said it had received reports for the first time in the war that North Vietnamese army officers executed at least a dozen of their soldiers who tried to desert.

NATO Nations Propose Troop Cut Talks with USSR

BRISELLE (AP) — Fourteen NATO nations proposed today to begin talks with the Communists to discuss mutual troop reductions as a demonstration that the Communists are really interested in proposing a European security conference.

France was reported holding talks because it is not part of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's unified military command. The French government expressed doubt that Germany could take part soon in a security conference because the country has no part in a program of NATO-Warsaw Pact troop reductions.

The decision to renew the 18-month offer to talk troop reductions emerged at the wrap-up session of the NATO Council of Foreign Ministers. The ministers were completing a joint declaration on East-West relations and on the Soviet bloc call for Pan-European security conference in the next six months.

Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann of France also objected to a West German proposal that the alliance reject the Soviet bloc demand at its Moscow summit meeting Thursday for international recognition of the East German regime. Schumann said such a rejection would imply acceptance of the principle of negotiations between two blocs, and France opposes the division of Europe into blocs.

NATO first offered to negotiate mutual reductions in armed strength in June 1968, before the Soviet invasion of Czechoslovakia. Moscow ignored the offer.

Paul Hartung, Denmark's foreign minister, told the alliance that in a recent talk with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko he could find no sign of Soviet interest in troop reductions.
