U.S. B52 Bombing Continues in Laos

By GEORGE EPPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Up to 400 U.S. B52s and smaller warplanes maintained heavy bombing pressure today on reported buildups of North Vietnamese war supplies in the Panhandle area of southern Laos at the northwest-ern corner of South Vietnam.

Three B52s were also struck in South Vietnam, 10 miles northwest of Khe Sanh at the frontier. The South is an abandoned U.S. Marine base set up to stop enemy infiltration along Route 9 from Laos, seven miles west, and across the western portion of the demilitarized zone that separates the Viet-nam.

Two aircraft carriers of the U.S. 7th Fleet were reported standing by in the Gulf of Tonkin off North Vietnam, and a third carrier was reported pre-pared to enter the gulf. The three carriers carry more than 200 ships.

Informants said American intelligence has detected a build-up in the region northwest of Khe Sanh bordering the demilitarized zone on the north and Laos on the west.

B52 bombers have been repeatedly attacking the area. About 40 sorties have been flown so far this month. A sortie is one flight by one plane.

In Saigon, the Air Force cancelled all regularly scheduled C-130 passenger flights from Tan Son Nhut airbase. Spokesmen said the four-engine transporters were diverted to higher priority missions such as carrying combat troops and war supplies.

His statements led to speculation in Washington that South Vietnamese ground forces with U.S. air support might try to break up North Vietnamese supply convoys heading for South Vietnam through the Laotian Panhandle.

President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam conferred for 80 minutes Friday with the highest U.S. civilian and military officials in Saigon, Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker and Gen. Creighton W. Abrams. No announcement was made as to the purpose of the conference.

Scores of tons carrying 30 tons of bombs each have been hammering at the region north-west of Khe Sanh where the Ho Chi Minh trail, the network of trails over which the North Vietnamese send supplies southward, crosses the Laotian frontier into South Vietnam.

The United States launched a massive campaign against the supply network last October to effect the dry-season movement of North Vietnamese troops and supplies into South Vietnam and Cambodia.

By wrecking North Vietnam's only supply routes the United States hopes to buy time for Vietnamization, President Nixon's program to turn over the fighting lead to Saigon while withdrawing American troops.

In today's only significant ground action reported, the South Vietnamese claimed killing 30 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong with the help of six aircraft and artillery 15 miles southwest of Hui. A spokesman said there were no South Vietnamese casualties.

Cambodian gunboats escorting a supply convoy along the Mekong River encountered three enemy units Friday night just southeast of Phnom Penh, but a military spokesman said

Skeptics on Nixon Budget Flavor Praise with Doubt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The President to combine his Congressional skeptics have red-ink budget with voluntary wage and price restraints.

"This is the 1970s and not the 1930s," Albert said. "To control inflation it is necessary to have a direct intervention by the President through the use of standby credit controls, wage and price controls, of the kind that the Democrats have done in 1965."

House Republican leader Gerald Ford of Michigan described the budget as "a carefully drawn fiscal plan which stands out as perhaps the first federal budget to help promote full employment and peacetime prosperity."

And the ranking Republican on the Senate Finance Committee, Wallace F. Bennett of Utah, said the projected two-year deficit spending should be held to $20 billion and part of the savings fed into such items as pollution control, job training and health and education.

"That's the way to give power to the people," he said.

Air Power To Assure Safe Pullout

By LEWIS GULICK
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State William P. Rogers expressed concern about enemy supply buildups in southern Laos, saying unlimited U.S. air power will be available through drawing GIs.

Asked about reports of an impending major push by allies into northwestern South Vietnam near the Laos-Cambodia border, Rogers refused to discuss "what we are going to do in a military way" about the communist buildup.

The Washington Post said in today's edition that South Vietnamese forces reportedly are preparing to strike at the South Vietnamese-Cambodian end of the Southern Laos peninsula, with U.S. air support.

The Post said that Cambodian and Laotian guerrillas are operating clandestinely through the region which is being pounded by B52 bombers. The action, the Post said, appears to be a prelude to new ground attacks.

"There is a very critical period about to ensue," Rogers told news conference Friday.

"By May 1 we will have withdrawn about 50,000 more troops and we will have our troops largely out of the combat role," he said.

"The enemy obviously senses it is a dry season—will attempt to build up its base areas so that it can attack us at that point."

Most of the North Vietnamese activity is in Cambodia and southern Laos, Rogers said, adding: "So our airpower is going to be used the maximum extent necessary, that the President feels necessary, for the safety of Americans in Cambodia or Vietnam."

Rogers coupled the pledge of unlimited airpower to protect American forces withdrawing from South Vietnam with assurance the administration will not violate a congressional ban against sending U.S. ground combat troops or advisers into Cambodia.

Latest Living Costs Report Spurs Democrats' Outcry

By NEIL GLENBERG
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A government report showing the highest two-year rise in living costs in nearly a quarter century has prompted new cries of alarm from Democrats and organized labor and critics from the White House.

The Labor Department report said consumer prices in December turned more sharply upward and wound up 1970 with a 2.3-per cent hike on top of 1969's 6.1-per cent rise.

Living costs in December and in the final quarter of 1970 showed a renewed upswing.

Dr. Joel Popkin, assistant commissioner of the Bureau of Labor statistics which compiles the purchasing power of every dollar. That total matched a 1968-69 inflation high during the Korean War and was highest since 1948-49, immediately after World War II.

The bureau said 1970 inflation more than wiped out wage gains of 44 million rank-and-file workers and left them 1 per cent, or about 11¢ a week, behind 1969 purchasing power and $2.30 below buying power two years ago. The average paycheck here is $10.9 a week less than it was in 1968.

"The important thing is that the buying power of rank-and-file American workers after-

Writer Says Astronauts Lack Joe Namath Image

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Author Norman Mailer says American moon men lack the "Joe Namath" image of the 20th century hero.

He called NASA's public relations approach "incredibly par-ticular" and said that "unless astronauts projected by the public as an astronaut, they're in terrible trouble."

He said Friday the astronauts are "tough men—daredevils" at a new conference at the Fairmont Hotel promoting his new book, "Of a Fire on the Moon," which he said describes "the moral and spiritual com-plexities of traveling in space."

Mailer said the astronauts are more interesting. "We don't have present football players as only to kids. That's because they're not kids. That's because they're not kids and that damn dialogue," he said.

To Mailer, a real hero is ex-emplified by the Apollo 11 moon land Raiders 43-year-old quar-

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP)—The countdown ticked on, the astronauts relaxed, and everything was "go" today for Sunday's launching of Apollo 14 to the moon.

At 3:25 p.m. EST Sunday, if there are no hitches, Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa will ride the power of a Saturn 5 rocket away from their home planet on America's first moon flight in nine months.

The launch team concentrated today on the Saturn 5 after completing preparatory work on the command and lunar modules Friday. Batteries were installed on the rocket and power was transferred to internal from an external ground source.

The astronauts generally planned to relax in crew quarters five miles from the launch pad. In the afternoon they visit with their families and friends, communicating with them through a glass partition.

The position is a requirement of a Medical Isolation that the astronauts started Jan. 31. They are restricted to direct contact with key personnel.

The wives and children of all three astronauts flew here from their Houston homes to watch the launching.

For Louise Shepard it will be the second time she has watched her husband vault into space. Nearly a decade ago, Shepard became America's first spaceman when he made a brief suborbital trip atop a relatively puny Redstone rocket with less than one-one-hundredth the power of the Saturn 5.

For Louise Mitchell and Joan Roosa it will be a first. Their husbands are space rookies.

This will be the first manned lunar mission since the abortive Apollo 13 mission last April. The future of the Apollo program could be riding on it.

The near-disaster of Apollo 13, in which the three astronauts made it safely home on the eye-ripping lunar module after an oxygen tank exploded in the command ship, contributed to the cancellation of two Apollo launches. All three of the remaining moon landings could be in jeopardy if Apollo 14 fails.

In Apollo 14 it was delayed nearly four years because of design changes made to the oxygen tank system and additional features were added to the spacecraft.

"We have a better spacecraft now and it's not a doubt more so than Apollo 13," Roosa said recently. "We have about 1,000 VITS—expected to jam the cape area Sunday after-noon."

"I'd guess about 100,000 are already here," Breward County Sheriff Leigh Wilson said today.

"But we won't have any traffic problems until after the launch, when everybody starts pouring out of the county at the same time."

Most of the celebrities will be guests of the astronauts, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration or the various companies that handled Apollo

Mozambique Cyclone Toll Nears 1,000

LOURENCO MARQUES, Mozambique (AP)—Rescue workers thrashing through the mud and swirling waters left by Cyclone Felice said today the storm probably killed 500 to 1,000 persons.

Early rumors of more than 100,000 dead in the devastated Zambezi Region of Portuguese Mozambique were discounted.

The stricken area, with a population of about 1.5 million, was hit by a 20-foot flood waters as deep as 30 feet.

Communications were cut and light aircraft, helicopters and boats were ferrying food, clothing and medicine to survivors isolated on high ground.

Rescue pilots said terrified villagers were clinging to palm trees, but roofs and anything else protruding above the water.

Portuguese air force planes joined in rescue operations and speed relief to the victims of the storm's worst food.

The company said yesterday it has written a $50,000 travel accident insurance policy on each of the men scheduled to leave for the moon Sunday.

The company declined to disclose the premiums for the policy, but began as the spacemen enter the command module at Cape Kennedy and ends when their post flight quarantine is over.

Witnesses said the northern module at Cape Kennedy was under water and hundreds of thousands of Africans were stranded.

Many rice, sugar, coffee and tea crops in Zambezi were reported wiped out.

Climbers Survive Ordeal

MT. WASHINGTON, N.H. (AP)—Four young mountain climbers paused at the intersection of five trails high on Mt. Washington and took out their Appalachian Mountain Club map.

Hurricane-force winds tore the map from their hands and blew it away. Swirling snow obscured the sun. They took one wrong trail Tuesday, beginning four harrowing days for the New Jersey men, members of the Rutgers University Outdoor Club. They became lost on the 6,288-foot mountain in temperatures as low as 28 below zero and winds up to 80 miles an hour.

They were found Friday, apparently in good shape, after they took advantage of a break in the weather to trek to the summit.

"We went to the summit as the nearest place to find people," said Joseph DiMaio, 22, of Irvington. "We wanted to call off the search."

Another of the climbers, Barry Vazquez, 25, of West Orange, said he and Ed Saller, 21, of Vineland,

Bets on For Smooth Trip In Heavens

HARTFORD (AP)—The Travelers Insurance Co. is setting $100,000 that Apollo 14 astronauts Shepard, Roosa and Mitchell make it back from the moon alive and healthy.

The company said yesterday it has written a $50,000 travel accident insurance policy on each of the men scheduled to leave for the moon Sunday.

Hebron Selectmen Ask New Method Of Allocating Road Aid Funds

The Board of Selectmen has requested State Rep. William O'Neill to give his support to change in the method of allocating available town aid road funds.

In a letter to O'Neill Thursday, the selectmen recommended that "the money be allocated on either a square foot or a square yard basis rather than on the present population formula."

When O'Neill met with the selectmen on Jan. 14 he said that he felt nothing would come up the present legislature with regard to road funds, but would support any bill that might be presented.

The selectmen also voted Thursday to officially request the state legislature to pass some act on the subject of road funds.

Hebron Selectmen Ask New Method Of Allocating Road Aid Funds

Then, if necessary, the selectmen will request O'Neill's assistance in the matter. If the state legislature passes the bill, each year the first place Hebron resident's name would be inscribed.

The commission tabled any action on an offer made to the town to purchase five acres of land with a pond on Rt. 56 in Amford.

James Hubbard, chairman of the Conservation Commission, reported that the land has no potential for conservation. The Recreation Commission would like to purchase the offer before taking action.

Reappointment - The state legislature's Joint Committee on Reapportionment and Redistricting will hold public hearings next week on congressional and state redistricting and reapportionment.

Per Pupil Cost Up 12 Per Cent For Manchester

Manchester's per pupil operating cost for 1969-70 was $976.80, according to the report issued yesterday by the Connecticut Public Expenditure Council. This is a 12 per cent increase over the $870.20 per pupil cost for 1968-69.

The percentage of increase in the state average was 12.5 per cent, and the amount slightly higher. The statewide average was a jump of 12.5 per cent to $702.50 to $788.31. The state midpoint per pupil cost was $718.48.

Among the state's 169 towns, Manchester was 20th in per pupil cost, with $976.80. The expenditure placed it second among area towns. Bolton was first with $988.30.

Net operating expenses include outlays for administration, instruction, attendance and health services, plant operation and maintenance, fixed charges, net cost for food service and student body activities, and tuition payments to other towns and state regions for districts.

For the 1969-70 period, the state average was $976.80, an increase of 12.5 per cent over the 1968-69 average. The state average was $702.50 to $788.31. The state midpoint per pupil cost was $718.48.

Registrars Back Extending Vote To 18-Year-Old

The First Congressional District Registrars of Voters Association last night endorsed a proposed state constitutional amendment, extending the voting franchise for 18-to-20-year-olds in an act of the state legislature.

As approved by the Board of Education at its last meeting, the Hebron Elementary School and the Glastonbury High School will be the host for the 18th Assembly District.

Mrs. Schaffer, while stressing the importance of retaining or eliminating antiquated election laws that hinder or deter qualified citizens from going to the polls, also emphasized that "eligible voters must make every personal effort to assume this vital responsibility."

She noted, "In a truly democratic society, it is not enough to pass a law which says that all qualified persons may vote. It is also necessary that every citizen must vote. This is an individual responsibility and must be stressed as such. We can assist voters, however, offer potential voters every opportunity for full participation."

Down With Highbrows

It has been a long time since we have had a real good wrangle between our literary highbrows and the lowdown public taste.

Taking our usual stand in such instances, as I think we would, in another era, have lauded "Able's Irish Rose" for a Pulitzer — we come out solidly on the side of Erich Segal's "Love Story," the novel, that is.

The highbrow position has already been established by the decision of National Book Committee to eliminate "Love Story" from the list of titles eligible for its annual fiction award. The Committee found itself forced to eliminate "Love Story," or contend with the threatened resignation of the five literary figures, including three with published novels to their own credit, who considered "Love Story" automatically below their aesthetic standards.

So while the public keeps on making "Love Story" the best seller of all modern times, the literary highbrows will simply ignore it and award their desirable accolade to something else, with sales and readers neatly numbered below the 100,000 mark.

One of the choices readers in this situation is that Author Segal himself is scheduled to serve as a judge in the arts and letters category of this year's National Book Committee awards, which seems to mean that he is good enough to be a judge, but not good enough to be judged.

We ate for "Love Story," the novel. We do not consider that such pertinence on our part obligates us to explain how such a lovely little book could be made into what we suspect (without seeing it) must be a completely horrible movie. Nor do we choose to discuss the aesthetic attitude of some people that "Love Story" is, basically, not much more than "Able's Irish Rose" brought up to date in ethics and language.

The basic defense of "Love Story" is very simple. It makes you feel good to be a human being, and to be alive, and it reminds you, after a long dismal depression in literary fashions, that life, and death, can be beautiful.

A Revolt Of The "Odd-Lotters?"
Ordinary sensible people, who never even open their minds to thoughts of getting rich by processes and indulgences of speculation, are probably in complete ignorance about the hottest Wall Street theory of the moment.

We take pleasure, therefore, in reporting to the cautious dummies of the world, to all those who will never succumb in turning a quick dollar at anything, the current Wall Street formula for figuring out the stock market.

This says the theory which currently dominates the thinking of the brokerage houses, is a period in which the "little people" of the country, otherwise known as the "odd-lotters," are feeling themselves inspired and required to sell their stocks. And since the "odd-lotters," who are, to be specific, people who trade in small 50 to 100 share blocks of low-priced stocks, are always the people who guess wrong about the market, their current behavior is the highest good sign that the price of stocks is now headed irreversibly on the way up.

Wonders of the Universe Space Monitoring Promises More Crops

By Dr. I.M. LEVITT
The Fels Planetarium
Of The Franklin Institute

Plans to provide food for a hungry world are being developed in conjunction with remote sensing systems from satellites. Our food supplies have vanished as a result of our attempts to feed a small fraction of the world's population. Because of this lack of food reserves, there arises an urgent need for development of a national agricultural system to keep pace with our own needs and to insure the development of agricultural systems abroad.

R. B. MacDonald and D. A. Landgrebe of Purdue University's Laboratory for Agricultural Remote Sensing have proposed techniques for such future agricultural systems. They believe that remote sensing can discriminate a crop species, identifying topographic and soil features—such as salinity. Plant growth density and plant diseases should be similarly susceptible of detection.

Satellite sensing could also lead itself to the determination of crop yields in certain areas which are closely tied to the rainfall preceding the monsoon season, as in India. This data can vary up to several weeks before it is available. Mapping monsoons during this critical period would enhance crop yields.

Having read and reported this, in our most dispassionate and clinical mood, we now reactively agree that, by margins and by calls, by bulls and by bears, we'll somehow live to see the day when the dumb little fellow outwits the market and all its smart stocks and, buying against their selling, or selling against their buying, becomes millions, all the millions of him.

Chickadees Who Never Shown Up
Don't blame it on your cat and don't start doubting the quality of your bird feed. There's some other reason for the decline in the number of chickadees, northern finches and other birds at feeding stations this winter. It's a general trend that hasn't been explained.

A Thought for Today Sponsored by the Manchester Council of Churches

Galatians 2:11
Just when Peter was come to Antioch I withstood him to the face, because he was to be blamed.

Today in many, if not most, churches, morale seems to be at an all-time low. To some extent, conflict over the social role of the church should play can be blamed. Spiritual hunger is evident, but the discouraged and the confused are evident, too.

It is perhaps unfortunate for the literary potentials of his career that Attorney General Robert Killian has received, and has himself obviously read, so many notices establishing him, early in 1971, as the possible Democratic nominee for Governor of Connecticut, next time in 1974.

Heralding Homes New House Old Look

Knotty pine clapboards give old, weathered look to the Russell Aliczi home on 45 Pilgrim Lane.

A two-year-old house with the weathered look of 200 years is the achievement of several years of planning by the Russell Aliczi who, until they occupied their new home, were confined to apartment living for a number of years.

Mrs. Aliczi, who knew just what she wanted when she would have a home of her own, worked on the plans and design to the last detail, even to the design of the pendula from the corners of the house overhang.

Although the house suggests a haven for antiques, the furnishings are traditional with an occasional reproduction. In fact, Mrs. Aliczi points out that

From Grandma — china doll dishes.

Hallway runs lengthwise through house dividing living room and den from kitchen and laundry.

Multi-paned dining room window provides view of scenic sloping yard.

A massive corner fireplace of used brick dominates the living room and adjoining foyer—designed by Mrs. Aliczi.

Brick faced wood in kitchen area creates natural blending with chestnut beams and paneling in dining room beyond.

News for Senior Citizens

By WALLY FORTIN DIRECTOR

Hello everybody! Can you imagine that January 31 is one day from becoming history for us? We will be celebrating our 100th birthday. Certainly has been a cold one, and the only good thing is that with every passing month, we come closer to the good old warm weather.

As always, the weather doesn't curtail our programs, and we're getting good turnout for all our activities.

Last Friday evening, we had 48 show up for our softball tournament, and these are the winners: Anna Haupt, 135; Tom Murphy, 134; Arthur Duncanson, 131; Julia Vendrillo, 128; Felix Jesani, 125; Ann Wetsoop, 124; Agnes Babbalanza, 121; Florence Gustafson, 119; Ted Hildrich, 118; Frank Anderson, 118; and Edna Vitello, 114.

We will again have the bus Monday morning we had 74 at our kitchen social, and many stayed for our noon luncheon.

Pinchless Winners
In the afternoon 60 persons participated in our regular pinchless winners: Mary O'Connell, 109; Margaret Donahue, 66; Floyd Post, 66; John Gally, 58; Melix Schmitt, 58; Gladys Stewart, 58; Tom Grant, 50; Mabel Wilson, 54; Elizabeth Wendrillo, 53; and Ellenah Jesani, 52.

Crewel Embroidery
A work ago Friday afternoon, we started our crewel embroidery class, and the large number of ladies present made it an excellent success. Some 20 ladies became involved in this very interesting program, and we were happy to see so many new faces.

Here's a date to remember, Wednesday, Feb. 10th, we will have Frank Barzoz on hand to discuss Medicare. He will want word on those who do not have Medicare, and those with Medicare on them. Just call Mr. Barzoz at 444 Main St., Hartford, and he will be glad to come to your home. You'll need to bring a copy of your Medicare card, and a copy of your Social Security card. He will be glad to help you fill out the application to appreciate his work.

So get down Wednesday, Feb. 10th, and drop in for this lecture. Why not stop by for a delicious Hot-Meal at noon, and meet with a beverage.

Friday, our featured speaker, guest preacher, is the Rev. Dr. Cloris Hirling, a Unitarian, guest preacher. His topic: "Expectations." Church School, infant-toddlers through adults.

9 a.m., Adult Discussion Class, Susannah Wesley Hall, Main St., Christian Literature Class in kitchen.

"Even though I know better, sometimes I have an uneasy feeling about having changed religion." It was an older woman describing the fears which continued to haunt her from a religious past.
"Vast numbers of people today are disillusioned with their church but refuse to consider converting. Though their intellects recognize the error, even absurdity, fear grips their emotions and prevents their seeking and grasping for a spiritual gain, choosing rather a virtual imprisonment."
We are delighted to hear the Rev. Feb. 12, 1971, but such is a wholesome, loving respect as a normal child-parent relationship. The basic motivational factor in true Christianity is love. Math. 22:37. Love is the greatest of the abiding Christian components. 1 Cor. 13:13. When a religious dependent upon a moral dread to hold its adherents, it is neither Christian nor wholesome. Never allow such an abuse of your emotions to override the promptings of your intellect. The truth shall make you free. John 8:32.

floor which is no problem to maintain. A braided rug covers the heavy traffic area. Barwood floors prevail throughout the downstairs with braided and woven rugs in specific areas.

A pale green velvet love seat and a stereo cabinet create a cozy "sitting room" effect in a corner of the dining room. The stereo cabinet, resembling a dry sink, was designed and refinished by Mrs. Aliczi. Music, either by radio or record, can be piped to any room in the house.

Chestnut wood, which came from a friend's old barn, has been used extensively throughout the house. It is found in the wainscoting in the dining room and paneled storage closets. The vestibule hood over the kitchen range is chestnut lined with perfect matching woodgrain finish.

For an antique exposed beam effect, plain chestnut beams were treated to give the hand-hewn look from ash marks.

Instead of the fireplace from the center chimney facing squarely into the pine paneled living room, it has been built into a huge corner fireplace of used brick with a raised hearth. Brick blends with wood in the use of chestnut beams for fire-place framework and mantel. The family library is contained in a wall of built-in bookshelves.

A Williamsburg blue predominate in the primary drapes, the sofa covering and the braided rug. A lampshade made of a copy of an old deed parchment is among the interesting accessories in the room.

A white dish with a blue and gold pattern leads a note of casual comfort to the sofa. The alpha was designed by Mrs. Aliczi's grand-mother, Mrs. George Dewar of Park School, is presently engraved with the study of 189 Hilliard St., who lives to space and rocks.

keep busy making things. A choice of a green, blue and red floral print on white wall covering with white window curtains makes a small front corner room adaptable for many purposes. At present, it is a combination office and sewing room.

The stairway, padded with multi-color braided needs, is at the end of house interior instead of in the center as is customary in this change house.

The master bedroom is striking with a variegated green shag carpet and pale blue walls. A huge closet is for Mrs. Aliczi. Asked what her husband used for a closet, she led us into a large adjoining dressing room area containing "his" closets, with a large bathroom beyond.

Bright blue burlap covered walls and a red and blue plaid carpet boldly pronounce the bed room belonging to son Glen, who will be nine tomorrow. His bed is covered with a bright red carpet, and white curtains window complement the sky colors. Floor to ceiling wide closets provide ample space for clothing and all the things a boy collects.

The Aliczis have future plans for finishing their basement. A large corner fireplace of used brick built in the center chimney. A doorway opens onto a lower level terrace.

Mrs. Aliczi enjoys the convenience of electric heat and also a central vacuum system. She admits that there are still things to be acquired—but it takes time and living in a house to know exactly what one wants.

Mrs. Aliczi enjoys gardening. Her special interest is developing a wild flower garden in a small wooded grove in their back yard.

Mr. Aliczi, a certified public accountant, is especially fond of Greenwood Dr., after an eye sport fan (now a spectator) to the sofa. The alpha was designed by Mrs. Aliczi's grand-mother, Mrs. George Dewar of Park School, is presently engraved with the study of 189 Hilliard St., who lives to space and rocks.

Snowy Florida
FLORIDA, Mich. (AP) — To winter in Florida, you've got to love snow.
The tiny community in Michigan's Upper Peninsula has had more than 130 inches of snow this winter. The temperature is in the 40s after a record snow heart attack.
Most of the 100 residents are Florida natives.
We would also like to extend our condolences to Mrs. Florence Buhls, on the recent death of her husband John. Remembrance, we mention the column, whenever we hear about them, hoping that they will send them a card accordingly.

Astronaut Explores Psychic Phenomena

By PAUL REGER

Houston (AP)—Edgar D. Mitchell, the lunar module pilot on Apollo 16, is a former cowboy who led a ranch to become a pilot, a doctor of science and an explorer of the sixth human to walk on the moon.

Mitchell grew up on a ranch near Artesia, N.M. and spent his youth riding the arid range and working cattle as cowboys in five military corps of recent years.

He could ride and rope and brand," his wife says. "He was very good at it."

But any attraction he felt for cowboy life quickly faded when Mitchell was discovered aviation. Crop dusting became his industry in the ranch and farm country about the time Mitchell was a teenager. Pilots in the 1940s were considered youngsters raised in the country.

Mitchell began haunting an airport near his home, watching airplanes to earn rides. "I started flying in 1944 before I could even legally solo myself," Mitchell says. "I was doing my student license at the earliest possible date and my private license at the earliest possible date."

In 1948, Mitchell enrolled in Carnegie Institute of Technology in Pittsburgh, Pa. His first day at school, he met Louise Raney, a pretty brunette who was a student nurse. He married her three years later.

Mitchell graduated with a degree in industrial management in 1952 and enlisted in the Navy. Two years later he was an officer in the United States Navy. Mitchell returned to school in 1954 and graduated with a doctorate in science from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. He served for a time in the military space program and was named an astronaut by the civilian space agency.

Mitchell is considered one of the brightest members of the astronaut corps. His intellectual curiosity leads him occasionally, far afield from space and astronautics.

Other astronauts he mentioned in his report were "a scientist, a philosopher, a poet, a musician, a painter, a writer, a doctor, a lawyer, a politician, a businessman, a statesman, a diplomat, a philosopher, a poet, a musician, a painter, a writer, a doctor, a lawyer, a politician, a businessman, a statesman, a diplomat."

But Cost $2,000 To Remove
Manchester only got an inch and a half of snowfall from a sudden storm last night, but because three inches had been forecast, it will cost the town $2,000 for its removal.

The storm started after 10 o'clock, and by 1:30, when town workers started outside, the contract was called in, accumulation had reached 1 1/2 inches, with the rain falling Monday through Friday, 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m.

A telephone backup service is available Monday through Saturday from 8 p.m. to 8 a.m.

For drug advisory information, call 647-8822.

Three of the huge stratosphere balloons, a total of 30 tons of balloons 15 miles north-west of the South Vietnam coast, were being used to monitor the progress of the storm. Mitchell was in the air at the time of the storm.

He said he was surprised that there were no reports of the storm. Mitchell said he was surprised that there were no reports of the storm.
