Grand List $250 Million, Increase 2.8% for Year

By GLENN GAMBER (Herald Reporter)
Manchester's new Grand List based on Oct. 1 valuations has risen to $249,944,250, an increase of $6,797,298—about 2.8 per cent over last year's.

Town Assessor P. Joseph Murphy attributes much of the increase in real estate value to the construction of new residential subdivisions and areas where residential subdivisions have already been made.

Net assessment for the year was $22,306,859 an increase of $882,904 over the 1969 final assessment of $21,423,955. Gross assessment was $25,860,700 with $1,164,846 in exemptions.

According to Murphy, the number of vehicles registered in Manchester increased by over 1,700 to 27,878. This increase is a normal rate for the town.

Although there was an increase in commercial buildings, a few smaller stores and commercial buildings, some additions to industrial areas and the new complex (including supermarkets, trailers, and motorcycles), the average value of each vehicle decreased.

Murphy notes that there was a slowdown in the construction that many people may be waiting until 1971 to buy new cars.

Plan for Landing on Moon Threatened by Malfunction

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—The Apollo 14 crew, using a flashlight and radioed do-it-yourself instructions, tried unsuccessfully today to pinpoint the cause of a malfunction that threatens to wipe out their long-sought landing on the forbidding mooncape of Fra Mauro.

Alan B. Shepard Jr., the patriarch of American space, and rookies Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, deliberately tried for more than an hour to make a linking mechanism fail to work as it had when they attempted to dock their command ship with the lunar lander earlier.

"It works," Roosa said finally. "Just real fine."

The apparatus must be able to work for its next use, when Shepard and Mitchell would return from the lunar surface to link again with the command ship piloted by Roosa.

"We'll have to convince ourselves... that the thing is indeed satisfactory for docking," said Edward Sjöberg, director of flight operations.

Asked whether the astronauts will go through with Friday's landing attempt on the moon's craggy highlands, Sjöberg said, "I'd like not to speculate on that right now."

The Houston worked the lander by hand on instructions from Houston without a single failure.

"If other words, what you are trying to tell me is you still haven't come up with anything that would be a problem," Mission Control said.

"That's basically it," said Roosa.

There was no argument from the astronauts, who had been available for less than 18 hours by that time and in the spacecraft for 19 of those.

Mission Control reported all three retried by 7:30 a.m. EST for their first night en route to the moon. They roared to Texas from Cape Kennedy Sunday night, aware that the crew was having difficulty with a particularly difficult to star 20 minutes later.

"How are they doing?" she asked a reporter as she and her four sleepy children piled off the jet at Houston airport.

"They doctored on the sixth try," she told. She broke into a super grin, commending her husband and the crew and said: "I'm glad to hear that."

"Oh, I didn't know that. It's been a good feeling about this mission. I hope they go down to the moon and find a big rock that's four and a half billion years old."

She said she slept with the moon lander pilot was the first of the three wives to return home, arriving half an hour earlier.

Pilot's Wife Shows Faith In Husband

By MERLE COCHRAN Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—"Oooooo grand!" claimed Joan Roosa. "I know you would do it. He's got all these things."

This was a reference to the possibility of putting on space suits and pulling the probe aside to examine it.

Shepard: Okay, Houston. I'm going to make the approach close at a very slow rate till the initial contact...

Shepard: We got some, Houston.

Roosa: We got a hard dock, Houston!

Shepard: ... That's a hard dock!

Control: Roger, Al. That's great! Super job, Al.

Roosa: Thank you.

Control: Al, can you just give us a qualitative feeling of what the docking latches did? Did you get a sort of a rippling bang or anything you convinced you got quite a few of them?

There are 12 latch mechanisms that must be engaged to secure the command ship and the lunar module.

Shepard: Yeah, I think we're a little bit surprised to see that you got quite a few.

Shepard: Yeah, I think we got quite a few.

Control: That's a good docking.

Roosa: Okay, Houston. I hit it.

Here's How The Astronauts Described Their Maneuver

By RICHARD BERNER Associated Press Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Like a driver backing up his car time and again to make it fit into his garage, the Apollo 14 crew had to try six times before docking with the lunar lander.

The maneuver began routinely Sunday for astronauts Alan B. Shepard Jr., Edgar D. Mitchell and Stuart A. Roosa, who switched on a television camera for Mission Control to view the scene. Here is how they described it:

Mitchell: Houston, we're about to dock... We're probably a foot—18 inches to two feet out there.

Control: Roger.

Mitchell: And we docked.

Roosa: Okay, Houston, we did it twice and sure looks like we're closing fast enough. I'm going to back out here and try it again... We better back out here and think about this one, Houston.

Control: Roger.

Mitchell: We're unable to get a capture.

Roosa: Okay, Houston, we've performed a similar task Sunday night when we docked the Apollo 14 command ship and the lunar module without, in effect, a funnel.

The Word For Docking Was 'Tricky'

By BILL STOCKTON AP Science Writer
SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Pouring water into a narrow-necked bottle without a funnel is tricky, but not impossible.

Cong Rockets, Mortars Slam Six U.S. Positions

By Associated Press
RAISON (AP)—Communist touched off a huge fire that deluged forces slammed about 100 rockets and mortars and damaged six U.S. positions today and night. No casualties were reported in the attack with six Americans and wounded 26 in all.

The most devastating attack was a 60-round mortar barrage and a ground assault on a command post near Chu Lai. A command communique reported seven U.S. troops killed and seven wounded. Five enemy were reported killed in the 60-minute attack.

The other five American positions were hit by rockets and mortars. They included the six bases at Da Nang and Cam Ranh Bay, a military adviser's compound at the Tuy can military history, costing $10 million, a helicopter unit seven miles northwest of Cam Ranh Bay and an artillery base 12 miles south of Pleiku City.

The U.S. Command said it is several considerations, one of which prompted the attack at Da Nang last.

Economic Report Nixon Vow: More Jobs, Better Business in 1971

By STERLING F. GREEN Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon said Congress today a pledge of more jobs and better business in 1971, plus a promise to use "all the effective and legitimate powers of government" to strengthen anti-inflation forces.

The president's message without war, full property without inflation.

Nixon rejected—perhaps more emphatically than ever before—any use of price-wage controls or voluntary guidelines. He called the latter "an elaborate device that amounts to a wage and price control but is not."

The annual economic report to Congress fixed no specific goals or deadlines for recovery. But in the accompanying message to his Council of Economic Advisors, these targets were set and presumably approved by him:

—Unemployment now at 6 per cent—down from 7.5 per cent by the middle of 1972. The official definition of "full employment" is around 4 per cent.

—The inflation rate, which was 4 per cent across the economy last year, should be approximately 3 per cent by mid-1972.

—National output should total $160 billion in 1971, requiring a record rise of 8.6 billion—

Expansion Termed 'Key' In President's Address

WASHINGTON (AP)—Potentially to do that, while the progress against inflation continues. The restraint of 1969 and the momentum of 1970 have set in motion strenuous efforts at cost reductions. These actions, at the pace of the economy quicken, will bear fruit in better productivity and costs. Prices have begun to rise less rapidly. There are the first faint signs of a retardation of wage increases in some sectors.

But existing and foreseeable expansionary forces in the economy are not strong enough to assure that output will rise as fast as is desired and feasible. These forces must, therefore, be supplemented by expansive fiscal and monetary policies.

The actual deficit is expected to be $18.6 billion... If the economy follows the expected path of a vigorous, noninflationary expansion, the deficit will decline to $1.6 billion.

To say that deficits are appropriate in certain conditions is not to say that deficits are always appropriate or that they should be.

Mishaps Kill 11 from State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Weekend accidents in Connecticut involving Connecticut residents have claimed at least 11 lives, including four young men killed in a single New York City auto crash.

Killed Sunday when their car smashed into a guardrail on the Hudson River Parkway were Gregory Stanley, 22, of Rockville; Miguel Baconcello, 20; George Kain, 21; and Orlando Trujillo, 18, all of Hartford.

According to Vermont police, Stanley lived on Talbot Ave., but was a native of Maine. They are now trying to contact his next of kin.

Two other men in the same car were injured, police said. Hospitalized in New York City were Carlos Ruiz and Gilberto Restrepo, both 20 and of Hartford.

A 67-year-old Greenwich woman, Helen Adams, died Sunday in an early morning fire that swept through her apartment.

Five officials said the woman was found in bed and the blaze might have started when she fell asleep while smoking.

The fire, which caused an estimated $5,000 damage, was still under investigation.

A fire in a three-room apartment in Woodbury Friday night claimed the lives of Mrs. Ellen Lema, 52, a semi-invalid, and her husband, Thomas Lema, 54, who was hospitalized Saturday morning. Mrs. Lema was found dead in the apartment.

Police and firemen in Bridgeport found the body of a 24-year-old girl beneath the ice of the Rooster River there Sunday.

Many Hurt During Riot In California

LOS ANGELES (AP)—One person was shot to death, more than 26 were injured and 70 businesses were damaged or burned when violence exploded against the police in a mainly Mexican-American district.

It was the third major outbreak of violence in six months in East Los Angeles, home to more than 600,000 Mexican-Americans. A sheriff's spokesman estimated property damage at $300,000.

Twice, officers fired shotguns at more than 1,000 mainly young persons a r.m.p.g.d through the four-square-mile riot area. The rioters, armed with bricks and stones, attacked police and burned down a firehouse into businesses. Officers used teargas and fought hand-to-hand. Five rioters were arrested.

At least 85 persons were arrested.

Members of the Tolland Volunteer Fire Department will hold a testimonial dinner for former Fire Chief Wilhelm Set Friday at 7 p.m. at the Italian American Friendship Club.

Tickets may be obtained at the mutual aid headquarters on the grounds of the Tolland County Fire Department.

Phones Jangle Across the Wall

BERLIN (AP) — "Hello, Berlin. This is Berlin calling."

Operators in the eastern and western halves of the divided city were using this greeting today as they placed calls for one another on both sides of the Wall.

The first eight hours of the day again saw a blockade-like squeeze on western routes of the city.

Western border officers said they had to turn away a long line of cars waiting to cross the wall. Traffic jams were massive, brought about by the fact that the wall was closed for 24 hours.

Autobahn On the Way To Normalcy

BERLIN (AP) — East German ended harassment of access to and from West Germany and West German authorities reported that traffic was getting back to normal.

Trapped during the past six days, a road for trucks and cars was closed for 24 hours.

When today's hand was played, South led the opening heart lead and crossed the queen. There were now nine top tricks; two hearts, six diamonds and a club. But the score happened to be exactly tied at the time, and declarer was returned to his own side.

South then made the important play of cashing dummy's ace of clubs. Declarer then led the diamonds, coming down to a jack of clubs. The early play of the hearts had marked West with a five-card suit and East with a four-card suit. West was now in a position to take the trick and then the war will be over.

PLAY FOR EXTRA THICK PATS AT RUBBER BRIDGE

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

The rubber bridge player usually disregards the fact that an exaggerated attitude, if you play a rubber, you will usually count it as a 100-point victory; 800 points is worth 400; and on the last hand of a rubber, an overtrick may bring an extra hundred points, and this may be worth struggling for even if you are just playing for peanuts or marbles.

An extra hundred marbles may be just what you need if your landlord happens to like marbles.

North dealer

Both sides vulnerable

Opening lead — Five of hearts in the hope that the ten of spades, was in his partner's hand or unguarded in the South hand.

South then led a heart, and West had to lead away from the queen of spades, giving South two top tricks and a rubber of 660 points.

It would have been very foolish for South to bid five trump instead of just three.

Daily Question

As dealer you hold: Spades, 10-4-3; Hearts, Q-4-4; Diamonds, A-K-Q-3-2; Clubs, 6.

What do you say?

Answer: Bid one diamond. You have 12 points in this hand and a solid six-card suit. This is more than enough for an opening bid.

Christian Unity Seminars Planned by Clergy Council

A Christian unity program, to be sponsored by the Rockville Clergy Council, will be held during the Lenten season.

THE WAY I HEARD IT

by John Gruber

After having talked about the strings we come to an instrument that many people could play. It is called a piano; only it isn't classified as such. Because the tone is produced by a hammer striking the string, it is classified as a percussion instrument. The same as a drum or a xylophone.

Unfortunately, this classification leads many pianists to play the instrument as though it were a drum. The piano can be played lyrically. Remember, I told you early in this series that the standard of performance is the human voice. It is common to play as though it were a piano. This is not strictly true.

We do have a great many piano players who have key-board facility than in former years, but they are not playing with the same technique and in this department practically all the concert artists are lacking.

The 20th century composer has generally captured the percussive aspects of the instrument to the exclusion of the lyric, and this is most unfortunate. I can easily remember the performance of Rachmaninoff's "The Song of the Nightingale" by one of those artists who were not playing with the same technique and in this department practically all the concert artists are lacking.

Dole Predicts Humphrey Tops For 1972 Race

SACRAMENTO, CALIF. (AP) — Sen. Robert Dole of Kansas, Republican party national chairman, said Sunday he believes Sen. Hubert Humphrey is the likeliest Democratic candidate for president in 1972.

"I think he's got the best chance of winning the White House," Dole said.

Dole, at a news conference with five members of the state GOP central committee meeting, said Sen. Edmund Muskie is "the runner-up at the present."

He said the Vietnam war is the major issue, and that the Republican Party should take a stand on it.

"The issue with Muskie, McGovern and Bayh is deciding which side they are on," Dole said.

"I don't think Teddy Kennedy is out of it," added Dole. "But guess Humphrey isn't out of it either."

Dole predicted President Nixon would be re-elected in 1972, but that a curbing of unemployment back to about 4 percent would be achieved.

In a speech before the convention, Dole said that Nixon has been achieving reforms of the economy, including the end of the draft and the end of the Vietnam war.

"We are honorably ending a Democratic war in Vietnam," Dole said.

"I don't think Teddy Kennedy is out of it," added Dole. "But guess Humphrey isn't out of it either."

Threat of Rail Strike Looms Again for Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — With no indications of a settlement in sight, President Nixon and Congress seem to be looking down the barrel again of a threatened nationwide rail strike.

Nixon has until Feb. 15 to submit a report to Congress on the dispute along with his recommendations for settlement.

Congress has until March 1, when a legislative strike moratorium ends and the unions will be free to act.

There have been talks in the past few weeks involving both the Railway Clerks, largest of the involved unions, and United Transportation Union, but there have been few reports of progress.

Rep. J.J. Pickle, D-Tex., a member of the House Commerce Committee, which has legislative jurisdiction, commented:

"It would say to the President and to the executive department this is the time for some good, healthy jawboning negotiations. I would hope that the executive department in the next two weeks would call in the interested parties and with all of the force and power at their command try to get them into meaningful negotiations."

If nothing comes of such efforts, however, the situation will be right back in the lap of Congress which cut off the strike last December only hours after it began. The 81-day moratorium ended in January.

The 500,000 rail workers are on an immediate 12.5 percent pay raise. It was the second nationwide rail strike in three years. Congress halted with special laws after Railway Labor Act provisions expired.

At issue are union demands for a three-year contract providing about $1.50 an hour a week in an estimated 40 percent boost over current wages averaging about $10 an hour.

The industry had accepted a recommendation of a 20 percent pay boost for members of the involved unions—the clerks, the UTW, Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way and the Brotherhood of Railroad Employees.

The Word For Docking Was 'Tricky'

"When it happens, the astronauts call it 'capture,'" he said. After capture is achieved, the probe retrains pulling the two spacecraft together.

As this happens, 12 larger latches located in a ring back of the probe hook on to a docking collar on the lunar module.

The probe and drogue can then be withdrawn from the docking collar in a ring back of the command ship.

Through House committee re-organization should be complete within a week, there remains the question of who will head the Commerce Committee's transportation subcommittee.

The prospects have prompted Rep. Brock Adams, D-Wash., Pickle, Bob Eckhardt, D-Tex., and Lionel Van Dusen, D-Calif., to urge members to get their proposed solution in gear.

Chairman Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., has been asked to schedule hearings as soon as the organizational structure is completed.

"I am not optimistic that this will be settled by parties," Adams said, "because the history of these disputes in the last three years has been to have the matter finally settled by an act of Congress."

At issue are union demands for a three-year contract providing about $1.50 an hour a week in an estimated 40 percent boost over current wages averaging about $10 an hour.

Israeli Raiders Hit in Lebanon

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli raiding parties attacked two villages in southern Lebanon during the night, and informed sources said they destroyed a Palestinian guerrilla region headquarters.

Violence continued today in the occupied Golan Strip, where 44 pounds of explosive contained in a tire went off in the central post office in Gaza City after a three-month shelling.

The Israeli Command said the guerrillas in Beirut claimed that 18 Israelis were killed or wounded. The sources said that heavy guerrilla resistance at the headquarters caused all the Israeli casualties.

Services in Seventies Leathernecks Lean Toward Trim Force

WASHINGTON — The Marine Corps is betting its future on old traditions and new equipment as the arm's service members are to be cut to 175,000. They view that prospect as unlikely, however, but Marine planners say they will "sophisticate" for Marine.

Marine training is, in fact, getting tougher. More and more training courses are being lengthened. Drug experiments, given amnesty by the Army if they ask for help, are being punished by the Marines. Personnel users are noted out.

Chapman's words are reinforced by other Marine officers, some of whom concede a feeling that the country may be going to pot, the corps, as a venerable American institution must stand doubly fast.

Writing this month in "Armed Forces Journal," Chapman says: "I have specifically called for a tightening up throughout the corps. The maximum in loyalty, patriotism, and honor the maximum discipline and performance."

Marine commanders, however, don't see any conflict with the country's military needs. They believe, will always have to put it in and easier to get out.

Elsewhere, the Marines are also a little suspicious over the Navy's chief, Adm. Elmo Zumwalt, plans to carry out his policy using Navy ships for as many as 100,000 Marines.

Marine planners say they have developed contingency plans if the corps is cut to 175,000. They view that prospect as unlikely, however, but Marine planners say they will "sophisticate" for Marine.

Marine commanders say they will be able to hold their own in a full-strength, combat-ready Marine expeditionary force. Each would contain 18,000 ground troops and an air wing with 1,200 aircraft.

13-Year-Old Fights Cong In Cambodia

By HOLGER JENSEN
Associated Press Writer
KHU BUN was a green scarf adorned with Buddhist symbols and some of his grandfather's teeth. It's supposed to protect him from Viet Cong bullets.

Just to be on the safe side, he also wears a little brass Buddha in his mouth when he advances into battle.

Standing only as tall as the Soviet-designed AK47 assault rifle he carries, Khu makes a small target. Five freights and he's never been hit. He has helped kill six Viet Cong and 20 small targets.

Three months ago he was just an orphan whose parents "got lost" in the jungle. He lived with his eldest brother, attended third grade in the village school and helped in the rice paddies.

One day Khu and his friends were playing koo-poo, a simple game in which children throw flat rocks at a pile of paper money—the one who lands closest pockets a 2-cent coin.

A little later, a Cambodian army recruiting truck arrived and exhorted the villagers to "repeal the foreign invaders."

He earns 90 rials or 8¢ a month but he has no more time to play koo-poo. He has to take his rifle to the women in the village and keep 100 for himself.

"They need it, I don't," he explains simply. The army food is good. Every day they feed him fish and rice. It is enough.

Soviet Developments Impel New Look at Khruushchev

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Recent happenings in the Soviet Union impel Kremlin watchers to take another long look at "Khruushchev Remembers," the book purporting to be the memoirs of Nikita S. Khruushchev.

Khruushchev's appearance on the national television screen could be a clue to conflict within the Soviet Communist party. A panel of 10 experts in Washington recently concluded that the words are loaded with Khruushchev's own in Britain.

There has been speculation that the Soviet intelligence, the KGB, helped get the material out. It is almost certain that the KGB has been involved in providing this. The KGB people are even more cloistered than the KGB.

Perhaps the key people involved in this, however, were the KGB's top brass. The KGB's top brass are even more cloistered than the KGB.

NEW YORK (AP)—The doors of Baseball's Hall of Fame swung open today for several old timers elected by a veterans' committee after the regular ballot of the Baseball Writers Association of America had failed last month to name any moderns to the shrine. Legendary pitcher Babe Ruth, who shares the record of 29 consecutive victories in a nine-year span, was elected. Also named were outfielder Harry Hooper, Joe Kelley and Chuck Klein, first baseman Jake Beckley and shortstop Dave Bancroft.

Two Requests Before PZC

Two requests for zone changes are the only items on a light agenda facing the Planning and Zoning Commission tonight. Its session will be at 7:30 in the Municipal Building hearing room.

Atty. Leon Podrovo is seeking to change seven acres at the rear of 112 Highland St. from Rural Residence to A Zone, in order to pave the way for the construction of apartments there.

In addition to the rear acreage, there is a lot fronting on Highland St. and containing a vacant dwelling, which is already in A Zone and would give access to the back land.

Podrovo holds a purchase option on the entire property, part of the Case Bros. mill holdings being disposed of by the parent corporation, Dole Cascade.

If the zone change is granted, Podrovo said he intends to buy the parcel and construct a maximum of 12 apartments, probably townhouse units.

The only other application is one by Henry A. Deming of Glastonbury, who is seeking to change the entire lot at 87 Pine St. to Business III. It is presently zoned half Business III and half Residential II, apparently because of an error made when zoning lines were established several years ago.

The property is adjacent to a line of stores to the south fronting on Pine St. Deming reportedly wants to utilize the rear of the Pine St. land for store parking.

All-Volunteer Army A Possibility: Laird

WASHINGTON (AP)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird told a hostile Senate Armed Services Committee today that reducing draft calls to zero by mid-1975 would be difficult. But he said the goal could be met with the support of Congress and the public.

Laird, urging extension of induction authority—as proposed in the Service legislation, by President Nixon—for two years, said "the volunteer objective is to have a force of 500,000 men by 1975. It is a most difficult task, but we are confident we can meet that goal."

But I believe we can meet that goal," he said, "if we in the Defense Department vigorously pursue the program we have formulated to reduce draft calls to zero, if the Congress supports that program by appropriate legislative action, and if the general public gives support by a positive attitude toward military service."

In opening the hearing on legislation to extend the authority to induct men into the military service, Laird said that the current draft call is 500,000 men a year, but that the goal is to have a force of 500,000 men by 1975.

Groundhog Is Sign Of More Cold

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa. (AP)—Punxsutawney Phil, the famed weather forecasting groundhog, inched his way from his burrow on Gobbler's Knob today, saw his shadow and scooted back inside. That meant six more weeks of winter, weather forecasters say.

But Phil's "wife" almost stole the show. As fireballers popped and a daily female groundhog popped from the hole.

The Punxsutawney Groundhog Club, however, claimed it was the shadow that made Phil a club member. Members of the club, which has held the annual vigil on the hill for 87 years, will be in town for other groundhog.

"I'd like you to know that no lady has been involved in the ceremony for high under 90 years—and we aren't about to change it now," club President Sam Light said.

Light said the club had brought both groups, both somewhat demoralized—on stage.

Pact Reached After Strike At Chrysler

DETROIT (AP)—Some 10,000 white collar workers went on an important allied operation at Chrysler Corp., but a contract agreement was reached after three hours of strike.

The strike was not disclosed, but the settlement was believed to match the company's offer of a 3 percent pay raise and a 5 percent bonus.

The settlement came after a 37-hour strike of some-10,000 workers.

The strike could shut down the company for four to five days, within a week, said a Chrysler spokesman.

When white collar workers went on strike Tuesday, the pay increase would be retroactive to Nov. 3, 1970.

Leonard Woodcock said the strikers were ordered to report to work at their regular starting times Wednesday.

Threat Removed; Apollo on Course

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP)—Apollo 14's quiet astronaut huddled on today toward a rendezvous with the moon, their once balky docking mechanism no longer a bar to their attempt to land in rugged lunar highlands Friday.

On the remote chance the two Able to land ended Monday night, the astronauts Chester Lee declared, "We're Alan B. Shepard Jr. and Edgar S. Mitchell. We're on our way to the moon."

The three spacecraft settled down for a 10-hour rest period shortly after 10 a.m. EST today. Following an uneventful night in which they monitored systems, the command ship and lunar module were launched on a 10-hour rest period shortly after 10 a.m. EST today.

They were more than 160,000 miles from earth, traveling about 2,600 miles an hour. There was little air-to-ground conversation, prompting Mission Control Center to comment at one point that "it is difficult to say whether they're awake or asleep."

In one exchange, Apollo 14 asked for the results of the radar scan of the lunar surface. The crew could be forgiven for not knowing. The radar scan of the lunar surface was given by Pedro Rodriguez and Jackie Oliver. The radar scan of the lunar surface was given by Pedro Rodriguez and Jackie Oliver.

Apollo 14 shifted to an on-orbit course Monday night when the harpoon-like docking probe and could find nothing wrong. It had only a few superficial scratches, apparently from the abortive landing attempt.

The 10-second burst maneuvered the spacecraft off a path that would have approached the moon within 2,400 miles of the moon. Now it will slip within 60 miles of the moon on Thursday and Friday.

Survey Shows Officials Throughout Nation Decry Rising Welfare Bills

By GAYLORD BIAW, Associated Press Writer. City, county and state welfare officials swamped by a rising tide of welfare payments say wholesale reform of the welfare system is needed to stave off government bankruptcy.

Most welfare officials contacted in an Associated Press survey held nationwide coinciding with those of President Nixon. He describes the program system as "monstrous, consuming outrage."

The AP survey, being conducted when Nixon called in his state of the union message for prompt congressional passage of his Family Assistance Plan, documented widespread official unhappiness with current programs.

From Manhattan to Minnehaha, virtually all areas of the country are plagued by monumental increases in welfare rolls and costs. The survey disclosed:

Least national statistics: a record 13.2 million persons on welfare rolls. This is 22.4 percent more than in 1960.

Costs have risen even faster than the number of recipients. In federal attempts to gain control over welfare costs, the administration urged Congress today to modify provisions of welfare law that have "been too liberal and rigid."

In scores of cities and counties, welfare rolls and costs Education and Welfare said are doubling, tripling, quadrupling or more in recent years, not comply with U.S. requirements for example, had a five-fold increase in the number on welfare since 1965. Federal funds after giving the states a 50 percent increase in 1968.

In fact, as hostages, the prisoners virtually guaranteed a negotiation at some point. That leads to Idea Number Three: The administration's government figures compliance by the states, civilian official who thought the aid "helped" but by related high ranking general who not only approved of the aid but hoped the President would be able to show the North Vietnamese that they could not.

Richardson proposed an amendment to permit continued court rulings and administrative decisions loosening welfare eligibility requirements; and a new willingness among the poor to apply for welfare following publicity campaigns by anti-poverty organizations describing welfare as a right and not a mark of discredit.

Officials are responding to the crunch by cracking down on welfare cheaters, by sifting sources of revenue. Cities and counties look to the states for more funds, and the states are looking to the federal government for reform.

The federal government pays welfare rolls. (See Page Three)

Amendment Would Relax Welfare Role

WASHINGTON (AP)—The administration urged Congress today to modify provisions of welfare law that have "been too liberal and rigid."

In fact, as hostages, the prisoners virtually guaranteed a negotiation at some point. That leads to Idea Number Three: The administration's government figures compliance by the states, civilian official who thought the aid "helped" but by related high ranking general who not only approved of the aid but hoped the President would be able to show the North Vietnamese that they could not.

Richardson proposed an amendment to permit continued court rulings and administrative decisions loosening welfare eligibility requirements; and a new willingness among the poor to apply for welfare following publicity campaigns by anti-poverty organizations describing welfare as a right and not a mark of discredit.

Officials are responding to the crunch by cracking down on welfare cheaters, by sifting sources of revenue. Cities and counties look to the states for more funds, and the states are looking to the federal government for reform.
