Congress of Jews In Appeal to USSR: 'Let My People Go'

By GABRIEL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

BRUSSELS (AP)—The world congress on the plight of Soviet Jewry appealed to the Soviet Union today to let its Jewish citizens emigrate to Israel, or live as Jews in the Soviet Union.

The appeal called on Moscow of the 700 delegates who had come from 28 countries. "We will work," it promised, "through the parliaments and governments of our countries, through the United Nations and other international bodies and through every agency of public opinion."

It called on the world to join with the Jews to try to persuade Moscow: "To recognize the right of Jews who so desire to return to their historic homeland in Israel, and to ensure the unhindered exercise of this right."

To enable the Jews in the U.S.S.R. to exercise fully their right to live in accord with their Jewish cultural and religious heritage and freely to raise their children as Jews.

"To put an end to the defamation of the Jewish people and to the picking of anti-Semitism which has caused so much suffering to the Jewish people and to the world."

It limited itself to a denunciation of Soviet "harassment, arrests and virulent anti-Jewish propaganda." It was not put to a vote.

Calley Prosecution Puts Psychiatrist On Witness Stand

PT. BENNING, Ga. (AP)—An Army psychiatrist who testified that Lt. William Calley Jr. was sane at the time he was charged with the murder of a fellow soldier at My Lai, was put on the witness stand today to answer questions about his testimony.

Dr. Benjamin Spock, who testified last week that Calley was sane at the time he was charged with the murder of a fellow soldier at My Lai, was put on the witness stand today to answer questions about his testimony.

Dr. Spock testified that Calley was sane at the time he was charged with the murder of a fellow soldier at My Lai, but he also testified that Calley was suffering from a "mild form of schizophrenia" at the time of the crime.

Dr. Spock's testimony was challenged by the defense, who argued that Calley was suffering from a "mild form of schizophrenia" at the time of the crime.

At Governors' Session Reagan, Rockefeller Urge Push for Revenue-Sharing

By WALTER R. MEARS
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican governors of the two most populous states have urged Congress to use some political muscle back home in a quest for new federal financial help.

California's Ronald Reagan, who has been a vocal proponent of unrestricted revenue sharing, said he is "not opposed to the idea."

Meanwhile, Sen. Jacob K. Javits, D-N.Y., planned to introduce an amendment today to double Nixon's revenue-sharing program to $10 billion and start it two months earlier, on July 1.

The amendment, he said, also would double to 4.5 per cent the income tax base the money earmarked for revenue sharing.

But Gov. John J. McKeithen of Louisiana, a Democrat, said he sees little chance for approval of unrestricted revenue sharing although he isn't opposed to the idea.

The total of 101 Americans was the largest since 125 died during the week of Aug. 30-Sept. 5, when 87 were killed in action and 38 died from accidents and illness.

The U.S. Command reported 217 American troops wounded in action last week, the same as the week before.

This related total American casualties in the war since Jan. 1, 1961, to 41,515 killed in action, 2,529 died of nonbattle causes, and 285,165 wounded. Another 1,453 Americans were listed as missing or captured, including 10 missing in air crashes over Laos.

South Viet Troops Drive Off Enemy Tank Assault in Laos

By GEORGE ESPEL
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Eight North Vietnamese tanks attacked a South Vietnamese base in Laos today but the defenders destroyed five of them and beat off the assault, U.S. officers reported. The drive into Laos, which was the first enemy tank attack reported in the South Vietnamese drive into southern Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail, now in its 18th day.

The base, Hill 31 about 10 miles inland from the border, was hit by three days of heavy shelling and U.S. officers said the North Vietnamese massed tanks for a knockout blow.

The three remaining tanks took flight and were being pursued by U.S. bombers, it is believed they are Soviet-made PT-76 light amphibious tanks.

The enemy first used tanks in overrunning what was the Lang Vei Special Forces camp in the north in February 1968. The camp is now used as a base for U.S. helicopters supporting the drive into Laos. The only other use of enemy tanks was in the central highlands last year. As the enemy continued to put up strong resistance in Laos, U.S. Command reported the highest weekly American death toll in 8 1/2 months.

The increase in American deaths for the second successive week was attributed to the capture of Laos to cut the Ho Chi Minh trail. The U.S. Command's weekly casualty summary said 39 Americans were killed in action and another 41 died of nonbattle causes, including helicopter accidents.

The total of 101 Americans was the largest since 125 died during the week of Aug. 30-Sept. 5, when 87 were killed in action and 38 died from accidents and illness.

Vietnam Press Says: South Viet Leader Predicts Invasion of North Vietnam

SAIGON (AP)—President Ky has several times called Nguyen Van Thieu was quoted for a drive against the North, today as saying a march on including air attacks.

PARIS (AP)—North Vietnam accused the Nixon administration today of lying in its stated desire for peace in Indochina. It declared on the contrary, the U.S. President has spread the war and is preparing to attack North Vietnam.

The news service gave no elaboration of the statement, referring only to "answering the convention's request for a march north, President Thieu said it was only a matter of time."

The government's news service, Vietnam Press, said Thieu stated today a "code" requires high levels of American assistance and air operations... and that the war is spreading and is preparing to attack North Vietnam.

The spokesman refused to comment on the reports of the speech.

The president on Feb. 10 told inquiring newsmen that an invasion of North Vietnam "is not necessary at this time." He was commenting on a remark a few days earlier by Vice President Spiro T. Agnew that he would like to see a "code" require high levels of American assistance and air operations... and that the war is spreading and is preparing to attack North Vietnam.

President's World Address Centers on Widening War; Hard Decisions Seen Ahead

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
AP Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon today charged Hanoi with broadening the Vietnam war into an Indochina conflict and predicted the United States and its allies will have more hard choices in combating possible new enemy thrusts in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

In a job-sharing report officially directed to Congress but aimed at the nation and the rest of the world, Nixon leaped his message to a quest for "a full generation of peace" in this century. But he said it ending down the war is my greatest satisfaction in foreign policy, the failure to end it is my deepest disappointment."

He pledged to continue the winding down, the U.S. troop withdrawal from South Vietnam. But in stark contrast to his projection for Indochina, he emphasized the broadened war and increased American aid and support for allied ground forces. The 60,000 word report, covering 180 pages and accompanied by a nationwide radio speech, was the second Nixon report on the role of the United States in world affairs since he took office.

Patterned after the constitutionally mandated State of the Union message, the White House overview of the world situation disclosed no new U.S. policy departures.

But details were outlined and it gave Nixon an opportunity to tell the story of his foreign and strategic policies at midpage. It was the first such report since the 1968 and 1970 elections.

Nixon sent the report, which has been in preparation for several months, to Congress under the title, "United States Foreign Policy for the 1970s—Building for Peace."

In discussing the Indochina crisis at considerable detail, Nixon gave a deeply pessimistic report about the prospects for a negotiated settlement of the war. He had "frankly expected" some kind of action from the North Vietnamese Viet Cong side last year, Nixon stated, when he expanded political principles for a settlement and appointed ambassador David Bruce as peace negotiator.

In this, he indicated, he was completely disappointed. But "we will set up an negotiating team," he said, "though the past year indicated that it will be extremely difficult to overcome the enemy's mix of doctrine, calculations and discipline."

"There is the additional fact that as our forces decline, the role we can play on many aspects of a settlement is also bound to decline."

However, in his radio address Nixon said he was "not at all discouraged" by the military congressional message, Nixon directed another call to head for serious peace negotiations and renewed proposals he first advanced last Oct. 7, including an immediate standstill cease-fire and an Indochina peace conference.

The chief executive indicated that regardless of what happens in Paris he is certain of the final outcome in Vietnam. "In Southeast Asia today," he said over the radio, "aggression is falling South Vietnam now has an excellent opportunity not only to survive but to build a strong, free society."

And while affirming his intention to announce soon a new schedule of American troop withdrawals, the President said some U.S. forces will remain in Vietnam "as long as today charged Hanoi with broadening the Vietnam war into an Indochina conflict and predicted the United States and its allies will have more hard choices in combating possible new enemy thrusts in South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos.

Nixon: Arms Race Buildup Seen A Possibility

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon said today the United States will strengthen its military striking force if the current Soviet buildup in missile deployment proves a prelude to a new international ballistic arms race.

The President's statement made in his "State of the World" message to Congress, came two months after the Pentagon reported Moscow is slowing down deployment of its big SS9 intercontinental ballistic missiles.

Although the significance of the slowdown is not clear, Nixon said if it "turns out to be preparatory to a new intensification of the strategic arms race, it will be necessary to react appropriately."

While the President did not spell out the form of such reaction, Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird has said the United States would accelerate development of long-range submarine-launched missiles and of an advanced bomber.

The President suggested a number of possible reasons for the Soviet missile slowdown, saying:

"The USSR could be exercising self-restraint. Its leaders may have concluded, as we have, that the number of ICBMs now deployed is sufficient for their needs. The slowdown could be temporary and could be followed, in due course, by a resumption of new missile deployment. The delay could mean that the Soviet Union is preparing to introduce major qualitative improvements, such as a new warhead or guidance system. Finally, the slowdown could preclude the deployment of an altogether new missile system."

The President reported the

Fine Bizet At Hartt

By JOHN GRUBER
There is an amazing new production of Bizet's "Pearl Fishers" on view for the remainder of the week at Millard Auditorium on the University of Hartford campus. Hartt College of Music always does excellent work, but this time they have come up with the most impressive presentation in five or six years.

"Pearl Fishers" leans heavily upon the chorus, being ahead of its times in this respect, and the chorus last night was extraordinary. It made the Met's chorus look alpine and mediocre. Thus regardless of the cast you may encounter they always alternate principals in these productions, you are assured of a thoroughly impressive evening of music.

In view of the alternating casts, I have always made it a rule not to mention the principals in these productions, you are assured of a thoroughly impressive evening of music.

HARTY SAVES THROUGHT
BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD
Since it's quite a bit of work to think on every bridge hand, most of us acquire habits to take the place of thinking. For example, the habit of holding a trick in the hand that has fewer cards of that suit. But that is in today's hand, only to discover that he had an expensive habit.

West opened the deuce of hearts, and South wanted no time thinking. He automatically played low from the dummy and won with the ace in his own hand. This followed the old rule of winning the first trick in the "short" hand.

The rest of the story is told by the bidding, which was a high trump and draw the rest of the trump. He could then give up two diamond tricks and claim the game and rubber.

Coventry Town Sewer Proposal Gets Three More Endorsements

Coventry Citizens for Democratic Action voted 5 to 1 last night to endorse the proposed sewer plan for the lake and village area, after hearing a presentation on the issue from town councilmen and some counter arguments from representatives of the Planning and Zoning Commission.

Of the 15 CCDA members, 12 were present at the time the vote was taken.

The Conservation Commission and the Economic Development Commission also endorsed the proposed sewer program in meetings last night.

The Conservation Commission came on a 5 to 1 vote, with members citing three reasons for the endorsement: Preservation of the lake as a natural resource, preservation of waterways and protection of the general health of the community.

The EDC said it "fully endorses the town's proposed sewer plan," describing it as a "worthwhile program." The controlled economic growth of the community will be enhanced by the adoption of this plan.

"In addition to providing a modern, effective means for preserving our natural environment, this sewer system offers the only real potential for achieving the broad tax base necessary to provide income to support our ever growing needs for education and town services," the EDC endorsement was unanimous.

Making the sewer presentation to the CCDA were Councilmen Wesley Lewis, Hugo Thomas and Albert Bradley, with Stephen Loyzin and Arnold Carlson representing the PZC.

Lewis said the philosophy of the $14 million dollar project is two-fold: To get rid of existing pollution problems in the lake and village area, and to broaden the town's tax base by offering a service that will be attractive to commerce and light industry that might locate in Coventry.

Lewis noted that "we can't say all problems will be solved with sewers," stressing that the town will grow anyway, even if a municipal sewer is not installed.

He said that the March 18 referendum on the subject "is only the first step," and that all town agencies are going to have to work especially hard in the coming years to make sure that orderly growth results from the installation of sewers.

Bradley presented the financial side of the picture, noting that the project is a joint one with the town of Mansfield, Mansfield Training School and the University of Connecticut, as it is being presented now.

He explained that, after federal and state funds are taken into account plus the money pumped into the project by the three other participants, Coventry's share will be about $4.5 million.

This could be even lower if HUD funds are available, but they cannot be applied until after construction has begun.

Coventry's share of the cost will be paid for in two ways: By general taxation and by direct assessment. The whole town will pay for the treatment plant, two interceptors, trunk lines and interest on borrowing.

South Windsor Committee Lists Priorities For Expenditures in 1971-72

Recommendations by the Capital Goals and Improvements Committee to the Town Council to spend $200,000 during the 1971-72 fiscal year for municipal swimming pool, architectural plans for a new library, a pump for the fire department, and conservation planning were presented in a workshop meeting of the Council this week.

The committee prepared 10 recommendations after meetings with town agencies - Conservation and Park and Recreation Commissions, Library Board, Sewer and Public Works Commissions, Fire Department, and Library Board.

The following comments were made in priorities for the coming year:

1. Park and Recreation - $25,000 for Orchard Hill Recreation for residents of all towns who desire open spaces and the role of a swimming pool in best meeting this need in the summer months has $10,000 investment in surveys and legal guidance will clear the way for a sensible and effective long-term program.
2. Library - $25,000 for planning - architectural work prior to construction of a new library. Present library facilities appear inadequate to supply the town's needs. A start toward alleviating this obvious cultural lack can be made through thorough planning and architectural design services.
3. Fire Department - $40,000 for pump - "New equipment designed to replace a vehicle 22 years old for coverage of Inland area. An important investment in protecting property."
4. Conservation - $10,000 - "Conservation, a matter of prime concern to those residents are 117 acres of open space and natural environment, has been a neglected stepchild. Recommendations for the ensuing five years are subject to the

Our Semantic Generalship In one phase of the Indo-Chinese conflict—that of the words of a war of words—our superiority has never been in doubt.

We have been able to make the crucial choice of weapon, which has been the English language with all its own built-in traps and mines. We have successfully adapted that weapon to whatever strategy or terrain we selected.

The impressive thing about our generalship in semantics is that it has seemed a genuinely national product rather than the display of any particular individual genius or genius.

Judgments and selections supremely and subtly right and important enough to deserve the highest accolade are left shrouded in patriotic anonymity.

To Stop The Nonsense We are told to listen to the young, that they have an important message to deliver. I heartily agree. Everywhere, I meet young people who are earnest, intelligent, well-informed, thoughtful, and whose views are rich with wisdom.

The enemy, like us, is still struggling with the problem of how to accuse us of inciting Cambodia, which happened last spring. Meanwhile, we have our new incursion.

The other day, in addition, we shifted our language war back into the terrain of South Vietnam, posing a new problem in semantics for the scholars of Hanoi to try to resolve.

That annual morality, family integrity, and responsibility for child rearing are obsolete vestiges of a repressive society.

We remember, now, those touchingly innocent early cold war days when the other world was pioneering in such bold maneuvers of the encounter in semantics as employing the word peace when it meant the condition of war. We then felt ourselves—hopeless amateurs, and we doubted that we would ever be far enough advanced to set up a semantic paralyser of our own capable of confounding foreign chancelleries and the home front alike.

Our First Computer Shrine We fortunate ones, who live on the first creating full tide of the computer age, with fresh appreciation for the system which guides our education, determines our marks, makes out our pay checks, regulates our credit, diagnoses our health, and steers us to the moon.

But there is, down in New York now, a nostalgic display depicting the career of the computer in human affairs. There was, the display reminds us, a day not so very long ago when man had not progressed very far beyond his fingers and toes in his speed of tabulation.

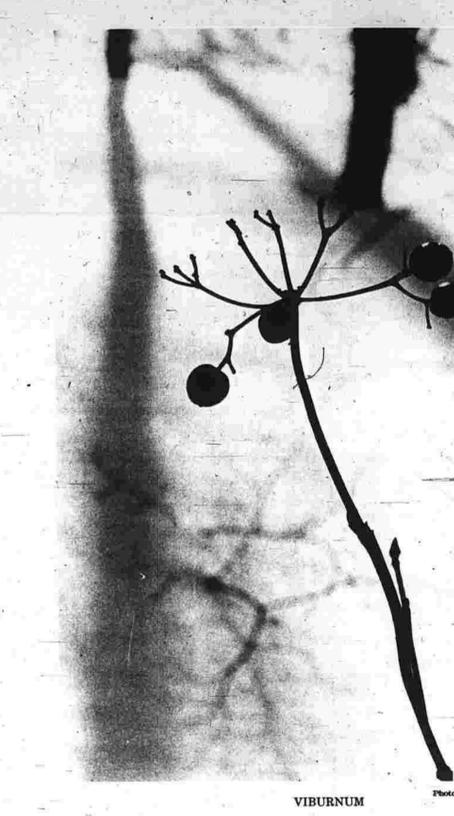

One result of this was that, in the year 1887, the nation's statistical experts were still busy tabulating and correlating the results of the national census which had been taken seven years before, in 1880.

Then, in the 1890's, there came the first electric tabulator, a parlor-organ type of wooden frame which, in its mysterious inner workings, proved able to process census returns in unprecedented speed.

In the same period, just before the turn of the century, there was developed, down at Princeton, the first machine which had the power to solve formal logic problems more swiftly than humans.

It is a far programming from those early, thrilling pioneer days more than 70 years ago in the infancy of the computer up to the present time and those full-grown behemoths which should all other brain power suddenly fall the human race, might well be trusted to run civilization on for another hundred years or so.

The news of this display down in New York is fitting and proper. It is not in the least too early to begin to establish the first shrines honoring the origins of our new way of life, so that we can say to ourselves, this is where our new master first pulsed and hummed and clicked and computed, this is how it began.

A Thought For Today

In order to know what Christian sanctity is today, we must, of course, situate ourselves in the Gospel, but to the Gospel such as was understood and lived by the saints. We will then discover that Christian sanctity has certain "constants" without which it does not exist and could not exist — a genuine sanctity, in other words, Gospel sanctity.

Connecticut Yankee By A.H.O.

The representative of the office of Attorney General explained, patiently, to the Appropriations Committee, how the increase in need for legal service to state departments had required the employment of additional state attorneys, even though there was no money appropriated to pay their salaries.

The State Insurance Purchasing Board appeared, to tell how it had expended $46,000 more than it could find in its own accounts, because it had been compelled to purchase insurance coverage for an additional 400 to the state's car fleet. It could not, it said, let state cars operate uninsured.

The Board of Television Examiners, relatively new and therefore still relatively modest in entry into the ranks of the state's bureaucracies, appeared to tell why it had spent more than it had for the addition of a second employee, made necessary by the increasing volume of the quality of television repair.

Next to appear before the Appropriations Committee as it pursued its obligatory investigation into the over-spending which now requires it to request a grant deficiency appropriation was the Department of Transportation, which had spent $200,000 extra because, in adjustment to time and plant expansions at Bradley Field, it had been required to employ 13 additional fire and crash personnel. Boy by the state's contracts with the 8,000 Connecticut residents who worked on CDAP in the expectation that there would be state grants "at the end of the line."

Next came the State Police Department, with an over-spending of some $400,000. One item in this was $146,000 for overtime in connection with the Powder Mill and Bradley and by FAA regulations. It was testified, the state had had to put the additional man on.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By VIVIAN F. FERGUSON

Yesterday was Ash Wednesday. The day signifies the first day of Lent, being the seventh Wednesday before Easter. Many of our neighbors of the Roman Catholic faith went to church yesterday. There the priest placed ashes on their foreheads as a sign of penitence for their sins. The custom dates from the early Middle Ages.

The word Lent comes from the Old English meaning spring or springtime. Lent is the 40-day season of penitence before Easter. It is as old as the 4th century although the custom of fasting and abstinence during this period did not occur until somewhat later. When we say 40 days, this is exclusive of Sundays.

Traditionally, Roman Catholics abstain from eating meat on Ash Wednesday, on Fridays and on Holy Saturday morning. The latter the day before Easter. Many of the faithful also eat fish every Wednesday and Friday during Lent. During the early Middle Ages, meat was forbidden even on Sundays in Lent.

The fish is an early Christian symbol. The sign of the fish was a secret signal among Christians. The first known person to write about fish before Christ. He did such a good job and was so factual that his scientific value was advisory for about 18 centuries. Isn't that incredible?

The earliest known fossils of fish come from the Devonian era and are 350 million years old. Scientifically, fish are classified into two categories—cartilaginous or bony. The bony fish are the most numerous and they have less flesh than their cartilaginous counterparts. The latter are concentrated in the liver. Her- mian of the pelagic fish is distributed throughout the body. Her- ming and mackerel are exam- ples of the latter. The demersal fish usually tend to move in schools.

More recipes have been in- vented for sole than for any other fish. The flavor of this fish varies depending on the variety. The most important sole fishing grounds lie on the North coast in the English and Bristol Channels and the Irish Sea. The sole was probably brought to the Pacific coast of Alaska, although founded is sometimes mistakenly called sole.

First Officer Grad's a Girl

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Susan Blair, 20, of 201 Main, became the first woman to rank at the top of her class in Air Force officer training school here. A Women's Libber? For- get it.

"I still like to be treated as a woman," says the pretty Ten- nessee who holds a Phi Beta Kappa key.

After she received top honors at graduation at Lackland Air Force Base this week, Susan, 21, said, "I really didn't expect it. But I think the gentlemen in my flight knew it before I did and were pulling for me."

The shapely new second lieuten- ant from Knoxville was one of 21 women among the 220 graduates. Her average score was 88. The school has graduat- ed a total of 47,846 students in its 19 years.

"I've had several people come up to me and say, 'Well, that's a pull for Women's Lib,' she said, with a hint of a Southern accent.

"And they're rather surprised when I say I don't believe in it. I still like to be treated as a woman."

Susan, now on leave, next goes to Lowry AFB, Denver, Colo., for a 20-week air intelligence officers course beginning March 16.

A 1970 graduate of the University of Tennessee, where she majored in German, Susan also had hoped to be assigned to Germany, "for some place overseas where I can use my college background."

The main reason she decided to become an Air Force officer was the "fantastic opportunity for a wonderful and interesting job for all women," she said.

Blair has taken a 180-degree turn. There just aren't enough scallops today to supply the great demand that was cre- ated.

The scallop has a fan-shap- ed, flat shell. The mantle is scooped from the ocean floor by a huge dredge with three-inch rings. The scallop also of the rings permit under- sized scallops to escape. A modern scallop dragger will hold tons of ice for the trip home.

When the scallops arrive in port, they are directly to a pack- ing plant for another washing and are frozen immediately. The scallops are taken in refrigerat- ed, locked trucks.

For your Lenten enjoyment, the following scallop recipes are through the courtesy of Marcom.

Scallops are on diets for those watching their weight. If you're not on one, you will enjoy the accompanying sauces:

Fried Scallops
Dip scallops in milk, then in flour. Fry in deep fat. Season with salt and pepper. Cover scallops evenly, shaking off excess. Cook in oil for 2-3 minutes. Drain on paper towels. Lowering of temperature. Fry only a few at a time, 2-3 min- utes. Drain and keep warm. Serve with lemon wedges and tartar sauce, or with:

Sea God Sauce
1 garlic clove
3 tablespoons minced anchovies
1/2 cup commercial soy cream
1/2 cup mayonnaise
1/2 cup finely chopped parsley
1/2 cup salt pepper
Combine with remaining ingredi- ents in the order given. Chill thoroughly. Serve with scal- lops. Makes about 2 cups.

The next recipe comes from Marcom via the Massachusetts Seafood Council, not to be con- fused with the New Bedford Seafood Council, which no long- portion of hamburger.

Another legend has to do with scallops. The story is that the body of St. James the Apostle was taken by his disciples from Palestine to Spain. They were in a boat without sails or oars. As they neared the coast of Portugal, a horseman whose mount had plunged with him into the sea, surfaced miracu- lously near the vessel of the saint. The horseman's hair and clothing were strewn with scal- lop shells. He was converted to Catholicism on the spot. There is a shrine to St. James at Com- postela. The pilgrims to this shrine adopt the scallop shell as their emblem.

Most of the scallops in this country are caught by fisher- men working out of New Bed- ford, Mass. They go far out to sea in the colder beds. In 1966, the scallop industry was in trouble. The public wasn't interested in the shells as so the New Bedford Seafood Coun- cil was formed with the explicit purpose of promoting scallops.

Manchester advertising firm, McPartland-Bidwell of 183 Main St., was the guiding light in this promotion. (The firm, incidentally, has since changed its name and is now known as Marcom.) They did such a good job that the prob-

Region Group Pushes For Revenue Sharing

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

The 25-town Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) is supporting "an equitable federal revenue-sharing plan—to provide for general government and education funds for the towns and cities."

The 25-town Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) is supporting "an equitable federal revenue-sharing plan—to provide for general government and education funds for the towns and cities."

At a meeting in the Waterbury Town Hall, the CROCG labeled federal revenue-sharing as "a first priority."

On the state scene, the members took no stand on a pro- posed state income tax. Nor did they take a position on Gov. Thomas Meskill's proposal for a 7 per cent sales tax.

In fact, while recommending certain programs to the governor and the General Assembly, all requiring new funding, the CROCG had no suggestions to offer on where the funds were to come from.

The CROCG, even as it recom- mended increased grants for education, roads, drug control and environmental programs, plus a plea for unrestricted block grants, recommended also that no additional programs be imposed on the towns and cities by the General Assembly, without the necessary funds to carry them out.

Specifically, the CROCG is recommending—

That the state increase the educational grant to equal $200 per pupil. It now is $200 per pupil. It remains in $200 per pupil. Other recom- mendations go as high as $300.

That the state assume the full cost (within its means) of all special education programs presently required or to be imposed on the munic- ipalities.

That the Connecticut De- partment of Transportation in- crease the grants to municipali- ties for local highway main- tenance.

That the General Assembly and the administration provide unrestricted block grants to the municipalities, "as a necessary step in alleviating the burden of the overburdened local property tax."

That the state provide fi- nancial assistance towards the support and operation of a regional data information center, on a matching basis.

That the state matching funds be provided for the operation of regional crime and narcotics squad.

Manchester Area Police Blotter

Arthur H. Schwarm, 25, of 114 Village St., Rockville was charged last night with breach of peace and intoxication.

The arrest came as the result of a complaint made to the Vermont Department of Correc- tions by a friend of Schwarm's, "murder with a gun."

Schwarm was released on his promise to appear in Rockville Circuit Court, March 16.

Larry Martin, 20, of Boston Rd., Tolland was charged by Vermont Police last night with operating an unregistered motor vehicle and misuse of registra- tion plates. He was also re- leased on his promise to appear in Rockville Circuit Court, March 16.

Police said a spare tire came loose from the truck driven by W. Lufkin of New Britain, and a car being driven by Philip Pa- gani, 18, of Slater St., Manches- ter.

Allen A. Bailey, 28, of Lake- wood Heights, Coventry, was charged last night with driving to the left side of the road on Route 12 when he lost control of his motorcycle and was thrown 50 feet, State Police said.

The victim was Samuel G. Rae, 20, of Byfield, Mass.

LEEDYARD (AP)—A Massa- chusetts sailor attached to the USS Will Rogers died Wednes- day on Route 12 when he lost control of his motorcycle and was thrown 50 feet, State Police said.

Once, it was a strong backer of collective bargaining for municipal employees. I've changed my mind. I now be- lieve that collective bargaining tends to interfere with the in- terests of the majority of the population of the municipality. It tends also to interfere in the deliberations and considerations given to financial problems by the legislative bodies of the towns and cities."

Although a bill which would permit a merger of the Capitol Region Council of Governments (CROCG) with the Vermont State Agency (CRPA), already has been filed in the legisla- ture, the CROCG had to post- pone a formal vote on whether to support the proposal.

A vote was taken last night, but because of bylaws require- ments, it was inconclusive.

The bylaws state that action by CROCG require the affirma- tive vote of a majority of its 25 members would be 13.

At the meeting, 14 mem- bers were present, the vote for supporting the merger bill was 13 to 1, with one abstention. A new vote will be taken by mail of all 25 members. The CRPA will take action on the proposal on March 15.

Scene at the Capital

By Sol R. Cohen

State Rep. John MacLacowski, and Amnuty Funds, among oth- ers, of Torrington is concerned with the practice, at some the- aters, of showing previews of X-rated films on bills of Gen- eral audience films.

He is sponsoring a bill which would make it illegal to show previews of sexy films, except at showing of X-rated films.

MacLacowski said he had re- ceived a complaint from one couple, who took their children to see a Walt Disney movie at a drive-in.

"When they got there," he said, "they got more than they bargained for — a preview of X-rated movie was flashed on the screen. They made the children duck down in the back seat, so they wouldn't see it."

State Sen. David Odgers ap- peared before the General As- sembly's Judiciary committee yesterday, to speak in favor of all co-sponsoring by him and State Rep. Donald Genova. Both are Manchester Republi- cans.

The bill would invoke the penalties of the charge of mur- der, if the possible death of an infant, against anyone who dis- pensing of controlled drugs.

"Drug pushers," Odgers re- marked yesterday, "murder with pills instead of with guns."

State Comptroller Nathan Agostinelli is starting what he hopes will become the 21st annual Great Seal Reception for the State Capitol press. The first one will be March 15 in effective date.

The legislature's committee on government administration and policy will hold a public hearing at 2 p.m. tomorrow on a proposed constitutional amendment for permitting the Governor to vote in state and local elections. They now have the right to vote in national elections.

State Treasurer Robert Ber- don has announced the forma- tion of a "blue ribbon" ad- visory committee on trust and investments. The nine-member committee will be headed by Dan W. Lufkin of New Britain, chairman of the Investment Trust funds administered by the state total more than $200 million. They include the Con- necticut State Teachers' Annu- ity in which a man and woman live on a bed and discuss a lov- ely night because the program director thought the section was in "very bad shape."

A Game of Human Checkers

A live checker game is played each year in August in the main square of Castel- vtro, an ancient town near Modena in central Italy. The game is played by per- sons clad in 16th century costumes as part of an annual celebration commemorat- ing the stay in 1564 of Italian poet Torquato Tasso, who was hiding from authorities for subversive writing. A parade of townfolk dressed in 16th cen- tury costumes precedes the game. Each team is directed by a "checker mas- ter" chosen from the best players in the area. Opening move is given to the team that places first in an archer competition. (AP Photo) day report of casualties aboard these craft.

Meanwhile, small-scale but sharp fighting, ambushes and rocket and mortar attacks have taken a steady toll among the U.S. ground force east of the Laotian border.

Although the American death toll last week was the highest in nearly six months, the casualty and Saigon puppet troops. Mr. Tolson was only slightly above those reported in the first week of the Laotian operation. The casualty summary last Thursday for the week of Feb. 21-23 listed 51 Americans killed in combat, 22 dead of noncombat causes and 217 wounded. The number killed in action then was more than double the 24 killed in combat the week before.

In the war today, a South Vietnamese spokesman said for the eighth day that there had been no movement forward by South Vietnamese forces in the area of the invasion. He said that the "great" but a spokesman said casualties against North Vietnam menaces were light.

Associated Press correspondent Holger Jensen reported from the Khe Sanh that another peace talks in their 10th session on Hill 21 about 10 miles across the border has been under heavy mortar and rocket attack for three days. Some U.S. medical evacuation helicopters were able to get into the position, but pilots said landing there was "extremely hazardous."

Saigon headquarters said U.S. air strikes had dealt North Vietnamese troops another heavy blow. A spokesman said South Vietnamese infantrymen sweeping along the enemy's trail northeast 14 miles southwest of the border outpost of Lao Bao found the bodies of 109 North Vietnamese soldiers killed by air strikes. He said the troops also found eight tons of ammunition and 11 heavy weapons, including three of the 87mm anti-aircraft guns that have taken a heavy toll of U.S. helicopters.

The U.S. Command reported a helicopter crash 60 miles north of Saigon and far from the Laos peace talks did not deny, in an anti-fighting. The command said seven Americans were killed in an Army UH1. The crash was attributed to operational causes.

South Vietnamese headquarters also announced a new drive into Cambodia along Route 1, with fraternal forces of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos, which has been under North Vietnamese and Viet Cong pressure in recent days. The operation involves 1,500 troops and raises the total South Vietnamese force in eastern Cambodia to 24,500 men, the spokesman said.

The Saigon government also reported a major clash Wednesday and a Viet Cong attack on a settlement camp today in the northern part of South Vietnam. Both actions were unrelated to the Laotian campaign.

Militiamen bailed a North Vietnamese battalion of 200 or more troops for seven hours near Quang Ngai, on the coast 80 miles south of Da Nang. The 207, covering the Retreat of militiamen were added by air and artillery strikes and reported killed and seven captured along with 17 weapons. Six militiamen were reported killed and seven wounded.

Headquarters said Viet Cong troops attacked 20 rounds into the Phu Loo rest camp, Purchases Coordinator.

Quake Cleanup Bitterly Slow

By JAY SHARBUITT

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The quake is over, but the after-shocks linger. So does cleanup. San Fernando are turning and repair work throughout the battered San Fernando Valley. The job which hit the Los Angeles area Feb. 9 killed 64 people, injured more than a thousand and caused millions of dollars in property damage. The valley, affected most by the earthquake, is slowly battling its way back to normal.

The whole city's still on a diminished water supply and we're still asking people to conserve water," says Joe Comstock, assistant public works director. "We're also asking people not to wash their clothes here—the system can't handle it."

The city won't fix its damaged streets and curbs right away. "Geologists recommended we delay this about five months because the ground's still moving slightly," Comstock says. How long will it be before San Fernando is as it was before the quake? Comstock offers a grim guess: "It'll be at least one year."

Six Red Cross centers to provide emergency cash, food and clothing are being set up in San Fernando and the city. "We think they're over the worst of it," says Jim Malville, a Red Cross official, who estimates nearly $600,000 has been spent helping quake victims, including 65 families still in emergency housing such as hotels or motels.

Los Angeles officials report a group of contractors posing as structural engineers or "inspectors" are prowling Sylmar, offering to check damaged homes for $15 to $25. The city provides such service without charge.

One 60-year-old resident, disoriented by the progress of two workers repairing his quake-damaged home, went berserk. He attacked them with a meat cleaver, threatened one with a shotgun, and dived out of a second floor window to his death when the police arrived. But the children of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Rosback, a pretty well-known community leader, typify the valley's slow return to normal, even though their trite home in Sylmar was badly damaged in the quake.

"I can pick up the phone and get the operator to dial me out, but nobody can dial in here," says Hazel Harper, a popper of Oklahoma whose left wrist was broken at her Sylmar home during the quake. "The mess from the utilities has been wonderful," Mrs. Harper said. "It may not be until May I understand that I'm able to dial out, but I know they have to do it."

San Fernando City, whose 18,000 residents underwent a quake-caused drought—the shock shattered the city water lines and cracked two of three reservoirs beyond repair—finally is off the water wagon. For nine days after the quake, up to 87 water trucks were supplying city residents with drinking water, poured into jugs, plastic trash baskets, buckets, anything that would hold it. The last drought area, in the city's northwest section, got temporary lines last Sunday. Residents there have to run hoses from the lines into their homes if they want water without going outside for it. Crews working around the clock have put in permanent lines.

He said women born in the baby boom after World War II are now entering reproductive age and the number of fertile women in the 20-to-29 age group will increase by 30 per cent by 1975.

NEW BABY BOOM
NEW YORK (AP) — The United States is experiencing its "second postwar baby boom," says an advisor of the U.S. Census Bureau, "beginning with about October, 1968, the number of live births has been increasing steadily." Dr. Philip M. Hauser said in a speech Wednesday.

As you may know, I have been getting a hard time from my wife every time I suggested that I should take a rest from my exhausting two-day work schedule and go South to brush up on my golf. If there's one thing I do well, it's playing golf long, so my game needs lots of practice. However, my pleas fall on deaf ears, until I took the bull by the tail and looked the situation straight in the eye. I booked an airplane seat for Miami last Saturday night and, lo and behold, she decided I needed company to keep me from the various temptations that might face me in Palm City. She wanted me to have a good time but not a GOOD time, so she came with me. David has been in full charge during my absence and it has been his responsibility to provide a wide assortment of goodies for the weekend. He tells me you should be pleased with his efforts.

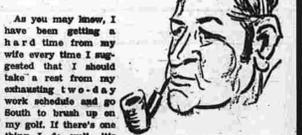

Here is a partial list of what we should be peddling: Hotpoint appliances like washers, dryers and refrigerators; Motorola radios; Smucker's pickles; toys, clocks; sheets and towels; rugs and mats; Janitor, Electrical and Fall; American of Martineville tables; cookies of all sorts and hundreds of items David can't remember.

Remember our exhausting hours: FRIDAYS 10 to 9 and SATURDAYS 10 to 5.

Look for us under the big chimney near the corner of Adams and Hilliard.
