Captain Acquitted On Maiming Count

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE
Associated Press Writer
FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — A jury of seven career Army officers acquitted Capt. Eugene M. Kotouc today of charges that he maimed a prisoner after the 1968 raid on the South Vietnamese village of My Lai.

The jury, all but one member of which were veterans of Vietnam, deliberated slightly more than an hour before returning a verdict in this case.
Kotouc, an intelligence officer at the time of the assault, stood stiffly at attention as the verdict was read.

The jury got the case at 11 a.m. EDT after final arguments by lawyers for both sides and a half hour charge from Judge Col. Madison Wright.
Wright noted in his charge that Kotouc admitted cutting off a part of the finger of the prisoner in the courtroom.
"Intent is the essential element in this case," said the air-minded jurist.
"Outside the courtroom, our faced by family officer told newsmen he would remain in the Army.

"It's the best damned Army in the world, I'll tell you," said Kotouc.
The question, Eckhardt said, was whether it was done intentionally.
"I'm very happy," he said. "I'm pleased to be living in a country where we have a system of justice like the one we have here."

"I couldn't be happier — I with unintentional.
"An accident is an unexpected just couldn't be happier."
He said he was indebted to his attorneys and "thousands of other Americans" who brought the case to court.
"Today is my day to be happy and not critical. I'm going out to my family."

Kotouc is the third American soldier to be acquitted on charges arising from the My Lai massacre and its aftermath.
Acquitted earlier of assault charges were Sgt. David Mitchell of Fort Bragg, N.C., and Sgt. Charles Hutto, of Tallahassee, Fla.
He acquitted following the conviction of Lt. William L. Calley Jr. on murder charges arising from the My Lai incident. Still to be tried on criminal charges are Capt. Ernest Medina, 34, Montrose, Colo. He is charged with murder and is awaiting trial at McPherson. Preliminary proceedings in his case are to begin late next month.

At the end of the closed session, a newsmen asked Thuy whether Mrs. Binh's offer applied to North Vietnamese negotiators today, tomorrow or any day of your choice."
Thuy said Hanoi and the Viet Cong were ready to open negotiations today, tomorrow or any day of your choice."

Can We Escape Acupuncture?
 China was inventing things like gunpowder when the rest of civilization was still perfecting the bow and arrow.

It has also, for a thousand years, been a place where a thing called acupuncture has been considered a respectable and effective medical practice.

Under the Great Proletarian Cultural Revolution which took place in the Chinese Peoples Republic a few years ago, the ancient practice of acupuncture, or sticking needles into people, has been given a new place of respect and honor and popularity in Chinese life.

Stick enough needles into enough right places and your Chinese practitioner can cure almost anything almost instantly. The ancient practice of acupuncture, or sticking needles into people, has been given a new place of respect and honor and popularity in Chinese life.

Reports from China say that even Chinese doctors who have had Western training are not so skeptical as they used to be.

We have advanced this information in order to pose a question.

What chances do we have, in this country, of escaping an acupuncture cure?

What are the odds we won't soon have, along with the law in diplomacy between the United States and China, a nationwide resort to the needle?

Can any one maintain or prove that suddenly sticking ourselves full of needles would be any worse as a combination fad and monopoly-breaker than any of the other temporary enthusiasms and panaceas we stampede ourselves into in the course of any decade?

If we do escape our acupuncture phase, how will it happen that we have more common sense and balance against the enticements of such a fascinating fad than we have had available to help us escape the other tempting-like reactions of the human mind in our time?

Perhaps there is such a miracle possible. But we confess our inability to believe in it. What we expect, rather, is a swiftly advanced growth of the acupuncture cult in this country until, finally, a number of our existing medical practitioners give up their particular fields in order to organize and open new clinics and new practice specializing in acupuncture alone.

We expect endless debates, in all the media, and endless moves, in all our legislatures, to approve, regulate, or outlaw the new healing practice, and an awful lot of needle-sticking which, we ourselves can attest from various silver-seeking operations over the years, can indeed seem, momentarily at least, to make everything else feel comparatively free of pain.

Reward For Being Nice
 This is being treated as news, when in reality it is the most calculable kind of routine in our existences.

It is the story of how a New York theatre owner, inspired, the other day, to do something nice for people, got himself beaten up for his pains.

His idea was to celebrate his family's 50 years in show business by offering free admissions for one day in all 14 theatres in the family chain.

His effort to be nice to people went so well that some of his theatres were filled to capacity, with unsatisfied crowds still outside.

It was when he asked these crowds outside to form into lines that Donald S. Rugoff, the nice guy in the story, was set upon and assaulted by angry young people, who wanted instant admission.

Along with the would-be free patrons who tried to slug him, there were dissatisfied customers emerging from the theatre who complained about the show, or the crowd inside, as if they wanted their money back.

But, just about the time we were reading the story, deciding that it never pays, in this world, to be the sentimentalist, I came to the passage in which Mr. Rugoff, incorrigibly soft and impressionable, gave his own final summary of his experience.

"People," he said, after it was all over, and he had at last succeeded in getting them to form one peaceful line, "are nice."

Trout On A Cold Day
 Late in the afternoon the sun had warmed the early grass and you sat in the shelter of the big rock below the ridge of pine trees which blocked away the northeast wind, you listened to the river, shrugged your shoulders to throw off any slight chill, and half closed your eyes, believing you were in eternal spring.

In the morning, when the stream edges were frozen and it was so cold up in the hills that the fog ridge ten miles away was clearly visible, the lone trees standing straight against the early purple sky, I had fished down the fast riffles with great concentration, my wits sharpened by the chill which pained my fingers. In very little time I caught six fat trout. When the stream edges thawed, the trout became shy. The sky was clear and the sun was bright, although my fingers still pined unless I wiped away the drops of water after I had touched the drips of rain. By midday, hidden in the hollow, it was easy to pretend it was summer, for the pines were as green as they ever would be on a summer's day. Then I felt a chill and decided to settle for spring; the days of spring and autumn were the best days, anyway.

The place in the sun, sheltered from the wind, had a dry, steep bank before a small pool which was deep enough to shelter trout beneath the big stones on the bottom, which you could not see except when the sun was directly overhead and shining straight down into the water. It was a good place to fish the riffles where the trees hung heavily and sheltered the stream from the sun. There would be a sun in the hollow for two or three hours, so you could cast out a worm and leave the rod in a cleft stick, and lie and dream.

When you lay on your back, your head cradled from behind in cupped hands, the sky was like a calm sea dotted with islands around which the tide moved in races and carried the fish close to the shore. The river stars in the sky, the more the river sound was like the roar of surf until sound and sight combined and enveloped you.

The rod tip, which was set easily on the cleft stick, did not move once for three hours. Then the sun fell behind the trees. I shrugged, but the cold could not be thrown away. The force and irritation of trying to force it off my neck and awake again, realizing my limbs were cramped and cold, it was easy to stare at the still pool and think what lifeless water would be like if it were covered by a cloud of minks and rings of splashing fish. Now it was empty, and soon the sun would be shining on the grass blades and ferns which trailed into the current edge.

Summer was a long way off, even spring, and it was useless to pretend that the cold early year was anything else.

I walked upstream, carrying the heavy sound of falling water which was The Force, a natural white-water tumble above a bridge which carried across a small road to somewhere south-east of the river and the forest. I think that if you followed it far enough and long enough, it took you to Kirby Lonsdale.

When I reached the bridge, I climbed carefully along the rocky sides of The Force, throwing up the hood of my jacket to keep off the cold spray and making each step with careful deliberation, for the rocks were almost icy.

You could never see the bottom of the runs between the white water of The Force. The water was black and bottomless, although in reality it was barely four feet deep. Because it was black it held unknown qualities and quantities, and beneath the bridge, where nothing could be heard above the roar of the mountain water, I fished for a while in the deep depths, casting a worm on a line weighted by a half-ounce lead bomb and allowing it to roll downstream with the current, feeling at each passage through the snags and eddies of the white water for the pucker or the heavy snatch of a taking trout, perhaps even an early salmon. After each cast the bomb rolls downstream, bumping against the rocks. It reaches the end of the run. It steps and drags on the line. It is rebound and cast again. And so on.

Sometimes it catches against a stick and the current pulls against it in such a violent manner that it is just like a fish-bite, but not quite. It only half deceives.

When you finally walk away from The Force, you find your head to be the pounding from your eardrums, the peace and silence are reassuring. You walk on through the forest until the roar is less and less; until the roar is a whisper, and the long rattle under the far bank which ends in a deep eddy sings whatever song you may wish in its rippling run.

What is more reassuring about the rifle and the eddy is that it has never failed to produce one big trout. You come to it purposely at day's end because if never fails, day's end is the best time to catch a big trout.

The worm reached the eddy, paused, and swung across it. I felt the steady tug-tug of a fish. I did not twitch the line, even froze my movements so there would be no chance to scare the fish. The tape became strong and then the fish jerked the line heavily and I jerked back, lightning the line on the reel.

When I had unhooked the trout, killed it, and placed it in grass in my bag, I wiped my hands carefully, for the slime, like the water seemed icy-cold. Tomorrow there would be another fish in the empty hole in the eddy. — ANTHONY FLAHERTY IN THE MANCHESTER (ENGLAND) GUARDIAN.

Connecticut Yankee Mideast Backlash

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

WASHINGTON—A dangerous backlash against Washington is now building up among this country's best friends in the Arab world as a result of President Nixon's apparent inability to change Israel's mind about its refusal to accept a moderate Arab peace settlement that opening the Suez Canal will be only the first step toward Israeli withdrawal from Sinai.

If Secretary of State William P. Rogers is now in his way to both Egypt and Israel, it is useless to pretend that the cold early year was anything else.

Have you, dear citizen of Connecticut, ever experienced the delightful sensation of receiving, personally, the enthusiastic applause of the state's distinguished elected representatives or senators?

If not, lie you up to Hartford, post haste, and head for the House or Senate galleries.

On your way to the gallery, just happen to brush by some representative or senator and establish yourself as a resident of his district or some district near his.

Then proceed to your gallery seat, and wait.

The unexpected pleasure, first that of the senator or representative, next that of the House or Senate, and finally your own, will be forthcoming.

Your senator or representative will rise, ask the floor for a matter of personal privilege, or for the purpose of making an introduction. After he has gained the floor, he will announce your presence in the gallery, relate your claim to fame, and then request, clearly establishing himself as a major new figure on the legislative scene by the masterful way in which he, single-handed, introduced an entire gallery which he himself had carefully stacked for the occasion.

One thing the 1971 session is, therefore, certain to accomplish. The people of this state are going to know one another better.

TOKYO (AP) — Japanese Emperor Hirohito is 70 years old today.

More than 11,000 persons, clad in raincoats and carrying umbrellas, turned out to wish him a happy birthday with great concentration, my wits sharpened by the chill which pained my fingers. Subdivision Is Opposed

Eleven residents in the area of Lakewoods Lane, Sleepy Hollow and Collins Rd. spoke in opposition to an application to the Zoning Board of Appeals requesting a variance for a subdivision on Lakewoods Lane.

Arthur Brown, conservator for Henry Brown was seeking acceptance of the present road width in the subdivision and/or reduction in lot sizes to meet road requirements.

According to Brown, in 1953 there was a subdivision of 15 lots, eight of which were sold off over the years. He sought the variance regarding the remaining seven lots, three on Lakewoods Lane and four on Collins Rd. The subdivision would extend the full depth of the parcel, Brown said the right of way was planned with the intention of hooking up with a road to the rear of the property, now Collins Road.

Robert Farmer questioned the type of building allowed in the area where 40,000 square feet is needed and these lots are about 30,000 square feet. He added that building sizes may not be reduced.

Brooks Allen asked when the septic tank was done and when it had been done April 28, Allen said he knew of no house in the area that has had a drainage problem. Brown said he had no knowledge of the septic problems in the area.

Omar Shepard pointed out some legal problems such as the fact that the measure, which has been approved for a subdivision but just filed in the town clerk's office. He added that it is a 148,000 square foot piece of property which could be developed to make legal size lots.

Russell Inging opposed the small lots because the development would have 150 to 200 lots. He said that he would be required to have lots 150 by 300 and he felt that was right for the area.

Brown withdrew his application and must go before the Planning and Zoning Commission with a new proposal for acceptance or rejection before returning to the ZBA.

Charles Fuller and Donald Bocham of Johnson Road were seeking a front yard variance to construct a raised ranch on Johnson Rd.

There was no problem with the septic system or wells according to inspector Sam Pescatello.

The two men had enclosed a rough sketch but it was stated that it would have to be a certified map. The board did not come to a decision since they want a plot plan drawn to scale with buildings and outbuildings on it.

There was no opposition to the application.

Jobless Pay Due For Strikers

HARTFORD (AP) — The controversy over whether strikers should be able to receive unemployment compensation will emerge again on the floor of the House this session.

The legislature's Labor Committee gave a favorable report Tuesday to a bill identical to the one that produced the most intense opposition during the 1969 session.

The 1969 bill narrowly passed the House, but was defeated by the Senate, much to the chagrin of labor leaders.

This session, there is no question that Gov. Thomas J. Meskill would veto such a bill if it arrived on his desk, Meskill said as much during his campaign last year.

Prison Escapee Caught in State

HARTFORD (AP) — A 22-year-old man, who escaped from a Pennsylvania prison Saturday two months before he was scheduled to be released, was picked up Wednesday at a Hartford shopping center.

FBI agents arrested Francis Thomas Boyd, formerly of Montgomery, Pa., about noon. Boyd was arraigned later in the day before a U.S. magistrate, who set bond at $10,000.

Boyd said he had the right to a removal hearing, which would have determined if he was to be returned to Pennsylvania for re-ignition.

Assistant U.S. Atty. B. Blair Crawford said Boyd had been serving a six-year sentence at the minimum-security correctional institution at Allentown, Pa., for interstate transportation of stolen property.

Cuban Pastors Freed

BURCHESON, Switzerland (AP) — Two Baptist pastors from Cuba, the first allowed to go abroad in the last five years, told a meeting here that the majority of Baptist pastors who had been imprisoned have now been released and have resumed preaching.

The Revs. Manuel Salom and Humberto Dominguez of the Baptist Union of Western Cuba, said the Cuban churches now can hold worship services as often as they wish within their own buildings, but not outside them. The point of each pin is at approximately 10,000 Cuban Baptists, the ministers said.

Volkswagen Thinking 'Slightly Larger'

Volkswagen, which built its reputation by "thinking small," begins thinking "slightly larger" starting tomorrow when it unveils a new 411 series of roomier and more comfortable models—including its first four-door sedan, shown here, and a station wagon. Automatic transmission and an 85-horsepower electronic fuel-injection engine are standard, giving top speed of 94 miles an hour. The 411s are less than two feet longer than the VW "beetles." New models are at Ted Trudon, Inc., Talcottville.

And she displays a measure of feminine pride in adding: "It's the only thing operated by women."

Savings, Loan Banks Report Record Lending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Federal savings and loan associations closed a record $2.7 billion mortgage loans in March, the Federal Home Loan Bank Board said today.

Chairman Preston Martin said the amount was closed in the year more than was closed in the lending volume in March of last year.

He also said purchases of mortgage loans from originators, primarily mortgage bankers, totaled $500 million. In addition, Martin said, commitments of savings and loan money to mortgage banks in March, the operation returned $750 million of the initial investment. The remaining $750 million was paid back in 1969.

"And last year we paid $8,000

Open Forum

"Ahaam Replins" To the Editor,

I was somewhat bemused by the self-righteousness of the local political candidate who opened the Open Forum to attack me personally for the recent budget cutting of the Board of Finance. I would like to point out to the gentleman that I never cut out of the budget that I approved by a majority of the Board of Finance. (There are six members: three Democrats and three Republicans.) I am not a candidate for any town office in the town election of May 2nd. I still have four years left on my present term on the Board of Finance.

It is true that most of the budget cuts were initiated by me and my fellow Democrats (John Donnelly and Russell Moonan.) However our recommendations were made only after careful study of the budget requests. Our goal was to eliminate or reduce items that were unessential, and at the same time to provide Bolton with the services that the taxpayers could reasonably afford. This is not the duty of the Board of Finance?

I take issue with the charge that we were "alashing need programs" — (a charge that the letter writer conveniently omits documenting.)

Consequently I would like to explain the logic behind some of the more controversial items. I leave it to the taxpayers to determine the wisdom of our decisions.

The cutting of $400 for a program to pay constables to patrol two hours per night was program disapproved by two of the three selectmen. If Bolton voters had asked for further action beyond our resident state trooper, the hiring and arming of untrained civilian constables is a questionable way to do it. The two Democratic selectmen are well known to the taxpayers and are well known to the town. The Democratic selectmen are well known to the taxpayers and are well known to the town.

2. Cutting of $1,000 from a $100 "Miscellaneous" fund to the snow budget which the First Selectman could not adequately defend.

3. Cutting of $600 from the $1240 Civil Defense budget. There has been no active program in Bolton in 15 years. The former paid for the Civil Defense program. Nevertheless though money was left in the budget to allow the new director to begin a new program.

4. Cutting of $85 from the $4,000 Recreation budget. Two years ago this budget was $2,600. It has increased 100% in two years. It is a good program, but Bolton has been very generous these past two years, and the program will not be impaired by this cut.

5. Cutting $500 from the $4,000 Park Commission budget. Two years ago the total park budget was about $300. But the program will not be impaired by this cut.

6. Cutting four per cent from the Board of Education budget. It is a high school which has a high school with no cafeteria, no auditorium, and run on athletic fields. Herrick Park, in the opinion of many townspeople, is the best in the area. It is a prime example of misdirected local priorities.

Come for Dessert and Tea

If you'd like to entertain a group of friends, yet don't want to get involved with a dinner party, ask them over for dessert and tea. It will be less expensive and because a dessert party is usually held after the hustle of family activity has quieted, it will prove to be more relaxing and consequently more enjoyable for the hostess and the guests. The preferred time for a "Come For Dessert" gathering is in the evening, after seven or eight or nine—depending on what time most of your friends finish dinner. It could be a Sunday afternoon party, if those on your guest list traditionally serve dinner in the middle of the day. For the desserts, offer a choice of three or four with a range of flavors and richness. For friends on diets and ones who prefer a light dessert, include a bowl of fruit temptingly sweetened and flavored along with at least one new and intriguing cookie. By all means, make a splash with a fantastic cake or two and perhaps a pie. The two cakes here perfectly complement one another not only in looks but in taste. The round one is a yummy Cream Cake flavored with nut, delicately textured and simply frosted with whipped cream and a sprinkling of nuts.

Although the Peppermint Party Cake looks imposing and difficult to frost, it is a simple-to-make 13 x 9-inch sponge cake, cut and split to make a four-layer cake, filled and frosted with an easy peppermint icing. If you decide to include a pie, the Sour Cream Lemon Pie shown here is ideal. For the beverage, make it a choice of hot or iced tea. Tea is refreshing, young in spirit and most appropriately goes with springtime desserts such as suggested here. Easiest way to prepare and serve tea for a crowd is by using the concentrate method. For it, you prepare an extra strong brew of tea and use it for both hot and iced tea. For the hot tea, pour 2 tablespoons concentrate into a cup and fill with hot water. For iced tea, pour about 2½ tablespoons of the concentrate into a glass. Add ice and cold water. With a number of desserts to prepare, it's best to do as much ahead as you can. The cake and the custard filling for the Rum Cream Cake can be made the day before then assembled the day of the party. The pie crust and the lemon filling can also be made ahead and put together before party time. Make the cookies two days in advance and store them in an airtight container. Make the tea concentrate no longer than 4 hours ahead.

Concentrate for Hot and Iced Tea

1. Bring 1 quart of freshly drawn cold water to a full rolling boil.
 2. Pour over ¼ measuring cup of loose tea. Cover and let stand 5 minutes.
 3. Strain and strain into pitcher or teapot. Use within 4 hours and keep at room temperature; do not refrigerate. Makes about 25 cups hot tea or 20 glasses iced tea. Recipe may be doubled.
- For Hot Tea: When ready to serve, pour 2 tablespoons of concentrate into a cup and fill with hot water.
- For Iced Tea: When ready to serve, pour about 2½ tablespoons of concentrate into a glass, add ice and cold water.

Sour Cream Lemon Pie

- 1 baked 9-inch pastry shell

- ¼ cup corn starch
- 1½ cups milk
- 3 egg yolks, slightly beaten
- 1 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- ¼ cup lemon juice
- ¼ cup margarine
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Lemon slices

Mix sugar and corn starch in 2-quart saucepan. Gradually add milk, stirring until smooth. Stir in egg yolks, lemon rind and lemon juice until blended. Add margarine. Cook over medium heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to boil and boils 1 minute. Pour into bowl. Cover surface of filling with waxed paper or film. Chill. Fold in sour cream. Turn into baked pastry shell. Serve at once or chill until serving time. If desired, garnish with lemon slices. Makes 1 (9-inch) pie.

NOTE: The pastry shell and filling may be prepared the day before. Just before serving, fold sour cream into filling and fill pastry shell.

Rum Cream Cake

- 4 eggs
- ½ cup sugar
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ½ cup sifted flour
- 2 cups 2 (9 x 1½-inch) layer pans. Beat eggs in large mixing bowl on medium high speed until fluffy. Gradually add sugar and salt, beating about 12 minutes or until mixture is doubled in bulk and mounds slightly when dropped from spoon. Sift flour and corn starch over egg mixture. Fold in gently until well mixed. Pour into prepared pans. Bake in 350°F. (moderate) oven about 25 minutes or until cake springs back when touched. Cool 10 minutes. Remove from pans, cool completely on wire rack. Split each layer in half. Sprinkle each cake layer with 2 tablespoons of the rum. Put first layer on serving plate. Spread with about ½ of the Custard Filling. Repeat with remaining layers and filling, ending with cake. Frost cake with whipped cream. Garnish with nuts and whipped cream rosettes topped with sugared candied lemon seeds.

Fresh Fruit Bowl

- 1 small melon
 - 2 cups fresh strawberries
 - 2 cups fresh raspberries
 - 2 tablespoons light corn syrup
 - 2 tablespoons Kirsch
 - ½ cup grapes, whole or halved
 - Fresh mint to garnish
- Cut melon into halves; remove seed. Peel and cut into cubes or shape with spoon into balls. Lightly toss melon pieces with strawberries, pineapple, grapes, corn syrup and Kirsch. Chill 1 to 2 hours. Serve chilled, garnished with sprig of mint.
- NOTE: Select cantaloupe, Spanish melon or honeydew for the melon; use raspberries, blueberries or any fresh berry in season.

Peppermint Party Cake

- 1½ cups sifted cake flour
- ½ cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon cream of tartar
- 6 eggs, separated
- ¼ cup light corn syrup
- ½ teaspoon vanilla
- ½ teaspoon lemon extract
- Peppermint Frosting

Sift together flour, ½ cup of the sugar and salt three times. Add cream of tartar to egg whites; beat until slightly mounded when beaten. Gradually beat in remaining ½ cup sugar; slowly add corn syrup and continue beating until whites stand in firm peaks. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored. Beat in vanilla and lemon extract. Fold egg yolks into whites. Gradually fold in dry ingredients, adding ¼ cup at a time over surface. Turn into ungreased 13 x 9 x 2-inch cake pan. Bake in 325°F. (slow) oven about 45 minutes or until cake is lightly browned. Invert pan and let cake cool 20 minutes. To remove from pan, loosen sides with spatula. Cool on wire rack. Cut cake into halves crosswise; split each half into 2 layers. Put first layer on serving plate. Spread with ½ cup of the Peppermint Frosting. Repeat with remaining 3 layers using ½ cup frosting between each layer and ending with cake. Frost cake with remaining 2½ cups Peppermint Frosting. If desired, decorate with candied flower petals. Makes 18 servings.

Drop by level measuring teaspoonfuls onto greased baking sheet. Bake in 400°F. (hot) oven 5 to 8 minutes or until edges are slightly browned. Spread about ½ teaspoon Lemon Filling on flat side of 1 cookie; sandwich with second cookie. Sprinkle lightly with confectioners' sugar. Makes about 3½ dozen filled cookies.

Peppermint Frosting

- 1 cup margarine
- 1 pound confectioners' sugar, sifted
- 2 eggs

Electric Boat Given Contract

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Navy awarded a $13.8 million contract Wednesday to the Electric Boat Co., Groton, Conn., for continued research into the feasibility of building a new high-speed atomic submarine.

This is the third such contract awarded the firm, a subsidiary of General Dynamics, the Navy said.

The proposed Underwater Long Range Missile System (ULRMS) would make obsolete the Polaris and Poseidon submarines.

Electric Boat built the Polaris fleet.

ULRMS is planned initially as a fleet of 15 subs carrying 15 long-range missiles. Each vessel will be capable of staying at sea without refueling for 10 to 12 weeks, 4,000-6,000 nautical miles.

It includes ultra sensitive anti-detection systems.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

MRS. DONALD SIMMONS and STACEY

We were going to dinner at Omar Khayyam's. It was partly a sentimental journey. Byll and Dave Schult had first discovered the spot in San Francisco on their honeymoon. Dave is managing editor of the Redwood City (Calif.) Tribune. Byll, an ex-schoolteacher turned young grandmother, is a bubbly enthusiastic woman. When "Schultz" as she is more commonly called, is enthusiastic, it is very difficult to say "no." So, off we went to Omar Khayyam's, some ten managing editors and their wives.

The restaurant is reminiscent of the 30's and an unpretentious establishment. One goes down a flight of stairs. On a table at the entrance to the dining room is a table containing jars of tender stuffed grape leaves, rose petal preserves and two or three books, written by the owner.

We were met by our host, the owner, George M. Mardikian, whose personality matched Byll's enthusiasm. In the center of our dining tables were huge round crackers. This is the traditional Armenian bread "lavash." The lavash is held over the table and is broken to clean up several of the old custom, the host breaks bread simultaneously with his guests, the significance being, "What is mine is yours."

George Mardikian's story could join the Horatio Alger series, that of the poor boy who makes good through hard work and honesty. Born in Armenia, he saw his father killed by the Bolsheviks in 1915. He considers the status of Liberty the most beautiful lady in the world. While he landed in New York, he was headed for San Francisco where he soon found that there was no "getting rich quick."

When you visit his restaurant, you will be given a decal of an American flag, for George is not about to let anyone forget how lucky he is to live in this land. During World War II, George closed his restaurant doors to the general public on holidays. Only wounded veterans were hosted. Fifteen of the department's members, as many as one evening.

He was nicknamed "The GI's Chow Champion" for his work as a food commissary in the U.S. Army, improving quality and taste with imagination. He has served the internationally famous and the itinerant traveler. In any case, each is afforded George's personal and genial attention.

One of George's hobbies has been to teach Americans to appreciate lamb. One newspaper writer once said, "If ever the lamb industry names a patron saint, he will be George Mardikian." Lamb is, of course, the staple meat of the Near East. It is, as George will tell you, the traditional ceremonial food in Armenia.

Lamb was looked at with great favor in this country in the not too distant past. Unfortunately, most people were eating mutton and not lamb chops.

Lamb is popular today. However, there are many delicious dishes that can be made with the less expensive cuts of lamb. As a case in point, Donald Keefe, Anderson's lamb shanks on page 13 of our 1969 cookbook. The inexpensive shanks are marinated in butter milk and seasoned, sealed in foil, and baked on the grill.

Recently, I visited the home of pretty, feminine Linda Simmons of 35 Oak Dr., Hebron. It isn't often our photographers have two pretty girls posing at once. Stacey, age 4, was helping mother serve. She placed a fork in a lamb chop, covered her eyes and peeked through her fingers. "I don't like the flash," she said. We assured her that our camera had no flash, which she viewed with apprehension. Finally, your truly posed so we could demonstrate whereupon Linda said, "I don't like the flash either. I don't want to make anything that I can't see in my fry pan. What band Donald is a state policeman. I like something I can see in my fry pan. Whatever time, whatever time that may be."

"Continuing," Linda stated, "I bought a 1½ lb. shoulder lamb chops. I buy the loin chops and make a mixture in my fry pan. What I haven't tried it, you probably could make a similar dish using lamb chop Caserole in a Pot 2 tablespoons butter or margarine 4 cups water 1 package dried onion soup 1 teaspoon salt ¼ teaspoon pepper 3 cups elbow macaroni Brown chops in butter. Cover and cook 15 minutes. Remove chops and set aside. Add water, and seasonings to pan; bring to boil and add macaroni. Cook 10 minutes, add chops and continue cooking 5 minutes. Macaroni will absorb all the liquid and be slightly crisp. (An electric fry pan is ideal. Any leftover noodles can be reheated and served in place of potatoes another night.)

"When it comes to desserts, I make things that utilize convenience foods. The Igloo cake really looks like one and is so easy to make. I buy a very inexpensive angel food cake in the supermarket so I don't have to bake anything before I start this recipe." Linda said.

Igloo Cake 1 package chocolate pudding ¼ package unfavored gelatin 1 cup prepared topping mix 1 eight-inch angel food cake cut into 1-2" cubes more prepared topping mix or whipped cream

New Ideas on Education Promoted in Sweden

by FRANK ROSENWALD
Associated Press Writer

STOCKHOLM (AP)—Swedish education authorities say ideas of cramming as much knowledge as possible into people during the first quarter of their lives will give way to a "school for life," which students may enter or leave at will regardless of age.

Education Minister Ingvar Carlsson says the Social Democratic government feels it is "necessary to introduce this dynamic new school in order to safeguard individual freedom in modern society."

The minister explained in an interview why he feels it is imperative to discard traditional ideas in education: "Modern society demands the retraining of large groups and if we allow private companies to handle this it will restrict the individual and put us in a dependent position."

But retraining for a changing society is not the only reason for introducing a "no-age limit education system," he said.

The minister explained that the government would be fully justified in spending state funds on the new-style education "for he has a better reason than giving workers a sabbatical and chance of a wider outlook."

"Not everyone agrees on this score, but the main thing is that the finance minister does," he said with a grin.

At 35 Carlsson puts in a working day that sometimes reaches 18 hours. He says he expects to be "burnt out at 40."

He finds general agreement within the Organization for European Cooperation and Development that a greater quality of opportunity is imperative in education, especially in social terms.

"This has not been attained through expanding facilities and we now have to resort to an entirely new concept to free us from the class chains."

"School marks will be retained only at some competitive levels, but they will largely lose their importance by the addition of aptitude tests and practical work experience. The minister gave examples "The Hard Ride."

An official communique said the number of rebels giving up was reported the arrest of a large number of insurgents, the discovery of caches of shotguns, hand grenades and other arms, and the capture of a large number of Communist China and North Korea weapons.

Pre-Budget Bills Called 'Playthings'

HARTFORD (AP)—By approving spending bills before a budget is adopted, the legislature's Appropriations Committee is making "political playthings" out of worthwhile causes, a Republican lawmaker charged Wednesday.
 Rep. Nicholas Lange of West Hartford, the ranking GOP member of the committee, urged the majority Democrats to "stop tampering with good programs in this crucial year" and get to work immediately on a complete budget.
 Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has introduced legislation that would allow a 10 percent increase in the state's sales tax to help finance day care services. Approval of such bills has been criticized by the Republican majority as an attempt to embarrass the governor.

 The river will, however, remain below flood stage at all forecast points along its length, the officials said.

GM Complaints Open to Study By U.S. Official

DETROIT (AP)—A U.S. Department of Transportation official said Wednesday that he would be allowed to look at the microfilm records of customer complaints that General Motors Corp. bought from two Wyandotte, Mich., salvage dealers said GM paid them $20,000 for the copies, which they found last month in making a $750 purchase from an electronics surplus store. The complaints were on Chevrolet automobiles in the early 1960s.

Lawrence Schneider, chief counsel for the Transportation Department's Auto Safety Bureau, said in Washington he had been told by GM officials that he would be allowed to look at the microfilm records. He said he would examine the records because some of the letters could concern two federal inquiries against the automaker.

Rep. Nicholas Lange of West Hartford, the ranking GOP member of the committee, urged the majority Democrats to "stop tampering with good programs in this crucial year" and get to work immediately on a complete budget.

Gov. Thomas J. Meskill has introduced legislation that would allow a 10 percent increase in the state's sales tax to help finance day care services.

46th District Legislative Expansion Bill's Aim

State Rep. Thomas J. Donnelly of the 46th District, has introduced a bill in the General Assembly designed to expand the possibilities for the average citizen to serve as an elected representative or senator in the legislature.

According to Donnelly, the bill has received a favorable recommendation by the Rules Committee. It would ensure that no person be discharged by members of the group, unless he becomes a legislative candidate or a legislator, nor would he lose job seniority.

The bill would allow for choice of work shifts if applicable and would provide for compensation from the state whenever an employee reduces salary for time lost from work while serving in the legislature.

Donnelly said he hopes this bill will solve the philosophical question for the "professional" legislator vs. the "citizen" legislator. His aim is, "to make service in the General Assembly practically possible for young earners and lower and middle salaried workers as most of the citizens in the state have the usual complement of family and expense responsibilities," he explained. "As things stand now, such service is a practical impossibility without substantial financial or employment sacrifices."

Criticism Confronts Protesters

Hampton noted, in a memorandum to heads of departments and agencies, that protesters have said they will attempt to block highways and bridges to prevent federal workers who live in nearby Virginia and Maryland from entering Washington.

"If employees making every reasonable effort to get to work are unable to arrive on time," Hampton said, "agencies should consider each case on its merits and decide whether the period of absence should be charged to the employee or to the protesters who are hindering rather than helping efforts to end the war."

Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Wednesday the policy of civil disobedience "will set back and seriously hinder the efforts of those who are trying within the structure to end the war."

And Sen. George S. McGovern, D-S.D., a candidate for his party's presidential nomination in 1972, said the use of such tactics "is to play into the hands of the President."

"Two of the groups sponsoring the current protests also drew criticism from Congress."

Senate Republican Leader Hugh Scott said he had received "classified information" the coming Monday demonstrations were part of a "coordinated effort" to help the Viet Cong negotiator in Paris.

And the House Internal Security Committee said it would investigate what it called charges of Communist leadership in two peace groups, the National Peace Action Coalition and the Peoples Coalition for Peace and Justice.

The committee said these two groups are the chief sponsors of the current demonstrations.

The committee also announced an inquiry into reports of "subversive activities directed toward the armed forces."

Hanoi Offers To Negotiate On Pullout

K.E. Bruce, asked to comment on Mrs. Binh's statement told newsmen: "She did not truly propose a cease-fire or anything like that."

Bruce and South Vietnamese delegate Pham Dang Lam called North Vietnam's name a neutral country or international organization to act as "protecting power" for prisoners held by both sides. Lam also asked Thuy to name a neutral country to which Saigon could transfer 1,200 prisoners held for more than four years for "temporary internment."

Mrs. Binh and Thuy immediately rejected both proposals. "The issue of the prisoners can be settled only after the United States has committed to the total withdrawal of all its forces from South Vietnam."

In making her statement, Mrs. Binh gave an indirect hint that the Communist attitude on American withdrawal may have changed.

She commented at length on a Viet Cong offer of the day in effect, exclude U.S. forces from the fighting and thus leave the South Vietnamese, Australians, South Koreans and others exposed to attack and deprive them of American air cover, artillery fire and logistic support.

Significantly, Thuy explained that the order of the day was inspired by what she described as "growing agitation for peace" in the United States.

North Vietnamese negotiator Xuan Thuy addressed the meeting in his usual uncompromising terms. No progress toward a settlement was possible, he reiterated, until the administration sets a "realistic and unconditional withdrawal of all American forces from South Vietnam."

Hair Handle

The Los Angeles Times Nouakchott, Mauritania — The U.S. Embassy here has thoughtfully prepared a mimeographed guide sheet and map of Nouakchott for all American long-haired youths who have hitchhiked their way across the Sahara Desert to this oasis.

The guide lists all the usual stuff: Where to change dollars, the cost of a taxi hotel rates. But its most important item is a list of "hotels" to stay in, including the name of a local barber, located on Avenue Charles de Gaulle, who charges 40 francs — or $1.48 — for a haircut.

The Embassy is neither giving out nor willful. Only "practical" youths pass through the city to Senegal, the first Black African country below the Sahara. But the Senegalese Embassy here refuses to issue visas to long-haired youths who haven't shorn their locks.

Unless the hitchhikers want to turn back to Sandri's or some home cutting in a must.

Bolton

Republican candidate for the Board of Education John Gleason has called for a "complete restructuring of our approach to education" in order to cope with the needs of today's young adults. He feels that "a thorough re-examination of the length and scheduling of the school day and school year" is in order, "even of the whole primary and secondary education time span."

Gleason said that too many young people are forced to think of their secondary education as a college entrance tool, when many neither want nor can benefit from a college education.

The ideal school system, he said, would provide background and counseling for a variety of post-secondary education routes.

The Republican state committee invite all Bolton residents to an open air party at the home of First Selectman Richard Morris on Birch Mountain Rd. Monday, June 7, 7 to 9 p.m.

According to GOP Town Chairman Robert Dixon, "None of the state leaders, like Moskell and Agostinelli, who were at an earlier Republican rally for local candidates, have been invited. This is simply a fun party for Boltonites only."

In her speech, Mrs. Binh said she had no political speeches "opposed to the National Democratic Party."

Two Democrats have been invited to give the invocation at the party. They are: Mrs. Patricia Moran, wife of the state chairman, is in charge of the event.

WASHINGTON (AP) — In a new move to improve relations with China, the United States is seeking to detach itself from the long quarrel between Peking and the Nationalist government over the status of Formosa.

"Obviously," a State Department spokesman said, "we can't hope to resolve the dispute between the two rival governments."

Press officer Charles Bray also said a news conference Wednesday the ultimate settlement of the Formosa issue is a matter for negotiation between the two Chinese regimes. The United States should not be "bound by the parties themselves."

Bray said the U.S. intention to abide by its defense commitments to the Nationalist government in Formosa. This came in the context of a statement that whatever solution is reached eventually "it should be accomplished by peaceful means."

The ultimate fate of Formosa, he said, is an issue raised by China over the years in scores of ambassadorial talks between the Peking government and the United States.

The new American move appears to be aimed at least in part in putting the issue aside as the future development of comment in the Vietnamese report. There has been considerable discussion in Washington of the issue since President Nguyen Van Thieu's visit to Washington last week.

There are no indications that a direct negotiation between mainland China and Nationalist China over this or any other issue is being contemplated.

Key Statement On Red Ballots Cut for Newsmen

SAIGON (AP) — A story saying Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky favors participation by Communists in next October's presidential election was censored from two English-language Saigon newspapers.

The story quoted a Los Angeles businessman, Harold Willens, as saying Ky told him, "Let the Communists participate. If they represent 10 to 15 per cent of the people, they should get it."

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Blue-chip issues edged back forth, but many stock prices rallied higher today in active trading.

The noon Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was off 1.24 points at 807.74.

Advances led a small lead over declines on the New York Stock Exchange.

The market news encouraged many investors to buy stocks, and the government's index of leading economic indicators rose for the fifth consecutive month in March.

Big Board prices included: Ration, Purina, up 1/4 at 28 1/2; Eastman Kodak, off 1/4 at 24; Eastern Air Lines, off 1/4 at 29 1/2; Boeing, up 1/4 at 24 1/2; Ling-Temco-Vought, off 1/4 at 22 1/2; and Olin Corp., up 1/4 at 29 1/2.

One senior Viet Cong official told newsmen it was "regrettable" that Western news media had stressed the invitation to peace, President Nixon has replied by further intensifying the war.

The Viet Cong spokesman said U.S. soldiers to desert, but had "overlooked" an important aspect of the war. He did not explain at the time what the more "important" aspect was.

The Viet Cong spokesman, Man, Duong Dinh Thao, made it clear earlier that under the terms of the truce applied only to American troops — and not the South Vietnamese, or to their allies.

Although the United States only six of its 18 committee members turned up for the session of those who did, all but Scott have criticized the war and, for the most part, President Nixon's policies. Scott has been a staunch Nixon backer.

The witnesses, representing students and Youth for a People's Peace (Mayday Collective), had no praise for the committee's five-year effort in stirring national opposition to the war.

"You have done the dirty work of the administration" by legitimizing the war, said Chip Marshall, 26, one of eight persons indicted in Seattle for conspiracy in the bombing of a federal building.

"If you were sincere," Marshall told the committee, "you would go into the Senate tomorrow and begin a filibuster" to block all bills until the war is ended.

"That is easily said," Fulbright replied, "but it is very difficult to do."

Sen. Calborne Pell, D-R.I., noted the committee's role in turning public opinion against the war, and said some of the protest activities planned in downtown Washington "make our job of leadership more difficult."

"I hope and pray we will not be turned against," he said, "but by tactics of which we disapprove," said Sen. Jacob K. Javits, R-N.Y.

"I share many of your views of the Vietnam war," Fulbright said. But civil disobedience "will set back and seriously hinder the efforts of those who are trying within the structure to end the war."

"I regret I can't agree with you that we have to destroy the existing structure."

Pardue Dies In Hospital In Missouri

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (AP) — John Russell Pardue Jr., 28, who was wounded in an escape attempt at Bridgeport, Conn., April 8, has died in a Springfield hospital.

Pardue of Danbury, Conn., and his brother, James, 29, of Lanesville, were charged with robbing a Danbury bank Feb. 15, 1970.

John Pardue was shot several times when he pulled a sawed-off rifle and attempted to escape from the Bridgeport Federal Building. His wife, Nancy, 26, was arrested at the same time and charged with smuggling the rifle to him. She is being held on $250,000 bond.

Pardue was being transferred Tuesday to the U.S. Medical Center in Springfield when he lost the use of his kidneys and began bleeding.

He was taken to Cox Medical Center for treatment on a kidney machine. The U.S. center does not have a kidney machine.

Charles Campbell, acting director of the U.S. center, said death last Thursday night was caused by complications from the gunshot wounds.

James Pardue also has been charged with robbing banks in Union and in Pacific, Mo. He was declared incompetent to stand trial and is being held in the U.S. Medical Center.

Bodies of their father and grandmother, John R. Pardue Sr., 58, and Mrs. Lina Pardue, 58, were found recently on a farm formerly owned by James Pardue near Lanesville. There were bullet wounds in both bodies.

The father and grandmother disappeared from their home near Union, Mo., at the time the United Bank of Danbury was robbed in November 1969.

The Danbury robbery was punctuated with three hours of the escape attempt by the father and one of the police station before the holdups; one in the bank as the robbers fled, and one in the getaway car after it was abandoned.

James and John Pardue were arrested about a month after the 10-minute Danbury spree.

The escape attempt took place on the third floor of the federal building during a break in John's trial. Authorities said he leveled a sawed-off .308 caliber rifle on a deputy U.S. marshal and another deputy.

Nancy Pardue was arrested in a car, her infant on her lap. She has pleaded innocent to a variety of charges in connection with her alleged part in the escape.

The bodies of the father and grandmother were found in a metal utility trailer, beneath a tool shed and authorities said both persons had been shot numerous times.

In New Haven, FBI special agent Charles Wickert said he refused to either confirm or deny that a hospital bed statement.

President Says Protests Won't Intimidate Him

WASHINGTON (AP)—While hinting that release of American prisoners might hasten complete U.S. pull-out from Vietnam, President Nixon says he and others in government will not be intimidated by demonstrators' cries of "withdraw now."

Holding his first television news conference in eight weeks, Nixon argued anew Thursday night that his gradual withdrawal policy will prove itself in the long run.

But he did not dismiss the multiple antiwar protests that have become a daily fact of life here. He said:

"It does not mean that we are not going to listen to those who come peacefully, but those who come and break the law will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law."

Discussing tentative and mutual moves toward improved relations between the United States and mainland China, Nixon struck a cautionary note:

"I think that some of the speculation that has occurred in recent weeks since the visit of the table-tennis team to Peking has not been realistic. Progress is not helped in this very sensitive area by speculation that goes beyond what the progress might achieve."

New Charge Listed In Plot Case

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government today announced a new charge in the alleged plot to kidnap presidential adviser Henry Kissinger. It added two defendants to the six originally charged last January and alleged additional conspiracies to damage draft files in five U.S. cities.

Named as additional defendants in what has come to be known as the Bergin case were Mary Cain Sobolik, a former nun and the wife of one of the original defendants, and John Theodore Glick, a 21-year-old inmate of the Federal Correctional Institution at Ashland, Ky.

The Justice Department said the indictment was returned by a federal grand jury in Harrisburg, Pa., on Thursday.

It said the defendants conspired to kidnap Kissinger, a series of acts of antiwar vandalism, and to kidnaping of presidential adviser Henry Kissinger.

Security Tight For May Day

WASHINGTON (AP) — Depu- ty Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst said today that security forces will be on high alert for May Day demonstrations.

"At worst this is going to be nothing more than an irritant," he told newsmen.

His meeting with the GOP senators took place in the office of the U.S. Capitol Building.

Kleindienst said the main security force will include 5,000 District of Columbia police, 1,400 National Guardsmen, 400 U.S. Park police and 400 Capitol Police.

He said Chief Jerry V. Wilson is in charge of the Washington police force.

Another 700 North Vietnamese matter of fact, I expect to visit and remain in China sometime in the next few weeks.

Police held Bruce Paul Lehmann today and in Southern man, 18, a student at Tamalpais High School, for investigation of a bomb blast in San Jose, Calif., on Thursday night.

The bomb blast in San Jose, Calif., on Thursday night, was the largest, most costly bombing in the history of the school, the March 23 bombing of the bank's Sausalito branch.

Officials emphasized that there was no indication that the bombing had any connection with any other in the recent series of bombings in California.

Bank of America officials say they have no idea why their bank was the target of the bombing.

They have estimated that total damage to their facilities has amounted to more than $1 million since February, 1970.

Some of the bombings persons calling themselves youth radicals have written letters claiming responsibility.

The letters said the Bank of America has been singled out because it symbolizes "the capitalist exploitation of the little man."

None of the recent incidents prior to today's truck burning involved the National Guard.

Alternative Society Cambridge to Berkeley: It's Now Hip to Be Holy

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Alternative Society is getting religious. The religious beliefs are crazy-quiet, to be sure, but the fervor is widespread in this obscure area. The last in a series of dispatches from the AP Special Assignment Team.

By KEN HARTWELL Associated Press Writer TAOS, N.M. (AP) — Dennis rolled up the sleeve of his blue work shirt and showed the track marks. They stood out on his right arm like stigmata.

"It was a drug addict, a smacker; then Jesus came in." "Praise the lord," sang out Corky.

"Praise the lord," sang out Corky. "A 30-second heroin cure and with no cold turkey. It just takes that long, with Jesus. Praise the lord," Dennis said.

The three long-haired evangelists sat on mattresses on the stone floor of their farmhouse outside Taos, Rabbit stew mixed with the wood stove and fresh baked honey bread cooled by the back window. Corky found his altar. He had just accompanied himself as he sang, "Jesus is Right On, Brother."

It was a hippie dream come true—peace, serenity in the country, surrounded by friends and no rent to pay ("We can stay as long as we don't grow grass and we keep the gate closed as the stock don't stray," Dennis explained).

Besides Jill, Dennis and Corky as well as Ty and Tull Tom and Carol, who were bringing the word to California, didn't need grass to get high. They were high on Jesus.

Rogers Says: 'New Impetus' Needed For Mideast Settlement

ANICARA, Turkey (AP) — five left-wing periodicals and Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today that an agreement to reopen the Suez Canal could reduce the danger of renewed hostilities in the Middle East. But he said this would not be a substitute for a final peace settlement.

Rogers told foreign policy leaders of Turkey, Iran, Pakistan and Britain that "there is a need for new impetus" toward an Arab-Israeli peace settlement. Progress already made in Jordan, Lebanon, Egypt and Israel.

One of Israel's top policy makers, Cabinet Minister Israel Galili, said today that the Israeli government would welcome Rogers warmly despite its disapproval of his opposition to Israeli territorial demands.

He said he hoped that once Rogers had seen Israel, he would understand better Israel's needs for new borders. But he warned: "Mr. Rogers will meet here a united nation... whose policy cannot be brooked by compensation or temptation."

Galili also blamed the American Department for the freeze in U.N. envoy Gunnar V. Jarring's peace talks because the Americans had backed Jarring's bid for an Israeli commitment to withdraw from the Sinai desert.

"To the extent that the State Department was the cause of Jarring taking this step," he told the Israeli newspaper Yedioth Aharonoth, "it took upon itself a great responsibility for the disruption of the talks."
