Top Court Okays Trials of Juveniles Without Juries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Juveniles accused of crime can be tried without juries, the Supreme Court ruled six to three today.

The decision, delivered by Justice Harry A. Blackmun, approved the current practice in a majority of the states.

It ended a process in the high court of affording juvenile defendants many Bill of Rights protections.

In other actions today, the court:

—Agreed to rule on the legality of government wiretapping of domestic groups the Justice Department decides pose a danger to national security.

—Granted the government a hearing on its power to seize, as obscene, imported material designed for an individual's private use and possession.

—Refused a hearing to Martin Swig, former aide to retired House Speaker John McCormack, on his perjury conviction.

Blackmun said if juveniles had jury trials, as adults do, they would suffer the delay and clamor that mark the criminal adversary system.

The freshman justice said: "If, in its wisdom, any state feels the jury trial is desirable in all cases, or in certain kinds, there appears to be no impediment to its installing a system embracing that feature."

"That, however, is the state's privilege and not its obligation."

The ruling demonstrated again the court's swing to the right. Backing Blackmun was Chief Justice Warren E. Burger and Justice John M. Harlan.

Justice Stewart, Byron R. White and, to a limited extent, William J. Brennan Jr.

In dissent stood Justices William O. Douglas, Hugo L. Black and Thurgood Marshall.

The judgment came in cases from Pennsylvania and North Carolina. In Philadelphia, two 15-year-old boys had sought jury trials when brought up on delinquency charges. In Hyde County, N.C., similar claims were asserted by 48 black youths arrested during demonstrations.

Blackmun said juvenile court proceedings are not criminal prosecutions within the meaning of the sixth Amendment, which guarantees jury trials. He said the states must be left considerable leeway to judge juveniles, so long as "fundamental fairness" is observed.

Blackmun noted that a presidential task force reported in 1967 that juvenile courts have severe problems. But despite this, he said, the court could not take "the easy way" with a flat prohibition.

"That, however, is the state's

Hoffa Formally Resigns

MIAMI BEACH (AP)—James R. Hoffa's formal resignation as president of the giant Teamster's Union was announced today and President Nixon promptly arranged a visit with members of the union's executive board.

A teamster spokesman told reporters shortly before Nixon's arrival at the Playboy Plaza Hotel, where the executive board was in session, that Hoffa's written resignation had been received Sunday night. He said Frank E. Fitzsimmons was sworn in as the new president of the 2,000,000 member union this morning.

Hoffa has been in federal prison, on a jury tampering conviction, since March 1967. He has unsuccessfully sought parole. On June 3, he let it be known

Control Ruled Illegal For South Africa

THE HAGUE (AP)—The International Court of Justice ruled today that South Africa's control over South-West Africa is illegal and Prime Minister John Vorster's government should surrender the former German colony immediately to the United Nations.

The court issued an advisory opinion, asked by the U.N., in which 13 justices concurred and two dissented. The opinion carries no legal weight, but it was considered an important element of international pressure on South Africa.

However, the court's ruling was expected to have no immediate effect on South Africa's control of the sparsely populated, mineral-rich territory which South Africa took over as a League of Nations mandate after World War I.

Vorster planned to reply to the court in a broadcast later today.

The United Nations has declared the League of Nations mandate no longer valid, and Secretary-General U Thant has called for an economic boycott of South Africa to enforce demands by black African states that independence be granted to the territory, which has been renamed Namibia by a U.N. vote.

South Africa argues that the territory is not ready for and does not need independence. South Africa has also challenged the U.N.'s right to decide the future of the territory and has offered to hold a plebiscite there to test the feeling for independence.

Times Case Postponed; Official Testifies on Post

Muskie, McGovern, Symington Give Views on Pentagon Study

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie says he will introduce legislation to create an independent board with authority to lift secrecy labels from government documents.

The Maine Democrat said the seven-member board would avoid legal disputes such as the one which has boiled up over publication of documents, still labeled secret by the Pentagon, about U.S. involvement in the Vietnam war.

Speaking in Garden City, N.Y., Sunday, Muskie said unless The New York Times and The Washington Post "publish and unless the Pentagon papers are declassified, too many Americans will think there is still something to hide."

"Whatever the facts are, they cannot inflict more damage than a rising tide of disbelief," said Muskie, considered the leading, although unannounced, candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Under Muskie's plan, the board could make a document public after a two year waiting period.

"And, at anytime, it could his administration deliberately send relevant documents to the appropriate committee of the United States and American people" on Vietnam.

Echoing in part his indictment was Sen. Stuart Symington, D-Mo. Symington declined to say whether he feels Johnson deliberately deceived the public, but did say: "I don't think the American people knew what the facts were" as the nation was moving deeper into the war.

Both senators said they felt the disclosures are not harmful to national security, and Symington said he thinks the articles represent good journalism.

NEW YORK (AP)—Former President Lyndon B. Johnson believes the secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war does not reflect the true picture of his role, according to reports in Time and Newsweek magazines.

"Time, in a report on the Pentagon study controversy, said that Johnson feels the documents 'do not tell the true story because they are mostly contingency plans.'"

Newsweek said Johnson believes the study presents a dishonest, distorted and biased picture of his role and that the circumstances of the disclosure deceived the Congress of the Enemy Hits South Viets At Frontier

By GEORGE ESPER Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP)—Despite a week of heavy B52 raids, North Vietnamese regulars made five attacks Sunday on South Vietnamese forces guarding the northern frontier.

It was the second day of heavy attacks in the northern sector. The enemy also directed some of his attacks at American troops Sunday and early today.

A U.S. base camp on the outskirts of Da Nang was shelled, an American patrol was ambushed just below the demilitarized zone and three other U.S. positions were attacked, two of them in the Saigon region.

Casualties reported included five South Vietnamese soldiers killed, more than 17 wounded; two Americans killed, more than 10 wounded, and 21 North Vietnamese and Viet Cong killed.

The U.S. Command sent 15 more B2s over the northern sector to drop 450 tons of bombs. During the past week, the big bombers have flown 90 strike missions against suspected North Vietnamese positions in the area and dropped 2,700 tons of bombs. The U.S. Command said the deflection would affect the talks.

My Lai Case GI Says He Was Warned To Testify Against Medina

By KATHRYN JOHNSON Associated Press Writer

FT. McPHERSON, Ga. (AP)—A former Charlie Company sergeant at My Lai testified today in the pretrial hearing for Capt. Ernest Medina that high-ranking Army officers threatened to charge him with committing crimes at the Vietnamese village unless he testified against Medina.

Sgt. Charles Lacroix, now stationed at Ft. Carson, Colo., said that Col. Henry Oik, staff judge advocate at Ft. Riley, Kan., first questioned him about the My Lai massacre in November 1969.

"The colonel told me I was the poorest excuse for a non-commissioned officer he had ever met . . . and that I could be charged for crimes at My Lai," he testified.

"But he said this might not be necessary if I turned state's evidence for Medina."

Lacroix was the first witness to take the stand as the pretrial hearing resumed today. Medina is charged with the overall responsibility for the murder of 102 villagers in March 1968.

Defense lawyer F. Lee Bailey said he seeks to prove through the testimony of seven witnesses that improper command influence was exerted in bringing Medina to trial and that he was a victim of a military conspiracy.

Lacroix testified that later his commanding general at Ft. Carson, Maj. Gen. Bernard Rogers, called him in.

GI Held In Shooting In Bay State

RANDOLPH, Mass. (AP)—A gun-wielding Army private who police said was AWOL faced arraignment on six charges today after a shooting incident involving a woman and two policemen Sunday.

Pfc. Dennis M. McPartland, 23, of Randolph, was scheduled to appear in Quincy District Court on three counts of assault with a dangerous weapon, two counts of larceny of firearms and one of unlawful possession of firearms.

Randolph police gave this account:

Mrs. Nora Kakhutis, 53, called police headquarters Sunday morning to report a man lying on the ground at the rear of her home. When Patrolman Thomas Libby arrived, McPartland pulled a gun on the officer and on Mrs. Kakhutis and ordered the policeman to drop his gun and holster. The man then fired three shots, one of which nearly hit the woman's foot.

When another officer, Patrolman Charles Mandeville, approached from the cruiser, McPartland ordered Libby to handcuff himself to his fellow officer. The soldier then disappeared into the woods.

Randolph police called for help, and officers from nearby communities helped encircle the wooded area with about 50 men.

McPartland emerged about two hours later on a residential street in view of the officers.

One policeman approached and ordered him to drop his weapons. McPartland drew two

Meskill Warns Of Service Cuts

HARTFORD (AP)—Gov. Thomas J. Meskill said today he doesn't want to cut state services, but he will have no choice unless the state gets a new fiscal program by July 1.

Even under stopgap legislation that would keep tax revenues coming in at present levels, "We will be running deeper and deeper in debt every month," Meskill said at his news conference.

Based on the $261 million deficit for the current two-year fiscal period, the deficit will increase by $10 million to $11 million each month until taxes are raised, Meskill said.

The Republican governor said he would have to reduce expenditures in July by nonlegislative means, such as cutting back allotments of money to various agencies through executive orders.

The governor warned Saturday some state services would have to be reduced because the Democrats "continue to stall negotiations with their insistence that an income tax be levied on Connecticut residents."

NEW YORK (AP)—A hearing on the government's claim that the New York Times should be barred from further publication of a secret Pentagon study of the Vietnam war was postponed today to allow the case to go before a full eight-judge panel of the 2nd U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on Tuesday.

The government, which was defeated in its move to stop further Times publication in a lower court, had been scheduled to go before a three-man appeals panel this morning.

In Washington, meanwhile, the government argued in U.S. District Court that documents from the Pentagon study used by the Washington Post in assembling its stories contain information about current operational plans in the war.

Both the Times and the Post remained under restraints not to publish articles about the study pending outcome of the court actions. Prior to the government's efforts to stop publication, the Times published three installments from the study and the Post two.

In a brief filed for the appeals court, the Times argued that a forced return of the classified documents would violate both constitutional rights and rights under the New York State "freedom of information" law enacted last year.

Deciding to bring the Times case before the full court of appeals, Chief Judge Henry J. Friendly said:

"This case raises a question of such extraordinary importance that it should be heard by all the judges."

The decision was reached in consultation over the weekend with the two other judges of the

Red Scientist Defects To Great Britain

By COLIN FROST Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP)—British security chiefs kept Soviet space scientist Anatol Fedoseev under wraps today as newspaper commentators speculated on the likely effects of his defection.

The Home Office announced Sunday that the 42-year-old scientist was in Britain and "has been given permission to stay."

Unofficial sources said he was a deputy minister in charge of space research and the brains behind the Soviet Union's Soyuz space station and Luna moon programs, and apparently the most important Soviet defector since World War II.

Fedoseev has not applied for political asylum in Britain yet, and some sources suggested that he may plan to go to the United States, where his knowledge and abilities could find a better market in the American space program.

Fedoseev disappeared three weeks ago while attending the Paris Air Show as deputy head of the Soviet delegation. Unofficial sources said he spent some of the intervening time in Brussels, headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Some British newspapers said the defector was held up in a London suburb with an English woman he had met in Moscow. Others said he had previous contacts with British aerospace experts and probably with members of the four American space delegations that visited the Soviet Union in the past year.

Kenneth Gatliff, vice president of the British Interplanetary Society, thought the defection might hamper future Soviet-American cooperation in space, including plans for joint space rescue arrangements. But a 20-man Soviet team arrived in Houston, Tex., Sunday night to open discussions with American space experts on common spaceflight docking systems, and officials of the U.S. National Aeronautics and Space Administration said they could not see how the defection would affect the talks.

Peter Fairley, science correspondent of Britain's Independent Television network, said Fedoseev's value to the West may lie less in his scientific knowledge than in his familiarity we now. Our mistakes are not so easily remedied, nor peace so easily declared, and the McGovern-Hatfield amendment is merely one more painful illusion along the road to realities more bitter and more complicated than any of us like to imagine.

Three Who Were Wronged

One cannot blame the three leading claimants for public apology in the wake of the disclosure of the Vietnam documents, for each of them suffered grievous attack and injury when the real nature of Washington policy was still hidden from the public.

Senator Barry Goldwater, running for the Presidency in 1964, undoubtedly lost millions of votes because Americans thought he might be likely to do some of the things the brass trustees of the Johnson Administration were either planning to do or had in fact already begun doing secretly.

Governor George Romney, running for the Republican nomination for President in 1970, when he seemed to have that nomination all but sewed up, made a classic political blunder when he confessed that he felt he had been "brainwashed" on the issues in Vietnam. But it now stands revealed that the Johnson Administration was indeed brainwashing everybody, and that Governor Romney's real trouble was not that he was duped enough to allow himself to be brainwashed but that he was smart enough to discover the brainwashing process before the rest of the country was ready to believe it.

United Nations Secretary General Thant was subjected to fierce scorn, on the part of Washington, and some savage criticism, from the American press, when he said that if the American people could really know what had been going on behind the scenes they would feel themselves to have been deceived. The Pentagon documents reveal that to have been an understatement.

It would not be possible to estimate how much injury was done each of these three men because truth which might help and protect them was hidden from the public.

And history, once having done this kind of injury, has no power to repair it.

What A Pensioner Does
Nikita Khrushchev appeared in public the other day, to cast his doubtful vote, and was asked what he was doing these days, and replied as follows:

As a pensioner now, what does a pensioner do? Because the former head of the Russian state looked relaxed and healthy and cheerful, we know that he has found some of the things an intelligent pensioner does.

He probably, for one thing, has a garden. If he does not work in it, he has it, and walks in it, probably from one place to another, while he dreams and muses, noting little details about the present garden and remembering details from the long and crowded past.

Occasionally, perhaps, he makes notes to himself to posterity. He has rigorous routines; perhaps he does certain things at the same time in the same place every day; he has learned to make too much time pass as if it were, after all, too little.

As he has learned, as well, the art of having something always in progress, so that there comes no more dawn which does not greet him with some gusts but persistent claim on his continued activity. These are some of the things a well-adjusted pensioner does.

MCC To Meriden?
It would probably suit Governor Meserve if all the community colleges in the state evaporated into thin air, but failing that he may move Middlesex Community College to Meriden.

This strikes us hardly fair or wise. The people of Middlesex County have supported the college, done the work, provided most of the students, and have attained a state which at no cost to the state can become the new home of the college.

The Governor is under pressure to locate the college in the quarters of the Meriden School for Boys. This would be nice for Meriden—it would lose its troublesome school and gain a campus. The governor is being entreated on the grounds that it would be cheaper. But of course it would only be cheaper in the short run, if that.

Apparently, the Governor is also mulling over whether or not community colleges should have a campus at all. This strikes us as so weird a thought that it is hard to know where to begin. Certainly the conditions under which Middlesex Community College now operates are not good for the students of the college, nor really good for the Middletown school system, which must curtail services.

Unfortunately, if the Governor really believes that community colleges should either have no campus, or be stuffed into any available building, he is a reform school or an abandoned mental pit there is an awful lot of educating to be done. But being somewhat of a fan of the possibilities of democracy, and the necessity for fair play, we hope that things are not so bad as they do appear.

WASHINGTON—Cleaning off the desk prior to vacation is like running a film backwash on a chunk of a reporter's working life. There are bits and pieces of unwritten or half-written stories, some recent, some dusty with age.

Many of our recommendations are realistic, but what was unrealistic 10 years ago today is commonplace. And I'm hoping that what today is unrealistic, 10 years from now will be commonplace.

Salvation Army Members Try 'Child's World'

The fine weekend weather brought 318 Connecticut and Rhode Island women to the Salvation Army's annual Home League Camp at Camp Nathan Hale on Lake St.

The two-day program consisted of a Walt Disney film, soft ball, pool, and a "Little Theater" presentation of "Lullaby Women."

Inside Report

The votes get closer, and Wednesday it was only by 55 to 42 that the United States rejected the idea that it should by legislative fiat set a time deadline for the withdrawal of all American forces from Indochina.

Such a vote is close enough to indicate how much of a tie of political feeling has set in against the war in Vietnam. It is big enough a vote to serve as an index to the disillusionment this whole nation has been feeling, and is likely to fuel its increased intensity, about its course of action in Vietnam.

We hope, however, that this kind of vote doesn't get any closer.

Except for the directions involved, it would be, in our mind and judgment, just as injurious to have the Congress take over as field commander of troops in this undeclared war as it has been to have the executive branch take us in to this undeclared war by secret orders.

We believe there should be some future restraint on the power of the executive branch, meaning the President, the Defense and State Departments, and the Chiefs of Staff, to use American troops and military equipment on foreign soil.

We believe, also, that the sooner the shooting can be stopped in Vietnam the better, and we do not believe American policy there has ever shown a proper interest in the negotiation of a general cease-fire which might ought to come before there is, necessarily, agreement on anything else in the direction of peace.

Such beliefs, however, do not propel us toward any acceptance of the idea that the way for us to get out of Vietnam is to have Congress take over, by resolution, either the direct diplomatic or the direct military command of our policy in Southeast Asia.

The basic issue involved, and one that goes beyond any particular war, is that of a proper division of the constitutional powers in our form of government. If there has been, as many may concede, an abuse of the executive authority, the cure properly involves a reassertion of the proper legislative jurisdiction and the establishment of warning guidelines for the future. But the proper corrective action does not and should not involve having the legislative branch suddenly assume, for itself, those prerogatives which property and constitutionally lie within the province of the executive power.

The sound lessons of the Vietnam experience apply to both branches — to the Presidency and to the Congress. The Presidency we have at the moment was not involved in the questionable executive maneuvers by which we worked our way into the quagmire, and has been devoting itself to what must still be considered, by all objective, factual standards, a consistent effort to cut down the size of the war. The Congress, on the other hand, has more of a sense of guilt over Vietnam because much of its present personnel was involved in giving thoughtless, blanket approval and authorization to those same executive policies it now regrets and rejects. But it is no proper cure for its past irresponsibility for the Congress to indicate itself, now, in the further irresponsibility of pretending that it is the proper authority to make executive decisions.

Perhaps this question has been on your mind:
Q. Why do so many funeral directors stress the importance to make "pre-need" arrangements?

A. Perhaps it is best to answer this question in the form of other questions — with obvious answers. Since someone, at some time MUST make arrangements, is it not best to do this calmly ahead of time instead of in a trying time? Is it not best to do this while you are together as a family instead of creating burdens for a survivor at a sorrowful time?

Exiled

MILAN, Italy (AP) — Joe Adams, once described by the late Sen. Estes Kefauver as "the most sinister of all" U.S. underworld figures, is to be exiled for his suspected gangland connections.

A Milan court considered sending him to Milan or with 15 others on the Isle of Pihocidi.

But it chose instead to banish the 59-year-old Adams to Serra de Conti, a sleepy town of 2,000 islanders from Ancona on the Adriatic.

The court also ordered Adams to be confined to his apartment in the town.

Adams is believed to have been in the United States since 1948, when he fled to avoid a $100,000 tax lien.

Hebron Calendar Project Is Begun

The annual Community Birthday Calendar Project, sponsored by the Women's Fellowship of the First Congregational Church, is under way.

Members of the Fellowship, assisted by the Women's Fellowship of the Old Congregational Church, are visiting each home in the Hebron, Amston and Oldsett areas.

Mrs. Ruth Coolidge, chairman of the project, stated that printed on the calendar each year are many valuable bits of information.

These include dates of the schools open and close, school vacation hours that the library is open, dates that the first and second installments of taxes are due, dates that dog licenses are due, date of the annual auction at the Red Barn as well as sixth or anniversary dates of anyone wishing to put them on.

Also, organizations may put their meeting dates on the calendar. Chairman of the various organizations in town are requested to contact Mrs. Coolidge regarding listing of their meeting dates.

The calendars will be sold through the church. Local merchants may also place ads on the calendar.

Anyone desiring to place an ad on the calendar should contact Mrs. Coolidge at her home, 242 E. Main St.

Assisting Mrs. Coolidge are ten captains who will solicit ads from the Hebron, Amston and Amston areas. Co-chairmen for the children's playground are Mrs. William McGee and Mrs. David Germain.

During the next few weeks the group hopes to canvass each home for orders. The calendar will be delivered in October or early November.

Anyone who has not been contacted by the end of July and wishes to order a calendar should contact Mrs. Coolidge.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will hold a public hearing tomorrow evening at 8 in the Town Office Building to consider an application for permission to subdivide property at the corner of Deepwood Dr. and North Pond Rd. into five lots for summer dwellings only with community water supply.

The commission's regular meeting will follow the hearing. Another regular meeting is also scheduled for Thursday at 8 p.m. in Town Office Building.

To fill vacancies on the Board of Selectmen, the Hon. Charles Rowley of Raily Hill Rd. and Mrs. Evelyn Croson of Wall St. have been named by the Democratic Town Committee to fill vacancies on the committee.

Duffey Key Speaker At MHS Graduation

With hopes to recapture the sunlight that bathed the graduation of the Manchester High School Class of 1968, and to avoid the downpour that sent the Class of 1968 scurrying, 678 MHS seniors wait anxiously for Joseph D. Duffey of Hartford, a liberal Democrat who ran second in a three-way bid for the Senate seat held by the late Sen. Thomas Dodd last fall, will address the Class of 1971 in ceremonies on Memorial Day. In case of rain, the exercises will be held in Clarke Arena, with admission by ticket only.

Duffey, a minister of the United Church of Christ, is also a specialist in urban affairs who served from 1966 to 1970 as director of the Hartford Seminary Center for Urban Studies. Since 1969 he has been national chairman of Americans for Democratic Action, and last year became a member of the Democratic National Policy Council.

At the Democratic state convention in May 1970, both Duffey and State Sen. Edward Marscutt polled more than 20 per cent of the vote, forcing the state's first primary with party-backed Alphonso Donahue. Duffey won the primary election on Aug. 19 in an upset victory, but lost in the Senate seat to Republican Lowell Weicker in the November election.

Duffey was born in Huntington, W. Va., and graduated from high school there in 1944. He received a BA degree in history from Marshall University in 1944 and became involved in Baptist church youth work. In 1947, he received the bachelor of divinity degree from Andover Newton Theological School in Massachusetts.

Other speakers at the graduation ceremonies include Miss Cynthia Cohen, valedictorian, and Miss Cheryl Schaefer, salutatorian. Diplomas will be presented by Dr. Donald Hemenway, M.D., until 1960.

Glass Smash Earns $550

The Conservation Commission's last glass and paper drive of the season earned a profit of about $550, Mrs. Theresa Paria, glass chairman of the commission, said. The drive will increase the total for the year to about $1,174. The amount is approximately all the newsprint bottles had not been returned to stores this morning.

Twenty-two tons of glass and 17 tons of paper were collected Saturday. Volunteers worked from 8:30 a.m. to 1:30 p.m., smashing glass, using papers and loading trucks.

"People are really beginning to get interested in cleaning up our environment and turning trash into cash," Mrs. Paria said. "Keep saving through the summer. We will have another drive in September."

Things are seldom what they seem.

Big cars often pose as big cars, when they're really small cars.

For instance, the Squareback Sedan. Notice how much bigger the big car seems than the Volkswagen Squareback Sedan. Then count the number of suitcases it can take on only 12. Now, notice how small the Squareback seems to be. Then count the number of suitcases it can take on 16. Or a hard-to-see Squareback has 32.8 cubic feet of carrying space.

Which is one and a half times as much as that of the largest sedan truck.

Of course, if you really have a lot to carry you can always fold down the Squareback's rear seat. Then you'll have more than twice as much carrying space as the largest sedan truck.

So which would you rather have? A sedan that looks like a big bully but really is a 12-suitcase weakling? Or a hard-to-see Squareback that has 32.8 cubic feet of carrying space.

Balesano Standout As Legion Wins No. 1

By JERRY KATONA

East Hartford took a quick 1-0 lead in the first when Balesano's change-up was sent for a ride by shortstop Mike Kaczmarek. Manchester's left fielder Tom Hespenny misjudged the long ball for a triple. Kaczmarek scored from third. East Hartford, 4-1, won the game.

There was victory for debutting coach, Wally Fortin, as he watched his team win its season opener. Fortin coached past Legion teams into state tournament playoffs and his squad took a big first step by beating last year's state champs.

There was victory for many of the local players on Manchester High, as they reversed their 4-0 loss in the CIAC state semifinals to East Hartford's 4-1 win.

And there was personal victory for Manchester's Jim Balesano, defeating opponent Don Driscoll, both of whom are considered among the state's best. Balesano struck out 19 in the second inning and scored the final run on Balesano's sacrifice fly ball.

Strong Boy Deron Johnson Finally Gets Grand Slam

NEW YORK (AP) — Deron Johnson, a 19-year-old strong enough to squeeze a bat into sawdust, and he almost did just that before turning on the New York Mets Sunday as Philadelphia salvaged the second of a doubleheader, 9-7 in 11 innings.

The Mets took the opener 7-6, rallying for three runs on five straight singles in the bottom of the ninth. But Johnson's pinch single delivered the deciding run.

In the nightcap, Johnson drove in six runs, four of them on an 11th inning grand slam, to sink New York.

Johnson's grand slam was the first ever in professional baseball for the 19-year-old pitcher, who has been playing this game for 15 years.

But before he started wrecking the Mets, Johnson did in one of his bats. It happened in the first inning of the nightcap when he swung and missed on a third strike. The bat just snapped right in half, leaving Johnson looking at the splintered handle.

Johnson had cracked the bat on a foul tip just before he fell apart.

Armed with a new bat, Johnson cracked a single, double and then the winning slam to salvage the lead game of the series for the Phillies.

"It was a good thing we were on the field," Johnson said. "We should have had more of the four games. I was a little bit Tom Seaver and we scored five runs against Nolan Ryan. I was in good luck when we did that."

The Phillies had kayser Seaver, who pitched six innings and struck out 10 in 15 innings. Sunday's opener he pitched seven and a half innings.

"I was 6-4 into the ninth but he touched off on consecutive pitches. I was a little bit Tom Seaver and we scored five runs against Nolan Ryan. I was in good luck when we did that."

Red Sox Look to Home Cooking, Base Hits and Descent Pitching

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox return to Fenway Park for a home stand tonight, hopeful that home cooking—and a few base hits and decent pitching—will get them going again.

The Red Sox wound up an 11-game trip Sunday in the Madison Square Garden stadium in New York City. It was the ninth game in between that hurt as they completed a 4-7 record and fell to third place, six games behind Baltimore in the American League East.

Boston salvaged the win of a three-game series in Washington by coming from behind for a 4-3 victory over the Senators Sunday.

The Red Sox will try to make it two in a row, a feat the club has been unable to accomplish since June 4, as host to the Cleveland Indians in the opening game of a three-game series at Fenway.

Boston right-hander Jim Lonborg, who won the distance and earned his second victory in five decisions in his last start in California, will open against the Indians.

Cleveland has outplayed first baseman Sam McDowell recently to supplant Lonborg on the mound.

With a left-hander on the mound, Billy Carter is expected to return to centerfield for the Red Sox.

Stargell, Williams and Johnson Connect Three Grand Slams in Day Equal Record in National

NEW YORK (AP) — The Philadelphia Phillies connected three grand slams in a day Sunday, tying the record set by the New York Mets and Deron Johnson and Willie Stargell in 1967.

Stargell, Williams and Johnson connected for the first grand slam in the National League since 1967.

Stargell hit a grand slam in the bottom of the ninth to give the Phillies a 4-3 lead. Williams followed with a grand slam in the bottom of the tenth to give the Phillies a 7-3 lead. Johnson hit a grand slam in the bottom of the 11th to give the Phillies a 9-7 lead.

Jim Palmer Ailing But He Still Wins

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dave McNally is bothered by a sore arm which has reduced his fast ball to a sometimes times pitch. All he does consistently is win.

The Baltimore Orioles' left-hander McNally pitched a 4-3 victory over the Senators Sunday.
