By BOB MONROE

Government and school officials across the nation say a precedent-shattering California Supreme Court school finance ruling could lead to similar suits in other states and ultimately revolutionize American public school education.

"The California decision could be as precedent-setting as the one-man, one-vote ruling of the U.S. Supreme Court," said Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent of public instruction in Illinois.

A spokesman for Vermont Gov. Deane C. Davis said the decision "opens a Pandora's box." If the ruling is upheld in the federal courts "it could revolutionize education in this country," he said.

M. Carl Holman, president of the National Urban Coalition, predicted the ruling would "ultimately... be as momentous" as the 1964 U.S. Supreme court school desegregation decision.

The California court ruled Monday that the local property tax form of public school financing is unconstitutional on the ground that it discriminates against the poor if it did not spell out what would be an equitable tax structure.

With the exception of Hawaii and to some extent Utah, every state in the union uses a school finance system like California's. Over the last three years, similar suits and legislation in at least eight states had failed to eliminate public school dependence on local property taxes.

"The decision is the precursor to future court decisions that will bring dramatic reform and increased equal educational opportunity to poor school children throughout the country," said NUC President Holman.

"We anticipate, then, that the Chief Justice Warren E. Burger's reminder that racial balance may vary from school to school may indicate more latitude in the design of desegregation plans than some officials had realized.

Burger issued the reminder Tuesday in denying a stay for a desegregation plan which provides for the busing of 15,000-16,000 of the 46,000 pupils in the Winston-Salem and Forsyth County, N.C., school system.

The chief justice acted as presiding district judge for North Carolina. When the Supreme Court is not in session, a justice may rule on a case in his judicial district.

In rejecting the Winston-Salem district's request for a stay, Burger held that the application did not adequately list hardships that allegedly would result from busing.

Burger said he was concerned that the school board mistakenly thought it had to achieve a white-black ratio in the past five months. KLM said this may be an exaggeration, but they had made the trip on "innumerable occasions" this summer. Gelfand's lawyer said the trips began about July 9, not five months ago.

When flight personnel asked the reason for their trips, they received such replies as "Grandma likes flying," or "My grandson would like to be a pilot."

Airport officials said the two usually arrived in Amsterdam in the morning and took off about six hours later for the return trip to New York's Kennedy International Airport.

Chattman said Gelfand's wife died several years ago, and "when the mother died, the children preferred to stay on with the grandmother," who had often taken care of him because of his father's business obligations. The lawyer said Gelfand and his second wife visited the boy often and the father talked to him daily.

Thieu Only Candidate

Election To Follow Schedule, Viet Government Announces

SAIGON (AP) — The government announced tonight that the presidential election will be held Oct. 3 as scheduled with President Nguyen Van Thieu as the only candidate.

The announcement appeared to dash all U.S. hopes and efforts by U.S. Ambassador Ellisworth Bunker to make the presidential election a multiple race. Bunker had met two straight nights with Thieu in seeking a solution.

The announcement from the office of Acting Premier Nguyen Lanh Vien noted that the Supreme Court on Tuesday had removed the name of Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky from the presidential ballot, making the Oct. 3 election legally a one-man race.

Ky had been on the ballot on a technicality, but had asked that his name be removed. He charged that the election was rigged by Thieu and he would not participate.

The communique from Vien was read by an announcer on national television in advance of the official start of the presidential campaign Friday.

The government agencies concerned must go ahead with preparations for the election scheduled Oct. 3, the communique said.

Thieu told newsmen Sunday that the election would go ahead as scheduled. The announcement put the official stamp on it. It undoubtedly had the approval of Thieu himself.

In another development, Gen. Duong Van Minh fired another blast at Bunker, accusing him of slander, insinuation and a having a colonialist attitude.

Minh denied a report, published after Bunker held a background briefing for selected newsmen Sunday, that the general asked the United States to organize and supervise the election scheduled for Oct. 3.

North Viet gunners unleash heaviest attacks in weeks

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese gunners today unleashed their heaviest attacks in two weeks along the demilitarized zone. The United States retaliated with a land, sea and air bombardment that extended into the southern half of the buffer zone.

North Vietnamese gunners fired more than 550 rockets and mortars during the morning at five South Vietnamese bases along the DMZ and an armored cavalry column in the region.

Informed sources said six South Vietnamese troops were wounded in the attacks. The U.S. Command said there were no American casualties among the artillerymen, radio operators and advisers supporting the South Vietnamese.

The heaviest attack was a 500-round barrage against the armored cavalry patrol. The

Attorney Bingham's Mother Says Son Couldn't Play Role In San Quentin Bloodletting

NEW HAVEN (AP) —

"He could not have done it," said Mrs. Alfred M. Bingham when a newsman told her that her son had been charged with five counts of murder in the San Quentin bloodletting that left six dead.

Earlier, when Stephen Mitchell Bingham was first linked to the Aug. 21 breakout attempt, she characterized her son as "wholly nonviolent."

The shooting left three guards and three inmates — including Soledad Brother George Jackson — dead.

A contradictory picture appears of Bingham, the 29-year-old member of a family prominent in Connecticut public life for five decades.

He was characterized variously by friends and former Yale professors as articulate but quiet, pleasant but reserved, bland but creative.

"He wasn't the kind of a guy you could get a chiseled image of," said a classmate who asked not to be named. "He was pleasant... kind of a cipher... very quiet. He was nicknamed 'Zip' because of his bland personality."

Bingham grew up in Salem, attended Milton, Mass., Academy, and then went on to Yale University.

"He was a very politically oriented young man," said Thomas Bergin, master of Yale's Timothy Dwight College. "He was a little ahead of the game in political activism," said Bergin. But when reminded that Bingham was graduated with honors from Yale in 1964, Bergin said: "I wouldn't have thought of him as all that bright."

Another friend who requested anonymity said, "He was always rather impressed with his own ancestry."

Bingham is a grandson of the late Republican governor and U.S. Senator from Connecticut, Hiram Bingham, and a nephew of Rep. Jonathan Bingham, D-N.Y.

His mother's reaction was: "My only hope has been that he would be found alive... I have complete confidence that he's never been part of any murder plot. He could not have done it."

Rep. Bingham called his nephew "an idealistic young man committed to nonviolence."

"My brother—Alfred—who is in California and has talked with a number of Stephen's recent associates—is convinced he did not knowingly transmit a weapon to George Jackson," Rep. Bingham said in a statement.

A fellow lawyer described young Bingham as a "very dedicated man—but not a nut."

Bingham "was interested in social reform," said attorney Patrick Hallinan, who worked with him on a case in San Francisco. "He was interested in prison reform."

While still at Yale Bingham was arrested in 1968 for civil rights activities in Mississippi.

Bingham earned his law degree at the University of California in Berkeley, where he married Gretchen Spreckels. They spent two years as Peace Corps volunteers in the African nation of Sierra Leone. They were divorced last year, children.

Marin County Dist. Atty. Bruce Bales accused Bingham Tuesday of smuggling a gun to George Jackson.

"I have reached the conclusion that there is no way Jackson could have obtained the death gun, except during his visit with Bingham just before the killings commenced," Bales said Tuesday.

Bales said the pistol was found with five clips of live ammunition on Jackson's body after Jackson was shot down by prison tower guards.

Bales told a news conference after filing the murder complaint that Jackson underwent a thorough "skin search" before meeting Bingham.

Prison officials say Jackson, one of the three "Soledad Brothers" awaiting trial for the murder of a white guard at Soledad prison, pulled a pistol from a wig and took a guard hostage after returning from the visit with Bingham.

The complaint stated that within half an hour after Jackson pulled the gun, three guards were dead in Jackson's cell. Two were killed by gunshot wounds in the back of the head, and one by throat slash. The bodies of two inmates were found in the cell area.

Democratic Economist Hits President's Tax Proposals

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Democratic economist said today President Nixon's tax proposals would "fracture" the American consumer and cause "the entire calendar of social progress in this country to slip."

Dr. Arthur M. Okun, chairman of former President Johnson's Council of Economic Advisors, said the Nixon tax proposals are seriously out of balance and are "economically and socially unjustifiable."

In a long statement read to the Joint Economic Committee of Congress, Okun also joined Gardner Ackley, another former council chairman, in resisting calls by some other Democrats and leaders of the nation's labor movement for controls on profits to go along with continuing restraints on wages and prices.

In other economic developments, two labor groups and Boston policemen have filed lawsuits challenging the constitutionality of President Nixon's wage-price freeze, especially as it applies to deferred pay raises and government employees.

The Justice Department, replying Tuesday to a similar suit brought last week by four Catholic University professors in Washington, said an injunction against the 90-day freeze would result in "the irreparable dislocation of the President's program to stem inflation, reduce unemployment and reduce our trade deficit."

Although the professors contend the Economic Stabilization Act under which Nixon acted is unconstitutional because Congress gave its legislative powers to the executive branch, the administration replied the new law meets constitutional standards.

Okun quoted Ackley as saying an excess profits tax would be "a lousy tax" and added: "Neither direct controls nor penalty taxes on profits could help enforce the price standard."

"Rather," he said, "that would encourage wasteful advertising, expense account living, and overfull employment of shrewd accountants."

"Why such measures should have the slightest appeal to American workers is simply beyond my comprehension," Okun said.

Okun reserved much of his criticism for the Nixon tax proposals saying they would cause the nation to squander nearly $10 billion a year of the long-term revenue capacity of the federal tax system.

He said this is due as a result of proposals for accelerated depreciation, excise tax repeal and the investment tax credit.

Five Picked In State For Gaming Slate

HARTFORD (AP) — Gov. Thomas J. Meskill today announced his long-awaited appointments to the new state commission that will oversee the lottery, horse-racing and off-track betting.

The governor's appointees are Paul Silvergeld of Glastonbury, Demetrios Loustos of New London, Mrs. Beatrice Kowalski of Wallingford, John Downes of New Britain and Frank Molinaro of Danbury.

The other four members of the nine-member commission will be named by the top Democratic leaders of the legislature, Senate President Pro Tem Charles T. Alfano and House Speaker William Ratchford. The two leaders submitted 15 names to the state police Monday for background checks.

Tax Hike In Effect As of Now

HARTFORD (AP) — Heralded by last-minute buying sprees by economy-minded shoppers, the recently-voted increase in the state sales tax goes into effect today.

As of Sept. 1, the tax is 6 1/2 per cent instead of 5 per cent. Many retailers with "beat the tax" signs in their windows did a brisk business in the past week.

The 30 per cent boost in the sales tax, which is the backbone of the state tax structure, is supposed to raise some $818 million in added revenues before the end of the current fiscal year next June 30.

It was part of a tax package enacted by the General Assembly Aug. 12 and signed by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill Aug. 23. The governor said the only thing to

Transatlantic Odyssey Ends With Grandmother's Death

AMSTERDAM (AP) — The summer-long transatlantic odyssey of a Cleveland, Ohio, grandmother and her grandson ended today with her death in an Amsterdam hotel room.

The traveler, Sarah Krasnoff, 74, had been ordered to rest after suffering a slight heart attack Tuesday. The doctor's orders interrupted the almost daily Atlantic air crossings she had made with her grandson.

Her son-in-law, Leonard Gelfand from Cleveland, said the hotel manager told him "that grandmother passed away in her sleep at 1 a.m. today. That is really all I have to say right now until I have seen my son."

Gelfand arrived early today from Cleveland to take Mrs. Krasnoff and his son Howard, 14, back to Ohio.

The elder Gelfand had been trying to locate his son and Mrs. Krasnoff since early July, his attorney, Gerald B. Chattman, said in Cleveland.

Officials of KLM, the Dutch airline, said Mrs. Krasnoff had spent nearly $140,000 for first-class tickets for her grandson and herself. One source reported they had made 160 crossings in the past five months. KLM said this may be an exaggeration, but they had made the trip on "innumerable occasions" this summer. Gelfand's lawyer said the trips began about July 9, not five months ago.

When flight personnel asked the reason for their trips, they received such replies as "Grandma likes flying," or "My grandson would like to be a pilot."

School Edict Could Effect State System

By DON MEIKLE
HARTFORD (AP) — If California's public schools are constitutionally over-dependent on local property taxes, as California's Supreme Court has ruled, then Connecticut's school-financing system must be unconstitutional.

If California's public school systems vary too much in quality from town to town then Connecticut's certainly do. If California's school tax burdens are unfairly distributed, then Connecticut's unquestionably are.

Whether the recent ruling of the California Supreme Court will be upheld by the federal courts is not yet known, of course. But the California ruling is based on an interpretation of the federal constitution, so if it is upheld, there is no question that it will have an effect on other states including Connecticut.

According to the California Supreme Court, education is a fundamental right and "cannot be conditioned on wealth."

Yet, in the 1969-70 fiscal year, the wealthy Connecticut bedroom town of Darien could afford to spend $1,447 including state and federal funds) for each student in its public schools. All the way across the state, on the Rhode Island line, the rural town of Sterling spent only $611 per pupil, less than half as much as Darien.

Of course, many dollars do not necessarily mean high educational quality. But it is difficult to believe that Darien's children do not get more opportunities to benefit from the best and latest equipment and techniques than Sterling's children do.

In California, 66 per cent of the cost of public education comes from local property taxes. In Connecticut, something like 70 per cent (67.7 per cent in 1969-70) of the cost is borne by the local property taxpayers. And the greater the reliance on local taxes, the more disparities there are between rich and poor communities.

According to the Connecticut Conference of Mayors, this state was 44th in the nation last year in its degree of support of

Andover School Staff Working On Schedules

The administrative staff at the Andover Elementary School is busy preparing the numerous last minute details to be accomplished before the beginning of school next week.

Principal Donald Libby, Mrs. Susan Baker, secretary, and Mrs. Barbara Cody, office clerk, have been arranging bus and classroom schedules, lunch programs, insurance matters and the various other paperwork. The staff is hoping to mail out this week all the necessary forms to parents together with a letter from the principal, the new school calendar and bus regulations and routes.

In addition, forms are being sent to parents for those children who may qualify under the free lunch program. Guidelines are indicated. Libby stressed that all applications are held in the strictest of confidence and every effort is made to insure that children receiving free lunches are not identifiable to anyone other than the few members of the staff involved.

School will begin on Sept. 8 with a normal classroom schedule. Lunches will be served at the school the first three days of the year. The menus will be printed Friday.

This school year will consist of 180 days, with three extra days to allow for storm or emergency days. School closings are scheduled for Columbus Day, Oct. 11; Veterans Day, Oct. 26; Teachers Convention, Oct. 28; Good Friday, March 21, and Memorial Day, May 28.

Extended recesses and vacations include Thanksgiving, Nov. 24 through 26; Christmas, Dec. 24 through 31; winter holidays, the week of Feb. 21; spring recess, the week of April 11; June 22 will mark the end of the school year with an early closing on that day.

Should the three storm days be needed during the year, additional days taken off of recess, the week of April 11; June 22 will mark the end of the school year with an early closing on that day.

Parents of children registered in the school will receive along with forms already mentioned, the child's classroom assignment and teacher's name.

Those residents who have not as yet registered their children to enter school for the first time, are asked to come into the school as early as possible before the start of classes.

The administrative staff is busy at the school weekdays and will be there each day until the beginning of school. It will facilitate any arranging of any last-minute bus and classroom

Gift of the Class of 1969

No longer will strangers passing through town via that route have any trouble identifying the institution on E. Middle Turnpike. The sign, given by the Class of 1969, is 4 feet high, 24 feet long, and stands 8 inches from the ground within an 8-foot by 32-foot stone-filled perimeter. Redwood posts are cemented four feet deep. The red initials and blue school name are plexiglass, mounted on plywood which is covered with epoxy stone. Vandals have already been at work on one letter, which will be repaired.

CL&P Given Extension On Converting Burners

HARTFORD (AP) — The State Clean Air Commission granted an extension Tuesday night to the Connecticut Light and Power Co. to continue burning noncomforming, high-sulfur coal at three plants.

New, tighter regulations regarding the burning of such cycling, different methods used, forced to shut down seven of its night Tuesday.

But the commission allowed the CL&P until next April 1 to conform to the regulation at its plants in Montville, Devon and Newalk Harbor.

By then, CL&P said, it will have converted seven coal-fired burners to oil. The commission said it intends to require CL&P to conform to its version timetable. And it requires the company to submit a feasibility of initiating some sort of gas recycling program, based on the report received by Jurovsky and present his findings to the Board of Selectmen monthly for further consideration.

CL&P and its coal suppliers said that less than 3 1/2 weeks of coal has been stockpiled at the three generating stations. The

Loss in July Is Reported By Mohawk

UTICA, N.Y. (AP) — Mohawk Airlines Inc. reported Tuesday a loss of $136,000 during the month of July on gross revenues of $4,618,000.

The figures compared with a deficit of $233,000 registered in July 1970 on revenues of $4,582,000.

July's loss brought the regional carrier's seven-month deficit to $1,566,000 on gross revenues of $28,221,000. During the first seven months of 1971, Mohawk lost nearly $3 million on gross revenues of more than $44.5 million.

The airline boarded 20,166 passengers in July, with seating capacity averaging 44.6 per cent of capacity.

Coventry Chatfield Makes Contest Of School Board Election

Oliver J. Chatfield, former principal of Coventry Grammar School, has decided to wage an independent battle for a seat on the Board of Education. He has filed the appropriate papers with the Secretary of State's office, thus assuring a contest at the polls this November for the four seats available on the board.

This is a so-called "no contest" year for the school board filing for a Democratic primary with two seats available from each party, each party put up two candidates, that all four candidates were assured of election.

Chatfield, in announcing his run as an independent, said he was "running primarily on principle, since there is no contest this year and I am disenchanted with the four candidates put up by the two parties."

Those four candidates are: incumbent Superintendent Thomas J. Walsh for the GOP, incumbent Susanne Bradstreet and newcomer Tom Walsh for the Democrats have two newcomers on the slate for the positions, Joan Lewis and Robert Walsh.

Chatfield is a newcomer to town government in making his Coventry debut. He is a former school principal, telephone 741-8786.

Two Cyclists Die on Roads

DANBURY (AP) — A young motorcycleist was fatally injured Tuesday night when his bike collided with a police car, police said.

Joseph Austin, 18, of Danbury died shortly after being admitted to Danbury Hospital.

Police said that the car was en route to a complete stop when the motorcycleist was struck. The two policemen inside were not hurt.

FAIRFIELD (AP) — Michael L. Trumbull, 21, of Trumbull was killed early Wednesday when he apparently lost control of his motorcycle and hit a stone wall along North Benson Rd., police said.

A passenger, Rochelle Stridger, 21, of Trumbull was treated for injuries at Park City Hospital in Bridgeport.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Doctor in Doubt

"I did my best."

So said a doctor not long ago when a disgruntled patient sued him for malpractice. It seems that the patient had been suffering for eight years from a surgical wound that would not heal. Now, demanding damages, he told the court:

"I realize that the doctor did his best. The trouble is, his best was not good enough. After all these years, he must have realized his own limitations. What he should have done was to send me to a specialist."

The court agreed, and the doctor was held liable. The court said that when a doctor had or ought to have a serious doubt about his ability to handle a case, he has the legal duty to send the patient to someone who is better qualified.

A similar duty rests on other practitioners of the healing arts. Take this case:

A druggist healer, treating a man who had severe abdominal pain, gave him a vigorous massage and a strong laxative. Result: the man died from a ruptured appendix. In court, his widow sued the healer for malpractice.

At the trial, he insisted that he had used the best treatment according to his own school of thought. Nevertheless, the court ordered him to pay damages. With plain signs of possible appendicitis, said the court, he should have turned the case over to a regular doctor.

Of course, the mere fact that a treatment is unsuccessful does not mean the doctor was at fault. In another case a boy's broken leg set by the family doctor, healed with some permanent stiffness. The family, claiming damages, blamed the doctor for not calling in a specialist.

But the doctor explained: "This was not an unusual case. I have often handled similar fractures, and there was no special reason for me to expect trouble with this one."

The court decided this was a legitimate defense, and dismissed the case. Noting that medicine is not an exact science, the judge said no one would dare to be a doctor if he had to guarantee perfect results every time.

Another Part of The Cycle?

The last time anybody wrote an editorial commenting on the fact that we seemed to be having a quiet summer, two or three big city ghettos exploded at once.

Now, as August has gone off the calendar, the worst danger seems to be over.

This apparent respite from our own self-destruction provides no opportunity for happy mourning, any more than did the fact that the last year was a quiet year on the campuses of the country.

We haven't been doing anything spectacularly better. We haven't improved our basic social conditions to such an extent that there is no longer room for grievance and protest.

What has happened, to make the last eight years, to make this summer, different?

The answer must be disappointing to the romantic part of us which may have been dreaming of some glorious revolution which would change our world and its style of living for the better.

But then, blessedly, both the arms that struck and burned, and the minds that evaluated the results grew tired of an anarchic violence which was heading northward.

Or perhaps, to concede another more cynical possibility, people just got tired of doing that particular thing, and began looking for another, to make it the latest fad.

For one reason or another, the behavior on campuses and in the ghetto seems to have shifted toward a quieter instinct to achieve a selective improvement in what we have rather than to throw it all away in one grand gesture of sweeping renunciation.

We managed to live, somehow, through the first part of the cycle. Perhaps we needed to shock ourselves. Now, rather than making any assumption that what once shocked us has been cured and made to disappear, we should be putting ourselves straight to the business of living with, and making ourselves part of, the quieter, more constructive effort which does, now and then, succeed in bringing some real changes into the way a society fulfills its obligations to itself.

Leadership's Freedom To Act
In this democracy of ours, where we are free to criticize and abuse one another, a bold and uninhibited President in the White House nevertheless seems to have a relatively easy time of it, when he reverses life-long, career-long positions.

Becoming the first American President who drops to friendly relations with Communist China, or reversing his own view on economic and fiscal policies. Mr. Nixon, in his democracy, simply explodes his bombshell, and finds that the country takes the shock with a tremendous amount of poise and philosophy and understanding.

more principle not too important a consideration—which is more responsible for this tolerance of change than the democratic system in itself.

In any case, it is to be noted that President Nixon seems to be having an easier time changing his policies, in this democratic process, than the leaders of Communist China are having in their atmosphere of absolute dictatorial power.

The leaders of Communist China are more reticent and bashful about acknowledging what a change they are making, when they consent to play host to the wicked leader of the world's worst, or second worst, imperialism. They do not know quite what to tell their people.

But curiously enough, in their land where doctrine, and therefore principle, are supposed to be supreme as the foundations of their own dictatorship, the one most consistent ally they present to their people for their dramatic change of behavior is something quite close to our American pragmatism.

It appears that new policy in Peking is based on something newly classified as Chairman Mao's revolutionary diplomatic line and policies, and the selection of quotations which is being launched to interpret and illustrate these "revolutionary policies" emphasizes that even the most dedicated Communists should be capable, when practicalities dictate, of dealing with even their worst enemies.

The supreme leaders of the great Chinese authoritarian regime do not, in other words, dare suggest that they have changed their minds, even a little bit, or even reversed a policy when they have reversed it.

All of which poses an interesting question as to which kind of leadership possesses, in the showdown, the greater power, the greater freedom to act. And one partial answer might be that the leaders of dictatorship themselves have to operate inside the same kind of chains they imposed on others.

For Males Only
This editorial is being written by a male for possible readership by males. This is not discrimination against the female world.

It is intended to be any deliberation of the feminine world. It is just a somewhat desperate measure by which we males are making at least one more attempt to have a word or two among ourselves, not as beings who are biologically, intellectually, or physically superior, or who even have an illusion of such superiority, but as members of a race in little fellowship which likes to have its own little bit of gossip now and then.

The male fellowship gossip for the aftermath of that celebration by the Liberation Front the other day of one more milestone in advanced recognition of the proper place of women in society, was that we had been glad to have a word to another phase. We had a wild, terrible thing going on the campus and in the ghettos, and it almost seemed, as we first reacted to it, as if we had to have something just that terrible in order to wake us up and move us out of our complacent deterministic delusions.

But then, blessedly, both the arms that struck and burned, and the minds that evaluated the results grew tired of an anarchic violence which was heading northward.

Or perhaps, to concede another more cynical possibility, people just got tired of doing that particular thing, and began looking for another, to make it the latest fad.

Conscience's tax war, are we suspect, only beginning. For all that has happened this year, there is still a lot of coming to grips needed. Ironically, the revolution of the tax situation for another year might only compound the state's problems, for it is very likely that the new tax levels could very well discourage the one thing the state needs badly—growth and expansion in the private sector. —NEW BRITAIN HERALD

Was Agnew Used?

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak
WASHINGTON — A banner headline in the Athens newspaper regarded as the house organ of the Greek military dictatorship proclaimed on Aug. 16 that, no matter what Congress does on U.S. aid to Greece, Vice President Spiro Agnew would not make such a pledge. Agnew could not make such a pledge, the banner headline in the Athens newspaper proclaimed on Aug. 16 that, no matter what Congress does on U.S. aid to Greece, Vice President Spiro Agnew would not make such a pledge.

That startling pronouncement was based on a private letter from Agnew, known to be extremely friendly to Prime Minister George Papadopoulos' ruling junta, to a pro-junta Greek-American with a Park Avenue address in Manhattan.

The screaming headline in Nea Politia, the newspaper that reflects the junta's policy-line as faithfully as Pravda reflects the Kremlin's, was this: "As you yourself underline, Crane wrote Detonians, 'Greece offers strategic advantages to the NATO alliance and to the U.S., which are of the greatest importance to the security of the West. We believe that the assumption of these obligations (a year ago) increased the ability of the Greek armed forces to carry out their responsibilities for the defense of the NATO area.'"

That Aug. 16 letter jumped into page one headlines of Nea Politia exactly eight days later. Moreover, it appears that Agnew's office had no advance indication that Detonians planned to offer it for publication. As a result, Agnew's statements were scarcely pleased when they learned how the letter—and the Vice President—had been used.

Detonians is chairman of an outfit called "Justice for Greece," set up ostensibly to refute anti-junta political activity, which the United States and Greece both are supporting.

Selectmen Question Funds Allocated By Employment Act

The amount of funds allocated to Tolland under the National Emergency Employment Act of 1971, has been questioned by First Selectman Charles Thifault.

Noting the town was only allocated $4,782, considerably less than other area towns of similar size, Thifault has been trying to get the figures corrected without success to reach State Personnel Commissioner Edward Simpson, program coordinator.

Thifault in a letter to Simpson, asked how the figures were computed, and cited the town's unique postal division as a possible reason for the confusion and low amount of funds allocated.

Tolland received exactly the same appropriation as the town of Bolton which is less than half as large. "I believe there must be more unemployed people here than in Bolton," he said.

Thifault noted that the town is served by five different post offices, including Rockville, Ellington, West Willington, Danbury and Coventry as well as by its own. Since federal statistics were used, he feels the postal division should be included in the census of the residents served by other post offices were credited to those towns on the basis of their mailing address rather than where they actually live.

Each Selectman has a representative on the Board of Finance. Thifault and Robert Dumont agreed with Thifault's assessment, as did town treasurer Eleanor Weston who noted this has occurred in other situations.

When the confusion over the allocation is clarified, the selectmen will meet with the Board of Finance to determine what action the town should take in developing a program designed to aid the unemployed.

Thifault attended the meeting at the State Capitol to explain the program, and discussed the lack of guidelines or applications for it.

Kevin Cavanaugh, secretary of the Board of Finance, made two inquiries during the selectmen's meeting last night, one of which dealt with the number of days the assistant town clerk has been working and the posting of financial repercussions.

In a letter sent to Thifault, Cavanaugh noted the budget had originally sought a three-day-a-week assistant for the town clerk. The assistant's time was subsequently cut back to two days then to one day after the budget referendum.

Selectman Robert Dumont noted the defense of Town Clerk Elaine Hughes, explaining "it is not an unusual situation" to hire more assistance when a new town clerk goes into office. "I can only assume she will stay within her budget."

Dumont also challenged Cavanaugh about making the inquiry to which Cavanaugh replied "I am extremely concerned over all the items in the budget which appear high. It's a very tight budget and you must stay within it."

Thifault had called him about the situation after he was unable to reach vacationing Finance Chairman Howard Wolfanger.

Bookkeeper Ruth Lofgren explained the assistant town clerk would be beginning to work one day a week now, and claimed she had been hired to work as she has been for two months, but no one would answer Thifault's question "by whom?"

Cavanaugh also requested a financial report listing the current status of all budget line items being given to the Finance after every Board of Selectmen's meeting, which was agreed to as a "very valid" request.

new's letter to Detonians, the affair has an even more insidious ramifications. It provided a platform for Papadopoulos to make his Aug. 28 no-retreat speech against "premature" elections, a liquidation of martial law or invoking the 1968 constitution.

In short, having used the Agnew letter to claim that U. S. aid would continue despite Congress, Papadopoulos was obviously in a stronger position at home to proclaim his continuing refusal to hold elections despite official U. S. prodding.

But he now may have estranged Agnew and, far more dangerous to himself, he may have alienated President Nixon, a man who does not like to have his hand forced.

Drummers Sought
Long-time dog warden Louis Bach, submitted his letter of resignation to Thifault yesterday.

Due to the expense and length of the time necessary to relocate the dog pound, Bach made the resignation effective Nov. 30, Heights.

Parade practice for the group will be held tomorrow night at the Hilda School grounds.

Charles Bevelin took the opportunity last night to urge anyone interested in working on a candidate for the Board of Selectmen to contact either the first selectman's office, Dumont, or Town Chairman Thifault or Republican Town Chairman Thomas Stevenson before Sept. 14.

Dr. Harry B. Stamford, owner of Tolland Manor, complained that an error in town records is holding up an order to save the pine trees of town.

In a letter to Thifault, Dr. Stamford claims a portion of the land in the subdivision recorded in 1959, shown as sold to Robert L. Kjelquist in 1969, is actually a right of way owned by the Connecticut Light and Power Co. He further claims the error is "interfering with the sale of our property."

Thifault directed the town clerk to check with Town Counsel Robert King, regarding the claim.

Town Meeting Asked
The Selectmen agreed to ask King to check with the town clerk as soon as possible, to approve the lumping together of the three credits for the construction of the high school, the middle school and the Meadowbrook school addition.

Bookkeeper Ruth Lofgren explained the assistant town clerk would be beginning to work one day a week now, and claimed she had been hired to work as she has been for two months, but no one would answer Thifault's question "by whom?"

Cavanaugh also requested a financial report listing the current status of all budget line items being given to the Finance after every Board of Selectmen's meeting, which was agreed to as a "very valid" request.

An order for eight dozen road signs made out by Road Superintendent William Sewell, was cancelled since no funds were left in the budget for road signs following the referendum.

The signs had been requested by residents of the town, including sign signs, slow children signs, etc.

Drainage Work
The installation of curbs along the dump has begun, with a slight alteration in design.

A drain is being installed along the fence inside the dump, after it was discovered the pipes along Old Stamford Rd. in the area of the dump were not set in line with the road as had been shown in the topographic survey of the site. The new design was approved by consulting engineer James Thompson of Buck and Buck in order to save the pine trees and the fence at the dumpings.

Hebron
770 Students Expected By Schools

An enrollment of 770 children is expected at the two elementary schools on opening day, Sept. 1.

A large increase is expected at the Hebron Elementary School where according to Principal Paul A. White, enrollment is expected to reach 400 pupils. As of the close of school in July 1970, 407 pupils were registered.

White said that some students might have to be shifted to the Gilead Hill School where the enrollment is expected to be 215 students plus 10 educationally retarded children. This is approximately the number registered last June at the Gilead school.

The lunches will be available at both schools on opening day which will be a full day of school. The cost of hot lunches for students will be the same as last year — 40 cents — and students should bring money for first day. Collections on a weekly basis for the lunches will start on the 15th.

Six White and Ralph Succo, principal at the Gilead school, reported that transportation regulations, new emergency information cards and insurance forms will be sent home with students on the first day of school.

Succo stated that banking arrangements have been made for both elementary schools with the Connecticut Savings Bank. Students will be able to participate in the savings program and Tuesday will be the banking days throughout the year with the first banking day scheduled for the 14th.

Bus schedules will be made available to parents and printed in the newspapers on opening day. Because of the confusion of opening day bus schedules, both parents and request parents to have their children ready around 8:10 a.m. to watch for the buses.

The Board of Education has approved the following bus drivers for the year:

Bus 1, Denna Parnsworth; Bus 2, William H. Taylor; Bus 3, George Laroche; Bus 4, Richard Leach; Bus 5, Sylvia Craig; Bus 6, Mrs. Virginia Medley; Bus 7, Nancy Berry; Bus 8, Barbara McEvey; Bus 9, Carol Ktrowich; Bus 10, Daniel Curran; Bus 11, Jill Day and the kindergarten teacher, Esther Pettigrew.

Substitute bus drivers approved by the board were Herb Clark, Clarence Taylor, Donald Berry, Bud Clark, Bill Knapstick, and Floyd Fogli Jr.

Teacher aides at both schools were also approved. At the Hebron school, the aides were Mrs. John Armstrong and Mrs. Nancy Beck. Mrs. Doris Taylor and Mrs. Virginia Medley will serve as aides at the Gilead school.

The school calendar for the year includes 183 school days starting Sept. 8 and closing June 23. If making up days are necessary, they will be made up after June 23.

The school calendar concurs with the national holidays now being held on Mondays for Columbus Day, Veterans Day and Memorial Day.

The calendar in the state in many, but not listed on the calendar are early closing days which the board has approved for Sept. 29 for an afternoon workshop for the entire teaching staff and parent-teacher conferences on Nov. 10, 11, 12 and April 12, 13 and 14.

Children will be receiving a copy of the official calendar to be brought home to their parents.

For the first time this year, the Public Health Nursing Agency is assigning two nurses to the Hebron schools.

Mrs. Jean Mearns will continue at the Hebron Elementary school and Mrs. Nancy Lack will be at the Gilead Hill school.

Health aides are also being employed for each school. Their work schedules will be 2 1/2 hours each per day during the months of September, October, November, April, May and June and 3 hours per day during December, January, February and March.

Massachusetts

Records reported that very little maintenance was required at the Gilead school this summer. Other than the building and furnace receiving a thorough cleaning, there was no major work that had to be done.

At the Hebron school, however, four major construction projects have been completed. A new roof has been placed on the school and the outside has been replaced. The boiler has been overhauled and a new water pump is being installed to insure proper flow during peak hours.

Custodians have installed new letter ball posts in the playground and all outside equipment has been painted. New bulletin boards, shelving and ceiling tiles have been installed where necessary and a new hatchery is presently being installed on the ball field.

New science materials and equipment to augment the new program for which the school has received a Title II grant

Court Fines Ronson $200 In Abate Pollution Action

The first Connecticut case testing 1967 anti-pollution legislation was settled recently after four years in the courts, according to Assistant Attorney General James Grady.

On Aug. 17, the Superior Court of Hartford ordered the property owner, Bruce Ronson of Bolton Center Rd., to pay a forfeiture of $200 which will absolve him of any further liability in the case.

Earlier in the summer, Ronson was found guilty of contempt of court for his failure to comply with the court's order of January 1971, telling him "to cause his property on Lakeside Lane to be vacated."

The citation followed an earlier court decision, unconstitutionally appealed, which held that the Ronson property was polluting Bolton Lake. The court's decision was affirmed by Dr. Robert Butterfield as town health officer, and subsequently by the State Water Resources Commission, who showed the sewage was seeping into the lake from the Ronson property septic system.

The contempt citation gave Ronson until July 1 to vacate the property, and ordered a fine of $10 per day for any failure of compliance. The citation was issued by the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Brooks explained that any young people who fit into any of the outlined categories may apply for an absentee ballot at the town clerk, Memorial Building, Park Plaza. The application may then be delivered to the town clerk, by mail, to be picked up by him at the post office at 6 p.m. the night before election.

Mrs. Swanson is scheduled to assume the role of Mrs. Patrick Rosemary Murphy, who now has the role, to leaving to do a film.

With the coming November election being the first time that those under 21 years of age can vote, Abner Brooks, chairman of the Democratic Town Commission, lists the following categories for voters in town to take advantage of this privilege and not lose it because they may be out of town on Nov. 2.

Brooks listed those who may be absent from town on election day in the following categories: Members of the armed forces who will be absent from the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Courthouse Is Judge's Idea

HARTFORD (AP) — The new courthouse for New London County should be located in Preston, across the Thames river from Norwich, state Supreme Court Justice John P. Otter said Wednesday.

Both Norwich and New London vied for the courthouse, but Otter said the site in Preston was the most advantageous for the many he inspected.

It would have been a simple matter, in an effort to settle the controversy extending over many years, to have located the two courthouses in a single structure—one at Norwich and one at New London—since sites have been offered by the community or a developer, depending on financing, said Otter in a report to Gov. Thomas J. Messel.

"However, such a solution would not appear to meet the needs of the state, nor would it satisfy other factors. The courts can not operate efficiently in a jet age with such a provincial approach."

Otter, who is the chief administrator of the state court system, said the location of the courthouse "has occupied the attention of the New London County bar for more than two decades."

The 30-acre site selected by Otter is already owned by the state. It is near the Mohagan-Pequot bridge, and is thus easily accessible from the west side of the Thames.

Monagan Hails Discharge Study In Drugs Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. John P. Monagan, D-Conn., Tuesday praised the Department's recent action to review undesirable discharges related to drug abuse or possession.

But the Fifth District Democratic congressman said the department's action falls far short of his own legislation to establish a military drug-abuse review board.

Monagan commended Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's directive to review the cases of persons who have received undesirable discharges solely because of drug abuse or possession. According to Monagan, the secretary's directive is limited to those who received "administrative" undesirable discharges.

Dishonorable and bad-conduct discharges are the result of courts martial.

The congressman noted that thousands of servicemen who received dishonorable, bad-conduct or other less-than-honorable discharges will not be eligible for review.

Monagan's bill would set up review procedures for any veterans of the Vietnam era who are discharged for drug-related reasons. He said his bill and Laird's directive "specifically denigrate drug pushers."

Checkers Found at Dead End In Sifting Powell Cache

By MICHAEL ROBINSON, Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — "Dear Mr. Powell," the scrawled letter began "I sent you for weeks but so far I still don't have my license plates."

Like many others, the note was folded inside a registration form, pinned to it was a personal check for $10.

Since Monday, thousands of unsorted checks and money orders for vehicle licenses and auto sales taxes have been discovered crumpled into 18 dog-eared cardboard boxes belonging to an aide to the late Secretary of State Paul Powell.

Four of the boxes were found in and near the aide's apartment, 12 in a nearby garage.

Powell, at the time of his death in October, was the big-dollars style kingpin of Southern Illinois Democratic Party.

Two months after he died, it was disclosed that Powell kept $80,000 in cash stuffed in shoeboxes under his bed. He also was reported in a closet in the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield.

Discovery of the hoard tucked off an aerie of state and federal investigators.

In the early morning hours Monday, more discoveries popped up.

Acting on a telephone tip, state investigators dug into the basement laundry room of a Springfield apartment house. From a storage bin they pulled three boxes stuffed with un-cashed checks, money orders, letters and state forms.

That afternoon, they went through the upstairs apartment of William Glenn, 51, a former supervisor of Powell's Motor Vehicle Division who was fired April 2 during a large embezzlement turnover. Found was another box of checks, money orders and letters.

But more was to come.

A special assistant attorney general announced Tuesday that 12 more boxes, similarly stuffed with checks, money orders and documents were found by employees of the Illinois National Bank in the garage of an apartment house once occupied by Glenn. The bank took over the property when it went into receivership. "It's like London after the blitz," a state house observer

Hirohito, Nixon Schedule Talks At Alaska Base

(NOKYO, AP) — President Nixon and Emperor Hirohito will meet for 90 minutes on Sept. 28 when the Japanese Hirohito and Empress Nagako will arrive in Honolulu from Tokyo, Hawaii.

At the time of the meeting, Hirohito will be on his way to Alaska, on a tour by a Japanese Imperial Household Agency vessel.

The meeting will be the first since World War II, when the emperor and empress were driven to Japan.

Nixon announced Aug. 20 that special rooms at the base will be made available for the emperor's stay.

Brooks Lists Categories For Absentee Voters

With the coming November election being the first time that those under 21 years of age can vote, Abner Brooks, chairman of the Democratic Town Commission, lists the following categories for voters in town to take advantage of this privilege and not lose it because they may be out of town on Nov. 2.

Brooks listed those who may be absent from town on election day in the following categories: Members of the armed forces who will be absent from the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.; a student extending an application for admission to the state during the hours of voting, 6 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Brooks explained that any young people who fit into any of the outlined categories may apply for an absentee ballot at the town clerk, Memorial Building, Park Plaza. The application may then be delivered to the town clerk, by mail, to be picked up by him at the post office at 6 p.m. the night before election.

Mrs. Swanson is scheduled to assume the role of Mrs. Patrick Rosemary Murphy, who now has the role, to leaving to do a film.

Courthouse Is Judge's Idea

HARTFORD (AP) — The new courthouse for New London County should be located in Preston, across the Thames river from Norwich, state Supreme Court Justice John P. Otter said Wednesday.

Both Norwich and New London vied for the courthouse, but Otter said the site in Preston was the most advantageous for the many he inspected.

It would have been a simple matter, in an effort to settle the controversy extending over many years, to have located the two courthouses in a single structure—one at Norwich and one at New London—since sites have been offered by the community or a developer, depending on financing, said Otter in a report to Gov. Thomas J. Messel.

"However, such a solution would not appear to meet the needs of the state, nor would it satisfy other factors. The courts can not operate efficiently in a jet age with such a provincial approach."

Otter, who is the chief administrator of the state court system, said the location of the courthouse "has occupied the attention of the New London County bar for more than two decades."

The 30-acre site selected by Otter is already owned by the state. It is near the Mohagan-Pequot bridge, and is thus easily accessible from the west side of the Thames.

Monagan Hails Discharge Study In Drugs Cases

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. Rep. John P. Monagan, D-Conn., Tuesday praised the Department's recent action to review undesirable discharges related to drug abuse or possession.

But the Fifth District Democratic congressman said the department's action falls far short of his own legislation to establish a military drug-abuse review board.

Monagan commended Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird's directive to review the cases of persons who have received undesirable discharges solely because of drug abuse or possession. According to Monagan, the secretary's directive is limited to those who received "administrative" undesirable discharges.

Dishonorable and bad-conduct discharges are the result of courts martial.

The congressman noted that thousands of servicemen who received dishonorable, bad-conduct or other less-than-honorable discharges will not be eligible for review.

Monagan's bill would set up review procedures for any veterans of the Vietnam era who are discharged for drug-related reasons. He said his bill and Laird's directive "specifically denigrate drug pushers."

Checkers Found at Dead End In Sifting Powell Cache

By MICHAEL ROBINSON, Associated Press Writer

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — "Dear Mr. Powell," the scrawled letter began "I sent you for weeks but so far I still don't have my license plates."

Like many others, the note was folded inside a registration form, pinned to it was a personal check for $10.

Since Monday, thousands of unsorted checks and money orders for vehicle licenses and auto sales taxes have been discovered crumpled into 18 dog-eared cardboard boxes belonging to an aide to the late Secretary of State Paul Powell.

Four of the boxes were found in and near the aide's apartment, 12 in a nearby garage.

Powell, at the time of his death in October, was the big-dollars style kingpin of Southern Illinois Democratic Party.

Two months after he died, it was disclosed that Powell kept $80,000 in cash stuffed in shoeboxes under his bed. He also was reported in a closet in the St. Nicholas Hotel in Springfield.

Discovery of the hoard tucked off an aerie of state and federal investigators.

In the early morning hours Monday, more discoveries popped up.

Acting on a telephone tip, state investigators dug into the basement laundry room of a Springfield apartment house. From a storage bin they pulled three boxes stuffed with un-cashed checks, money orders, letters and state forms.

That afternoon, they went through the upstairs apartment of William Glenn, 51, a former supervisor of Powell's Motor Vehicle Division who was fired April 2 during a large embezzlement turnover. Found was another box of checks, money orders and letters.

But more was to come.

A special assistant attorney general announced Tuesday that 12 more boxes, similarly stuffed with checks, money orders and documents were found by employees of the Illinois National Bank in the garage of an apartment house once occupied by Glenn. The bank took over the property when it went into receivership. "It's like London after the blitz," a state house observer

Spells, Hotels Included In Rio's Guide

By BRUCE HANDELER Associated Press Writer RIO DE JANEIRO (AP) — When you arrive at Rio's Galeão Airport you can get information not only about hotels and restaurants but also about magic spells you can cast to gain love, money, health and prestige.

The secrets all are in a 30-cent paperback at the airport newsstand called "Short Guide to Macumba." Macumba, a combination of Christianity and African spirit worship, is one of the many voodoo-like cults widely practiced in Rio.

Feeling lonely? Need a girlfriend? Just turn to page 10: "Whoever wants to get a woman's love can employ an enormous number of spells, but first it is necessary to know if the chosen one is married, single or widowed. This is important because the spells don't like to break up marriages, principally when the motive is the desire of a third person who usually doesn't have serious intentions."

Now this, assuming you're serious and you've picked out nice single girl, one way you can get her to fall for you is to hold a female lead in your left hand and sew its eyes closed with red thread. Then you say: "As long as I see no stars from me, she will have you."

When the girl shows up, you may use the lead's eyes, the guidebook says. "The book has other spells and incantations for making undesirable acquaintances go away, overcoming impotency, attracting friends, gaining prestige, curing illnesses, making money, and getting rid of spells other persons may have cast on you."

Finally, the guide gives some general rules for keeping evil away, so you enjoy your stay in Brazil. "1. Always keep sulphur in your shoe.

"2. Carry a St. George medal (St. George represents the power of King Solomon).

"3. Pray daily to your guardian angel."

Tolland Developer Owes $4,208 Tax Bill

Back taxes owed the town by the Onus Development Co. of Bloomfield, developers of the Valley View subdivision along with Edwidge Yost, account for a large portion of the $4,208 bill, according to the unpaid tax list.

In a letter to both the Board of Selectmen and to the Planning and Zoning Commission, Tax Collector Earl Beebe cites taxes totaling $4,208 still owed the town by the developer for the years 1968, 1969 and 1970. In addition to this amount interest charges and late fees are also due.

Beebe is proposing the town notify him to determine if the taxes have been paid, before releasing the road bond on the subdivision.

Yost also owes the town over $400 to cover the costs of town planning of the unoccupied roads in the subdivision last winter, although town counsel Robert King has assured the selectmen the money will be forthcoming.

Let His Questioned The Planning and Zoning Commission has questioned the lot size of Valley View subdivision, one, on which Yost is seeking permission to construct a 7-11 convenience store.

The lot size is less than the one acre required and does not have the required 500 foot frontage on both roads.

The question will be referred to King, before the commission further considers the details of the plan of development for the store.

Subdivision Approved The PZC Monday night approved an eight-lot subdivision submitted by Edwidge Yost, to be located on South River Rd. Peck advised the PZC he will be back at its next meeting on Sept. 20, for formal approval of a 17-lot subdivision on Goose Lane.

Roman Bath To Be Stored In Concrete

By DONALD FORBES Associated Press Writer WELAVYN, England (AP) — A team of amateur archaeologists has unearthed a Roman bath house in the path of a new superhighway and the road builders have hit on a unique scheme to preserve it.

The ruins of what is a kind of early Turkish bath will be encased in a concrete vault with the highway passing overhead.

The preserved bath house uncovered in a dig near this rural Hertfordshire town, 20 miles north of London, will be open to tourists and scholars while traffic on the highway rumbles above.

The Ministry for the Environment is paying the £48,000 cost of building the vault, which will enclose the bath house in an 85-foot diameter main concrete and a 20-foot diameter drop vehicle 10 feet long and 20 inches in diameter.

The vault will release the bath house at 50,000 feet after which two small parachutes will be deployed to slow the vehicle for release of the main chute by an explosive charge.

As Others See Us

LONDON (AP) — The death of black revolutionary George Jackson in California's San Quentin Prison is seen by the London Times as "another reminder that there is no place like a bad prison for committing violence."

Like many of the Russian revolutionaries, said the Times, Jackson used incarceration as a time for study.

"The more he read, the more revolutionary became," his views, the more justified the authorities felt in keeping him securely locked up.

"So the eyes went on until the career of petty teen-age thief ended in a Götterdämmerung of hatred and murder, and the sobriety of a new martyr."

Writing on the same topic, the "Observer" writes: "What reason alone cannot explain is why such a man as Jackson should become a hero or cult figure, and no doubtless a martyr to vast sections of the American and other Western intelligentsia."

Chutes for Mars Ready for Tests

EDWARDS AIR FORCE BASE, Calif. (AP) — The National Aeronautics and Space Administration says testing will begin Friday on the parachute system designed to land instruments packages on Mars in 1974.

The tests at the Defense Department's facility at Ed Camp are being carried out in a 20-foot diameter drop vehicle 10 feet long and 20 inches in diameter.

Crime in State Rises by 11% In Annual Report

HARTFORD (AP) — Crime rose 11 per cent in Connecticut during 1970, compared with a national average increase of 11.3 per cent, the FBI says in its annual report.

The report says crimes in the state in 1970 totaled 78,076, compared with 70,048 in 1969, with Bridgeport leading with 9,222.

The 20-page report said 5,187 murders, including murder, forcible rape, robbery and aggravated assault, occurred in the state. An additional 72,899 cases involved property crimes of burglary, larceny and auto theft.

There were 106 murders statewide, an increase of 20 over 1969; 271 forcible rapes, up 18; 2,138 robberies, an increase of 440; and 2,648 aggravated assaults, up from 2,572.

Burglary, the largest single crime in the state, totaled 22,574 compared with 20,624 for 1969.

After the San Juan County Guard searched for six months, five days, he turned up in Las Vegas. He may have changed his mind en route, but we had to decide who was mugged, his wife or her car.

The guard has three twin engine airplanes and two helicopters for air searches. Search cutters are ready for sea rescues.

A minimum of four enlisted men and four officers—located at the guard station in the La Funitia section of San Juan—coordinate the action.

One of the local guard's major areas is what is called "MEDICO" cases. These range from evacuating seriously ill foreign sailors for emergency treatment in local hospitals to tracking down local people who don't even know their wives are in danger.

This occurred recently when the young son of a local eye doctor was bitten by a rabid cat. It was only after he went off on a camping trip that medical officials discovered he would have to submit to painful rabies shots to save his life.

The Coast Guard found the boy and brought him back in time for medical treatment.

Blaze Sweetens One Man's Lemon

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ed die Camps said he saved for five years for the "dream car."

He bought one new last year for $8,800. But, he said, it turned out to be a "lemon."

"It has been towed in for repairs 10,000 times," he explained to sheriff's officers. He said he could never get the car running properly.

On Tuesday he drove the automobile onto the front lawn of the maker's company plant in suburban Torrance, donated the car's interior and set it afire.

The sheriff's office said it was mulling whether to seek a criminal complaint against Camps. He said he would continue to make payments on the car.

Coast Guard Burdened By False Alarms

By PEGGY ANN BLISS SAN JUAN, P.R. (AP) — Although the U.S. Coast Guard is burdened to prevent a repeat of the San Juan County Guard's false alarms, the guard is still being held at the hospital pending nearly 100 charges of kidnapping, assault and other offenses.

Depending on the species, most species seldom travel more than two blocks from their birthplace. The neighborhood mosquitoes and their offspring are likely to remain in their neighborhood until they die.

Most species display distinct characteristics. But for the escape of the man of the house, the mosquitoes are a very real menace. Scientists have a few most dangerous prisoners in the Coast Guard, but they're not sure yet whether they're really dangerous.

Writing of United States pressure on Japan before the war was allowed to float, Tokyo's Yomiuri said the friction between the two countries arose in part from a trade pattern in which Japan exports finished products to the United States while its imports consist mainly of raw materials from America.

This trade pattern is similar to one between an advanced country and a developing country," the paper added.

The current trade war between Japan and the United States largely involves face for the United States, rather than the trade imbalance between the two countries," it stated.

This often happens, Finn explained, with the case of a man who goes fishing on Sunday. When he doesn't come home on his wife's watch, she calls the Coast Guard, asking it to search for him. However, he continued, "When we go to the pier, we often find his car gone, his fishing gear and a few bears in a nearby bar. Or, he may have been having trouble with his car, and we give him a push."

However, Finn said, "If we still find no trace of him, we launch a search. Sometimes, he added, it takes a whole day to track down a fisherman, which sounds like very legitimate distress, but which ends up to be a false alarm."

Other problems arise from failure of pilots and captains to play it straight with their families and the Federal Aviation Authority. And often when an airplane is hijacked, it is a flight plan with the FAA charting his course to Nassau.

Sherwood Forest Rescue May Be at Hand For Forest's Dying Oaks

NOTTINGHAM, England (AP) — Sherwood Forest, legendary home of Robin Hood and his men, would give little cover for a roving band of outlaws these days.

The ancient oaks—those that have survived the shattering axe of advancing centuries—are dying; of age, thirst and pollution. But, in true knightly tradition, rescue may be at hand. A Nottinghamshire posse of county planners has been examining an area of 20 square miles of countryside in and around Sherwood.

The 16-month study will be published as the leaves drop from the trees in the fall. It may point the way toward comprehensive policies for Britain as a whole to tackle problems of settlement of refugees from crowded cities, the combined forestry, recreation, nature conservation, pollution, landscape and communication.

To a certain extent, Sherwood's plight is a special case. The forest, it has been estimated, is a special case. The forest, it has been estimated, is a special case. The forest, it has been estimated, is a special case.

At all heart he has 20 acres of genuine, 100-year-old trees. The forest, it has been estimated, is a special case. The forest, it has been estimated, is a special case.

It is these ancient oaks which are dying. Old age is a factor, but a shortage of water, Nottingham has grown to a city of more than three-quarters of a million this century, making increasing demands on the area's natural resources.

Lagging Productivity Poses Difficult Economic Problem

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The most difficult economic problem now facing the country, but the one whose solution promises as the greatest benefit, is that of lagging productivity, or output per manhour.

It is also a problem loaded with political ramifications involving labor and management and can, therefore, be resolved only by the most sensitive handling. Unlike the imposition of a freeze, productivity cannot be improved by edict.

Any improvement must come from encouraging business to use more imaginative management, techniques, plants and machinery, and by inspiring labor to give a good day's work for a good day's pay.

In that way, the experts say, wages and profits will rise and price can remain relatively stable. The greater efficiency, in other words, could be translated into a better life for all.

But, Americans are not receiving the benefits of rising productivity. The United States has traditionally been proud of its imagination and know-how, but it doesn't show up in the figures.

A Labor Department study shows, in fact, that the United States had the smallest gain in output per manhour of any large industrialized nation during the decade of the 1960's, a mere fraction of the rate in some countries.

Company growth of U.S. productivity, 84.7 per cent, with the gain by Japan of 188.6 per cent and you have seen the current problems and a forecast of things to come.

Thus, the United States has the largest production plant and so cannot show the big percentage gains of smaller economies. And many other economies can show big gains only because they are going through a growth period that the United States went through years before.

But such mature, highly industrialized economies as Sweden still rise more than 100 per cent. Germany rose 87 per cent and even France, which has a reputation for industrial innovation, rose nearly 70 per cent.

Making the job of improving the U.S. record a tougher one than it is are the different attitudes held by management and labor. Management blames restrictive union rules for the problem. Unions blame heavy-handed management.

The answer probably contains much of each—and something more. Specifically, the United States has the lowest rate of capital investment in gross national product of any modern economy.

While recognizing that investments must be made in machinery and equipment—the keeping in place modern and competitive—the United States still doesn't make those investments.

A private study shows that the 1,100-mile line, suspended only 14 per cent of the U.S. in part from 2,000 steel towers, great national pride, is to be built in part through Indiana, Ohio, West Virginia and Kentucky.

Naval Fire Support at DMZ Cuts into Enemy Shelling

By J. T. WOLBERT/FOREIGN

USN BHELTON, off Vietnam, the Army to move some of its (AP) — The radio crackled out big guns further west to a cryptic message from a Ma-port South Vietnamese base for Corps gunfire support at a threatened by enemy troops. South Vietnamese fire base can see it, but you can't touch the demilitarized zone.

One of the destroyer Shelton's gun swang to starboard. Sweat-soaked officers and crewmen do not rocket launch site.

The value of the Shelton's mission, suspected by many of its junior officers and crewmen do not "It's so unreal out here."

"Wow, there's North Vietnam, someplace you've heard about all your life. You can see it, but you can't touch it. It's really not sure and adjusted the guns to compensate."

"We don't ever really see what we're shooting at, don't really know if we've ever killed anybody. I'm really not sure and adjusted the guns to compensate."

"We're out here in our own world," said another officer. "I don't know anything about Vietnam, we don't deal with anything. We don't see people in the air. It's all pretty unreal."

"I guess somebody's got to do it," said the crewman. "Just hope we're doing some good."

The sailor has not shovels, three hot meals a day, decent bunk beds. But he also has to deal with the frustration of living and working with the same 275 people in a very cramped space for six months at a time—the normal deployment of a ship to Vietnam waters.

"I guess you'd go back to school when I get out of the Navy," said one sailor. "But I don't know if I've forgotten how to use any mind."

This cruise has not been an altogether happy one for the Shelton's crew. An officer was murdered in Bangkok, and some 200 pounds of marijuana was confiscated. The sailor said that the captain's staff is a "hell of a lot" of the most Army units in the ashore.

Story of Drugs Mistake Disputed by Toxicologist

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The state's chief toxicologist disputed Monday the account offered by the New Haven Police chief of how nine young persons were mistakenly jailed on drug charges.

"I think it sounds as if somebody's trying to cover up what they made down here," said Dr. Abraham Stolin.

The nine young persons were released after spending from five to nine days in jail on charges of possessing a large amount of cocaine. Monday a quick test on the substance—not normal procedure. Stolin confirmed that part of his account.

But then, Dileato said, "The first test backed up our field test by police and then in an initial laboratory test by the state."

A second, more sophisticated, test showed it to be guanine, he said.

But Stolin denied the state needed two tests to determine the nature of the substance.

"There was no such thing that ever happened here, and we didn't have to repeat our work to correct a mistake," Stolin said.

The toxicologist said New Haven police asked him to verify the relatively primitive field test on Aug. 20. By Aug. 21 Stolin said he had conducted a standard battery of three tests—and all three indicated the substance was guanine.

Stolin said he reported that finding to someone in the police narcotics division on Aug. 23 and said that was the only report he gave to New Haven police until he wrote them a letter confirming it Tuesday.

"No other answer was ever given to them," Stolin said. "On the 23rd, they were told it was only guanine," and there was no test supporting the field test."

"Everybody misinterpreted the entire thing," Stolin said. "There is a trend to prove that women are equal or superior to men in all walks of life, which is from 20 to 30 years behind the times."

"It's only an indication that the police are on the right track," he said, explaining it is easy for the test to go wrong if you start with men throughout the world, I venture to say also in South Africa, are losing their grip and are becoming more and more effeminate."

Many responsibilities formerly shouldered by men are gradually transferred to women. Inevitably they are subjected to the same physical and psychological pressures which very often result in aggression and criminal behavior."

Girls Draw To Crime In South Africa

PRETORIA, South Africa (AP) — The impact of women's liberation is felt in at least one traditional male stronghold in South Africa—crime.

Women, particularly aggressive ones, are increasingly taking part in crime, says Prof. Herman Venter. He believes this reflects in part the influence of the women's liberation movement sweeping many parts of the world.

"We see this in other walks of life and it also applies to the crime patterns. The current incidence of aggression among women is part of the emancipation drive in South Africa."

"There is a trend to prove that women are equal or superior to men in all walks of life, which is from 20 to 30 years behind the times."

Multi-Level Seating Seen Solution for Tight Homes

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Before another season of home-entertaining begins, you might consider multi-level seating.

As people have less space for their money in apartments and homes, they will have to make every square inch of floor space pay off, and this makes multi-level furnishings very important, says interior designer Lutz Pedersen, who also decorates sets of major motion pictures.

Who is Harry Kollerma and Why is He Saying Those "Verbal Things About Me?"

Multi-level seating will provide solutions to cramped dwellers in the home, compacting furnishings without making you feel squeezed or mashed. And the informality has youth appeal. Young people prefer to sit on the floor or as near to it as possible. They don't like rigid straight-backed chairs.

In addition to perimeter seating in the room, multi-level platforms, 24 and 36 inches off the floor, provide extra seating when you entertain. These can be temporary portable platforms or they can be permanent. It depends on the room. But the platforms will provide the incentive to entertain more often because of the informality.

Pedersen's platforms are plywood boxes that are covered with carpet, upholstery or tiles. A four-poster bed was designed to make effective levels. You can place them in two or box spring and mattress are at waist level, which eliminates bending when baby is being attended to. Below the bed, Pedersen built in storage space ideas.

These can be removed, the verb rattling lowered to the floor so the bed can become a play pen. Pedersen used natural wood but he suggests that lacquer in colors might interest people who would duplicate the idea.

Pedersen doesn't think that everything will go multi-level right now, but during the transitional period, he visualizes a combination of traditional and multi-level furniture. But he believes the change will come as more interior designers are influenced by the mood of younger people.

Voting Called For Denmark

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP) — Prime Minister Hilsner Baunsgaard, for nearly four years the leader of a three-party, non-socialist coalition, yesterday called general elections in Denmark for Sept. 21.

The announcement was made at the opening of a special session of Parliament called to debate tax policies and a renewed opposition demand for diplomatic recognition of North Vietnam.

The coalition of Baunsgaard's Social Liberals, the Conservatives and the Liberals took power for a four-year period in early 1969. Baunsgaard set the election date half a year earlier than required by the constitution.

$118,000 Left At Close Of Town's Year

The town finished the 1970-71 fiscal year with a surplus of about $118,000, according to Joseph Clementino.

Clementino said yesterday that some of last year's bills have not been processed, but these will not significantly affect the final balance. As of yesterday, the surplus stood at $114,460.73.

Town Manager Robert Welas predicted halfway through the fiscal year that the town would finish the year with a $41,000 deficit.

Welas said that time directed department heads to start "belt-tightening" measures to prevent the predicted deficit. He reported to the directors at the end of the fiscal year that there would be a surplus although he did not know the exact figure. When he informed the directors of the surplus, he credited the department heads for their efforts in cutting back expenses.

Thieves Get Juke Box

Early yesterday morning a $2,400 juke box was stolen from the Burger Castle Restaurant on W. Middle Type.

The break was discovered yesterday morning by an employee, who called police. At first inspection, nothing appeared to be missing, but the manager later noticed the juke box was gone.

Police said the thieves broke a pane in a north glass door. Outside, a dolly was found, which police say might have been used to move the box.

MPHNA Offers Prenatal Classes

Manchester Public Health Nursing Association (MPHNA) will sponsor a series of classes for expectant mothers on four consecutive Thursdays from 2 to 3 p.m. starting Sept. 2 at the agency office, 71 St. Center St.

Subjects to be discussed by MPHNA staff nurse during the sessions include the period of pregnancy; the birth and care of the baby; and problems which may develop within a family before and after the birth. A tour of the obstetrics unit at Manchester Memorial Hospital will be taken during one of the classes.

Those interested may register for the series by contacting the MPHNA office.

W. Center St. Will Reopen To Full Use

Chief James Reardon of the Manchester police said paving crews on W. Center St. are expected to have the widened road complete and open for full-time traffic by Friday.

Completion of this third and final phase of improvements to the Pine, Arch, Broad, W. Center, and Center Sts., intersection is expected by mid-September, when the south edge of Center St. from W. Center to Arch St. will be closed to traffic during the day, starting sometime next week, for a period of about two weeks.

Work on the intersection began in June at Pine St., which was widened, and the grade lowered. A 260 foot section of Broad St., running north from Center St., was widened to allow the addition of another lane.

When the last portion of Center St. is finished, crews will apply final paving to the entire intersection.

Cost to the state for the work was estimated at about $200,000, including a new lighting system.

Reardon said although the lights themselves have been hung, delivery of a sophisticated control unit has been delayed. He said the lights will be used on completion of the contract, but will not receive final phasing until that unit arrives.

Three File Bids On Trash Pickup

S and R Sanitation of Wapping is the apparent low bidder for removal of garbage and rubbish from the school system this year. The bid is $10,850.

Other bidders were Sanitary Refuse Co. of Manchester, Inc., Perrett Pl., $12,285; and General Sanitation Service Co. of Newton, $18,500.

Others who received certificates of appreciation for reading 21 or more books this summer posed something of a challenge for those enrolled in the Climb-the-Mountain Book Club at Mary Cheney Library Junior Room.

These two seven-year-old youngsters were among the 60 of 124 enrollees who succeeded in reading at least three books at each of seven mountain levels, one of which had to be a science book at each step. Carol Miller of 308 Oak St. prepared to inscribe her name among others at the peak.

Homes, Businesses in Path Of Wilbur Cross Widening

The displacement of 77 families and 15 businesses due to the proposed reconstruction of Interstate 90 (the Wilbur Cross Highway) from Slater St. in Manchester to Dobson Rd. in Vernon has been verified by a report prepared for the Connecticut Department of Transportation.

In Manchester, 11 single-family homes and the 18-unit Oak Lodge Apartments at 287 Toland Ave. will be affected. An additional seven commercial properties — a package store, hobby shop, four gas stations, and a 28-unit motel — will be displaced if I-90 is built as planned.

In Vernon, 21 single-family homes, 4 two-family dwellings, and 15 mobile homes in two trailer parks will be affected. The eight businesses to be affected include a restaurant, furniture warehouse, food distributor, auto body shop, package store, real estate agency, and two professional offices.

This information, as well as a detailed analysis of the proposed road's effect on the natural, social, and economic environment in the area, is part of a Draft Environmental Impact Statement on file in the state clerk's office in the Municipal Building.

The statement was prepared in August by Charles A. Maguire Associates of Waterbury, consulting engineers, to comply with a recently enacted federal regulation governing Interstate highway construction. The project concerned is a 2.6-mile segment of I-90 from 0.1 mile east of Slater St. to 0.1 mile east of Dobson Rd.

Estimated cost of the segment is $12.2 million for construction, $12.4 million for right-of-way acquisition, and $205,000 for preliminary engineering studies.

The project is part of an Interstate link between metropolitan Hartford and the Massachusetts Turnpike (I-90), the major east-west expressway in that state.

The proposal calls for five lanes in each direction from Slater St. to Vernon Circle, and then four lanes in each direction to Dobson Rd. The right-of-way, presently 300 feet wide, will be increased to 400 feet to allow the widening of the median strip from 20 feet to 104 feet. The additional land required totals about 150 acres.

Noise, air, and water pollution as a result of the project will be relatively insignificant, according to the Maguire statement, as a highway already exists in the corridor.

Two rivers and several wells in the project limits will be relatively unaffected, supplies will not be affected, the statement says. Corrective actions will be taken to assure minimal pollution during the actual construction phase.

Proposals Scored By Economist

All of which he said are mainly oriented toward business. "The entire calendar of social progress in this country would stop dead if these proposals were adopted," Ohn said. "We will surely need these revenues when the economy recovers to full employment."

He said the permanent tax cuts would fracture the structure of the American consumer by giving him worse public services, more inflation and more lighter money when the economy recovers. He called on Congress to right the balance by reducing tax relief for business and by providing only temporary tax reductions for individuals.

The new challenges were filed Tuesday in Washington by postal unions representing 600,000 workers in Kansas City by Local 124, AFL-CIO.

The postal unions seek a court order to have a $250 pay raise due Oct. 21 plus automatic in-grade raises. They assert the law creating the new U.S. Postal Service exempts postal contracts with its employees from any other congressional act.

Electricians in the Kansas City area construction industry seek a court order forcing contractors to honor a pact negotiated a year ago, calling for an 85-cent hourly pay boost plus 15 cents an hour more in fringe benefits, effective today.

James C. Walsh Jr., attorney for Local 124, charged the national union leadership has been slow in pressing its disagreement with the government's freeze policy.

Boston policemen in their suit, claim the law authorizing a freeze is not applicable to government employees and exceeds Congress' power to regulate interstate commerce.

Meanwhile, the administration continued to define terms of the freeze and Congress gathered more information on what might be done after the freeze expires Nov. 13.

Gardner Ackley, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors under President Lyndon B. Johnson, agreed with labor's complaint that the freeze unfairly benefits big business more than consumers.

A carefully planned policy must be shaped with labor's help to ease the nation out of the freeze, he said, but an excess-profits tax as proposed by some "is a heavy tax and full of inequities."

Ackley told Congress' Joint Economic Committee the present freeze should be successful in holding down cost-of-living advances for 30 days. The policy to follow is only "the opening of a door which could lead to a healthier and more rewarding economy than the one we have been experiencing," he said.

Elsewhere in Capitol Hill, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., called on Nixon to launch anti-trust suits against what he called "the major concentrated industries" in our country.

And House Democratic Leader Hale Boggs of Louisiana listed new trade legislation as a top priority item for Congress to take up when it reconvenes Sept. 8.

Harris, a prospective presidential nomination, said the only permanent solution to inflation is "to break up the big corporations in concentrated industries." He mentioned specifically steel, auto, aluminum and container firms.

"There's no reason why one-third of the nation's economy should be controlled by these shared monopolies," he said. "We won't have real competition in this country until the big companies are cutting their prices to meet the competition instead of raising them."

Boggs' trade legislation, he said, other priority items on the congressional calendar should be Nixon's tax package and the question of whether and in what form to continue presidential authority for wage-price controls.

The Coat of Living Council, in its 11th in a series of freeze rulings, declared some 17,000 Western Union employees may receive 10-per-cent pay raises negotiated before the freeze but ratified afterward.

In another decision, the council ruled prices are frozen on products ordered before the freeze but not shipped until later.

LONDON (AP)—The U.S. dollar gained strength against the West German mark and the French franc today while holding steady against the Japanese yen.

The wave of monetary changes in the wake of President Nixon's New Economic Policy finally reached Moscow. The Soviet government increased the value in rubles of 15 foreign currencies but maintained the previous dollar rate of $1.11 to the ruble.

Kin Comes To Defense Of Bingham

(Continued from Page One) but she was not accused of being present at the shooting. Bales said additional evidence discovered over the weekend appeared to "rule out the unknown or innocent transportation of the gun into the prison by Bingham." He didn't elaborate.

Bales said he had no plans to issue further complaints but that when he takes the case before the county grand jury some of the convictions in the house may be involved. He gave no names.

Bales would not say whether he agreed with earlier statements by James Park, associate warden of San Quentin, that one of the three killed was the 17-year-old brother, Jonathan.

David DesRoches, 27, of 290 Main St., charged with breaking and entering with criminal intent, last night after he was allegedly seen rummaging through a car parked in a lot at Main St. and E. Middle Tpke., released on a $150 non-refundable bond. Court date Sept. 12.

The changes in the value of the ruble were intended to cover currency transactions inside the Soviet Union for the month of September. The upward revaluation was not expected to affect Soviet trade, which is calculated in dollars at the arbitrary rate of $1.11.

The changes averaged about one per cent and applied to the Austrian schilling, the British pound, the Belgian franc, the West German mark, the Dutch guilder, the Danish krone, Italian lira, Canadian dollar, Lebanese pound, New Zealand dollar, Norwegian krone, Pakistani rupee, Swedish krona, Swiss franc and Japanese yen.

The French franc and the Finnish mark which also have been strong against the dollar, were not included.

In Zurich, the dollar opened at 4.025-0.0175 Swiss francs, up from 4.06-4.09 on Tuesday. Today's prices were equivalent to a dollar devaluation against the Swiss franc of 1.4 per cent from Aug. 13 and of 1.9 per cent from the previous official medium parity.

One May Find Treasure Or Get Stung at Tag Sale

BY VIVIAN BROWN
After a decade of popularity, tag sales in many areas have become nothing more than rummage sales. In the north, people may find old china or silver, some such sales are placed on the tag sale. Many tag sales may be put up whenever the owner wants to unload surplus property.

People lured by tag sale signs leave highways and follow winding roads, often to be trapped in a cul-de-sac, and then find that the seller only wants to unload some rusty old stoves, beat-up toys and some old records. It is one reason many worthwhile tag sales are now conducted by professionals who list items for sale in local newspapers.

This may bring customers who return to the seller but at least he will get customers who might otherwise stay away from an ordinary tag sale. Many individuals run classified advertisements listing merchandise to be sold, and this is a great help, although many feel they must use the "also a few antiques" line.

But if one is looking for a chair, desk, high chair or play pen—all must get to the sale early. Antique hounds do find treasures at such sales. But one can also get stung. Some home makers make a business of running tag sales, which is why some communities have prohibited licensed tag sale operations.

At professionally run tag sales, antiques are likely to be priced at antique shop levels. There may be no savings in them, but the advantage could be something unusual that has been locked in the family attic for decades. (At one sale some antique locked boxes revealed marvelous old Americans.)

Here are some tips for tag sale browsers:
... Look through boxes of pictures, prints, paintings. You might find a pretty water color, old print or a nice old frame for a few pennies.

Look at individual things in the entire table. There may be something more than rummage value. In the north, people may find old china or silver, some such sales are placed on the tag sale. Many tag sales may be put up whenever the owner wants to unload surplus property.

If you buy an old piece of furniture make sure it can be low window, often to be trapped in a cul-de-sac, and then find that the seller only wants to unload some rusty old stoves, beat-up toys and some old records. It is one reason many worthwhile tag sales are now conducted by professionals who list items for sale in local newspapers.

Wilkinson — Life in the peaco zone

When buying new towels, be sure that the towels are soft to the touch yet tightly woven. Hold the towel up to the light. The light should barely show through. Also be sure that the underweave is smooth and even.

Always keep nuts, popcorn, beans and other small objects out of baby's reach. Babies choke easily on these.

Use a toy scraper from a small girl's toy baking set to remove the last bit of baby food out of the jars.

Keep a damp sponge under the kitchen sink and teach small children to wipe up their own spills.

Lettuce, meat, bread may be used in breaded slices. Spread slices with mustard and cook with the bread crumbs. Fry in hot butter, broiling both sides.

When building a flower arrangement, make the first placement very firm. The rest of the display must be built around it, and it is very difficult to re-arrange if it comes loose.

Yastrzemski, Responses with Winning Base Hit

BOSTON (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski, struggling through the worst season of his brilliant 11-year career, snapped out of his long enough to win a ball game Tuesday night and said afterward he sees plenty of good years still ahead.

"I've had a real bad year—peaks in some times," Yastrzemski said. "Nothing to say in great shape, and I expect to have five to seven more good years."

Yastrzemski, with his batting and home run marks far below normal, has heard plenty of boating in the last couple of months—and Tuesday night was no exception. The crowd of 36,000 was in his every time he came to the plate—especially after he struck out with two and two out in the seventh inning.

He came up in the same at-bat in the ninth, however, and hit a long drive that left center field wild, sending home the winning run in a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

"Under the circumstances, it was one of my most satisfying hits in some time," Yastrzemski said. "Nothing to say in great shape, and I expect to have five to seven more good years."

Then after striking to a career low average of .285 in 1969 he came back with a batting average of .300 in 1970. He hit 10 homers and 101 RBI in addition to his near miss in the batting race.

With that history, nobody seems too worried about next year, but things are still tough. Yastrzemski's batting average is .285 in 1971. He hit 10 homers and 101 RBI in addition to his near miss in the batting race.

Tiant Breaks Spell, Wins First Decision

BOSTON (AP)—Harold Tiant finally got his first victory for the Boston Red Sox Tuesday night as he pitched well and produced a 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles in a called ninth strike.

Tiant, who has pitched well on several occasions since being obtained by the Red Sox from the Oakland Athletics in a trade last season, had had nothing to show for it except an 0-7 record, entered Tuesday's game in a pitched out of the bullpen.

Orioles had men on first and second with one out when Tiant came in to strike out Brooks Robinson and get Andy Etchebarren on a called third strike.

In the eighth and ninth Tiant continued to blank the Orioles without a hit and his team mates then provided him with the winning run in the bottom of the ninth. Mike Piers pitched for the Orioles.

Win Eight of Last Nine Starts Every Game Big Now For Rampaging Cards

ST. LOUIS (AP)—"Everything's big now," pitcher Jerry Reuss declared, a thought with which St. Louis Cardinals fans concurred following the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 victory Tuesday night over the New York Mets.

St. Louis won eight of its last nine starts, including a 10-0 triumph to rout the Mets in the opener.

Boos and Yastrzemski Going Hand in Hand

NEW YORK (AP)—Carl Yastrzemski, with the boos of the crowd ringing in his ears and the threat of a trade hanging over his head, took a bat in his hands and shut the mouths of his critics "at least temporarily."

The veteran Boston slugger, in the worst slump of his 11-year career, developed a time male run scoring single with two out in the bottom of the ninth to win the game for the Red Sox 4-3 victory over the Baltimore Orioles.

This has been a very "trying" season—and week—for the 32-year-old left fielder, who has long been considered an untouchable on the Red Sox.
