It has become semi-official parlance to refer to a "draft-free" Israeli girl as one who "is observed." Mrs. Jean Mosier, public health nurse, reported to the Board of Education last week that "My parents follow traditional observances, but I'm not in the least religious. I wanted to go to university, not to enter kindergarten."

Dry Ice Flown To Arctic Slope

CHITOK, Alaska (AP) - Three tons of dry ice were shipped by the Air Force recently to Alaska's new North Slope. This coal-to-Newcastle effort was needed in a project to move animals the distant Early Warning Line stations at Oliktok and Barter Island. Otto Jam, an engineer for CITR Arctic Services Inc., which operates the stations, said the ice was used to firm up the pillars required for 30-foot antennas towers embedded in permafrost.

Miss Kellems vs. Tax Collector

By WILLIAM GREIDER (The Washington Post)
WASHINGTON - Vivien Kellems of East Haddam, Conn., is 75 years old and unmarried, a fact which probably grieves the Internal Revenue Service more than it bothers her. 'I still have got a boyfriend,' Miss Kellems said coyly, 'but I'm not going to tell you who he is.' If Miss Kellems married, maybe she would go away and leave the tax collectors alone. She is going back to the court, demanding full equality. 'In my opinion,' she told Judge Graydon G. Withey, 'this is a penalty against me being single. I do not have a husband. While I understand the Supreme Court has held that it is permissible to devise classifications, this is an extremely unfair classification.' The judge said he would listen to the facts, but not philosophical or legal arguments. 'Do you have anything more to say?' asked Miss Kellems. 'I have a great deal more to say, but I feel quite sure the Supreme Court will rule it out,' Miss Kellems replied sweetly. Sheiton argued that the 'tax penalty' for singles would practically wipe out the national debt if married people, especially among the wealthy, had to pay on the same basis. He estimated that it would produce $17 billion more a year. 'Miss Kellems and many of the 30 million other taxpayers having a single status feel strongly that under the splitting device their property is being taken without due process of law, that they are being denied equal protection of law,' Shelton argued, citing the Fifth Amendment to the Constitution, as well as the ninth, the fourteenth and the equal rights amendments. The government lawyer, David M. Teites, seemed unimpressed. He offered a brief statement of rebuttal and declined to interrogate the aggressive taxpayer, since she already confirmed the facts of her tax bills. Withey noted that similar cases have tested the same constitutional argument, and the Internal Revenue Code has been upheld as 'a valid exercise of discretion.' 'It's causing millions of young people to think about Jesus and ask some questions about Him,' Graham said Tuesday. 'Although the opera is sensual and is produced by people who don't pretend to believe in Christ, it is calling attention to Jesus and provides a chance for ministers to tell young people just who Jesus was and why He came here.' Graham said. The evangelist was in Memphis in a prayer breakfast to day at a meeting of Holiday Inn franchise holders.

Treatment Center Moves On Road to Normalcy

By DAVID H. RHINELANDER
Middleton (AP) - Ten days after its fire-scared disturbance, the Security Treatment Center (STC) here is still trying to get its treatment program back to normal. Seven of the 50 patients in the new $2.5 million center spent 2 1/2 hours on the rampage Oct. 10-smashing windows, burning mattresses and a piano and tearing out fixtures. Officials said the rampage was inspired by alcohol and drugs smuggled into the facility. All of the men have been shifted into another section of the 150-bed center that was to have remained empty for a month because there is neither staff nor funds now to open the entire center. The biggest casualty, in the eyes of the STC leaders, is the carefully designed treatment program that was built around a step-by-step series of progressive stages of therapy. Immediately after the Oct. 10 incident, security was tightened and visiting hours were suspended. Visitation was permitted again last weekend, but only on a limited basis. The rules for outside visitors were drastically changed, and officials say they will not be relaxed for some time. Potential visitors for newly arrived patients will be screened before they are placed on the visitation list. Packages are being screened and patients in the final phase of treatment who are allowed to leave the center are now searched when they return. These changes, which went into effect the morning after the riot, were announced Tuesday by Gov. Thomas J. Meskill who also said 10 more security guards will be hired and that himself will tour the center on Thursday morning. $60,000 Damage To officials of the center and the mental health department, the riot 10 days ago proved, in a kind of backhanded way, that their basic treatment philosophy was correct. But it also showed, they admit, that there were weaknesses in the program for new patients, in the design of the diamond-shaped complex, in staff training and in patient control. Dr. Abraham M. Zeichner, a department psychologist who is acting director of the center, talked about the planning and mistakes during a three-hour interview and tour of the STC on Monday. 'The center, Zeichner said, must handle the most complex and unmanageable men that either the mental health or corrections department deal with. Most of the patients at the STC are violent and are mentally ill-psychopaths or sociopaths who have demonstrated their lack of control or of social conscience by criminal outbreaks,' said Zeichner. He added that some of the patients are not truly disturbed-but are extremely egotistical and devout men who look for trouble and who have a center is a better place to do

Meskill Tightens Hospital Security

By ROAL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)
Tighter security procedures at the Connecticut Valley Hospital's maximum security building in Middletown were ordered yesterday by Gov. Thomas Meskill. The building was the scene of an uprising by a group of inmates Oct. 10. Meskill said that 10 more security officers will be authorized to be trained by the state's Corrections Department. In addition, new regulations will be in force for visits to the building, used to hold persons who are acquitted of crimes on mental grounds. The labor official noted that the state's austerity program 'has generated a serious employee problem and has affected security at the institutions.' 'We must publicly proclaim,' warned Shingleton in a letter to Meskill, 'that the current austerity program threatens to cut back on the state's mental health care and treatment that patient care and treatment has been curtailed because of the budget cuts and that there has been a sharp decline in the industrial-correctional guards among its training program for inmates.' He urged Meskill to call back the legislature, 'so that it may consider legislation to improve the pay of the employees at correctional institutions, and to create a crash-hiring program.'

Graham Hails 'Superstar' Opera

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP) - Evangelist Billy Graham says the rock opera 'Jesus Christ Superstar' is having one good impact on the nation. 'It's causing millions of young people to think about Jesus and ask some questions about Him,' Graham said Tuesday. 'Although the opera is sensual and is produced by people who don't pretend to believe in Christ, it is calling attention to Jesus and provides a chance for ministers to tell young people just who Jesus was and why He came here.' Graham said. The evangelist was in Memphis in a prayer breakfast to day at a meeting of Holiday Inn franchise holders.

Burning Law To Be Studied For Conflict with State Code

Mayor Frank McCoy has directed Town Attorney Abbot Schwabel to examine the town's burning ordinance in light of a possible conflict with the State Health Code as amended. The issue of the burning of rubbish was brought to the fore a few weeks ago when a local brush and such on a construction site near Vernon Circle, on Rt. 30 but was later informed the burning was in violation of the state's burning ordinance. The matter was turned into a political one before the last session meeting two weeks ago when Democratic candidate for Mayor, Albert Smith issued a press release criticizing Republican Mayor Frank McCoy and his action regarding the fire. The Democrat particularly criticized the mayor's investigation of the fire. At Monday night's council meeting Mayor McCoy told the council he has also directed Schwabel to look into the possibility of the town's ordinance for recovery of damages sustained by the town as the result of posting men and equipment at the fire site. McCoy explained however, that he did not know whether it is a liability. He also said that he had further discussed the matter with the health officer, Dr. Joseph Kristan and that it has been agreed that any burning permits issued will have to be signed by one or both of the fire warden and Dr. Kristan. He also said Dr. Kristan to arrange a meeting with Leslie Kittle, fire warden and Dr. Telford Workman of the State Health Department to go over 'the entire burning situation. Chain of Events In a letter to the town, Mayor William Johnston, Vernon's fire chief, outlined the chain of events leading to the controversial burning of brush. He said that sometime during the summer he was contacted by Riley who expressed the desire to burn piles of brush located on his property near Vernon Circle. He said he told Riley he must contact Kittle to see if a permit could be obtained from him. He continued that about two weeks before the actual burning occurred on Sept. 28, Riley again contacted him and relayed the news that he (Riley) had contacted Kittle and was told that a permit could be issued on a proper burning day. Johnston said he told Riley that it would be necessary for him to furnish a billhook to maintain control of the fire and Riley agreed to do so. He said it was further agreed that the fire department would stand by the area at a precautionary measure. State's Orders On the day the fire was ignited fire equipment was on site and was used to 8:30 p.m. He said about 9 p.m. he went to the office of Director of Administration Richard Borden and was told that the state had ordered the fire be extinguished because of the burning ordinance in light of a possible conflict with the State Health Code as amended. He further explained that the burning of ash would produce large amounts of steam and very heavy deposits of fly ash. He said that the fire department was necessary to lay hose lines across the road off to traffic at a peak time. He further explained that using water on the hot coals and ash would produce large amounts of steam and very heavy deposits of fly ash. State Can Ask, Not Tell Prison To Clean Spill

DANBURY (AP) - The state can only advise the Danbury Correctional Institution how to clean up the oil spill, it can't prosecute federal officials for the spill, Richard Barlow, an official of the state's Natural Resources Commission, said Tuesday. 'They can only act in an advisory capacity in helping the Federal Correctional Institution with cleanup operations,' he said. Under existing statutes, the state cannot prosecute the federal government. They have no jurisdiction in the case. Lake Candiewood today still bears a one-mile long mark of the spill, with the local beach as well as boats moored at a local marina included in the area marked by an oil film. The spill occurred Oct. 7 when prison maintenance men were cleaning an oil tank of a boat. He said he spent last summer studying in Washington and traveling but didn't live in the Harvard dormitory the previous academic year. He said he had started possessions in the dormitory during the summer and had signed a room contract for the current academic year before he left Cambridge. Barlow said that a student does not have to be physically present in Cambridge during the summer to qualify to vote in the state. He said he plans to live in Cambridge over the summer.

McCarthy's Son Denied Vote In Bay State City

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) - The son of onetime presidential candidate and former senator Eugene McCarthy has been denied permission to register to vote in the Nov. 2 municipal election here. Election Commissioner Edward Bump notified Michael E. McCarthy of the decision Tuesday. McCarthy is a junior at Harvard University. He said he was refused Oct. 13 and was granted a hearing on his appeal that night, the last day for registering for the election. McCarthy said he was awaiting a letter from the election commission giving the reasons for the refusal and then plans to contact the American Civil Liberties Union. The refusal, apparently was based on the six-month residency requirement for voters. At the hearing, McCarthy produced a driver's license and selective service registration card, both issued from his home in Washington. He said he had started possessions in the dormitory during the summer and had signed a room contract for the current academic year before he left Cambridge. Barlow said that a student does not have to be physically present in Cambridge during the summer to qualify to vote in the state. He said he plans to live in Cambridge over the summer.

Northeast Utilities Unit Denies Ecological Harm

WATERFORD (AP) - blackouts,' the announcement Northeast Utilities, a group of New England power companies, has filed reports with the Atomic Energy Commission saying that a nuclear power plant operating here and another one under construction are not significantly hurting the environment. And, the group says, to stop fuel costs that 'would have an immediate, direct effect upon the monthly bills of customers. 'Computations made for the Connecticut Light and Power Company indicate that the monthly bill of the average residential customer would increase about 75 cents, the equivalent of almost a 4 1/2 per cent rate increase,' the announcement says. The plants are called Millstone No. 1, which has been in operation for several years, and Millstone No. 2, which the group said should be ready by 1974 to meet New England power needs. The reports, according to the group, say no significant adverse effects on the environment will result from continued operation of unit No. 1 or construction of unit No. 2. The reports also state that 'a major adverse impact on the public interest would be the construction of Millstone Unit No. 1, suspended or curtailed construction of Millstone Unit No. 2 be halted.' The reports also promise that an environmental study to be done by the AEC will include frequent voltage reductions and load curtailments and a significant increase in the risk of air strikes.

Midget Football Women's Group To Hold Dance

The Women's Auxiliary of the Manchester Midget Football Association will sponsor a football dance Nov. 15 at the Manchester State Armory. The dance will begin at 7:30 p.m. with a smorgasbord and there will be dancing from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. to the music of the Sophistates. Mrs. John McNary is the association chairman. Other committee chairmen are Mrs. Norman Bjorkman, tickets; Mrs. Edsel Plavell, refreshments; Mrs. Donald Plavell, refreshments; and Mrs. Carl Mikolow. The dance will be held at the Manchester State Armory.

Boys Scout Troop 98 of the Buckley School recently held a conservation campout at the James J. Goodwin Conservation Center in Hampton.

Under the guidance of Floyd Calloway of the University of Connecticut the boys participated in a tour of the center. They studied fish management, bird habitat, controlled forestry, Christmas tree farming and diseases affecting forest life and lumbering in Connecticut. Mark Hafner, senior patrol leader and Jay Murphy, junior assistant scout master, led a hike on the Goodwin-Nitchaug Trail with the 24 boys participating. During the hike the boys studied ant hills on Black Spruce Pond. Patrol leaders of the group were Jim Posten, Ira Friedman and Richard Lombardo.

Sunday Afternoon Interloper

Not only were there rows of vacant seats during the last two games of the World Series at Baltimore, but on Sunday, at least, many of the fans who were present had their radii along Sunday football team.

It would have made an interesting survey that Sunday afternoon to be able to go into the homes of America and find out how often the baseball game which was ending a fine and dramatic World Series was regarded as something of a regrettable interference with normal Sunday afternoon television pleasure.

Our guess is that many who watched the baseball because they knew it was supposed to be the climax of the year for the great American game did so with at least a slight feeling of resentment for the fact that they were not watching even some mediocre and unimportant performance by their usual football team.

What is the explanation for the possible decline of baseball as America's favorite viewing sport?

It can't be anything superficial, like artificial turf, because the football turf at Miami, where it has dried out and melted down so much it is blue instead of green, and always slippery, is just as ailly as the baseball turf at Pittsburgh, which bounces balls over the infielders.

Nor can it be the way in which baseball keeps increasing the number of teams and its juggling of franchises, because football does the same thing, with even less regard for tradition.

It has to be, this obvious climb of professional football on past major league baseball, based in the relationship between the game itself and the viewer, on the field or by television. And there isn't the slightest doubt that football, the sport of the mass happening, engages the interest of present day America much more conclusively than the linear chain of events happening which is the style of baseball. We apparently prefer a great job of action, which we may then dissect and analyze to some extent, to a sequence of single actions which lead us carefully and logically to their own result.

That is why, last Sunday afternoon, more American television viewers cared that the World Series was finally over than those who care that the linear chain of events which we must watch to win, of all American cities, Pittsburgh was in the most luxurious position. It knew, in advance, it was going to have the Steelers playing Monday night.

Perhaps it was a sunny, mid October afternoon. Perhaps the Russian leader had heard of, and had believed in, the kind of free, democratic world where people and leaders moved in mutual respect and civilized courtesy, without need for armed guard of one another.

Perhaps the Russian leader was sick and hungry, inside, for a momentary escape from the totalitarian atmosphere into which he himself had been born, and in which he had to learn to climb and survive. Perhaps he was tired of feeling himself, for a moment, what it might be like to be a free-born Canadian.

It is in such suppositions that there lies the sharp disappointment of what happened in Ottawa the other afternoon, when supposed civilization and freedom met the supposed barbarian and offered him brutality.

On Parliament Hill

It was to be noticed that it was Premier Kosygin who, as he and his host had a small distance to go on Parliament Hill in Ottawa, suggested that the party abandon its limousine and take to the sidewalks.

Inside Report

Lindsay's Transplant Problems

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

INDIANAPOLIS—The dream long cherished by his ambitious aides at New York City hall of making John V. Lindsay the Democratic nominee for President received only his ninth-ninthment on the mayor's first outburst as a Democrat. Here for a two-day Indiana swing last week at the invitation of the shrewd state party chairman, Gordon St. Angelo, Lindsay drew full houses at southern party rallies in Gary, South Chicago, Ft. Wayne and Evansville. But he failed to exploit the potential of his captive audience. The political insider of a blue-blob Manhattan sociology class trying to educate blue-collar blacks and rural whites about the crisis of the cities fell flat, leaving most of his audience restless and slightly embarrassed.

Indeed, the political tour de force of transforming Lindsay from lifelong Republican to national leader of the Democratic party is not so simple as the bright young men at city hall have imagined. Indiana, for example, is—thanks to St. Angelo's Midwestern state where he is truly welcome. Neither Mayor Richard J. Daley of Chicago nor Gov. John J. Gilligan of Ohio want him around.

But in Indiana, transplanting the Lindsay charisma encountered resistant soil. At Gary, Lindsay seemed taken aback by the raving of a steel mill worker who was supposed to wave up, instead of applying for special funds, for the purchase of major appliances—an impractical plan at best.

On top of these cuts, which are due to take place Nov. 7, Welfare Commissionaries of Henry White has now announced further reductions. The cuts may be needed, he observes, "in order to balance my budget."

The Welfare Commissioners and Gov. Meskill obviously think they are on safe political ground when they move in on the welfare budget. Connecticut's current climate of opinion is strongly economy-minded, with an ugly undertone of resentment, and even vindictiveness against people who live on welfare allotments "without working for a living."

It must be said that the state officials' defense that the recent Supreme Court decision overturning the Residence requirements as a prerequisite to welfare payments has left the state open to major immigrations of potential welfare clients. The best way to discourage people from moving to Connecticut in order to benefit from the state's relatively high welfare standards would seem to be to lower those standards, and to see to it that they cut nationwide publicity.

All the same, it looks like a long, cold winter for the dependent children, the disabled, and those unable to take care of themselves, as the state continues to chip and chip at the welfare standards and at those who must live on them. It doesn't make us any prouder of our state, either, to read that Commissioner White can't do much about the economics in the department itself because, he says, the budget period has already begun.

Connecticut may be hard hit by the recession, but we're not so badly off that we can't care for the helpless and needy among us with some degree of decency. We may be justifiably determined to economize, but there's no call to make those who are weakest the major goals of the economy drive. —MERIDEN RECORD.

"Aware of Problems"
Once again as election time, Nov. 2, draws near, candidates appear seeking our support. Jack Thompson, Democratic candidate for the Board of Directors, is actively seeking the support of all. His concern for the problems of our senior citizens and for the safety of our bicycling youngsters, among others, and his earnest desire to implement solutions is a good reason to give him the opportunity through his election to the Board of Directors.

"More Harm Than Good"
To the Editor, My sympathy to the Rev. Swank for his strong stand opposing the opening of a "Porno" shop in Manchester. However, I believe he did more harm than good by providing this shop with tremendous free advertising. I doubt if one third of the people of Manchester were aware of this shop.

DOWNTOWN MANCHESTER AT 956 MAIN STREET OPEN THURSDAY NIGHTS TILL 9:00

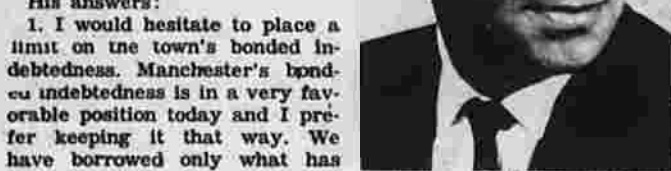

The Questions

- 1. What do you consider an acceptable limit for the town's bonded indebtedness?
2. Should the Downtown Taxing District be eliminated or expanded?
3. What specific suggestions would you make for an improved comprehensive town plan?

The Manchester League of Women Voters and The Herald asked candidates in the forthcoming election to state their views on issues considered important to the future of the town.
As in previous years The Herald is publishing the candidates' answers to the questions.

James F. Farr
Republican

Mayor James F. Farr of 19 Manning St. owns and operates Farr's Sporting Goods. He was elected mayor in January by the Board of Directors after former Mayor Nathan Agostini resigned when he became state comptroller.

His answers:
1. I would hesitate to place a limit on the town's bonded indebtedness. Manchester's bonded indebtedness is in a very favorable position today and I prefer keeping it that way.

Views of Board of Directors Candidates

Donald D. Wells
Republican

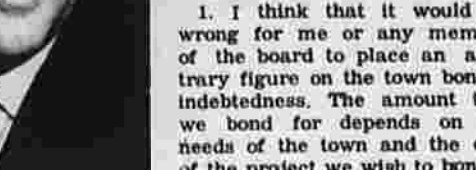

Incumbent Donald D. Wells of 23 Plymouth Lane is a product support engineer at Pratt & Whitney Aircraft in East Hartford. He holds a BS degree in mechanical engineering from the University of Hartford. He is a BS in hotel administration from Pennsylvania State College.

His answers:
1. To arbitrarily set a bond indebtedness limit would be an unwise move in my estimation. As elected officials, we owe it to the taxpayers to keep Manchester as free of debt as possible.

Carl A. Zinsser
Republican

Incumbent Carl Zinsser of 118 Ralph Rd. is a real estate broker with the William E. Bellmore Agency. A Manchester native, he is immediate past president of the Manchester Jaycee, and is a past member of the Manchester Housing Authority.

His answers:
1. I think that it would be wrong for me or any member of the board to place an arbitrary figure on the town bonded indebtedness.

Mrs. Vivian F. Ferguson
Republican

Incumbent Mrs. Vivian Ferguson of 78 Forest St., a food columnist and feature writer for The Herald, has been a town director since January, when she was appointed to fill a vacancy created by a resignation.

Her answers:
1. The town's bonded indebtedness is limited by state statute to prescribed percentages of the Grand List.

William J. Diana
Republican

Deputy Mayor William J. Diana of 114 W. Middle Tpk. is also deputy state comptroller. A Manchester native, he attended local schools and holds a BA degree from the University of Connecticut. He is a JD degree from Boston University School of Law (1964).

His answers:
1. I would hesitate to place a limit on the town's bonded indebtedness. Manchester's bonded indebtedness is in a very favorable position today and I prefer keeping it that way.

Jon L. Norris
Democrat

Incumbent Jon L. Norris of 173 Charter Oak St. is a Manchester native and is co-owner with his father of John L. Jenney Agency. Norris has served for the past year on the Board of Directors.

His answers:
1. As of June 30, 1971, the bonded indebtedness was about $4.9 million of which nearly $3.7 million will be payable from the General Fund.

John J. Tani
Democrat

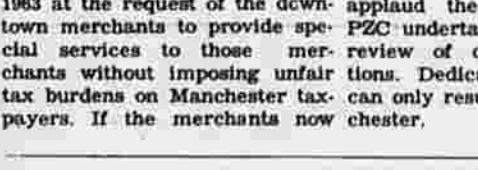

John J. Tani of 60 Teresa Rd. is a sales representative for Procter & Gamble Distributing Co. He holds a BA degree from St. John's College in Rochester, N.Y. He also graduated from USAP Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex. and the Officers Disaster Control School, Lowry AFB, Col.

His answers:
1. As you know, state statute defines the limit of town bonded indebtedness.

Pascal A. Prignano
Democrat

Pascal A. Prignano of 29 Linwood Dr. is an attorney with First Hartford Realty Corp. He is a member of the CDAP Advisory Committee and vice president of the Keeney School PTA.

His answers:
1. What indebtedness the town should assume must depend primarily on the manifest needs of the town and the economics of the times.

Wayne G. Mantz
Republican

208 Timrod Rd., a member of the Board of Directors for some 4 1/2 years, is an administrative assistant to the marketing manager at Astna Life and Casualty in Hartford.

His answers:
1. This town is my home. I don't borrow money haphazardly for my home.

William E. FitzGerald
Democrat

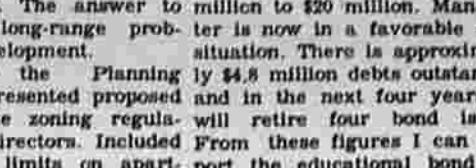

Incumbent William E. FitzGerald of 140 Richmond Rd. is a partner in the law firm of Germain, Kohn, Sprague, & FitzGerald. He received both his bachelor's and law degrees at the University of Connecticut.

His answers:
1. No government should borrow unless necessary. Manchester must borrow for capital investments. The average bonded indebtedness for towns the size of Manchester is $19 million.

Jack Thompson
Democrat

John W. Thompson of 118 Autumn Rd. is director of member services of the Connecticut State Employees Association. He has a BA degree from St. Michaels College (1964) and an MA from the University of Connecticut (1969).

His answers:
1. The town's bonded indebtedness is limited by state statute to prescribed percentages of the Grand List.

Anthony F. Pietrantonio
Democrat

Incumbent Anthony F. Pietrantonio of 228 Parker St. owns Prestige Printing. A member of the Board of Directors since March 1967, Pietrantonio is a graduate of the United States Air Force Academy, a BSME from Michigan Technological University, and a BS in business administration from Pennsylvania State University.

His answers:
1. It should not be eliminated. The present conditions do not appear to me to require expansion of the district of this time.

what they are willing to do themselves; second, any assistance which the town can provide to tomorrow's taxpayers? I liken this to a young couple starting a household: normally the major purchase is the home which must justifiably be mortgaged.

2. The Comprehensive Town Plan is by no means as comprehensive as it should be. We must know where we are going. Initially it is essential to update our present plan. Then we must develop areas not previously adopted in our plan such as a Public Facilities Plan; property locating fire, police, recreation, sewer, water and refuse facilities. Then, many of the ideas from the CDAP program should be considered in the Town Plan. Finally, we need a long-range Capital Improvement Plan. The result there. First we must know what the best way to get there.

2. A request for action concerning the Downtown Taxing District about elimination or expansion should come from the ideas from the CDAP program. Long range planning is needed now to provide the framework for long-range plans.

2. I should not be eliminated. The present conditions do not appear to me to require expansion of the district of this time.

2. It should not be eliminated. The present conditions do not appear to me to require expansion of the district of this time.

2. The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance is a major planning tool. It should be updated and improved to reflect the needs and desires of the people it most directly affects while balancing the general development of the entire town.

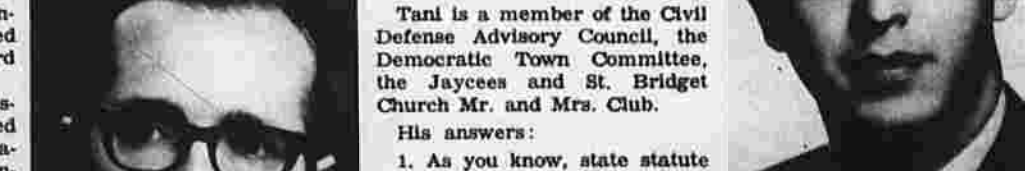

2. The Comprehensive Zoning Ordinance is a major planning tool. It should be updated and improved to reflect the needs and desires of the people it most directly affects while balancing the general development of the entire town.

ten, making some side streets more business in the downtown shopping district. As soon as an emergency action which would require bonding and if it situation will improve.

2. The town's present plan of development was prepared in 1962 and therefore should now be updated. One of the first priorities should be to prepare a new Master Plan for the town to determine the best use of this very question, so before I answer that question I would want to take a closer look at what the benefits would be to expand or eliminate the district.

John J. Tani
Democrat

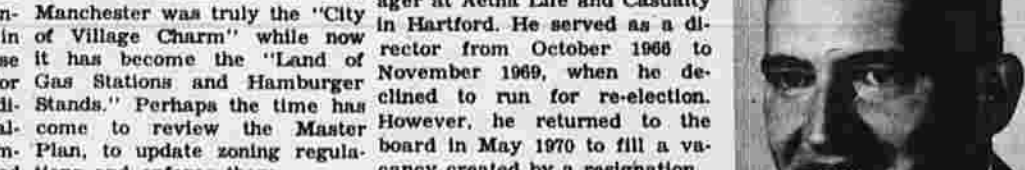

John J. Tani of 60 Teresa Rd. is a sales representative for Procter & Gamble Distributing Co. He holds a BA degree from St. John's College in Rochester, N.Y. He also graduated from USAP Officer Training School, Lackland AFB, Tex. and the Officers Disaster Control School, Lowry AFB, Col.

His answers:
1. As you know, state statute defines the limit of town bonded indebtedness. In my opinion an acceptable limit of indebtedness is one at which we can do the most for the least amount of bonding.

Wayne G. Mantz
Republican

208 Timrod Rd., a member of the Board of Directors for some 4 1/2 years, is an administrative assistant to the marketing manager at Astna Life and Casualty in Hartford.

Covertry Democrats Accept Call To Debate

The Democratic party has agreed to accept the GOP challenge to debate earlier this week for a public debate on issues that face the local voters in the Nov. 2 town election.

Democratic Campaign Chairmen Mark Rosa said last night that he would personally contact the Republican campaign chairman Frank Bission to "set a time and place for the proposed forum."

Rosa said the Democratic campaign effort has been directed toward free and open discussion of issues, therefore, any and every opportunity to make the Democratic candidates "view better known" to the citizens of Covertry is to be encouraged.

Cong Shelling Of U.S. Base In 26th Day

F-105 fighter-bombers supporting the Laotian raids flew their 6,818 "protective reaction" strikes inside North Vietnam late Tuesday. The Thunderchiefs first missiles at an enemy radar site 41 miles north of the demilitarized zone after the battery's radar "locked on" the American planes preparatory to firing, the command said.

The South Vietnamese command reported 25 enemy and four militiamen killed in three other clashes, one nine miles below the demilitarized zone and the other two in the central highlands.

The U.S. Navy announced turnover of a fourth radar station to the South Vietnamese navy. Located at Noi Chap Chai, it is part of a 16-station coastal surveillance network being constructed and modernized for the Vietnamese.

Insurance Firm To Back More Ambulatory Care

HARTFORD (AP) — The insurance industry is backing more ambulatory hospital care, reversing a previous position of providing benefits for in-patients only, an insurance executive told a legislative committee Tuesday.

Daniel W. Pettengill, a vice president of Aetna Life & Casualty, said an effort is under way in Hartford to get business leaders to support the creation of expanded walk-in hospital clinics.

Pettengill told the Public Health and Safety Committee that the clinics could provide minor surgery and medical services without using hospital beds.

He said there have been few successful programs in western states that show many medical and surgical procedures can be done on an ambulatory basis — with the patient walking into the hospital in the morning and walking out that evening.

In response to a critic by another speaker at Tuesday's hearing that most health insurance policies have focused on providing benefits for inpatient care, Pettengill said the insurance industry now is supporting more ambulatory care.

The legislative committee is holding a series of meetings to prepare legislation for the next General Assembly in February.

Dr. Franklin M. Foose, state health commissioner, told the committee that recent statistics aimed at curbing duplication of hospital facilities have not proven strong enough.

He cited two incidents in Bridgeport the opening of a small maternity unit at the Park City Hospital even though the older units in the other two labor force during the survey.

Hartford Church Aide Dies in Midwest Battle

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Terangi O. Speed, a former St. Louisian who recently became assistant director of social services for the Hartford, Conn., Council of Churches, was found shot to death in a paroled car early Tuesday.

Police said Speed, who had a record of arrests as a juvenile, had been shot by a man who was later identified as a member of the Black Panther Party.

Speed was shot on October 15, 1971, in a paroled car in St. Louis. He was found with a bullet wound to the chest. The shooter was not identified.

Next Town Council Session Is Postponed Until Nov. 3

The present Town Council held its last meeting Monday night, canceling the regularly scheduled Nov. 1 meeting since that would fall the night before election day. The council will meet on Nov. 3, the night the new council is to be sworn in.

Several residents appeared before the council last night to compliment this first Town Council Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Arnold Carlson said he thought the council had "done a great deal" for the town.

The council also agreed to receive the report of the steering committee concerning the proposed new bulldozer for the town landfill and refer it to the new Town Council.

Hebron
Perham Answers Comments
On Term as Town Leader

P. John Perham, incumbent Republican selectman seeking reelection as first selectman, has asked Hebron voters to look at the facts before jumping to any conclusions...

Perham did not dispute the statement that a two-year Democratic administration resulted in a 2 1/2 mill tax increase as compared to an 18 1/2 mill increase during the two years he was first selectman.

However, he asked the voters to keep in mind that during these two years of Republican administration, the general government budget alone had to provide for an additional $72,500 in added expenses.

With the establishment of a three-company Fire Department during his administration, the town had to finance approximately $30,000 for the construction of the Company 3 Fire House on Rt. 85 and $18,500 for the purchase of a tank truck.

Perham said, $50,000 was appropriated for equipment for sanitary land fill at the town's disposal area, $2,000 for a used grader and $2,000 for a sander.

Also, it was during these two years that the town entered into the agreement with the Public Health Nursing Agency for health services, an additional expense.

Perham said voters should not forget that it was during his administration that the Gilman Hill School was completed with $50,000 paid on bond anticipation notes as well as the ground work laid for the new addition at Fham High School.

Not only were funds appropriated for the above but it was through efforts on behalf of the Republican administration that the town began setting aside funds each year in the budget for the purchase of additional fire vehicles and for future land acquisition and development of recreational areas, he said.

Also mentioned in the flyer was the fact that under the leadership of the Democratic first selectman many new and improved roads were built largely at private developer expenses.

Perham said that if residents will check the town records during this Democratic administration only one road—Carrage Road—has been accepted by the town and that was by town meeting action last week.

Commissions With respect to the statement regarding revitalization by the Democratic administration of the Recreation and Conservation Commission, Perham pointed out that both these commissions have been established under his administration. Also, Perham said, the Recreation Commission, in particular, has been "revitalized" by its chairman, Republican Second Selectman Robert Dixon.

The Democrats, according to Perham, claim credit for the adoption of the State Building Code before it became effective statewide.

They failed to mention, Perham said, that it was during the Republican administration that a Building Code Study Committee was organized and that they recommended adoption in their final report dated prior to the Democratic administration.

The Democrats also claim credit for having the work begun on the new comprehensive program plan basically according to Perham, residents have been consistently calling for such a plan can be worked up.

Also a Board of Education candidate from each party will be there to speak on the school referendum items and the school budget.

Coffee Hour Mrs. Donald Ray of Amston is the hostess for tomorrow's hour sponsored by the Republican town chairman M. Adler Dikbin and Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings will speak on "Why our party candidates should be elected."

Brandt Wins Nobel Prize For Peace

Concrete results, they asked the political wall of ice that has separated the two German states for 25 years.

Brandt took office as West Germany's first Social Democratic chancellor Oct. 21, 1969. This ended 20 years of Christian Democratic rule. He immediately declared that his aim was to be the leader "not of a defeated Germany, but a liberated Germany."

He had been among the favorites for the prize. It is known that 39 candidates were recommended to the Nobel Commission by members of parliaments around the world, by university professors and other public figures, and by former prize winners.

Among the possibilities mentioned were Brazil's archbishop, Heider Camara, Italian social reformer Danilo Delci and the pacifist canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

Last year's winner was an American agricultural expert, Norman Borlaug, who won worldwide reputation for development of better grain crops.

Supporters of Brandt for the prize also cited his work toward achieving an expansion of the European Common Market, with the entry of Britain and other countries.

His initiatives toward expanding the Common Market started less than two months ago after he took office. In a August meeting of the six market members, West Germany, France, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg, Brandt led the drive for talks on membership for Britain, Ireland, Norway and Denmark.

Brandt's election to the West German chancellorship represented a personal triumph over the social and political handicaps of illegitimate birth, flight from Nazi Germany and return to a war-devastated country in a Norwegian uniform.

He first became prominent as mayor of West Berlin. But his rise to power in West Germany was arduous.

Twice he failed to win election to the chancellorship. He was defeated by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in 1961 and by Ludwig Erhard in 1965.

But the collapse of Erhard's Christian Democrat-led government in 1966 opened the door to Brandt.

The Christian Democrats broke with their junior coalition partners, the Free Democrats, and reconstituted the government in a coalition with the Social Democrats.

It was the first time in West German history that the Social Democrats were in the government. Brandt became vice-chancellor and foreign minister under Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, who had replaced Erhard as chief of the Christian Democrats.

The term in the government ended the way for Brandt's chancellorship. In the 1969 election his party won enough votes to form a government with the Free Democrats.

Brandt was born as Herbert Frahm on Dec. 18, 1913 in the Baltic seaport of Luebeck. Frahm was his mother's maiden name. He never knew his father or his name. He adopted the pacifist canon John Collins of St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

He was introduced to socialism by his grandfather, who adopted the name of Willy Brandt after the Nazis seized power in 1933.

In 1930, when Brandt was 17, he joined the Social Democratic party. A year later, the left wing of the party splintered in the face of the growing Nazi threat and Brandt went along with a militant splinter group, called the Socialist Workers Party.

The party was banned when the Nazis came to power and Brandt fled to Sweden in a Norwegian uniform and returned to Germany in 1945 as a Norwegian citizen to cover the Nuernberg war crimes trials for Scandinavian newspapers.

Andover Problem Involving Culvert Discussed by Selectmen

The Town of Andover and Board of Selectmen are concerned with the responsibility for correcting the condition.

San Giacomo has once again dammed up a culvert property in an attempt to clean out the culvert or the dam. Until a definite line of liability is established, the situation remains the same.

The selectmen at a previous meeting spoke of imposing a property charge for commercial establishments which wish to dispose of tires at the dump.

San Giacomo has always heard last night approved a charge of 25 cents per passenger tire and $1 per truck or tractor tire for those who wish to dispose of a large number of tires.

Writer, Photographer Cited For Performance by APME

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — more than 500 editors from most of the 50 states and some Canadian provinces that news papers today "are more sensitive than ever to what people are talking and thinking about."

The recipients of the $500 prize for reporting and news photography were named at the APME's 53th annual meeting. Hodrick, 57, has been assigned to AP's Tokyo bureau since 1959. He won the award for his stories from the Chinese mainland last year at a p.m. Friday at the old April.

Jensen, 27, is a camera-carrying newspaperman on the Saigon front line. He won his prize for a photograph of a South Vietnamese soldier fleeing the fighting in Laos by hanging on to the undercarriage of a helicopter.

Four AP reporters won honorable mention awards, and three others were honored for photography.

In news stories cited were: Writer Peter Arnett and photographer Horst Faas, formerly assigned to Vietnam, who did a deliver a baby boy to Mrs. Haskel Duffy.

Afterward Wood checked through the unit's files and found that in May 1969 he and his partner had been called to deliver a healthy baby girl to four-day meeting, by telling Mrs. Haskel Duffy.

British Leader Claims Job Slump is Ending

By ARTHUR L. GAVINSON
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — British unemployment looks as if it will top the one million mark by Christmas but Prime Minister Edward Heath claims the country's worst slump since the 1920s is ending.

Despite a plague of ever-rising prices, the Conservative government says it is bracing for big-scale expansion to coincide with entry into the European Common Market in 1973.

"We stand now on the threshold of a period of growth and prosperity unparalleled since the war," Heath told a convention of his party last week. "We have the chance to beat the world at their own game—high production, low prices and high wages."

Already, he said, the state annual production has risen by 1.2 percent. The million unemployed are being absorbed by the legions of the labor market. He said that the government is determined to create 200,000 new jobs in the next 12 months.

Yet danger signals keep flashing. A state survey Oct. 11 showed a sharp decline in industrial investment this year. Robert Carr, who handles industry matters for Heath, hit back against pessimism by saying that the government has a plan to invest $2.2 billion in new plants and buildings.

Ernest Barrett, head of the Engineering Industries Association, said that the industry is "not as healthy as it looks." He said that the industry is "not as healthy as it looks."

and sciences, technologists, executives, school-leavers, salesmen, design and development men, and so on.

As in the United States, where the rate of unemployment has hovered around 6 percent, unemployment is not evenly spread across the country. In Britain as a whole seven people are competing for every available job, and in the West Midlands, once a well-off region, nine are searching for every job. In the north-eastern region it is 15 in Scotland 21.

Even if the government manages to bring down unemployment it still will face the problem of retraining depressed areas.

Britons since World War II have been committed to the concept of full employment.

Few families escaped the hardship of the depression in the 1930s. The two generations that have since grown up know only full employment, but they know about the 1930s. An attitude of fear has conditioned the country's labor unions into a posture of protectionism.

The state is paying out $20 million weekly in coverage for 80,000 workers. In the United States, with about four times Britain's population, the cost is roughly $47 million a week.

The British program covers everyone who has contributed to his employer—to social security schemes and who registers with the labor exchanges after losing his job. A flat weekly rate is payable to anyone who has contributed to the system. Supplements are available for family, and in regions of high unemployment, and in regions of high unemployment, and in regions of high unemployment.

MacDonald was elected chairman and Wilson Skeet, vice chairman.

Sewer Link Stressed In Water Co. Talk

By GLENN GAMBER
(Herald Reporter)

The proposed purchase of the Manchester Water Co. by the town, scheduled for a referendum vote Nov. 2, is contingent on the Eighth Utilities District agreeing to consolidate its sewer facilities with the town. That point alone all others was made abundantly clear at a meeting last night between town officials and the Eighth District Fire Department.

Patrick Donlon, district director, said that should the referendum vote pass, "if we (Eighth District directors) get enough politicians to come to us we will consider it a referendum within the district on consolidation of sewer services." It's not going to be automatic that we're going to have a referendum," he said.

Even if both a townwide referendum and a district referendum were to pass, "The district under no circumstances would give up its holdings at the treatment plant."

Donlon said the district has plans for the land no matter what happens, and charged that the town's population will be the town never even asked about acquiring the land in preparing the referendum question.

Firemen in general were suspicious of the proposal. Referring to the lower mill bill for water and sewer which town officials say would result in both ends of town after consolidation, "Who's to say water and sewer rates won't be raised the next year? (after the referendum passes)?"

Town Manager Robert Wetes said he would not be "foolish" enough to say that the rates would not go up, but noted that last year's town water and sewer rate increase was the first since 1955.

He said, "you can be assured" the water company will get approval from the Public Utilities Commission for a "substantial" rate increase if the town does not purchase the utility.

District Fire Chief Granville (Ted) Lingard noted that if the water company goes to the PUC for a rate increase, north and residents would have recourse to the PUC.

Town director William Fitzgerald noted that if the town

Design of State's Lottery To Be Like New Jersey's

Connecticut's lottery is expected to follow the pattern of New Jersey's, with low-priced tickets and frequent drawings, Joseph B. Burns, executive director of the state police department's top experts in gambling has been assigned to the secretary of the state gaming commission, indicated yesterday.

Burns said that the lottery will be peddled "as universally as possible," in places such as grocery stores, liquor stores and barber shops.

Both Burns and commission chairman Paul Silverfield emphasized the fact that lottery tickets will have to be sold in existing outlets, because the law which created the lottery specifies that "no license shall be issued to any person to engage exclusively as a lottery sales agent."

Burns said that, "because Connecticut is starting from scratch, without even a letterhead printed on an office girl hired," it will be 90 to 120 days before a state lottery will be fact.

The General Assembly and Gov. Thomas Meskill have estimated the state will receive $2.5 million in revenue from lottery profits in this fiscal year.

Burns and the nine gaming commission members are going to Woodbury, N.J., tomorrow to observe a drawing of the New Jersey lottery. While there, they will confer with officials of the New Jersey lottery system.

Burns, a former president of the Fuller Brush Co., will receive $3,000 annually as executive secretary. He said yesterday he will terminate his contract as consultant with Fuller Brush at the end of this year.

Under the contract, he has been receiving about $60,000 a year since 1969.

The gaming commission decided yesterday that it will retain a consultant to help Burns set up the lottery. About a dozen consulting firms, including Newsham and Mrs. John Meeker of the First Congregational District, which in the one they set up, New Jersey lottery system, already chosen.

owned the water company, north end residents would have recourse to the town Board of Directors. "Maybe that's what we're afraid of," Lingard said.

Both Fitzgerald and director Donald Wells stressed the bipartisan support the issue has received.

Wells stressed that the bond for the purchase of the private utility would be "self retiring" from north end water and sewer revenue.

Fitzgerald emphasized that the referendum did not represent "an effort to change or alter the fire company."

Fitzgerald said one of his major reasons for supporting the acquisition is the 280 acres open space which would come along with the purchase. He also said he looked to the year 1990 when the town's population will be 40,000, according to predictions.

He contended that two sewer systems in a town that size would produce a "myriad of problems." "You can't run a city of 40,000 or 50,000 the way you run a town of 20,000," he said.

He said he did not think the water company will be available again for the town to buy. He said there is a strong possibility the open spaces will be sold to developers.

Donlon spoke against the open space argument saying that the CDAP inventory of town-owned open space showed the town has 2,300 acres of such land.

Wells told Donlon that a recent study by the Capitol Region Planning Agency recommended that the town increase its open space by one third.

District director Joseph Laitant said, "It seems very inappropriate to me that that 280 acres, 100 acres are out of town." A water company representative in Vernon.

William O'Neill observed that the Eighth District sewer treatment plant "functionally has no purpose now" since the new town treatment plant opened at the south end.

Donlon charged that town water rates are too low and that is one of the reasons that the town is "It makes sense for the town to have one water system," water company on its own with O'Neill maintained that there is no primary issue, "You can't carve one out," he said. He stressed that the bond would be self retiring and noted that none of the alternate water supplies which the town might purchase could be financed this way.

Wells said of the proposed utility consolidation, "I feel that there are far more advantages to the residents of the north end than the residents of the south end."

Donlon charged that town water rates are too low and that is one of the reasons that the town is "It makes sense for the town to have one water system," water company on its own with O'Neill maintained that there

California-Japan Trade Ties Are Expected to Improve

By MIKE SILVERMAN SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — California's balance of trade with Japan will improve as a result of international economic changes sparked by President Nixon's 10 per cent import surcharge, some bankers here say. Nixon is taking a long-term view. If he can get Japan to agree to the liberalization of trade, then California stands to gain. Bank of America Vice President R. E. Ogte says it is important Japan remove tariffs and quota restrictions on California agricultural products, especially the more sophisticated goods like almonds, olives and raisins which their per capita income enables them to add to their diet. Buma says that although the West Coast stock strike made it impossible to gauge the surcharge's impact, Japanese imports would continue to increase regardless of the 10 per cent tax. "We have to recognize that most Japanese goods are still going to be cheaper, because of the greater efficiency of their industrial plant and the lower cost of labor." Ogte said there is a "psychological edge" which guarantees continued demand for Japanese goods here despite higher prices. "They have established a basis of quality which makes their products desirable," he of the department, said he is "quite optimistic" the trade deficit will begin to decrease in 1972. "The yen has already floated up about 10 per cent," he says. "We hope to see a re-valuation of something like 15 per cent."

Author Working On Novel for TV

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Novelist Kurt Vonnegut, the 48-year-old American author of the best-selling "Slaughterhouse Five," says he is working on a 90-minute motion picture. Vonnegut, who appeared at a weekend book fair here, said the film is about Sissy Stevens, the first private and poet to be fired into space. It will be shown two days before the next Apollo moon mission in March, the author added. "We have to recognize that most Japanese goods are still going to be cheaper, because of the greater efficiency of their industrial plant and the lower cost of labor." Ogte said there is a "psychological edge" which guarantees continued demand for Japanese goods here despite higher prices. "They have established a basis of quality which makes their products desirable," he of the department, said he is "quite optimistic" the trade deficit will begin to decrease in 1972. Hippos, Rhinos, Ostriches Attract California Crowds

By BOB THOMAS LAGUNA HILLS, Calif. (AP) — A pair of rhinos waltz their horns together, then saunter in front of your car. An ostrich pokes its beak against your windshield. A hippo gives you a tender nudge and heads for the water. These are the unprogrammed happenings that can be experienced at Lion Country Safari, a new and prosperous addition to the industry aimed at the leisure dollar. Walt Disney started it 15 miles away at Disneyland. There the beasts are made of plastic and respond to electronic cues. But Harry Shuster is attracting tourists to his transplanted wild with real, live animals that actually roar, howl, bite and occasionally harm the saint on automobiles that pass through their lairs. Lion Country Safari is the latest of the attractions—Disneyland, Knott's Berry Farm, movie land Wax Museum, etc.—that have made Orange County the most cleverly manufactured tourist mecca in the United States. The safari is the brainchild of Shuster, 36, Laguna-born, raised in South Africa, a lawyer with a perception for what will attract the public. His inspiration: "I knew the wild life game preserves in Africa, and I realized how many tourists were coming to them, just to look at the animals. I then realized

Bolton Manchester Man Appointed To Building Inspector Post

The Board of Selectmen last night appointed Calvin Hutchinson as building inspector. Hutchinson was the top score among nine applicants who were tested by an independent board of assessors and building inspectors from the Hartford area.

Hutchinson, who is employed as a building contractor, will assume his duties on a part-time basis until his current building commitments have been completed.

Temporary office hours will be from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on Wednesday. His annual salary of $6,000 for a 40-hour week will be prorated on an hourly basis until he takes over permanently.

Also to be included on the agenda at the next town meeting is a request for funds for preliminary plans for the addition of a cafeteria-auditorium at the high school.

The selection also discussed a part town meeting action at which Tumblebrook Rd. was officially accepted by the town. It has been pointed out to the selectmen that the street which was accepted as Tumblebrook Rd. should have been Tumblebrook Dr. as per the plan.

Questions to be answered by the assignment was or how members of the school board at long he would be in the area.

Candidates To Speak At Board Meeting

Candidates for the Board of Directors will speak and answer questions tonight at 8 p.m. in Robertson School at the annual League of Women Voters "Meet the Candidates Night."

Each candidate will give a brief remark, then questions from the public will be entertained.

Robert Fuller, board chairman of Lyball, Inc., will moderate.

Bolton residents are urged to attend the meeting to learn more about the quality of Bolton education and to discuss firsthand problems and programs faced by Bolton's administrators and board members.

Monday and Friday — no school; Tuesday, sausage party, whipped potatoes, corn, rice pudding; Wednesday — school; Thursday, movie; Friday, pizza with meat and cheese; Saturday — "Superstar".

The rock opera, Jesus Christ Superstar, will be the featured attraction of the school festival.

Public is welcome to come to listen to the recording and discuss the production which has been widely acclaimed since its release earlier this year.

Nutritious-expensive, not the same

Many people feel that they can't worry about nutrition or about buying nutritious foods — because "nutrition" is too expensive — I can't afford it."

All of us have the problem sometimes of more money than money at the end of the month. Here are a few ideas that may help to show that good nutrition and expensive are not the same.

As that in porterhouse steak; pork shoulder roast protein less expensive than center cut pork chops.

Check Grand Union's private label canned products, especially fruits and vegetables. Our quality is as good as or better than national brands, but much less expensive.

The price of food is affected by its supply, style, form, brand, the size of the unit. But nutritional quality is not a matter of price.

If you have any comments or questions, please feel free to write to me.

Jan J. Judge Director of Consumer Affairs The Grand Union Company

You can buy the "key nutrients" essential to good health in our stores in a variety of forms at a variety of prices — the choices are yours.

For example, the protein in chicken is less expensive but just as good

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Fresh Salesman

Shopping for a studio couch, Myrtle followed the friendly salesman to an obscure nook at the back of the furniture store. Suddenly, while they were talking about fabrics, the salesman seized her in a violent embrace.

Myrtle was so outraged that she not only had the man fired but also sued the owner of the store for damages.

"This was a clear case of assault and battery," she charged in court. "And every employer is responsible for the acts of his employees."

But the court disagreed and rejected her claim. The judge said the owner was not responsible for an act that was so completely separate from the job of selling furniture.

This is a general rule of law, that an employer is not liable for an employee's personal misconduct outside the scope of his job.

Thus, the owner of a bar was held not liable when a mischievous waiter gave a customer a painful hoof.

It is a different story, however, when the employee's duties do include a certain amount of physical contact with the public. Take this case:

At a movie matinee, a noisy teen-ager was ejected from the theater by an irate usher. In doing so, the usher used considerably more roughness than was necessary.

This time, when the teen-ager sued the management for damages, the court pointed out that policing the customers was part of the job of ushering. Even though the usher overdid it, the court said that the theater, as his employer, would have to pay damages.

Furthermore, certain employers may be held liable because of an extra duty they owe the public. For example, a railroad had to pay damages after an amorous conductor forced several kisses on a reluctant woman passenger.

To be sure, kissing passengers was not within the scope of a conductor's job. But the court said that the railroad, as a public carrier, owed an extra duty to protect its passengers from harm—a duty which in this case it had clearly not performed.

Traffic Signal Is Devised For Blind

VIENNA (AP) — Sometime next year, an audible signal mounted on traffic lights at a busy Vienna intersection will mean "Go" for blind pedestrians.

The device is especially to help those who live at the Institute for the Blind near the crossing at Wittenbach and Bocklin Streets. Franz Friele, a spokesman for the Society of the Blind, says the signals will be a "great advantage."

The crossing near the institute is the only one for the line being where such signals are planned in Vienna. Posters calling attention to blind pedestrians are scheduled to be put up near homes for the blind.

Eventually, there may be additional audible traffic signals, if the ones near the institute work out well.

Walter Kalab, an engineer in the traffic department, said no decision has been reached whether to use horns, bells or gongs.

"When the light turns to green, there would be an audible signal for about 30 seconds or a minute—we have not yet decided for how long, which would mean 'Go' for the blind," Kalab explained.

"There would probably not be another signal for stop, since the end of the go signal would in fact mean that."

The crossing speed for a blind person is estimated at 3 to 7 meters per second, and the duration of the signal will take this into account. A meter is 39 inches.

52 Crocodile Eggs COLOMBO, Ceylon (AP) — A clutch of 52 crocodile eggs, believed to be the largest found in Ceylon, has been reported by the Game Ranger of Ruhunu National Park, the sprawling wild life reserve in the south of the island.

The nest was a 2 1/2-foot high mound of logs, dry leaves and grass.

The crocodile is not generally hunted in Ceylon, despite the value of its skin, but authorities here believe it is not multiplying as fast as it might.

Mother of Five Urges Women to Push for GOP

By ANN BLACKMAN ARMSTRONG, (The AP) — When the 1972 presidential election is history, Anne Armstrong plans to settle back into the Texas cattle country she left at most a year ago. But for now, as co-chairman of the Republican National Committee, Mrs. Armstrong spends much of her time on the road urging federations of Republican women to go out into their communities and sell the GOP as the party of peace and prosperity. The days for this 43-year-old mother of five often start at daybreak and stretch past midnight. She's learned how to live out of a suitcase and tolerate hotel dysfunction that she shrinks her clothes. Most of her purpose: To help recruit women to the GOP. Mrs. Armstrong expects more young women to line up with the GOP. She's for women who are themselves independents, she said. "This is a temporary way to show commitment with what's happening in the country."

Pots, Pans Held Ideal For Toys

CHICAGO (AP) — A Harvard University pediatrician says many educational toys may have harmful effects on children. He suggests they would be better off playing with pots and pans. The pediatrician, Dr. Richard I. Feinblom, says he has found no evidence to suggest that toys manufactured by companies that promote to stimulate learning will do so. "Toys that teach" may, in fact, have harmful effects, Feinblom reported Sunday in a presentation to the annual meeting of the American Academy of Pediatrics. In discussing educational toys and so-called crib environments "alleged to offer unique benefits" which accelerate the development of learning ability in infants and young children, Feinblom warned of a growing trend called "programmed cognitive stimulation." He showed slides of hexagonal-shaped cribs equipped with a variety of objects reported to stimulate infants and noted that "presumed parents may have time to play with their offspring and welcome these substitutes. "Turning the set over to the television set has paved the way," he said. Referring to the harm that might result, Feinblom said the new crib systems are almost an invitation to parents to turn infants over to a machine wired for sound and light and free themselves for "more important things than interacting with children."

Nixon Ready To Announce Court Choices

WASHINGTON (AP) - President Nixon has made his selection of nominees to fill two Supreme Court vacancies and will announce them to the nation in a live television-radio address at 7:30 p.m. EDT tonight.

The White House announced Nixon's plans within hours after the Washington Post published its story saying the Republican Bar Association's committee on the federal judiciary had withheld its endorsement from two potential nominees who were regarded as frontrunners for the positions.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler, when asked about the verdict of the ABA committee, said that the Senate has responsibility to give its advice and consent to nominations for the high court. He added: "The Constitution does not require the consent of the ABA... they of course do not have veto power."

They are Mildred L. Lillie, a justice of the California Court of Appeals, and Herschel H. Friday, an Arkansas bond lawyer who has been active in school desegregation cases.

Ziegler said Nixon decided this morning to make a TV-radio appearance but said he may have delayed in his own mind on his choice Wednesday night.

Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., the second ranking Democrat on the Senate Judiciary Committee, said the two nominees had been chosen Friday.

SAIGON (AP) - Five American were killed in combat in Vietnam last week, the lowest weekly death toll in more than six years, the U.S. command announced today.

The death toll, three less than the week before, reflected the low level of fighting involving American troops as well as the continuing withdrawal of U.S. forces from Vietnam.

The death toll was the lowest since the first week in August 1965, when three Americans were killed in action. However, the total of American wounded increased last week to 84, the command said.

A total of 11,000 American troops would have been drawn from the area during the first proposed woman justice in United States history.

The rejection of Friday, the top municipal bond attorney in Arkansas and a sometime bondsmen acquaintance of Mitchell's, was the more remarkable of the two.

Crowd Jams Welfare Hearing; Judge Denies Injunction Report

WATERBURY (AP) - The archbishop's having claimed executive privilege, wasn't there, so protesters of Wednesday night in welfare allotments vilified him in absentia.

State Welfare Commissioner Henry C. White boycotted the legislative hearing in Waterbury Wednesday night claiming that the legislature's Committee on Corrections, Welfare and Human Institutions had no authority to subpoena him.

Had he made an appearance, White would have found only two of the more than 300 speakers supporting his plan to cut welfare allotments by 18 percent and grant on Nov. 1 when a new flat rate system goes into effect.

Protesters of the cutbacks also had their first day in federal court Wednesday, and U.S. District Court Judge M. Joseph Blumenthal promised speedy action.

Blumenthal was asked to issue a court order barring the scheduled cuts in a suit filed by Ruth Johnson and other New Haven welfare recipients. Legal assistance for the recipients is being provided by the New Haven Legal Assistance Association.

"I don't think we can take much time on this," said Blumenthal. "Here it is Oct. 20 and these are scheduled for Nov. 1."

Judge Blumenthal denied requests quoting him as saying he was likely to issue a temporary injunction barring the benefit cuts. "I did not say I'm likely to issue an injunction," he said.

The suit charges that the cuts are illegal and unconstitutional. Assistant Atty. Gen. Francis J. MacGregor responded that the Welfare Department complied with all federal laws in making the changes.

Blumenthal gave the attorneys one week to the briefs. At the legislative hearing, an unruly but nonviolent crowd of about 300 persons were jammed into the hot aluminum chambers that was designed for a capacity of 150.

The crowd, which included protesters who have been demonstrating on the Capitol grounds in Hartford, frequently interrupted speakers with chanting and shouts of approval.

Wanda Petroleum, a subsidiary of Ashland Oil Co., Ashland, Ky., said it had raised its prices thinking that it was in compliance with the government's previous guidelines on seasonal price increases.

Weber said the company would be looking into records of its past price increases and he added, "The general feeling is that our prices are not in a constant pattern" that must show up if prices are to be considered seasonal.

Wanda raised its propane gas prices by one cent per gallon, effective Oct. 1. The company president wrote customers Wednesday, saying they will receive credit for any amount they paid at the higher price.

White House Nearly Ready On Pay Panel

WASHINGTON (AP) - The White House said today that it is nearly ready to announce the members of the Pay and Pensions to regulate the Phase 2 post-freeze economy. "Very likely tomorrow."

This word came from press secretary Ronald Ziegler, who said the White House is still in the process of finalizing the list.

The action by Wanda Petroleum Co., Houston, could triple the price of a $100-million general price rollback on propane gas by as much as 100 percent, according to government officials said.

The Internal Revenue Service is looking into records of its past price increases and he added, "The general feeling is that our prices are not in a constant pattern" that must show up if prices are to be considered seasonal.

Only Rodents Guard Lawn At Capitol

HARTFORD (AP) - It is safe to say that the welfare demonstrators who camped in the Capitol lawn with impunity for several nights could not have even begun to pitch their tents at Hammann Hall, State Park without being arrested or driven off.

At Hammann Hall, where a tent city is being set up, protesters who have been demonstrating on the Capitol grounds in Hartford, frequently interrupted speakers with chanting and shouts of approval.

"It is our constitutional right and regulations—pretty strict to support these people," one. At the Capitol, how-shouted one speaker who identified himself as...
