The Worst Of Timing

Statistics from the field of higher education find many of the nation's private smaller colleges now in danger for their very existence.

In what seems a mere twinkling after the days when finding room for the nation's college-going youth seemed to be a major national problem, we now have a situation in which hundreds of smaller colleges are looking vainly for students enough to keep themselves going, while, at the same time, there has also been some decline in the great pressure for admission to more prestigious colleges and universities.

This all seems to be the direct result of the squeeze which has been placed on the normal American family budget by the current recession. It is still a relatively mild recession, as the statistics go, but it has, nonetheless, produced a condition in which fewer American families feel able to afford college education for their children and a condition in which fewer young people who are willing to try it on their own are able to find jobs which will help them pay their way through.

When we can see, in the statistics, the effect on the ability to go to college which is produced by this national squeeze on income, statistics which say as many thousands of our young people have been forced to give up ideas of higher education, then we begin to regret, more than ever, the action taken by the Legislature and Governor Meskill in adding new tuition charges to the cost of attending the University of Connecticut.

The Age Of Triangles

The longest debate in the United States history has ended with a victory for common sense. China's admission was historically inevitable, and it could have been a matter of time before a nation of 100,000,000 was accepted. If in the end the party in Peking's favour was bigger than expected, the Americans are themselves partly responsible. They fought hard in the last stages to retain Taiwan but it was Mr. Nixon's overtures to Peking, symbolized appropriately by Dr. Kissinger's presence there while the UN was voting, that had pulled the rug from under Chiang Kai-shek's feet.

In principle the expulsion of Taiwan is not an unneeded blessing. No United Nations member has been expelled before. The people of Taiwan have as much right to be part of a world forum as any other nation. But the Nationalist Government chose not to present the issue in those terms. Instead it continued with the delusion that it still could speak for the mainland as well. Had it given up this fiction, it might have survived longer. Its stubbornness now may only give more impetus to the movement, among the 80 per cent of the population who are native Taiwanese for self-determination within Taiwan.

The seating of Mao's China certainly makes the United Nations more representative. But on the other hand it also creates more opportunities for disruption and the veto. But the United Nations has always worked on the basis that conflicts exist in the world outside, and are reflected at the UN, and not vice versa. If conflict exists it is better that it be discussed, ventilated, and possibly defused at the UN rather than explode beyond its walls.

The dismal truth too is that the kind of peace initiatives which the UN has taken in the past are no longer so readily forthcoming. It is possible to suggest a harvest each year. Therefore we use a veto where the Russians and Americans agree, say over India and Pakistan, but the past few years—without China—have not produced any great United Nations contribution there. Increasingly the issue which is taking time at the United Nations is Southern Africa. On this the Chinese can be expected to take the Russian side, and it is the West which is using the veto and making the UN ineffective. The real reason of China's seating is that the United Nations has formally recognized that the age of bipolarity in super-power diplomacy is over. We now live in an age of triangles. — M.A.N. CHESTER (ENGLAND) GUARDIAN.

What Judge Bennett has done is to order the City of New Haven, as owner and operator of Tweed-New Haven Airport, and one airline, which operates jets there, to pay $18,400 in damages to seven property owners in return for a permanent easement from them for airport flight.

Each of the individual property owners, in a case, the city of New Haven and the airline, has called an "expert" witness who testified that noise, soot, vibration and smell had not damaged those living or conducting business under the approaches and take-offs.

"This conclusion," said the Judge in his opinion, "defies common sense, and I decline to accept it. I have no doubt that plaintiffs have been damaged."

The formula by which the amount of damage was calculated took into account the flight altitudes, up to 600 feet, the distance of properties from a center-line extension of the runway, up to 2,000 feet, and the distance from the end of the runway, up to 25,000 feet, these statistics being fed into a weighted processing formula which came out with the key to the damage done each particular piece of property.

Many of us can take it in our imaginations from there, until we calculate some damage from every near sonic boom, hold city and state responsible for the blast and rumble and fumes of diesel at so many places, and, in grand summary, get something from everybody for the annoyance that was brought into our erstwhile peaceful living by the invention of the fuel-fueled motor.

The highly experimental car General Motors was being built, in the effort to discover usable safety measures for regular cars some day, has now been being reported with a few test crashes.

It has been loaded with dummy passengers and crashed into a solid barrier at 50 m.p.h., which adds up to a 100 m.p.h. crash.

So far, the tests have failed, because all the dummies have been killed.

But there is a glimmer of hope. "Some of the dummies have only been 'slightly killed.'"

What happens to dummies is not necessarily good news for human beings. For, strangely enough, it has been determined that some human beings live through crashes that would result in death for the dummies, and that, conversely, some dummies can live through impacts that would be certain for human beings.

Before this confusion completely stalls the quest for safety we have one suggestion to make.

Why not set it up that only dummies should be allowed to be passengers in 100 m.p.h. crashes?

"Difficult To Believe" To the Editor, I find it difficult to believe that the Manchester voter who helped defeat the school bond issues on Nov. 2, 1971 can have a feeling of reward or anticipation.

Surely a number of these voters have children who will be directly affected by this defeat in the real world of education.

Group Hits U.S. Policy On Mideast

BOSTON (AP) — The current United States diplomatic effort to solve the Israeli-Arab conflict "is destined to hand a gratuitous victory to the Soviet Union," the New England Leadership Conference on the Middle East says.

The group, which said it represents 500 Jewish and Christian community leaders, said in a policy statement adopted at a Sunday meeting at Temple Mishkan Tefila that the U.S. Department "has rejected free negotiations impossible by publicly attempting to pressure Israel into dangerous unilateral concessions."

Dr. Arnold M. Soloway, former economist at Harvard and chairman of the conference, said the group is submitting a resolution to the State Department to adopt a "hands off policy" in the Middle East.

Soloway said the U.S. is following counterproductive policies in the Middle East which are inimical to United States national interests and which constitute a breach of the commitments of several U.S. presidents.

In its policy statement, the conference said "the famous U.N. Security Council resolution of November, 1947, was drafted in such a manner as to leave to Israel and her neighbors to negotiate a settlement of the Middle Eastern borders in a final peace agreement."

"Moreover, Presidents Johnson and Nixon have promised to reject any attempt by the great powers to impose a settlement on the parties in the Middle East or to divide the territories outlined in such a settlement," the statement said.

"However," it went on, "the U.S. State Department has been gradually reneging on these undertakings; it has attempted to force Israel to go back to the fragile pre-war armistice lines; it has imposed an embargo on vitally needed arms for Israel; it has refused to consider the legitimate claims of the constant stream of Soviet military equipment and the arrival of Soviet troops in Egypt."

The statement added that it has attempted "to pressure Israel into accepting some of (Egyptian) President Sadat's extravagant demands, such as a crossing of the Suez Canal by Egyptian troops in the wake of the withdrawing Israeli which would vitiate the very purpose of withdrawal—namely the disengagement of the opposing armies."

Takes PR Post

Mrs. Jean C. Burnett of 15 Lexington Dr. has been appointed by the Connecticut Public Relations Association to handle public relations and fund-raising activities.

Mrs. Burnett will be the central source of information for the association and will also seek new areas of financial support for the agency's rapidly expanding programs.

"Although we are a private agency," Director A. Ray Fenty said, "our work of rehabilitation is a prime public concern."

If we are to get the support we need to carry on that work, we people in Connecticut must be better acquainted with what we do and how it affects their lives."

Mrs. Burnett was formerly public relations director for the Wadsworth Atheneum in Hartford, and prior to that was publicist for the Connecticut Commission on Human Rights and Opportunities. She is a graduate of Barnard College, and is married to Verne K. Burnett, a mathematician teacher at Manchester High School.

Cathy Bronovits has been named vice president of the County Fair board of directors, with Heidi Miller named secretary and Sharon Fales chosen to fill a vacancy on the board.

Debbie Brinton, Priscilla Hutt and Bruce Hutt went to the Eastern States Exposition with their sheep, with Miss Hutt winning the intermediate fitting and showmanship class.

Debbie Brinton, Priscilla Hutt and Bruce Hutt were at the Eastern States, Debbie Brinton took third place in the judging contest.

At the county fair, Priscilla Hutt won Reserve Champion sheep fitting and showmanship and competed in the premier showman contest.

Miss Brinton's ewe won the champion grade ewe class.

Town Hall Exhibits

The exhibit on the Historical Society's shelves in the Town Hall this month has been provided by the 4-H and is in two sections, one centering around a prize cup and a couple of Blue Ribbons awarded to the Coventry 4-H at this year's Coventry 4-H Fair and the Tolland County Fair.

The other half of the exhibit is filled with the exhibit shown by the Kraty Ago's at both the Coventry and Tolland Fairs. This consists of a step-by-step explanation of how to make a miniature barrel, using orange juice cans and clothes pins. The description is illustrated with samples of the materials to be used and with examples of the progress of the little barrel, ending with examples of finished articles used in different ways.

Leader of the Kraty Ago's is Mrs. Charles Carl.

Fiscal Year Surplus Forecast by Meskill

By SOL B. COHEN

Gov. Thomas Meskill thinks the state will finish in the black at the end of the current fiscal year and that there might even be a surplus. However, he warns against overconfidence.

Appearing last night on WTTV's "Face the State," Meskill cautioned, "Don't put on the rose-colored glasses, but don't look at it (the economy) with doom or gloom either. The economy may turn up and help us."

The governor was applying to a question concerning revenue for the current fiscal year, "Was it understood?"

Meskill said he will have to talk for increased taxes for 1972 when he submits his proposed budget in February, "I will probably ask for a hike in the sales tax and an increase in certain exemptions," he said.

The increase, he explained is needed to pay at least half of the $24 million deficit still hanging over from the 1967-68 year.

"If we don't collect it — and I have my doubts — we might have to go back to $200. On the other hand, if the picture gets better, we might go to $205 again, or $210. It's not automatic."

The ADM payments are for four-month intervals. The difference between collecting capital gains taxes at 100 per cent and at 50 per cent amounts to about $12 million a year. Meskill said he expects the revenue to be about $100 million more than he expects the state to need.

"I don't know how the legislature will react," he said.

The governor was asked, "Now that you have been in office 10 months, what do you consider the high spot and the low spot of those 10 months?"

"The high spot," he answered with a smile, "has to be inauguration day."

After a short pause, he continued, "The low spot was the battle over the budget — the wrangling and the bad feelings."

He acknowledged that the biggest political mistake he has made as governor was in letting the income tax bill lay on his desk for five days, and then becoming law without his signature.

"On the other hand," he said, "if I had retored it, I would have been accused of being irresponsible."

He admitted, "I didn't set out to be controversial. I set out to reverse trends we thought were wrong. When you do that — you become controversial."

Less controversial

"I too would like to be liked," he said. "I too would like to spend money, but it isn't there to spend." He said he hopes to be less controversial in the future.

He defended the switch to the flat grant system of welfare payments and the proposed 15 per cent cut in benefits to families with dependent children.

"Public reaction has been overwhelmingly favorable to what we're trying to do," he said. "In fact, it's almost an over-reaction. Many want us to go further."

"We don't want welfare to be an attractive vehicle," he said. "We don't want welfare to be more attractive than working."

They Danced to Celebrate Their 15th Anniversary

Manchester High School's Clarke Arena resounds to "falls of 'Do as I do'" and "Allentowne bell" Saturday evening as some 500 square dancers from throughout Southern New England join in celebrating the Manchester Square Dance Club's 15th Anniversary. Club officials said the colorful event was the largest dance of its kind ever held in the Connecticut area. It was preceded by a dinner in the cafeteria, attended by 110 couples.

Mayor and Mrs. James Farr were guests and the mayor brought greetings from the town. In recognition of long service to the club, Earl Johnston, a founder and its regular caller, and his wife Marion were presented an engraved casserole by the members. Ron Schneider of Ohio served as guest caller.

Death Toll Rises In Philippines

Marcos, who won a second four-year term in 1969, said the Communist were supporting the Liberal candidates and that the election would be a referendum for his programs of anti-Communism and peaceful revolution.

The Liberals campaigned hard on issues such as inflation, pointing out that the price of rice is more than 40 percent higher than when Marcos took office. They accused the administration of corruption and of creating a climate of violence.

Election officials said they hoped to have complete results by late Thursday. Decisions in the senate races and the mayor and gubernatorial contests may be known by Wednesday.

Ten soldiers and two civilians were killed in two separate incidents today, authorities reported, but they were not connected with the election.

An air force helicopter crashed in guerrilla-infested territory 120 miles northeast of Manila, killing six soldiers, including the second-in-command of an army truck. Moslems who have been battling Communist immigrants into the area were believed responsible.

It won't find—continue for at least a year. Seismologists, who fought a losing battle against the Supreme Court, contended there is no possibility the reactor, said, could touch off natural disasters and inflict severe damage to the environment and wildlife.

The blast gave birth to an earthquake registered 7.7 on the Richter scale, but it was felt farther away than an island 100 miles distant. No new seismic waves developed. And the AEC said scores of monitoring devices on the island showed no trace of radioactivity.

The Spartans is designed to destroy enemy intercontinental ballistic missiles outside the atmosphere by bombarding them with a screen of X-rays and neutrons that would render their electrical components useless.

At Rio Blanco, CER-Geonuclear Inc. wants to detonate nuclear explosives in a sandstone formation 7,000 feet beneath the surface in a new gas production method.

The force of the explosion, which would include nuclear devices fired sequentially, would fracture the sandstone. Little pockets of gas in the formation would be freed to accumulate in the underground chambers formed by the detonations.

The chambers would then be tapped and the gas pumped out. The sandstone was fractured, could be pumped out. El Paso Natural Gas Co. also has proposed a test, code-named "Wagon Wheel," for the Green River Basin of southwestern Wyoming, perhaps in 1972.

The firm is talking of setting off five nuclear devices, each equivalent to 100,000 tons of TNT, in a single well to stimulate gas production. Estimates have been made that 317 trillion cubic feet of natural gas, now inaccessible, could be freed in several Rocky Mountain and Southwestern states by the technique.

South Windsor LWV Plans Consensus On Housing

"Low and Moderate Income Housing in South Windsor" will be the topic for discussion at an open meeting of the League of Women Voters Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the Society for Savings Bank on Ellington Rd.

Guest speakers will include Mrs. Louise Evans, chairman of the Conservation Commission and a member of the Planning and Zoning Commission; Mrs. Winifred Wilson, secretary of the South Windsor LWV; Mrs. Marilyn Berner, president of the Ellington LWV; and Mrs. Flecia Dean, a member of the Ellington Housing Development Corp.

As a result of the discussion, the South Windsor league will take a referendum on Nov. 15 to be presented to the state legislature for its study of housing in the state. From this referendum, the state group will decide what action to take to promote an adequate housing supply for all income levels.

The panel will explore the shortage of housing in the state and in South Windsor, what plans are being made for building in town, obstacles to consider, and the availability of programs for building in town. The public is invited to participate; Mrs. Jill Clinton will act as moderator.

Open House The annual PFA open house and book fair at Hill Terry School will be held tomorrow from 7 to 9 p.m.

Friends, relatives and parents will be able to visit classrooms where teachers will demonstrate how students are taught in a particular subject. After the demonstration period, parents may visit their child's class, reading, physical education and art teachers.

The book fair will be in the gymnasium between 7 and 8 p.m., and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria from 8 to 9:30 p.m.

Students will have the opportunity to view the book fair prior to the open house. They will bring home a list of the books available so that they may make selections.

Basketball Registration Junior and intermediate boys' basketball team registration will be tomorrow at the Timothy Edwards School from 6:30 to 8 p.m.

Boys must be ninth graders, finally dedicated its own building, at 300 Buckland Rd., on Sunday. Flanking the altar while the congregation sings the opening hymn are The Rev. Karl R. Gurgel, pastor, left, and The Rev. Norman Berg, executive secretary, Board for Home Missions, Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, who helped form the congregation and preached the service.

New Church Dedicated

After four years of meeting for worship in private homes and school buildings, the congregation of Messiah Lutheran Church, South Windsor, finally dedicated its own building, at 300 Buckland Rd., on Sunday. Flanking the altar while the congregation sings the opening hymn are The Rev. Karl R. Gurgel, pastor, left, and The Rev. Norman Berg, executive secretary, Board for Home Missions, Wisconsin Evangelical Lutheran Synod, who helped form the congregation and preached the service.

Cancer Victim Describes Her Dying as 'Beautiful'

Denver (AP) — "Dying is obtained another recorder to continue her project. At the time of the theft she explained that her project was an attempt to try to get across how it feels to be dying and raising children at the same time. I believe it would be helpful to mothers who have moved here last year, so she hoped to come to Manchester, N.H., to do this. It was then she began using time of her death, but her husband says she planned to try to finish it from her tapes. Her husband and daughter both thought she was dying and leaving her in their hands."

The young wife and mother died at Children's Hospital on Sunday, her husband admitted at her side. She had been admitted eight days previously when she became comatose and remained at home. In tape recordings and in poetry she had been discussing death, her goal a book on dying and raising children at the same time. She was in pretty good spirits all the time, Helton said. "I think it was a relief for her to know her death was near. She said she was not afraid of death because she had known love."

Last July, Mrs. Helton's tape man in his custody in connection with the slaying of his estranged wife and her four children and the critical wounding of her parents.

Alexander "John" Vichi surrendered without resistance at shotgun-point Sunday afternoon after deputies forced his car off the road in Somers County about 80 miles west of here. Vichi, 41, was charged with investigation of slaying and jailed in Grass Valley. Sheriff Wayne Henson said each of the seven victims had been shot several times with a semi-automatic gun. Vichi was arrested at Alexandria Valley 16 miles south of Santa Rosa, deputies said they found a .22 caliber rifle in his car.

Brown put out an all-points bulletin for Vichi. He was arrested in the shooting early Sunday morning where Charles Vichi, 32, and his children, Teena Vichi, 2; David Vichi, 4; Steven Vichi, 10; and Michelle Vichi, 15. The oldest were children by a previous marriage.

Brown said Mrs. Vichi and her children moved in with her parents after she separated from Vichi, a body and finger print man from St. Brags on the Mendocino County coast.

Notre Dame and Texas in Picture For Possible Bowl Assignments

NEW YORK (AP) — The Orange and Sugar Bowl would like to match the top survivors from the Nebraska-Oklahoma-Alabama-Auburn and Auburn-Georgia games—the repective dates are Nov. 26, Nov. 27 and Nov. 13—for the national championship, with Penn State also a possibility. Also, there is no earthly reason—other than money—for Notre Dame to return to the Cotton Bowl since every BWC team has been beaten at least twice.

The college football elite get rolling toward their eventual Thanksgiving destinations Saturday. Top-rated Nebraska overpowered Iowa State 37-6 behind Johnny Rodgers' two touchdowns, Rich Sanger's three field goals and a vicious defense. Runner-up Oklahoma cooled off a bit if you consider 407 rushing yards a comedown—but eighth-ranked Notre Dame cleaned up Nov. 20, making Fighting Irish eligible for an invitation next weekend.

Shuttleworth paced a 492-yard ground barrage and fourth-ranked Alabama got a touch-down from Terry Davis and 217 yards' Columbia dumped Dartmouth from the unbeatens ranks 31-29 on Paul Kallades' 15-4, No. 11 Colorado trimmed the bids are made and Ivy's Auburn, No. 8, piled up a 50-point lead after three periods. The Associated Press reported while Lydell Mitchell rambled for 209 yards and five touchdowns as sixth-ranked Penn State crushed Maryland 63-7 and No. 7 Georgia battered Florida 49-7.

Rounding out the Top Ten, Michigan State 17-10 and No. 10 Arizona State ripped Brigham Young 35-10. Elsewhere, 12th-ranked Stanford nailed down its second straight trip to the Rose Bowl and Pacific-8 crown by turning back UCLA 20-9 while No. 17 Southern California edged Washington State 30-20. Toledo, No. 14, stretched its winning streak to 25—second season offensive and defensive—bombed Iowa 43-7 as Ed 2-3 triumph over Northern

BRIDGEPORT CHAMPIONSHIP

Bridgeport, riding the crest of a seven-game victory streak, captured the Eastern College Football Championship, and Yale has broken a sixth place tie in the Ivy League as Connecticut college football action

Heavily favored Bridgeport more game, now has an 8-1 record. In other Connecticut action, Trinity lost 42-29 to Amherst College, Southern Connecticut captured a 45-19 homecoming victory over Adelphi, Wesleyan was crushed 27-14 by Little Rock three football rival Williams, and Central Connecticut defeated American International 14-7. The University of Connecticut and Western Connecticut were idle.

Next weekend Bridgeport hosts Springfield in a night game, Central Connecticut plays against Cornell State College, and last game at home against Bridgewater.

Wesleyan plays at Trinity, Connecticut travels to Amherst International College, and Case Western Reserve plays at Washington State. In the course of leading Coast Guard goes to Washington State. Case Western Reserve leads the national poll. Ciccone led the national poll.

Still nursing hopes of retaining the record of Joe Hart, a member of the New Mexico set in Rhode Island at Kingston, Yale 1969 and Ardie Jones of Army, will be fighting for its newly set record in 1970.

Dropout Rate Frightening

New Rocket Offense Finding Dissenters

HOUSTON (AP)—Tex Winter is trying to teach a new offense to his National Basketball Association Houston Rockets but the dropout rate is getting frightening.

First, Elvin Hayes refused to substitute into a game when called and later missed a practice. Hayes returned to classes after a discussion with Winter and management.

Sunday the Don Adams case flared up again when the second member of the Houston western was told by Winter not to suit up until he gets in shape.

Adams walked out of a practice. Rockets camp for the second time Saturday after an argument with Winter and the Rockets say they are trying to negotiate a trade.

"I tried to correct something he was doing wrong at practice Saturday," Winter said before Sunday night's game against Baltimore. "And he walked out."

Adams, who was a big surprise for the Rockets last season after being selected in the eighth round, was suspended last month for refusing to accept the team on a road

Big Green Winning Skein Finally Ends

Share of Ivy League Title Now Aim With Dartmouth

NEW YORK (AP) — Dartmouth will be looking to begin a new winning streak and to grab a share of the Ivy League lead this Saturday when the Big Green hosts Ed Marinaro and his undefeated Cornell team.

Harvard ranked second in the Associated Press New England poll, while Dartmouth is ranked 11th. In a reversal of what had been the Ivy League's method of victory in previous two games, Dartmouth is scheduled to play at Cornell, which is 5-0 in Ivy League play and 7-0 overall.

No. 1 ranked Boston College, coming off a hard-fought 10-3 victory over Syracuse, is at home against Northern Illinois. The Eagles front four dumped Syracuse quarterback Alie Ruggiero nine times while flanker Eddie Redick scored on a 23-yard pass from Ray Ripstein. Coast Guard at Washington State, Maine Maritime at Colby, Nichols at Adelphi, Wesleyan at Trinity, Tufts at Amherst, and Bridgewater at Connecticut.

Scores of other games last week include: Coast Guard 27, Western 14; Vermont 17, Middlebury 10; Tufts 14, Bowdoin 10; Amherst 42, Trinity 20; Northern 23, Worcester 13; Rhode 20, Boston 18; by Greg Landry, now with the Plymouth Connecticut 14, AIC 7; Detroit Lions of the National Football League.

Massachusetts will be looking for another strong performance from its junior halfback when it plays New Hampshire for a 27, Wesleyan 14; Southern Connecticut 24, Adelphi 21; Temple 14, Rhode Island 13; Brockport 14, Curry 8; Cornell 23, Dartmouth 14; Grove City 23, Springfield, leads the conference with a 3-1 record. Massachusetts and Connecticut are tied for second at 2-1-1.

Harvard, ranked fourth in New England, also will be looking to return to the winning ranks after a 21-10 in the Ivy League contest. At the 20th running of the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country 7 for its seventh defeat this season without a victory, has been Franklin Pierce.

The strongest champion Dartmouth is once again the favorite, but strong competition is expected to come from a Neptune fumble and racing 87 yards for a goal before time ran out on the rally.

Knights Assured Of Tie For Title

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS The Hartford Knights beat the Roanoke Buckskins, 19-7, Saturday in the Atlantic Coast Football League, but Bridgeport Jets bowed, 13-26, to ACE's rival Norfolk.

Norm Davidson kicked four field goals for Hartford, and quarterback Tom Sherman led the home victory with a 69-yard scoring pass to Don Abbe in the third period.

Roanoke's only score was set up in the final second of the third period by a pass intercepted from the end zone against the Knights.

The Jets trailed 31-14 going into the final quarter of the game in Norfolk. Harry Theilides hit John Crisp on a 28-yard interception, but Bridgeport back in the game and Wade Dubois made it closer by picking up a Neptune fumble and racing 87 yards for a goal before time ran out on the rally.

Expect Field of 500

BOSTON (AP) — About 800 runners will participate today in the 24th running of the New England Intercollegiate Cross Country 7 for its seventh defeat this season without a victory, has been Franklin Pierce.

The strongest champion Dartmouth is once again the favorite, but strong competition is expected to come from a Neptune fumble and racing 87 yards for a goal before time ran out on the rally.

Another Ace!

Current Manchester County Club golf champion, Ed Hayes, won the 1969-70 title by a 10-hole lead over Jim Kennedy. Hayes added his name to the growing list of members who have won a hole-in-one this season.

Rookies in Outstanding Roles As Giants Surprise San Diego

NEW YORK (AP) — In the 25-17 victory over the San Diego Chargers, the New York Giants surprised the football world by leading the league in rushing yards and touchdowns.

Charlie Evans and Coleman Zeno had a similar thought last night. "I never thought I'd get drafted," said Evans. "I was a game time after spending the last year in college."

Evans scored touchdowns on two one-yard runs and a nine-yard jaunt, rushed for 63 yards and picked up another 69 on pass receptions.

"I must admit I'm surprised by how much I got the ball," Evans said. "I've never had so many touchdowns before."

But the New York Giants surprised Evans in the 14th round of the National Football League draft, then picked Zeno No. 17.

The Giants got their reward Sunday when the rookie wide receiver gave outstanding performances in the school, in one game then, I got out, I just kept up my college stats," Evans said.

Zeno was activated prior to the game. "I never thought I'd get drafted," said Evans. "I was a game time after spending the last year in college."

Two Interceptions Led to Touchdowns Patriots Got Sign From Bench

FOXBORO, Mass. (AP) — The New England Patriots got the sign from the bench and turned apparent futility into a 28-20 victory in a rousing finish.

The Houston Oilers led 20-14 and had third down on the New England 30, just six minutes before the game.

The Patriots moved quickly for a touchdown, Jim Mauer scoring from four yards after a pass interference call against the Oilers, and Charlie Gogolak converted for New England's lead.

On the first play after the ensuing kickoff, Klier applied a strong rush and Cheryl Klier picked up a 25-yard run to the Houston 29 and returned to the five. Carl Garrett scored on a 10-yard run.

The Patriots had their third victory more than during the entire 1970 season.

"On my interception, I was hitting, but the halfback held me up and that's why I was in position to grab the ball," Klier said. "I was so happy."

Free safety Don Webb also charged into the backfield, along with Steve Klier and Jim Chynoweth.

Patriots failed way back and Houston drove to the Houston 44.

Howfield's Leg Key In Jets Upset Win

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Howfield was the key in the Jets' upset victory over the Kansas City Chiefs.

Howfield kicked a 35-yard field goal in the fourth quarter to give the Jets a 17-16 lead.

"There's no way you can win a game with a 17-16 lead," Howfield said. "I was just trying to do my job."

Chiefs Gone With the Wind In Extremely Fidgety Race

NEW YORK (AP) — The Kansas City Chiefs were gone with the wind and lost to the New York Jets in an extremely fidgety race.

The Jets won 17-16 in a game that was a roller coaster of ups and downs.

The Chiefs were leading 16-14 in the fourth quarter when Howfield kicked a 35-yard field goal to give the Jets a 17-16 lead.

U.S. Equestrians Hold Slim Edge

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. equestrian team held a slim edge over the Canadian team in the National Horse Show.

The U.S. team won 30 points to the Canadian team's 28.

"We were very nervous," said a U.S. rider. "But we held our own."
