U.S. Jets Penetrate To North

BAIGON (AP) — American fighter-bombers made their deepest attack into North Vietnam this year on Monday, hitting a missile battery 210 miles north of the demilitarized zone, the U.S. Command reported today.

It said two Navy A7 jets fired two missiles at the antiaircraft site about 145 miles south of Hanoi after a surface-to-air missile was fired at them.

There was no damage to the American planes, the command said, and they returned safely to the carrier Constellation in the Tonkin gulf.

Results of the attacks were not known because of low clouds, the command said, but the U.S. missiles homed on the enemy's radar signal.

The raid was the 96th inside North Vietnam this year. It was carried out 50 miles northwest of the coastal city of Vinh "in the vicinity of Quang Lang air field," the command said.

Antiaircraft batteries on the field were attacked by U.S. planes Nov. 8 in an strike 48 miles northwest of Vinh.

The Navy planes were escorting bombing missions against the Ho Chi Minh trail across the border in Laos.

North Vietnam has beefed up its antiaircraft defenses along the border in efforts to protect its supply network to the south. In the past 12 days more than a dozen surface to air missiles have been reported fired at U.S. planes.

Meanwhile, South Vietnam's commander in eastern Cambodia claimed today that his forces and America's 582 bombers have badly mauled two North Vietnamese regiments and drawn a third away from Cambodian troops to the west.

Gen. Nguyen Van Minh said the 27th Regiment of North Vietnam's 9th Division had moved away from Highway 8 on the western side of the Mekong River to north of the Chup

Quake Rattles Aleutians; Tidal Wave Fears Cooled

PALMER, Alaska (AP) — An earthquake measuring 7.5 on the Richter scale was recorded Tuesday night off the east coast of Siberia's Kamchatka Peninsula, the Palmer Observatory reported.

A seismic sea wave watch issued by the observatory for Alaska's Aleutian Island chain, and Japan were attempting to get a reading to indicate whether the quake was indeed caused a tsunami, or a relatively unpopulated part of the Pacific.

The center of the quake is in the Kuriles, a chain of islands in the North Pacific. The Kuriles separate the Pacific from the Sea of Okhotsk, extending from the Kamchatka Peninsula, on the Asian mainland, to Japan's Hokkaido Island.

The peninsula is about 800 miles west of the tip of the Aleutians and about 700 miles north of Japan.

Seismographic instruments in Washington located the epicenter of the quake on Kamchatka, where a smaller tremor registered 7.5 on the scale Nov. 24.

Police Study Wreck

WOODSTOCK (AP) — Police and other officials continued their investigation today into the crash of a small plane that killed an aircraft engineer, his wife and their young son.

The wreckage of the single-engine plane and the bodies of the Henry Cripps family were found by searchers Tuesday, one-and-a-half days after the plane was last seen taking off from an airport in Bedford, Mass.

A spokesman at the airport said Cripps, 43, of Ellington, had landed late Sunday afternoon a return flight from Maine to clear up radio trouble.

Officials at the Worcester, Mass., airport tower said they received three transmissions from an aircraft between 6:24 and 6:29 p.m. about 30 minutes after the plane took off again with Cripps, his wife, Lora, and their 3-year-old son still aboard.

The airport officials said the first two signals were barely audible and the only message picked up on the third transmission was "14 Victor," part of the plane's identification number. No emergency call was received, they added.

The transmissions fixed the plane's location south of Worcester.

The Cripps 170 crashed in heavy woods in the northeast corner of the state near Route 169 and about 20 miles from Worcester.

rubber plantation east of the river.

Minh said his forces are sweeping through the plantation used by the enemy to base camp 80 miles from South Vietnam's border, and that 2024 are snatching it with bombs.

But there has still been no major fighting since 6,000 South Vietnamese troops invaded the 75-square-mile plantation three days ago in their deepest drive into Cambodia in nearly a year.

Senior U.S. advisers said the South Vietnamese forces had covered only the southeastern half of the plantation by Tuesday night and the enemy forces were believed in the northwestern sector.

The drive is part of a 25,000-man South Vietnamese offensive launched Nov. 22 to keep North Vietnamese troops away from South Vietnam, disrupt

Ex-Governor Indicted

WASHINGTON (AP) — Otto Kerner, Jr., federal appeals court judge and former Illinois governor, was indicted by a federal grand jury today on charges of bribery, mail fraud, tax evasion, perjury and conspiracy as a result of race track stock transactions while he was governor.

Three appointees to Kerner's administration were also named in the 19-count indictment handed down in U.S. District Court in Chicago.

Kerner, a Democrat, and others were accused of conspiring to obtain about $300,000 for Kerner and Janice in exchange for race track stock for $7,188. The grand jury said the money was used as a bribe to influence Kerner's administration of horse racing in Illinois.

The specific charges against the 63-year-old Kerner, who sits on the Seventh U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals, are that he evaded $6,129 in federal income taxes and made false statements to an Internal Revenue Service agent.

Kerner is only the fourth federal judge ever to be indicted by a grand jury.

In addition, the indictment said Miller as chairman of the Racing Board acquired 80,000 shares of another enterprise in exchange for race track stock in shares of the stock to a standstill since Aug. 16, when Nixon announced the United States would no longer redeem dollars for gold, the international monetary system has been without any gold, the statement said.

Exchange rates of major currencies would be allowed to fluctuate over a broader range than the present 1 per cent up or down. This, said the administration official, represented a major concession by the French.

The committee said France and other Communist nations concerned, they agreed to work toward a prompt resumption of exchange rates through a devaluation of the dollar and revaluation of some other currencies.

The U.S. official said the high administration official said the accord with Pompidou envisions a settlement along these lines:

The value of the French franc would remain the same. West Germany would be expected to revalue its mark upward and an even greater upward revaluation of the Japanese yen would be expected.

and his years in prison and professed his new confidence by telling newsmen "I don't want to be interviewed."

"I am in good health and want to see my family," he said. "I don't want to talk to newsmen because I have been so long in solitary confinement. You can get used to that, but that's one of my problems now. I was alone so long."

He said his cell block was shared by one of the Chinese traitors and three Chinese spies during his imprisonment.

"One was a colonel, one had been an interpreter for the Japanese and one was charged with espionage," he said.

He said his cell block was occupied by the four other Americans known to be imprisoned in China, including John T. Downey, 41, of New Britain, Conn., who was aboard the plane with Fecteau when it was shot down over China on a flight from Japan to Korea in 1952, during the Korean War.

Downey, sentenced to life, has had his sentence commuted to five years, effective with the date of commutation, believed to be recently.

The other Americans, all of whom Fecteau said he had been able to talk with at one time or another, are:

Air Force Capt. Phillip B. Smith, Hugh Redmond, and Navy Lt. Robert J. Flynn.

Dollar Diplomacy

Monetary Crisis Bit Calmer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon has agreed to devalue the dollar for the first time since 1934, a move that could bring a speedy settlement to the simmering international monetary crisis, perhaps before Christmas.

The agreement, reached Tuesday in a nine-hour meeting with French President Georges Pompidou in the Azores, stripped away a major obstacle to settlement of worldwide monetary disruptions.

No percentage devaluation was mentioned in the Nixon-Pompidou communique, nor was the method of devaluation. But a high administration official said an 8-per cent devaluation was "about the highest 'very much in the ballpark.'"

Should devaluation be accomplished by congressional action raising the price of gold, an 8-per cent change would result in a gold price of $135 an ounce.

The official price of gold has held at $35 an ounce since the United States stopped redeeming paper money for gold in 1934.

In simple terms, devaluation would make U.S. products more competitive in foreign markets and imported products more expensive in the United States.

Treasury Secretary John B. Connally said in an NBC interview Tuesday night: "I don't think the average American will ever really be conscious of it. . . . The average American probably will not know it."

The formal communique was released as finance ministers with Pompidou and central bankers of the 10 richest non-Communist nations prepared to gather in Washington on Friday and Saturday to discuss solving worldwide monetary disorders.

High-level U.S. officials indicated that firm agreement on currency revaluation will result in dropping the 10-per cent surcharge the United States levied on imports Aug. 15.

Connally said the Nixon-Pompidou session represented a "very significant step forward" in dropping the 10-per cent surcharge to early solution of monetary problems.

The communique said: "In cooperation with other nations concerned, they agreed to work toward a prompt resumption of exchange rates through a devaluation of the dollar and revaluation of some other currencies."

The high administration official said the accord with Pompidou envisions a settlement along these lines:

The value of the French franc would remain the same. West Germany would be expected to revalue its mark upward and an even greater upward revaluation of the Japanese yen would be expected.

Pakistanis Appeal For A Cease-Fire

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Pakistani commander in East Pakistan has appealed to the Indian army chief of staff for a cease-fire, the government in New Delhi announced today. India ordered a halt to the bombing of Dacca and gave the Pakistanis 16 hours to surrender.

Gen. Sam Manekshaw, the Indian chief of staff, replied that he would order a cease-fire as soon as the Pakistanis confirmed their surrender, an Indian spokesman said. The appeal was from Lt. Gen. A. A. K. Niazi, who previously had vowed to fight to the last man.

The exchange between the two generals came as an Indian army spokesman reported that Dacca from less than two miles away and the battle for the East Pakistani capital "is in its final stages."

Indian troops also were reported within four miles of Chittagong, East Pakistan's largest port. Its harbor area was hit Tuesday by an air and sea bombardment.

Manekshaw warned that if India you do not comply with what I have stated you will leave me with no other alternative but to resume my offensive with the utmost vigor at 0900 Dec. 16.

This is at 10:30 p.m. EST.

Manekshaw told Niazi he had ordered the bombing pause at 11:30 p.m. on Tuesday. The Indian government did not release the contents of the message, but it said prisoner for more than three years, was released at Manekshaw's reply that the Pakistani general had asked for a cease-fire, without committing himself to a surrender.

The Indian army chief then made clear a surrender would be required before India would agree to a cease-fire.

"I give you my solemn assurance that personnel who surrender shall be treated with dignity and respect that officers are entitled to and I will honor the provisions of the Geneva conventions," Manekshaw added.

"Further, as you have many I shall insure that they are well cared for and view. You can get used to that, but that's one of my problems now. I was alone so long."

He said he knew that America had no need have any fear camps had walked on the moon where they came from. Nor planning to visit China.

Fecteau Comments He Never Lost Hope

By LEE LINDER

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — An Army civilian employee who spent 19 years in a Communist Chinese prison said today he gave up hope of getting out.

"I was in solitary for the first three years and the last five or six years," in Peking, Richard G. Fecteau, 41, of Lynn, Mass., told newsmen in the first interview he has permitted since his release Monday in Hong Kong.

Mary Ann Harbert, 28, a Chinese Niazi's message, but it said prisoner for more than three years, was released at Manekshaw's reply that the Pakistani general had asked for a cease-fire, without committing himself to a surrender.

LBJ Birthplace Gets Yule Tree

STONETOWN, Tex. (AP) — Eighteen children from a Head Start school have decorated a Christmas tree with paper cutouts and popcorn chains at former President Lyndon B. Johnson's birthplace.
The decorations are the same type used when the Johnson family moved to this central Texas community in the early 1900s.
The tree was decorated next Sunday at the white frame house where Johnson was born in 1908.
Nicholas Votos Jr., acting superintendent of the LBJ birthplace, said National Park Service employees will pass out cookies to visitors Sunday at the birthplace and Johnson's boyhood home in Johnson City, 20 miles east of here.
Johnson, former Gov. and Mrs. Carl Sanders of Georgia, died in 1970. His remains were interred in the native cedar tree.

Boy Killed In Threat To British

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — A British patrol shot and killed a 15-year-old boy yesterday after the youth aimed a gun at it.
A spokesman said Martin McGuinness was climbing a fence into a playing field at Coolish in County Tyrone, when the soldiers spotted him.
He said the boy was the soldier's aim at them, and the troops opened fire.
The boy's death was the 17th in 24 months of violence in Northern Ireland.
In London, an authoritative Catholic bishop said "the vicious circle of violence and counter-violence" in Northern Ireland can only be broken by a political solution.
The Catholic Commission for International Justice and Peace, which advises Catholic bishops of England and Wales, declared: "Immediate steps are therefore needed to give the Catholic community a just share in the exercise of political power."
It added: "Every possible effort must be made to ensure without delay the army's return to the neutral peacekeeping role which initially earned it such a warm welcome from the Catholic community, and its speedy disengagement from the situation in Northern Ireland."
The operation for young Scott Weicker at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary was the second since the injury. He was struck by a propeller after falling from a small boat while fishing in Massachusetts.
The son of Sen. Weicker, R-Conn., is expected to remain in the hospital for about two weeks, a spokesman said.
The operation to restore movement of the eye and eyelid was successful, the doctor said.
There was no impairment of the boy's vision in the eye.

Weicker Boy 'Satisfactory' After Surgery

BOSTON (AP) — The 13-year-old son of Connecticut Sen. Lowell P. Weicker was reported in "very satisfactory" condition following surgery Tuesday to repair damage to his left eye, injured in a fall from a small boat last summer.
The operation for young Scott Weicker at Massachusetts Eye and Ear Infirmary was the second since the injury. He was struck by a propeller after falling from a small boat while fishing in Massachusetts.
The son of Sen. Weicker, R-Conn., is expected to remain in the hospital for about two weeks, a spokesman said.

First Phones Bring Holiday

SQUAW GAP, N.D. (AP) — Residents of Squaw Gap, on the isolated plains of western North Dakota, get their first telephone service today.
The Squaw Gap school, one of five schools served by the telephone service, plans to recess classes for its four students so they can watch the arrival of telephone service at the community hall.
Citizen band, two-way radios previously served the residents' needs.
Lyle Washburn, a director of the telephone cooperative, said some ranches are as much as 10 miles apart and needed an average of 2.5 miles of telephone line per subscriber. One rancher ordered four telephones.
The lone exchange encompasses 7,000 square miles. A $460,000 Rural Electrification Administration loan helped fund the project.

ALL LUCK AND NO TROUBLE MAKES SOUTH A DULL BOY.
BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

South thought he was lucky when he poked up 13 points in high cards. He was sure of it when his partner was strong enough to jump to game. And South was even surer when the opening lead gave him a free chance. It didn't seem right for all this luck to add up to a minus score.
South dealer.
North-South vulnerable.
Opening lead — Seven of Hearts.
South played the low heart from dummy at the first trick, taking advantage of the lucky lead that gave him a free chance. East won with the king of hearts and did some thinking about life and luck and other such deep matters.
South obviously had the queen and jack of hearts, so there wasn't time to develop and run the hearts. Since spades offered the only sensible chance, East shifted to the deuce of spades.
Declarer won but had to let West in with a diamond in the process of developing nine tricks. West promptly led another spade, and East took three spade tricks to defeat the contract.

All Santas Are Equal

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — All Santas are created equal, according to the House Policy Committee.
The committee had been presented with two rival resolutions, each with an official Santa Claus. The politicians dodged the issue by congratulating both contenders and declining to establish any hierarchy.
Voting for top Santas were Leo Konwinski of Iron River and Kenneth Burden of Marshall. Both have been playing Santa Claus for more than 20 years.
"We're thanking the two gentlemen for their work in the two committees on the Santa Claus bill," said Committee Chairman James E. O'Hall Jr. "But it would be a tragic mistake to designate one official Santa."

Health-Service Corps Aids Doctor-Poor Areas
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — government-paid physicians and many city clinics with only one doctor for every 10,000 residents.
"We will serve poor whites, blacks in the ghetto and in rural areas," Rimpole said. American Indians will be offered the reservation care for the first time.
The law was signed quietly by President Nixon last week. The first congressional appropriation of $10 million, supplemented by another $3 million, became available Oct. 1.
Rimpole said the program was delayed, however, by doctor-recruiting problems, although he expects to be published today in the Federal Register, implementing the 1970 Emergency Health Personnel Act. The regulations provide for free care for poor people and a sliding-fee scale for others unable to pay the full cost of a medical treatment.
"It is not socialized medicine," said Dr. H. McDonald Rimpole, interim director of the program in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. "The program is designed to alleviate the critical manpower shortages in the doctor-starved areas."
High on the list under consideration for the first 20 areas are Jacksonville, Fla.; Indian Free Clinic, Maine; Orleans, Calif.; New York; South Bronx, N.Y.; Glenville, W. Va.; Indianapolis, Ind.; Rio Linda, Ala.; Sacramento, Calif.; Livingston, Calif.; Rochester, N.Y.; Snowshoe, Pa.; the Small Business Administration office in Washington, D.C.; Olympia Peninsula, and three communities along the Sacramento River delta in Sacramento County, Calif.

MPHA Plans Purpose Told

The Manchester Public Health Association gave a brief presentation of its purpose and plans Monday night to representatives of the State Legislature, Town Board of Directors and the United Fund at the agency's office, 71 E. Center St., to create an awareness of its community service, which is supported in part by voluntary contributions from the public.
Mrs. Clarence Rush, president of the agency's board of directors, outlined the purposes of the agency and its structure. The sources of funding were reviewed with an outline of how the funds are spent and what programs are provided. The effects of pending state and federal legislation were discussed as they influence future plans for a quality home health service of the agency.
Contributions may be made to any of the association's three funds. They are the Memorial Fund, which is used for holiday dinners and gifts of clothing; the Helen Campbell Cheney Fund, which promotes staff education; and the General Fund, which provides nursing and other health services.
"We hope to begin placing people in the field before the end of this month and during the first week of January," Rimpole said. "By the end of January we should have a good staff of 20 communities staffed."
He said the first contingent is expected to local 25 physicians, 15 dentists and 10 nurses.
"This is the first program in which the federal government is attempting to meet the health-care needs of communities which are medically underserved," he said. "The ultimate aim and objective is to encourage doctors to locate in these areas as private physicians."
Although the United States has about 300,000 practitioners, only the highest rate of all per cent of total population in industrial nations in the world, come in 1965 to 20 per cent in there are at least 5,000 rural 1970.

Black Students In New Haven 57% of Total

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Figures released by the city's Board of Education Monday indicate that black enrollment in New Haven's public schools has climbed to 57 per cent of the total school population.
Total enrollment at the end of last month totaled 21,722 students, a slight rise over last year's 21,770. The number of black students increased from 12,477 in 1970 to 12,477 in 1971, a 5.5 per cent increase.

Two States Are Targets For GOP Fencemending

WASHINGTON (AP) — Amid the White House's efforts to mend pre-election fences with Republican liberals, efforts for President Nixon's 1972 campaign are being made in two states. Rep. Wendell Wyatt, R-Ore., will be named chairman of the drive and Hatfield said Henry Planning of the Washington-based national Committee for the Re-election of the President asked him beforehand about the election committee already has been established in New Hampshire.

Reports have been circulating that a White House list of when Ben Charles Goodell, R-Ben. Charles McC. Mathias Jr. But Mathias, who does not plan to be present today in Baltimore for the campaign kickoff, Sen. J. Glenn Beall Jr., a more consistent Nixon supporter, also will be on hand.

And Mathias' side Tuesday asserted the senator's support of Nixon's re-election bid, denying any reports of a purge. It was also learned Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell has told Mathias not to worry, that the purge reports were totally untrue.

The spokesman said a New Hampshire election is scheduled to get under way next week, but it could be postponed until after the holidays. And he said more would follow in "a popcorn effect."

Welfare Bill a Challenge For Vote-Conscious Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Consistent with the same amount, Congress has handed President Nixon a political dilemma by passing the sterner half of his plan and perhaps jeopardizing the passage of the richer portion he wanted along with it.

The action left Nixon with the choice of signing the bill and choosing liberals, or vetoing it and angering Southern conservatives. The dilemma was produced Tuesday when the House and Senate passed a measure requiring able-bodied welfare recipients to take jobs or sign up for job training.

To reduce the number of welfare recipients, the bill would make any federal money available for such services as day care for children.

And to increase the work available at a time of high unemployment, the bill would authorize funds for public-service jobs.

The proposal approved Tuesday was attached as a rider to a minor bill by Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, D-Ga., a Finance Committee member.

Squeeze Out Parent-Taxpayers... Out in Chicago, pupils in the public schools are getting 12 extra days of Christmas vacation...

In Portland, Oregon, supposedly a very civilized city, current plans call for the school year to end 17 days early...

Here in Manchester, last November, the voters of this school-conscious and school-conscientious community turned down a new school building program...

These, and many more similar situations across the country, reflect, for one thing, the way in which the expense of operating our schools has begun to bear down on the property tax so heavily that people have begun to rebel.

This leads, in one direction, toward increased talk of possible ways of lightening the property tax burden, either by state or federal grants to reduce the amount that has to be raised by the local communities...

Yet he has his own problems with these arguments. For instance, it could be argued that passage of day care would enhance the chances of his welfare reform bill...

But it should be stated now that it is not merely some relocation or sweetening of the tax burden which is going to solve the problem almost every city and town in the country is facing in some degree or another.

The voters of Manchester might have been likely to turn down that proposed new junior high school last Nov. 2 even if they had been assured that they themselves would not have had to contribute more than $2,000,000 of its $8,000,000 cost.

How did it ever happen that the voters of Manchester found themselves confronted with such a proposition? Answer that, and we might have the answer to the problem that school expenses find themselves everywhere.

That is indeed the way parent-taxpayers everywhere like to feel. But when the planning euphoria nms too high, on one hand, while the taxes have already begun biting too deep on the other, then the best and fondest intentions of the parent-taxpayers find themselves in a squeeze more powerful than they are.

We need, here in Manchester, as elsewhere, a relief from two directions, the one a shift of some of the financing responsibility away from real estate taxes, the other a convincing moderation of our ideas of what can be provided, no matter what the revenue source.

Manchester, with occasional occasional savings which have kept it from either too much extravagance or too much frugality, has managed to keep its school spending in the zone it should be—middle income spending by a middle income community. We need to get back toward that middle zone.

Otherwise the question could eventually become here, as it has already become elsewhere, not merely a question of expanding school plant and facilities, but, even more serious, a question of just keeping schools open.

The Knocks That Boost

The criticism President Nixon received from the New York County Conservative Party the other day, over one of his judicial appointments, can be taken as genuine, and not merely some clever publicity gimmick the President's political strategists arranged in order to help his image.

Nonetheless, the Conservative Party's attack was as fortuitous, for the President, as if it had been something he himself had arranged and contrived.

The New York Conservatives went after him for his nomination of one Arnold Bauman to the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. The President, they said, had displayed "extraordinarily bad judgment" in his choice. The choice itself, they said, represented an effort to "pack the Federal courts" with "liberal judges."

"It is obvious," the attack went on, "that Nixon is working hand-in-glove with the cliques of liberal lawyers who control the bar associations."

All this has to be a rare bonding of political hands for White House stars, which have been hearing nothing, for many months past, but liberal criticism which insisted that President Nixon was too intent on packing the Supreme Court bench with reactionary judges.

We imagine that the strategists for any presidential campaign can dream of nothing better than to have a candidate who is equally denounced, for opposite reasons, by the two extremes of the political spectrum. Mr. Nixon, in particular, has always had an easy time of it getting his kudos from the far left, but had never succeeded, until recently, in enticing the politicians of the far right in the process of building him a reputation for being on the high middle road.

Sharpening Day-Care Debate President Nixon's veto of the child development bill will only sharpen the debate over day care, not end it.

It doesn't appear at this point that there are enough votes in Congress to override the veto, but a more closely worked compromise bill will likely return to his desk.

We can credit some of the objections of Mr. Nixon to the bill as it came to him. On the political side, he already has a welfare reform plan in his welfare reform legislation, and he may have a case in wanting this attractive component to help pull his welfare bill through a slow-moving Congress. We would agree also that day-care centers pushed tax far could have a further lifting effect on family ties. And he may have a point that the administrative set-up in the congressional bill could prove unwieldy.

Yet he has his own problems with these arguments. For instance, it could be argued that passage of day care would enhance the chances of his welfare reform bill (which is, by the way, the really most radical social measure introduced during his administration, not the child development act as the President claimed Thursday).

Second, this newspaper likewise is profoundly concerned over the need to strengthen the family unit as the cornerstone of society. But if day care is to be confined to those who need it, the question parents can work, would not the government be compounding the burden these poor young families must bear by adding daytime parentlessness to poverty? The inconsistency of this is even more underlined by the fact that the cost of putting welfare mothers to work—in terms of day care and training, and what they might earn if day care is potentially harmful to the family, should not be paid as well as the better off be saved from it?

The "bureaucracy" argument. If the President would set up the machinery for a 1970 national bureaucracy for welfare day care, would not such machinery serve as well for a somewhat larger program that would offer day care and homes for the aged, etc.?

After all a parent doesn't have to day-care centers will not become the wretched institutions that our prisons and homes for the aged are?

The President talks about no provision for qualified personnel, and yet he offered no suggestions. What about the tens of thousands of teachers who cannot find positions because of school district economies and overproduction at education schools? What about the millions of grandparents who try desperately to find part-time work to continue their usefulness to society or to make ends meet? Perhaps Congress could answer the President's question with legislation to bring those who have something to give together with children who could benefit from their day-time supervision.

The President said he was wary of committing "the vast moral authority of the national government to the side of communal approaches to child-rearing over against the family-centered approach." This will be read like code by many persons. Some will wonder where the administration was in committing that moral authority of the government to the desegregation issue, when it adopted a no-more-than-necessary approach in school desegregation until prodded by the courts. They will note that the President's question with legislation to bring those who have something to give together with children who could benefit from their day-time supervision.

By DAVID S. BRODER The Washington Post

WASHINGTON—By the standard and which he set for himself, Sen. Edmund S. Muskie has fallen well short of his goal for 1971.

His objective, the Maine Democrat told a group of newsmen early this summer, was to establish a strong enough position that the Democratic presidential nomination would be thinned significantly before the first primary.

Dismissing the view that his own chances would be helped if the opposition were splintered among many candidates, Muskie argued that as the front-runner, it was important that he develop a sense of inevitability about his nomination.

The way to do that, he said, was to build momentum by eliminating one after another rival contenders for the prize. As more and more alternatives disappeared, he said, those on the fence would feel increasing pressure to get behind him, the competition for scarce campaign funds would be reduced, and the danger of divisive battles in the primary would be held to a minimum.

Given this definition of his goal, Muskie has had but limited success this year. A few marginal contenders — Birch Bayh, Harold Hughes, Fred Harris, William Proxmire, and, apparently, Wilbur Mills — have removed themselves from consideration in the primaries, more from the force of circumstance than from any sense of the inevitability of a Muskie win.

But the more formidable contenders remain, and several men who were no more than possible challengers last summer, including Hubert Humphrey and John Lindsay, have now moved to the brink of open candidacy.

Along with George McGovern, Henry M. (Scop) Jackson, Sam Yorty and perhaps other, less famous characters, they lie in wait for Muskie on the primary path, where a single serious stumble may finish him, as it has some front-runners in the past.

Nothing like that has happened to Muskie. He has slipped slightly—from 38 per cent of the Democratic preference votes, immediately after his election, to 24 per cent in the latest Gallup reading.

But the parallel to Muskie's situation is that of a man who has been the leading choice of Republican voters, with 38 per cent of the votes in the Gallup Poll rating of seven possible GOP contenders. A year later he had dropped to 13 per cent with 14 per cent of the vote.

Four years before that, the Republican front-runner was Nelson Rockefeller. In January, 1968, Rockefeller led the Republican field with 46 per cent of the votes. Eleven months later, after his remarriage, he was in fourth place with 13 per cent of the vote.

"To Make My Own Decisions"

By DAVID S. BRODER The Washington Post

I note now almost daily that the people who want to try and direct what they think is right for me are gathering strength. I could not care less one way or the other if the bookers they are so hot under the collar about are open or closed, what I am concerned about however, is anyone who considers themselves my censor.

I would point out to them that the matter goes much deeper than what they consider right or wrong. It is to me, a question of constitutional right of freedom under the constitution. Are they living in the 20th century or the 19th? They would do much better to direct their efforts in other directions, for every one person who may or may not be corrupted by a book, or magazine, I could show you ten thousand people in this world of plenty who are dying of starvation, do they ever give one thought to the thousands of old people who are living lives of poverty and loneliness in our land of plenty?

Far better they organize their youthful followers to direct their efforts toward humanity instead of having them march up and down with signs saying "You are what you read." Does this mean that if you read a book on the art of cooking pancakes you automatically become a pancake? Let them stop this nonsense and apply themselves to the important things that are all around us. Let's stop trying to hinder them. Let it stay in the open, people then become bored with it and it fades out, as in the case of movies. Try to keep it under cover and it thrives, no-one forces you to go to a movie or drag you into a book store, but as a taxpayer of this town I do not ask I demand the right to make my own decisions as to what I should or should not read. Of course you have to protect children at all times from all the wrong things in life but I for one do not want these kind of people to tell me what is right or wrong, remember the book burners of the Nazi regime and what their kind led to.

"I don't think the average American will ever really be convinced of it," Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, on the impact on Americans if the dollar is devalued.

The program is designed to alleviate the critical manpower shortages in these doctor-starved areas." —Dr. McDonald Rimple, on National Health Service Corps plans to send government-paid physicians, nurses and dentists into city slums and rural areas to provide free or little-cost medical care.

John 3:16 "For God so loved the world, that he gave" Divine love is more than a courtesy, attachment, or affection. It is, as Luther said, "the image of God." It is best expressed and comprehended in the profound depths of this scripture.

The story is as it is known to us of the Good Samaritan, was told by Jesus to show who our neighbor is. He is, as Luther said, "stranger, friend or enemy, rich or poor, of our race or another, intellectual or feeble minded, good or evil, and we will express God's divine love through the divine love of God. It must inhabit us through the Holy Ghost. We can bear the image of God.

Bay State Orders Cut In No-Fault Rates

BOSTON (AP) — The Bar-ge administration Thursday announced it has ordered the insurance industry to reduce 1971 premium rates for compulsory bodily injury coverage 6.2 per cent from the 1970 level.

Gov. Francis W. Sargent and Insurance Commissioner John G. Ryan said compulsory rates will be cut 27.6 per cent next year.

Additionally, they said, the insurance industry has been ordered to provide a 27.6 per cent credit against next year's rates because of excessive profits earned during 1971.

The total of the rate reduction and the credit means motorists can expect to pay 0.2 per cent less next year than they did this year.

Despite the reduction, it was charged that the industry has realized windfall profits because of the success of no-fault.

The law provides claims under $2,000 be settled out of court and paid by the motorist's own insurer regardless of blame in the accident. Claims for pain and suffering are barred under the law unless actual medical expenses exceed $500.

The legislature this year gave Ryan the authority to investigate credits to motorists because of excessive profits earned by the industry in 1971.

It was disclosed at recent hearings held by Ryan that the average cost per claim decreased 60 per cent during the first nine months of 1971 compared to the first nine months of 1970.

The legislature this year also extended the no-fault concept to property damage coverage. In effect, the law combines collision and property damage insurance, and Ryan began hearings Tuesday on the most popular Democrat rates for the new type of coverage.

Ryan said at the news conference that the industry had been ordered to provide a 27.6 per cent credit against next year's rates because of excessive profits earned during 1971.

Board Okays Transfer Of Some Funds

The Board of Directors last night unanimously approved some $165,125 in appropriations to and allocations in the General Fund Budget. It also finished up several other routine items on the board agenda.

Additional appropriations approved include:

- Several to the Police Department from funds approved for the town under the Law Enforcement Assistance Act.
- $112,000 for a new communications system in the police station.
- $15,000 for a youth officer who will deal only with youthful offenders and other youth problems.
- $2,000 for new police walkie-talkies.
- $800 for a communication study. This appropriation will be made from 1970-71 surplus.
- Several to the Education Budget.
- $24,000 for a vocational education program at Manchester High School. This will be financed by a state grant.
- $175 for tutorial services to parochial school children. This will also be financed by a state grant.
- $3,300 for Project Outdoor. This money will come from towns which use the services of the Oak Grove Nature Center.
- The board also must allocate from the Capital Improvement Reserve Fund for the purchase from the state of a parcel of land at B. Main and Charter Oak Sts.
- The land is part of the new Benoit Athletic Field there and up to now has been used under a right of entry agreement.
- The board passed an ordinance allowing the purchase before the allocation is made.
- The board also last night instructed Town Manager Robert Wels to have specifications drawn up for updated validating equipment and to get bid prices on the new machines.
- Jerome Baskin, new town auditor, suggested that the proposed updating of the machines be done in a system, including whatever new equipment might be required at the town data center which purchased more cheaply than the machines the town has now.
- The Workable Program for 1972 and 1973 was approved by the board. This document contains projects completed in the last two years and projects proposed for the coming two years. It must be filed with the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development in order for the town to qualify for any HUD grants.
- The resignation of Mrs. Elena Nor-Cottman from the CEAP Agency was accepted and Roger McDermott, chairman of the general government task force, was appointed to fill her position.

Tolland Pre-Election Circular Poses Legal Quandary

If the "group" calling itself "The Concerned Democrats," is made up of three or more persons it is apparently in violation of an election law because it has not filed financial reports with the town clerk. The town clerk, Charles Thiffault, who was running for reelection as first selectman on the Democratic ticket has charged that the material was detrimental to the election campaign and to his personally. The Republican party took all of the top posts in the election.

Mayor Asks Town Curb Its Spending

Mayor John Thompson last night directed Town Manager Robert Wels to curtail spending on all but "essential items" until the sixth month report of the fiscal year is received. Thompson cited unanticipated expenses in the budget such as the $90,000 in architect's fees for the design of two proposed new schools defeated Nov. 2. The announcement yesterday that Pratt and Whitney Aircraft is closing a Manchester warehouse was also cited as a major concern by Thompson.

Assembly Will Try Again On Bills Vetted This Year

Apparently undaunted by Governor Thomas J. Meskill's veto, the legislature will have to decide whether to veto it. The committee has raised several bills in the 1971 session which the governor rejected this year. One of the vetoed measures would allow people to pay court fees on the installment plan. Another would limit the financial liability of municipalities for damage done by mobs.

In a brief session before Judge George Baden, Bailey's lawyers filed a motion to declare the case out of jurisdiction of the court because Barbieri hasn't done enough within the party to get the rules changed overruled.

Auto-Train Schedules Bring the Car with You Auto-Train New Concept For American Travelers

1971, THE WASHINGTON POST WASHINGTON—Here is some pertinent auto-train information presented in question-and-answer form:

Q: When do Auto-Trains depart?
A: Auto-Trains are scheduled to depart at 8 p.m. Eastern time, every day of the year, from both the Florida terminal in Sanford and the Washington terminal at Lorton, Va.

Q: How can you make reservations?
A: By telephoning in the Washington area 783-4000, and elsewhere in the Eastern U.S. a toll-free number, 800-224-8020. The switchboard is open seven days a week from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m.

Q: What is the fare?
A: For a car and up to four passengers, the one-way fare is $190 including meals and snacks. The fare includes a coach seat. For a two-person sleeper roomette, auto-train charges an additional $40. Luggage is also extra. If you take more than four persons in the car, the additional charge is $10 per person.

Q: Can you take a VW bus, or a camper?
A: No—the auto-carriers aren't large enough. But the firm says it will take a trailer or anything else that is the same height or lower than a car and narrower than a car's width—providing you're willing to pay an extra fare. Incidentally, you can't get to your car after it's parked in the auto-carrier cars, so take whatever you need for the ride with you when you drive up to the terminal.

Q: Pets?
A: You can take pets, but only if you have a sleeper roomette. And, says the firm, if you can't put a leash on your pet (like a cat or bird), "please contain it."

Q: When should you arrive at the terminal?
A: Car loading will normally be confined to the hours of 5 p.m. to 7 p.m. In the case of the Lorton terminal, just off Interstate Route 66 about a dozen miles south of the District of Columbia, it is advisable to leave D.C. for the auto-train no later than 5 p.m., because traffic at the time (it's rush hour) is heavy. The first cars loaded are also the first unloaded at the other end.

Kin of Franco Engagement Due
MADRID (AP)—The engagement of Gen. Francisco Franco's eldest granddaughter, Maria del Carmen Martinez, to a member of the Spanish royal family will be announced officially Dec. 23, national television has reported.

It said Tuesday the announcement will be made at a family party at El Pardo Palace, Franco's residence near Madrid.

Sources said the family of Maria del Carmen, 20, recently told friends her engagement to Prince Alfonso de Borbone-Dampierre, 36, Spanish ambassador to Sweden, was practically certain.

Maria del Carmen is the eldest of the seven children of the Marquis and Marquise of Villaverde. The Marquis, Dr. Cristobal Martinez Bordu, is Spain's leading chest surgeon. His wife, Carmen Franco Polo, is the chief of state's only child.

38 Million Tons Of Coal for TVA
KNOXVILLE, Tenn.—Coal receipts at TVA steam plants exceeded 38 million tons in the 1971 fiscal year, about 7 million tons more than a year earlier. The plants burned over 32 million tons of coal, about the same as the previous year.

By WILLIAM H. JONES (C) 1971, The Washington Post SANFORD, Fla.—"I'm never going to drive it again," said Jules Miller, describing the crusting highway network of more than 1,300 miles that links his hometown of Rye, N.Y., and Florida.

Instead, he plans to take the Auto-Train for most of the distance (900 miles) and relax on the way. He was among the passengers on the train's first trip recently.

Auto-Train is a new concept for American travelers: Passengers can bring their cars with them. Moreover, this new Washington railway firm is trying to bring back the high quality of service that once existed on American trains.

If successful, the first Auto-Train could be the forerunner of a national system like that of Europe where combined auto-rail travel has been popular for years in France, Switzerland, Germany and the Benelux nations.

For the railroad industry, the Auto-Trains arriving here each morning from Washington represent a new "fall-crisis" from the time when passengers were encouraged to ride trains and far different from the last two decades. A lot has been borrowed from the airlines: the coffee-tea-or-milk routine, meals at your seats, bright colors, entertainment, and people that smile.

Miller, a manufacturer of women's coats and suits, owns an apartment in Hollywood, Fla., 20 miles north of Miami. He and his wife like to get down here at least a couple of times each year. Formerly they drove, taking from 15 to 24 days. "There were three or four stops a day for meals, and a motel for one night."

Counting tolls, lodging, gas and food, Miller and three other adults usually spent over $170, not counting car depreciation or personal inconvenience. Nevertheless, they wanted to have their car in Florida, and any alternatives were too expensive.

On National Airlines, for example, the one-way fare is $382 for the group of four.

For the Millers, the Auto-Train is like a dream come true—at a cost of $190 per car of four people one-way, including meals.

Monday morning last week, they drove from Rye to the Bronx where they picked up Mr. and Mrs. Albert Plotkin. Plotkin is a tractor of lost persons for Tracers Co. of America, in New York, and his wife is Miller's sister. They all left New York at 12:30 p.m. arriving in Washington at 5.

They took 1:30 to the Lorton, Va. Exit, 13 miles from the District of Columbia. There they easily found Auto-Train Corp.'s new terminal, which can be seen from the highway.

Company employees met them, tended to the auto insurance and helped them with the necessary overnight luggage. The rest was left in the car which an attendant drove on to a two-level, enclosed auto carrier.

Bright stewardesses settled them comfortably in a dome car by 2:30 p.m.

"It was all very festive," said Mrs. Plotkin. After talking with other passengers and touring the train, they sat down to dinner in a buffet car.

The food service contract is held by Marriott Corp. of Washington, the world's largest airline food caterer. There are such specialties as lobster, fried chicken, beef Wellington and stragout, and wines.

After dinner they settled in one of several night clubs. Frank Coviello played the piano upstairs in the lounge section while below, in a less sedate atmosphere, youthful guitarist Billy Dale played lead and long.

A lot of liquor was consumed on both levels at $1.26 for mixed drinks, 75 cents for a tall beer and 30 cents for ginger-ale.

"It's like New Year's eve, a carnival atmosphere, congeniality," said Mrs. Miller as her husband added his loud voice to a chorus of "I've Been Working on the Railroad."

"If all trains are this way, I've missed a lot," said Mrs. Plotkin, who was on her first big train trip. "Don't worry," said Mrs. Miller, recounting a trip she took. "The train was old, dismal... everything was dull," she said.

"And do you know," said Miller, pointing to the train. "I offered one of those gala tips and she absolutely refused it!" There will be 12 stewardesses on each run—one in charge of each passenger car and the others running the buffet cars and bars.

Later, the Millers found some bridge partners while the Plotkins went back to the buffet car which was transformed into a movie house. They watched "The Odd Couple" but turned in before the late, late show "On a Clear Day You Can See Forever."

The next morning, Mrs. Miller said she didn't sleep too well in her coach seat, but said it compared favorably with airline travel—where she also has been unable to sleep sitting up. The big dome car seats give much more leg room than planes and feature foot rests that can be raised high.

Breakfast was served to the passengers in their seats anytime after 6:30 a.m. Both Mrs. Miller and Mrs. Plotkin said the service had been "unbelievably good."

Rested and happy, the group drove away at noon Tuesday. The train had arrived eight minutes earlier than the scheduled time, and it took an hour for the last cars to be unloaded. Officials said that when the crew gains more experience at using the new equipment, unloading time should be reduced sharply.

Animal Air Lift

High over Los Angeles, right, a helicopter flies a strange cargo to a new home away from the urban sprawl. A program initiated by the city with the support of government and private conservation agencies, Animal Air Lift is a rescue operation for wildlife. Once a week, animals rounded up in back yards, alleys and sometimes swimming pools are picked up in box-cages, left and flown to the Los Angeles National Forest to be released, below left. Each lift carries 12 to 16 small animals, birds—such as the pheasant held by animal shelter supervisor Wes Mason, below right—and even an occasional snake (nonpoisonous). It is a fresh start for wild creatures displaced by ever-encroaching civilization.

Concorde Cost Base Price Of $31.2 Million

PARIS (AP) — Each super-sonic Concorde jet transport will cost airlines a base price of $31.2 million, the French announced today.

Henri Ziegler, president of Aerospatiale, the French partner in the French-British project, said the price was based on dollar parties before today's drop in dollar values because of President Nixon's willingness to devalue the currency.

Ziegler also told newsmen that the first six Concorde production aircraft are now guaranteed for delivery in October of 1974.

He said Aerospatiale and Concorde's British contractor, British Aircraft Corp., also guaranteed firm specifications on noise level, range and payload of the aircraft.

The $31.2-million figure is the base unit cost established by the companies. The airlines, in fact, will surely pay more because research and development costs, to be determined by the French and British governments, have not been added in.

But the figure advanced by Ziegler gave a firm idea for the first time of what it would cost an airline to buy a Concorde.

Ziegler said that eight operational Concordes will have come off the assembly lines by the end of 1974. Twenty-four more will be produced in 1975 at a rate of two a month, and from the start of 1976 three Concordes will be built each month.

Asked if he is optimistic that Communist China would buy a Concorde, Ziegler replied: "I'm neither optimistic nor pessimistic; I am sure they will."

Air France, British Overseas Airways Corp. and Pan American World Airways hold preferential options for first delivery of the Concordes.

Ziegler expressed satisfaction at a statement Tuesday by John H. Shaffer, head of the U.S. Federal Aviation Administration, that the Concordes will be acceptable from a noise standpoint at U.S. airports.

Talking about his five minutes as guide to President Nixon in the Concorde in the A-300s on Tuesday, Ziegler said the President told him, "It's a great success. I regret very much that the United States couldn't pursue its program but we're not jealous. That's competition."

Campaign Contributions Filed by Both Parties

In the recent municipal election campaign, the Democratic Town Committee received contributions of over $100 from 23 sources, and the Republican Town Committee had 15 such contributions.

Of the individual candidates, only John Thompson, now chairman of the Board of Directors and mayor, received contributions of over $100. Several candidates, however, spent over $100 of their own money.

Campaign statements from those candidates who designated treasurers were recently filed in the town clerk's office. Only those candidates who designate treasurers are required to file statements, according to state law.

In all, the Democratic Town Committee was donated some $5,897.50, but only spent $3,954.81. Some $5,143 was contributed to the GOP, and $6,003.00 was spent.

Topping the list of Democratic contributors was Neil Ellis of 45 Bittern Rd. with a $400 donation.

Contributing $200 each were Alexander Jarvis of 26 Alexander St., Hayden Griswold Jr. of 86 Hollow Lane, Democratic Town Chairman Ted Cummings of 87 Lawton Rd., and Matthew Moriarty of 79 Forest St.

Contributing $100 each to the Democratic cause were Clarence Polley of 85 Hollister St., Robert Stone of 60 Battumt of 189 Shallow Brook Lane, and the Democratic Women's Club.

One-hundred-dollar Democratic contributors included Harold W. Garrity of Tolland, Ed-ter St., $150 from the United Auto Workers in Hartford, and

U.S. Bureau Makes Change

PARIS (AP) — Paul E. Knight became regional director of the U.S. Narcotics Bureau in Europe today. He replaced John T. Chusack, who is returning to Washington, next month.

The replacement of Chusack had been described by a number of U.S. congressmen as an American surrender to French political pressure. He was criticized for the effectiveness of French police efforts to cut off the heroin flow from the big southern port of Marseille to the United States.

Knight, a Harvard graduate, is a career officer with the Bureau of Narcotics and Dangerous Drugs. He previously headed the bureau's office in Kabul, Afghanistan.

Labor Claims IRS Secrecy Encourages Rent Violations

WASHINGTON (AP) — Organized labor has gone to court in an attack on a government policy of information blackout. It says the policy could encourage price and rent chasers to repeat their violations.

A lawsuit filed Tuesday by the New York City municipal union says the Internal Revenue Service policy that keeps secret the names of cheating landlords and businessmen unless the government sues them, is "because of this policy a conspiracy of silence has been created which encourages rent chasers, even if asked for information affecting the public interest, to keep silent."

The suit seeks the names and locations of all wage-price court violators since Nov. 15, plus de- information on what the IRS has done to correct the violations.

In another matter Tuesday, the Pay Board put off for a week consideration of a public-employee pay increase of 11.8 percent. The board voted 5 to 5 to de-fer a decision on the pact, because the government says that, unless the union agrees to a similar agreement, it will not accept the pact. The board also could consider a union proposal for a 10 percent pay increase over the next three years, and 17 cents per hour over the next three years.

The pay board's general guideline is that no raise may exceed 8.5 percent a year unless special circumstances warrant. But it said it will consider the cost of living in reviewing contracts.

Playing an Accordion Helps To Be an Author, First Be an Actor

By BOB THOMAS
Associated Press Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Shirley MacLaine hit the best-seller lists with "Don't Fall Off the Mountain," "Tom" and "Hombre." The "Other," and "Hombre" were followed by "The Gift Horse." More and more performers are seeking the gold and glory of the literary world.

Lawrence Welk, the author, has sold 12,000 copies of his memoirs, "Wunderful, Wonderful." Ruth Gordon made the lists with her reminiscences, "Myself Among Others." Julie Andrews supplied Harper & Row with its best-selling children's book in years, "Mandy." Mary Astor tells of her part in "A Life of Film." Alexander Knox—"Wilson"—has published a distinguished novel, "Night of the White Bear." Joan Crawford has expounded on "My Way of Life" and Betty Drake, formerly Mrs. Cary Grant, has written a novel, "Children, You Are Very Little."

Dick Van Dyke produced

Miss Keyes keeps her hand in acting. She did a television pilot and two English television shows during the past year. This was her return to Hollywood after a dozen years, and she finds it much changed.

"I'm glad I left," she said. "Hollywood would be the worst place to be if you have been a 'glamor girl' and find yourself getting older. I don't mind it at all. I've found something else—writing—that gives me more satisfaction than I ever knew in film."

Late to join the author-star sweepstakes is Evelyn Keyes. Movie fans of the 1940s and the late show will recall her in the Ruby Keeler role of "The John Story." She played one of Scarlett O'Hara's sisters in "Gone With the Wind."

She was also noted for a tempestuous marriage to John Houston and a surprisingly joint bid one to Arnie Shaw. She is the longest lasting of his wives; they are still wed after 10 years.

Miss Keyes admitted that her husband, himself an author, influenced the writing of her new novel, "I Am a Billionaire."

"He left me alone during the writing, but he offered some criticism when I had finished. Per one thing, he pointed out that the girl in the story was too much of a victim; she was changed with a whole new section," she said.

"I Am a Billionaire" concerns a Southern beauty who comes to California, has a teenage marriage, gets discovered for films and has a wild live match with a famous director. Pretty much the Evelyn Keyes story.

"I suppose it might be called autobiographical; you write about what you know," she remarked. "At least one part is recognizable."

"Remember when John Houston was directing 'We Were Strangers' with Jennifer Jones and John Garfield, and she gave him a champagne as a gift? The champagne fell in love with John, and he brought it home to live with us in a all-white apartment we had. That's in the book," she said.

Still blonde and beautiful, in 52 seconds.

Business Mirror Annual Manhour Output Worries a New Retiree

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — High corporate executives sometimes use the final months before retirement to express their deep beliefs or to leave a lasting impact on matters they consider of great national importance.

A memorable though hardly typical example is that of Roger Blough, who preceded his retirement from U.S. Steel, the biggest steel producer, with expressions of alarm over wage increases while the rest of the nation worried about the high price of steel.

James M. Roche, who leaves the chairmanship of General Motors, the world's biggest manufacturer, at the end of this month, is deeply concerned about productivity.

In an article for members of the National Association of Manufacturers, Roche observed that over the past five years output per manhour increased at an average annual rate of only 2.1 per cent in the United States.

This rate, he said, was the lowest of any of the 11 leading industrial countries. The comparable figure for West Germany was 5.3 per cent, for Sweden 7.9, Switzerland 6.2 and Japan 4.2.

In contrast, he said, hourly compensation in the same period rose 6 per cent a year in the United States, which meant that unit labor costs rose 3.9 per cent a year compared with 1.2 in Germany, 2.5 in Sweden, less than one per cent in Japan and no change in Switzerland.

"Don't expect any remission in the debate between ecologists and the power company people. It doesn't seem to be in the cards or in the planning of either group. Presumably they want peace; the forecast is based on the expectation that they simply aren't likely to get it."

Packard Offers Profits to Poor

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former Deputy Defense Secretary David Packard says his company made $14.5 million for him while he was in public office, so he's giving an equivalent amount to charity.

Before he took office in January 1969, Packard owned $50 million worth of stock in Hewlett-Packard Co., a Palo Alto, Calif., electronics firm.

He agreed to place the stock in trust to avoid conflict-of-interest charges, because the firm does much of its business with the Defense Department.

Packard said Tuesday a day after he gave up the defense post, that the trust had increased in value by $14.5 million while he was in office and he planned to give an equivalent amount to stock holdings to charity.

Packard plans to return to California to take over as board chairman of the firm he co-founded.

Medals To Bear Names of Winners

MONTE CARLO — For the first time, the names of the winners will appear on the Olympic Games medals here in 1972. They will be engraved between the events and the medal presentations.

"Tests have shown that, for example, the name of the Tunisian winner of the 2,000 meters in Mexico in 1968, Mohammed Gammoudi, could be engraved in 52 seconds."

Not Our Job To Collect, Say Judges

HARTFORD (AP) — Connecticut's supreme Court justices are not anxious to do the work of the state legislature and the state treasurer in levying a $150 annual lawyers fee.

The fee was enacted by the General Assembly last summer, but by Tuesday only 78 attorneys had paid fees totaling $11,700, compared to the $500,000 the legislature expected.

The Connecticut Bar Association, which considers the fee unconstitutional, filed a lawsuit Tuesday that the judicial department impose the fee on lawyers as a condition of their practicing. The idea is to erase a black eye lawyers feel they have because most members of the bar have not paid.

"You're getting into a very difficult situation and you're going to look worse than you do now," Justice John P. Cotter warned.

"Doesn't the bar association realize the very serious public relations problem that existing here?" asked Justice Elmer W. Ryan.

"People just cannot understand why an engineer should have to pay and a lawyer does not. No amount of philosophy, sophistry will get by that," he said.

Engineers were also taxed $150 by the legislature.

The high court justices expressed the feeling that the problem was the legislators' who created an ambiguous bill.

Chief Justice Charles E. Hughes asked, "As a practical matter, isn't the legislature going to reverse the tax? Isn't all this pretty much academic?"

He added that it was not unprecedented for legislators to write bills in "incredible language."

Justice Cotter said the power to collect the tax should lie with the state treasurer once the legislature has properly drawn it.

The bar proposal does not mention a specific fee and specifies a different amount for beginning lawyers and those over 70 years of age.

Blaze Destroys College Building

CARLETON, Vt. (AP) — Fire destroyed a three-story administrative building at Carleton State College this morning.

The Carleton Fire Department said the Leavenworth Building, a three-story brick building, was completely engulfed in flames when they arrived.

Fire departments from three area towns arrived at the fire shortly before 9 a.m.

The building housed about 70 faculty offices, a student ballroom, a bookstore and a snack bar.

At 8 a.m., only the charred shell of the building was standing. Fire officials evacuated two homes and another administrative building which were less than 50 feet away from the fire.

Student dormitories, which are located about a half-mile away from the Leavenworth Building, were not endangered.

School officials said it was the worst fire at the school since 1924 when the Woodruff Building burned to the ground.

The new Woodruff building was one of those evacuated this morning because of its proximity to Leavenworth.

The Leavenworth Building was one of the original structures of the college and, at one time, housed all of the college's teaching facilities.

Only one injury was reported in today's fire. Lt. Frank Walsh broke his ankle when he fell.

Fire officials said the fire was discovered by a night watchman at 8:40 a.m.

Nixon Avoids Yule Gathering

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon was home from the Azores in plenty of time, but he didn't drop in Tuesday night at a White House open house for members of Congress and their families.

Despite the late sessions on Capitol Hill, the White House clocked in 90 of the congressional families for the 4 to 8 p.m. party.

The President's wife, Pat, and daughter, Julie Nixon Eisenhower, showed up for an hour.

Though she was in the White House, too, daughter Tricia Nixon Cox stayed away from the gathering.

The party was the first of a series of Christmas holiday open houses the Nixons are giving for top government officials, their staffs and news people.

The congressional open house was not open to the press.

Japan, Egypt, Holland and Venezuela, from left, are represented by Robin Lukas, David Warner, Robin Nivison and Teri Dandeneau in the one-act play, "Happy Birthday to UNICEF," an assembly program by the Verplank School fifth grade class of Mrs. Cecilia Moore. The theme was the observance of the birthday of Susan, played by Laureen Manseau, and the 25th anniversary of the international organization. Other members of the cast were Karen Steeves, Mark Murphy, Nancy Wolfram, Alan Ogren, Joseph Cantin, and Cari McCann. The audience joined in singing "Long May She Live" when Susan wished "that children all over the world could join together to wish UNICEF a happy birthday." John Blake of Mrs. Constance Adams' fourth grade class was announcer. A moment of silent prayer was held in memory of Dr. Ralph Bunche, late undersecretary-general of the U.N.

Snowy Yule Statistics

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Chances are only one in four there will be a white Christmas in Annette, Alaska.

For Nantucket, Mass., the odds for good stockings are one in 10. Residents of Oklahoma City, Okla., and Olympia, Wash., have virtually no chance of finding an inch of snow on the ground when they arise Dec. 25.

The government is trying to take the guesswork out of predicting when Christmas will be white by issuing a list of 269 cities and the historical probabilities that there will be snow on the ground.

The National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, which keeps climatological records for cities and towns where there are National Weather Service offices, emphasizes that the figures are probabilities and not forecasts.

"If the figure is 70 per cent, for example, it means that there normally would be snow on the ground seven years out of 10," NOAA said.

NOAA said "it does not necessarily mean a White Christmas this year."

Variations also may result in cities where the weather station and the downtown area are widely separated by either distance or elevation, NOAA said.

Explaining that there is some snow in the suburbs and in the city proper.

But overall, here are some of the findings: Roanoke, Va., (27 per cent) has a greater chance than the average of snow on Christmas.

Yonkers, N.Y., (23 per cent), has a greater chance than the average of snow on Christmas.

There are some predictables, of course. Cities in Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Hawaii and Mississippi have a zero probability of a white Christmas.

Of 14 cities listed in California, only Bishop (4 per cent) has any chance at all.

There are other New England cities on the list. Hartford, Conn., has a 38 per cent chance of snow on Christmas from the NOAA list.

Connecticut-bridgeport, 38; Hartford, 45; New Haven, 43; Maine-Caribou, 97; Portland, 63.

Adult Status Given Youths In California

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — One million young Californians have won all the legal rights of adulthood—except drinking—under terms of a measure signed into law by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

State residents aged 18, 19, and 20 will now be able to buy property and obtain credit cards. Along with the privileges go some responsibilities, including jury duty.

The Republican governor told a news conference Tuesday that he is confident young adults will conduct themselves in a manner deserving of the high expectations and confidence we are placing in them."

House leaders have scheduled a vote Wednesday on an emergency unemployment compensation bill that would provide an extra 13 weeks of benefits in an estimated 11 states and Puerto Rico.

The program would end next July 1. Official estimates are that it might benefit about 800,000 workers.

While there were no up-to-date statistics available, officials identifying the areas that would qualify, officials said they probably include Alaska, California, Connecticut, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, New Jersey, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont and Washington as well as Puerto Rico.

The Senate will take up the bill as soon as it clears the House.

No-Fault Insurance Unlikely Unless Rate Cuts Guaranteed

By DON MERKLE

HARTFORD (AP) — As the state No-Fault Insurance Commission continues its hearings at the Capitol, at least one point is becoming clear: The threat of large awards for "pain and suffering" is not likely to change the present system unless they can guarantee Connecticut motorists a cut in insurance rates.

Going to a no-fault system is bound to do at least three things: (1) reduce the number of lawsuits stemming from auto accidents; (2) reduce the number of lawyers' fees stemming from auto accidents; and (3) reduce the average settlement for accidents in which minor injuries are suffered.

To begin with, the poll must be extensive enough to be significant.

In one case, an accused felon sought a change of venue on the ground that the local populace was prejudiced against him. But the court refused to grant the motion as the judge found that the public would be confused.

Any politician who has his salt knows you don't take with out giving something. In this case, the "something" just about has to be a reduction in auto insurance rates.

The message has come through in questions and comments from such legislators as Sen. Jay Jackson, D-West Hartford, Sen. Lewis Rome, R-Bloomfield, and Rep. John Carrozzella, D-Wallingford.

Carrozzella, evidently balancing the factors in his mind, went so far as to ask one insurance industry witness Tuesday just how the money to be saved on a particular no-fault plan would compare on a percentage basis with the abridgment of rights that motorists would have to endure. Such questions are not easily devised, and the witness, of course, was unable to respond.

But Carrozzella's question did express a basic concern of those who have constituencies to worry about: "What are we giving people that is of greater value than what we are taking away?"

Perhaps the most trenchant answer was given by T. Lawrence Jones, president of the American Insurance Association.

The right to sue, as it now exists, is really only the right to "gamble," said Jones, referring to the gamble which a driver takes when he tries to prove another driver responsible for an accident.

If the injured driver is found even partially to blame for the accident he may not collect a penny from the other driver.

Bill Settles Alaska Land Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to sign into law a bill to give Alaska their aboriginal land claims.

The bill, sent to the White House by Congress Tuesday, is a compromise worked out by the Senate-House conference committee, and is almost as liberal as one proposed by the administration.

The administration had recommended $1.5 billion and 40 million acres to settle the claims of the 56,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians.

The claims to most of the vast Alaska land mass are based on ancestral use and occupancy and have been recognized since the U.S. purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million in 1867.

The conference report, a compromise of bills passed earlier by the Senate and the House, also calls for a joint effort to benefit the natives.

Congress Looking To Adjourn

WASHINGTON (AP) — After sending President Nixon legislation extending his economic powers, Congress is looking for a cluster of money bills in hopes of adjourning today.

The bill continuing Nixon's authority over wages, prices and rents through April 30, 1973, got final approval by voice vote in the Senate and House Tuesday.

It contains a provision which sponsors said would release most previously negotiated wage increases frozen during the initial phase of anti-inflation controls.

Nixon wanted this decision left to the Pay Board, but he nevertheless was expected to sign the bill that provides the essential machinery he requested for administration of Phase 2.

A last-minute threat to the bill was eliminated Tuesday when a hastily reconvened Senate-House conference cut out a provision that had been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. It would have allowed top salaries of Congress to be increased from $26,000 to $28,000.

The Senate passed a compromise election-reform bill by voice vote Tuesday, but the House deferred consideration until the next session starting Jan. 18.

The money bills (separating adjournment provide financing for the Defense Department, the District of Columbia, and the foreign-aid program for the fiscal year already half gone.) The major stumbling block is

Killian Upholds Minimum Age In State Juries

HARTFORD (AP) — The president of the Connecticut Business and Industry Association said Tuesday that the minimum age of jurors remain unchanged although the minimum age of voters was dropped to 18.

Killian said the legislative intent was that the minimum age of jurors as well as the federal government require that jurors be not less than 21 years of age.

In an opinion published in the Connecticut Law Journal, Killian ruled Tuesday that the minimum age of jurors remain unchanged although the minimum age of voters was dropped to 18.

He noted, however, that the product of material or finished goods coming into this country would be more expensive to Americans.

Devaluation May Benefit State Business

Director Jerome Remkiewicz, who has been investigating complaints about the delays in mail delivery within the town, told the directors at a meeting yesterday that until such a central facility is established, this problem will exist.

The town has three post offices, one in Rockville, one in Vernon and the other in Talcottville. The Vernon station was made the main station when the postal services were consolidated about a year ago.

The mail for delivery in Talcottville and Rockville goes to the Vernon station where it is sorted for the three areas. The bulk of the mail then goes to agency was to avoid any possibility of being accused of soliciting of interest, which might have caused the delay. Remkiewicz said that if the police themselves only a larger facility could handle the sorting in one operation.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Proof by Poll

Science has long played a vital role in the courtroom. X-rays, blood tests, photographs, fingerprints—all are familiar ingredients in the judicial process.

But what about the data provided by a modern public opinion poll? Are polls considered scientific enough to be trusted?

To a growing degree, yes. At polling has become more skeptical courts have become less skeptical.

The fact remains, however, that the law will take a hard look at any particular poll before putting faith in its findings.

Bill Settles Alaska Land Claims

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is expected to sign into law a bill to give Alaska their aboriginal land claims.

The bill, sent to the White House by Congress Tuesday, is a compromise worked out by the Senate-House conference committee, and is almost as liberal as one proposed by the administration.

The administration had recommended $1.5 billion and 40 million acres to settle the claims of the 56,000 Eskimos, Aleuts and Indians.

The claims to most of the vast Alaska land mass are based on ancestral use and occupancy and have been recognized since the U.S. purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million in 1867.

The conference report, a compromise of bills passed earlier by the Senate and the House, also calls for a joint effort to benefit the natives.

Congress Looking To Adjourn

WASHINGTON (AP) — After sending President Nixon legislation extending his economic powers, Congress is looking for a cluster of money bills in hopes of adjourning today.

The bill continuing Nixon's authority over wages, prices and rents through April 30, 1973, got final approval by voice vote in the Senate and House Tuesday.

It contains a provision which sponsors said would release most previously negotiated wage increases frozen during the initial phase of anti-inflation controls.

Nixon wanted this decision left to the Pay Board, but he nevertheless was expected to sign the bill that provides the essential machinery he requested for administration of Phase 2.

A last-minute threat to the bill was eliminated Tuesday when a hastily reconvened Senate-House conference cut out a provision that had been ruled unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. It would have allowed top salaries of Congress to be increased from $26,000 to $28,000.

The Senate passed a compromise election-reform bill by voice vote Tuesday, but the House deferred consideration until the next session starting Jan. 18.

Killian Upholds Minimum Age In State Juries

HARTFORD (AP) — The president of the Connecticut Business and Industry Association said Tuesday that the minimum age of jurors remain unchanged although the minimum age of voters was dropped to 18.

Killian said the legislative intent was that the minimum age of jurors as well as the federal government require that jurors be not less than 21 years of age.

In an opinion published in the Connecticut Law Journal, Killian ruled Tuesday that the minimum age of jurors remain unchanged although the minimum age of voters was dropped to 18.

He noted, however, that the product of material or finished goods coming into this country would be more expensive to Americans.

Director Jerome Remkiewicz, who has been investigating complaints about the delays in mail delivery within the town, told the directors at a meeting yesterday that until such a central facility is established, this problem will exist.

The town has three post offices, one in Rockville, one in Vernon and the other in Talcottville. The Vernon station was made the main station when the postal services were consolidated about a year ago.

The mail for delivery in Talcottville and Rockville goes to the Vernon station where it is sorted for the three areas. The bulk of the mail then goes to agency was to avoid any possibility of being accused of soliciting of interest, which might have caused the delay. Remkiewicz said that if the police themselves only a larger facility could handle the sorting in one operation.

Board Splits on Party Lines On ADM Suit, Assessor Wages

By GLENN BARNER
(Herald Reporter)

Members of the Board of Directors voted on strict party lines twice last night — once in agreeing to enter, as a friend of the court, the Connecticut Conference of Mayors' suit to restore Gov. Thomas Meskall's cuts in ADM grants to cities and towns; and once in authorizing a shift in the wage classification of the town assessor's position from group 21 to wage group 22. Both votes were six to three with the six Democrats voting for each proposal and the three Republicans voting against them.

According to Town Counsel David Barry, in entering the suit against the state, as a friend of the court, the town will not have to pay any legal fees, but will be allowed to file a brief in the case.

The new pay scale for the town assessor ranges from $12,680.40 to $15,397.20 a year. The previous range was $11,388.60 to $13,788.60. A new town assessor, Edgar Belleville of Rockville, will begin Dec. 20 at $14,500 a year.

Barry outlined five possible actions for the board to take in the ADM suit ranging from doing nothing to becoming a party plaintiff in the action. Barry recommended the assessor's position.

He said apparently the Connecticut Conference of Mayors plans a "general solicitation" of all Connecticut cities and towns to defray the cost of the suit.

Opinion Unchanged

It is hoped that a resolution of the action will be reached in the current fiscal year. The case will probably be decided by a judge before the Connecticut Supreme Court, he said.

James Farr, mayor up until the Nov. 2 Democratic sweep of the municipal election, said, "I haven't changed my opinion. When the conference of mayors votes on whether or not to pursue legal action against the governor, Farr said then director Carl Zissner above the law."

Mrs. Vivian Ferguson said it boiled down to a political decision, which seemed to be born out in the vote. She said she thinks Meskall is honestly trying to correct the problem of the "rumormongering" state had when he assumed office.

Director Jon Norris said, "I felt that much of the information would be redundant to veteran members of the board."

Thompson remarked that Weiss brought up the assessor's salary at this meeting. He told the majority that he was successful in getting the top candidate for the assessor's job at the $13,700 figure, Weiss suggested $14,500.

Thompson said the majority felt this was reasonable. If there was no strong objection from Farr, the person Thompson says he considers minority leader, he said when he spoke to Farr by telephone, Farr voiced "tempered" objection which Thompson did not consider strong.

Thompson called it "extremely unfortunate" and "unwise" that the salary was released to the newspapers before the board acted on it.

Defends Meeting

Farr called it "foolish" that the item was on the agenda at all since the salary had already been in the paper. "I don't believe my opinion was even asked," Farr added. "I had no idea I was being petitioned on the phone."

Anthony Pietrantonio defended the meeting of Democrats and Weiss said "I think this board should call on the manager quite frequently. This majority, if we do not meet with the manager from time to time, will be remiss."

Diana questioned how other department heads feel. "How would a guy like Jim Reardon (police chief) feel bringing in a guy over him?" Diana said the salary shift should be postponed to budget-making time.

Prignano said, "Unfortunately we don't hire and fire at budget time."

Mrs. Ferguson charged that the new salary figure was decided in a meeting between the six Democratic directors and Weiss. She charged further that the legality of the Democratic error's action, the theory being that the Democrats campaigned on a pledge to include

Tolland County Superior Court New Quade Charge Filed But State Won't Reveal It

A surprise additional information was lodged against Dr. Albert Quade yesterday by Assistant State's Attorney Abbot Schwebel, however Schwebel refused to reveal what the charge or charges were.

He asked the court to order the file sealed immediately, and Judge Henry J. Naruk did so. The new charge came as a surprise to defense Atty. Charles S. Partinlan and just at the time Dr. Quade, 48, and his wife, Mary Dean Quade, 42, of Storrs were scheduled to finally make their plea to the original charges, some of which have been pending in this court for over a year.

"They were arrested last December and charged by State Police with operating an alleged illegal marriage counseling service using sexual deviation as therapy."

Yesterday Dr. Quade pleaded innocent and elected trial by jury to the original charges including one count each of practicing medicine without a certificate, practicing psychology without a license, indecent assault, seduction of a minor female and rape.

Mrs. Quade also pleaded innocent and chose a jury trial on the charges against her. These were brought in on a second arrest after her first arrest on a charge of indecent assault was declared illegal, Judge William P. Barber, ruled, on a motion.

minority directors in budget-making sessions.

Mrs. Ferguson pointed out that at an executive session following a recent board meeting, the salary agreed on was $13,700, the total of the subsequent meeting with Weiss and said she was "extremely disappointed."

Thompson replied that the meeting with Weiss was not an executive session, rather a meeting to discuss the nature of the assessor's office and other general information. He said he felt that much of the information would be redundant to veteran members of the board.

Thompson remarked that Weiss brought up the assessor's salary at this meeting. He told the majority that he was successful in getting the top candidate for the assessor's job at the $13,700 figure, Weiss suggested $14,500.

Injured While Restraining Patients Increased Employee Accidents At State Mental Hospital Blamed on Jobs Left Open

MIDDLETOWN (AP) — Personnel shortages here have caused a dramatic increase in the number of employee accidents, union leaders charged Tuesday.

Between Sept. 1 and Nov. 10, a total of 58 employees at the Connecticut Valley Hospital were injured in patient-related accidents, said Warren Caverty, business agent of Council 16, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees.

Caverty also said the state has reneged on a promise made by Gov. Thomas J. Meskall to add 10 guards to the security treatment center at the hospital.

"We're really suffering from lack of help," Caverty said. "All of the 28 accidents occurred when employees were trying to restrain unruly patients or trying to break up fights between patients or trying to lift patients without any help," he said.

"We feel a great percentage of the accidents could be cut down with more help," Caverty said.

Meskall announced that 10 new guards would be authorized for the security center about one week after a group of patients staged an uprising Oct. 10.

The new guards were to be part of a larger security force authorized at the maximum-security building.

Caverty said the state has subsequently cut the number of new guards to three, and that no tangible results whatever have been produced.

"In fact there is one less guard working there now than before the announcement, because the center lost several people and has not replaced them," Caverty said.

Mario DiDonno, president of Local 380, said the line of one guard who has worked double shifts every working day for the past three weeks because of the shortage.

Mrs. DiDonno, who is herself recuperating from a patient-related accident, said that unlike the guards other employees have not been allowed to work overtime since September.

"Until September, they utilized overtime to substitute for the shortage of help," she said. "Since then, accidents have risen up to almost three and four a day."

She said that wards that formerly were staffed by three or four aids at all times "have been cut down to the barest minimum of two."

As of Nov. 1, she said, there were 150 vacancies at the hospital, between 80 and 90 of them nursing positions.

Mrs. DiDonno underwent surgery for a torn cartilage suffered while struggling with a patient on the night of Aug. 26.

Mrs. DiDonno said she and a male employee went to the Bristol Police headquarters to bring to the hospital two alcoholic patients.

"The male patient was kept in the car until we could get the female to the hospital in case of trouble," she said. "As an officer and I were bringing her in she started to fight and as a result she fell and I fell with her."

Mrs. DiDonno added: "Ordinarily, there would have been three or four employees sent to pick them up, because she is a known fighter." The shortage of personnel has caused many patient programs either to be cut drastically or eliminated entirely, she said.

"A day-care program, in which out-patients who needed more rehabilitation would come in and different employees would work with them, has been shut down completely," Mrs. DiDonno said. "I understand it was working very well, but around Nov. 1 they shut it down. They had to utilize those employees in other places."

"The Help Line program now is run mostly on a volunteer basis, because nobody is available to man telephones and talk to disturbed people who might, for, she said, because employees are shifted from ward to ward and building to building relieving jobs created because of the shortage.

"No rehabilitation programs were cancelled because employees as don't know if they can be there," Mrs. DiDonno said. "Now therapy groups can't be in Zagreb's main square, probably because you're there for one day and for the next week you may be there."

"As a result, anybody can be arrested in the city, capital of the Croats and scene of an anti-Croatian strike last month triggered a widespread purge rope, where it became well of the Croatian Communist par-

Tolland County Superior Court Inmate Wins Legal Point, Declines to Make Plea

Louis F. Cofone Jr., 32, one of nine inmates arrested in connection with an alleged escape attempt from the prison at Somers scored a legal point yesterday when he refused to make his plea.

A motion to dismiss has been filed in the case by Public Defender Lawrence Giacca, and this has yet to be argued and decided, Cofone was under pressure to plea but stated he would wait for the motion to be decided.

Judge Henry J. Naruk commented, "Technically he might be right," since a motion to dismiss attacking the jurisdiction should be argued before a plea. The plea date was continued to Jan. 11 Cofone is charged with attempted escape, criminal attempt and conspiracy in what is dated as believed to be the largest scale planned escape at the prison.

Richard Roberts, 38, of Coventry, R. Hardship Proof Necessary To Get New Phone in NYC

By WALTER STOVALL, Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A new supermarket on upper Broadway has been unable to get a telephone for nearly two months, forcing manager Pat Giordano to take his computerized ordering equipment to order or live with it.

"A woman saw me in the phone booth the other day and thought, 'I was from Cantile Camera,'" said Giordano. "And I have to call my main office every two hours anyway so this is just that much more of a pain for me."

"This is a strike by New York State telephone installers and repairmen that began as part of a nationwide strike last July 11 and has resulted, so far, in a waiting list of 20,000 for new phones in New York City. A statewide survey by The Associated Press shows only 10 percent of the out-of-staters sent home days a week before the strike began.

Most of the 20,000 backlog of the strike when the company was not using out-of-state salesmen, among others, Dow Jones, the financial publisher, lack of telephones," said a telephone company official.

Mr. Robert Kheel was pregnant when she and her husband moved into their Manhattan apartment. She told the telephone company she was expecting soon.

"The woman told me to get a letter from my doctor," Mrs. Kheel said. "He wrote to the company straight away saying a phone would be necessary in a few days when I could stay in touch with her our phone."

John L. Regall, a company vice president, said he had no way of getting in touch with anyone outside my apartment," said Miss Dench, an anthropologist.

She said she had been told by the telephone company to ignore a monthly bill for "basic service."

For some businesses, the problem is one of cost as well as inconvenience. A magazine editor, said she paid a $50 deposit and, after missing three days of work waiting for the installer, called to find out what had happened.

She said an attempt to pay a higher deposit failed to get any action and finally a few weeks later she said she would try again after the strike. She said she received a check from the company for $50.00, which included interest.

Despite the inconvenience to some, and the length of the strike, Public Service Commission Chairman Joseph C. Swidler said earlier this month that telephone service here "is better than it has been in the last two years."

Effects Studied On Withdrawal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., said today that withdrawal from certain kinds of barbiturate addiction can be worse than heroin withdrawal and sometimes even fatal.

Bayh, chairman of the Senate juvenile delinquency subcommittee, made his remark in a statement prepared for the opening of a subcommittee hearing into barbiturate use. The symptoms of withdrawal from barbiturates, called "downers" and commonly used as sleeping pills, include nausea, fever, tremors, insomnia, headache and nervousness, Bayh said.

"After three days," he added, "some go into convulsions and only one thing to do. Sudden withdrawal of barbiturates is often fatal."

"Children grow up watching their parents take these pills," he said, "and they quickly develop an acceptance of drug taking."

"Such casual attitudes toward these potentially destructive drugs, coupled with a readily available supply in the family medicine cabinet, appear to be intimately connected with the current trend in youthful barbiturate abuse."

Book Review

AMERICAN INDIAN ART

By Norman Feder. Abrams, $20. Interest in the art of the American Indian has been rising in just the last few years, and this seems to be the time when publishers are giving it a boost.

This is a large format volume in which the whole range of Indian art is covered—the Plains, Woodlands, Pacific, Southwest, Northwest, Arctic and many subdivisions, arranged geographically, everything from pottery, baskets and beadwork to ceremonial masks, carvings, robes, silverwork, dolls, totema and many other items are included. The illustrations are well reproduced—302 of them, including 60 color plates.

The author, Denver curator of American Indian and native arts, is a well recognized authority on the subject. He was the guest director of an exhibit of North American Indian Art at the Whitney Museum of Art this fall, and the catalogue for that exhibit is being published by Praeger.

The Abrams book is more comprehensive than the exhibit catalogue, both in text and illustrations. It is learned enough to appeal to the serious student, yet still not so technical as to trouble the layman. It can serve well as a basic survey of the whole field, emphasizing as it does the esthetic qualities of American Indian art.

any young politician who aspires to the job may change his mind. Wilson was beset by crises after another. The main one involved his job of raising British exports and defending the pound sterling against at-home and abroad. In the middle of his term, Nov. 13, 1967, his government had to devalue. What he says is appropriate today, when the world's money is in a state of flux. "Devaluation was not forced upon us by any failure to carry through the policies which in 1964 we had transferred an unprecedented overseas deficit to a surplus."

Dry Season Supply Effort Drags for North Vietnam

WASHINGTON (AP)—North Vietnam's dry-season effort to resupply its troops in South Vietnam and Cambodia is only about half as big as it was a year ago, Pentagon sources said.

The level of this effort has been rising, however, and officials say the North Vietnamese have managed enough stocks in the movement of troop reinforcements but also to the supplies to support Communist soldiers.

Coventry Exchanges Their Sessions

Beginning Monday, Jan. 24, morning and afternoon kindergarten at Coventry Grammar School and afternoon sessions at Coventry Grammar School will be held in the morning session, with the present afternoon session in the morning.

They cited three reasons for the switch: to establish conformity with existing practice in the state, to accustom the children to differences in bus and operational procedures, and to provide each child with the opportunity of attending school for both parts of the day. This marks the first time since kindergarten was established in the local school in 1968 that such a mid-year switch has taken place.

Next week will be a busy one for Coventry Grammar School youngsters, in preparation for the Christmas holidays.

On Monday, Dec. 20, students will be treated to a musical program put on by sixth graders from Capt. Nathan Hale School, with both morning and afternoon performances slated at CGS.

On Tuesday, all CGS classes will hold their Christmas parties, and on Wednesday, the monthly film, "Tom Thumb," will be shown.

Thursday, Dec. 23, will be an early closing day, with CGS students dismissed at 12:30. In the morning, youngsters in Mrs. Mary Carlson's third grade class will present a Christmas program for the entire school, with two performances scheduled.

Eye Tests Completed

The 14th session of the Public Health Nursing Association vision screening clinic for the detection of amblyopia has ended, with 367 pre-school age children being tested in 10 sessions. The clinic will resume in March.

Contributions totaling $1,007 have been received to date in the annual PSNA fund drive. Nearly 2,000 letters were sent out to PSNA members in the annual appeal, with 191 replies.

Contributions are still welcome. They may be sent to Mrs. Virginia Diehl, secretary, at the PSNA office in the Town Hall.

The office will be closed on Dec. 24 and Dec. 31.

At a recent meeting of the Board of Welfare, Mrs. Jeanne Castiglione, in the responsibility of this appointed, sworn agency to give temporary emergency aid to needy families.

According to Mrs. Diehl, the Board of Welfare welcomes questions, provides family counseling, and attempts to refer people to other agencies when unable to help.

The Board works in close conjunction with the Public Health Nursing Association, other charitable organizations, and the state Welfare Department in order to assist residents when the need arises.

Tree Sale On

The North Coventry Fire Department is once again selling Coventry grown Christmas trees at the firehouse, 31 and Wrights Mill Rd. The trees are on sale now, and will remain so until Dec. 23. Hours are 7 to 9 p.m. during the week and all day on the weekend.

The department is continuing its sale of fire extinguishers, also at the fire house and during the same hours.

Manchester Evening Herald Herald correspondent Holly Gantner, tel. 742-8765.

Civic Center Bid At $16.7 Million

HARTFORD (AP)—The Gilbane Building Co. of Providence, R.I., is the apparent low bidder for the Hartford Civic Center coliseum, officials said Tuesday.

The low bid was $16,749,000. Gilbane also is building the New Haven Coliseum.

Nicholas Carbone, chairman of the city's civic center committee, said he would insist on a stringent review of the low bidder's qualifications.

"I want assurance they can perform on time," he said.

The department is continuing its sale of fire extinguishers, also at the fire house and during the same hours.

The coliseum will also include an exhibition hall and an assembly hall.

Up to 11 1/2 Pounds

placements were said to be at various stages en route from Cambodia.

The sources said Communist units in the U.S. Marsh forest in the delta are badly in need of replacements as a result of the campaign by two South Vietnamese army divisions to clear the forest as a Communist base in the rice-growing delta.

It is expected to keep rising to about 14 or 15 pounds by 1980.

Campaign-Spending Bill Awaits Congressional Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — The first major reform of the federal campaign-spending law in nearly a half-century is one step-and one month-away from final congressional action. While the Senate was passing the compromise bill by voice vote Tuesday, Rep. Wayne L. Hays, D-Ohio, was advising his colleagues of his plans to wait until next year before bringing the measure up for a House vote.

Delaying House consideration of the legislation until "the first week we come back" from the month-long holiday recess, Hays said, would give congressmen a chance to look over the compromise before being asked to vote on it. Hays was chief negotiator for the House in compromise talks with the Senate.

Monster Toys Ruled Illegal

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — California storekeepers must clear their shelves by next June of all toy bombs, grenades, "monster" dolls and mock torture instruments under a law signed Tuesday by Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The measure by Democratic Assemblyman John Burton of San Francisco had been killed in three previous legislative sessions.

The law makes it a misdemeanor to manufacture or sell such toys in California after July 1, 1972. It won't affect gifts under Christmas trees this year.

Burton said the bill is aimed at such items as Frankenstein's monster, vampire, mad scientist and "victim" dolls, and make-believe torture racks, spikes iron cages, swinging pendulums and guillotines.

"There's been some indication it's worked already because this year it was harder to find examples of these toys than before," he added.

Israel Expects Pilgrim Record

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel is ready for its biggest Christmas since capturing Bethlehem in 1967, the Tourism Ministry reported Tuesday.

As many as 35,000 visitors were expected before the end of the year, a tourism official predicted. About 20,000 pilgrims visited Jerusalem last year.

A report broadcast by the state radio told, however, of cancellations of hotel reservations because of increased tension in the Middle East.

South Windsor Majority on Board Favors Student Voice

The student request for representation to the Board of Education appealed to most of the members at last night's meeting, but Donald Mercure stood alone in stating reasons for the board to not consider accepting a high school student as an elective to the board with non-voting representation and exclusion from executive sessions dealing with personnel problems.

Mercure said it was not that he was against student representation per se, but pointed out that board rules and regulations already enable anyone to appear before the board and speak during the "audience of citizen's group" portion. He also cautioned his colleagues that approval of this item could open other requests avenues by PTA or PTO committee members, chambers of commerce, etc.

Chairman James Arnold favored student representation and said he felt a great deal of input could be forthcoming from direct representation by the student as the Board is trying to "keep abreast" with their feelings and needs.

The item was placed on last night's agenda by request of board member Donald Berg. He reported that research done in the Towns of Rocky Hill and Glastonbury and in Massachusetts, "where student representation is quite common," showed favorable results. He said students would decide who will represent them and in this way the board would be enhanced by having firsthand information.

Another member, David Cohen, said he favored student representation and would support the motion, but he wondered why a student, not a high school teacher would be considered to represent the school.

Mercure then added that approval of this request would allow students to override teachers, counselors and the principal and then would act directly to the board with matters that normally could be handled through proper channels.

The student body was represented by Walter Booth, president of the Student Council, who said he felt student representation would be a "resource to the board," since it would be representative of 1,300 persons. No action was taken as procedure requires the item appearing two times on printed agenda before a final decision is undertaken by the board.

Also receiving the thumbs-down treatment by Mercure was the request for an additional "audience of citizen's group" participation item prior to adjournment to appear on future agenda.

Mercure said he did not want to sit after a meeting and hear people tell him how the board acted, "rightly or wrongly," but offered instead, that time be allotted to anyone wishing to speak on items as they appear for discussion during the meetings.

Agreeing with Mercure was Mrs. Cle Decker and David Cohen. Cohen said his only wish was to establish greater communication on the board with residents.

"Blue stop" signs have not been placed on Edlington Rd. to date, the board was told by the school administration, but proper authorities have been notified and action should be taken, according to Richard Hausman from witness.

Waterbury (AP) — Police investigating a report of a shooting late Tuesday night said they found a man lying on the front body of his estranged wife behind the home of one of the wife's friends.

The husband later was charged with murder.

Investigators and Cletis DiGiacomo, 31, had been shot in the back with a 410-bore shotgun. They reported the weapon was found nearby.

According to police, Mrs. DiGiacomo's husband, Adalberto, who lived in Cheshire, was found at about 10:30 p.m., draped over the body of his wife.

The woman was pronounced dead on arrival at Waterbury Hospital.

DiGiacomo was held in lieu of $50,000 bond after being released for about a week.

The occupant of the home where the DiGiacomos were found, was a male acquaintance of the victim, according to investigators.

Police did not advance a possible motive for the shooting, but said they had statements from witnesses.

Outbreak Predicted

Flu Cases Isolated in State

HARTFORD (AP) — A new, heart disease, or respiratory disease should be isolated in Connecticut, according to a report by the state health commissioner, Franklin M. Foote, today. He said the first three cases of Hong Kong flu this year, apparently in the entire nation, were isolated in Connecticut Tuesday. He predicted the disease would spread throughout the state within the next four to six weeks.

Dr. Foote said he believes Tuesday's isolation of the virus in the state is the first time it has been isolated in the United States since last winter's "flu season." Department analysts in Hartford found the virus in the throat washings of three Meriden teenagers.

A mild form of the disease affects victims for three to four days. Moderate cases last from a week to 10 days. With complications, Foote said, the disease may last much longer.

A spokesman for the U.S. Center for Disease Control in Atlanta, while not confirming Foote's belief that Tuesday's isolation of the virus in Connecticut was the first in the nation this year, said: "It could be."

The symptoms of Hong Kong flu, he said, include a cold, "terrible cough," fever, and aches and pains throughout the body. In some cases, he said, the virus infects the intestinal tract, causing nausea and vomiting. In severe cases where the virus infects the respiratory system, he added, pneumonia can result.

A mild form of the disease affects victims for three to four days. Moderate cases last from a week to 10 days. With complications, Foote said, the disease may last much longer.

It's America's most popular! Why?

We think it's excellence of product. Years and years ago, when we decided to bake Jane Parker Fruit Cake, we also decided to make the best. That's why Jane Parker Fruit Cake was then and is today over 2/3 fruits and nuts.

Just enough cake to hold together the bounty of imported and domestic cherries, pineapples from the Far East, citron from the Caribbean, sun-drenched raisins from California and meaty pecans from the South.

We think, too, that value has made it popular. IMAGINE, THE 5-LB. CAKE COSTS ONLY $4.99. That's dollars less than you might expect to pay for such a fine fruit cake.

Now you know why Jane Parker Fruit Cake is America's most popular. One other thing you should know: You can buy it only at AAP.

P.S. Wouldn't it make a great gift for someone?

27 More Coats Lost In New Modes Break

Almost $2,500 worth of unfinished leather coats were stolen last night, in the third break in two weeks at the Manchester Modes clothing factory on Pine St. A suggestion that all three were committed by the same person exists. Capt. Joseph Sartor of the detective bureau said this morning, but he says he is no closer to solving the case. Sartor claimed some coats were found at the scene of a break Dec. 5, in which $10,000 worth of women's winter coats were taken. A break the week before is believed to have occurred, but no loss was substantiated.

In all instances, Sartor said, the coats were leather or suede with fur trimmings temporarily attached, waiting for final sewing. Last night's break was discovered by several employees who arrived to drop off stock picked up in Massachusetts. A rear window, believed to have been left open by an employee, was discovered. Police said they found tire tracks ringing the building. Over 100 coats were taken in last week's break, and 27 were stolen last night. The theft is believed to have occurred between 8 and 9.

Town Accepts Three Roads

The Board of Directors last night unanimously voted to accept Redwood Rd., Ralph Rd., and Galaxy Dr. as town streets, but not without directing Town Manager Robert Weiss to insure that the road meets up to town standards and to check on reported problems in some aspects of the road. It seemed the matter would have been tabled for a third time. Weiss, however, argued that the roads be accepted because it will mean about $1,800 in additional state aid. The town must file with the state by the end of the month a list of newly accepted town streets, Weiss reported. Some state assistance is based on this list.

Director Vivian Ferguson questioned numerous conditions which she said she found on a personal inspection of the roads. She reported "more than cracks" in some areas of the streets and "chunks" out of some curbs. She said the cement areas around some catch basins are not flush with the curb, but noted that this in most cases was a matter of fractions of an inch. She listed several homes which have catch basins in the yards.

Weiss said that when Walter Benkow, town engineer, inspected the roads and recommended their acceptance, he found some spalling on curbs, but reported that the basins were good. Weiss said that some cracks in the road are due to normal shrinkage and that there are "tolerable limits" of how flush catch basin covers must be with the curb.

Weiss said the catch basins on private property are a "private accommodation" of a drainage problem and are not the town's responsibility. Mrs. Ferguson noted further that some of the catch basins do not have ladders leading into them. Weiss said the contractor has agreed to install these.

"I don't mean to sound picky," Mrs. Ferguson said, "but I have doubts in my mind." She voted for the acceptance "reluctantly." Weiss said he would follow up Mrs. Ferguson's concerns. Mrs. Ferguson initially raised the questions after being contacted by a resident of the area. Weiss said he anticipated no problem because the contractor is still working in town.

Anthony Pietrantonio again expressed concern over the uncertainty of the roads. Noting that Mrs. Ferguson raised the questions last week, Pietrantonio said to Weiss, "It seems that armed with Director Ferguson's questions it would have been easy to come up with answers."

Mother and Tots Escape Injury On RR Tracks

AVON (AP) — A Simsbury woman and three young children escaped from a car minutes before it was struck by a Penn Central freight train Tuesday night after she mistook the railroad track in the center of town for the road to Simsbury, officials said. According to police, Joan C. West, 34, made a left turn from Route 44 onto the single track which runs a few feet past and parallel to Route 10. After riding the rails for about 15 feet, the car became stuck and the flashing crossing lights warned of the approaching train. While Mrs. West pulled her passengers from the car, several bystanders came running to help. But they were too late. The train smashed into the car, demolishing it.

Boxer Dick Tiger Dies in Nigeria

Tiger, whose real name was Giardello in Atlantic City, N.J. States. Richard Iteu, returned to Nigeria in 1963, but two years later, at Tiger is survived by his wife, six months ago after a Madison Square Garden in New York.

Prayer Before Celebrating

You know what the Washington Redskins players did after the last man reached the dressing room and the door closed following the 38-24 decision over the Rams at the Los Angeles Coliseum? The winners knelt in prayer.

When it ended, Coach George Allen led the players in a wild celebration. "We had a lot to be thankful for," Allen said before he was presented the same ball by the team.

Official finish to a great football of football career took place at the New York Athletic Club earlier this month in New York when the New York Chapter of the Eastern Association of Intercollegiate Football Officials held its annual dinner.

The local man was one of the honored guests at the head table and was the recipient of an AIAFO Honorary Membership. At an earlier date, retired Hartford Buckley High faculty member received a life-time pass to all Eastern College Athletic Conference games.

Off the Cuff

Early odds of the 1971-72 basketball season took place last night in West Hartford when neither host Northwest Catholic High nor visiting Manchester High was tagged with a win or a loss in their first period. Friends are planning a testimonial dinner for Steve Witkowski, assistant coach of the Connecticut State team, on Friday night, Jan. 28, site to be announced. Witkowski has been the head trainer of United States Olympic and Pan-American Games squads in addition to his duties at Westeyan. Head to figure out Manchester High and East

Bucks May Be Upset By Laker Win Skein

NEW YORK (AP) — With Walt Chamberlain and Gail Goodrich leading the way with 31 points and 24 rebounds, the Milwaukee Bucks, holders of the National Basketball Association record for consecutive victories before Los Angeles broke it recently, getting a taste of their own medicine in a 106-98 triumph, downing Houston 106-98.

Phoenix, beating New York 110-100, extended their winning streak to 11 games, beating Portland 128-114 Tuesday night. The Bucks quickly replied with their own triumph, downing Houston 106-98.

Dwarf Among NBA Giants

Cockey Moe Layton Makes Suns Win

NEW YORK (AP) — "The coach says he likes me because I'm more cocky than he is," said Dennis "Moe" Layton, the precocious rookie of the Phoenix Suns.

"The coach told me to keep playing the role of giant," Layton said. "I've got to do."

Asked whether the veterans on the club resented a rookie leading their offense, Layton replied: "No. They have a great attitude. They want to win, and I want to win. I hate to lose. I've never around play."

In 39 minutes, he hit on eight of 19 field goal attempts (42 percent) and seven of eight free throws for 23 points, grabbed three rebounds, handed out five assists, directed the Phoenix offense and held New York's fast-breaking West Frasier to five points in the first three periods.

Layton, who led the University of Southern California to a 44-2 record last season—its best in history—was given the job of starting quarterback the Suns' attack (Dick) Warren, explained the Bulls' games go by Coach Lowell Knecht. "But then I thought that 'Cockey' Fitzsimmons, since Dennis might be able to slow down Frasier early in the game—and he did."

"Before that," said the poised Layton, "we hadn't been charged with his fourth period. We were losing our game in the last quarter. That's what I'm in for. It's a tremendous responsibility for a rookie and I feel the pressure. But I'm getting used to it."

Northwest Spoils Indians' Opener

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Some of the scoring was the Vikings' locker room late Saturday afternoon after they wrapped around Alan Page, straining to hear every word from the Minnesota Vikings' star, while Sen. Hubert Humphrey, D-Minn., stood on the fringe Page would have a Saturday afternoon hero, throwing Lions' quarterback Greg Landry for the Detroit Lions 29-0.

One would have guessed that Page would have a Saturday afternoon hero, throwing Lions' quarterback Greg Landry for the Detroit Lions 29-0. But it was Winston who had the Vikings all the while breathing life into the team.

And, for their individual hero, Page and Winston were named Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League. During all the celebrating of Page's feat, Winston quietly rumbled 77 yards on a lateral play from Bobby Bryant following a fumble recovery, but that was called back when an official called it a forward pass. When the action ended on the San Francisco safety Mel Phillips picking off a Landry pass on the third play of the game and racing 39 yards to the end zone, Page and Winston were named Defensive Player of the Week in the National Football League.
