Bhutto Expands Shakeup

President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto continued his shakeup of Pakistan's defeated armed forces today, retiring the commander-in-chief of the navy and eight other admirals, commodores and generals, Radio Pakistan reported.

Bhutto, who took over Monday from President Agha Muhammad Yahya Khan, retired the navy chief of staff, two rear admirals and two senior commodores. In addition, he retired three more army major generals, bringing to 14 the number of generals purged.

Bhutto on Wednesday announced restrictions on the nation's industrialists to stem the flow of foreign capital from Pakistan. He ordered the passports picked up of the members of 22 families "known to be the richest in Pakistan." He did not identify the families, but they are reported to control 87 per cent of the country's insurance business, 80 per cent of the banking and 68 per cent of industrial assets.

Meantime, the government of India's West Bengal state announced that the more than nine million East Bengalis who took refuge in India will begin returning to their homes on Jan. 1 and that all are likely to be back in Bangladesh within two months.

A spokesman said the refugees will be given sufficient food and money to care for themselves during the trek home.

A government spokesman said earlier this week that the refugees would have to return on foot—the same way most of them reached India—because it would be impossible to arrange rail or truck transportation for so many people. Most of the refugees are Hindus, and many observers think millions of them will resist repatriation since Bangladesh will be governed by Muslims.

Economists Warning Of New Crises

WASHINGTON (AP) — Twelve internationally known economists from the United States, Western Europe, Japan and Canada agree that further "both and comprehensive action" must be taken to avoid a new economic crisis.

The challenge was issued in a unanimous 87-page report offered to the House of Representatives last week by a group of economists.

Retrospective pay was provided in a bill Nixon signed last week. The measure also extends the President's authority to mandate economic controls through April 30, 1972, the full time span he had requested.

Rogers Vows Air Activity To Continue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State William P. Rogers said Thursday the United States is going to continue its policy of air activity in South Vietnam.

At an impromptu news conference, Rogers declined to go into just what further U.S. air strikes may be made into North Vietnam.

Latest reports on the air war say U.S. craft hit a radar station only 78 miles from Hanoi, the closest such U.S. attack to the North Vietnamese capital in a long time.

Rogers said the North Vietnamese are mounting offensives in Laos and Cambodia because of what he termed their failure to achieve military success in South Vietnam.

Red Dry-Season Push Worries Laotian Guards

By RICHARD FYLE of VIENTIANE, Laos, (AP) — The annual Communist dry season offensive in Laos already has accomplished its first major objective, and officials admit concern that the push may well go beyond those of earlier years.

In the wake of an easy North Vietnamese conquest of the strategic Plain of Jars, soldiers' families are streaming out of Long Cheng, the government stronghold and U.S. Central Intelligence Agency base which is the most likely target.

What U.S. and Laotian officials most concerned, informants said today, was the intensity of the attack and the number of troops used by the North Vietnamese in their lightning thrust that captured the Plain of Jars in about 74 hours.

Officials estimate that some 10,000 North Vietnamese took part in the three-day drive which apparently was timed to coincide with the New Year's celebration by the Mao tribes, who men make up about half of the Laotian government and a couple of hundred in the region.

Many Yule Trees Never Saw Forest

By CAROLE MARTIN NEW YORK (AP) — Nearly one of every three U.S. Christmas trees brightening this holiday season were made in a factory.

This year U.S. residents were expected to spend an estimated $2 billion on 4.8 million plastic trees and an estimated $80 million on 4.8 million plastic trees, industry sources say.

Business Mirror Tax Helpers Waiting Boom Coming Along Next March

BY JOHN CUNIFF NEW YORK (AP) — While most people are preparing for Christmas and the new year, the nation's tax preparers are getting ready for March and April. March is when their business booms, April is their new year.

Since their minds are already into 1972, many of them are thinking in terms of the new tax law just signed by President Nixon, effective Jan. 1. But, they note, it has applications now.

If, for example, you are planning to contribute to the campaign of a political candidate or party, it might be wiser to do it before Jan. 1. If you are a married couple, you may want to take advantage of the new provisions before the new year.

Notes: That's a credit, not a tax deduction. A tax credit is much better; it comes directly off the check you send to the Internal Revenue Service. A tax deduction comes off the amount of income on which you calculate your tax. The final saving is only a fraction of the deduction.

For some reason, says Sanford Kahn, tax director for General Finance Corp., which hopes to prepare the returns of many thousands of customers next year, this provision of the new law didn't generate much publicity.

Whereas the political contribution will mean more in a tax sense if made in 1972, there is a convincing argument for paying in advance some other bills before the end of the year. That is, if you fall into the 15 percent tax bracket, it is better to do so.

The reason is found in the new standard deduction allowances. In 1971 this allowance is $1,000 or 15 per cent of adjusted gross income, whichever is less. The 1972 allowance will be directly up to $2,000.

Assuming the same income for 1971 and 1972, he states, the 1972 tax owed would be less. Therefore, he continues, "itemized deductions are of greater value if you take them in 1971."

Bail Provided For Yule Visits EAST MEADOW, N.Y. (AP) — Eighty-four prisoners who were in the Nassau and Suffolk County jails because they couldn't raise bail of $500 or less will be home for Christmas thanks to the St. Vincent de Paul Society.

The Roman Catholic organization set up a fund to bail out the prisoners after they were released to make sure they were good risks, with families or jobs in their home communities.

Pope Denounces War, Asks New Dedication

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today denounced the world's wars and hatreds as Christmas approaches. He cited Vietnam, the Indian subcontinent, Northern Ireland and the Middle East.

In a 3,000-word address to cardinals and bishops who work at the Vatican, the pontiff also strongly upheld priestly celibacy and warned Christians not to water down religious duties and discipline to make life "more comfortable and easy."

He called upon "all men of good will" to plunge into action to help their fellow men. "Let us do no one about himself," the pope said, "let all collaborate, according to their own energy and vocation."

"We see peace deeply upset where there and threatened elsewhere," he said. "The pope deplored the prolongation of the conflict in Vietnam and its spread to other parts of Southeast Asia; the recent explosion of hostility between India and Pakistan with its resulting bloodshed and suffering which we ... tried to prevent and will now try to alleviate."

"Our thoughts go ... to Northern Ireland," he added, "where, even on this vigil of Christmas, there have been so-called displays of violence so much in contrast with the Christian character of that people."

Pope Paul took issue with guerrilla fighters striving to reunite Ireland by force and criticized authorities for repressing that which can become the source of even worse evils.

He expressed satisfaction that "for a year and half, the humbling of arms has been quieted in almost the whole zone" of the Middle East. But he voiced fears that the "recent armistice might suddenly come to an end as a result of a lating peace could be reached."

He repeated his plea that Jerusalem be placed under international control. All peoples for whom the city is an spiritual landmark, he said, should be allowed free access to it, and their right to worship there be protected. Arabs, Christians and Jews have important monuments in the city. Turning to religious subjects, Pope Paul said: "The monuments of sacred catholicity, a tradition of the Latin Church, could not but ... be spread."

Sheinwold on Bridge

PRACTICE FOR TOURNAMENT WITH NEW GAME FOR TWO BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD It was just 10 years ago that a young lady wrote to me for help. "My fiance and I are to be married during the Christmas holidays," she wrote, "and we are afraid we will have nothing to do during the evenings on our honeymoon. Please send me the rules of honeymoon bridge." I sent the rules right off. How times have changed! Nobody would write such a letter today. A young lady with a problem would ask for the rules of Bridge, by far the finest form of bridge for two people.

Tolland Town Offered Land For Elderly Housing

Two unidentified senior citizens have offered to sell the town 55 acres of land at a nominal fee, to be used for the construction of Tolland's first senior citizens housing project. The announcement was made by a representative from the Tolland Junior Women's Club, the Senior Citizens Club and both the Republican and Democratic town committees. Any other interested persons may contact the Selection's office.

The appointment of a town counsel was again postponed by the Board of Selection, after a brief disagreement among selectionees resulted in the calling of a short executive session. Following the executive session, the town council meeting was postponed until Jan. 18, and a special meeting was held on Jan. 18 to discuss the appointment of a town counsel. King was named as the town counsel.

The appointment of present town counsel, Robert King, for an additional term has become a subject of controversy and two other names have reportedly been suggested. Atty. Robert McCloskey and Atty. Arnold Sbarzo.

Both attorneys have indicated they weren't interested in the position, according to first selectman Erwin Stotzner. King has served as town counsel for ten years. Letters both opposing and supporting King's reelection were received, according to Stotzner. Those opposing King's reelection have expressed reservations over possible conflicts of interest, that the subject of controversy and two other names have reportedly been suggested.

Those supporting King cite his experience and knowledge of town affairs and his dedication to the town. Minibus sought The Board of Education is looking for a nine-passenger station wagon which it could hire and use as a minibus to provide transportation of certain local school children.

The Board is also looking for additional spare bus drivers to operate the growing locally owned minibus fleet. Graziadio Hospital Gift Honors His Late Parents

Manchester Memorial Hospital has received a gift of $10,000 from bank executive George L. Graziadio Jr. of Palos Verdes, Calif., a native of Manchester. The gift, in memory of his parents, the late George L. Sr. and Mary I. Graziadio of 109 Henry St., will be used to endow a semi-private room in the intensive care section of the hospital's new East Wing, according to hospital officials.

The Graziadio memorial is the most recent of several taken since the wing opened last April. Noted Bert Dittus, director of development for the hospital, he said that inscribed plaques are on order for all the presently endowed spaces in the new East Wing and Emergency Wings and should be in place about the end of January.

George Graziadio Jr., who grew up here and attended local schools, moved to California in 1954 where he is active in insurance and in real estate development. In 1968, he helped found the Imperial Bank of Los Angeles. He has been president of the bank since 1965 and is presently vice chairman of its board of directors.

Graziadio's parents, who made their home on Henry St. for many years, were prominent in business and civic affairs. Most of the servicemen honorarium of the local newspaper under the heading, "He's Drunk and in Jail," in Turkey. He is taken 20 miles away and walked in and presented him with a check for $500.00.

In South Africa, penalties range up to 10 years in jail and a $5,000 fine. In San Salvador, the penalty is execution by way of firing squad. "The only thing they said at identifying themselves," Hoover reported, "was that the money can be used any way we want to."

GIs on Leave—Plus One, Bring Home Yule Bundle

Since the two-week status quo program began a year ago, more than 10,000 servicemen have used the program. In New York State, the first of 116 servicemen—their 479 round-trip tickets paid for by six-county "home for the holidays" fund-raising campaign—arrived at Albany and Syracuse airports Wednesday night.

"This shows that some American people still care," said Sgt. Lloyd H. Hart, 34, whose wife and three children were waiting for him in Hudson, N.Y. Hart made the comment at Kennedy airport in New York City, where he landed to catch a connecting flight uptown.

The campaign raised twice as much as it needed—$60,000—to bring home the 116 GIs. Some of the surplus, officials said, will be used to pay for Christmas-Day telephone calls to GIs remaining in Vietnam. Under the home leave program, the servicemen must have two weeks in the United States before returning to Vietnam.

possibly have on the course of history, or on the development of such a world organization. Trygve Lie, the first Secretary General, was strong and positive, and he secured the security of Russia for being so.

The decline in United Nations power and prestige which followed was certainly attributable to no single cause. The fact that power and prestige had been unjustly applied to a legalistically debatable operation in the Congo may have been one cause.

But in such a situation, the choice of Mr. Than as Secretary General seemed to reflect the intention of the great powers to have in office an executive whose initiative or personal prestige they did not need to fear.

One need not question the sincerity of Kurt Waldheim's opinion that "the United Nations has to be used as an instrument of peace." It remains to be seen whether he is going to be able to bring to his office any personal weight or prestige which would reverse the downward slip of the world organization, and the dividing respect of the big powers for it.

Those who were unwilling to acknowledge that the porpoise might be an animal whose thinking and communicating abilities might come close to those of man himself have now been offered new proof difficult to overcome.

As reported, the porpoise has developed the capacity to develop identical words for the same meaning, using the same sound as the human language.

How else can an organism acquire an utterance which is identical to that which goes to the brain?

Some New Approaches
In a recent report, the Department of the Interior has announced that one out of ten drivers that were stopped were driving without a license in force.

After the successful passage of his name through the vote on the Security Council, the new Secretary General for the United Nations, Kurt Waldheim of Austria, said:

"I have concrete and firm ideas about the office of the Secretary General and how I am going to deal with it. The United Nations has to be used as an instrument of peace."

That seemingly strong and forceful statement was accompanied, in the news, by speculative writing to the effect that Russia had been for Waldheim, all along, because Moscow has traditionally been opposed to a strong Secretary General.

Such interpretative reporting as is being done on the character of the new Secretary General leaves the final verdict open. It is indeed always seemed to be, as Moscow might hope, a cautious, conservative operator, seemingly more concerned with the smooth preservation of traditions and proprieties than with the making of bold new policies.

CHRISTMAS CACTUS Photographed by William Coe

What it said, by the Almanac, was that winter was due to arrive at some precise hour and minute shortly after sunrise yesterday morning.

The winter in the weather, as compared to the winter in the almanac, was a few hours early, revealing that it it was not really sure it was ever going to make it.

It moved obliquely down from the north slanting across the New England states with sudden 40 and 50 mile gusts of snow-packed winds, turning the dark night and the dark ground suddenly and momentarily white.

It was gone as soon as it came, and blown off the ground again and perhaps carried on in new gusts to announce the new season to other towns to the south.

Accounts differ as to the precise hour of its arrival in and passage through one town or another. Some people were awake to hear it and look out the window and see it. Others merely felt, in the window, the new touch of chill which made them feel more snug in their beds.

When, everybody got up, in the morning, about the time, perhaps, that winter was due to arrive offically, there was no particular ceremony of gust and squall, merely what seemed the settled grip of a more insistent, more steady, and more likely to stay until crocus.

But, although its arrival may be fierce, and its hold relentless, winter also has its unique virtues. It makes the air seem, at least, to be cleaner. It produces morning and evening skies of hues no other season of the year can even intahle.

It has sports which at once activate the corporeal and lberate the spirit. If we didn't have it, we wouldn't know how in the world to get around autumn to spring.

A New Secretary General
After the successful passage of his name through the vote on the Security Council, the new Secretary General for the United Nations, Kurt Waldheim of Austria, said:

"I have concrete and firm ideas about the office of the Secretary General and how I am going to deal with it. The United Nations has to be used as an instrument of peace."

That seemingly strong and forceful statement was accompanied, in the news, by speculative writing to the effect that Russia had been for Waldheim, all along, because Moscow has traditionally been opposed to a strong Secretary General.

This, in turn, had the effect of lessening the opportunity for lady nominees who, in the old days, had been welcomed because they had the time free and could afford to spend it going to Hartford.

All of this is really quite different from the situation that has been the case since the reappointment of 1948.

When reappointment of the number of seats in the House by 117, compressing as many as seven towns into one assembly district, it set in motion a truly ruthless competition for legislative nominations.

Looking to the future, one finds one immediate development, the further reduction in the size of the House of Representatives down from 117 to 105.

Recreational areas in two other subdivisions, Tiffany Estates and Richmond Estates, were also accepted by the council on PZ2 recommendation.

Most of the roads in the Coventry Hills have been accepted into the town road system, and will now be the responsibility of the town to maintain.

From Your Neighbor's Kitchen

By VIVIAN FERROUSON

Christmas holidays were always an exciting time when I was growing up. As I reflect upon it now, it wasn't the presents and the good food. It was the warmth of friendships that made these days so memorable.

My mother, Mrs. Henry Fruto, is a fine homemaker. Having people around wasn't unusual in our house—there were just more at Christmas. I recall going to work one Monday morning.

A friend said, "I stopped by to see you yesterday but you were having a party so I went along."

"A party?" I replied. "Well, I laughed. It was like that most every Sunday. A dinner never perturbed my mom. She and her ladies were always ready."

Mother began her Christmas by staying up all night Christmas Eve. The holiday dinner was served at one o'clock in the afternoon, as was the custom in my father's family. And there was a great deal to do. Everything was cooked from scratch and canned frozen foods. Besides, Mom was cleaning up from the night before when she had to entertain a household of guests. Her three daughters had given her hours before.

At five in the morning, Mother went off to Mass. She returned to make her family for later church. When we returned, no one went into the living room until Dad had put on the tree lights. I always tried to impose a system on the family. I thought we should open our gift at a time so everyone could see. My younger sister, Evelyn, was all for every opening whenever they got the chance. Doris, the middle sister, was usually disgusted with both of us, so it all ended up a happy medium.

As soon as the gifts had been handed out, everybody got busy. My two sisters and my Dad spent most of the morning creating an inexhaustible array of hors d'oeuvres. We ate one who watched and disassembled the beautiful platters. My job was to set the table, see that all the platters were ready for the dishes to be served, set out the candies, nuts, etc., and arrange the traditional fruit bowl.

All this time Mother puttered about the kitchen, the stove steaming with pots and the sink filling up with all kinds of dishes and pans to be washed. That was the part we all hated — not so dishwashers then. All morning the phone would ring. "Merry Christmas — Merry Christmas." Everyone had to take a turn talking to the callers.

About one o'clock, relatives and dinner guests arrived. The living room was a chaos of gift wrapping paper, everyone talking at once. Even the dog had gifts to open. I gave up on my system and was doomed to accept the fact that there were some gifts I never would see.

The spirit of Christmas is alive all year in my mother's home. If a neighbor is ill, she carries meals, bakes cakes, buys little presents to cheer. Let her example live in all of us. Have a happy holiday!

As I write this column coughing and sneezing, Mom is preparing a simple macaroni case. My children dubbed it "pink macaroni" when they were very small. This is a quick 'n' easy dish to serve with the leftover turkey or roast beef.

There was a choice of turkey and roast beef for the main course. The table groined with an assortment of vegetables—two kinds of potatoes, white and sautéed; creamed onions, turnips, butternut squash, something green. And there was always salad... always soup and always salad. I still don't know how my mother managed it all with the little bit of help we gave her.

You couldn't hear yourself think. Everyone talked at once. The platters went round and round. The table Mom never sat down. "Come on, Mom, when are you going to stop?"

"Don't worry about me—I'll get there."

But she almost never did. Her pleasure was in doing and the giving.

The desserts and the hot coffee finally appeared—and coffee couldn't hear herself think. Everyone talked at once. The platters went round and round. The table Mom never sat down. "Come on, Mom, when are you going to stop?"

"Don't worry about me—I'll get there."

Bailey Asking Town Leaders, 'Seek Delegates'

HARTFORD (AP) — Democratic State Chairman John M. Bailey asked all 166 town committees Wednesday to give women, youths and minority groups adequate representation at party leaders, delegates and nominees for public office.

"It has long been the tradition of the Democratic party in Connecticut," said Bailey, "that is not only reflects the opinions and concerns of all segments, but that it also welcomes and provides the opportunity for all to participate both as candidates and in the determination of basic policies."

"The continuing strength of the Democratic party depends on the active participation of all," Bailey said in letters to town chairmen.

Bailey reminded the chairmen that the national committee is insisting on representation of women, young people and minority groups. And he said it wants a report by mid-January on the Connecticut party's efforts in this area.

Flu Outbreak Raises Debate On Severity

HARTFORD (AP) — Whether high absentee rates reported by certain schools and industries are caused by Hong Kong flu or "Christmasitis" is open to debate, a spokesman for the State Department of Health said Wednesday.

He reported, however, that numerous cases of the disease have been reported.

"Some industrial firms say they have high absenteeism, and others say they are not affected," the doctor said, acknowledging that perhaps many of the employees may be staying out to do Christmas shopping.

He said the health department is in the process of taking a survey of schools and businesses to determine the extent of the flu outbreak, but reports were incomplete Wednesday.

The CEA, a statewide group of teachers, is the parent organization of the BBA.

In separate action, the CEA has withdrawn its announcement regarding educational relations in the Norwich school district. "We are pleased that the conditions which existed in Norwich, that caused our original announcement, have been substantially rectified," Rossmoondo said.

The improvement in relationships between the board and teachers and the improved conditions in some teaching situations, as well as a better climate of community support for educational needs indicate there is no further need for our earlier warning to teachers regarding conditions in Norwich at this time.

CEA To Study Student Control

BRIDGEPORT (AP) — The Connecticut Education Association, at the request of the Bridgeport Education Association, Wednesday ordered a study of school discipline and teachers' authority in local public schools.

The action follows two recent incidents. Last week an eighth-grade teacher at Read Middle School was transferred to an elementary school after giving an official reprimand after school officials alleged he slapped a 12-year-old student who had disrupted his class. Fellow teachers rallied to the teacher's support.

Tuesday, a 15-year-old Central High School student allegedly punched the school principal, giving him a black eye.

The composition of the panel that will conduct the study is to be announced after CEA President Raymond Rossmoondo names a chairman.

He said the investigation will begin during the Christmas vacation. It is to include interviews with teachers, school administrators, parents and students.

Poultry Checkers

GAINESVILLE, Ga. — Nearly 1,000 people have been trained as poultry inspectors at a center here run by the U. S. Department of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service.

When asked if the political effectiveness of the town committee might be diminished by significant turnovers, Cummings said yes, but he observed that there is a significant turnover on the committee every two years. It would indicate "something drastically wrong" with the town committee and might call for another look at the committee rules.

State Gaming Commission Chairman Joseph B. Burns met Bracjowski Wednesday afternoon at the Newington Veterans Administration Hospital and he readily accepted the challenge.

"Oh yes," he said. He would like to have the ticket.

"To save me the trip to get the tickets will be great," he said, thinking of his monthly trips to New York.

He said the investigation will begin during the Christmas vacation. It is to include interviews with teachers, school administrators, parents and students.

District Caucus Dates Suggested by Cummings

District caucuses of Democratic electors to endorse members of the Democratic Town Committee will probably be held Feb. 23 or March 1, according to Ted Cummings, Democratic Town Chairman.

Under the new rules, committee members will be selected by voting district at district caucuses. Anyone may file as a candidate for the committee, Cummings said, between 10 and 5 days before the caucus is held.

Anyone wishing to challenge the caucus-endorsed selections will be able to file for the primary, this year set for April 11 if it is required. While no fee is required to become a candidate in the caucus, there is a $15 fee required to force a primary, Cummings said.

Throughout his talk, Cummings emphasized that the new rules mean "greater participation" and more work.

"The essential thing to remember is that any Democratic elector may file as a candidate for the committee," Cummings said.

Cummings added, however, "Politics in this community is no longer any easy thing to participate in because there's getting to be election-after-election."

Cummings predicted that the "whole attitude of the party" will change under the new rules, but he said he hopes for a more democratic and "they give everybody a fair shot." Cummings noted that he will have to fight for re-election to the committee because his district (District 3) is being reduced from 12 members to 8.

Cummings remarked that the changes in local rules conform to both recommendations of the Commission and recent changes in the state party rules.

Not all town committees throughout the state have conformed, Cummings noted, and he predicted a "tremendous political struggle."

Cummings acknowledged that there is a significant turnover on the committee every two years. It would indicate "something drastically wrong" with the town committee and might call for another look at the committee rules.

Dr. Powell Out Again As College President

Dr. Theodore Powell, former Manchester resident and education administrator, is out again as president of Kingsborough Community College, Brooklyn, N. Y.

In a 4-1 ruling this week, the New York State Appellate Division reversed a State Supreme Court ruling of Oct. 5, which reinstated him after his first dismissal July 15 by the New York City Board of Higher Education.

In his October statement, State Supreme Court Justice Francis J. Brontstein wrote that Powell's dismissal "had been arbitrary and unlawful," and that as an instructor (he was a professor of political science), he could be dismissed only after official charges had been filed and aired at a formal hearing.

The four majority appellate justices disagreed. Their ruling this week stated, "There being no terms nor tenure provided for the position of president, he was employed 'at will,' and having been so employed, he was removable from his post as president at any time."

Powell was named president of Kingsborough on March 30, 1970, after serving as president of Southeastern College, Chicago, part of the city university system. He was appointed to the Chicago post from his position as executive director of the Connecticut State Board of Education.

Town Surplus At $198,277

The town ended the 1970-71 fiscal year with a General Fund surplus of about $198,277, according to George A. Kanehl, who turned in his audit report yesterday.

Although not specifically mentioned in the report, Kanehl said the town ended the year in a good fiscal position. "It's in good shape," Kanehl said. "Anyone who has a surplus in your General Fund is in good shape."

The surplus came basically from two sources, Kanehl said — unexpended appropriations and income above what was anticipated.

In January of last year, Town Manager Robert Weiss predicted the town would end the year with a $41,000 deficit. The Board of Directors then directed Weiss to tell all town department heads to "tighten their belts" for the rest of the year.

If You're Too Young to Write You Draw a Letter to Santa

Janice Mazzoli, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Mazzoli, Maple St.
Jeffrey Larkin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alan Larkin, Somerset Dr.
At the YWCA Nursery School in Manchester.

Making sure Santa Claus understands what you want for Christmas is quite a problem, especially when you are only four years old and in nursery school, but Santa Claus does a good job.

In an interview last weekend, he said he is checking all of the letters he received and is trying to fill as many of the requests as possible. He has a many-mouth job, though, as some of the letters are very long. While being interviewed, he was knee deep in letters from children from the Manchester area. Mrs. Santa Claus and the elves were helping, too.

Asked what some of the most popular items on the list were, Santa said record players, television sets and musical instruments were some of the most often asked for presents with animals (five ones) running a close second.

One little girl asked for a monkey and a cat, but added, "what I really want is to see you."

"Dear Santa," a little boy wrote, "instead of a bike for Christmas I want a bunny rabbit because that's my favorite animal. I love you a lot."

Several children asked for dogs and cats and added "real live ones" so Santa would make no mistake.

Games such as parchese and checkers and Uncle Wiggley were not even mentioned. They have been replaced with Time Bomb, Battleship, Zoomer Bomber, G.I. Joe and Dynamite.

All of the children seemed to have trouble spelling Santa's name. Most added an "e" on the end of Claus. Most started off by telling Santa they love him and then got down to the business of telling him what they wanted for Christmas.

Some of the children told Santa how good they have been all year while others confided they had been good some of the time and bad some of the time while promising they will try harder next year.

Football and helmets seemed to be popular requests from the boys. Santa said:

One letter read: "Dear Santa, I would like a football. Don't cook your good and don't spill the beans and most of all a bike. I have been a good boy. I made a picture of you too."

A little girl asked for "a tiny teddy bear, a radio, some puzzles, clothes for me and a tiny doll and a snopy and a fire truck the one that you turn on at a hope to see you on Christmas."

One little boy asked for a soft football "so I won't get hurt." He wished Santa a good trip, and promised to leave pie and milk in the refrigerator.

The little girls asked for dolls, not just any doll, they specified. One letter had requests for three dolls, a Barbie dancing doll, a PJ dancing doll and a Ken dancing doll. She also requested live-action stages with each plus "a typewriter (is good one)."

"Why do you live at the North Pole?" one letter asked, and then the child said, "please put your own address on this envelope."

Most of the children are six-year-olds and most gave their own version of what they thought the North Pole zip code would be. One zip code was just five zeros with a dog sled added.

Several letters were addressed to Santa and Rudolph. One read: "Dear Santa and Rudolph, how are you? I hope you are good. Is Rudolph going to lead your sleigh on Christmas Eve? I hope your eyes are really doing good with the toys."

Football and helmets seemed to be popular requests from the boys. Santa said:

Vernon Redevelopment Unit Awaits Phase 2 Word

The Redevelopment Agency, slated in business since 1968, will probably close up shop soon unless it is learned that an application for a second phase has been approved.

The application for the first phase was filed with the Professional Building which houses the offices of the Southern New England Telephone Co., the pro-development officer, and a law firm at the present time. Two banks also decided to build in the area. One bank, the Connecticut Bank and Trust Co., is contracted to develop the renewal site, in 1968, ten years after the application was filed.

The acquisition of property was started after the contract with HUD was signed. The first property to be acquired was the railroad property which ran through the renewal site. The acquisition of this property was completed in July 1964. The acquisition of other parcels began in February 1965 and was completed in April 1966. Properties included what was known as the Boardwalk which was occupied by about several stores with rooming houses on the upper floor. This was the site of the old Boardwalk Hotel. Several shops were torn down and on the opposite corner of the Boardwalk another old building which had housed the Journal Publishing Co. was demolished.

The one famous Rockville Hotel was also acquired and torn down but this parcel of land was sold to the town and used to add on to the Boardwalk. It is the only parcel in the renewal project which is on the north side of E. Main St.

A major project before actual work could be started in the renewal area, was the covering of a section of the Hockanum River which runs through the southern portion of the site. The first building to be constructed was the first phase.

This would include the conservation and expansion of the housing supply for low and moderate income families. This involves the area which contains the Phase one area and takes in those streets which the agency felt most in need of rehabilitation.

A new application has to be submitted and Mrs. Betty Lou Williams, executive director of the Redevelopment Agency, was given a permit Monday afternoon by the Town Council to go ahead with it.

The Sky Rains Planes Busiest, Littlest Airport

here often take up to a year to adjust simply because the traffic is so dense," said Ed Murray, a Van Nuys controller of the tower roster full, another controller said.

"It takes a special kind of controller here," he said during a recent quiet period in the tower when less than one airplane a minute was using the airport.

"The big airports you deal mostly with the pro-airline pilots. But the majority of our pilots are students or people with low time who have never been out of the tower before. There's a certain satisfaction at the end of a busy shift when you see all the airplanes in the air. That takes a lot more patience about your job."
