

Missile War Livens Skies Along Border

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP)—American fighter planes exchanged missiles with North Vietnamese anti-aircraft defenses along the Laotian border today and Sunday and were believed to have destroyed two of them, the U.S. Command announced. It said the American planes were not hit.

up there," said one U.S. officer, referring to the corridor along the border between Laos and North Vietnam where American bombers are pounding the Ho Chi Minh trail network. "It is one of the heaviest days since the beginning of the dry season."

North Vietnamese missile batteries near the Ban Karkh pass unleashed three surface-to-air missiles—SAMS—at U.S. planes operating in the region 35 to 45 miles north of the demilitarized zone and threatened others. U.S. fighters escorted the bombers fired two missiles, and the U.S. Command said one SAM site and one anti-aircraft artillery radar were believed destroyed.

This brought the total of so-called protective reaction strikes into North Vietnam to 10 this year.

On Saturday the U.S. pilots sighted North Vietnamese

Dockers Resume Strike

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Longshoremen resumed a strike at 24 West Coast ports today after negotiators failed to reach a settlement. Negotiation sessions broke off but the union said they would be resumed later.

The first orders to resume picketing came at San Francisco and Los Angeles-Long Beach harbors after an 8 a.m. (PST) deadline expired.

Harry Bridges, president of the International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union, emerged from bargaining sessions that had run through the night to announce, "The strike officially resumed at 8 a.m. this morning, although we exerted all efforts we could at this time to try to settle it."

Bridges said the talks had been broken off but would be resumed later. He did not say when that might be.

Pickets appeared almost simultaneously shortly after 8 a.m. at piers on the San Francisco waterfront after the chief dispatcher at ILWU Local 10 told some 800 men in a hiring hall to resume picketing "and tie it up."

About the time, John Pandora, head of the big 2,800-member ILWU local in Los Angeles and Long Beach, said "as far as the strike is on, we're dispatching pickets now."

The Nixon administration has warned it would ask Congress to intervene and direct a settlement of any renewal of the walkout that shut ports for 100 days last year.

Mujibur Turns Down Link With Pakistan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto offered the top job in Pakistan to Sheikh Mujibur Rahman today if he would bring Bangladesh back to the fold. Bhutto offered Mujibur "president, prime minister or whatever he wants," one day after the Bangladesh leader accused West Pakistani troops of slaughtering three million people during his country's fight for independence.

Radio Pakistan said Bhutto had previously told Mujibur the only condition he would set to turning over the government to him would be that Mujibur agree to maintain the integrity of Pakistan.

"The president said this is a sincere offer... in the hope that it will be accepted in the same spirit in which it was issued," the radio said, quoting a speech of Bhutto at Quetta.

The broadcast also described West Pakistani troops as "merciless." Interviewed in Dacca Sunday by David Frost for British television, Mujibur said former President Agha Mohammed Yahya Khan "killed three million of my people—children, women, peasant, workers and students"—and burned and looted 25,000 to 30,000 houses. It was the "greatest massacre of people in history," he declared.

"Daughters were raped in front of their fathers and mothers, and mothers were raped in front of their sons," he said. "I cannot stop my tears when I think of it."

Court To Weigh Bias in North

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Supreme Court, for the first time, agreed today to hear arguments on claims of segregation in a Northern public school system.

The case, accepted for review, is from Denver where a group of black and Spanish-surnamed school children contend they were segregated by school board planning and policy rather than by segregation laws.

The court will hold an oral hearing sometime later this term and issue a ruling by the end of June. The case was taken on without comment except for the notation that Justice Byron R. White would not participate. The reason for the self-disqualification was not given, although White is from Colorado. He has supported all civil rights advances by the high court.

The eight remaining justices including the new men, Lewis F. Powell Jr., and William H. Rehnquist, will participate.

In other actions today, the court:

—Agreed to decide whether property owners who claim their homes were damaged by sonic booms may sue the Air Force.

—Swept aside a "procedural technicality" that stood in the way of a former Pullman porter who had been stymied in a government-aided suit to be paid as a conductor.

While the Supreme Court has ruled that segregation laws in Southern and border states are unconstitutional, it has not reached the issue of school segregation in states which had no such laws.

The court has acted in Northern and Western school cases before, but it has never held hearing in disputes from outside the South and never issued full-blown opinions dealing with claims of segregation in Northern and Western schools.

In a Northern case today, the court, by an 8 to 1 vote, affirmed a lower court decision dismissing a claim that New Jersey's school system is unconstitutional because some school districts have a high percentage of minority group students.

Justice William O. Douglas dissenting, the court upheld a three-judge district court which threw out a complaint that alleged the school system violated the equal protection clause of the 14th Amendment because the schools of New Jersey were racially imbalanced.

Attorneys for the state said New Jersey maintained racially neutral schools and any racial imbalance was the result of housing patterns and not of racial discrimination.

The Supreme Court also is almost certain to become entangled in another major school case pending presently at the district court level in Richmond, Va.

U.S. District Court Judge Robert R. Merhige has ordered the merger of three Richmond-area public school districts into a single desegregated system which would cross county lines. The Denver pupils said their complaint goes even beyond the de facto, or neighborhood school, segregation of some Northern cities because they claimed it was brought about by the acts of school officials.

The suit claims that the school authorities deliberately perpetuated a segregated school system through their choice of school building sites and structuring of attendance zones.

The school board adopted a desegregation plan for several schools in northeast Denver involving busing. Subsequently Denver voters turned out the old school board and elected a new one which rescinded the plan.

The U.S. District Court in Denver ruled that the new Paralleling the intensified air action was a Communist "high point" of ground activity in South Vietnam, which began a week ago.

The South Vietnamese command reported 20 small-scale enemy ground assaults, rocket, mortar, sapper and terror attacks, most of them in the central and northern provinces of South Vietnam. This raised the total of such attacks to 190 in the past seven days.

The U.S. Command reported that one American was killed when enemy ground fire hit a light observation helicopter supporting South Vietnamese operations 17 miles southwest of Da Nang. Nine more Americans were wounded and three vehicles were destroyed or damaged by mines on Highway 16 about 25 miles north of Saigon, and six other Americans were wounded when a Vietnamese youth hurled a hand grenade into a truck in Ban Me Thuot, in the central highlands.

U.S. B-52 bombers flew their heaviest raids in the central highlands in a month, and the region's South Vietnamese commander warned of a Communist buildup in the coast low-

When Will the Stampede Be Stemmed?

Runaway Welfare Costs Countrywide

(Editor's note: Every month the cost of welfare in this country rises another $2.4 million. It has been going up for 10 years, with little or no sign that it's going to stop. The following report, first of a series of five by the AP Special Assignment Team, examines the welfare crisis; its causes, its effects and its alternatives.)

By G. C. THELEN Jr.

WASHINGTON (AP)—Despite desperate attempts by half the states to rein in runaway relief costs, the welfare stampede is thundering into a new year.

All the cold statistics of the welfare crisis, after a brief downturn, are again headed upward: $10 billion spent in the year ended last June on 14.3 million recipients. That's twice the people and three times the expenditures of 1960. Costs could reach $15 billion by 1975, say government forecasts, and possibly could top $25 billion by 1980 at the present rate of growth.

It also could mean, as Gov. Ronald Reagan of California has said, "a tax increase next year, the year after and the year after that, and on into the future as far as we can see," a fact not lost on taxpayers already angry and resentful at swollen welfare costs.

Evidence of widespread unrest among taxpayers is seen in efforts by all levels of government to reduce the costs of welfare. President Nixon has proposed a total reorganization of the system based on a guaranteed annual income. His plan set off howls of protest from liberals and conservatives alike, with one side saying it would cut benefits for the poor, and the other claiming it would add $5 billion a year to the bill.

Public Anger

Congress responded last month by giving Nixon part of his proposal, a stiffer work requirement for relief recipients, but the rest of the plan remains tied up in the legislative mill.

At the state level, attempts to reform the system are under way in California and New York, but the response in most other states has been to either cut benefits or the rolls.

"The cost and the size of welfare have eroded confidence in the system and created consternation and doubt among the people as to the worth and validity of public assistance," says George K. Wyman, New York's welfare director.

Others, however, believe public anger transcends the tax issue. One of them is Nicholas Klaburg, a Teamsters Union official in New York City.

"One reason why blue-collar guys hate welfare so much is that they feel, psychologically, that it threatens them," said Klaburg. "Working, bringing home the check each week, is one way of establishing their supremacy to themselves and their families."

"Work is one thing they have. When they see a guy getting a check for doing nothing, they go crazy."

Mitchell I. Ginsberg, a Columbia University welfare expert, agrees. "Welfare runs counter to deep feelings that go all the way back to the frontier spirit of 'I can do it on my own,'" he said.

"Antiwelfare sentiment is very high," said Robert C. Mann, an Illinois legislator. "People just don't want to know the facts about the lack of job opportunities and day care and the shortcomings of the educational system that produce dependency. It reflects the people's natural readiness to blame the poor for high taxes."

Child Aid

Mothers with dependent children make up the bulk of welfare rolls. One American family in 10 is headed by a woman, and welfare specialists calculate that 80 per cent of them land on welfare.

Now a sagging economy is adding new faces alongside the welfare mother. Unemployed blue-collar workers line up in Chicago for welfare checks. In California, jobless executives who once enjoyed salaries of $30,000 a year are on relief.

Few states can match Maryland's meteoric, seven-fold welfare jump from $35 million in 1960 to $231 million this year, or Pennsylvania's 600-per-cent increase from $180 million to $1.1 billion. But 26 states have felt pinched enough this year to try to chop rolls, benefits, or both.

Kansas is a ring cutter with its 20-per-cent benefit slash for welfare families. Yet the state, like at least 13 others, is spending an equal or smaller percentage of its total budget on relief today than 10 years ago.

The explanation? While welfare costs are indeed up in the 14 states, they have not increased as much as other outlays, notably money for education. The 13 in addition to Kansas are Alaska, Arizona, Colorado, Florida, Hawaii, Kentucky, Louisiana, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota, South Carolina, West Virginia, and Wisconsin.

Twenty states wound up with welfare budgets in deficit last year.

Vermont reacted by trimming education expenses specifically to meet a welfare crisis. Rhode Island imposed new taxes for education and welfare. Other states spent less than projections of a few years

"THE WAY I HEARD IT"

by John Gruber

People are always complaining to me about the quality of acting in opera. It really isn't all that bad. What people don't realize is that opera demands an entirely different style of acting than does the legitimate stage. Opera is given in huge auditoria, as a rule, where restrained gestures would be lost. Nor is the tempo of operatic acting anything like the tempo of acting in a straight drama. The dramatic can say, "I love you," in three seconds; the dramatic actor will take three minutes to say the same thing. As far as that goes, Tristan and Isolde take over half an hour to say little more than that. Try and dream up conventional acting for that kind of thing. If they sing the whole thing in an embrace, they'll interfere with each other's singing. So mostly they just sit and hold hands. The important thing here is not the action but the music which is probably the most gorgeous love music that has ever been written. The action in comic opera is something else again. Unfortunately the public seems to think

He is dressed very richly, but seems very miserable. He is dressed in pain, and he is back after a few more steps his knee gives way; he rubs that. He sits on the cobblestone bench but starts up instantly in pain. He contemplates the dominating it to see if any nails had been left on it, but discovers none.

He is distressed by the most gripping memories and fancies; getting ever more uneasy, he wipes perspiration from his brow. He limps around more and more restlessly, starting before him. As if pursued from all sides, he stumbles hither and thither as in flight.

As though to save himself from falling, he grasps the table to which he has tottered. Weak and in pain, he reaches for His glance falls on Pogner's house through the window, and he tries to assume a bold manner as he thinks of Walter.

Hartford Budget Of $107 Million Is Recommended

HARTFORD (AP) — Hartford City Manager Edward M. Curtin has recommended a budget of $107 million for the next fiscal year and has asked for a 10 percent increase in the tax rate to pay for it.

Curtin called for a $1 million raise in the city's mill rate, which would raise it to 48.6 cents. A mill is one dollar of tax for every $100 of taxable property.

The proposed budget is $11 million higher than the current budget and the major increases occur in the education appropriation which is 10 per cent higher than this year.

Curtin requested $14.3 million for education which he said was a "modest 1.2 per cent less than the board's request."

Scheuer Denies Russian Charges

LONDON (AP) — U.S. Rep. James H. Scheuer of New York says he hopes his expulsion from Russia on charges of subversive activities won't adversely affect his campaign for Congress in his district in New York.

Scheuer denied that he had engaged in subversive activities or had encouraged Russian Jews to emigrate to Israel, as the Soviet Union charged in ordering him to leave the country last week.

The U.S. State Department said after the Soviet expulsion order that it "would not be helpful to relations."

Scheuer, a Democrat, told newsmen at the U.S. Embassy Sunday, "I would be horrified if the incident affected President Nixon's projected trip to Russia."

He was detained by Soviet security police for 40 minutes Wednesday after he entered a Moscow home where he was dining with eight top Russian Jewish scientists. The expulsion order followed.

Scheuer was in the Soviet Union with a seven-member congressional subcommittee studying Russian educational methods. He arrived here Saturday.

His Choice Was To Quit

CEDAR RAPIDS, Iowa (AP) — An electronic engineer says he would select two employees who would lose their jobs, but he quit his own rather than force someone else out.

"I lost my security and gained my freedom," said David M. Hodgins, 46, an engineer at Collins Radio Co. here for 24 years.

He was among 500 persons who lost jobs at the plant last week in the latest set of cutbacks.

The father of four children, two of whom still live at home, Hodgins announced his decision at the First Christian Church's Sunday worship service.

He said he raised the men in his group and decided in terms of immediate money-making potential for the radio manufacturing firm—that his name should be on the bottom of the list.

He said he hopes to form a corporation which would be based on "human dignity and full participation by everyone associated with it."

English Prelate Visits New York

LONDON (AP) — The Church of England says the Archbishop of Canterbury will be next week on the increasing interest in religion by American youth.

Included among his activities, the church said Sunday, will be a speech before a three-day religious conference, "Christianity '72," being sponsored by Trinity Institute and sermons at Riverside Church, St. Patrick's Cathedral and the Cathedral of St. John the Divine.

The Archbishop, the Rev. Michael Ramsey, is spiritual head of the world's Anglicans. He is due to arrive in New York Friday.

Many Hear Youth Group Play Well

By JOHN GRUBER

Despite the extremely cold weather a capacity audience was of hand last evening in Millard Auditorium to hear the Hartford Youth Orchestra.

In fact it was more than capacity; people were standing even after extra seats had been brought in at the rear of the hall.

The group changes from year to year as young people grow up beyond high school age and become ineligible for membership, so some seasons the organization is better than others.

Last evening it had a fine cello section, but the first violins were not as good as I have heard them on occasion.

Over the years one gets to expect this sort of thing, but the quality of performance remains consistently high, due to the efforts of Bernard Lurie, who has headed the group for many years.

It was a nice program, featuring three young soloists, among other numbers, Marcia Hanigan, 17, on Concerto for Piano and Orchestra, while Michael Lipkin, a senior at Meriden's Maloney High, was heard in a movement from Handel's B-minor Concerto for Viola and Orchestra.

Agawam offered the first movement from the Mendelssohn G-minor Concerto for piano and orchestra, while Michael Lipkin, a senior at Meriden's Maloney High, was heard in a movement from Handel's B-minor Concerto.

All three soloists acquitted themselves well, and all three showed their amateur status by dropping in for piano and orchestra, while Michael Lipkin, a senior at Meriden's Maloney High, was heard in a movement from Handel's B-minor Concerto.

FCC Criticized For Not Eyeing Telephone Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., says the Federal Communications Commission is violating the law by dropping its investigation of telephone rates.

"The FCC is in clear violation of the 1934 Communications Act. The act, he said, requires the FCC to give the determination of telephone rates 'preference over all other questions.'"

ZBA To Hear Two Requests

The Zoning Board of Appeals will hold public hearings tonight of petitions for two variances, starting at 7 in the Municipal Building hearing room.

The first item is a request by U. & R. Housing Corp. to allow an 80-foot frontage on a Rural Residence zone lot in the U. & R. Highland Estates development, on the north side of Blue Ridge Dr. The 8-acre lot was originally nine separate lots that were put together when the Planning and Zoning Commission granted U. & R's request to eliminate the proposed Byberry Rd.

The second item on the ZBA agenda is a request by Doctors Office Inc. to allow a seven-foot side yard at 44 Haynes St. The firm is seeking the variance to allow construction of a rear addition to the existing house on the property, which would extend the underused side yard. Zoning regulations for the C-3 zone lot require a 10-foot side yard.

15 Nurse Aides Fired from Jobs After Walkout

HARTFORD (AP) — About 15 nursing aides who walked out of their jobs at the Greenwald Pavilion convalescent home Sunday have been fired, the administration said.

The aides were replaced by new employees hired the same day through advertisement.

Schleifly did not say if the strike triggered the walkout, and he refused to specify the causes of the strike. He did say it was "apparently an organizational dispute related to union organizing."

The 14-year-old nursing home, at 8 Greenwood St., has a capacity of 218 patients. On Sunday, 150 of the beds were filled.

Representatives of the nurses' aides were unavailable for comment.

Red Skelton Plans to Retire

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton says he plans to retire soon, but a spokesman says Skelton doesn't mean complete retirement.

Skelton, who has 50 years as a comic behind him, told a crowd at the Hilton International as he planned to retire after a few more bookings this year.

A spokesman for the 60-year-old Skelton later said the comedian planned to entertain appearances on the night club circuit, but he would not rule out television and movie work.

SAFE ROUTINE PATH LEADS TO DISASTER

By ALFRED SHAINWOLD

It's painful to follow. It's much simpler to follow some "safe" routine path even if that leads only to disaster. Please don't run off to some other part of the paper. The foregoing comments were not referring to politics, business or public affairs, but only to the simple game of contract bridge. What's more, I have a hand to prove it.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
Opening lead—ace of Clubs.
West opened the ace of clubs and paused for thought when South dropped the king. West then shifted to the ten of hearts. South won with the king of hearts and led the king of diamonds to drive out the ace. Here is where East should have done some thinking.

It should have occurred to East that South had the rest of the high cards for his very powerful holding. If so, South would probably win six diamonds, four hearts and the ace of spades unless he met with an obstacle.

Didn't Think
But East didn't think. He knew it was "safe" to lead the queen of clubs, and he promptly did so. The lead was so safe that it gave declarer the game and rubber. South ruffed the club, drew trumps, and ran the hearts to get rid of the queen and eight of spades. Then he could claim the rest of the trick.

What could East do about all this even if he thought about it? I told you thinking was painful. I told you that the killing of Mrs. Helman did Saturday afternoon.

ago on such things as prison and conservation programs.

"Almost everything you look at in state government has had to sacrifice to cover increased education and welfare costs," said Rep. William E. Copeland, chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the Michigan House.

At twice the rate of neighboring New York City, the $10-billion welfare bill sent to Illinois last week is 211 times the national average. The federal government picks up half; the states, counties and localities split the remainder.

Each state sets its own eligibility and payment standards. A family of four gets a low of $60 a month in Mississippi and as high as $375 in Alaska.

Prison and other abuses drain off $500 million a year. At the same time, regulations designed to curb abuse have strangled the system in red tape. "There's an ironic joke among social workers: 'The most convenient thing you can do is die.' That takes care of the system in red tape," says a Michigan legislator.

In Chicago, where the economy has softened recently, workers, including craftsmen, are queuing up in welfare of "somehow," said a downtown economist.

The explosion has come in welfare systems. The federal government, challenged by state residency requirements and laws that barred assistance when a man was in the home, has decided to open the rolls to hundreds of thousands of additional families.

Community action agencies and state-run centers disseminated simplified family manuals, located needy families, and urged them to accept the aid of welfare bureaucrats. Lacking even the rudimentary skills, they gravitated to welfare offices, many of the urban areas. As the migration of welfare recipients to welfare offices grew, the jobs became fewer and fewer. In the boom year of 1969, for example, unemployment in welfare counties had been increasing.

No region of the country has escaped

No region of the country has escaped the welfare explosion of the past decade, but large cities have been hit hardest.

Ad to mothers with dependent children—the heart of the welfare crisis—boomed 80 per cent in the North and West during the 60s. The increase was 18 per cent in the north central region; 54 per cent in the South.

Despite the 50 million persons who have left the land since 1940, rural counties experienced a 40-percent welfare jump in the 60s.

Still the most staggering increase in recipients, a cumulative 217 per cent, has slipped the five largest cities, New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Detroit and Los Angeles.

The 1.2 million welfare recipients in New York City alone in 1969 to 10.2 million in welfare recipients in the federal government stepped in the welfare program. The federal government stepped in the welfare program. The federal government stepped in the welfare program.

FCC Criticized For Not Eyeing Telephone Rates

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., says the Federal Communications Commission is violating the law by dropping its investigation of telephone rates.

"The FCC is in clear violation of the 1934 Communications Act. The act, he said, requires the FCC to give the determination of telephone rates 'preference over all other questions.'"

What could East do about all this even if he thought about it? I told you thinking was painful. I told you that the killing of Mrs. Helman did Saturday afternoon.

ago on such things as prison and conservation programs.

"Almost everything you look at in state government has had to sacrifice to cover increased education and welfare costs," said Rep. William E. Copeland, chairman of the Appropriations Committee in the Michigan House.

At twice the rate of neighboring New York City, the $10-billion welfare bill sent to Illinois last week is 211 times the national average. The federal government picks up half; the states, counties and localities split the remainder.

Each state sets its own eligibility and payment standards. A family of four gets a low of $60 a month in Mississippi and as high as $375 in Alaska.

Prison and other abuses drain off $500 million a year. At the same time, regulations designed to curb abuse have strangled the system in red tape. "There's an ironic joke among social workers: 'The most convenient thing you can do is die.' That takes care of the system in red tape," says a Michigan legislator.

In Chicago, where the economy has softened recently, workers, including craftsmen, are queuing up in welfare of "somehow," said a downtown economist.

The explosion has come in welfare systems. The federal government, challenged by state residency requirements and laws that barred assistance when a man was in the home, has decided to open the rolls to hundreds of thousands of additional families.

Community action agencies and state-run centers disseminated simplified family manuals, located needy families, and urged them to accept the aid of welfare bureaucrats. Lacking even the rudimentary skills, they gravitated to welfare offices, many of the urban areas. As the migration of welfare recipients to welfare offices grew, the jobs became fewer and fewer. In the boom year of 1969, for example, unemployment in welfare counties had been increasing.

Royal Vienna Cookware

Royal Vienna Cookware, which is imported from Austria, combines old-world charm with new-world practicality. It is made of iron and covered with porcelain enamel. Even the unique pattern is baked on. Then it's rimmed with stainless steel so the edges won't chip. It's heavy, like all good cookware is. You can move it from refrigerator to stove . . . and right to the table for gourmet serving. You can't buy it in any store not deemed public records, and which do not have to be included in the minutes nor disclosed to the public. Every exception deals with matters of policy and law, dealings with personnel, either in personal, medical, financial, trade secret, investigatory, or other type of information, the disclosure of which would constitute an invasion of privacy.

The last reference in Mrs. Munson's letter states that all meetings will be open to the public, including executive sessions unless voted closed by a majority of the commission. All votes taken by commission must be reduced to writing, whether in executive session or not, and included in minutes which must be available to the public at all reasonable times.

League of Women Voters

Last week's board meeting of the League of Women Voters welcomed three new additions to the executive board.

Included on the board now are Mrs. Sue Johnson, Mrs. Louise Gagne, who has been serving as circulate editor and Mrs. Lisa Hall, who this month joined the local League organization.

The board accepted with regret the resignation of Mrs. Marge Campbell, Scout leader of Troop 5288, sixth grade juniors, said tonight's meeting at 7 p.m. will be given over to an investment and rededication ceremony.

Mrs. Campbell said that one of the unique features of tonight's program is that two new girls will be invested who have not previously been Girl Scouts. They are Heidi Anderson, daughter of Wheeling Rd. and Linda Tibbets, of Rose Lane.

Another unusual feature of tonight's program, according to Mrs. Campbell, will be the investiture of Rham senior Miss Katharina Peterson of Lake Rd. as a troop committee member. Troop committee members are usually selected from adult members of the community; however, special permission was received from the Council, Miss Peterson's appointment.

Rededicated this evening with the other Scouts will be Miss Pat Campbell, who will receive her leader pin, and Pat's mother, Scout Leader Mrs. Marge Campbell, who is back as a troop leader after an absence of more than five years.

Town Clerk Notes

Mrs. Ruth Munson, town clerk, said that letters have been sent to all chairmen of town boards and commissions stating that further action of the committees will await the outcome of the regionalization study, scheduled for referendum on Feb. 29.

Bulletin Board

Tonight's meetings include a Mr. Johnson in her letters to the boards informs them that the Jan. 31 deadline is not met. A meeting can be held until 30 days after a schedule is filed.

Mrs. Munson notes that any commission desiring to hold a special meeting must file notice with the town clerk not less than 72 hours before the meeting. She states that in an emergency notice is not required; however, a copy of the minutes of the meeting, adequately stating the emergency, and detailing all the proceedings, must be filed with the town clerk no later than 72 hours after the meeting.

Mrs. Munson points out that the commissions are required to make, keep and maintain a record of the proceedings. She lists the exceptions which are:

New Pastors Questioned Before Installation

Before the Rev. Winthrop Nelson, center, and the Rev. Lyman G. Farrar, right, were installed as co-pastors of Center Congregational Church last night, they were questioned by Louis O. House III, moderator of the Hartford East Association of the Connecticut Conference of The United Church of Christ, at a convening of an ecclesiastical council of the Hartford East Association to examine the credentials of the co-pastors. Later, House and Samuel Pond, registrar of the Hartford East Association, officiated at the Rite of Installation. (Herald photo by Pinto)

Tolland County Sewing Topic Of TAC Program

A special program for the home sewer has been planned for tomorrow at the Tolland County Agricultural Center, Rt. 30, Vernon. The Home Economic Extension Service will be presenting a program from 10 to 11 a.m. and will repeat it in the evening from 7:30 to 9:30.

The program will include demonstrations ranging from sport clothes to evening wear, illustrating both simple and new styles of construction and detailing. There will also be samples of new fabric and color combinations.

The program is sponsored by the Tolland County Extension Service and the public is invited to attend at no charge.

Dai said two North Vietnamese regiments known to be in Binh Dinh have been reinforced by a third, the 21st Regiment of the 2nd Division that normally operates south of Da Nang along the northern coastal lowlands.

However, most of the activity in Binh Dinh to date has been small-scale attacks, apparently carried out by guerrilla forces rather than by North Vietnamese regulars.

Rham District Regionalization Heads Agenda Of School Board

The regional District 3 school board will hear a report and conduct a discussion on the subject of total school regionalization, at tonight's meeting scheduled for 7:30 at the school library.

Presenting the report will be the board member Everett Zepke, who is chairman of the temporary Regional Study Committee, which, under guidelines set down by Public Act 698, studied the feasibility of regionalization for Grades K-12 and recommended its implementation.

Also on tonight's agenda will be a presentation of the science progress reports on such matters as smoking, discipline, adult education and the self-evaluation program.

Supreme Court Asked to Allow Sonic-Boom Suits

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to decide whether property owners who claim their homes were damaged by sonic booms may sue the Air Force.

The case accepted for review involves members of a Washington, N.C., family who say sonic booms from military planes caused masonry cracks and other damage to their home.

Last May, the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond, Va., ruled the Air Force could be sued. The government then appealed to the Supreme Court for the hearing now granted.

Madrid Medical Students Subdued by Riot Police

MADRID, Spain (AP) — Mounted riot police swarmed onto the Madrid University campus today, clubbing and chasing striking medical students in the worst outbreak of violence since the students began a protest against academic conditions seven weeks ago.

Several students were injured and arrested after fighting with back with rocks, blocking traffic and smashing windows. Police declined to give details but confirmed there had been a number of arrests.

Several women students were beaten as the police galloped across the medical college grounds swinging three-foot leather clubs at students' heads.

Foreign newsmen saw one girl beaten on the head after police ordered her from a parked car.

Students smashed traffic signals and broke windows at an Education Ministry building. The violence erupted after students called for a demonstration to protest the suspension of 2,500 medical students for boycotting university classes since November.

The students were suspended by the university administration after refusing to head an ultimatum to return to classes last week, 48 hours after the medical college dean's car was overturned and his office seized.

The medical college has an enrollment of 4,000 students, thinking America is for the birds."

Search Begins in Italy For 33rd Post-War Premier

By PATRICK O'KEEFE

ROME (AP) — President Giovanni Leone met today with two former presidents and the heads of both houses of parliament as he began his search for a premier to head Italy's 33rd postwar government.

A long crisis is expected, but it appeared likely Leone ultimately would ask Emilio Colombo to return to the premiership he resigned Saturday and put together another center-left coalition.

The tiny Republican party, whose defection caused the crisis, said it would join the coalition again if stronger measures were enacted to treat social and economic ills. The Socialists probably will vote more power in the next cabinet as their price.

Leone finds it impossible to relaunch the center-right, probably will name someone to put together an all-Christian Democratic "minority" government.

Other members of the government himself.

Leone's visitors at the Quirinale Palace were led by former Presidents Giovanni Gronchi and Giuseppe Saragat. Then came Amintore Fanfani, president of the Senate, and Sandro Pertini, president of the Chamber of Deputies.

In subsequent days, Leone will meet with leaders of all political parties, from the neo-Fascists to the Communists.

Although the crisis was precipitated by the Republican pull-out from Colombo's 11-month-old cabinet, it stems from a split between the Christian Democrats and their major coalition partner, the Socialists, in the presidential election last month.

When the Christian Democrats went back to their old voting alliance with the Communists, the Socialists, both Communists and Socialists attacked Leone's victory as a swing to the right and charged that neo-Fascist votes had put him over the mark.

If Leone is unable to get a government formed, he will have to dissolve Parliament and call new elections a year earlier than scheduled. Only the neo-Fascists, who made sweeping gains in regional elections last June, are likely to benefit.

Meanwhile, all parties are squabbling bitterly over how to revive the stumping national economy and reduce unemployment. They are also debating whether there should be a referendum on the year-old divorce law.

How many children should a couple have?

No more than they really want. And that takes planning. Which is what we're all about.

Len Benjamin Chairman for Charity Ball

Leonard Benjamin, Northfield Rd., has been named general chairman of Coventry's seventh Annual Charity Ball, scheduled for the spring of this year.

In connection with the ball, Benjamin is urging all town-based organizations who would like to be considered as possible beneficiaries of this year's event to come forward. The steering committee would like to make it clear, he said, that "any charitable, educational, athletic or other worthy endeavor will be considered."

All applications, in letter form including the purpose and need of the group and a copy of by-laws if possible, will be welcomed.

This information should be sent to the Coventry Annual Charity Ball Steering Committee, Inc., Box 8, Coventry.

Over the past six years, the ball has raised over $18,000 for worthy projects in Coventry. Last year's beneficiaries were the Public Health Bureau, the Student Loan Fund, Inter-Church Holiday Fund, Coventry Community Center, the Beautification Committee and the Boosters Club.

Benjamin, who is also chairman of the Republican Town Committee, operates his own insurance agency in Coventry.

PTA Drug Program

The Robeson School PTA will begin its new year's activities tomorrow night at 8 with a program on drug and narcotic addiction.

Using a panel discussion format, the life of the addict will be examined from three different viewpoints: a mother's, an ex-addict's and a policeman's.

The program is entitled "The Junkie, His Home and Street Life." By employing this approach, it is expected that the audience will get a unique and progressive view of the picture of the drug-dependent personality, through showing some factors of home and neighborhood leading to the development of the addictive personality.

The mother on the panel now has a 22-year-old son in Percepotion House in Wallingford, a newly formed treatment center for addicts. Mike, the ex-addict on the panel, has been a counselor at Valiance House, Norwich, for the past year. He has given lectures on the subject of addiction throughout the state for the past 18 months.

Also participating will be Coventry Police Chief Robert Kjelquist, who has in the past several months made public his studies about the problem of drugs and addiction.

Slide Presentation

The Beautification Committee is having a slide show Thursday night at 8 at the Town Hall to which all residents are invited. The program will show how Coventry looks more and how it could look in the future, in addition to giving local residents an idea of what the committee is trying to do and what some of its goals are.

The emphasis is on the business area in South Coventry.

The committee will hold a brief business session after the slide presentation, which visitors are welcome to attend also.

Refreshments will be served.

Junior Women's Club

The Junior Women's Club will meet Wednesday, Jan. 19, at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's Church hall for a wine demonstration and business meeting.

Everyone attending is asked to bring their own wine glass, with a price to be awarded for the most unusual one. Guests are welcome and should call Mrs. Anthony Polite, Erie Dr. Town Council Meeting

The Town Council will meet tonight at 7:30 at the Town Hall. Included on the agenda is a discussion of the town master plan, Planning and Zoning Commission Chairman Arnold Carlson and a report on police contract negotiations.

Pleads for Seaman

BALTIMORE (AP) — Liberty for a foreign sailor in Baltimore promises little more than a visit to the city's honky-tonk district, a top director complains.

Kalevi A. Oikio, who once served with the Finnish Navy, wants the city to build an international visitors center so foreign seamen have an alternative to Baltimore's famed "Block."

Otherwise, says Oikio, "the average seaman will take a walk in downtown Baltimore, find nothing to really interest or challenge him, go back to his modern, air-conditioned ship and slip his native beard."

the store for value.

We want you to know about Pathmark. You see and hear a lot about supermarkets these days. The cost of living keeps going up, and you look for the supermarket that does just a little more... and at Pathmark we try to do just that. A little more.

It's a real experience to shop at Pathmark... and here are some of the things we do at Pathmark to make your shopping dollar go just as far as it can.

The Pathmark Value Planner

Home economists have long recommended advance planning as the surest way to save money when you get to the store. Pathmark acted on that recommendation and is the first group of stores ever to issue a weekly Value Planner. This valuable 4- to 8-page aid to shopping is distributed to customers as they leave the store. It features a representative checklist of items and their prices for the coming week. It gives you room to add other items, as well as offering shoppers' hints and money-saving coupons. To judge by the comments we've been getting, shoppers are just as systematic as we suspected.

Weekly Values Every Week

Since the day Pathmark opened its doors, we've had a policy of weekly values. Not a wild bargain here and there, the way some stores do. But a consistent policy of seven-day (or longer) savings. That's because we know everyone can't come in on the same day. And when we offer a value, we want you to get the benefit. So we run it long enough to give everyone a chance. With rainchecks or substitute items if we run short.

The Pathmark Label: It Saves You

At Pathmark, we have a private brand that encompasses over a thousand items—everything from soda to soaps, cooking oil to baby aids, baking aids to health and beauty aids. The products that wear the Pathmark name come under close scrutiny and quality control. We try never to put our bold red, white, and blue label on anything unless we're convinced you'll find it satisfactory. And of course, we keep the prices low enough to do wonderful things for your budget.

Cost per Measure

This is a big step forward at Pathmark... a posting which allows comparison pricing on various sizes and packagings of the same product. This procedure consists of red shelf-tags for over 1000 items, each tag listing the product name, selling price of the particular package, weight and cost by measure. This will help you to decide whether you're getting the most for your money in the package you usually buy.

The items are among the ones where price information seemed most likely to be important to the shopper: canned juices, most paper products, cereals, shortenings and oils, canned vegetables and fruits. Other items are being added gradually.

Single Item Pricing

At Pathmark, we price by the individual item. One can—one box—one jar... one price. No deception involved. No 6 for, no 3 for, leaving you with costly fractions when you want just one or two. We call our system Pathmarking, and we're proud of it because it saves you time and money every time you shop. Whether you're buying for one person or a large family, you get the same honest Pathmark value.

No Mystery about Pathmark Meats

We've taken the fluctuation out of meat pricing, too. From the very beginning, Pathmark has had solid, consistent values throughout its meat cases. U.S. Department of Agriculture Whole Grade A Fryers are 29c a pound. USDA Choice Sirloin Steak is 99c a pound.

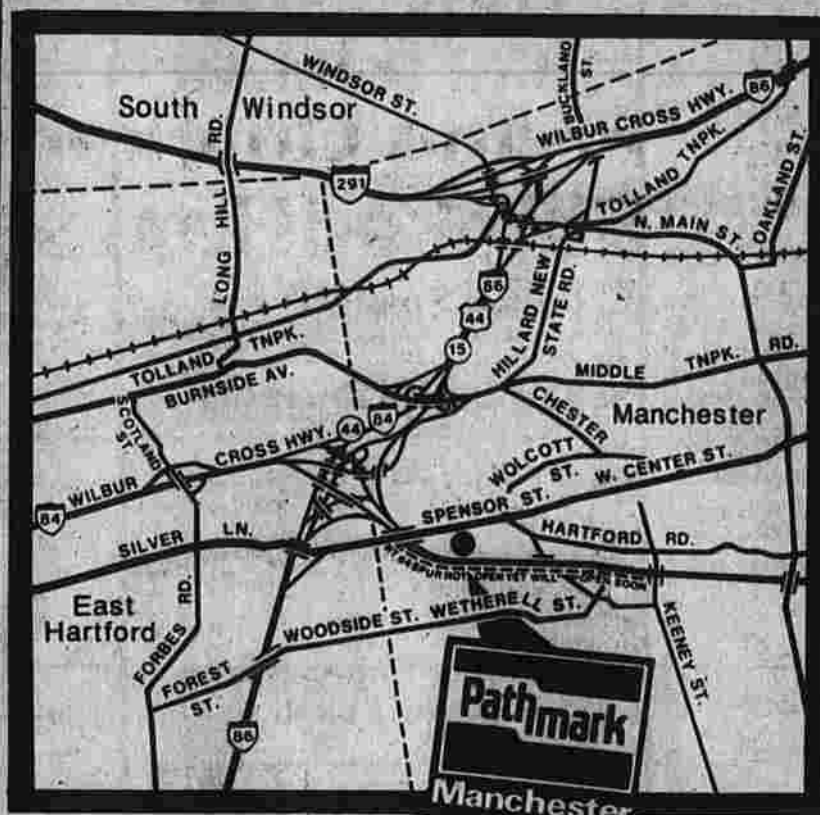

In addition, all Pathmark meats are packaged in two-way, see-through trays. No guessing what's on the other side. No getting home to

Open Dating

At Pathmark, all fresh poultry and meats now prominently display the day of the week by which they must be sold. This takes into consideration a subsequent period for home consumption and is your assurance that your family is getting all the nourishment you want for them.

Freshness in all foods is a matter of great concern to every homemaker. Unfortunately, a wide variety of codes is used by manufacturers, and the shopper has been kept pretty much in the dark as to what package markings mean. Now, however, because we feel you're entitled to as much information as possible, Pathmark has a Code Book accessible to all shoppers. It's conveniently located at the Courtesy Counter, so that you can check out any item you're interested in at any time.

The Total Store

We could tell you more about Pathmark... but words can't tell you what you see for yourself. If you want the little extra, and want one of the finest stores in America, you'll find it all at Pathmark. Have the Pathmark experience at our newest Pathmark—you won't find a better one around.

One-Fourth of Mankind

(13. Last Days of China)

Under the wide heaven, there is no land, there is none who is not a subject of the emperor. —Book of Odes

Not only were there no stirrings of the spirit in any sphere, but no need for such stirrings was even faintly felt.

by Don Oakley and John Lane

China was crystallized, static and satisfied. The basic unit of the nation was the family, which included the dead as well as the living, with authority proceeding from age and maleness.

Duffey Criticizes Meskill For His Welfare Remarks

WEST HARTFORD (AP) — The Rev. Joseph Duffey has sharply criticized Gov. Thomas J. Meskill for what he claims the governor's implication that welfare recipients are lazy.

Duffey, responding to one of Meskill's speeches made last November, said the governor's remarks "repeatedly imply that people on welfare choose welfare rather than work that they are lazy."

Duffey said "takes no course" to say that the "average taxpayer" pays an "unbearable burden." "What takes courage," he said, "is to point out the wealthy who do not pay their share of the cost of welfare."

Crackdown Starts Tomorrow On Posting Freeze Prices

WASHINGTON (AP) — Today is the last day the nation's big shopkeepers can get by without posting freeze-level prices where customers can see them.

The Internal Revenue Service begins a crackdown Tuesday on triple damage suits, or lawsuits for three times the actual damages, for anyone found in violation.

Under the new law, announced Saturday, the posting requirement no longer applies to retailers with over $100,000 a year in revenues. Other price regulations still apply.

These stores must post the price conspicuously, then customers can see them without having to ask an employee. What must be listed are "basic prices," the highest prices that could be charged for the items in question during the Aug. 16-Nov. 13 price freeze.

All food products must have basic prices posted. For other kinds of goods, only the top selling 40 items in each department must be listed, or the items which accounted for half of last year's sales dollars in the department, whichever is the lower.

The Economic Stabilization Act, signed into law last Dec. 22, provides fines of up to $5,000 for each violation of the posting provision. Furthermore, any retailer who illegally has raised any of his prices at any time since Nov. 14 without meeting the posting requirements.

Since the new law provides that customers may collect up to triple damages, plus court costs for willful overcharges by sellers, any merchant who has raised prices without posting, even if otherwise complying with Price Commission policy, may find himself subject to suit only a fine, but a flurry of customer lawsuits.

South Windsor Zoning Unit To Consider Youth Center

A decision by the Planning and Zoning Commission is expected tomorrow on a request to allow the use of a farm workers' boarding house on Windsorville Rd. as a youth drop-in center.

The application for a temporary permit, submitted by the Community Service Council, is among four items to be discussed at the 8 p.m. meeting in the Town Council's chambers.

Richard W. Spiller of 24 Elmo St. will serve as chairman of the Manchester Brotherhood in Action Group for 1972.

Spiller, active in BIA since 1967, served as vice chairman of the group in 1970 and 1971. A member and past master of the Manchester Lodge of Masons, he was appointed by the grand master of Masons in Connecticut to serve on the State Brotherhood in Action board for 1972 and 1973.

Discussion Set On Park Pond

There will be a meeting tomorrow night of various town officials and interested citizens to discuss the development and conditions at Center Springs Park. The meeting begins at 8 p.m. in the park lodge.

The meeting was set up by Mayor John Thompson after a petition signed by some 106 residents of the area was submitted to the Board of Directors urging that the board "clean up" the very unsightly conditions that exist at Center Springs Park.

William O'Neill, director of public works, will present the town's plans for the park. Town Manager Robert Weiss will also be on hand to answer questions.

Representatives of the Conservation Commission and the Advisory Recreation and Park Commission have been invited to attend.

Mrs. Fava Notes 80th Birthday

Mrs. Margherita Fava of 210 Charter Oak St., who observed her 80th birthday on Friday was honored yesterday at a family dinner party at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bongallo of 208 Charter Oak St.

About 35 members of her family attended the party including several nieces, a nephew and a grandchild.

Richard Whipple, vice president of the Hartford National Bank and Trust Co.'s international department, will address the Kiwanis Club tomorrow noon at the Manchester Country Club on the recent realignment of the international monetary structure and its domestic and foreign effects on Connecticut industry.

Dr. John C. Wright of 315 Center St. and Dr. Richard Demko of 29 Haynes St. have been named charter diplomates of the American Board of Family Practice as a result of passing certification examinations.

To achieve diplomate status, both physicians completed an intensive two-day written examination, proved their ability in the areas of internal medicine, surgery, obstetrics, gynecology, pediatrics, psychiatry, preventive medicine and other traditional specialties and now are certified in family practice medicine's newest specialty, medicine's newest specialty, the patient's total health care.

Dr. Wright and Dr. Demko are members of the Connecticut Academy of Family Physicians. Dr. Wright served as its president in 1970.

Dr. Wright, a native of Webster, N.Y., and a World War II veteran, is a graduate of the University of Buffalo and New York Medical College. He interned at Waterbury Hospital.

Dr. Demko, a Manchester native, graduated from Manchester High School, the University of Connecticut and New York University Medical School. He has served as Bolton director of health and Bolton schools medical advisor.
