Thompson Seeks Release Of Prisoner of War Pal

While the impact of President Richard Nixon's disclosure of secret negotiations for peace in Vietnam is not immediately clear, the announcement, particularly as it might apply to prisoners of war, is of particular interest to Mayor John Thompson. Thompson's roommate in college, who was also the best man at his wedding, was captured by the North Vietnamese on Dec. 31, 1964 and is presumed to be a prisoner in North Vietnam.

Maj. Donald Cook of the Marine Corps was an advisor to a South Vietnamese patrol when he was captured. Thompson says reports at the time indicated that Maj. Cook had sustained a high or hip injury in the action preceding his capture.

Cook and Thompson were roommates at St. Michael's College in Winooski Park, Vt. Thompson says he was released by North Vietnam in 1971, one of them contacted Maj. Cook's wife, Laurette, who lives in Burlington, Vt. with her four children. The soldier died last year, Thompson says, 1970 totaled more than 47 million that had seen Maj. Cook, a small rise over the previous year. This makes a total of good spirits. That was the last more than 800 million visits word on Maj. Cook.

New Challenger For Rep. Steele

CROMWELL (AP) — Joseph S. Coatsworth of Cromwell, the youngest member of the General Assembly, is spreading the word that he's interested in the Democratic nomination for the Second Congressional District seat.

Coatsworth, a teacher, turned 29 in December. The holder of the seat he may try to win, Rep. Robert H. Steele, was 83 in November.

Although not declaring himself a candidate for the nomination, Coatsworth said if reaction to his candidacy is favorable he would run.

So far, Coatsworth said, the response has been "encouraging." He has shown up at political rallies in the district, which incorporates all of eastern Connecticut, and he has conferred with party officials.

He met Monday night with party leaders at the home in Middletown of Town Chairman Lawrence Caciola, who is also the new state central committee chairman there.

Caciola said no commitments were made on the congressional picture.

The district is also the home of former State Sen. John F. Pickett, who is said to be interested in the congressional seat.

Learning Center To Be on Spring St.

A New Jersey-based firm has completed a land transaction in Manchester which will ultimately result in a new private school for children ages 2 to 6.

The Singer Co. of Cherry Hill, N. J., has purchased about 4 1/2 acres of property on the north side of Spring St., east of Cobb Hill Dr., for the operation of a singer Learning Center for early childhood education.

Singer purchased the property from Anasid Heights Inc., of Manchester. According to the conveyance, the purchase price was $22,000.

Based on the "open education" method of learning, Singer's program blends individual instruction with modern educational equipment. The result, the company says, is a North Vietnamese new peace program geared toward stimulating young children to want to learn, as well as providing children with proper tools for future learning.

Instead of typical classrooms, singer Learning Centers have a room designed to resemble a "learning center" for each area of instruction: Language, mathematics, science, environment, and expressive arts. Individual attention is placed on individual instruction and achievement of learning skills based on each child's capacity, the Singer Co. says.

Outdoor facilities contain equipment and recreational areas that provide challenging and adventurous — instead of swings and slides — "tree-form" equipment allows children to stretch their imaginations.

Singer Learning Centers have received great response and are now in New Jersey, Ohio, New York, and Maryland. The Manchester facility will be the Asamaer Ohi, up 1/2 at 17, Tycu Laboratories, up 1/2 at 17.

Sewer Project Gets New Bids

Davoren and Connolly of Hartford is the apparent low bidder for installing sanitary sewers on sections of Marie and Greenwood Drs. When bids were opened this morning in the Municipal Building, the bid was $24,125.00.

There were six bidders in all. Second low bidder was the Hix Construction Co. of Colchester with a price of $27,460. All the other were over $30,000.

The project was bid last September, but the bid then was $44,800, but for different specifications.

The specifications were revised somewhat to aim for lower prices. According to Walter Senkow, town engineer, the length of pipe to be installed will be shorter by 30 to 40 feet and the depth at which the pipe will be installed is shallower.

MOVIE RATINGS FOR PARENTS AND YOUNG PEOPLE

MAKING THINGS EASY FOR YOUR OPPONENTS

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Are you a considerable player? Do you make things easy for your opponent? The first rule of etiquette in bridge is to give your opponents every possible trick to make a mistake.

North dealer.
 East-West vulnerable.
 Opening lead: Two of Hearts.
 South opened a trump, and South quickly drew two more rounds of trumps. There was no problem about this; the only question was what to discard from the dummy.

A naive declarer might discard a couple of small diamonds from dummy. "Why not?" he would ask. "I never going to use those diamonds." Very true, but not repeating the opponents to lead diamonds, you must leave the diamonds in dummy to look threatening. You have to make it easy for your opponent to lead spades, so you must discard a couple of dummy's small spades.

Daily Question
 What do you say?
 Q: Hearts, A-K-Q-10-9-8-4; Diamonds, 8-3; Clubs, 8-7-3.
 Answer: Bid one heart. It is poor policy to pre-empt in first round second position when you have so much top command.

You lead a club and finesse the ten to East's queen. Since slam is a possibility, you have discarded spades on the dummy, you can afford to pre-empt since slam is a possibility and then continues with another spade.

Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices succumbed to further consolidation today and fell lower in active trading.

The Dow Jones Industrial Average of 30 industrial stocks dropped 17 1/2 to 892.01.

Declines led a narrow lead on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said there were several negative factors depressing the market, including the President Nixon's new peace proposal, another negative influence, they said, was the Commerce Department report Monday that durable goods orders fell in December after two months of gain.

Other factors noted the market was still in a period of downward adjustment as had been the case for the previous five months. They said this was only normal, considering the tremendous gains scored in the Dow average in the past few months.

Noon prices on the Big Board also included Horizon, off 3/4 at 48 1/2; Memorex, up 1/4 at 56 1/2; Halliburton, off 3/4 at 64 1/2; Uti-venity Computing, up 1/4 at 21; and Uti-venity, up 1/4 at 21.

Other gains included AMREP, off 3/4 at 29 1/2; Mico Electronic, up 1/4 at 28 1/2; New York, off 1/4 at 28 1/2; and Manchester facility will be the Asamaer Ohi, up 1/2 at 17; Tycu Laboratories, up 1/2 at 17.

Tolland New Tenants Assured For Industrial Park

Tolland's industrial park is expected to get several new tenants, according to First Selectman Erwin Stotzner.

Approximately three or four new industries are planning to locate in the park, with an anticipated ground breaking date planned for March.

The Industrial Development Commission will present preliminary plans for the building to the Planning and Zoning Commission at the Feb. 7 meeting.

Stotzner credited the town's anticipated lower mill rate as prompting the rearrange of interest in industrial development, lagging during the past few years.

The interested industries are planning to locate in separate buildings between 10,000 and 15,000 square feet of space each.

It is hoped the buildings would be ready to move into by the end of July or August.

Glass Industries Inc. is interested in relocating its New York City operations to Tolland and is working on financing arrangements.

The company still holds an option on an eight acre parcel in the park, which has six to eight months to be exercised.

If the town approves the sale of land to the prospective industrial tenants, a shunt option on an eight acre parcel in the park, which has six to eight months to be exercised.

According to the first selectman, the state is now requiring the creation of a new budgetary department for the town.

Symonds serves as assistant chief of the fire department and is a member of the Citizen Committee on the Town Plan.

$50 Billion Paid To Idle in 30 Years

WASHINGTON—Since unemployment compensation first became payable in all states more than 30 years ago, benefits paid to unemployed workers have totaled more than $50 billion. In 1970, payments of $1.4 billion were made to about 6.5 million individuals. On an average, these individuals received $20.31 a week for about 12 weeks.

Rain doesn't always make things grow.

Last year bad weather helped kill over 11,000 people. Good-weather drivers did the rest. Drivers who drive like it's summer all year long. Slick streets greatly increase the chances of a skid, but that doesn't make the good-weather driver go any slower. Rain, ice, and snow almost double the distance needed to stop, but that doesn't stop him from following too closely. Bad weather can drastically limit visibility, but that doesn't make him any more cautious.

You know the kind of driver we mean. Watch out for him. And make sure you're a good bad-weather driver. We want you and your family to be around to enjoy the good weather.

Vernon Housing Unit To Discuss Rent Hikes for Elderly

Rents in the elderly housing project in Vernon are less than those in most other state towns, according to Francis Pitkat, executive director of the Vernon Housing Authority.

The need for raising the rents at the project at Franklin Park and Grove St. is expected to be raised at a meeting of the authority scheduled for tomorrow night.

At a meeting held Monday, with some tenants of the project, Pitkat made mention of the fact that the rents may have to be raised. The meeting was called specifically to discuss forming a social club for the elderly citizens.

The need to keep pace with the ever-increasing costs of operating the housing project, including maintenance and utility costs, was cited as the reason a rent increase is being considered.

Yearly budgets, now being prepared, show there will be a gap between income and expenses which has to be made up somewhere.

However, there is a lot of red tape to go through before the Housing Authority can take any action on raising the rents. One of the housing projects in Franklin Park, Franklin Park East, and the project at 65 Grove St. are both state financed, therefore increase as to how much it will be or when it might go into effect. For those living in the federal project, Pitkat noted, the Brookside amendment will be approved by the Federal Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) more than one-fourth of its must approve increases for yearly income.

Tolland Dispute with Bus Company Is Settled for $100,000

The Board of Education has agreed to pay the bus company $100,000 out of court in its long running dispute with the Tolland Bus Company. The funds are included in the current school budget for payment.

The settlement is the result of negotiations between Town Counsel Robert King, representing the school board and Atty. Arthur Brand, representing the bus company.

The school board had with-held the "dead head" mileage payments since Jan. 1, 1971. The difference between the payments and Munroe's bills amounted to $11,000 by June 30, 1971. Another similar amount has been withheld since school opened in September according to Dr. Mackenzie.

The settlement agreement is admittedly complicated, according to the terms of the settlement.

No Billboards For Muskie

MANCHESTER, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Edmund S. Muskie will not use billboards in his campaign for the Democratic presidential nomination because he feels they are "inconsistent with his long-held position on environmental controls," his headquarters said today.

Aboven added, "We certainly intend to utilize campaign billboards, posters and other similar materials."

PZC Tables Proposal On Small Lake Lots

The Planning and Zoning Commission is recommending that...

A special meeting of the commission...

Several residents who live in the Amston area...

President George Wallace remarked, "Anything you can do...

He referred to one specific case where a large house is being built...

Now, he said, there are four cottages built directly behind his rear property line...

Chairman Roy Wirth stated, "If there is any stand up there now that is polluting, it is up to the residents to notify the zoning agent."

He explained that commission members could be patrolling the town for violations.

Some residents felt that the situation at the lake could be sufficiently controlled by enforcing present regulations.

Resident Theodore Stapanak pointed out that present regulations, state that a "well and septic tank may be provided on 50 by 100 foot or 100 by 100 foot lots only if such lot is certified suitable by a registered engineer and is in conformity with State Health Department requirements."

Stapanak spoke out against the proposed changes, saying that "the regulation is unnecessary and unfair."

Stapanak maintained that most of the owners of 50 by 100 foot lots bought property in good faith and on the open market and on the assumption that you can convert."

"You have to enforce the rules you have on the books," he added. "The target should be against the people who are polluting the area... you are trying to strike at people who have not done anything."

Wells said the original intent of Amston Lake was that no wells would be dug. It was during the war, he said, with a shortage of housing, that many "wells were dug and a stop not put to it."

Now there is a strong possibility, he said, "of having sewers in a few years. The council is concerned because 'we know a situation exists.'"

He referred to how the town of Lebanon is enforcing a 1962 regulation that no year-round residences could be built on Amston Lake, even to the point of eviction.

The board agreed to consider the case, a hearing will be held at the Gilead Hill School on Feb. 19 also at 8 A.M. A schedule will be set up following these lessons for those who wish to continue.

Residents in the three towns are welcome and beginning are encouraged to attend.

Jury Being Chosen In Berrigan Trial

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — stand scholar and one of the defendants, told newsmen after court session Tuesday that the trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six other persons say they have strong feelings against the Vietnam war.

He also said the jury would be sequestered during the trial, expected to last three to four months. He said the panel of 12 candidates had been selected from public and antiwar groups.

Prosecution and defense lawyers still were waiting to ask questions. On Tuesday 20 candidates were eliminated. They included 17 who said they had formed fixed, prejudicial opinions, bringing to the number excluded for that reason.

During the judge's interrogation Tuesday, he asked: "Would your feelings on the Vietnam war, the way the conflict is being carried out, have anything to do with your judgment in this case? Would it prevent you from arriving at an impartial verdict?"

Smith attacked the medieval coat iron with a saw and brocked his wife up in an antique chest. Then their 8-year-old son Mark, 7, replied one woman.

Another woman, whose son has a low draft number, interjected, "There are times when I feel very sympathetic to those opposed to the war."

And a woman with three sons said, "I have strong feelings about the war. I most sincerely always wanted, what I had hope and pray they will not be any more."

Dr. Reginald Ahmad, a Pakistani scholar and one of the defendants, told newsmen after court session Tuesday that the trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six other persons say they have strong feelings against the Vietnam war.

He also said the jury would be sequestered during the trial, expected to last three to four months. He said the panel of 12 candidates had been selected from public and antiwar groups.

Town-Planning King Had to Bribe People
KRISTIANSDAND, Norway — In 1641 when King Kristian of Denmark and Norway built the town of Kristiansand in his own honor, he had to bribe people to move in by giving them tax exemptions.

This early town planner picked a choice spot of land within a mountain-sheltered bay on Norway's southern coast. He built streets that were wide for their time, laid out blocks of few houses in a grid pattern and gave each such package an interior green so that every home made their home at 29 Lyndale, 39 Gerard St.; Mrs. Elizabeth C. White, Vernon Rd., Bolton; Laurie Zaccaro, 445 Tunnel Rd., Vernon.

More than 100,000 of the abortions were performed in 23 clinics in the city, Chase said in remarks for the opening of a new Planned Parenthood family planning and abortion center.

Chase said that the center, located at 29 Lyndale, will provide family planning and abortion services for women in the area.

$114,600 Budget Set By Emanuel Church

A budget of $114,600 was adopted by Emanuel Lutheran Church last week at the annual meeting of the congregation in Luther Hall of the church. To date, $103,000 has been pledged for 1972.

The Rev. C. Henry Anderson and the Rev. Ronald J. Johnson, co-pastors, reported on pastoral activities and statistics of the congregation. Membership gains were slight, with 1154 confirmed and 1664 baptisms for last year amounting to almost the same amount. Property improvements were noted including the retiling and repainting of the altar and communion rail and the reorganizing of the sanctuary.

These two projects were accomplished through money from the Memorial Fund.

Paul Holmer, who is student pastor, is exposed to all areas of church life, told of his work with the youth and the Christian education committee. He reported that the Sunday Church School has an enrollment of 228 and there are 60 enrolled in the Junior and Senior Confirmation Classes. An adult class on Sunday mornings was initiated last fall, and a class for post-confirmationals will soon start.

and "constant with totals paid in past years." Board Issue The board also voted to recommend that the school bonds be floated for a ten-year period when they come due in February. The amount of the bonds, which for the construction of the elementary school, is $400,000 and the term is the option of floating for a 10 or 20 year period.

The board voted for 10-year bonds to save interest charges. The board denied a request by the selection to reconsider the purchase of a parcel of land-locked property adjacent to the elementary school, saying that it would like more information on topography and on planned use for the land.

Town Counsel The annual budget conducted last night, the board read a letter from Joseph Castagna, superintendent of schools, requesting that the Board of Finance set up a meeting with the school board and selectmen to consider the possibility of establishing an annual retainer for town counsel.

The question of the town counsel's fee came up at a school board meeting earlier this month when it was felt that his role and his fee determination should be clarified.

Member Al Ahearn, voting against the appropriation, said the Park Commission "has long been very lax" and he had indicated that approving the request would be "setting a bad precedent."

Book Review

GLOBE. By Vladimir Nabokov. McEraw-Hill, $6.95. Essentially, this novel is a literary curiosity. Nabokov, who is something of a character himself, has been having a quite bold affair with a black man and she has been sampling a few narcotics.

As for the writing, it is full of the tangled sentences typical of all of Nabokov's works; often, especially in the early passages, it makes so many shifting flashbacks that it is difficult for the reader to follow the sequence, if any.

The story is filled with bits of minor destruction and small episodes of the author's consequence. Somewhat the author has done his deliberately, to create an effect of malaise that matches the foggy nature of the principal character.

Whatever the surrounding circumstances, the fact was that the brig's skipper, a hard-nosed egomaniac named Mackoide, court-martialed one of the ship's midshipmen and two sailors implicated with him. They were hanged.

Charles has cast his story in the form of a journal kept by a young surgeon aboard the brig, Robert Lascock. The surgeon, holding officer rank, is not an old line Navy man, was in the middle of the moon. He personally observed young Spencer's reckless activities and then acquiesced in the skipper's decision to hang him—finally, after the inquiry was over, the young surgeon took his own life, presumably in remorse over his inability to follow his own conscience.

This is a specialized type of novel, an engaging yarn for sea buffs and trial buffs, but also an obliging commentary on a timeless rebellion of youth against the Establishment.

GREY. By Kingsley Amis. Harcourt, Brace $6.95. This novel's narrative revolves around the Roy Vandervane, a rather prominent British symphony conductor and a minor composer.

As a full Vandervane and his capers there is Douglas Yandel, a thirtyish middle class hippie who has some very vulgar characteristics.

Design To Be Put on Exhibit

Recently, these designs for present and possible future plans for the Robertson School 12-classroom, kindergarten wing were stippled by Mankey Associates of 700 Main St., project architects, for exhibit in Atlantic City, N. J. There it will be on view in the school architecture area during the Feb. 20-26 convention of the American Association of School Administrators, to be held in Convention Hall. At the top left is a rendering of the north elevation of the addition; at the right, the east elevation; in the lower left, the southeast view; and in the lower right, learning areas. Immediately below the north elevation are the site plan and addition. To the right of the site plan are the floor plan of the first addition, which opened about six years ago, to the original Robertson School; and a rendering of the media center in the new wing. At the extreme left of the 1968 addition is a new two-station kindergarten, which is part of the present project. The shaded designs below are Mankey Associates' plans for three phases of the Robertson School expansion. Wavy lines between classrooms are folding floor-to-ceiling partitions, which will also provide space for chalkboards and teacher workroom. At the extreme east of the wing will be a production room and two other pupil lavatories and lockboards. The partitions may be closed to form individual classrooms or

Vernon Library Does Big Business

Adult tastes in reading still run to non-fiction more than fiction, with the possible exception of detective stories, but cookbooks also have a brisk circulation at the Rockville Public Library, according to the report just issued by the head librarian, Miss Natalie Ide.

It Was Nothing, Says Car Lifter

NEWPORT, Ky. (AP) — Mrs. Norbert See, a 5-foot-5, 120-pound brunette, lifted a 2,000 pound automobile off of her cervix and lost books and jewelry in the process, she said.

"I knew my boy was under the car and I had to get him out," Mrs. See, 33, said Tuesday. "I didn't notice the weight of the thing."

Her son, Mark, 11, was recovering today in a hospital with head and shoulder injuries.

Mrs. See, of Melbourne, Ky., said she was driving home from a veterinarian's office and was distracted when the family Irish setter became sick in the front seat.

The car ran off the road and Mark was thrown out. He was trapped under the car after it hit a pole and rolled over.

"Mark was partially under the car and was complaining of his shoulder, and it was just a small car," said Mrs. See, a part-time secretary.

Maybe This Bird Will Walk Home

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP) — A 60-pound, 4 1/2-foot-tall brown bird that couldn't fly and ate bits of vegetables, leaves and grasshoppers has been stolen from Cornell University's ornithology laboratory.

A university spokesman said Tuesday the bird, a Darwin Rhea, had been missing for about a week from its fenced-in enclosure. A broken lock and other evidence of a forced entry were found, the spokesman said.

The bird, named Peter, resembles an ostrich, with long legs and neck.

The university said the South American bird has no commercial value but is a favorite of the ornithology department. Peter was being used for behavioral research, the spokesman reported.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Doing Parents

Ethel, hesitant about marrying Fred, decided to put a blunt question to her mother and father. "I love your son," she said, "but I have doubts about his health. Tell me frankly, is he well?"

They assured her that he was in perfect health. But, as they well knew, Fred was suffering from both tuberculosis and drug addiction. Ethel found out the truth shortly after the marriage, and promptly got an annulment. But she did not stop there. She followed up with a damage suit against Fred's parents.

Grounds: fraud. At the trial, the parents claimed they could not be expected to make unpleasant disclosures about their own child. Nevertheless, the court held them liable. The judge said their deceit was too deliberate and too important to be excused.

This is an unusual case. But it illustrates that doing parents do not have an unlimited right to favor their child at someone else's expense. A comparable situation arises when parents are accused of not fairly pushing a marriage but of unfairly breaking one up. For example:

A mother was sued by her daughter-in-law for alienation of her son's affections. It seems that the mother had waged a relentless campaign against the marriage, not so much because she loved her son as because she hated his wife. The court decided this was outside the parental privilege and ordered the mother to pay damages.

Of course, the law does give parents a considerable amount of freedom to speak their mind. However, Kurker said, the husband who was having marital difficulties went to his father-in-law for advice. The father-in-law urged him to get a divorce, and he did.

Could the father be held liable for the divorced wife for alienation of affections? A court said he could not because his interference was within the reasonable limits of a parent's role. As one judge put it:

"Times of stress naturally bring parent and child together for comfort and advice. This, the law does not condemn."

Vermont Diocese Has New Bishop

BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — The Rev. John A. Marshall, the 42-year-old son of a former Worcester, Mass., postmaster, was to be installed Tuesday as the seventh bishop of the wide Roman Catholic diocese of Burlington.

Three archbishops and 21 bishops were expected to attend the ceremony at the Cathedral of the Immaculate Conception in Burlington. He succeeds the Most Rev. Robert S. Joyce who is retiring at age 75.

Bishop Joyce has been spiritual leader of the diocese for 15 years. He was a consecrator for Bishop-designate Marshall during the ceremonies today. Father Marshall was named bishop on Dec. 14 by Pope Paul VI in conjunction with an announcement that the resignation of Bishop Joyce was accepted.

The new bishop studied for the priesthood at the North American College in Rome where he has recently been serving as a spiritual adviser. He had experience in parochial work in three parishes and he served as principal and teacher in Catholic high schools.

During today's ceremonies, presiding presbyter was to be the Most Rev. Humberto S. Medeiros, Archbishop of Boston. Medeiros is also the metropolitan for the Province of Boston, which oversees the Burlington diocese. Other archbishops in attendance were to be the Most Rev. John P. Whealon of Hartford and the Most Rev. Paul Gregoire of Montreal.

Baseball In Out COLUMBIA, Md. (AP) — Children under 12 may not play baseball on any of the six city-owned playgrounds in this St. Louis suburb, which bills itself as "The New America."

Officials of Columbia Association, by a 2-1 vote, ruled baseball is a contact sport and thus in the same category as such other contact sports for youngsters as football, soccer and karate.

Andover Landfill Unlike Dumping, State Expert Explains

"Don't call it a dump — it's a pay dearly for a bagged landfill operation," says Charles Kurker, principal consultant engineer for the Connecticut Department of Environmental Protection, about Andover's waste disposal area.

Kurker presented a slide program combined with a running commentary on the slides. He explained his above statement by saying that a dump is simply an open dumping ground where rubbish is deposited and nothing further is done. Connecticut no longer has any dumps, Kurker said; rather they are landfill operations and are very different.

A landfill operation demands three requirements: first, that the rubbish be spread over an area to a very thin layer (one step); and third, that a covering of at least 6 inches of clean fill or dirt be applied. When a segment of the landfill is abandoned, a two-foot covering of dirt is applied over the last layer.

The Department of Environmental Protection, Kurker said, is concentrating at this time on the problem of waste disposal. The other two areas of concern, storage of waste and collecting or transportation of waste will need further study.

The question of open burning always comes up, he noted, and in small towns, such as Andover, there are no bans against open burning as a rule. However, Kurker said, that incinerators are emitted into the air from burning of rubbish, so it is not recommended.

He spoke of the feasibility of incineration, and explained that it takes a town of about 40,000 population before an incinerator is justified. A solution here, Kurker said, would be for Andover to combine with other towns or areas in the region and buy an incinerator jointly. Kurker stressed that incineration does not dispose of waste. It is a volume reduction method, but not a disposal method.

Something still has to be done with all of the rubbish after it has been reduced to ashes and non-burnables. One solution would be to compact the remains and bury them in a landfill operation, either within a town, or in another centralized area.

Kurker showed some slides and explained the long-range effects of landfill operations near a stream or river. Eventually, the rubbish does decompose, and from oxides and other pollutants are introduced into the water.

Reclamation About the feasibility of a complete reclamation center, Kurker said that a landfill will be needed to take care of items that cannot readily be reclaimed.

He showed the latest advances in recycling automobile tires, and glass reclamation. Some towns, Kurker said, want to compost. To date, however, composting requires a certain amount of hand-picking through the rubbish, making this part objectionable.

He also said that tests have shown that people will go to a garden shop or other store and

This was especially interesting to the group attending because the Andover Environmental Action Council is conducting a glass recycling program with volunteer labor and has just sent its first shipment of glass to Deyville.

The group noted about the recycling glass, and an itemized bill from the town for loading and trucking showed the expenses ran around $70.

Probation Office Busy PSI Vital Tool In Court's Work

By JUNE LINTON
(Herald Reporter)

The Department of Adult Probation is not only confronted with the problems of its probationers but also has a few ever-increasing problems of its own.

While the number of probation officers in the Rockville office has increased from one to three during the last two years, no additional office personnel have been added.

Thomas Kaput has two groups going, both for probationers who were involved with drugs. One year no additional office personnel have been added. The typing of an ever-increasing number of pre-sentence reports, the phone-answering, greeting, occasional problem-solving when none of the officers are there, the responsibility for time-consuming statistical and monthly reports, memos on procedures, transfers, and lots of other such things have been handled for the past 10 years by one typist, Jane Herman.

Because of government restrictions on upgrading job classification she will wear the outgrown label of "typist" but will happily share it, along with the work, with a new typist due to Governor Meskall's decision to spend some money in the Dept. of Probation. The governor has authorized an increase in the number of probation officers from 84 to 112 as well as other personnel, including the welcome typist here.

No additional probation officers are expected in this office which serves Tolland County Superior Court and the Manchester, Rockville and Stafford Springs sessions of 12th Circuit Court. The staff here is headed by Senior Probation Officer Paul J. McGarry who has headed all of the cases from 1959 until he was joined by Steven Bayler in May, 1970 and by Kenneth Sternick this past November.

The office itself has undergone a change from an old block of quarters over an old block of stores on Union St. in Rockville to a bright cheerful set of offices in a new office building in the redevelopment area. It's an important change where morale is concerned in a non-emotional business.

What is Probation? Probation is a period of supervision, usually two years, ordered by the court when a sentence or part of a sentence has been suspended. There is sometimes confusion as to the difference between probation and parole. As clarified by McGarry, probation is "in lieu of jail or prison" while parole is the unserved portion of a sentence and involves only releasing a year or more. Conditions of parole are stricter than those for probation.

The person on probation must report as directed to his or her probation officer and may not leave the state without permission, although there are instances in which blanket permission is given to leave for specific purposes. He must make every effort to remain steadily employed. If not in school, notify his officer as to his whereabouts and changes of address, agree to waive extradition from any state in the U.S., pay money which he owes as directed by his supervisor. There must be no anti-social conduct. Failure to obey the rules and any special provisions as well as all laws may result in a violation of probation and the suspended sentence may well become unsuspended.

those involved with controlled drugs and marijuana. These therapy groups are in addition to, or follow, other treatment programs and include some persons on methadone maintenance.

McGarry said he feels they are effective and such an approach could be used here for drug-related cases, the most difficult, he indicated, of all his probationers. He expects they will use the method eventually when there is adequate staff to do it. He has gone through a series of training sessions for group therapy and considers it a very useful tool.

Bayler feels the most difficult cases are the youthful offenders, not because they are in that one category but because now they are set apart in a particular age group they become apparent. According to Bayler, "People in that age category (16 to 18) are at a period in their lives when they are most apt to struggle with authority. These are relatively immature people and need more counseling. It takes a lot of time."

Need Group Work He expressed the feeling that this group would have best handled in groups, that "Among their peers they bring up many more issues." He said it is most important to them to function in their own peer group, and they are more likely to evaluate their own performance and create values in a group rather than on a one to one basis with a probation officer.

According to these officers there is a lack of awareness not only on the part of the public but also on the part of the courts as to what probation is all about. As they expressed it, "Some courts make inappropriate referrals to the probation department," and cited cases of reckless driving, driving, driving under the influence of liquor, or under suspension and even non-support, cases which do not require the particular kind of supervision so vital in other kinds of cases. There are other options for the courts, even non-supervising probation.

There are more than enough cases which fit. To mend a tear in sheer curtains, apply clear finger nail polish and press edges together each time that you launder.

More Cases Expedited A surge of new cases is expected because of the Youthful Offender Act, according to Bayler. Before it went into effect Oct. 1, prosecutors and judges were reluctant to sentence a young first offender, and, rather than give him a record, would note the case or transfer it to juvenile court. Now that it is a 18 year olds can be tried as a youthful offender without acquiring a record, the case is waiting for particular cases to come up, referred to as "dead time."

A probation officer must be in court to accept new probationers, comment if necessary only on the part of the public.

The Painting Goes to Her

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sing-er Jack Jones is to give his former wife $1,000 a month, housing, furniture, a chess set and a painting of a dog under a doghouse settlement reached in Superior Court.

Grethen Jones, 25, for her part of the property settlement approved Tuesday, pledged to vacate the 83-year-old singer's house in suburban Sherman Oaks within a few days.

The couple married Sept. 5, 1970, in Houston, Tex., separated eight months later and were divorced Dec. 16, Mrs. Jones is a former airline stewardess.

Business Mirror Price of Office Letter Couted as High as $15

By JOHN CUNNINGHAM
NEW YORK (AP) — How much does it cost a company to produce and mail a letter? If you say $3.50, the commonly quoted figure, you'll have lots of company but, according to one expert, you'll be dollars short of the answer.

David Sweet, executive vice president of Bruce Payne & associates, an international management consultant, put stop watches and slide rules to work

That $15 letter, he says, is cent efficiency is about the maximum to be hoped for. That means that the total direct labor cost is $3.01 a letter, the components being $1.48 for executive time, $1.43 secretary, 10 cents filing.

At 60 per cent efficiency, which is "pretty typical," the cost is $4.27. And at 25 per cent, and "there are lots of environments in which this is the case," the labor cost soars to $17.81.

That's not all. To these labor costs must be added fixed charges for rent, heat, light, depreciation, interest and so on. Based on long experience, Sweet states that such charges generally equal the cost of direct labor.

What is wrong at the company which pays $14.80 per letter? Misuse of today's very expensive machines and misapplication of individual effort are among the chief faults.

In a modern office, Sweet says, a letter should be typed by a typist while the secretary performs more important work. The reason for this becomes obvious when you look at some of the equipment used by large corporations in producing a letter. It might include $15,000 worth of dictating equipment, tape driven typewriters and cathode ray tubes. Every cent of idleness is waste.

In addition, there are material costs, mainly for stationery and stamps, making the total $6.39 at 85 per cent efficiency, $8.91 at 60 per cent, and $14.80 at 25 per cent.

Vernon Site Found For Center For Day Care

The location for the first day care center of the kind in Vernon was announced Monday by the Hockanum Valley Community Services Council. It will be held in three rooms of the school wing of the First Congregational Church of Vernon whose Board of Trustees has been authorized to negotiate to provide space for the center under a lease agreement for a year. The church is in Vernon center.

The location is definite, and hopefully by March 1, 20 preschoolers from three to five years old will launch the state model program. The program, run with curiosity, fun and the inevitable tears.

However, it will provide the opportunity for mothers on welfare to work or to enter job training. The program is primarily for them. It is being established by the HVCCB and two-thirds of the necessary funds provided by a state grant of over $41,000 from the Department of Community Affairs. The rest of the cost will consist of in-kind services by professional volunteers.

Strict guidelines have been set up along with the grant which specifies that at least 80 per cent of the children must be from a disadvantaged group. There will be one teacher-director and two aides to provide the highly-regulated educational center which will be in operation from 7 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday. Transportation will be provided and it's expected the parents will contribute what they can for the service.

Information concerning applications will be made public as soon as all technical arrangements are completed. Volunteers are needed to drive a mini-bus for secretarial help, and to construct play equipment.

According to those who have been deeply involved in the planning of this "first" for Vernon, the feeling seems to be that the hardest part has been accomplished, that of determining the need, getting the funds and the space. According to Mrs. Helen Abaza, interim president of the council, expansion of day care would be in the directions of Ellington and Tolland in providing help in setting up their own centers.

Contest for Song Will End April 1

Yale's "Booka Booka" is not what Gov. Thomas J. Meskall wants to hear as he is introduced at national functions. He wants a state song.

The Connecticut Commission on the Arts, which is holding a contest for an official song, has set April 1 as the deadline for submitting entries.

The commission is selecting a panel of judges for the contest, but their names will not be disclosed until after the competition ends.

Entries should be sent to the commission, 340 Capitol Ave., Hartford, 18106. The names and addresses of the composers and lyricists or, if they are deceased, the names and addresses of persons submitting the compositions, must be sent with the songs. More information is available at the commission office.

Stamps In The News

By SYD KRONHEIM AP Newsfeatures The Peace Corps has received its greatest recognition by being honored on a new U.S. 8-cent stamp which will be placed on first day sale Feb. 11.

The stamp was designed by Bradley Thompson of the Peace Corps, who based his concept on an award-winning Peace Corps poster by John Battle of Yellow Springs, Ohio.

Although the Peace Corps was established as a temporary agency within the State Department Sept. 22 of that year after Congress passed the Peace Corps Act.

Presently there are 8,500 Peace Corps volunteers serving in 66 nations throughout the world. Most of its programs are concerned with education, health, agriculture and community development of new countries who desperately need such services but are unable to provide them to the people.

Make a quick trip from parking lot to putting them in the pot and you'll save precious minutes. Make certain the water is at full rolling boil, too, and that the pan is covered with a tight lid. Heat vegetables to boiling, then reduce the heat to a gentle simmer for best results in cooking. Make it a rule never to overcook vegetables.

Never wash eggs until you are ready to be used. The natural protective coating on the shell helps to preserve the egg.

WASHINGTON — Sen. Marjorie Holt (D-Mont.) is in the process of proposing a formal announcement about whether she intends to seek reelection. Her longtime administrative assistant, William Lewis, whose health is regarded as a determining factor in her decision, has recovered sufficiently from a heart attack to be back at work part-time when the Senate reconvened this week.

Someone made a secretarial error when the White House wrote the National Women's Political Caucus to explain why First Lady Pat Nixon will not be coming to New York City for the benefit on Feb. 2. One garbled sentence seemed to pick up the wording from two different form letters and reads: "Although she is unable to accept the honor you so graciously suggest because of previous commitments on her calendar to participate in this special event, she very much appreciates your thoughtful invitation."

Harrison Outlines Main Street Plan

Phil Harrison, long-time Manchester businessman, paid tribute to the formation of the Main Street Guild and outlined his model block plan for renovating the business district at last night's meeting of the guild at Willie's Steak House.

Harrison referred to the guild as the best thing that has happened to Manchester in the last decade. He said if merchants will generate enthusiasm and a spirit of cooperation, the result can be a vibrant Main Street and a fine shopping area.

The model block plan, first proposed in December of 1971, would result in face-lifting of business, covered shopping areas, improved landscaping and parking areas.

Harrison said that the block being planned is bounded by Main Street, Elm Street, and the Town of Manchester toward the west. He urged businessmen to become members in a true spirit of cooperation. A full-scale membership drive is being planned.

Burt Lyons, publisher of the Herald, commented that planning is under way to improve the Main Street Guild and mall-town more attractive. He introduced Duane Edmonds, director of advertising and market research for The Herald, and Bill Simpson, retail advertising in addition to the guild which is a retail business promotion organization.

Agents Kill Skyjacker In Poughkeepsie Drama

POUGHKEEPSIE, N.Y. (AP) — A St. Louis man who hijacked a jet airplane and landed at the Dutchess County Sheriff's office was shot and killed by an FBI agent today.

At one point during the 30-hour drama that began Wednesday night at the Westchester County Airport, the hijacker said he intended to make a stewardess parachute from the plane with him.

The hijacker had taken over the Albany-New York City jet and ordered placed at the end of the runway.

He put the woman in the plane with only after his driver's seat, then went around death that was in the rear of the car and got in the passenger seat, at which time a starter pistol — the "bomb" was two-way point an FBI agent approached.

The agent reportedly tapped on the window. The hijacker, who was identified as 48-year-old former Penikese, N.Y. man Heinrich von Goerge, of the Dutchess County Sheriff's office, was shot and killed by the FBI agent.

McAllister, unhurt, said the hijacker had kept a gun at her head for seven hours, but she struggled off a suggestion that she had been a harrowing ordeal.

Jobless, New Nixon Target Reports Outlook Bright

Strict Demands Bared By U.S. Peace Delegate

PARIS (AP) — The United States and threatens new military adventures if we do not complete withdrawal of its forces from South Vietnam until a final agreement is signed on the basis of Nixon's latest peace proposal.

The Viet Cong responded by calling the Nixon peace plan "a complete agreement in name only." North Vietnamese criticized Nixon for disclosing that his adviser, Henry A. Kissinger, had conducted secret talks in Paris with North Vietnam.

The Communists did not use the word rejection in discussing Nixon's proposal, and the North Vietnamese said they would have further comment on it.

"We would be willing to negotiate on other aspects of the agreement, such as those affecting withdrawals and prisoners, while we continued to negotiate on the main aspects of the agreement," said U.S. Ambassador William J. Porter at the 14th weekly session of the Vietnam peace talks.

"However, in connection with troop withdrawals, I wish to make it clear that although they could start on the date of the election campaign, the withdrawal of troops would not be totally complete until a final agreement is signed."

Before Porter spoke, South Vietnamese negotiator Phan Dang Lam formally presented the eight-point peace plan which President Nixon made public Tuesday night.

North Vietnamese delegate Xuan Thuy told newsmen as he entered the session that the proposal was "part of his election campaign." He said the "screen" under which he "continues the American war of aggression."

Interrogators quote Communist prisoners as saying they were told to prepare for a two-stage plan for the week ending Jan. 23, with small attacks and escalations to major blows at South Vietnam during alternate weeks.

These reports are regarded as indications of North Vietnam and Viet Cong plans to strike in South Vietnam during alternate weeks.

Although some aspects of the reports are discounted by U.S. officials, other points are taken seriously when meshed with various indicators of enemy troop buildup in key areas.

Captured officers said they were briefed in recent weeks on plans for a major offensive against the South Vietnamese Army, and so discounting the reports are discounted by U.S. officials.

Recession

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sure enough, it was a recession after all. The White House says so, two years later.

The report of the Council of Economic Advisors, sent to Congress with President Nixon's economic message, says on page 148: "The United States was in a mild recession."

Administration officials, spoken of a slowdown, a hesitation, and a lag. But still now they had admitted the Nixon administration had ever had a recession.

How Did Henry Do It? Kissinger's Cloak-Shrouded Hunt for Harmony

By GAYLORD SHAW

WASHINGTON (AP) — Henry Kissinger used five separate routes, each carefully calculated to disguise his destination and purpose, when he commuted regularly to Paris on his super-secret peace missions.

Friendly Frenchmen lent invaluable help as President Nixon's national-security adviser.

Reports Outlook Bright

By STERLING F. GREEN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Joblessness has become the great economic enemy. President Nixon said today, he assured Congress he is determined to defeat both unemployment and inflation, and reported "the outlook is bright" for success.

In his annual Economic Report to Congress, Nixon quashed what finally the hints by some officials of an early end to Phase 2. Price-wage controls will be enforced, he said, until the goal of "reasonable price stability can be maintained without controls.

"We will persevere until the goal is reached," he promised, "but we will not keep the controls one day longer than necessary."

The report, third and last of the major presidential messages to the new session of Congress, announced a strong business expansion in the final quarter of 1971. Real output rose 6 per cent in annual rate, twice the rate of the preceding six months.

Gross national output will rise by nearly 100 billion in 1972, or more than 9 per cent, to a total of $1.46 trillion, the message said, and two-thirds of the record gain will be real, not just inflation.

"1972 begins on a note of much greater confidence than prevailed 12 or 13 months ago," the President said. "Output is rising at a rate which will boost employment rapidly and ease the unemployment problem. There is every reason to expect this rate of increase to continue."

"We are converting the fear of a new inflation into a source of strength for price stability in the long run," he said. "The great problem is to get the unemployment rate down from the 6-per cent level where it was in 1971."

"Six per cent unemployment is too much, and I am determined to reduce that number significantly by 1972."

The jobs rate rose to 6.1 per cent in December, Nixon said.
