Meskill: It's Austerity Again

7% Tax On Sales Asked

By SOL R. COHEN (Herald Reporter)

Cautioning the people of Connecticut that "austerity will continue to be the watchword," Gov. Thomas J. Meskill today asked the General Assembly to back his tight-fisted control of state spending.

He recommended a 7 per cent sales tax for fiscal 1972-73, up one-half per cent over the current year, and said his recommended budget will require "no income tax and no increase in any other taxes."

The increase in the sales tax, he explained, is for financing the estimated $10 million yearly interest cost of the existing $244 million state deficit.

His proposed tax increase is the smallest for the state in five years.

Addressing a joint session of the legislature, Meskill proposed a $1.159 billion General Fund budget for 1972-73, up $12 million over the one voted by the legislature for this year, and up $18 million over the amount he approved for spending.

The governor said his spending plan would require dropping the sales tax exemption on utility bills from the present $20 level to $10, otherwise, he had no other proposals to offer in his tax package.

Strangely enough, his recommendation for a $210 ADM (Average Daily Membership) grant to the towns and cities drew no applause from the legislature.

The legislature, last year, voted an ADM grant of $210, which was the highest in the state's history. It had been $200 previously.

In addition to the General Fund budget, Meskill proposed a capital program of $225 million, with $97 million of it to be used to the municipalities for building new schools.

Taking particular note of the state's $24 million deficit, held over from the 1969-71 biennium, Meskill recommended that it be paid off in ten years.

"If we were to pay off the deficit in two years," he warned, "it would mean raising the sales tax to almost 8.5 per cent."

"This," he said, "is too harsh and burdensome on the people of our state."

Polled To Move Meskill emphasized that "the state has regained its equilibrium and is poised to move forward."

He said "confidentially and unequivocally" that the state is keeping within spending guidelines and will meet its current fiscal year in the black.

Saying, "I pledge my cooperation," Meskill asked the legislature to "move forward."

Governor's Budget Message

As we open this, the first annual session of the General Assembly in modern history, I think it is important to reflect for a moment on its true significance. At its heart, the Assembly indicates the strong desire of the electorate for sound management of the state's fiscal affairs.

I hope we will view that desire as a mandate, keeping in mind that our principal business here is the adoption of a budget. It is a complex job, but we can do it quickly and well. I am heartened, as I am sure the electorate is, by your confidence that a budget can be adopted by mid-April. I will do my utmost to help you meet that self-imposed deadline for completing your budget deliberations.

I urge you to consider my proposal carefully. It is a good budget. It will meet our needs and it will meet them responsibly and honestly.

Instead of extracting and recasting a list of programs and amounts from the budget, I prefer to devote my time with you today to describing what my proposal means for the state, how it will allow us to remain true to and further the traditional goals and ideals of our people.

But first, I would like to review briefly the events and trends of the last twelve months. They were, I am sure, what we all agree, difficult months. They were re-assuring ones as well for they demonstrated our state government reestablishing itself as a vibrant and resilient institution able to live within its means as it discharged its responsibilities.

I can report to you to all the people of Connecticut confidently and unequivocally that we will end this fiscal year with a deficit. We are meeting our massive commitments, commitments which exceed a billion dollars annually, and we are meeting them out of current income.

We have isolated the deficit to the late 1960's. Its unbridled growth has been stopped. All that remains for us to do is to stamp it out. I will continue to say about fixing Connecticut's deficit in a firm, confident manner. One final comment on Connecticut's fiscal recovery is in order. It is this: Not only are Connecticut's responsibilities and resources back in balance, but the dangerous practice of bonding current expenses has been stopped.

The state has regained its equilibrium and is now moving forward. It is our responsibility and our privilege to plan and carry out the future. Authority will continue to be the watchword.

Additional program new facilities I plan to continue reduction in the number of forces as circumstances allow. The successful policy of attrition in effect during the next year will remain in effect. We will continue to implement the cost-saving recommendations of the Governor's Commission on Services and Expenditures.

For the coming fiscal year, my budget proposes expenditures of one billion, 169 million dollars from the General Fund. It proposes a Capital Program of $226 million. For the second year in a row, I recommend a new highway bonding; however, I will recommend a redirection and updating of education authorities.

Taken together, the General Fund and Capital Programs represent commitments of almost $1.4 billion. As I indicated earlier, my budget proposal remains true to the traditional goals and ideals of our people. It channels more than 70 per cent of this $1.4 billion into four major areas: Education, environment, health and welfare.

As always, the commitment to education remains our largest, approaching a half billion dollars. From the General Fund alone, I propose spending $386 million on educating our young people.

Also included are funds for operating our new Correctional Center at Bridgeport and for our local communities to have most importantly $215 in the capital program, for upgrading and counseling, asking for $97 million in educational, medical and drug treatment services for youthful offenders.

This commitment to reclaiming youthful offenders is reflected in both the General Fund and Capital Programs. In the latter, I am calling for an increase of $9.5 million in General Fund budget and Capital Program allocations for that purpose. We will be keeping faith with the future.

With regard to higher education, my proposal for next year increases state-funded financial assistance available to students by more than 11 per cent, raising it to $2.7 million. This combined with federal contributions and other funds, makes available a total of $14.5 million for student financial assistance. This grant total exceeds this year's comparable figure by more than $2.5 million, an increase of more than 20 per cent.

To return to the per pupil grant to our local communities, at the $216 level it will result in a distribution of $146 million to local governments. This is the mainstay of General Fund payments to local governments, totaling $776 million. This figure reflects an increase in state aid to local communities.

more than 25 per cent since the last complete fiscal year. This increase should relieve the pressure on local property tax payers.

In addition to the General Fund aid, fully 70 per cent of our $224 million Capital Program will be used to assist communities. This level of funding represents a dramatic increase over our previous year's funding level.

We must put our money where the problems are and many of the problems are in our local communities. In earmarking $40 million in General Fund and Capital Program expenditures for our towns and cities, I am confident we are spending our money in a way that will maximize its benefits. Local people know local problems. They can solve them much better at home than we can at the Capitol.

I am also asking that we increase our commitment to the physical and mental well-being of our people. My General Fund program includes $12 million for our health effort. My Capital Program includes, in addition, nearly $2 million more for new health and mental health facilities.

These funds will give substance to the humanitarian instincts which have long characterized the people of Connecticut. They will allow us to help the ill and disabled, the distressed and troubled among us.

These funds will make possible the complete restructuring of new mental health clinic at Bridgeport. The budget will allow us to make significant additions in our efforts to help the mentally retarded. It will end this fiscal year with a deficit. We are meeting our massive commitments, commitments which exceed a billion dollars annually, and we are meeting them out of current income.

In addition, I am asking for $5 million to continue our Vietnam Veterans Bonus Program. The people of Connecticut cannot and will not let an unpopulated and troubled among us. Another area of concern to our people is the deterioration of our environment. I share their concern as I am sure you do. My proposal sets aside $85 million for conserving and developing our natural resources.

Last year, together, we established the Department of Environmental Protection. It has moved swiftly to take up its tasks set for it. My proposal includes an increase of 20 per cent in operating funds for this department and in the Capital Program. I have earmarked more than $40 million for clean water, clean air and open spaces.

Finally, in these major areas of concern my responsibility is to the needy and less fortunate among us. The aged and the young, the blind and the disabled who need our help will have to meet this responsibility. I am asking for a $300 million appropriation.

That, then, is the broad brush picture. It shows that we value education; that we are committed to the physical and mental well-being of our citizens; that we want clean air, clean water and open spaces, and that we will help those who need help. These are admirable goals. They are the measure of a generous people and we are privileged to serve them.

My proposal includes more than $70 million for our state's four major areas: Education, environment, health and welfare. These funds will let us improve and expand our training for the academy for Corrections officers at Haddam. This is a wise investment. The academy gives new insights to the field alone. I propose spending $386 million on educating our young people.

Also included are funds for operating our new Correctional Center at Bridgeport and for our local communities to have most importantly $215 in the capital program, for upgrading and counseling, asking for $97 million in educational, medical and drug treatment services for youthful offenders.

This grant total exceeds this year's comparable figure by more than $2.5 million, an increase of more than 20 per cent.

To return to the per pupil grant to our local communities, at the $216 level it will result in a distribution of $146 million to local governments. This is the mainstay of General Fund payments to local governments, totaling $776 million. This figure reflects an increase in state aid to local communities.

more than 25 per cent since the last complete fiscal year. This increase should relieve the pressure on local property tax payers.

In addition to the General Fund aid, fully 70 per cent of our $224 million Capital Program will be used to assist communities. This level of funding represents a dramatic increase over our previous year's funding level.

We must put our money where the problems are and many of the problems are in our local communities. In earmarking $40 million in General Fund and Capital Program expenditures for our towns and cities, I am confident we are spending our money in a way that will maximize its benefits. Local people know local problems. They can solve them much better at home than we can at the Capitol.

I am also asking that we increase our commitment to the physical and mental well-being of our people. My General Fund program includes $12 million for our health effort. My Capital Program includes, in addition, nearly $2 million more for new health and mental health facilities.

These funds will give substance to the humanitarian instincts which have long characterized the people of Connecticut. They will allow us to help the ill and disabled, the distressed and troubled among us.

These funds will make possible the complete restructuring of new mental health clinic at Bridgeport. The budget will allow us to make significant additions in our efforts to help the mentally retarded. It will end this fiscal year with a deficit. We are meeting our massive commitments, commitments which exceed a billion dollars annually, and we are meeting them out of current income.

In addition, I am asking for $5 million to continue our Vietnam Veterans Bonus Program. The people of Connecticut cannot and will not let an unpopulated and troubled among us. Another area of concern to our people is the deterioration of our environment. I share their concern as I am sure you do. My proposal sets aside $85 million for conserving and developing our natural resources.

Last year, together, we established the Department of Environmental Protection. It has moved swiftly to take up its tasks set for it. My proposal includes an increase of 20 per cent in operating funds for this department and in the Capital Program. I have earmarked more than $40 million for clean water, clean air and open spaces.

Finally, in these major areas of concern my responsibility is to the needy and less fortunate among us. The aged and the young, the blind and the disabled who need our help will have to meet this responsibility. I am asking for a $300 million appropriation.

That, then, is the broad brush picture. It shows that we value education; that we are committed to the physical and mental well-being of our citizens; that we want clean air, clean water and open spaces, and that we will help those who need help. These are admirable goals. They are the measure of a generous people and we are privileged to serve them.

My proposal includes more than $70 million for our state's four major areas: Education, environment, health and welfare. These funds will let us improve and expand our training for the academy for Corrections officers at Haddam. This is a wise investment. The academy gives new insights to the field alone. I propose spending $386 million on educating our young people.

Also included are funds for operating our new Correctional Center at Bridgeport and for our local communities to have most importantly $215 in the capital program, for upgrading and counseling, asking for $97 million in educational, medical and drug treatment services for youthful offenders.

This commitment to reclaiming youthful offenders is reflected in both the General Fund and Capital Programs. In the latter, I am calling for an increase of $9.5 million in General Fund budget and Capital Program allocations for that purpose. We will be keeping faith with the future.

With regard to higher education, my proposal for next year increases state-funded financial assistance available to students by more than 11 per cent, raising it to $2.7 million. This combined with federal contributions and other funds, makes available a total of $14.5 million for student financial assistance. This grant total exceeds this year's comparable figure by more than $2.5 million, an increase of more than 20 per cent.

Commission on Services and Exemption on utility bills from the present $20 level to $10. The Report, as I am sure you know, included several hundred recommendations, some administrative and others legislative.

A number of the administrative recommendations have already been implemented. Savings taxpayers would readily accept from these, together with the savings from the recommendations which we anticipate implementing during 1972-1973.

I have asked the Lieutenant Governor to assume responsibility for the direction of the legislative proposals. The Commission has charted a course which I intend to follow in administrative matters. I hope you will avoid deficits with respect to most of the legislative proposals.

I can tell you from my experience with the administrative proposals already enacted, that the Report talks about real. If there has been one clear a-d recurring theme throughout my first year in office it has been a call, in fact, a demand, for economy in government. I hope you will agree that the choice then is not between paying something and paying nothing. The choice is to pay or not to pay.

This brings us to the last, but by no means the least of the matters we must discuss here today, a tax package and the deficit which hangs us from the ceiling. I am pleased to be able to tell you and the taxpayers of our state that the spending plan I have outlined will result virtually no increase in our sales tax, no income tax and no increase in any other taxes, if we lower the sales tax.

In conclusion, may I offer these words of encouragement to you. My goal is to improve the quality of life in our state. I believe that the people of Connecticut want us to put a stop to this senseless slaughter. We can do it and we should.

I am submitting for your consideration a bill which will make a seven-day jail sentence mandatory for drunk driving. I urge you to pass it. I am sure you think about it you will decide seven days may not be enough. Passage of such a bill would be a bold step. It would trigger similar legislation by other states. We have the opportunity to save hundreds of lives in our own state and perhaps thousands on a national level. I hope we will do it.

Spending is also a heavy contributor to the deaths and maiming on our highways. Last year eliminated mandatory license suspensions for convicted speeders. I think we made a mistake. Our good intentions have resulted merely in a permissive attitude on the part of drivers. I do not feel permissive about senseless deaths. I think we should make a mistake. thing such as a situation is the almost impossible task before American policy today. We have no real assurance President Nixon is going to succeed in it. But criticism which ignores the very nature of the task is certainly not going to help.

The Small City Townships

The New York Times, the other day, making a survey of the problem facing the downtown sections of America's small cities, produced a number of observations and conclusions which we here in Manchester can find pertinent.

"Our problem really — and the problem of every downtown — is that they were laid out in the eighteenth or eighteenth century when people were on horseback."

"Our city center has seen hit rock bottom like so many have. This is one of the biggest hurdles toward redevelopment. The cash registers are still ringing, largely due to inflation. But if we went back to 1910, 90 per cent of the sales were in the center city. Now less than 30 per cent is being spent in the center city."

"Some downtown buildings are tied up in estates owned by as many as 25 people scattered all over the country. It makes it almost impossible for them to get together and carry out renovations that are necessary. As a result, the upper floors — the ones which were occupied by lawyers, doctors and dentists — are now all vacant. They're unusable."

"Well-built and attractive wood-frame houses, march along elm-shaded streets to the very edge of downtown. But more and more of the people who live in those houses are driving away from the nearby downtown stores to the five shopping centers that have been built on the outskirts in the last decade."

"As in others, the interstate highway that bypasses Jansenville has proved a mixed blessing, easing traffic pressure on the 19th-century downtown streets, but opening up the fertile farm land of the countryside to shopping centers and strip developers and speeding local residents to even larger shopping centers in Madison 40 miles to the north."

"Meanwhile, in the old two and three-story brick buildings along Main and Milwaukee streets have grown shabby, many of the offices on the upper floors abandoned, the merchants at street level cramped for space."

"Against such difficulties for the downtown sections of so many small American cities, there are the obvious advantages open to the new shopping centers. They can build themselves for the convenience of the automobile. Since they are usually the venture of a single ownership or management, they have no trouble giving themselves harmonious design and constant maintenance."

"Nevertheless, the downtowns of small city America have to find their own special future, prosperity, and their own special future, prosperity."

"And what we have to hope for in Manchester is some parallel, here, of the spirit the New York Times found in one of the small cities it surveyed."

"This downtown hasn't gone downhill as much as some — some of them have for the crisis stage. The merchants here are aggressively taking this thing and putting their money where their mouths are. That's the difference in this town. If people say they're going to do something, they do it here. They don't just say they're going to do it."

From Here To Eternity

In deciding to revoke the liquor license of the Green Elks Club, because it excludes blacks, and Mory's of New Haven, because that eatery excludes women, the State Liquor Control Commission has carved out new ground. It construed literally a section of the state law which says that, "no shall any agency become a party to any agreement or plan which has the effect of sanctioning discriminatory practices."

It would occur to us that if these two institutions, and others that are equally now in violation wish to retain their liquor licenses, the state law will either have to be changed, or the institutions must change. The law currently does not appear to exclude clubs, and we do not think it should. A fundamental point is that all clubs reap considerable federal and state tax and license benefits. They do not, for instance, pay a tax on the profits of their bar and restaurant event when these are used for those other than club members. They pay only a small fraction for a liquor license when their fees are contrasted with commercial restaurants and cafes. They are in short, subsidized, and what is being subsidized is discrimination.

While the Elks have a long and proud record of both public service and a welcoming attitude to the new Americans of old, the Irish, the Greeks, the Italians, and the Poles (all of whom are now customarily honored with special nights), they have been slow to recognize that a man whose arms are crossed, and whose tables down at Mory's to the bar at the Elks, it is time for the "poor little sheep who have lost their way" to find a more democratic solution. — MIDDLETOWN PRESS.

Inside Report

"What Is Bob Taft Up To?"

By Rowland Evans Jr. and Robert D. Novak

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Atty. Gen. John Mitchell's foreboding over the enduring blood feud within the Ohio Republican party surfaced last month during his chance encounter with a party leader from Ohio. Having barely exchanged greetings Mitchell blurted out this question: "What the hell is Bob Taft up to?" Mitchell, President Nixon's closest political adviser and campaign manager, had heard that Sen. Robert Taft, Jr., had decided to run for a seat on the Republican state central committee. Mitchell, Mitchell was clearly unhappy.

His apparent exasperation by no means evinced anti-Taft feeling inside the Nixon high command. Rather, the Attorney General was and is understandably jittery that Taft's move is part of a power play to take control of the statewide party. That would guarantee a continuation of calamitous Republican civil warfare which could defeat Mr. Nixon for reelection.

For it is scarcely conceivable that Mr. Nixon could win a second term without carrying Ohio. Since he carried the state by a less than comfortable margin in 1968, when blessed with major public Republican party, his chances in 1972 could be marginal at best. Hi Neighbor

Burl Lyons, Publisher

We urge your support of the Drug Advisory Committee, of 1,000 Unlimited in Manchester in controlling our drug use problem. President Nixon has labeled drug abuse number one domestic problem and it is also the number one concern in Manchester. Your contribution of $1.00 is needed if the Drug Advisory Center is to continue its splendid work. Send your check today to the Manchester Community Development Foundation Inc., care of the Chamber of Commerce, 277 East Court Street.

We urge your cooperation, the money stays here in the community, and is vital to the future welfare of Manchester. Send what you can afford, or better still, make some sacrifice in supporting this worthwhile program. You can cut your cigarette puffing by about two packs a week and send the money to the 1,000 Unlimited of Manchester.

Meanwhile, the Tobacco Institute advertises the industry spent $2.5 million for newspaper advertising of cigarettes last year, more than three times the amount spent in 1970. However, the industry spent 28 per cent less on cigarette advertising because of the ban on radio and television commercials. Americans are smoking more these days also despite all the warnings.

Despite Phase II the cost of being in business continues to mount. The Associated Press, which supplies the leased wire news service to The Herald, has put through an increase of 9.5 per cent effective now.

There seemed to be little publicity for a distinguished senator who was laid to rest a couple of weeks ago. We refer to Sen. Carl Hayden, 94, of Arizona who served longer in Congress than any other man, 37 years. In fact Hayden entered Congress one year before Nixon was born.

In a number of sessions, Congress has kicked around legislation that would set age limits for senators and representatives but has done nothing. Hayden was 94 when he died. He was 80 when he was elected to the Senate.

The ever-present threat of skyjacking continues to plague travelers who use the airports. Dulles and Kennedy Airports are seeking ways to detect explosives and tests which dogs indicate they can be taught to sniff out explosives as they do marijuana. Airlines have been in a slump and are reluctant to install magnetometers at all airports. These mechanical gadgets buzz an alarm upon sensing a metal object concealed on the person or in the luggage of a passenger and cost about $1,200 each.

A couple of years ago we attended a motivation clinic at which Cavett Robert, former New York attorney and member of the Senate, was the speaker. When we have a few relaxing moments we still spin his record which contains some excellent thoughts for every-day living in this changing world.

To study past methods is wisdom, to cling to them is suicide. If you want to be successful, know what you are doing, love what you are doing, and believe in what you are doing.

While 66 1/2 per cent of the people in the world go to bed hungry, 96 per cent go to bed hungry for recognition. People want to feel important.

From the Rotarian and perhaps even a true story: The new clerk asked the customer: "Have you an account here, ma'am?" "No, the lady replied, "but I would like to see the manager."

The clerk took the customer to the manager's office and announced: "The lady's advertising account executives conduct a survey over the weekend by calling people at random in the telephone directory. The survey revealed that 80 per cent of the people in Manchester subscribe to The Herald and they spend an average of 25 minutes with it each evening. Ninety per cent of those responding were over the age of 21."

We appreciate the splendid cooperation on the part of those who were telephoned by our account executives. In the weeks ahead you will be reading more about a survey of the Manchester area which was conducted for us by Eastern Newspaper Surveys in December. We had been going over the detailed survey and from time to time will carry some of the information gathered in the study in this column. As an example, our detailed survey shows that 83 per cent of the people in Manchester subscribe to The Herald. There are a number of courses you purchase it across the board.

We have been taking advantage of the weekends to see New England. An observation from this newcomer is that we would appreciate an additional sign or two in most areas informing us of the number of miles to the next city or town. At the same time we fully realize signs clutter the landscape and there are certain restrictions by both federal and state governments.

We began publication last week of a column by Sen. David Odgers on the Legislative Assembly which is to appear twice a month. We told the senator we would make the space available to the Democrats on a similar basis and reaffirmed that thought in a telephone conversation with Ted Cummings.

I say that if the sign is a precedent of things to come than I welcome it. Sharon Behling Dean Drive Bolton, Ct.

It should like to see your column on behalf of the Little Theatre of Manchester, Inc. to thank the many people of Manchester and the surrounding towns who have been so wonderful to us during our recent telephone campaign. As the Subscription Chairman for a year, my personal thanks go to all who have helped with the drive as well.

Little Theatre recognized a need in the community twelve years ago, and ever since then, the entire great Manchester area has given its support to this theatre project. It is obvious that the people in this area want live theatre as evidenced by the overwhelming response we have had this year to our campaign.

To those people contacted, our thanks. To those who still wish to join Little Theatre as a subscriber for 1972, our telephone campaign is over, but you can still join us for the year. I would be most happy to hear from anyone who has an interest in becoming a patron for the year.

Our thanks also to The Manchester Evening Herald, which throughout the years has been a staunch supporter of our program and has provided such excellent coverage of our activities.

Sincerely yours, Mrs. Fred (Rosemarie) Belcher 1922 Subscription Chairman The Little Theatre of Manchester

Seneca Sign

The townspeople of Bolton have been complaining about the lack of business. The new highway was said to be good, because it would attract business. The same people who have complained anytime new business attempts to locate in our town are the same people who complain the loudest concerning our exorbitant taxes. The sign is not an eyesore, it merely catches one's eye from the highway, and therefore attracts business to Bolton! Do they realize that our only hope for tax relief can come from new business in our town?

I say that if the sign is a precedent of things to come than I welcome it. Sharon Behling Dean Drive Bolton, Ct.

Book Review

WEEKEND '33. By Bob Thomas. Doubleday, $6.95.

In the old days they used to call it novelized. That is the scene of the novel, and the time is Labor Day weekend of 1933, when the talkies were rampant, placing the silent films and the Depression still young.

For instance, Smith devotes considerable attention, in various places, to The Pilgrimage of Grace. He assumes the reader knows all about Henry's reign, even foolhardy, supporter of this pro-Catholic, anti-Reformation, Yorkshire movement of 1536.

In the end we feel we have some exceptional new insights into the life of a man who was driven as much by extreme religious conviction as by dynastic ambition through his and taste that should make the book a pleasure to all Yeats devotees. The plentiful, well-selected illustrations give a genuine sense of the poet's environment. All the important persons and places are here, including some lovely scenes of Eligo and western Ireland. The text is a readable monograph with a warm though not scholarly appreciation which, to borrow Yeats' line, "is not natural in an age like this."

Yeats, who died in 1933, had a strong sense of ancestry, roots, traditions. That outlook, mingled headily with his pre-occupation with the invisible world of the occult, matters of entire seriousness with Yeats and not, as some believe, a poetic pose.

The first prediction brought Yeats, in private life, perilously to the verge of mobbery, the second earned him the nickname "Willie the Spook" from the history of the Irish imagination of Ruskin in the imagination of Pushkin. This is quite true. There was more to Yeats' art than "indomitable Irishry," but it was perhaps the last time when a single individual could embody a nation's best cultural aspirations and help set its intellectual course.

Yeats' role in Ireland's literary renaissance was enormous. "Coming at his own particular moment in history," Mac Linn wrote, "Yeats' art was more than any of his contemporaries, wielded an only half-understood influence that should make his name as significant in the history of the Irish imagination and its utterance as that of Pushkin in the imagination of Ruskin."

Permanent Scars Left on People's Minds

1971 San Fernando Quake Left Fears of the Future

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A year ago today, at 4:01 a.m., a powerful earthquake wrenched the northern end of the San Fernando Valley.

Starting with a six-inch slip five miles deep in the earth, the quake calculated by scientists at 6.5 on the Richter scale.

Yet earthquake fear has subsided for most valley residents. Realtors report no signs of a mass exodus.

Another 4,800 homes, 205 apartments and 128 commercial buildings had appreciable damage.

Freeways writhed, and an overpass collapsed, crushing two men in a pickup truck.

Yet it wasn't the big quake experts predict. The Los Angeles County Earthquake Commission, composed largely of California Institute of Technology faculty deans, says:

"There is reasonable expectancy that before the end of the century a quake of much greater magnitude will visit Southern California."

What's the picture a year after the jolt? Aftershocks, most of them imperceptible, have numbered more than 1,000.

At elementary schools, 14,283 pupils—8,143 more than before the quake—a year ago—are on double sessions.

On the personal level, interviewers from UCLA's Survey Research Center found:

For weeks after the quake countless men, women and children slept restlessly, many of them not at all.

Children had nightmares. Many refused to sleep in their own rooms.

Oddly, the people most affected were among those whose homes were least damaged.

When 1971 ended, Mrs. Joseph Palumbo burned her calendar—"it just wasn't our year."

It had brought her major surgery, a house fire and the quake, which left her 12-year-old son with a broken arm.

Or consider Frank Carobona, 58. Two minutes after he arrived for work in the San Fernando VA Hospital kitchen, the robot-looking baker was hurled across the room by the quake.

Flaking cover under a sink, he was entombed for 56 hours by tons of rubble. He was given up for dead.

Unearthed by rescuers, he was found to have a broken hand and bruised back. Interiors have been renovated.

"It's not enough just to be around," he told interviewers that day. "A man has got to live or it's nothing."

A spokesman for the Insurance Information Institute said the insured loss will be about $20 million, and more than $40 million has been paid.

Freeway damage totaled $15 million. In 65 days after the quake engineers put in a temporary bridge and six-lane detour to get traffic moving.

The total on homeowner loss was $10 million, and more than $40 million has been paid. He still can hardly bend his back.

"At night," he told an interviewer last week, "I sleep two sissy heavy" on the Richter scale of earthquake intensity.

Primary List Official For Bay State Ballot

BOSTON (AP) — Three Republicans and 22 Democrats including a man from Connecticut who is too young to serve in the office—will appear on Massachusetts' April 23 presidential primary ballot.

The official list was announced at a news conference by Secretary of State John F. X. Davoren Tuesday, the final day for filing nomination papers.

Republicans include President Nixon and Reps. Paul McCloskey of California and John Ashbrook of Ohio.

On the Democratic ballot will be Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, George McGovern of South Dakota, Henry Jackson of Washington, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Vance Hartke of Indiana.

Also, former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York and Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and Edward T. Collins of Hartford, Conn.

With the exception of Coll, Davoren said, the names to appear on the ballot were determined in accordance with the state law that requires the listing of candidates generally recognized by the national news media.

Coll, an unsuccessful candidate for Congress from Connecticut in 1970, is only 32, three years younger than the minimum age constitutionally required for a president.

Davoren said he will appear on the ballot because he filed more than the 2,000 signatures necessary to get his name listed.

"The Elections Commission could get involved, either regarding Coll's age or the validity of his signatures," Davoren said. "But as far as I'm concerned, he's on the ballot."

In 1968, Wallace ran as a third party candidate. This year, the secretary said, "the decision to put Wallace on the ballot as a Democrat was based on the law regarding the news media."

He said his office had "communications from him indicating he would be a Democratic presidential candidate (but) we in the meantime made up our mind for him."

All the candidates listed have until Feb. 15 to file an affidavit of noncandidatecy if they want off the ballot.

Thus far only Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., has filed a disclaimer. Kennedy also will not go to the Democratic National Convention this summer as a delegate.

Represents include President Nixon and Reps. Paul McCloskey of California and John Ashbrook of Ohio.

On the Democratic ballot will be Sens. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine, George McGovern of South Dakota, Henry Jackson of Washington, Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota and Vance Hartke of Indiana.

Also, former Sen. Eugene McCarthy of Minnesota, Reps. Shirley Chisholm of New York and Wilbur Mills of Arkansas, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York and Sam Yorty of Los Angeles, Gov. George Wallace of Alabama and Edward T. Collins of Hartford, Conn.

With the exception of Coll, Davoren said, the names to appear on the ballot were determined in accordance with the state law that requires the listing of candidates generally recognized by the national news media.

Coll, an unsuccessful candidate for Congress from Connecticut in 1970, is only 32, three years younger than the minimum age constitutionally required for a president.

Davoren said he will appear on the ballot because he filed more than the 2,000 signatures necessary to get his name listed.

School Board, BEA Begin Wage Talks

Negotiations are under way between the Bolton Board of Education and the Bolton Education Association to arrive at a new teacher salary schedule for the coming year.

This year's BEA negotiating team, headed by John Audette, includes: Klausen, Albrecht, Roger Tins, Michael Landolfi and Lance Kozlowski.

Representatives from the Board of Education are Dr. Joseph Casagna, superintendent of schools; Dr. Elizabeth Alton, and Ronald Parris.

The last contract negotiated by the two groups in March of 1970 was a two-year agreement with a built-in raise of 400 at each of the levels for the present school year.

Although it has not been stated, it is assumed that the school board will again be aiming for a two-year contract.

The present agreement provides a 15-step salary scale, with a $7,500 starting salary for a teacher with a bachelor's degree plus 20 credits hours or a sixth year certificate.

Ground Rules "Ground rules set up at the start of this year's negotiations provided that no press releases will be made unless mutually agreed by both groups."

A statement released jointly by Audette and Dr. Castagna yesterday said "It was agreed that items under discussion would be kept from the public until an agreement was reached."

Chairmanship of negotiating sessions will alternate between representatives of the school board and BEA. The next meeting will be Monday evening, Feb. 13, at 7:30 p.m. in the school board meeting room.

A committee formed to study policies on high school graduation will present the results of its findings at a meeting of the Board of Education tomorrow at 8 p.m. in the library of the Center School.

The committee, to be represented by Mrs. Sherman and William Jackson, and Principal Norman Shaw, was appointed to investigate possible changes in graduation policies, particularly those pertaining to selection of class valedictorian and salutatorian.

Under the present policy these two honors go to the students ranking one and two in class standing. It had been suggested, prior to the committee's formation, that the valedictorian and salutatorian be selected by an essay contest with the winning essays being the graduation addresses.

However, students objected to this method of selection, saying that it would amount to a conspiracy of the students' message.

Other items on the agenda include consideration of proposals from the Health Council relative to a change in school health policies, approval of school bus drivers, and a discussion of revised fire safety codes as they pertain to the proposed addition at the high school.

Two curriculum matters are expected to be discussed at tomorrow's meeting, as the board is scheduled to act on proposals from the high school math and social studies curriculum committees.

Petition Asks Leap Year Day At End of July

CUT BANK, Mont. (AP) — The citizens of Cut Bank, customarily one of the nation's coldest spots, are trying to do something about the weather.

A petition started by Marvin Owens, a local sporting goods dealer, and signed by 128 residents is to be given to Gov. Forrest H. Anderson.

It reads: "We... do hereby petition the honorable governor of the State of Montana to declare the extra day of Leap Year to fall on the 2nd day of July. In this way, the citizens of Cut Bank could enjoy one more warm day in July rather than a cold one in February."

Police said the victim, a flight engineer for Eastern Airlines and a pilot for the Connecticut Air National Guard, was operating a snowblower in his driveway and was struck by the Hannah car. Shimkus was 28 at the time of his death.

Beams Endanger Birds ATLANTA — Cellulose-powered mercury-vapor lamps used by airports and weather stations to measure the height of clouds, are a serious hazard to birds. Birds often fly round and round in the beams and sometimes, becoming confused or blinded, they power-dive to the ground. One night some 50,000 birds were killed at a cemetery in Georgia.

Not So Primitive NEW YORK (AP) — Dr. James C. King, associate professor of microbiology at New York University's Medical School, points out in his book, "The Biology of Race," that no primitive man ever lived in the majority part of all West.

For example, he believes the hippie teen-ager living in a community in Baluchistan is not as primitive as his and little in the Northwest.

Strep Throat Cries Over Rise

The State Department of Health reports that respiratory cases of strep throat were reported as opposed to 1,263 for the previous week. In addition, 345 new cases of flu were reported, compared with 229 the week before.

The department also reported, with 200 cases listed for the week ending Feb. 8, when 41 party of the Pathan militia, cases were reported, more than Khan Abdul Wali Khan.

The challenge from the Pathan militia is similar to that reported in 1968 when the department also reported 115 Bengal for the fall of East Bengal, but this time among the Pathans and the creation of Bangladesh.

Pakistan Watches Northern States

PESHAWAR, Pakistan (AP) — Pakistan is showing signs of losing still more territory, this time the border provinces of Baluchistan.

The threat arises from the conflict between President Zulfikar Ali Bhutto and his Pakistan People's party and the largest party in the two provinces, the National Awami Party.

The challenge from the Pathan militia is similar to that reported in 1968 when the department also reported 115 Bengal for the fall of East Bengal, but this time among the Pathans and the creation of Bangladesh.

'World of Sheer Fantasy' Author's Gal Astounded By Hughes Controversy

By NINA VAN PALLANDI
I had to return to London from Mexico after 3 1/2 days and on the previous day Clifford went out to arrange my air ticket back.

He was gone between one and a half to two hours. That is the only time when he went out alone for any such period.

... can't believe he said that ...

I have heard that in an affidavit Clifford has sworn that he was with him when he met Howard Hughes. I cannot believe Clifford would say such a thing because I certainly didn't meet Hughes at any time during our stay there.

But if Clifford saw Hughes in Mexico it could only have been during that two-hour period when he got my air ticket.

Last November, Clifford and I met again in Los Angeles. I picked him up at the airport and he was all aglow over his manuscript on Howard Hughes. He had been to New York to see the publisher, McGraw-Hill, and he told me that the serialization rights had been bought by Life magazine.

... whom me to secrecy ...

Clifford had sworn me to secrecy about the whole thing. At the house we borrowed from a friend I cooked some steaks for Clifford and my manager, John Marshall, and over dinner Clifford told us of the strange meetings he had with Howard Hughes.

... bumping into Clifford ...

Ibiza is a small island and it has lots of social life and it wasn't long before I was bumping into Clifford at cocktail parties and other functions. He became a family friend.

It wasn't until last year that our friendship developed into any kind of relationship. Clifford was then married to Edith, his fourth wife, and my own marriage to Frederik had broken up.

On night at my Chelsea home I got a call from Clifford saying he was coming to London and I invited him in to have dinner that same night with other friends.

During his stay, Clifford asked me if I would like to go on holiday with him to Nassau. We took the plane to Nassau, New York the next morning—it was Feb. 12 as far as I recall. When we got there, Clifford announced a sudden change of plans. "Would you mind," he said, "if we went to Mexico instead?"

Clifford then told me he had merit plans from pushing a wage guideline if the merit pay raises against Howard Hughes, whose autobiography "The public has 10 days to contract."

Navy Head Seeks Revenue Sharing

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP)—Navy Secretary John Chafee today called for passage of a federal revenue-sharing program, claiming that it would be the best way to give local governments a decision on how federal funds are spent.

"All too often," Chafee said, "someone in Washington sets priorities for spending federal funds in North Kingstown or Pawtucket, based on the needs that might be peculiar to Chicago or Memphis."

"Our problems are not theirs," he said in a speech prepared for delivery before the Providence Central and Pawtucket Lions Clubs.

He said revenue-sharing would permit "people on the local level to set the priorities."

Nixon Advisor Warns Against Undue Comment

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon's top economic adviser says economic policy is not a political issue at the moment, and critics should be restrained and realistic in commenting on it.

Dr. Herbert Stein, recently named chairman of the Council of Economic Advisors, told the National Press Club Tuesday the nation's economy is strong, but "the last thing it needs is to be the subject of a year of demagoguery" during the 1972 presidential campaign.

"It does not help a revival of business or consumer confidence," Stein said, "to have the state of the economy described grossly as a disaster."

In response to a question, Stein said a Nixon defeat in November would enhance the possibility of permanent, more stringent wage and price controls than those the Nixon administration instituted.

Alternates Sought For Berrigan Jury

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—With a jury of nine women and three men sworn in, the search begins today for six alternate jurors in the trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others.

They are accused of conspiring in 1970 to kidnap presidential aide Henry A. Kissinger, and to raid draft boards in an effort to force the U.S. to blow up heating tunnels under buildings in Washington, D.C., and to raid draft boards in Southeast Asia.

The 12 jurors, including one black and one Roman Catholic, were selected in 80 minutes of secret maneuvering Tuesday.

After the jurors were picked, U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman ordered them sequestered. They will not be allowed to return home for the remainder of the trial, which may last three months.

The six defendants besides Berrigan are Catholic priests Joseph Wenderoth, 35, and Neil McLaughlin, 39; Sister Elizabeth McAllister, a teaching nun; Dr. Eghal Ahmad, a Pakistani Modern teaching in Chicago; and Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Sobolik, a former priest and a former nun.

Folklore groups from France, Portugal, Ghana, Rumania, Mexico, Korea, Japan and Poland will entertain visitors at the Olympe group in Munich next summer.

U.S. Steel Fined For Polluting Rockville Hospital Notes

PITTSBURGH (AP)—U.S. Steel Corp., already fined $15,000 for excessive smoke emissions, has been fined for using contaminated water to quench hot coke.

There are three women in their 20s, one a bride of five months who said "we'll always have wars," and another who said Vietnam might be "a necessary war." The oldest woman juror, about 60, had four sons who were conscientious objectors.

Witnesses, including chemists, testified the water used to cool the coke contained phenol, cyanide, chloride and ammonia.

The resulting steam was polluting the air.

Pay Board Makes Changes In Merit-Pay Regulation

WASHINGTON (AP)—The comment on the proposed Pay Board has announced changes in its merit-pay regulations, tightening up some aspects and loosening another.

After days of debate, the board voted 11 to 1 Tuesday night to propose that present merit pay rules be abandoned and replaced with a new set of rules.

Apply to both union and nonunion merit pay, a wage increase that rewards an employee's performance.

—Exempt merit raises from the board's 5.5-per-cent annual wage guideline if the merit pay is granted according to a formal plan meeting board specifications.

—Prohibit new or renewed merit plans from pushing a wage guideline if the merit pay raises against Howard Hughes, whose autobiography "The public has 10 days to contract."

City Expects Back Payment For Housing

NEW HAVEN (AP)—City officials say they expect New Haven to get more than $750,000 in housing fund back payments from the state now that two public housing tenants have been replaced as members of the New Haven Housing Authority.

Mayer Bartholomew F. Guida said he's been told by Community Affairs Commissioner Donald Dorsey that the city will get $350,000 in back payments for the 1970-71 fiscal year. City Controller Francis Kelly said officials in Dorsey's department have told him an additional $288,000 will be coming in lieu of taxes for the 1969-70 fiscal year.

The payments will compensate the city for taxes it loses when property is used for federally subsidized or state-subsidized public housing. In this case the state is making the full payment because the New Haven Housing Authority, which handles the federal money, is paying the equivalent of its share in the form of supply.

STEPHAN W. WEST, 28, of 8 Davis Ave., Rockville, was arrested shortly after midnight last night and charged with possession of controlled drugs.

The arrest was made in connection with the investigation of a minor fire at 8 Davis Ave. Police said they found a quantity of marijuana in the West apartment. He was held overnight at the police station in lieu of a $500 bond. He was to be presented today in Circuit Court 12, East Hartford.

A husband and wife, Percy St. Peter, 40, and Anita St. Peter, both of 18 Church St., Vernon, were arrested yesterday on warrants issued by Circuit Court 12, charging them with fraudulence in obtaining aid and failure to report income.

Both were released on $1,000 non-surety bonds for appearance in Circuit Court 12, Rockville March 7.

Selectmen Urged to Reconsider Stand Against Regionalization

Opposition to regionalization expressed by the Board of Selectmen brought Everett Jewett, chairman of the study committee on regionalization, to the selectmen's meeting Saturday in an attempt to overcome their opposition.

The committee has recommended that regionalization of the school systems in Hebron, Andover and Marlborough, which presently exists in Grades K-12, be expanded to include all grades, K-12.

The selectmen last month unanimously approved regionalization, leaving their opposition on the loss of local autonomy, improper representation on the regional board, financial disadvantages, low cost of school construction in Hebron and the possibility of a middle school.

Jewett pointed out that local autonomy would not be lost, in that the towns would be electing their own representatives to the regional board.

He agreed with the selectmen that individual board of education budgets are controlled by the boards of finance. The only difference with regionalization, he said, is that the boards of education would not have the control.

All residents in the three towns would still have the opportunity to accept or reject the regional budget at the annual budget meeting.

Second Selectman Robert Dixon told Jewett that the regional board of Hebron "has always led the fight for financial responsibility in the past."

Dixon also stated, "Our local board of education in the past few years has become aware of its local financial responsibility."

He noted that local residents have rejected the regional budget in the past and that the regional board made small cuts and presented budgetary cuts.

People get tired of continually attending the meetings and eventually the budgets get passed, he said.

Business Mirror Tired, Inflated Billpayer Perpetrates More Inflation

By JOHN CUNIFF AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — One effect of a long bout with inflation is to leave the billpayer tired and frustrated and, ironically, a perpetrator of even more inflation.

Having fought for months to keep his income consistent with outgo, he finally loses his grip. He becomes a slow payer. In effect, he finances his big demands with an interest-free loan from the seller. And so more inflation.

In a report to members of the National Association of Credit Management, Dr. Ernest W. Walker, consulting economist, observes that the length of time that credit is outstanding hurts a company more during inflation than in stable times.

"When prices are increasing at an annual rate of 6 per cent, the present value of a dollar of receivables which has been outstanding for 90 days is only 96.3 cents," he says.

Who is the best forecaster of stock market directions? Most people would be inclined to say the professional money managers are because it is they who study companies, watch trends and put their customers' money on the line.

But one computer study made over the past 15 years seems to say that you and your neighbors, the consumers of America, are the most accurate forecasters.

After studying masses of data, Sindinger & Co., a market-research and opinion research organization, makes this sweeping statement:

"U.S. consumers for the past 15 years... have been forecasting the direction and change of the stock market for at least two months in advance and have been right on target 90 per cent of the time."

Sindinger maintains that the attitude consumers have about the future of the economy to a large extent determines that economy. The consumer is the big spender.

He also has unusual perception about the direction various segments of the economy are likely to take, sending or saving.

Because the consumer's attitude about buying and selling, in Sindinger's view, dominates the market, the consumer also is the major determinant in corporate credit- and stock market prospects.

World Capitals Will Be Visited By U.N. Chief

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Kurt Waldheim, secretary-general of the United Nations, says he plans to visit Moscow and Peking and eventually "the capitals of all member states" in the world organization.

The 48-year-old Austrian said Tuesday he had visited Washington Jan. 24 and will visit London April 10 and 11. "I also will go to Moscow and Peking and the capitals of other member states," he said.

"I can't go everywhere in a few months," he added. "But we are now working out a timetable for it."

South Windsor School Board Okays Changes in Marking

The Board of Education last night agreed to several changes requested by the marking system committee and Principal Orville Rowley of the Pleasant Valley School.

The board, at the beginning of this school year, had approved a request from the committee to remove the A through F letter marking method but to use "Y" to indicate the need for improvement and "G" for satisfactory performance.

Teachers felt the letter markings labeled children. Along with the reports, the board requested two parent-teacher conferences, in November and March, and a final report to be sent home before the end of the school year.

Rowley asked the board to remove the kindergarten from the new program as teachers were having difficulty with some of the "damaging effects" from the N and S progress indications on reports sent home with children before the conferences.

He called on one teacher, Faith Rosano, to explain what was happening in her kindergarten classrooms.

She said she found that the children learned "soon enough" the difference between N and S and were counting the letters to see who had more satisfactory indications. In some cases, she said, older children in the family pointed out the weak points of the youngsters and the teachers had to work twice as hard to restore the children's faith in their own capabilities.

Rowley added that he did not think it was the intent of the teachers who had asked for the change to include the kindergarten classes because the kindergarten already had a very effective reporting program at that level of education.

Board Chairman James Arundel said he did not favor changing a pilot program in the middle of the school year, especially when the three surveys taken in the town showed that parents, teachers and children favored the new method over the old system.

He added, however, that he did not think the response to the questionnaire was "all that great" and asked if the teachers would check to see that all parents did get surveys after the March conferences, adding that he himself did not receive one to fill out after the November conference.

William Perry, assistant school superintendent, said he believed the kindergarten did accidentally get caught up in the shuffle of the change, and the board agreed to make the change.

It also approved the request of Bill Terry school teacher Martin Collins to hold the upcoming conferences in a two-week period in March rather than spread over a five week period as was done in November.

He stated that in five weeks, changes of students' progress are rapid and teachers found it difficult to send home progress reports stating one thing about the child only to find, in some cases, children had done a complete "about face" in the time between reports and the conference.

Conferences will now be held on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of one week in March and Monday and Tuesday of the next. There will be an additional half day session only a change in placement of conference days.

Additional Voted

By a vote of 7 to 1, the board also approved a recommendation by high school Principal Ralph Conlon to build an addition to the high school that would allow for 23 classrooms, 3 teaching stations, art lab, graphic or industrial art rooms and a gymnasium. The opposing vote for the new addition, which must be approved by the Town Council and the voters, came from Wapping Plan advocate Donald Mercuro.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Warner told the board that South Windsor has been chosen to receive a grant totaling $1.5 million, which was applied for by Matthew Borrelli, special service director in South Windsor, to be used to train a corps of teachers to work in drug related areas, within the school system.

Warner said the item was a product of an administrative session and that he was notified by State Rep. Thomas Donnelly of South Windsor that the grant would be forthcoming.

Borrelli, new to the South Windsor system this year, said the program would be a drug coordinator in the school to provide resource materials to members of the group to help in identifying ego disturbance traits in individuals who are primary targets for drugs. It will consist of sessions with the groups to produce persons knowledgeable in drug related areas in all the elementary schools.

In other action, Perry said bids for portable classrooms for use during building of a high school addition were expected to be sent to newspapers for publication today.

The board also agreed to con-

Video Tapes Help Students Locate Jobs

ORONO, Maine (AP) — Video tape interviews with job-seeking University of Maine seniors are being sent to prospective employers throughout the United States.

Philip Brockway, the university's director of career planning and placement developed the idea of the 15-minute tapes. Recruiting visits to the Orono campus fell off after 1968 and a new approach was needed, Brockway said.

He said he began last spring taping interviews on a trial basis and after two brought jobs for graduating seniors, he decided to continue the program.

He said, "We have had at least six good leads for jobs."

Reservations for the luncheon should be made before Feb. 18 and anyone interested in attending is asked to contact Mrs. Donald (Dolores) Meture of 107 Mark Dr.

Board Votes Down Fence Along Park

In a six to three vote along party lines, the Board of Directors last night denied a proposed allocation of $1,500 to build a six foot high fence along the Main St. border of Center Springs Park across the street from Friendly's.

While voting the proposal has already happened in the past. Democrats pledged, through the Youth Commission and the Human Relations Commission, to continue seeking a solution to the problem.

The site has been the scene of many confrontations between youths who sit on a low fence there and people walking on the sidewalks. Last fall the general harassment of pedestrians escalated to at least one mugging of an elderly woman.

The matter, which was tabled in November, was brought up last night by Mayor John Thompson.

The fence was originally proposed by Town Manager Robert Weiss and he will see them up with the idea in consultation with Police Chief James Reardon.

Discussion of the matter produced a clash along party lines, but not one filled with the usual animosity to party affiliation. Discussion centered on the problem.

Democrats argued that the fence might move the situation from the location in the Main St. area, but it would not get at the "deep social problem."

Republicans acknowledged that the fence would not completely solve the problem, but it would help in the protection of their club of pedestrians.

Thompson noted that both the Youth Commission and the Human Relations Commission had advised against the fence. Both party groups suggested a centrally located coffee house or drop-in center which would be operated by young people. Thompson marked that this suggestion is tentative and any others should perhaps be explored at budget time.

Republican director Mrs. Vivian Ferguson said, "I think there is one thing which is being overlooked and that is to protect pedestrians from harassment. Mrs. Ferguson said she has a "right confidence" in the coffee house idea; "I strongly disapprove of lack of supervision."

She said, "Claiming the youths who congregate near Friendly's are seeking attention and would thus not use a coffee house, she said, 'Somebody lost their kids a long time ago.'"

Referring to the minutes of Human Relations Commission meeting with Chief Reardon, Thompson noted that Reardon was not sure if the fence would solve the problem.

"This is a deep social problem," Democratic director William Fitzgerald said. He argued that the fence would not make the problem go away, it would just move it.

Director John Tan, another Democrat, called the proposed fence "false security." He maintained that the young people could easily climb over the fence.

James Parr, Republican director, was mayor when the idea was first proposed. He directed Weiss to prepare cost estimates on the fence. "I feel the problems we've had in this area are serious," he said last night. "One can say the fence is going to be a solution, but it would show the people we are trying to solve the problem."

He said he had hoped that something concrete would be done by the Manchester High School athletic field to put out commissions, but without any small bias near the press shop recommendations he said. Police said a firebomb had been thrown into the building.

A minor auto fire at 102 nothing more serious than what out at 11:29 p.m. yesterday.

By JOHN JOHNSTON

If you like poetry, if you like you in the contemporary vein, if you like young people, then the Manchester Community College cultural affairs committee and poetry center last night had arranged a little different "pause in the day's occupations." Count on the first and third.

In segments of about 15 minutes each, the "Four Connecticut Student Poets" opened their hour of several state campuses with readings from their own works. The poets, selected by a panel of professional poets on a competitive basis, are Miss Sarah Meisner, MCC sophomore; Miss Catherine Royce, Wesleyan senior; Raja Chagnas Sultan, Trinity senior; and Leonard Marcus, Yale senior.

The poems were entirely in free or blank verse. Like the music of Bela Bartok, a little bit of this meter can be appreciated, but a full evening of the Hungarian composer can also be a bit much.

A number of the poems provided snapshots of insights to the lives of the students. The autobiographical references, explained or otherwise obvious, were apparent in Sultan's "On the Drowning of Shah, Our Servant," Miss Meisner's "The Marriage of My Dear Friend Peter," and Marcus' "Swinging My Uncle."

There were elements of social protest, most apparent in two poems by Miss Meisner. In "I Watched," she pictured eight phantoms jigs winging their sails over the Super Bowl with "my tax money," and again, "my tax money shattered their lives on the fifth of May," about five dead Vietnamese. And "The Moon" concluded with "Marlans screamed suicide screams as Apollo hovered."

Miss Royce's "Send From My Regrets" dealt with her afterthoughts about experiences with old people, probably emanating from her work as a researcher in the "ABC" poverty program in Boston.

Meeting Set By Wrecker On Wreckers

In a letter to Ernest Mason, secretary of the Independent Garage Owners Association, Town Manager Robert Weiss has proposed a meeting for Feb. 29 at 8:30 p.m. between IGO representatives and town officials, to discuss a proposed rotation plan for wrecker service.

Weiss was directed to set up the meeting by the Board of Directors after a full page ad was placed in the Herald by the IGO complaining of the town's inaction in acting on their rotation proposal made over a year ago.

In addition to IGO representatives and Weiss, Police Chief James Reardon and members of the Board of Directors have been invited to this meeting.

New Zealand's second series of definitive for its Ross Dependency in the Antarctic provides a year-round view of activities in this ice-covered area.

The first expedition to this land in the Antarctic took place in 1907 under the guidance of Sir Edmund Hillary, conqueror of Mt. Everest. He was also appointed the first postmaster at Scott Base on Ross. The post office was set up as part of the first physical base—a row of tents at Auckland, New Zealand. Stamps issued are as follows:

A 3 cents value shows the Antarctic albatross in flight against a wintry sky. The 4 cent depicts "the neighbors" (Americans) in a 4 x 4 ft. McMurdo Sound by using a Royal New Zealand Air Force Hercules at the U.S. Williams Field. The 6 cent illustrates the hut of explorer Sir Ernest Shackleton against a misty and black rocky. The 8 cent bears a summer supply ship taking advantage of the short season to bring in supplies. The 10 cent shows the long Antarctic night in dark green with the pale buildings of Scott Base huddled against it. The 18 cent picture a vast table of ice floats in an empty sea.

The new definitive replace the Ross Dependency set of four released Jan. 11, 1969. You may purchase the stamps at your local stamp dealer or Great Britain's 7 1/2 cent stamp issued in 1971 to mark the 1,000th anniversary of the City of York was judged best design in another country at the Philatelic Exhibition in Paris. The stamp design by Eric Wagnon shows a mounted Roman soldier.

A new stamp map of the United States, three feet by two feet, is an unusual item for collectors. The map is decorated with over 140 reproductions of U.S. commemoratives appropriately positioned. It can be used on the sheet bars at least one stamp for every state. It is available for $2.50 from Midwest Publishing Co., 116 W. 22nd St., New York, N.Y., 10001.

Stamp collectors were aware of the independent country of Bangladesh long before the general populace around the world. A set of stamps for Bangladesh was issued several months ago amid much controversy and without approval of the Pakistani government. Now this set of stamps is being overprinted "Bangladesh Liberated." The overprint appears in English and in Bengali.

MANPEX '72, the 12th annual stamp exhibition sponsored by the Manchester Philatelic Society, will be held Sunday, April 9, at Manchester High School. Last year's show attracted over 3,000 visitors.

MANPEX '72 will feature an 18-dealer bourse, souvenir programs, door prizes, and an auction.

Competition is open in categories of U.S. covers, foreign and covers, and topical and covers. Awards will go to best of show, and first, second, and third prizes will be presented as necessary.

There will also be a U.S. Post Office exhibition at the exhibit with a special MANPEX cancel.

Info Line Calls Were Over 3,700 For 8 Months

More than 3,700 calls were made to Info Line in its first eight months of service. The information and referral service line is operated 24 hours a day by the Greater Hartford Community Council.

The calls included 121 from Manchester, 8 from Bolton, 28 from South Windsor, 5 from Tolland and 28 from Vernon.

Info Line was established on an around the clock basis last April by the council an agency of the Greater Hartford Community Chest, in an effort to assist persons or agencies needing assistance in locating help for family and financial problems, homemakers, low-cost housing, legal services and other problems in the areas of social service, welfare, health, employment and recreation.

Types of problems covered a broad range, including alcoholism, drug abuse, multiple sclerosis, hearing, education, health, employment, divorce, adoptions, unwed parenthood, abortion, blindness, mental diseases, and many others.

Info Line workers were able to provide counseling in 98 per cent of all cases and called on a variety of community agencies to provide help. The Family Service Society was used in 101 cases, the State Welfare Department and the Greater Hartford Community Council in 98 cases, 28 local welfare departments in a total of 61 instances, and the Greater Hartford Community Council in 62 cases. Fourteen other community agencies were each used for from 13 to 40 cases.

Charlie Chaplin Returns to U.S.

NEW YORK (AP) — "Hello Charlie" reads the banner that will stretch the familiar and faced portrait of Charlie Chaplin across the facade of Philadelphia's Grand Union Building in the famous comic.

Chaplin will open his hand-to-hand return to his country after more than 20 years with a four-day stay in New York City, it was announced Tuesday.

The silent-film actor and pantomime is expected to arrive here with his wife and children April 4 in time for a "Salute to Chaplin" at the Philadelphia Hall in Lincoln Center.

The program will include a brief speech by Chaplin, a showing of his famous "The Kid" and other segments from his other films or a showing of a short called "Hello Charlie" and a reception at the Grand Union Building.

Chaplin, 62 years old, he doesn't expect him to make an extended stay in New York, but he will be in the city for a few days, which worked out Chaplin's New York visit.

Chaplin, who left the United States in 1952, is to receive a special citation at the Academy Awards ceremony in Hollywood on April 10.

Chaplin's exit occurred amid certain public charges arising partly from a former paternity suit and partly from the actor's removal of left-wing cultural, artistic mission and nothing else," Regal said.

The minimum price for viewing the films and attending a champagne supper will be $100.

Volunteer Army Opposed by VFW

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Joseph Vettes, commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, says he would oppose an all-volunteer army for the United States.

"No country that has attempted all volunteer forces has succeeded as it," Vettes told about 400 women attending the midwinter conference of the VFW auxiliary Saturday.

The strength of U.S. forces, he added, has been constant because it has represented a cross section of America.

Vettes is a clerk of courts from Uniontown, Pa.

An Expensive Doe

NASHVILLE (AP) — Four Overton County residents, one of them a woman, were fined $20 and costs each and jailed for 10 days as a result of an out-of-season deer killing.

Assistant law enforcement chief Paul Strunk of the Tennessee Game and Fish Commission said the four were charged with the illegal possession of a doe, a violation of the "gun and light" law.

Their 1966 automobile and an automatic rifle also were confiscated. The violations occurred in the Big Bottom section of Jackson County.

Tolland New Zoning Officer Will Enforce Rules

Newly appointed Zoning Enforcement Agent Charles Regan plans to change the town's image regarding its lax enforcement of zoning regulations. Regan was appointed by the Planning and Zoning Commission during a brief executive session following their Monday night meeting.

The PZC has separated the roles of the zoning enforcement officer from that of building inspector, eliminating the often criticized, built-in conflict of interest claim. A conflict of interest exists as long as the building inspector is paid on a fee basis for permits issued, while he at the same time has to enforce the town's zoning regulations.

In effect he would sometimes have to take money out of his own pocket if he refused to approve a zoning permit while enforcing the regulations. This left the person holding both jobs open to criticism whether or not it was deserved.

As zoning enforcement officer, Regan will work cooperatively with the PZC, the Zoning Board of Appeals and the building inspector as well as the sanitary inspector.

Charles Regan

To accomplish the change, Regan will keep a close check on what applicants say will be built on their zoning applications to make sure that is the way it is being done on the site.

The foundations and the sanitary facilities and other construction should be located exactly where it is diagrammed on the application.

Variances issued with specific recommendations must be followed up to make sure those recommendations are being followed, Regan insists.

He cited a case particularly of interest due to his ZEA membership, where the ZEA requested Mobil Oil Co. to retain an ancient oak tree and stone wall mysteriously disappeared. This should not have happened with strong zoning enforcement, he said.

The controversial high-rise Mobil sign, claimed to be a violation, should not have been erected providing the regulations were enforced, Regan claims.

Another aspect of the Zoning Enforcement officer's role, as viewed by Regan, is the investigation of complaints regarding a state, you are still a resident and spend a great deal of time in that state," Regan replied.

Noting that no building permits can be issued until the zoning permit is issued, Regan explained he plans to require "bonded plot plans" on the applications, not pencil sketches as at present.

"I feel real good about the new Planning and Zoning Commission," Regan added. "The board is a lot tougher and works well together."

"It's time we enforced our zoning regulations," the new officer stated, claiming many builders do not even feel it necessary to take out a permit in Tolland.

Regan's appointment becomes effective as soon as he resigns from the Zoning Board of Appeals, which he serves until Jan. 1, 1974.

He confirmed that he will resign the post as soon as he receives formal notification of his appointment from the PZC.

In the meantime, the PZC has authorized member Fred Frey to serve as a temporary enforcement officer until Regan assumes the post.

Regan was the unsuccessful Democratic candidate for selectman during the past election campaign.

Your Dental Health

February 6-12 is the 24th annual National Children's Dental Health Week. This is the third in a series of articles published by The Herald in cooperation with the Manchester Dental Society.

Our family always seems to have gum problems although we see our dentist regularly. What exactly is the cause of gum disease?

Dental scientists know the process that causes gum disease, but they do not know the mechanism that triggers the process.

The latest proposal would appropriate $10 million in $75 grants to parents of students in grades kindergarten to eighth grade and $150 grants to parents of students in grades nine to 12.

Also supporting the proposal was the superintendent of the Bridgeport diocesan school system, Bernard D. Hoflich.

At the meeting, Peter A. LaPorta announced that the diocese next year will spend $250,000 on secondary education, an estimated $300,000 from the current budget.

Unlike last year's proposal to give state aid to nonpublic schools, which was ruled unconstitutional, the present bill would grant the cash reimbursement directly to parents.

The earlier program made grants to schools.

Among those endorsing the proposed legislative bill Tuesday night was State Senate Majority Leader J. Edward Caldwell, a Bridgeport Democrat. He said the bill is "as constitutional as the G-I bill."

At a meeting of the diocesan school board support has been voiced for a $10 million bill that would provide cash reimbursements to parents of nonpublic school children.

Police Report
Man Charged
With Attempt
At Burglary

A 19-year-old Manchester man was arrested last night on burglary charges following a break at a Highwood Dr. home. Brent S. Flavell, 80 Betty Dr., was charged with attempted third degree burglary and was released to his parents on a $500 non-surety bond.

Police responded to an audible alarm at 47 Highwood Dr. last night at about 7:28 and found a sliding glass door open. Fresh footprints were found in the snow, leading police to a parked car on Wyllys St. At about 10:40 p.m., Flavell came to the police station and turned himself in. Court date was set for Feb. 28 in Manchester's Circuit Court.

Leonard Kearns, 23, of 31 Pine Circle, was arrested last night on a Hartford County Superior Court bench warrant charging him with violation of drug laws. The charge stems from an alleged heroin sale to an undercover agent last September.

The drug charges were lodged against Kearns about an hour after he was stopped while driving and issued a summons for operating a motor vehicle while his license is under suspension. Kearns was stopped at Madison and Jackson Sts. at about 5 p.m. Court date for the traffic violation is Feb. 28.

Kearns was taken to Hartford Correctional Center in lieu of a $10,000 bond on the drug charge.

William F. Brown, 19, of 217 Tolland Tpke., was charged with illegal possession of a controlled drug (marijuana) last night after police found a "plant-like substance" in the trunk of a car he was driving. Brown was released on a $500 non-surety bond for court appearance Feb. 21.

Police are continuing to investigate an armed robbery at Floyd's Market on Broad St. Monday night, when a youth wearing a ski mask made off with about $100 in cash. Police have indications that this hold-up may be related to a series of similar robberies in the area.

A police cruiser was damaged yesterday morning, when another car rolled into it while being washed at 3rd Auto Wash on Broad St. Both vehicles were unoccupied, and the damage was apparently the result of a car wash error, police said. The cruiser's rear end was slightly damaged.

Brandt Rejects Pre-War Border For Unity Plans
BONN, Germany (AP) — Chancellor Willy Brandt said today the goal of German reunification cannot be achieved by insisting on restoration of pre-World War II borders.

"Whoever obstructs the ship of German unity with the wreck of the old borders must reckon with the sea never reaching its home port," he told the Bundestag, the upper house in the first of a series of parliamentary debates on Bonn's 1970 nonaggression treaties with the Soviet Union and Poland.

Brandt said the treaties represent the key to putting the Sept. 3 four power agreement on Berlin into effect as well as a successful conclusion of negotiations aimed at normalizing relations with East Germany. Brandt was replying to objections against ratification of the treaties by opposition Christian Democratic party members of the upper house, which represents West Germany's 10 federal states and West Berlin.

Woman Critical After Explosion
TAUNTON, Mass. (AP) — A woman was critically injured when she and her husband were blown from their house today in what firefighters said was an explosion of natural gas.

Francelina Goncalves, who was found by firefighters in the yard of the house, was reported to be in critical condition at Morton Hospital. Her husband, Manuel, was less seriously hurt.

The explosion in the two-story wooden frame house at 11 Battle Row in the East Taunton section shattered windows in nearby homes and blew furniture out of the house. Firefighters said the house was destroyed.

He Lost Two Ways
BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Joseph Krall, a dentist, told police a man he was treating for a toothache and a companion waiting for him stole his wallet at gunpoint.

Brewster Asks Suspension
Of Moonlighting Professor

NEW HAVEN (AP) — Brewster, in a memorandum issued today, charged Mills with "blatant disregard of ethics upon which an academic suspension for a year of a controversial assistant professor of philosophy, Kenneth Mills, who Brewster says, was leading a double academic life in New York at Stony Brook, Long Island.

Mills responded today that he has been protesting a pending trial of several Black Panthers university rule, and that the Stony Brook position didn't interfere with his duties at Yale. He traced the roots of the controversy to what he said was uncertainty over whether Yale would grant him tenure because of his radical political views.

Mills, born in Trinidad and educated at Oxford, began teaching at Yale in 1968 and gained public attention in May, U.S. District Court here Roy Ball, a referee in bankruptcy granted the firm's request to continue operations while seeking a plan of reorganization to pay according to their contracts.

Kurt Carlson Comes Off Bench And Sparks Indians to Triumph

By EARL YOST

Spark for a gallant fourth period rally was supplied by reserve Kurt Carlson last night as Manchester High's basketball team upped its season log to 1-0 by taking a second loss in the CNYC High School basketball tournament.

The Tuesday night crowd of better than 1,000-978 paid—turned out for the CNYC encounter which saw the little encounter which saw the little backcourt performer lose in six points in the final game of the Tribe.

Manchester now sports a 7-7 record with five games left, including one at Bristol Eastern Friday. The Red and White must win three of the starts to reach the Double A Tournament. Penney started to 8-4 overall and 7-6 on the CNYC. The team also boasts a tie loop record.

Scoring honors, as usual, were garnered by red-haired John Herdic who tossed in 24 points, 11 in the first half and 13 in the second. He hit 10 times from the floor and added four single points from the charity line. He was the only Indian to win free throws.

Coach Jim Moriarty's birthday party was spoiled last Friday night when the Tribe bowed to Windham of the Clarke Area. Last night he was a wide smile and for good reason. He had seen his club jump off to a lead on three straight Penney turnovers, erub a 7-0 lead, and then held the edge until the Tribe prevailed, 65-63.

Penney Storms Back broke, which absorbed a 79-69 truncing in the first meeting at East Hartford, stormed back in the third canto to take a 34-27 lead in the final game of the Tribe.

East Windsor Wins Overtime Thriller

By DEAN YOST

Being used as a decoy for three quarters, East Windsor High Co-Captain Steve Samocuk came out of his hiding in the fourth quarter and in the overtime to power the Panthers to a 70-67 victory over Ellington High last night on the Knights' court.

The win by East Windsor almost assures them of capturing the NOCC title. Presently the Panthers sport a 11-1 conference record and are 15-0 overall. They have won their last 15 straight games. Ellington meanwhile, dropped to 9-2 in the loop and 12-2 overall. The Knights are still the NOCC titlholders.

The ultra-fast game that took one hour and 10 minutes to play, including the overtime, was action-packed from the opening whistle to the final buzzer.

Grab Early Lead

Entering the overtime period, Ellington jumped into a 46-40 point lead as sharp shooting Court Harned connected on a long jumper. Don Flint added two more points on a one and one foul situation as Ellington took an 48-40 lead. Samocuk found the range, popping in a field goal and foul at the buzzer to tie the game, 48-48. Harned connected again for the Knights as they trailed 49-47.

A one-and-one foul situation developed for the Panthers and Samocuk sank both to give East Windsor its margin of victory.

For the night, Ellington attempted 61 field goals and connected on 30 for 49 per cent. They were 7-12 from the free-throw line. Harned topped 20 points and hit six of seven free throws. East Windsor shot 42 per cent as it netted 21 of 74 shots. Co-Captain Strout was 12 for 20 from the floor. Leaping Larry Mansfield hauled down 18 rebounds.

Ellington jumped out to a quick 6-0 advantage in the opening period before East Windsor could adjust to the fast-moving game. Strout didn't take long to get East Windsor to close the gap behind the dead-eye shooting of Strout.

With 1:29 remaining in the period, Mansfield popped in a short jumper to gain an 11-10 lead. Only two minutes later, he was in the field goal to 12-11, with 1:06 showing. A final hoop by Strout gave the Panthers a one-point advantage entering the second half.

The Knights opened up a five-point bulge midway in the second quarter, 26-20, and closed to a 31-28 halftime edge.

Coming out like wildfire after the break, Ellington's offense connected on five field goals and opened a 34-38 lead that they never relinquished in the final buzzer of regulation time.

High-Scoring Guards Key to Laker Success

NEW YORK (AP)—Los Angeles' Carl Goodrich and Jerry West, the highest-scoring pair of guards on one team in a single National Basketball Association season, believe that the high-powered Lakers can short-circuit the Milwaukee Bucks' bid for a second straight league championship.

"I feel this is the best team in the history of the league," said Goodrich after firing in 36 points Tuesday from behind in the second half of the night. "I think we have a chance to win the title."

The Lakers have been one of the most frustrated teams in the NBA since they were crowned champions in 1967. They have won six division titles but have never captured the league crown.

However, this season, under new Coach Bill Sharman, the Lakers have been simply devastating, winning 44 of 55 games in the first half but winning percentage of .773, far finished with 23 points.

The Lakers' already have shattered the single-season winning streak record, posting 33 straight victories earlier this season before being stopped by the Bucks 120-104 on Jan. 9. But the Lakers have won the other two meetings between the clubs. In fact, there is no club in the league that has beaten the Lakers more than once this season.

U.S. Olympic Hockey Team Bows to Russia

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—The United States Olympic hockey team bowed to Russia in the first period when the Soviets beat the Americans 2-0 in a 10:48 replay goal by Bilov at 10:48.

The lead ballooned to 5-0 in the second period with the frustrated Americans inadvertently scoring the fifth goal as Sandberg's shot was deflected into the net.

It was the first straight Russian victory in both tournament and exhibition play against the United States since 1954.

The victory vaulted the Russians back into tie in the Class A standings with Sweden, which scored a 3-1 victory over Poland Sunday.

The United States' 1972 Olympic team is the first to lose in the first period of an Olympic game.

The Yanks were outgunned 50-7 by the powerful Russians in the first period.

Grand Jury Next Stop For Thomas

GREENVILLE, Tex. (AP)—Professional football running back Duane Thomas of the Dallas Cowboys and his brother were under a grand jury indictment today, charged with possession of a stolen vehicle.

During the investigation, officers said they smelled marijuana smoke and a search turned up two bags of it.

Thomas' trial is set for Feb. 21. Thomas, 24, and his brother were arrested here when officers stopped their car, while looking for a stolen vehicle. They said was similar to one being driven by Duane Thomas.

Gold Medal Life Ambition Realized by Dianne Holum

SAPPORO, Japan (AP)—"An Olympic gold medal is a life's ambition come true," beamed Dianne Holum, bringing the United States its first in 111 Winter Games Wednesday with a speed-skating triumph that crowned a decade of dreaming and dedication.

The American hockey team, not only Saturday's gold in the 1,000-meter race, but after the 1,000-meter race, she was the first American to win a gold medal in the 1,000-meter race.

But another great American achievement was the U.S. hockey team, a break band of upstarts who had lost the 1964 Olympic gold medal in the 1,000-meter race.

Even as she swayed toward victory, she was a mere fifth in the 1,000-meter race.
